"If the object of the unions is to get the best possible conditions for employees. I may say that we will be paying probably the highest wages that are paid in the industry in Canada in any case, and we will try to create as good conditions for the workers as we can. In other words, we intend to run it in such a way that no union can honestly have fault to find with the way it is run," he said.

Methods Different.

The Bata industrial methods are radically different from those employed by most industrialists in Canada today. If the firm is permitted to bring in its own engineers and key men and its own machinery, it will not establish itself in any city or town but will go into the country and build from the ground up by the industry it establishes. It will be the only company in Canada to make its own machinery, all the others leasing from the United States Shoe Machinery Company. Relations between the Bata Company and the United Shoe Machinery Company, states Mr. Bata, have always been friendly and there is no intention to enter into competition in the manufacture of machinery. Its plan would be to buy a large property, establish a small plant first and build a number of cottages for the workmen and their families and to provide a certain plot of ground for each worker. That plot of ground shows the Czech tradition of the firm.

When the founder of the firm started his plant in Czechoslovakia, he noticed that the Czech workers saved their money and in most cases bought themselves some land. This was part of their agricultural tradition and it worked so well that they are endeavoring to make this a feature of both their English and Canadian plants.

"What was your experience during the depression in employing workers?" he was asked.

Employment Steady.

"Our plants remained busy and worked to capacity throughout the depression and we increased our business," was the reply. "I notice that a line to show the employment in many of your Canadian industries is a zigzag one. It has been our good fortune in England that no employee of ours has lost a single day or a single hour of work through any fault of ours in the last four years."

"If you are paying your men high wages, what is the secret of your continuing success, even in the depression?"

"Economy of materials," he answered. "I think that that has enabled us to maintain our position in the manufacture of all kinds of boots and shoes in the cheaper categories. Of course, to give constant employment there were times in the last four years in England when we were increasing our stores, and that meant some expense in carrying them to the best selling seasons. There was some loss from that policy in a few cases when we guessed wrongly what the styles would be, but those losses were not important and the satisfaction in giving full employment all the time more than made up for it."

"I understand that it is your system to look after the purchasing for your employees and to have your own stores."

"Yes, we see that there are all facilities for our employees to buy what they wish. We rent stalls in our community building to merchants, and generally more than one, so that our employees can have competitive prices. We have only established stores of our own when we felt too high prices were being asked from our employees."

DRIVE 26 MILES

were among those bordering the line of procession.

The King and Queen smiled back hearty greetings. The King, obviously tired when he left Halifax Thursday night, seemed particularly refreshed. His radio address was delivered in a clear, resonant voice.

Weather conditions for the Royal visit were not the best. It was overcast in St. John's, and on the drive in from Holyrood the King and Queen had run into scattered showers, though the rain held off until after their arrival.

Drove In Rain.

But they took the light downfalls in stride, and the top of their car did not go up during the drive. On the way in they drove past a dozen communities, each of which had virtually its full population by the side of the winding, tree-bordered road to cheer a welcome.

At each of the stops the car with the King and Queen slowed down for them to acknowledge the greetings. At Chamberlain's, the automobile slowed to almost a dead stop, and it did the same for Topsail, where the fishermen were massed around their roadside war memorial.

All along the route a series of arches spanned the road, most of them representing phases in Newfoundland's development. They mostly bore the same legend: "Welcome Your Majesties".

At Paradise the rain stopped and there came a slight break in the heavy, overhanging clouds. It was still overcast as they reached the capital, but the rain held off.

Inspects Guard.

At Government House a color party carrying the flag of the Royal Newfoundland Regiment and an ex-servicemen's guard of honor were drawn up. There, dignitaries of the church and state in Newfoundland were presented to their Majesties.

The King and Queen went from Government House to a moving ceremony at the Memorial to Newfoundland's Great War dead. On the spot where Sir Humphrey Gilbert reputedly took possession of the island for England in 1583, King George walked alone to the base of the monument and deposited a wreath.

War veterans were drawn up at the memorial, and the King inspected them. Afterwards, he and the Queen each planted a tree beside the spot.

A drive through the city followed, along bedecked streets alive with humanity. It ended at Government House, where more presentations were to follow and the King and Queen were to be guests at a garden party in the spacious grounds.

Holyrood, Nfld., June 17 (CP)—King George and Queen Elizabeth landed today at this Newfoundland summer resort, beginning a one-day visit to Great Britain's oldest colony.

Refreshed By Rest.

Refreshed by two nights at sea after the ordeal of four weeks' travel across Canada and the United States the King and Queen came ashore from their Royal yacht, the huge Empress of Britain, at 8.50 a.m. E. D. T.

They had spent the night aboard the liner in Conception Bay, on whose shores is situated this resort, 26 miles from St. John's. The liner anchored early last night after a 25-hour voyage from Halifax.

The sky was overcast as the Royal party landed. Twenty minutes after the liner's anchor had been dropped, Governor Sir Humphrey Walwyn went aboard and soon after, Vice-Admiral Sir Sidney Meyrick, Commander-in-Chief of the West Indies and America Squadron of the Royal Navy, came ashore.

Given Royal Salute.

He was followed to land by the Governor and immediately afterward the Royal barge left for shore with the King and Queen to a salute of 21 guns. As their Majesties stepped to the pier the guard of honor came to a salute and a band played the National Anthem.

Fishermen lined the decks of their schooners, bobbing up and down the bay, and shouted a welcome to their Majesties as the Royal barge moved to the shore. Their cries soon were taken up by thousands of residents and visitors, gathered to see the King and Queen on their first visit to the island colony.

Newfoundland's welcome was extended by the Governor and members of the Commission that has administered the colony's affairs since its financial conditions became precarious six years ago.

From their landing place at Holyrood at the head of Conception Bay on the east coast, the Royal route lay along 26 miles of highway across the Avalon Peninsula to St. John's. Decorations hung from every building along the way, from the humblest cot of fisher-folk to the richest dwelling in residential Topsail.

Cheer From Decks.

Fishermen taking bait aboard their banking schooners at Holyrood forgot they had to return to the Banks next day. They stood on the docks to cheer when the Royal barge left the Empress of Britain which brought their Majesties from Halifax where Canada said farewell Thursday night.

Never had an event like the landing of their Majesties stirred placid Holyrood. A popular summer resort for residents of St. John's, fishing craft seeking bait drop anchor in its sheltered harbor. The port had its last touch of excitement in 1932 when German Transatlantic plane DO-X took off from there on its flight to Europe.

Governor Sir Humphrey Walmyn was scheduled to board the steamship early this morning to welcome the Royal visitors and, when their Majesties reached shore, to present members of the Commission of Government.

25-Hour Voyage.

The white-hulled Royal liner dropped anchor in Conception Bay at 7.30 p.m. E.D.T., last night after a voyage of little more than 25 hours from Halifax.

As the ship steamed in under Cape St. Francis at the mouth of the bay, the party sighted an iceberg, a lone reminder of the ice barrier which lay across the path of the Empress of Australia bringing their Majesties to Quebec a month ago. They passed Bell Island where iron ore is mined for Canada's steel mills.

The 42,000-ton Empress had to anchor in the bay because its size prevented it from entering safely St. John's land-locked harbor.

Nearer the entrance to the bay, the fishing village of Portugal Cove was agog. Cottages were decked with flags and even wharves where steamers leave for Bell Island were decorated. The Cove's deep waters furnished a safe anchorage for the Empress to await their Majesties' departure from Newfoundland later today.

PRIME MINISTER NOW IN OTTAWA

Royal Tour Success Beyond All His Hopes, Mr. King Declares

Ottawa, June 17—(CP)—Prime Minister Mackenzie King came home to Ottawa today bronzed and fit from his month of travel as Minister in Attendance upon the King and Queen and declared the royal tour was a success beyond all his hopes.

"I never doubted the royal visit would be a success," the Prime Minister said, "but I did not realize what a tremendous success it would be. The great thing about it was the complete co-operation of the provinces and municipalities. I have never known such complete unity of effort and feeling."

The Prime Minister returned on the blue and silver train which carried Their Majesties on the unprecedented tour of Canada and the United States. He was accompanied by the staff of permanent government officials who handled the many intricate details of the tour.

"I am feeling 100 per cent better than when the tour started," the Prime Minister said. Asked as to his immediate plans, the Prime Minister said he would go to his country home at Kingsmere "to collect my thoughts" and would probably meet council early next week.

NEIGHBORS HELP ILL FARMER

The old spirit of pioneer helpfulness and neighborliness is still evident in this section. Farmers of the Bloomfield-Wellington road this week, learning that Dunham Foster of Bloomfield, had been seriously ill and unable to get his seeding and farm work done, clubbed together and rallied to his aid. They completed the plowing and cultivating of the land and finished the seeding.

Don't Mix Sows and Stags With Market Hogs

Much interesting work has been done to prevent hogs from fighting, and while there is no definite solution to offer at present, there are some possible solutions that require further investigation.

Sows and stags mixed with market hogs cause a great deal of damage because of their extra strength. A stag with long tusks is sometimes turned in with market hogs and does far in excess of his value.

A little attention paid to keeping sows and stags separate from market hogs would prevent much unnecessary bruising.

Some good lots of hogs received during the week of June 9th are as follows:

Name and address—	No. Hogs	GRADE A	B 1	B 2	B 3	C 1	C 2	C 3	Premium
W. H. Moorman, Belleville	10	4	6						$4.00
Fred York, Corbyville	2	2							$2.00
A. Hagerman, Stirling	8	3	4	1					$3.00
M. Donnan, Stirling	9	5	3	1					$5.00
E. Huffman, Corbyville	5	3	1	1					$3.00

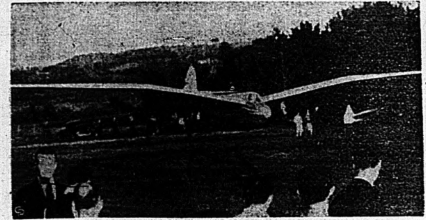
IMPORTANT INDIAN DISCOVERIES MADE IN ONTARIO

Added to the list of discoveries of Indian relics in Canada can be two made recently in Ontario, one of a minor nature of skeletons, and another that has created much interest of a Huron village. Edna Assis holds aloft a skull at the LEFT, part of the discovery of seven skeletons, said to be those of Huron Indians, and some coins near Trenton. At the RIGHT two young ladies scrape through material dug up near Ridgetown, site of the ancient Clearville Indian village, where many important finds have been made. No articles made by white men were discovered, indicating the village, strategically located upon a hill, enjoyed prosperity before the coming of explorers. Professor T. F. McIlwraith of the department of anthropology at the University of Toronto and Dr. Philleo Nash, associate keeper of the Royal Ontario Museum, are examining the ruins.

SAILS ACROSS LAKE MICHIGAN FOR NEW GLIDING RECORD



A new world's record for glider flights was set when Ted Bellack, instructor at a motorless flying school, took off from Sturgeon Bay, Wisconsin and landed at Frankfort, Michigan, after sailing across Lake Michigan in his machine, "Dove of Peace." At the TOP the new record holder is shown taking off, and in the picture alongside he is seen receiving a mail bag containing 50 letters, which he took with him on the flight, from the president of the Sturgeon Bay Chamber of Commerce. Bellack's journey, covering a total of 90 miles, required 56 minutes in the air.

HELD BY JAPS

First reported victim of the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions in Tientsin, China, was Eric Mayell, a newsreel photographer, who was arrested by Japanese troops at the International Bridge while photographing scenes in the blockaded area. He is a British subject.

PEACE STATUE

ABOVE is a reproduction of the statue of Father Isaac Jogues discoverer in 1646 of Lake George in New York State, and who, at the time of his death by torture by the Mohawks, was French ambassador of peace to the five nations of the Iroquois confederacy. This statue will be unveiled as a peace memorial at Lake George on July 3.

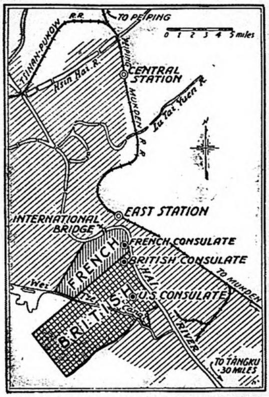
RESCUED AFTER FOUR DAYS ON LONELY ISLAND IN LAKE ERIE

Marooned by rough water on a lonely island in Lake Erie, these six men, who originally had set out for a week end's fishing were rescued after four days, hungry but little the worse for wear. Living in Leamington, Ont., the men set out on their fishing trip in a 30-foot tug, but a storm drove them to shelter on Middle Ground Lighthouse, six miles from Point Pelee. The strength of the storm brought huge waves sweeping over the island and their boat was swept away, leaving them stranded until a four-man rescue party reached them in calmer weather. The rescued men, LEFT to RIGHT, are: Orley Hickerson, Percy Carnegie, Jack Edwards, Clyde Hillman, Russ White and Neil Lamarsh.

FRENCH SUBMARINE MISSING WITH 60 MEN

The French submarine Phenix with 60 men aboard was unreported 30 hours after it dived beneath the sea off the Indo-China coast. Grave fears were felt that the Phenix would join the U.S. submarine Squalus and the British submarine Thetis, to bring a total of three major sea disasters in the past four weeks. A sister ship of the Phenix is shown here.

WHERE JAPAN IS STAGING BLOCKADE

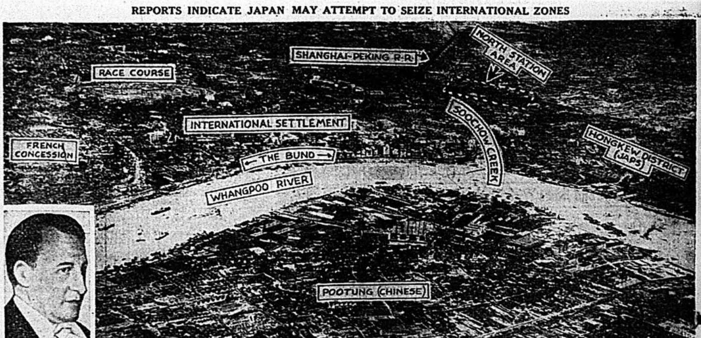


Danger point in the far east at the moment is Tientsin, China's greatest northern city, on the rich British and French sections of which the Japanese have declared a blockade, charging the British with refusing to hand over to them four Chinese terrorists. Considerable foreign wealth is centered in Tientsin and a successful blockade would be of great advantage to the Japanese in their Chinese "civilizing" campaign. The map shows the area affected.

OH! THE MORTIFICATION OF IT ALL!

You've heard much in the past about the wrath of a woman scorned, but running that situation a close second is the indignation of a woman who finds another woman wearing identical clothes. That was the fate that befell actress Marlene Dietrich when she attended a New York night club for a farewell party before sailing for Europe. Marlene was making an impressive entrance, surrounded by friends, into the club, when all became chaos and ruin as far as that evening was concerned when she saw Mrs. Dudley Roberts, Jr., Manhattan socialite, garbed in a shimmering white evening gown with hood and sparkling white belt ....the costume Marlene was wearing! That ended that party and all there is left to do is present the participants. Miss Dietrich, LEFT, and Mrs. Roberts, RIGHT.

REPORTS INDICATE JAPAN MAY ATTEMPT TO SEIZE INTERNATIONAL ZONES



After the discovery of a plot against the life of Sir Archibald Kerr, British ambassador to China, INSET, a heavy police guard has been thrown around the British ambassador's home in Shanghai. The precautions to protect Sir Archibald were taken amid increasing Anglo-Japanese friction. In the House of Lords, Viscount Elibank issued a warning that reports the Japanese were planning to take over the international zones in Shanghai on July 7, should not be treated lightly. He pointed out that July 7 will mark the second anniversary of the Sino-Japanese war and suggested that the government strengthen its defences in Shanghai. This aerial view of Shanghai shows the various strategic points in the city, including the international zones which are reported to be threatened.

Princesses to Greet Parents Hour Before Liner Docks

Plan is to Board Royal Barge At Isle of Wight

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose Will Use Destroyer to Reach Royal Liner and Spend Hour With King and Queen Before Reaching Southampton

AT NEEDLES PASSAGE

Sovereigns Have Been Separated from Children Since May 6th., When They Left on Royal Tour of Western World

Portsmouth, England, June 19—(CP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose will go aboard a destroyer to meet the Empress of Britain and will spend an hour with King George and Queen Elizabeth before the liner docks.

The ship bringing back Their Majesties from their Canadian tour is due at The Needles, Isle of Wight, at 12:30 p.m., (7.30 a.m. EDT) next Thursday, half an hour earlier than expected. The Princesses will board the liner 15 minutes later in Needles passage.

They will use the destroyer Vanoc to travel from Portsmouth to Yarmouth where they will board the royal barge which will take them to the Empress' side.

The Empress will dock at Southampton in mid-afternoon.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 19—(CP)— The weather has been cool over the week end in nearly all parts of the Dominion and rains have been fairly general in Manitoba and Saskatchewan with scattered thundershowers in the Lake Superior region. High pressure covers Quebec and the Maritime Provinces while a moderate disturbance is centred over Manitoba with a trough extending southward to Texas, and the barometer is also relatively low just south of Lake Erie.

Lake Superior—Moderate to fresh easterly to southerly winds; cloudy with scattered thundershowers. Tuesday—Moderate or fresh winds; shifting to westward; partly cloudy and a little warmer; probably scattered showers over east portion.

Manitoba and Saskatchewan — Fresh west to northwest winds; cloudy and cool with scattered showers. Tuesday—Westerly winds, mostly fair and somewhat warmer.

Alberta— Generally fair today and Tuesday and becoming somewhat warmer.

Why the Weather!

By Maj. A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Raindrops! Ordinary observation shows that raindrops vary in size; but the interesting point is that they seem to do so according to rule—a mathematical law. Their weights seem to vary in ratios of one to two, two to four, four to eight and so on. The theoretical confirmation of this is that an upward current of air of a certain strength will carry up all drops smaller than the size it will support. Thus those drops of the same size will find themselves together and joining together produce drops of twice their weight. As large drops have the greater falling speed, they break through the rising current and are the ones usually seen first.

POLES DEPORT THREE GERMAN LANDOWNERS

Anti-German Demonstration Develops on Borders of Danzig City

SAY POLES PERSECUTED

Warsaw, June 19 (CP) — Polish authorities issued deportation orders today to three important German land owners in the Polish sea district bordering the Free City of Danzig.

A night meeting of young farmers in Warsaw turned into an anti-German demonstration. Resolutions were adopted asserting the farmers' readiness to fight for the "conquest of East Prussia (separated from the main part of Germany by Pomorze, the Polish Corridor) and German Silesia" and declaring that "Danzig was and will be Polish".

Mgr. Filipo Cortesi, Papal Nuncio, left for home after conferences with President Ignace Moscicki and Foreign Minister Joseph Beck.

(The Warsaw correspondent of the Paris newspaper Figaro said that Mgr. Cortesi at the Vatican would outline the Polish point of view on the possibilities of a friendly settlement in Danzig. Mgr. Cortesi's report will determine whether Berlin is to be approached by the Vatican with a mediation proposal, he added).

PRESCOTT SEEKS BATA SHOE PLANT

Prescott, Ont., June 19 (CP) — Mayor J. T. Horan of Prescott said yesterday he had been in negotiation with Thomas Bata of the Bata Shoe Company of Czecho-Slovakia regarding establishment of a Canadian factory on the outskirts of this town.

Mayor Horan said he lacked information concerning definite location of the plant but two sites were considered when Mr. Bata visited Prescott a few weeks ago. One was in the vicinity of the government grain elevator, east of Prescott, and the other in Augusta Township, north of here.

(The immigration department at Ottawa has under consideration an application of the Bata Company for admittance to Canada of certain key men, mostly engineers. Mr. Bata, according to a Toronto despatch, said the plant would be built in Canada only if these men were admitted.)

Aboard R.M.S. Empress of Britain, June 19—(CP)—Far from the colored bunting and echoing cheers that confronted them every where they visited in three countries in more than a month's strenuous touring, King George and Queen Elizabeth were being carried swiftly over the Atlantic today on this big royal yacht.

At nine o'clock E.D.T. the liner was a little more than 800 miles east of Newfoundland, slipping along through cloudy weather at 20 knots. A warm south wind breezed across the decks.

London Papers Say King's Tour Immense Success

London, June 19—(CP Cable) — Completion of the royal tour of North America moved several Sunday newspapers yesterday to laud the unprecedented trip as an immense success.

The Observer (Conservative) declared Their Majesties' visit had "ignited the whole store of generous emotion that is pent up in those new world democracies with revereberant results. ....personal contact with Their Majesties has given millions of Canadians a new consciousness of the throne as the emblem and inspiration of that deep faith which is the essential bond of Empire."

"They have girded the globe in a handclasp," declared the Sunday Pictorial (Independent) adding: "It's a great job well done. And we are justifiably proud."

Says Future Rests With Social Credit

Quebec, June 19 (CP)—"The political future of Canada rests with Social Credit," Lucien Maynard, Minister of Municipal Affairs in Alberta's Social Credit Government said here last night.

The Alberta minister addressed a rally which brought to a close a convention of Quebec Province's Social Credit League, and the first public demonstrations of any size in Quebec City on behalf of the Social Credit movement.

Cheered for speaking in French, Mr. Maynard reviewed the work of Premier William Aberhart's Alberta Government which he said had reduced the provincial debt since 1935 while no other government in Canada had been able to do likewise.

Britain Must Take Firm Stand Or Lose Prestige, Say Newspapers

London, June 19—(CP)— Newspapers united today in warning of the loss of prestige involved if Great Britain failed to take a strong stand over Japanese actions at Tientsin.

"If for no other reason prestige alone demands that the present Japanese challenge should not go unanswered," said the Daily Mail (Independent.) "It is clear that failing a reasonable settlement, Britain must act drastically, and, if necessary, alone."

Stakes High in Game of Bluff

The diplomatic correspondent of the News Chronicle (Liberal) wrote:

"In the game of bluff now being played between London and Tokyo, the stakes at issue are very high indeed.

"Once the Anglo-Soviet pact is signed, it is doubtful whether the Tokyo government would dare to risk starting a war in which it would be fighting against Great Britain, France, Russia and, quite probably, the United States.

"But until the Anglo Soviet pact is signed, the Japanese appear to have their last chance of turning the disaster of their war against China into a partial victory over the British."

Relief of Beleaguered

The diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Herald (Labor) said:

"Our ministers will have three distinct matters to discuss:

"1. Ways and means of sending relief to the beleaguered inhabitants of the concession.

"2. The question of what to do about the four accused Chinese.

"3. The necessity of active steps for the protection of British interests in China, should the new demands spoken of by Japanese authorities at Tientsin be adopted and put forward by the Tokyo government."

EIGHTEEN ARABS KILLED AT DAWN IN MARKET PLACE

Haifa Telephone Exchange Considerably Damaged by Blast

WAVE OF TERRORISM

Jerusalem, June 19—(AP)—Eighteen Arabs were killed at dawn today and 24 were wounded by explosion of a bomb in the Haifa marketplace near the city's $30,000,000 port.

Nine of the dead were men, six women and three children.

The Haifa telephone exchange was damaged considerably.

The establishment of strict lines of police and troops about the scene of the explosion prevented details of the damage being given out until the task of taking the dead and injured to hospitals was completed.

50,000 Chelsea Folk See Air Defence Game

London, June 19 (CP)—The 50,000 residents of Chelsea played war games today in the most spectacular air raid defence exercise yet attempted in Great Britain.

Under the direction of 400 wardens all traffic was stopped for 15 minutes while sirens wailed and pedestrians were directed to 126 shelters. The games were based on a theory that a protective balloon barrage, anti-aircraft batteries and counter-attacking planes had failed and citizens were forced to save themselves from enemy bombers.

In a prelude to the halt of traffic, 5,000 children participated in a test withdrawal from 21 schools.

Chelsea was selected for the rehearsal because it is a representative district including important business areas, much-used main traffic routes, residential areas, "poor districts", and military barracks.

The resident population of Chelsea is 57,000 and at present shelters designated for use in wartime have accommodations for 11,000.

The figure laid down for the proportion of the daytime population for which public shelters should be [illegible]d in an area such as Chelsea is 15 per cent, and the authorities consi[illegible]r that the provision of shelters f[illegible] 11,000 should be amp[illegible]

As sirens shrieked at 1[illegible] p.m. all traffic in busy sect[illegible] stopped. Buses unloaded passeng[illegible] helmeted air-raid wardens, men and women, directed pedestrians to the nearest shelters.

Some people balked.

"Will you please take shelter?" a woman warden dressed in brown dungarees and a helmet asked a woman shopper.

"I am very busy. I want to get to Sloane Square," she replied and continued undisturbed.

The warden next approached a plumber and his mate who were duty bound.

"Sorry, miss, we've got work to do," was the reply.

Resembled Armistice Day.

Apart from these small isolated incidents, King's Road, Chelsea, for fifteen minutes resembled Armistice Day at 11 o'clock, except for the presence of fire engines, private cars filled with nurses, police cars and other emergency traffic.

Within six minutes of the alarm, airplanes droned overhead and explosions were heard in various parts of the borough. Nine "incidents" had been arranged. In Cheyne Walk, for instance, a high explosive bomb had broken a water main. The whole Cheyne walk was flooded and partially blocked by debris—in theory.

Another bomb made a "direct hit" on a block of flats in Beaufort street, completely blocking the road. In Bramterton street a house had been completely "wrecked" and the roofs of two adjacent houses were hanging in the air. All mains were severed and the gas main was on fire.

The steeple of St. Luke's Church was "demolished" and the hospital nearby damaged by flying bricks. Fire was reported in fashionable Cadogan Square, and to add to difficulties the fire hydrant was supposed to have been buried.

SCOUTS AND CUBS HIGHLY PRAISED BY KING GEORGE

Message of Commendation is Received at Ottawa from His Majesty

SCOUT TRADITION

Lord Tweedsmuir, Chief Scout for Canada, Informed by King Scouts Are Credit to Canada

Ottawa, June 19 (CP) — Hearty commendation of the fine appearance of the many Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs who played a part in the Royal tour arrangements has been received here from King George.

In a message to the Governor-General, Lord Tweedsmuir, Chief Scout for Canada, for the Boy Scouts Association, the King wrote:

"One of the pleasantest features of my tour through Canada has been the sight of the strong contingents of Boy Scouts and Wolf Cubs in all parts of the Dominion. I have been greatly struck not only by their numbers, but by their smart appearance and fine physique. These boys are indeed a credit to Canada and to the Boy Scout movement, the value of which both you and I know so well.

"As Chief Scout for Canada will you please convey to all members of the Association my warm thanks for the good work they have done in connection with my visit and my congratulations on the way in which they are maintaining the Scout tradition in this great country? I wish them all the best of luck. I am,

"Yours very sincerely,

LAVANT VILLAGE LOSES HEAVILY

$40,000 Damage as Store, Hotel and Smithy Are Burned

Lavant, Ont., June 19 (CP)—Volunteer firemen formed a bucket line to master a fire that destroyed a general store, a small hotel and a blacksmith shop early today in this village sixty miles from Perth.

The flames broke out from undetermined cause in the general store of John A. Lee and, fanned by a westerly gale, rapidly spread to Andrew Napier's hotel and then to the blacksmith shop and residence of Russell Ferguson.

The village was without fire fighting equipment, so volunteers organized a bucket line. While they were unable to prevent destruction of the three buildings, the flames were prevented from spreading to the remainder of the village. Damages were estimated at $40,000.

ONE KILLED IN CRASH

Kingston, Jamaica, June 19 (CP)—Armed constabulary patrolled Kingston's strike-torn waterfront today after one man was killed in a crash between police and strikers. The man, an unemployed dock worker, was shot when police fired on a mob yesterday as strikers ignored orders to disperse.

Says English People Feel as if They Were Participants in Tour

New York, June 19—(CP)—The Canadian tour of King George and Queen Elizabeth "projected the Dominion in a most favorable and friendly light across the Atlantic," E. J. Robertson, Canadian-born general manager of the London Daily Express said today on arriving here aboard the Queen Mary.

En route to Canada for a brief visit, Mr. Robertson said the English people knew and expected the Canadian tour would be a success "but the reports of the reception at Washington and the enthusiasm of the American crowds has been a source of great gratification to them."

Mr. Robertson, who served with the Canadian forces during the Great War and then, at the invitation of Lord Beaverbrook, became manager of The Express, said that British correspondents who accompanied Their Majesties had sent thousands of words describing the Dominion.

Every Englishman must feel he knows Canada better today than he ever did before, he said. In fact the vivid accounts in the press made the English feel they were almost participants in the royal tour.

Mr. Robertson said there was "no longer any apprehension about war in England because the English feel now they are prepared, which was not the case last autumn. Of course the possibility of war is still in everyone's mind, but there is no longer the same fear of it."

He will revisit several Canadian points before returning to London. He is a native of Lanark, Ont.

Representation Made to Tokyo To Lift Blockade

British Foreign Affairs Committee Studies All Aspects of Blockade Including Question of Food for 1700 British Subjects Marooned in Concession

COMMONS IS INFORMED

British Government 'Cannot But Believe Japanese Government Share Their Own Desire Not to Widen Area of Disagreement"—Britain in 'Close Touch With French and American Governments'

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 19—(CP Cable) — The British government is making representations through the Japanese Ambassador in London and direct to Tokyo authorities in the hope of lifting the Tientsin blockade, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today.

Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, will see Mamoru Sigemitsu, the Japanese Envoy, late today while Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador to Japan, is endeavoring to clarify the situation with the Japanese government.

This announcement was made after a meeting of the Foreign Affairs Committee of the cabinet at which the Tientsin blockade was reviewed in all its aspects, including the question of food supplies for the 1,700 British subjects marooned in the North China concession.

Tientsin Situation Seen at a Glance

London.—Chamberlain tells the Commons British and Japanese governments are conferring both in London and Tokyo to settle the Tientsin blockade incident; still hopes local settlement possible.

Tientsin. — Consider removing British women and children from British and French Concessions as Japanese press sixth day of the blockade; water shortage seen possible; neither British nor Japanese weakening.

Tokyo. — Army authorities say electrified fences to be erected around blockaded Tientsin concessions.

HYDRO POWER INCREASES SHOWN

Toronto, June 19—(CP)— The Ontario Hydro-Electric Power Commission reported today a 13.1 per cent increase in the primary and secondary loads for May this year compared with May 1938. The increase amounted to 24.9 per cent for the commission's northern properties.

Primary loads showed an increase of 7.3 per cent for the same period.

The primary and secondary load for May in Ontario was 1,829,977 horse power and the primary load alone was 1,406,900 horse power.

WANT OPEN SEASON ON BEARS

Iroquois Falls, Ont., June 19—(CP)—So many bears have been noticed around the district lately that members of the Rod and Gun Club here have passed a resolution asking the Ontario Game and Fisheries Department to declare an open season on bears.

PLAYED SHERLOCK HOLMES 1,404 TIMES

London, June 19 (CP)— H. A. Saintsbury, 69, actor and playwright who appeared on the stage as Sherlock Holmes 1,404 times, died today. He suffered a broken leg in a fall a month ago.

Saintsbury made his first appearance as an actor in 1877 and retired in 1933. He played Sir Arthur Conan Doyle's gaunt detective both in the play "Sherlock Holmes" and in "The Speckled Band."

HERDS OF DEER MAY BE SLAUGHTERED

Lansing, Mich., June 19 (CP)—Termed by Michigan Conservation Department officials "too smart for their own good," herds of deer will probably be slaughtered wholesale next fall because of the crop damage they have caused in Allegan County. The Conservation Department is considering the move after failure of harmless noise guns, flashing lights and smelly preparations spread along fences to keep the animals from the fields.

NASCOPIE TO BEGIN 12,000 MILE CRUISE

Montreal, June 19 (CP)—Preparations are underway here for the annual visit of the R.M.S. Nascopie to the Arctic. From Ottawa comes announcement that a post office department official again will be aboard when the Nascopie turns its bows down the St. Lawrence River July 8 and starts its 12,000-mile cruise. The official will be R. A. Perkins of the postal department staff at Windsor, Ont.

WATER LEVEL OF BAY IS HIGHER

Water level of the Bay of Quinte today stood three inches higher on the gauge of the government dock than the level registered one year ago, it was reported by Harbor-master Jos. Waddell. Last year's levels were fairly high, but this year a considerable increase was noted in the spring depth, an increase which has remained fairly stationary for the past month or more.

DEFECTIVE GAS PIPE IS REPAIRED

Repair work on a defective gasoline pipe line which permitted considerable seepage of gasoline into a nearby marsh at the end of South Front Street yesterday was commenced by employees of the Imperial Oil Company this morning. The seepage occurred during the process of the unloading of 8,500 barrels of gasoline from the Imperial tanker Acadialite which called at the dock over the week-end and pumped her cargo through the large line to the Company's tanks.

Residents of the lower ward stood guard last night over the section of marsh into which the gasoline trickled, fearful of an ignition of the area by carelessly thrown matches or cigaret ends.

MEMBERS LEAVE FOR OTTAWA TODAY

Charles A. Cameron, M.P. for South Hastings and W. A. Fraser, M.P. for Northumberland-Durham, went to Ottawa today to interview the cabinet to allow 250 Key-men from Czecho-Slovakia identified with the Bata Shoe Company to immigrate to this country in connection with the establishment of a branch of the company near Frankford. Mr. Cameron has been in communication with the members of the cabinet. If the key-men are allowed in it is definitely assured the plant will be located near Frankford on the Trenton-Stirling highway and work will be commenced immediately on the erection of an up-to-date shoe plant. It is expected more than 1,500 Canadians will be employed when the plant is in full operation.

REGULAR VISITORS RETURN TO NORTH

Regular summer visitors to this section for the past five years, Mr. and Mrs. Angus Loostander of Pittsburgh, Pennsylvania, passed through this city this morning en route to North Hastings in the vicinity of Maynooth on their sixth pilgrimage of summer vacationing.

"Pat," an almost humanly intelligent Alsatian dog, who for the past three years has accompanied his owners, grinned widely with lolling tongue through the open window of the car, while the family paid their respects to a downtown shopkeeping friends during their brief stop.

"Pat" has been getting ready for this trip for the past two weeks. Ever since he has sensed us getting ready we've hardly been able to hold him," declared the owner, stroking the dog's heavy ruff. "All we have to do is to mention Maynooth and he almost goes wild. Back there he'll swim all day and lie in the sun, about the only holiday he gets."

Both Mr. and Mrs. Loostander find considerable relief from hay fever in Maynooth district annually they reported.

PICTON

PILGRIMAGE TO CONGER CHAPEL MADE SUNDAY

Rev. David Wren Preaches Last but One of Sermons in P. E. County

GOES TO STRATFORD

Picton, June 18—The annual pilgrimage to the old Conger Chapel, one mile east of Picton, was made Sunday afternoon, with the 130-year-old edifice filled to overflowing. Those who could not gain admittance wandered in the old cemetery which surrounds the church. There, are buried many of the early pioneers of Prince Edward County. It is kept in fine condition.

Rev. David Wren of Picton United Church, with which the Chapel is affiliated, was the speaker and his message took the form of a valedictory to the people of the county. On Sunday next, he preaches farewell sermons at Picton United and the same week leaves for Stratford to preach his first sermon there. He will return to spend a month's holiday at Wellington.

Voices Regret

Also taking part in the service were Mayor Nesbitt McKibbon, who voiced the community's regret at losing Mr. Wren, whose ministry had been so successful in every way, and George Allen Kingston, Toronto, writer and author, who presented a cane which had been used by Squire Conger, who gave the land for the chapel and after whom it was named. It is also known as the White Chapel and as the Old Chapel.

Entering the chapel, one is carried back over a century. The high pulpit has a sounding board overhead. It is reached by a flight of stairs. The balcony is not sloping as in churches today and is supported by great rough-hewn beams. On the walls are many records of historical interest, and these are being added to year by year, making the chapel a sort of museum.

This chapel is the oldest place of worship in Ontario where services have been carried on continuously, for 130 years. It is a mecca for many tourists.

The Albert College male quartette, directed by Prof. S. H. Anglin of Belleville, provided very fine musical selections and the choir of Picton United Church led in the singing of old time hymns.

Challenging Address

Rev. David Wren delivered a challenging address on the church and bade farewell to the people of Prince Edward County. He chose his text from Psalm 84:1—"How Amiable are Thy Tabernacles Oh, Lord of Hosts."

"In the long ago much thought was given to the place of the Tabernacle in the life of the people and the nation.

The Tabernacle spoke of Loyalty, Patriotism and a place for worship. It was significant of the presence and power of God. Some of the most precious of all memories found their centre in the Tabernacle.

The influence of the Temple had much to do with the development among the Jewish people of a race unity and a race consciousness—the like of which no nation has known.

Through days of persecution and disappointment, these peoples have been wanderers in the earth, but have not lost their racial or national identity.

Draws on Memories

"The temple was the great contributing force to their wonderful lives. We meet today to worship in an ancient Temple. How it appeals to us. It draws upon our memories. We think of the pioneers of this county—great sons, with great faith, great hope and great courage. They built greater than they knew. We are their debtors. What lovers of the church we ought to be. The church is the child of Christ. He loved the church and loves it still. The church stands as a witness and so do we. You and I are here to represent Christ. We are a link between Christ and the world," said Mr. Wren.

"For six years I have tried to magnify this witness to you. We have learned to love this old county of Prince Edward with its shore lines of scenic beauty. The splendor of its people, your generosity and friendliness have made it possible for me to want to return to find rest at the close of life's day. We shall carry in our heart many precious memories. We shall think of you, pray for you and always think of you going on to richer and better things" closed Mr. Wren.

Alcester, England, June 19 (CP)—Lord Henry Seymour, 62, Lord Lieutenant of Warwickshire, died here last night. Lord Henry was in the army for 30 years.

Alderman Logan Replies to Board

To the Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ontario.
Dear Sir:

May I be permitted space in your paper in answer to a letter appearing in Saturday, June 17th. issue, signed by F. R. Wotten, chairman of the Board of Education.

For many years as stated in the letter the Board of Education has been consistently requesting the City Council to grant them permission for an addition to Queen Mary School. As one, who has gone into the situation quite thoroughly, I heartily approve of the need of this addition and was one of three in the Council that DID vote in favor of the grant, even though I am of the same impression as the Mayor, that the government should bear more of the burden of the cost of education in our province.

I am also under the impression that it was mostly on these grounds that his Worship and my colleagues turned down the Board's request, more so than upon the advisability or need. In regard to the "Salary Grab" spoken of, I believe this to be nothing short of revengeful talk. Mr. Wotten, as I interpreted in a recent talk with the writer, approved of the City Council being paid a salary.

I also wish to state that my impression of Mr. Wotten's remarks, when he appeared before Council one week ago tonight was that they were very ungentlemanly and unbecoming a man in the high office he holds as Chairman of the Board of Education of Belleville.

I do not believe that Mr. Wotten would have tolerated such disrespect when it was his privilege to serve on the Council in this city.

Yours very truly,
Alderman J. E. Logan

OBITUARY

LATE RICHARD R. TRIPP
(Tyendinaga)

The funeral of Richard R. Tripp took place Sunday afternoon, June 18th, from his late residence in the 4th concession of Tyendinaga Township. The service in the home and at the graveside in the family burying grounds in Tyendinaga Township, was conducted by the Rev. L. M. Sharpe of Belleville.

The bearers were Messrs. William Powers, William McLaren, Earl Lansing, John Milligan, Harry Littles and Elliott Embury.

MRS. ANDREW PHILIPS
(Tyendinaga)

Mrs. Helen Philips, wife of Andrew Philips, passed away at her late residence in the 8th. concession of Tyendinaga on Saturday evening, June 17th. She had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. Philips, who was in her 62nd. year, was born in the 9th. concession of Tyendinaga Township, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. William Bennett. All her life was passed in Tyendinaga Township and she was well esteemed in the community. In religion she was a member of St. Charles' Roman Catholic Church at Read. When health permitted she took an active part in church work and was a member of the Catholic Women's League and the Altar Society.

Surviving here are her husband; three sisters, Mrs. John Brennan, Mrs. Anna Horrigan, both of Tyendinaga Township, and Mrs. William MacDonald of Oshawa; three brothers, Mr. Henry Bennett, Mr. Arthur Bennett, both of Tyendinaga Township, and Mr. Charles Bennett of Yorkton, Sask.

The funeral of the late Mrs. Andrew Philips was held from her late residence to St. Charles' Church Read, where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Parish Priest, Rev. Father R. A. Carey. There was a large attendance at the church, showing the esteem held by the community for the deceased. Committal was in St. Charles' Cemetery, Rev. Father R. A. Carey officiating. The bearers were Charles McDonald, Arthur O'Ray, Thomas Nash, Joseph Nash, William Bennett and Michael Horrigan.

LATE WILLIAM KEHOE

The funeral of William James Kehoe, formerly of Read, Tyendinaga Township, took place from the residence of his son-in-law, Mr. Joseph La Berge, 124 Yeomans St., this Monday morning to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. Dr. Leo Byrne, Secretary to His Grace the Archbishop of Kingston.

Interment was made in St. Edmund's Cemetery at Stoco; the committal service was conducted by the Rev. Father J. V. Meagher.

The bearers were Messrs. Bartley Walsh, P. J. Hart, Vincent Pichard, Ambrose Pitt, Andrew Walsh and Owen Kehoe.

LATE ERNEST F. CARTER
(Brighton Township)

Sunday afternoon, June 18th., the funeral of Ernest Franklin Carter took place from his late residence in concession B., Brighton Township, to Mount Carmel United Church where service was conducted by the Rev. Mr. Harrison, pastor of the United Church at Smithfield.

Interment was made in Victoria Cemetery in the 6th. concession of Thurlow Township. The same minister conducted the service at the graveside.

LATE MRS. MARY T. ADAMSON

This Monday morning the funeral of Mrs. Mary Theresa Adamson, widow of William H. Adamson, took place from her late residence, 125 Station Street, to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rt. Rev. Monsignor Nicholson, V.G., who said also the committal service at the graveside in St. James' Cemetery.

The bearers were Messrs. James Whalen, Vincent Freeman, W. H. Doran, Donald Beaton, Austin Dutton and Frank Barrett.

REFUSE CONTAINERS PLACED ON STREETS

"Keep Belleville Clean".

Ten sturdy little rubbish containers, of galvanized metal, pleasingly painted in aluminum and bearing the above invitation for residents and visitors in neat red lettering across their face were placed at ten strategic points throughout the city his morning by the department of public works.

The containers will serve as a perpetual reminder of the necessity of clean streets, and will provide handy receptacles for torn papers and empty packages. If found satisfactory, more will probably be purchased by the city for use throughout the residential sections, it was intimated.

PLACE SCAFFOLDING ON CITY HALL

Scaffolding for the outside repair work of the city hall building which will be carried on for the next few weeks was being placed by workmen this morning. First work will be the installation of new eavestroughing by the Charles L. Hyde Company, after which the building will receive its first painting in nineteen years. The contract for this latter work has been awarded Herb. Collins.

POLICE COURT

There was no [illegible]ty police court held in Bellev[illegible] today, which marks the firs[illegible]e in many years there have been [illegible] cases to be presented before [illegible] presiding magistrate.

Not a single arrest was necessary in Belleville last week, Chief Kidd revealed today as newspaper reporters and police court attendants appeared in readiness for the conventional Monday morning session in Belleville.

"Sorry to disappoint you boys, but we've drawn a blank today. There isn't a single case listed for trial," confessed Court Clerk Chief Kidd as he notified the magistrate of this unique incident.

"This marks the first Monday morning I can remember that police court had to be cancelled in Belleville on account of no cases being listed for trial," Chief Kidd added.

Kiwanis Open 23rd Convention in Boston To Plan 1939-40 Work

Boston, Mon., June 19.—Thousands of Kiwanis delegates and visitors from the U. S. and Canada have arrived here today for the service organization's 23rd annual convention. Four days of business sessions and conferences are scheduled to plan 1939-40 activities for the 2,030 clubs in child welfare, agriculture, boys and girls work, adult education, etc.

Boston for the first time is host to an international convention of Kiwanis.

H. G. Hatfield, of Oklahoma City, president of Kiwanis International, is presiding at all sessions. In his annual message he warned against all subversive groups. "Dictatorship is on the ascendancy!" he told delegates. "Even within our own borders the seeds of discontent are being sown. Democracy and the democratic conception of government is challenged today as never before! It must be preserved!

"Kiwanis must be devoted to constructive service work and oppose Communists, Fascists and Nazis," he said.

New High Peak

"Kiwanis must guard itself against any and all trends away from its main objective of service," Fred C. W. Parker, of Chicago, secretary, told the convention.

"In June, 1929, we had reached a high peak in membership of 103,283! During the depression which followed a low point was reached in June 1933, of 77,415 members.

"Today we can rejoice because Kiwanis has more clubs and more members than ever in its history. There are now 2,030 clubs and approximately 105,000 members in the U. S. and Canada.

"If a club develops a helpful program for its community, it need not worry about losing members. Those few who desire only a luncheon club may resign, but men who are really service-minded will carry on!" he stated.

All-Kiwanis Night

Tonight the 2,030 clubs on the North American continent will meet simultaneously at 10:00 P.M., (E.D.S.T.), to observe All-Kiwanis Night. This meeting annually brings the entire membership together for an expression of united fellowship.

William Green, president of the A.F. of L., and other nationally known speakers will discuss, during the coming week, labor relations from the standpoint of employee, industry and the public.

Dr. C. Wilford Wilson, of Detroit, chairman of an attendance committee, reported that clubs having good civic and welfare programs are the ones which have annual attendance averages of 80%. "Attendance in the past has sometimes been overstressed and we do not encourage long 100% records. Such a record does not develop the right spirit and attitude," he remarked.

Personal support of community service was urged as a way to increase attendance averages in all clubs. Constructive work to do, good speakers, fellowship and interesting musical programs were given as stimulators to bring men out to the weekly meetings.

Kiwanis in Canada

"In Canada the individual must be educated in citizenship duties and responsibilities or the European plan of minimizing brains and fostering a totalitarian society will end the democratic way of life," was the warning of Fred G. McAlister, of London, Ont., chairman of a Canadian public affairs committee.

"In Canada, Kiwanis is taking a precautionary measure in developing a national unity for co-operation of all peoples," he explained. "The great area of Canada with its small population does not afford too adequate an opportunity for all people understanding public problems. We hope to develop a program to bring about a closer spirit of cooperation."

The program for national unity includes the use of open forums for informative discussions on public affairs. Community councils are also to be organized. These will promote voluntary service on the part of all citizens.

The Canadian committee also recommended a wide-spread program to stop depletion of natural resources and wild life.

The conservation program will include diversified agriculture, development of soil erosion projects, promoting vocational agriculture in high schools and bringing together town and country groups for co-operative study of urban-rural-problems.

U. S. Affairs

Aggressive opposition to subversive and un-American activities especially communism, fascism and nazi-ism, were demanded by Charles E. Millikan, of Los Angeles, public affairs chairman for the U. S.

He urged weekly programs of clubs given over to discussions on factual information regarding the "isms" which plague the democracies.

"Such discussions must be devoted entirely to facts and not to generalized opinions of any persons or groups," he said.

"We have too long shied away from discussions of public questions which are controversial. Every public problem of any value has two sides which are worthy of discussion and comment. It should be the function of the U. S. Kiwanis clubs to have both sides presented so members and the public can form intelligent opinions."

An 8-point public affairs program was advocated by Millikan and the convention.

These are: Promotion of better understanding between employer and employee.

Constructive policies of conservation.

Opposition to subversive, un-American ways of life.

Safety programs.

Open forums for discussions of public problems, local, state, national and international.

Educational programs in patriotism. Privileges of American citizenship, freedom of individual under the Constitution.

Sponsoring community councils for cooperation of all citizens in civic work.

Maintenance of international good will between Canada and the U.S.

POLITICAL LEADERS DISCUSS PROBLEMS

North Americans Discuss America's Relation to Old World

By JOHN ASPINWALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Canton, N. Y., June 19—(AP)—Political scientists from both sides of the Canadian border met today on the tree-shaded campus of 80-year-old St. Lawrence University to discuss North America's relation to troubled world affairs.

National defence, external economic interests, trade controls and international obligations were principal items on the agenda prepared for the four day conference.

The gathering, which brought together nearly 150 political leaders and outstanding educationists from the two nations, was sponsored by St. Lawrence University and Queens University, Kingston, with the cooperation of the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

Thrice before over a period of four years the three institutions have promoted similar conferences in the interest of international amity and understanding.

Senator Meighen Invited

Invited guests included Senator Arthur Meighen, former Prime Minister of Canada; Edward J. Noble, new United States Undersecretary of Commerce; Dr. James T. Shotwell, Director of the Division of Economics and History of the Carnegie Endowment and a native of Strathroy, Ont., Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah, and Henry Tory, President of the Royal Society of Canada.

The guests will be welcomed to the quiet little college town near the Canadian border by Dr. Laurens Seelye, President of St. Lawrence University, at a dinner tonight.

The first general session of the conference will follow, with Dr. Shotwell presiding and W. A. Mackintosh, Professor of Political Science at Queen's University, as the principal speaker.

11 GERMAN FARMERS KILLED IN BUS ACCIDENT

Heiligenblut, Germany, June 19 (AP)—Eleven German farmers were killed and 21 injured when a sightseeing bus toppled over a 70-foot cliff on the Gross-Glockner mountain road Sunday.

Police Blotter

Ice cream stored at the pavilion at Victoria Park on Saturday was stolen over the week end, James Cook park attendant reported to city police early yesterday.

Mr. Cook packed some two dozen individual ice cream bars in ice on Saturday night in keeping for Sunday's business at the pavilion. On Sunday, however, Mr. Cook found a padlock and hasp on a door leading to the concession booth at Victria Park pavilion had been broken off and entrance gained in this manner. As only the ice cream bars were found to be missing, police were of the opinion that children were responsible.

A bicycle belonging to Jack Johnson, 150 Front Street, was damaged during collision with a motor car, driven by Percy Eggleton, Holloway Street, near the upper bridge over the week end. The damage, which amounted to about $6.50 was paid by Mr. Eggleton before the arrival of investigating police.

Shoplifters were reported active in Belleville over the week end and resulted in the apprehension of two teen-aged alds, who were taken to the police station fo questionring. Plainclothes Constable Fred Isard revealed the lads had taken a book, flashlight and other minor articles from off the counter of two local chain stores. The goods were recovered.

Only nine transients sought shelter at the police station over the week end, seven on Saturday night and only two last night.

CITY FIRE DEPT. SPENDS BUSY HOUR

Gasoline-soaked ground in a marshy swamp near the Schuster Coal Company dock gave city fire squads a busy half-hour yesterday when fire of unknown origin swept a large area of the field.

The gasoline is believed to be seeping from storage tanks in the vicinity, Chief William Lynch stated today. Investigations are under way.

BERRY-PICKING JOBS HELP UNEMPLOYED

First berry picking in the district has helped this week to absorb some of the city's excess population of unemployed. This week dozens of local youths and garls are being employed in sections of Prince Edward and Hastings Counties in harvesting the first of the strawberry crop. A price of two and two and one-half cents a box is being paid the pickers, plus transportation to and from Belleville early mornings and late evenings.

ALL-BLIND CAST OF ACTORS TO PLAY

Hope to Present Torch-Bearers to Aid Cause of Sightless Folk

By JOSEPH RAWLINGS
Associated Press Staff Writer

Chicago, June 19—(AP)—Members of a small band of actors—all of them blind—are rehearsing intensely these warm spring nights, hoping eventually to take their histrionic vehicle "The Torch-Bearers" to clubs in adjacent towns to aid the sightless.

All are members of the Chicago Braille Theatre Guild, described by Lawrence Buroker, one of the actors, as unique in that its presentations are given by all-blind casts.

These players study their parts by Braille and the words of the script for the most part furnish their action cues, but the almost inaudible tinkle of a bracelet or the tapping of a chair may be their guide.

Value of Acting For Blind

In the pauses between customers at this tiny tobacco and refreshment stand in the lobby of one of the city's largest office buildings Buroker outlined the aims and benefits of the organization.

"The group, was organized eight years ago because of the dramatic inclinations of its members and to educate the public to realize that blind persons are no different from others—except that they cannot see," he said.

"Acting for the blind has several distinct values.

"It gives an opportunity for self-expression and a sense of freedom. We know that if we keep our heads we will get around on the stage all right and this gives us self confidence which helps relieve tensions in other situations. It also helps in business for it teaches the use of the same facial expressions other people have—a gift sighted persons accept as a matter of course."

To date the group has produced 15 one act plays. They spent about eight months rehearsing "The Torch-Bearers," a three-act play, under the direction of Miss Dorothy Proesch of Evanston.

WATER DRAINED FROM CANAL LOCK

No Trace of the Body of Percy Knox, Drowned in Winter, Found

Draining the water from between two locks near Glen Miller, Provincial Police and Trent Canal employees conducted a futile search for the possible recovery of the body of Percy Knox, lockmaster at No. 4 lock of the Trent Canal who is believed to have drowned when he fell into the Trent Canal last winter.

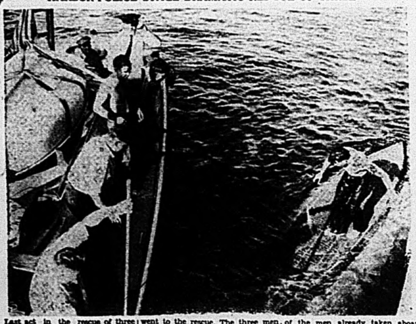
The water between No. 3 lock and the immediate lock north was lowered to the minimum over the week end while police under Sergeant Harry Thompson and Trent Canal employees searched the bottom of the river in vain for the body of Mr. Knox. No sign of the man's body was found, police revealed today.

Authorities are now convinced the body must have floated down stream at the time of the fatal accident, or perhaps went out with the melting ice of the spring. The shores of the Bay of Quinte will be searched this week.

DEER KILLED ON APSLEY HIGHWAY

Harold Johnson of Coe Hill reports the death of a red deer, killed by him near Apsley. He was returning home from the village and encountered some dark object, which dashed across the road in front of his machine. Immediately the impact of the body with his car was felt, investigation revealed a large deer prone on the road with both legs broken. The motorist ended the animal's suffering, then at Apsley notified the district game warden of the accident.

HARBOR POLICE STAGE DRAMATIC RES CUE OF THREE



Last act in the rescue of three men forced to cling to their overturned dory half a mile from Boston harbor is this one as Vito Patrick is assisted aboard the police boat that went to the rescue. The three men had been clinging to their boat for half an hour and were near the point of exhaustion when rescued from a rough sea. Louis Owens, one of the men already taken aboard the police boat, is seen standing by (without shirt) while his companion is pulled aboard.

Tourist Trade To be Heaviest Since Year 1929

Fort Erie, Ont., June 19—(CP)—Predictions that the tourist movement in 1939 will be the heaviest of any year since 1929 are coming true insofar as the frontier port of Fort Erie is concerned, Director Dugald H. McIntyre of the Ontario Government Tourist Bureau at the Peace Bridge said today. "May was the heaviest month experienced in the last decade, and the June movement is exceeding any we have previously experienced here," he said.

Mr. McIntyre said one noteworthy feature this year is the number of American tourists who are crossing the border with the intention of purchasing property in Ontario. Inquiries along this line are numerous.

NOTED ACTOR VISITS BELLEVILLE ON TRIP

Ernest Truex, noted actor of stage and screen, was a visitor in the city yesterday en route from Hollywood to Montreal, on a holiday trip. Mr. Truex with a party of friends stopped in Belleville for a meal and was recognized by those in the restaurant. Mr. Truex's most recent film was "Marco Polo" starring Gary Cooper.

Postmistress at Kaladar Injured in Accident

Mrs. Walter Vilneff, postmistress at Kaladar, sustained shoulder injuries, severe lacerations and shock when the car in which she was riding was struck broadside by another car four miles north of Tweed village this forenoon. Mrs. Vilneff had just received word of the death of her mother at Harrowsmith and was proceeding in a car driven by George Herrington accompanied by Walter Vilneff and Mrs. George Herrington to Tweed to catch a train to take her to her former home. Near Actinolite, it is alleged by Chief Constable Clare Hayes of Tweed, who investigated, that J. E. Marsh in charge of a motor car, proceeded out of a side road without "stopping before entering a through Highway", striking broadside, the Herrington car. The Herrington car was toppled over on the road, while the Marsh car turned a complete circle on the intersection and was facing the same way it came from, when it came to rest. Mrs. Vilneff was the most seriously injured of all implicated, the others receiving shock and a shaking up. Dr. Burrows of Tweed, attended Mrs. Vilneff and her injuries were such she was unable to proceed further on her journey.

Glass That Shrinks Immune to Cracks

Corning, N.Y., June 19—(AP)—A new kind of glass which shrinks by one-third in size after it has been formed into dishes or other utensils is announced by the Corning Glass Works.

The shrinking is done by heating and results in a glass that is virtually immune to cracking from sudden changes of heat or cold.

This new glass is made of the same materials used to cast the 200-inch "eye" of the world's greatest telescope here a few years ago.

The raw materials first are melted and when liquid are fashioned into utensils and cooled until they are ordinary-looking glassware. This glass is soaked for hours in diluted nitric acid which dissolves out of the glass about 36 per cent of its silica. Remaining is a piece of hard glass filled with fine holes where the silica has been dissolved.

In this stage the glass article is milky in color, due to the fine holes. It is next heated almost to melting. The whole mass thereupon contracts into a perfectly clear, solid piece of glass.

Letters to the Editor

40 Dundas Street.
Belleville, June 16, 1939

Editor Ontario Intelligencer,
Dear Sir—

In the Leadership League Department of the Globe and Mail appeared an article recently which says that within a few months the two political parties of Canada will appeal to the voters on a platform of letting time cure the Canadian railway problem. I think the article finishes up with the statement that, faced with an election, the citizen who wants to register a vote for action on the railway problem is virtually disfranchised because Liberals and Conservatives alike have chosen the path of least resistance.

This statement is supposed to come from the Financial Post. The Financial Post seems to overlook that there are other parties besides Liberals and Conservatives and that they may take a hand in solving the railway question.

Mr. George McCullagh of the Globe and Mail has suggested a plan that suits everyone to whom I have spoken in this district. I made it my business to interview most of the influential and business men in Belleville and not one but everyone says that his idea is the best yet for the solution of the railway problem. Mr. McCullagh said that the first practical step in working out a cure would seem to be to put the C.N.R. on its own.

Call a halt to the present sham and have the C.N.R. operated as a separate company, and operated without benefit of public handouts and political interference.

Regardless of what the Financial Post says, Mr. McCullagh's idea will be an issue in the next election as far as Belleville is concerned.

The man that has courage enough to advocate that the C.N.R. be run on its own with a fair field and with no favors to either road will win out regardless of his political leanings.

D. S. LaRue.

TIME CHANGES

Time has made many changes, brought many developments, healed old wounds. Had it not been so there could have been no scene such as that enacted at the tomb of George Washington a little over a week ago when King George Sixth of Great Britain placed a wreath on the grave of the first President of the United States, the man who held out against resistance to the policy of the Government of King George Third until at last he took the momentous stand which led in the long run to his choice as commander of the forces of the Revolution and took from Britain her American colonies.

The placing of the wreath by King George was more than a gesture, it was the symbol and seal that time had so long healed old wounds that George Washington could be looked upon as one who had founded a great people. The loss of the Colonies had come at a time when the British Empire was in process of formation and consolidation and the lesson learned in the loss of the territory in America meant a departure in British imperial policy.

Today Britain has a vast empire whose members are free states, whose only tie is the Throne and Crown, but that Throne and Crown are more potent than all the imperial regimentations that were part of ancient Empires.

Britain must feel a sense of joy in seeing this former possession of hers, the United States, developed to so advanced a stage in the world's advance in democracy, and so loyal to the traditions, first laid in the foundation of the Colonies.

She can see that while United States goes her own way, she does not depart from the same vital principles of freedom.

So that act of His Majesty at the tomb of Washington was a symbol of what was in all hearts in Britain and in the United States as well as in Canada which has a warm place in her affections for her good neighbor.

What gifts to the world Britain has given in North America, two great nations, the United States, which since 1776 has continued to run true to her course of freedom, and Canada, which still remains with the British Crown and is the best friend of the neighbor Republic and the greatest of the Dominions!

READING OF SHAKESPEARE

It may seem to some a long way from a public man and a statesman to a reader of English classics, but it is not unusual for a leading public man to read the classics. Not long ago Prime Minister Chamberlain expressed his delight in reading Shakespeare and Dumas and other writers as a rest and recreation against the worries of public life. The other day it was a Canadian, a former prime minister and a member of the Senate of Canada, Sir Arthur Meighen, who said in an address to the graduating class at Pittsburgh University, that "good literature is still our finest possession and reading it rightly, the most profitable occupation of our leisure."

Sir Arthur placed William Shakespeare as the greatest of authors to read for he said "By common consent of leading critics of many nations, by an acclaim which can be now said to approach the universal, Shakespeare stands as the greatest intellect of whom we have record in the literature of the world. The bounty of his overflowing mind is open to us all. It has spread to the alcove of every library, and reposes, let us hope, on the mantelpiece of every home." The former Prime Minister recalled what Coleridge said "God forbid that these plays will ever fall dead on human hearts" and the Senator went on to say that "may the time never come, especially to us his heirs in direct descent, when lighter preoccupations and alluring diversions of fleeting value will lead us into habits of neglect unworthy of the priceless treasure which this, the greatest of Englishmen, has bequeathed to the sons of men."

Sir Arthur had a worthy aim in stressing the poet-playwright for his hope was to do something, ever so little, to reawaken interest in Shakespeare's writings. He added, "I do not appeal to busy folks to read Shakespeare. I just say to you, read him and enjoy him; read his works over; read the best of them, or those you like best, and then read them over again and keep on. You will discover that each time you like them better; that each time you get more out of them. There is nourishment for mind and soul rich and various all along his shores. What I want earnestly to impress is this; that in Shakespeare, sheer intellect is the essence, but only the essence, of his genius. It is adorned by a generosity of character, by a magnanimity which makes his mind a very heaven of hospitality. You like to go with him on his excursion. You know that you will have lots of joy and lots of tears, and, though you may come back a mystic, you certainly will not come back a cynic."

Here spoke a Canadian who has filled the highest office in the land, a man who has been a leading figure in the life of Canada, who admits Shakespeare's genius and owns that he reads his works. It is no sign of affectation to read Shakespeare. It is culture and experience in life, it is poetry, it is art, it is the human heart in action in a myriad of situations. It is life.

That man Shakespeare still talks to the world and binds men together.

x

Tentative suggestions have been made about sending the train, including the locomotive, in which the King and Queen toured Canada, to the New York World's Fair and to the Canadian National Exhibition so that the public may see the "palace on wheels". Both suggestions are good in a way but the drawback to both is that in the former place comparatively few Canadians would see it, and in the latter, the people from the Maritime Provinces and the West would not see it at all except for the odd visitor.

x

We venture to suggest that at the conclusion of Their Majesties' tour the train should be again sent across Canada from Halifax to Vancouver, with special preference in the way of stops being given to those cities which were not privileged to have visits from the King and Queen.

x

This is an opportunity which we think the public, especially those who live in the non-favored cities, are entitled to enjoy. Nor would anyone object, we trow, to paying a nominal fee to walk through in order to compensate for loss of the service of the train and to cover the extra expenses, or by way of contribution to railway charities.

And instead of breaking-down the train entirely and restoring it to the same appearance as others, why not adapt the interior for luxury accommodation, charging something extra on the fare, and running it as "The Royal Train Special".

HIGH PRESSURE SALESMANSHIP IS ONE OF the evolutions of modern times and has many phases, in fact in many cases the procedure has been termed rackets, a word with many meanings. One so-called selling racket which has been going on for some time and has been worked all over Ontario, including Belleville, is known as the necktie racket. This super-salesmanship or whatever you like to call it struck Chatham Ontario recently with the following repercussion as told by the Chatham News:

Some time ago a well-known physician received three neckties from an eastern mail order house in the United States with the following letter:

"Dear Doctor—We are taking the liberty of sending you three exceptionally fine ties. Because these ties have the approval of thousands of discriminating dressers, we know you will like them. Please send $2.00".

The doctor replied as follows:

"I am taking the liberty of sending you $2.00 worth of extra fine pills. These pills have helped thousands and I am sure you will appreciate my thoughtfullness in sending them.. Please accept them in payment for the ties which you sent me recently."

The Toronto Better Business Bureau points out that you can elminate the "Unordered Merchandise" racket by refusing to pay for, or return the merchandise which you have received.

The recipient of Unordered Merchandise may not appropriate it for his or her own use, but may hold it for a reasonable length of time only. It a qualified agent representing the company or sender calls for the merchandise within such time, the recipient is entitled to demand payment of storage charges before turning it over.

The moral to this tale of course is to "buy from your own friendly retail store."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 19th., 1919.

At a meeting held at the Court House the Belleville Motor Club was organized in affiliation with the Ontario Motor League. The following officers were elected: President, Col. S. S. Lazier; First Vice President, Mr. W. B. Riggs; Second Vice President, Mr. W. B. Deacon; Secretary-Treasurer, Mr. T. D. Ruston.

His Excellency the Duke of Devonshire, Governor General of Canada, who visited this city a few days ago, has presented to the city through Mayor Platt an enlarged picture of himself and also one of the Duchess. The picture will be framed and hung in the council chamber. Similar pictures were presented to the Ontario School for the Deaf.

Mr. G. V. Savage has been appointed Claims Inspector for the G.T.R. in this division with headquarters in Belleville and has entered upon his duties.

30 YEARS AGO

June 19th., 1909.

Mr. J. D. Ford of the Intelligencer staff sailed from Montreal this morning to spend some time in the Old Country.

Mr. R. Mathison and family of Toronto, formerly of Belleville, have arrived in the city to spend the summer and have taken up residence on William Street.

June 18th., 1909 will perhaps rank as the coldest day of this summer season. During the night the mercury dropped to 40.9 degrees, about nine above the freezing point.

At the session of the County Council this morning, Mr. A. M. Chapman of Sidney, was appointed County Clerk in the place of the late W. R. Aylsworth. Mr. Chapman has been Clerk of Sidney Township for some time and is regarded as a most efficient official. He will enter upon his duties July 1st.

On July 23rd. the G.T.R. employees will hold their annual picnic and games at Massassaga Park.

Mr. and Mrs. James Anderson of Sidney Township, have left to spend some time at various places on the Pacific Coast.

Ald. Ackerman and Mrs. Ackerman will leave shortly for Seattle, Wash., where they will visit the Alaska-Yukon Pacific Exposition.

40 YEARS AGO

June 19th., 1899.

The steamer William Booth is now making regular trips to Massassaga Park. The park is a delightful place to spend a whole day or an afternoon.

The registration of dogs is, as usual, exceedingly slow. Owners of dogs must get busy and register their dogs very soon or they will hear from the authorities.

The steam yacht Gladys, of Kingston, arrived in port here yesterday afternoon. She is a beautiful boat and was admired by many citizens.

Mr. George Austin, who has been employed with Mr. James Wallace, baker and confectioner, for the last seven years, will shortly enter business on his own account.

Dr. and Mrs. Ince of this city have taken a cottage at Massassaga Park.

Mr. William Collins is home from St. Michael's College, Toronto, to spend the summer vacation.

Mr. Lawrence Lockett and wife of Kingston, are spending a few days in the city.

50 YEARS AGO

June 19th., 1889.

Mr. William Johnson, Inspector of Weights and Measures, left here last evening, and will sail tomorrow from Montreal for the Old Country and will attend the World's Sunday School Convention which will convene in London on July 2nd. We join with his many friends in wishing him bon voyage and a safe return. This morning a deputation representing the congregation of Bridge Street Methodist Church and the Sunday School, called at Mr. Johnson's office and presented him with a purse containing sufficient funds to defray all his expenses. An address accompanied the presentation which expressed the appreciation of Mr. Johnson's work in the church and Sunday School.

The steamer Quinte took an excursion to the Murray Canal this morning.

The popular steamer Nellie Cuthbert will run an excursion to Deseronto, Glenora and Picton on Friday of this week, leaving at 9 a.m. Return fare to Deseronto, and Glenora 25 cents; to Picton 50 cents.

Major Casswell of this city caught the first maskinonge of the season yesterday in Mosquito Bay. The fish weighed 16 pounds and was taken with a trolling spoon.

The Rev. John Learoyd, late pastor of Bridge Street Methodist will leave within a few days for his new charge in Windsor, Ont.

ATTEND TRADITIONAL TROOPING OF COLOR

Although the King was absent in Canada on his official birthday, June 8, the traditional trooping of the colors took place as usual on the Horse Guards' Parade, the Duke of Gloucester taking the salute. The Duke of Gloucester and the Duke of Kent are pictured arriving on the Horse Guards' Parade for the annual ceremony.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

There are a Number of Causes of Dizziness

A patient told his physician that he had a feeling that he was going to fall, that he would be unable to walk another block. The physician tested his eyes and his hearing, and finding them normal, advised the patient to walk to the physician's office on his way home each evening for one week. As the patient did not fall for the entire week, the physician pointed out that it was worry or anxiety that was causing the dizzy or falling sensation. The patient admitted that he was treasurer and vice-president of his organization and that the falling off in business was keeping him awake at nights.

This dizziness, falling sensation, feeling as if walking on air, is not uncommon in those who are anxious or worried. And it is because these patients refuse or neglect to tell of these emotional disturbances that many cases of dizziness are blamed on defective eyes and ears. Sometimes these emotional disturbances upset the liver and cause dizziness.

Dr. W. Russell Brain, London, in the British Medical Journal, in speaking of ocular or eye vertigo or dizziness says:

"Dizziness may arise from double vision due to paralysis of certain eye muscles or from inability to adapt the eye to an unusual environment such as a rapidly movving train or on looking down from a height."

Aural or ear vertigo is very common and due to a number of ear conditions—infected teeth, tonsils, and sinuses, to a disturbance of the balancing canals, and to too much fluid or water in the tissues. When ear or aural dizziness persists, Dr. Brain recommends:

(a) Removal of all infection in teeth, tonsils, sinuses, or elsewhere.

(b) Cutting down on the amount of liquids to 1 1-2 pints daily.

(c) Phenobarbital, 1-2 grain two or three times daily.

(d) Lumbar puncture which means taking some of the fluid from the spinal canal and brain.

If none of these help, then dividing the nerve supplying the ear may be necessary to rid the patient of this distressing symptom—dizziness.

Remember, some cases are due to worry and anxiety, not to eyes, ears, or liver.

ONE BITE FREE

Everybody has heard the old saw that "every dog is entitled to one bite." The phrase is so old and so common that one might have little trouble in recalling just what it means, let alone in realizing that it is a serious and literal principle of law.

New York State defeated in the Legislature a proposal by mailmen that they be allowed to sue for damages and recover even in cases when dogs not previously known to be vicious bit them. Towser and Rags and Fido and Prince emerged victorious from the legislative mill. "It is a traditional and elementary principle of the common law, a principle that has come down to us from the Middle Ages, that every dog is entitled to one bite," explained State Senator Stagg.

And so, before the majesty of the law, the owners of Spot and Mickey and Ted and Sandy are not forced to consider and handle them as vicious until after they have proved it by the first nip.—Pittsburg Press.

FRANKEST CITIZENS

Their Majesties have met our original citizens, the Indians, and a Royal welcome they had from them.

There are not many Indians in Canada, only about a hundred thousand, but they have kept many fine characteristics from being sullied by the march of civilization.

One thing that nearly every one likes about our Indians is that they say what they think. They are not content with insinuation or equivocation; they label people with an astounding frankness. Nearly all of our leaders have at some time or other had a colorful sobriquet from the red man. There was a slip once when Right Hon. R. B. Bennett won himself a title, which, translated, meant "ferret," but it was soon explained that this was a tribute to his prodigious powers of research.

Among their own leaders the Indians are even more frank. The chiefs who met Their Majesties in Calgary bore such names as Duck Chief, Sucking Pig and Fat Belly. All of which makes the white man appear rather devious, especially the politicians, who no doubt frequently yearn to inherit some of this native honesty that puts a man in his proper perspective and advertises it.—Hamilton Spectator.

GRANDMOTHER PASSES FIVE ATHLETIC TESTS

Galt, Ont., June 17 (CP)—Mrs. Alex Gibb believes she is the only grandmother in Canada who has passed five athletic tests by the Young Men's Christian Association. Now she is seeking her life saving award, although she did not start swimming lessons until she was past 40, nine years ago.

WILL KEEP SECRET STREAMS THAT ARE STOCKED

Stratford, Ont., June 17 (CP)—Ontario's Department of Game and Fisheries will continue its program of stocking streams with fish but will not tell the public in the future the streams that are stocked. Officials here said they feared that some citizens had captured scores of these young fish in their nets and removed them to private property.

Indian Signs on Ontario Roads

One of the most striking things about the Royal Visit by the King and Queen is the interest Their Majesties have shown in their Indian subjects in Canada.

At every point where Indians have turned out to greet the royal couple both King George and Queen Elizabeth have shown a keen interest in them—in their life, their work, their families and their colorful costumes. In Calgary, the Indians made His Majesty a chief of their tribe and gave him the noble title of Chief Albino —White Chief.

The life of a king and that of an Indian brave are worlds apart and yet there is one thing they have very much in common — a vital interest in safety. The story of King George's interest in safety work has often been told—how he has taken an active and keen part in accident prevention movements in the British Isles for many years. Many of us, however, are prone to forget how much the native Indian has contributed to safety in North America. And quite often this forgetfulness results in injury and death.

A noted safety expert recently expressed the belief that if drivers when on the road would emulate the American Indian in his constant watchfulness for every sign along the road and his interpretation of that sign with relation to his own safety, the accident toll would be greatly reduced.

This speaker—W. J. Davidson, president of the Society of Automotive Engineers—briefly outlined how Indians took notice of, every possible indication presented to them in ensuring their safe passage along the rivers or through the woods. They watched for signs other Indians had placed on trees; they examined every track or footprint they came across; they listened for every sound and sign of movement; and always kept one eye on the weather.

He spoke of what he termed "the Indian signs" of highway travel, and classified them in two groups. The first group comprised signs placed by highway engineers bearing words of a directive or warning character or bearing merely symbols such as an arrow with a curved tail to indicate a road curve over a straight arrow with a bar through it indicating the intersection of a side road.

The second group, he said, comprised messages carried by the highway itself or by phenomena along the highway which are there to be seen on any ordinary drive, but often are either not noticed or not interpreted.

Among many such "Indian signs" he referred to mud tracks on a paved highway which should indicate a slow-moving farm wagon over the crest of the next hill. Such tracks should be an immediate warning to slow down and be on the watch. Another sign he spoke of was a cloud of dust to the right or left of the highway, which would indicate a car approaching to enter the main road from a blind side road.

"At the first spit of rain on the windshield," said Davidson, "it should be instinctive for the driver to test his brakes at the first convenient opportunity." Similar precautions were indicated, he said, when the character of the road surface changed in smoothness or color.

He declared that drivers should train themselves to react automatically to such "Indian signs" and that in such instinctive reaction on the part of motorists lay the secret of safe dribing.—Ontario Dept. of Highways Bulletin.

Last Stronghold of Presbytery

Writing in the London Free Press W. G. Trestain tells of a rather unique Presbyterian Church in Bruce County where many of the old customs and traditions of the older form of Presbyterianism have defied the inroads of modern times:

On the outskirts of Lucknow, which is northeast of Goderich, stands South Kinloss Presbyterian Church, locally known as the "Big Church," well up on a hill, a fine brick building surrounded by a cemetery. They do not sing hymns there, they do not use an organ at morning service, they do not permit money making enterprises like concerts in the church, they have a three-day communion preparatory service instead of one day preparatory as in most Presbyterian churches.

South Kinloss Church is the last stronghold of certain traditional Presbyterian rites in Western Ontario. Not that the congregation of 40 families (about 60 members) is backward—far from it. They are quite progressive and vigorous, only they happen to take pride in preserving the customs of another generation.

It is believed South Kinloss is unique in Canada because it has preserved more of the old rites than any other. There are said to be only two churches with a presenter. Kinloss is one of these and has also retained other historic features.

The presenter is John S. Macdonald, 73, who has been a presenter for 54 years. He began in 1881 as a boy from the Sunday School; the congregation needed a presenter so he stepped in. Later he went to Western Canada but on his return found the old job open and has carried on ever since.

Lest there be any "sae fearfu' ignorant" as not to know what a presenter is, he is a song leader who voices the note at the start of song service and gives lead to the melody. Presenters were the rule in Presbyterian churches years ago. Great opposition was set up against early attempts to introduce the organ as a means of leading song service. Organs almost split the church—did split it in places. Old Scots proclaimed they would not worship with a "kist o' whustles," which meant the organ.

Many presenters used a tuning fork "to strike the note." Mr. Macdonald does not use a tuning fork. He sounds the note directly with his voice and leads the congregation true to pitch.

He went to one of the old-time singing schools as a boy and there learned to sing by note. He tried to play both the violin and the bagpipes, the violin fell by the wayside, and even the lungs of a Macdonald could not provide the wind requirements of the pipes.

"Goose Bone Prophets Lose Out

Individuals who place their faith in old-time weather proverbs are as likely as not to be caught in a storm without a raincoat or find themselves wearing rubbers in the sunshine. Such is the information gleaned from a meeting of the American Meteorological Society in Atlanta, Ga.

Rainbows and mackerel skies have no real bearing on the weather, said professional weather prophets attending the gathering. Coin tossing, they declared, is as reliable a way of foretelling good or bad weather as putting one's trust in such familiar sayings as: "Red skies at night, sailors' delight; red skies in the morning sailors take warning."

"It's a pretty good proverb that gets as much as 60 per cent. results," G. W. Mindling, U.S. meteorologist and host at the meeting asserted. "And anything less means about a 50-50 chance of being right or wrong—which is not much help."

Even the old belief that a ring around the moon presages rain for the next day fails to "hold water." Ice crystals in a thin sheet of high clouds are responsible for the ring and these do form before and not after storms, Mr. Mindling admitted. But he also pointed out that the unsettled conditions thus forecast may not reach the observer's part of the country for several days or may skip it entirely.

Not many picnics, perhaps, are actually postponed on the sole authority of some old-fashioned weather prognosticator. Official forecasts are consulted today almost to the exclusion of the amateur variety.

Yet more persons probably have some "sure sign" that seems to prove itself, with reasonable frequency, a portent of meteorological bad luck. The householder who washes and polishes his car till it is fairly blinding in its brightness and parks it by the curb so that all his neighbors may observe—he may safely depend, before evening, on light showers bearing spots of dirt.—Minneapolis Tribune.

DRENCHING RAINS IN WEST CANADA

Waterways Are Overflowing in One-Time Drought Area in South

Winnipeg, June 19—(CP)—Rains are becoming an almost daily occurrence in the Western Canada grain belt and waterways are overflowing in the one-time drought area of Southern Saskatchewan.

Rains were general over the week-end in Saskatchewan and Manitoba but only scattered showers were reported in Alberta with skies clearing in the northern part of the province yesterday.

Every reporting point in Manitoba recorded rain, ranging up to eight-tenths of an inch over the week-end. Saskatchewan was drenched from border to border.

Soaked under an almost continuous four-day rain Southern Saskatchewan began to feel the need of warm weather and sunshine. Creeks ran full in the south-west, once the most serious drought area, and residents kept anxious watch on prairie farm rehabilitation dams, fearful lest they give way under the heavy flow of water.

Fish creek had reached the top of its banks at Maple Creek, near the Alberta border, and the Swift Current Creek 100 miles west of Moose Jaw was overflowing. Thousands of acres of farmlands were under water adjoining the Wood River in the south-west.

The entire south was mud-bound, dirt roads almost impassable and highways in poor conditions. It had rained every day for eight days at Maple Creek except for last Wednesday and four-day rains were general.

Southwestern Saskatchewan said ample feed is assured for next winter and that a fair grain crop is certain whatever turn the weather takes. Wheat was reported 12 inches high in some northern districts.

ONTARIO'S YOUNG

At the dinner dance that wound up the day's convention, 300 juniors and many of their elders heard Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative leader, urged that Canada take a leaf from President Roosevelt's new deal book and set up training camps for youth, modelled along the lines of the United States civilian conservation corps camps.

Workings of the U.S. camps aroused the interest and admiration of King George and Queen Elizabeth, said Dr. Manion. There is organized opportunity for usefulness and training in them.

If taxes had to be increased to look after unemployed youth, which was doubtful, they should be increased. Canada spent $2,000,000,000 on the Great War. Surely she could afford to spend today to look after her youth.

Swarms With Opportunities

"This country swarms with opportunities to give work and wages," said Dr. Manion. The Trans-Canada Highway should be completed. Level crossings should be eliminated. It would be easier for the country to stand the cost of putting her youth to work than the cost of having them idle.

The democratic, capitalist system will disappear in 15 or 30 years to be succeeded by nobody knows what unless steps are taken right away to correct the economic evils within it, predicted Dr. Manion.

Col. George Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, urged the young people to prepare for political work in federal and provincial fields by taking an active interest in municipal elections. There was much to be said for the system in Great Britain under which party lines prevail in municipal elections. Canada, however, had a tradition of non-partisanship in these and it was not likely to be disturbed.

Peter White Named

A convention resolution favored a reallocation of taxing fields among Dominion, Provincial and Municipal governments. Specifically recommended was reduced municipal taxation on real estate "with a view to promoting the revival of the building industry and to encourage home ownership."

Peter White, Jr., Toronto, was elected President of the Ontario organization, succeeding Gordon Ford, Toronto, now national president. Mr. White defeated Sam Hughes, Lindsay, by a close margin.

Britain is Ready To Defend Herself Says R.C.A.F. Leader

Montreal, June 17 (CP)—Squadron Leader Roy Foss of No. 115 squadron, Royal Air Force, told a veterans' meeting here last night that Great Britain, armed with combat planes capable of a top cruising speed of 250 miles an hour, is ready to defend herself in the air as never before.

Foss said that while other countries have been concentrating on mass production British authorities centred their efforts on research. This was to avoid costly outlay on fighting plants that might be obsolete within six months.

Meanwhile British factories went into production mainly upon heavy bombers and other types of carriers which would be able to do the same thing as they were designed for 10 years from now, Foss said.

$200,000 LOSS ON FRENCH ISLE

Seventeen Buildings on St. Pierre et Miquelon Destroyed by Fire

St. Pierre et Miquelon, June 19—(CP Cable)—Loss in a fire which swept the commercial district of this French possession off the Newfoundland coast was estimated today at $200,000. The fire broke out last night, destroying 17 buildings before it was brought under control early this morning. There was no loss of life.

Authorities expressed belief that because of depressed conditions many of the razed structures would never be rebuilt.

A row of brick houses which resisted the flames, fanned by a heavy wind, saved the centre of the town from destruction. Before the fire was extinguished the office of the Canadian Bank of Commerce, the private residence of the Chief Justice and Secretary to the Administrator of the islands, several stores and warehouses were razed.

Fought All Night

The St. Pierre fire department and volunteers fought all night to save the town. A bucket brigade was formed and the men managed to save a block of five houses, apparently doomed.

There was a good water supply from the reservoir but time was lost in adjusting hoses. The flames spread with such rapidity that people hardly had time to escape from their homes. Many left in night clothes. When the fire was out, 15 families were homeless.

Cause of the fire was uncertain although it was believed to have started the basement of a theatre.

The fire was the worst in the history of St. Pierre, once a busy port in the heyday of the rum-fleets. With nearby Miquelon, it constitutes the sole remnant of France's colonies in America.

All-Kiwanis Night To Be Celebrated By Local Club

Kiwanians will gather Monday evening, June 19, to join with the 2,030 other Kiwanis clubs in the United States and Canada in a continent-wide observance of All-Kiwanis Night.

"Local members will join with the 104,000 Kiwanians on the North American Continent in this observance," said Dr. R. A. Flynn, club president, today. The meeting will be held at the Bay of Quinte Country Club.

The local club will receive a special message from H. G. Hatfield, of Oklahoma City, Oklahoma, president of Kiwanis International. This will be read at the meeting.

Throughout the United States and Canada meetings of the 2,030 clubs will be held simultaneously. The time will be synchronized with the schedule for a similar meeting of delegates attending the 22rd annual convention of Kiwanis International in Boston, being held June 18 to 22.

The main feature of the All-Kiwanis Night occasion is the Fellowship Hour. During this period members will rededicate themselves to the principles and ideals of Kiwanis, taken by Past Lieutenant-Governor P. C. MacLaurin. Special musical program has been arranged during luncheon and the remainder of evening devoted to dancing.

6th Sidney

6th. Sidney — The regular monthly meeting of Scott's W.M.S. was held in the church Wednesday afternoon, June 14th, with the president taking charge of the meeting. The theme for June was Christian Citizenship. The Call to Worship included selection 520 in The Hymnry, and prayer by Mrs. Morley Sine. Scripture was read by Mrs. E. Chapman. Hymn 109 was sung and prayer led by Mrs. R. Reid. "The Parable of the Selfish Man' was given by Mrs. Vera Sine, and a reading "Friendship's Corner" by Jean Badgley. Hymn 226 was sung. The meeting closed with the Lord's Prayer in unison.

Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Rose and family spent Sunday with friends in Brighton.

Mr. M. Sine, Mrs. Vera Sine and children spent the dinner hour on Sunday at the home of Mr. Morley Sine.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Lott were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Eldon Walt, Consecon.

Geraldine Sine entertained Irene Tanner and Margaret Vanderwater on Friday night.

Mrs. T. H. Ketcheson has returned home from visiting friends in London.

Mr. and Mrs. Alton Sine and son spent Sunday at the home of Mr. Clayton Vanderwater, Moira.

TEN ARE KILLED IN MINNESOTA

Tornado Thrashed Along Twenty-Five Miles of Countryside

Minneapolis, June 19—(AP)— A tornado which thrashed along 25 miles of countryside killed 10 persons Sunday, injured upwards of 60 and caused property damage of possibly $500,000.

Sections of seven towns— Corcoran, Maple Grove, Champlin, Anoka, Cedar, St. Francis and Bethel—lying from 15 to 30 miles west and northwest of here were damaged with Anoka, a town of some 5,000 suffering most seriously. There 40 to 50 buildings were demolished and five persons killed.

The dead included a family of four whose automobile ran headlong into the wind near Corcoran.

The dead: Mrs. Anna Freeman, 76, Minneapolis; Ellen Freeman, 43, Minneapolis; James Bradley, 37, Minneapolis; Mrs. James Bradley, 34, Minneapolis; H. G. Groat, 73, Anoka; Leo Kidd, 25, Anoka; Ernest Syring, about 50, Anoka; Edward Morrissette, Anoka; Walter Isreal, 28, Anoka and Fred Zimmerman, 75, Champlin.

The automobile carrying Mrs. Freeman, her daughter, Ellen, and the bradleys, her son-in-law and daughter, was whirled several hundred feet and demolished. Bodies of the occupants were scattered in a field.

All the others were killed in the collapse of homes except Zimmerman. He was working in his garden when the tornado lifted him up, carried him several hundred feet and dashed him to death against a bridge.

WARNED JAPAN

Pointing out the dangers of "provocative action" by the Japanese that might lead to a "regrettable incident," Sir Robert Craigie, ABOVE, British ambassador to Japan, has warned Tokyo of the consequences of the Japanese blockade of the British concession in Tientsin, north China coastal city. Fears are felt for a serious food shortage should the blockade continue.

Weddings

KERR—WRIGHT

The home of Mrs. George Wright of East Seymour, was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Wednesday, June 14th, at 11.30 a.m., when her second daughter, Jessie Beatrice, was united in marriage to Mr. Donald Duane Kerr, younger son of Mrs. Thomas Fry and the late George Kerr, the Rev. Dr. C. S. Reddick officiating.

Mrs. Wright and Mrs. Fry received at the door, and Miss Enid Hay was in charge of the gifts. The bride's mother wore navy figured sheer with fuchsia Pelargania and maiden hair fern corsage. The groom's mother wore flowered sheer and a corsage of lily of the valley and maiden hair fern.

The bride entered the room on the arm of her younger brother, Clarence to the strains of the Bridal Chorus played by Miss Violet Wright, sister of the bride.

The bride took her place beneath the arch of evergreens and potted plants interspersed with roses and carnations. The bride looked charming in a floor length gown of white chiffon cut on Princess lines with a fitted shirred jacket and wore a wreath of orange blossoms on her hair. She carried a bouquet of pink roses, lily of the valley and maiden hair fern.

After the ceremony the bride led the way to the dining room, which was tastefully decorated in pink and white, where about thirty-five guests sat down to a sumptuous dinner served by four cousins of the bride, Misses Marion Wright, Irene Miller, Bernice Wright and Laura Miller.

The happy couple left by motor for Ottawa and other eastern points amid showers of confetti and best wishes.

On their return they will reside on the groom's farm in East Seymour.

MARETT—DAVERN

Peterborough, — Trinity United Church, with its grey, ivy-hung walls and beautiful windows, its altar banked with pink and white peonies mauve irises and orange blossoms, was the setting for one of the loveliest weddings of the early summer season, Saturday afternoon at one o'clock, when Miss Charlotte Alice Davern, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. A. Davern, 301 Maitland avenue, became the bride of Mr. Donald Pearce Marett, eldest son of Mrs. Marett and the late F. N. Marett of Marmora, Ont. Rev. G. S. Easton officiated, and Miss Mabel Clarry presided at the organ. During the signing of the register, Mrs. Erwin Nelson of Ottawa, cousin of the groom, sang "O Perfect Love".

Mr. Davern gave his daughter in marriage. She wore an exquisite period gown of white net, its bouffant skirt caught up with clusters of gardenias to reveal a deeply ruffled petticoat of heavy white satin that extended into a short train. bodice was edged with a narrow frill of net, it had puff sleeves, and was fastened at the back with tiny buttons. Her veil of circular white net was caught with gardenias and she carried a shower bouquet of pink butterfly roses and lily of the valley.

The attendants were Miss Dorothy Davidson of Havelock, Miss Kathleen Elliott, and Miss Dorothy Marett, sister of the groom. They were gowned alike in graceful frocks of double net over taffeta, fashioned with high waistlines, and very full skirts sprinkled with tiny sprigs of velvet flowers. The round necklines had a frill of net, and the sleeves were short and puffed. They wore old-fashioned poke bonnets that tied under the chin, frilled wristlets of stiffened net, and quaint nosegays of roses and sweet peas with streamers of baby ribbon caught with bows in softly contrasting shades. Miss Marett, who was maid of honor, wore orchid; Miss Elliott, lime green and Miss Davidson, a pastel yellow. Mr. John M. Davern, brother of the bride, was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Clarence A. Davern and Mr. James Marett, brother of the groom.

A reception was held afterwards at the Kawartha Golf and Country Club, Mrs. Davern, the bride's mother, received in a floor-length gown of rose romantique lace with matching jacket. She wore a large hat of burnt straw, and a corsage of pink sweet peas and lily of the valley. The groom's mother, Mrs. Marett, wore a lovely gown of Queen's blue sheer, with hat of fine black straw, and corsage of pink sweet peas and valley lillies.

The groom's gifts to the bridesmaids were gold lockets ;to the ushers gold pocket knives; to the best man, a pen and pencil set; to the maid of honor a gold mesh bag; to the soloist, a compact, and to the organist, a brilliant bracelet.

For travelling the bride wore a chic navy and white ensemble. After a trip to the Gaspe, Mr. and Mrs. Marett will live at Marmora.

HORRIGAN—HUNT

A very pretty wedding was solemnised in St. Charles Church, Read, on Monday morning, June 12th., Rev. Father Carey, officiating when Miss Veronica Hunt, daughter of the late Daniel Hunt and Mrs. Hunt became the bride of Jeremiah Horrigan, son of the late Timothy Horrigan and Mrs. Horrigan. The Nuptial Mass was said by Father Carey.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. M. J. Hunt, looked lovely in a gown of white silk net with lace jacket and long full skirt. She wore a shoulder length tulle veil fastened on the head with lily of the valley, and carried a bouquet of pink roses, carnations, baby's breath and maiden hair fern.

The happy couple were attended by Mr. Michael Horrigan, brother of the groom, and Miss Genevieve Hunt, sister of the bride, who was gowned in a frock of mayflower sheer with white accessories and carried a bouquet of pink and white carnations and maiden hair fern.

The groom's gift to the bride was a heart-shaped locket of natural gold to the bridesmaid a lovely leather purse and to the groomsman a fountain pen and pencil set.

The wedding music was rendered by Miss Mary Walsh, organist and during the Mass Miss Kathleen Thoobault sang several hymns.

Mr. Raymond Hunt, Read, and Mr. Charles McDonald, Oshawa, were ushers.

After the ceremony the wedding party motored to the home of the bride's mother, where a sumptuous repast was served to the immediate relatives of the bride and groom. The rooms were prettily decorated with peonies, iris, ferns, pink and white streamers and white wedding bells.

Mr. and Mrs. Horrigan left later in the day for a honeymoon in the city of Detroit, The bride travelled in a frock of grey and blue sugar cane crepe with sky blue English polo cloth coat and white accessories.

BAY OF QUINTE W. I.

The Bay of Quinte Local Institute met at the home of Mrs. Clarence Holmes on Wednesday last with a very large attendance and the new president, Mrs. R. Ketcheson was in the chair. The meeting opened in the usual manner. Mrs. Boulton, convener, took charge of the program which consisted of a piano duet, "Waves of the Ocean" by Misses Elsie and Rhoda Hunt. The members of the Institute were glad to have Miss Elsie present, a member who for the past two years has been serving as a missionary nurse, in Cold Lake, Alberta. On her return she will take up her work at Battle River.

Mrs. Harold Welsh of Roslin, guest speaker, gave some very interesting comments on her trip to Toronto. Dr. and Mrs. Welsh motored to Toronto, and the day following they were presented to their Majesties, the King and Queen, after the presentation they proceeded to Hart House for luncheon.

The guests were provided with large tickets which they carried continually in their hands, the children carried them as well. These tickets admitted them to the reception hall and and to the Hart House luncheon, they also were given large stickers for the windshields of their cars in order to be admitted through the crowd. Without these one was not allowed to go through. Mrs. Welsh gave a very detailed account of that memorable day which seemed to carry all in fancy to Toronto with her. Her talk was very interesting as well as educational.

A reading was given by Mrs. Tucker, Pauline Johnson "The Cattle Thief." Mrs. White, the East Hastings district president, gave a few brief remarks. Mrs. MacDonald of Foxboro, gave outlines of their work. An autoharp selection by Miss Morton was enjoyed.

Miss Elsie Hunt was called on and gave a little insight of her work at Cold Lake and a bit of what she knew of the new hospital where she will be engaged at Battle River.

A vote of thanks was extended to all those taking part by the convener, after which the president closed the meeting by the singing of God Save the King.

Mrs. Holmes and the lunch committee served a very dainty lunch and a social time was spent together. Mrs. Holmes was voted an ideal hostess.

Mrs. Holmes presented a gift to the June bride who had a wedding anniversary nearest to that date, the 14th. Mrs. G. Frost received the gift as she had celebrated her anniversary on the 11th.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Is He Headed for Misfortune Again?

Dear Miss Fairfax

We were happy for three years and had two lovely children. Nine months ago we separated. My wife is living with her parents and I seldom see the children. The final decree will be given in a couple of months. My experience with marriage caused me to be bitter toward all women, although I'm only 26.

Two months ago I met a young lady, and have fallen in love with her, though I know her to be a spoiled, pampered, selfish girl of 19. Do you think a person of her character would change and bring me some happiness, or am I headed for a second misfortune?

C.

Spoiled, selfish and pampered young women are not apt to change, except through some great revolution of character. And whether a young man of 26, who claims to be bitter toward all women, could bring about this revolution, is questionable.

Why jump from the frying pan into what may well prove to be a possible fire? You tell me your first marriage was disastrous.

Why not get your breath before you attempt a second, especially since you are able to recognize so clearly this young woman's faults?

A $29-a-Week Budget

Dear Miss Fairfax:

He doesn't drink or smoke, and is awfully good to me. He makes only $17 a week, and at present I make only $12. If both of us keep our jobs, do you suppose we could make a go of it on $29.00 a week? We have no money saved and no furniture, and that's why I hesitate.

I don't get along very well at home, and I would like a place of my own. Please give me your opinion. I shall be waiting to read your answer on your column.

Deep in Thought

Unless you're going to be extravagant with an expensive taste in cars for instance, two young people should be able to manage very well on $29 a week.

Don't Sign Your Name "Miss" or "Mrs."

Dear Miss Fairfax

My husband's relatives were very snippy to me because I signed my letters "Mrs." when I thanked them for their wedding presents. My husband seemed kind of sore about it and said any goof would know better than that. Is it incorrect to sign letters "Miss" or "Mrs."? If not, how should they be signed?

Stella

This column has taken up the correct signature of letters so often that I imagined anybody reading it would know it is incorrect to sign a letter Miss, Mrs. or Mr. If the person to whom you are writing does not know whether you're married or unmarried, it is permissible to put Miss or Mrs. at the left of the signature, thus "(Mrs.) Stella Smith".

But in writing to in-laws, this is of course not necessary. Sign your letters of thanks "Stella Smith", and do please in future drop the titles. This applies to everyone wanting to do the correct thing.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Understanding Teacher Can Do Great Deal to Alleviate Handicap of Stuttering

I am convinced that teachers in school can do almost as much for the child who stutters as can the mother and father. The trouble is that too many teachers do not understand the problem sufficiently.

A youngster comes to them from the shelter of the home, often at the age of six or seven, before the habit of stuttering has become firmly entrenched. The first day when he has to give his name before the class is an awful moment for him. Likely, he won't be able to say a thing; he'll be tongued-tied. Starting with that moment, the teacher can do a whole lot for that unfortunate child.

If the child manages to stutter out his name, the rest of the class will laugh. They always do, for most children are little savages at times; they love to see others uncomfortable. If the teacher joins in the general amusement, the chances are that this child will never get over his dislike for her.

It is a rather serious situation, and one that a teacher should be warned of by the parents of the child. If she is forewarned, she will find some way of getting over this first trial without revealing the thing this by is striving so desperately to hide—the fact that he can't talk the way other children do.

These things all seem very simple when we discuss them this way. It even seem unthinkable that a teacher would smile when one of her pupils stutters. Yet I have known cases where teachers actually sent children home because they refused to recite some piece, even though she knew they weren't refusing because of sheer perversity but because they knew that before they had struggled through more than a line or two the rest of the class would be laughing.

A very interesting book has come out recently on this subject. Called "And the Stutterer Talked", it is written by two men who have gone at the problem of stuttering from the psychological angle entirely, Dr. A. Herbert Kanter and A. S. Kohn. This book points out the duties a teacher faces in handling stuttering students. It is one of the best I have ever read.

Most teachers fall into two classes. Some are stern disciplinarians, feeling that by compelling the child to give oral compositions or answer all questions orally as the other students do, they are doing him a favor. This of course is a terrible thing from the standpoint of the unfortunate boy. It completely overlooks the fact that stuttering is not a disease but a symptom.

Other teachers are more kindhearted. When they find out that a child has such terrific difficulties trying to say words, they ignore him. He is a problem they don't understand, so they carry on classes as though he didn't exist. This is not fair to the child either for he retires more and more into himself, and begins to wonder if perhaps there aren't a lot of other things wrong with him besides the fact that he just can't make some words come out the way they should.

For a Brighter Touch

JOAN BANKS. . . . radio actress gives her finger-nails. good care.

By HELEN FOLLETT

TAKING OFF the old shine from the finger-nails and putting on the new is almost a daily chore, especially, if a girl likes to vary the color of the nail polish. Therefore, the use of cream or oil is almost necessary to keep the nail fabric shell like and of delicate texture.

Dip your cotton-tipped orange wood stick in olive oil and send it in little circles along the cutile. If you do that every night you'll never be bothered with hangnails and you won't have to cut the cuticle. Snipping or clipping the flesh that surrounds human claws is a deplorable practice; it causes it to thicken and look horrid.

After you attend to your lubricating, give your nail eaves a few swishes with an emery board which leaves a smoother edge than the metal file. Run the stick under the nail eaves. There you are, fingers dressed for the night.

In the morning, after washing your hands, dry them well and apply your glimmering polish. Place the brush at the base of the nail, sweep upward. If the polish trickles into the cuticle at the sides of the nails, wipe it away with cotton. If nails are short, paint the eaves, too; if they are long, let the eaves remain natural. That's what the beauty doctors order.

Don't monkey with skin rashes. If there is any sign of inflammation if there are red blotches, trot yourself to the office of a physician who specializes in diseases of the skin and scalp. The home remedy recommended by the woman next door may make conditions worse.

There are many diseases of the skin that are stubborn. They aren't nice to have, one must be rid of them as soon as possible. The medical man seeks the cause, which may be a food fobia, something eaten that the digestive motors can't dispose of in a normal manner.

Pimples should not be tolerated. If ordinary local treatment avails nothing, then time, worry and money are saved by prompt medical attention.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

COMMENCEMENT BRINGS ETIQUETTE PROBLEMS

A headmistress of a famous girls' school once told me that it is almost always the girls with the lowest marks who insist on over-dressing at graduation. They are the ones, she said, who resent the school regulations about simple dresses, who would, if they were allowed, wear an elaborate white satin evening gown and carry a huge bouquet of purple orchids!

Complete co-operation with school regulations or with class regulations is one of the first ways in which a graduate shows whether or not she is mannerly and well-bred. Her distinction of manner and taste show up most emphatically when the graduation plans are being made, and later, on the day of days, when she is the cynosure of all eyes.

When the graduate sends out her invitations, she should send them in the accepted form: that is, addressed most carefully in her best handwriting, and with only the necessary abbreviations, such as Mr. and Mrs. She should not plaster any school seals or class seals on the envelopes. If she has visiting cards, she encloses one in each invitation. And, in answer to many inquiries sent to me recently, her visiting-cards should have the title of "Miss" engraved before her name, for by the time she is being graduated, even from High School, she is old enough to have the title on her card.

Another detail that indicates her taste is her attitude about the photographs that she has taken. She should not have her photograph taken in sophisticated clothes or make any effort to appear super-sophisticated. The portraits should be, like her graduation dress simple and in good taste, taken preferably in a simple street or afternoon dress, or in her graduation dress. The graduate should not hand these out indiscriminately. She should, of course, be especially choosy about the boys to whom she gives her photographs. If she writes anything on her photographs— and there is a prevalent mode now of not writing anything on a photograph—she should show sure taste in the framing of the message she writes.

"By her walk shall ye know her". The graduate must remember to walk, sit, stand and act in the most gracious manner possible. This is a large order, for she knows that her family and her friends are depending on her to appear at her best. She should try for a graceful, easy, confident walk and posture. A hesitating, awkward manner is as trying for those watching as for her herself.

On graduation day all details of courtesy have a way of shining forth in much clearer outlines: the graduate's graciousness to her family and relatives and to grown-up guests at the graduation exercises; her sure knowledge of proper introduction forms; her grace in accepting and acknowledging congratulations; her manner in greeting the guests, in shaking hands, in saying good-by; her habit of listening attentively and courteously.

Indicative of what that diploma means, she should be most careful of the way in which she writes her thank-you notes for the gifts that are given her. These notes should be written by hand as promptly as possible, on good-looking and appropriate note-paper.

The Stars Say—

For Tuesday, June 20

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

EXCELLENT opportunities for expansion and increase of fortune may be predicted from the predominant planetary rulership. A very progressive and productive state of affairs is revealed, although there is some danger from over-aggressive, reckless and indulgent behavior. Contention, impetuosity and exaggerated emotions may cause excitement, regrets and self-undoing. Much profit and pleasure depend upon restraint moderation and good nature.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of great progress, prosperity and happiness, especially if they avail themselves of splendid opportunities for growth, expansion and achievement of major importance. They should exercise proper control, calm judgment and well-directed initiative, refraining from turbulence, rash and impulsive conduct. Quarrels and high tension may cause loss, regrets and unhappiness in business and private association.

A child born on this day may have excellent talents and qualities for a successful life, with much creative ability and high ambitions. But an impetuous, indulgent and reckless nature may be the cause of many regrets in business and private life.

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

CHAPTER SEVENTEEN

Mickey was not in bed. Clad in pyjamas and robe, he was sprawled on the floor, beside a long, solid body which was prone on its stomach. The hands projecting from the long body were drawing things on a piece of paper, which held Mickey's rapt gaze. Half dozing in a corner rocker, hands in lap, sat Mrs. Blauer.

At Linda's sharp exclamation, the long body rolled over—and the grinning face attached to it was Steve Hubbard's.

"Hullo," said Steve. "Going out?"

"Mother", Mickey enthused, "Steve's drawing for me. Pitchers."

"Pardon if I don't rise, Steve smiled, "we're right in the midst of a gingerbread house. It's very important that we put walls on it before the roof collapses."

Linda silently stepped over to them and knelt to look at the art work.

"Look out, lady!" Steve said. "Don't soil the hems of that pretty dress. This slumming is dangerous stuff."

Linda saw, on the paper, a beautiful fairy castle, high on a hilltop, backed by clouds, and a woodsy scene in which was set the unfinished gingerbread house, with quaint haphazard roof and flagstone walks.

"Why," said Linda, "theyre lovely!"

"Nothing at all," Steve laughed, "it's the Maxfield Parrish in me."

Linda looked from the sketches to Steve's hands. Funny she hadn't noticed before how long and artistic the fingers were . . .

Jo and Janice had argued against it, but Linda insisted upon opening the door herself, when Dr. Bill Blaine rang the bell. 'Keep him waiting, chump," Jo had complained. "Don't throw yourself at him like a lasso." But when Linda threw open the door in answer to his ring, she was glad she had done it.

"Hello, Linda," Bill smiled. "What's this? Don't tell me I have found a girl who's ready on time!"

"Come in, Bill," she said. "I've been ready for a long time."

And to herself she added: "For tonight!"

Linda had thought that nothing could stir her so much as that first sight she had of Bill Blaine, there, perched dangerous atop the beam across the elevator shaft on Titan Tower, as he had been when he came into her life.

But she had not reckoned upon this Bill Blaine of the impeccable dinner coat, the white shirt front which made his tan all the more pronounced; this Bill whose serious eyes danced with fun, whose miscreant blonde hair of the rooftop was now faultlessly groomed.

As he sat down, while she left to get her coat—or, rather, Jo's coat—Linda said:

"Why didn't you think to send flowers?"

"Oh, that," Bill smiled. "Oversight. I meant to."

"Anyway," smiled Linda, "the thought was there. That was nice."

"Nice corsage," Bill observed. "Personally—for me?"

"Um," Linda answered, which might have been either yes or no.

When she returned, coat-clad and ready to go, Bill decided that he had never seen so thoroughly radiant and lovely a creature.

But Linda was not alone. He finally took his eyes off her to acknowledge the introductions to Miss Marberry and Miss Monroe.

Linda took her eyes off neither Bill nor Janice at the moment of meeting.

"How do you do?" each said. That was all. There was no perceptible sign of recognition.

Linda wondered if there was nothing there to be seen—or if she were looking at two consummately good actors.

Jo, however, said more than a formal acknowledgment of the introduction. Jo would.

"You'll have to answer to me, young man," Jo said, "if she's in early. Old Aunty Jo is looking out for her interests. Goodby, chile, and don't do everything I'd do."

"Where to?" Blaine inquired, when they were in his long, sleek roadster. "Hungry?"

"Not just now,' Linda answered, "Let's drive awhile. Do you mind?"

"When you give the orders," he said, "I mind you."

While they were driving, Linda looked past Bill's clean-cut profile toward the waves piling upon each other in endless, white procession, on the beach. It was more wonderful than she had anticipated. She had never felt so free.

"It's great out tonight," Bill said Matter of fact words, but the way he said it meant it was great because she was there, beside him.

When they arrived at the Bal Tabarin, "Red", the doorman, greeted Bill as though he were a celebrity. The dreamy strains of the orchestra's signature song, "Duchess of Bal Tabarin," provided entrance music. And Linda, clinging to Bill Blaine's arm, looked as though she belonged there.

The prompt way in which he obtained a preferred table indicated to Linda, although no such indication needed, that he knew his way around, that he was accustomed to such treatment.

She was even more impressed when a man with a genial smile came to their table and inquired about Bill's golf game.

"In the high eighties, Tom," Bill grimaced. "The higher it gets, the lower I feel."

Bill introduced him as Tom Gerun, one of the owners of the club.

The soft, shaded lights, the music, the crowd of gay dancing celebrants were conducive to a good time. The food and the music charmed her, the wine was heady, exhilarating.

Linda was having a thoroughly good time—the fun she had long planned. And Bill Blaine was being completely charming.

She had never questioned it, it went without saying, so she was not surprised to find that he was a smooth dancer.

She was light as gossamer in his arms—and the excitement, and the wine made her feel lighter than that as they glided past the music stand.

Every dance was Bill's naturally, but the next was his particularly, as the orchestra smoothly elided into the dreamy, plaintive strains of "Music, Maestro, Please," the number he had requested.

Nothing, Linda thought, could be nicer than this moment. Wasn't this vibrant, thrilling happiness what life was meant to be?

Bill was humming the same refrain, softly, reminiscently, as they drove away from the club later — much later.

She found herself humming it with him, as they drove slowly up the tortuous road to the summit of Twin Peaks, to see the night panorama of city and bay.

He made no move to stop the car up there. She hadn't expected him to. Bill wasn't a college sophomore; the type to think "dance and park" were a hyphenated word. Linda wouldn't acknowledge it and yet although she was glad he didn't stop, she felt a vague disappointment.

Nor did he suggest going to Titan Tower to see the night view of bay, fair and bridges from his office, as he had once invited her to do that day on the roof.

That, Linda hoped, would come later.

As the car stopped in front of her apartment, Bill sat still a long moment, just looking at her and making no move. Then he said "Thanks Linda."

Before she could say anything, he had hopped out of the car and opened the door on her side.

Her turn came when they reached the door of the girls' apartment, where Linda was to wait until after he had gone, and then slip to her own apartment.

"Thank you, Bill," she said, "for a lovely evening.'

It sounded like a line from a song she thought, but why shouldn't it—when her heart was singing that way?

"September and I are lucky fellows," he said, "to have had this date . . . ."

When he had gone and Linda slipped quietly back through her own door, her heart was still singing.

As she stepped softly into the sleeping Mickey's room, however, some of the elation—some of the effect of the evening's excitement—had worn off.

She stood there very still and very steady, looking down on Mickey's tousled blond head, on his outflung arm, which rested on the coverlet with loosely clenched fist, on his even, steady breathing.

"Mickey, darling," she said, and the voice was for Linda's ears, not his. "Mother really left you tonight. She completely forgot you—for the first time. Can you . . can you forgive mother—for being happy? Just this once . . ."

Mickey, sleeping soundly, didn't know that his mother's gay evening ended in tears.

But Linda knew.

That first date with Bill Blaine was the beginning of a breath-taking sequence of dream-filled days and glorious nights — days and night which Linda hoped would never end. From then on Linda felt, for the first time since the end of her brief happiness with Mike Morton, that it was really good to be alive.

At the end of their second evening together, their second date that Linda found ended all too soon, Bill Blaine had kissed her.

They had stood there a lingering moment before the front door of the apartment shared by Janice and Jo—Linda's "home" too, ostensibly to Dr. Blaine.

They had gone dancing and for a long ride afterward down the boulevard overlooking the ocean, Linda's head nestled against Bill's shoulder as he drove.

The only light in the corridor as they stood there to say goodnight, was the dim globe at the end of the hall.

He had stood a moment, looking down at her, a strange unfathomable expression on his face.

Then suddenly— but not before she knew what was happening —he had her in his arms.

CHAPTER EIGHTEEN

The kiss was all that Linda had anticipated; the sure, gentle strength of his arm, the firm pressure—brief but lasting—of his lips on hers; a kiss that might have lasted one second or ten, for its duration was lovely oblivion.

And then Bill had said: "Do you want me to say I'm sorry, Linda?"

And she had said:

"Sorry—why, Bill? I'm glad. I wanted you to . . .'

After that there was little to mar their happiness. One date followed another, and they went everywhere together and did the things Linda had dreamed about, with each new meeting more ecstatically happy than the last.

There was little time for Linda to carry out her luncheon trysts with Mr. Avon (alias J. R. Blaine)—she was too busy keeping noon dates with Bill; on the rooftop sun deck, for lunch together and for brief walks about town.

She was able, however, to squeeze in one brief meeting with her fatherly adviser in which she had told him of her happiness.

"Looks," Mr. Avon had said, "as though everything is working out all right, eh Linda? You're not sorry you seized happiness while you could?"

And then she told him — told him about Bill, who he was and how fine and wonderful he was, and how thoroughly happy he made her.

If J. R. Blaine's eyebrows had gone up, or if he had showed any other sign of surprise when Linda revealed the man's identity as Dr. Bill Blaine, Linda had not noticed it.

"But are you sure, child," Mr. Avon had said, "that your young doctor is everything wonderful that you tell me he is? Are you sure that he feels the same way about you?"

Linda said she was sure.

Neither did Linda have time to notice how fine and strong a bond had sprung up between Mickey and Steve Hubbard. Nor did she realize how frequent a visitor to Linda's home Steve had become. Linda, herself wasn't home enough to notice it.

But Mrs. Blauer had noticed it.

"Linda, honey," she said one night, as Linda was hurrying to get to Janice's and Jo's apartment before Bill arrived. "I don't know for the life of me why you go gallivanting around willy-nilly like a playgirl or something, when you have something so much more real right here at home.

"It's none of my business, I know," Mrs. Blauer went on, "but if you ask me you're missing something. Why, every time you are going out, there's a real man coming here to see you, without getting so much as a howdy-do from you. Wouldn't surprise me if he got discouraged pretty soon and stopped dropping in. If you ask me, Mr. Hubbard's worth ten of your modern men; he's real and homelike and steady."

"But Bertha," Linda interrupted. "I HAVEN'T asked you."

Then, noting the hurt look which filled Mrs. Blauer's pleasant, motherly face, Linda added:

"But I DO want and appreciate your advice. No one ever had a truer friend than you, Bertha." Linda paused and smiled broadly. "However, I think you're jumping to conclusions. Mr. Hubbard doesn't come to see me. It's Mickey he's fond of."

"Sure, sure," Mrs. Blauer nodded. "It's Mickey. And why in the world did the good Lord make a girl so beautiful and so blind, all at once?"

Then there came the day that Linda returned home after work to find Mickey and Steve again playing on the rug in the living room, this time with Major, the police dog, safely chained outdoors where he could annoy no one, except the neighborhood cats.

This time it was no wrestling match, but a very different game that the little boy and the somewhat bigger boy were playing. Mickey, a pilot's cap, with bronze wings jauntily perched on his tousled blond head, was circling the rug afoot at breakneck speed, a toy airplane held aloft over his head at arm's length.

"Whirrrrrr!" he panted, making a noise like what he thought was the sound of a plane.

In the middle of the rug, with toys stretching away from him at stated intervals, like airport boundary lights, sat Steve Hubbard. Steve was following Mickey's erratic course with the dim ray of a pocket flashlight, being airport, beacon and radio compass at one fell swoop.

"Mickey!" Linda said sharply — more sharply than either Steve or the boy could understand the reason for. "Give those back to Steve—right away!"

After the child had grudgingly obeyed, she asked him to go to his room until Mrs. Blauer arrived. But before Mickey left, he had his unwitting retaliation, which hurt Linda more deeply than she had hurt him.

"Don't you love us, mother?" he asked, lower lip protruding "Steve 'n' me love you."

Steve's eyes asked the question as the door closed behind Mickey's retreating form.

"Sorry again, Linda," he said. "Better spank me instead of Mickey. I sort of thought the plane would amuse him; the beanie's mine. I used to wear it in the army. Looks like I better start combing myself out of your hair."

"Steve," Linda said. "I have to tell you why. There's a reason."

"You don't need to tell me," Steve said.

"Mickey's father was a pilot. That's how he was killed. It's silly, maybe, but planes are—well, taboo around here. I—I've never been up since . . since then. I'll never go up again."

Steve said nothing. His eyes said: "I see, Linda. It won't happen again."

He looked strange standing there—so kid-like, the aviator's cap in one hand and the toy plane tucked under his arm, as though he were trying to hide it. He leaned against the door, his position seeming to say, "I'm going," but his face reflecting that he didn't want to leave.

Linda smiled at him.

"Linda," he said seriously, "will you do something for me? It's a big favor. It means— well, it means more than anything in the world to me—almost."

Linda, Mrs. Blauer's recent words in her mind, feared what the request might be. But Steve soon set her fears at rest.

"It's about my building," Steve said. "I'll tell you later."

Linda, for a brief time after he had gone, wondered vaguely what he had meant—what "my building" might be.

But, later that night, when she was with Bill Blaine again, Steve and "his building" were the furthermost things from Linda's mind.

Thought of Steve Hubbard came back to Linda's mind, though, the next morning, when she arrived for the day's work at Titan Tower. And Steve's cryptic remark about "my building" and the favor he had to ask of Linda flashed back to her mind.

With a few minutes to spare before going back to the office, Linda sought Steve out in the basement garage. It was much different this time from their previous meeting in that garage, the day she had driven Jo's car to work to show up Steve for his innocent gesture.

This time it wasn't a brash, wisecracking Steve who greeted her, but a serious person, pleased by her visit.

"You remembered," he said. "Swell of you!"

"Steve," Linda asked, "what did you mean when you asked me if I'd do you a big favor—something about 'your building'? It's been on my mind."

"Got a minute?" Steve said. "Come on with me."

He took her arm and marched her through the garage entrance into the lobby and out through the main door, in front of Titan Tower.

They stood there a moment on the sidewalk, in the midst of the office-going crowds, Steve conspicuous in his white garage coat.

"Look up, Linda," he said, "way up, right straight up its front, as far as you can see, right to the sky."

Linda obeyed. Linda stood there, like a gawking tourist, craning her neck backward toward the lofty top of the building.

"It's a view you've never seen before, I'll bet you," Steve said. "We live our lives in the thing, most of us, and never appreciate its strength and beauty. Well, I do"

"It's very nice," said Linda—and her tone added:

"But what about it?"

"Even a mole," Steve said, "who grubs around in the dark at the roots of a thing like this," his gesture reached up toward the towering heights, "can look upward once in a while."

"Then this", Linda said, "is 'your building'."

She thought: What does Steve know of it—how can he know it as Mike and I did, watching it grow, seeing it from above, as it took shape and form and substance?

"Not exactly," Steve answered. "May I tell you all about it, Linda, please? Tonight?"

Linda's look brought an answer to her unspoken question as he added, "Come to my place for dinner, won't you? My aunt is there—a perfectly respectable maiden aunt."

Linda answered quickly: "All right, Steve, tonight."

CHAPTER NINETEEN

At her own desk in Dr. Thorpe's office, Linda's thoughts flew back to the night before. Bill had seemed moody, distant, for the first time since their evenings together had started.

Perhaps a respite tonight, while she had dinner with Steve and Steve's "maiden aunt", wouldn't be such a bad interruption, at that.

There had been two signal revelations from Bill Blaine last night. First was a hint of trouble in his own office—that things weren't going so smoothly between Dr. Blaine and Dr. Renquist, the other young protege of Dr. Frano Carter Vance. The other had been the disclosure about Jack.

In both instances, Linda saw a relationship, because it marked the first time that he had ever spoken to her about his family. Nor had Bill made any move, direct or overt, to take the blushing Linda home and introduce her to the folks.

The first had come during their ride down the peninsula for dinner before they returned to go dancing. Bill, obviously brooding over some personal trouble, was uncommunicative and far from his usual engaging self.

"Grief at the office," he had explained it. "Sorry if I'm not very good company."

She hadn't learned much, but she did find out that the trouble stemmed from his relationship with young Rennie Renquist and that there had been a quarrel of some sort.

"It would be different," Bill had said, "if I didn't like the guy so much. And if he weren't almost one of the family, so to speak. He's Merry's—that's the kid sister—old faithful. Always hanging around and hoping that she gives him a break.

"I don't know what's got into him," Bill had added, "or why he should take himself so heavy, all of a sudden."

The other "family circle" revelation had come while they were dancing at the hotel. An immaculately groomed man, heavy about the equator and wearing white hair smoothly combed back, had come to their table.

When Bill, with considerable deference, introduced him as Albert Lawson, Linda didn't need to hear his name a second time. Al Lawson was one of THE biggest people, politically and influentially, in town. Everybody knew Al Lawson.

'Had to be nice to him," Bill explained after Lawson had left, "He's my brother's keeper."

"Why, Bill," Linda had exclaimed, "you didn't tell me you had a brother!"

"Sssh!" Bill said. "We don't talk about Jack much in our family. He's the black sheep. An attorney."

She subsequently learned that the so-called "black sheep" was John Ralston Blaine, Jr., Bill's younger brother, who was in Al Lawson's law office.

Bill had explained "J. R. has funny ideas. That's my father. He believes in letting a boy choose his own life his work, his politics and his wife; choose them for himself, after he's grown up. Dad'll gladly help you choose a hat or a fishing pole, but it's hands off those four. Otherwise, he might have made Jack see the light."

Linda was thinking of Bill's family—of the sister she had met—when Steve came to get her that night. She was thinking of Bill's, too, Linda had no way of knowing that she DID know him—that J. R. Blaine was Mr. Avon.

After they arrived at Steve Hubbard's apartment, Linda wondered why on earth Steve had driven in his car to get her. It was less than three blocks away. No wonder he came over so often to see Mickey!

"Excuse me, I'll have to speak to the chef a minute," Steve said, after he had taken her coat. When he had gone to the kitchen Linda looked around and wondered, without being too surprised, at the absence of his aunt. Pretty old, that one, about the aunt, she thought.

It was then that the pleasant voice, aged but sweet, had interrupted her thought, perfectly timed.

"You're Linda, dear," the voice said. "I don't feel that we really need an introduction. I'm Cynthia Hubbard, Steven's aunt."

"How do you do, Miss—" Linda faltered.

She noticed that the voice was that of a silvered-haired, tiny woman who had entered the room from a side door.

"Just Aunt Cynthia, dear," the little old lady said. "I feel that I've known you for a long, long time. I've seen you so many times."

Linda wondered again at that remark. She saw that Aunt Cynthia leaned upon a cane, saw that her frail frame was clad in a warm dress of maroon shade, with white trim at the throat.

Aunt Cynthia was gropingly seating herself in a chair as Steve entered from the kitchen.

And it was then that Linda saw acter Aunt Cynthia Hubbard real-blind.

"Sorry to be so long," Steve said, as he barged in through the swinging door from the kitchen, "the chef—"

He halted, "Linda," he said, "may I present my Aunt Cynthia, Miss Hubbard? She's my dad's sister and about my whole family, now. She's—"

"Steven means," Aunt Cynthia helped him, "that I'm blind."

When they were seated in the small breakfast nook which served for the dining room in Steve's modest apartment, Linda learned more of what a remarkable character Aunt Cynthhia Hubbard really was.

That was before Steve broke the big news of the evening—the occasion for the dinner and Linda's visit.

Steve had cooked the dinner himself, and apologized for it, explaining that his kitchen technique had fallen out of practice during his years of bachelordom before Aunt Cynthia's visit.

"You shouldn't be so modest, Steven," Aunt Cynthia chided him. "That's begging praise — though goodness knows you've earned it.

"He's been home all afternoon," she smiled in Linda's direction, "and he's been worse than a bride with her first dinner. Although I don't know whether he spent more time in the kitchen or before a mirror plastering down that shock of hair. It's just like Dan's—my brother's. . . ."

Aunt Cynthia couldn't see the effect her words had upon her nephew, but Linda saw that Steve was wearing a complexion to match his steak—which was medium rare, and excellent.

Coming to Steve's rescue, Linda inquired if Aunt Cynthia were enjoying her visit.

"Indeed, yes, Linda," she answered. "The city is so alive, so beautiful. There's so much to see and to feel and to enjoy. Up on my little ranch it's so tranquil and uneventful that life just seems to stand still. There's no one there but myself and the Hendersons — he runs the ranch and she runs the house—and one day seems just like the next."

"I imagine it would be very restful," Linda said, not knowing what else to say.

"It is—if you want a rest. But I've rested for nearly seventy years, and now I want to kick up my heels and—how do they say it?—go to town! Well, now that I've come to town to see Steven and my doctor, both of them tell me that I must take it easy—just what I've been doing all my life."

"Maybe that's the best way to enjoy life," said Linda. "Lots of people would envy you—to be able to—to take it easy."

"But I fool them," Aunt Cynthia smiled, "Steven and the doctor. If they won't let me go out and see the world, the world comes to me. I've seen it all, in cross-section, right in the lobby of your building, in Titan Tower.

"I've seen life and laughter and happiness and a little of the tears and tragedy. I've sat on the bench in the building lobby and watched the world go by—though I couldn't see it with my eyes. I've seen life there, in all its phases, life that people with two good eyes — too busy to be bothered—would never look for. . . ."

Aunt Cynthia paused for breath. Her excitement and enthusiasm were a strain upon her.

"I've heard the little boy, whimpering in fear, on his way to the dentist—and heard that same boy come out laughing. I've sat with a young wife, expecting motherhood, nervously awaiting a great adventure, and talked with that same girl later, over the cries of the baby she bore. I've made friends with several people who were old and sick and sat there like I did, watching life go by—but in a different way. And I lost these friends because the end of life caught up with them and they didn't come back any more.

"People's voices sometimes tell more about their character than their looks, because character, too, is more than skin deep. That's the way I've seen the thousands who come in and out of Titan Tower. I knew you, too, Linda, although you didn't know me. That's why I said I'd seen you so many times; that's why I knew, without seeing you, that I loved you when I first heard your voice here tonight."

When the remarkable meal—one that Linda felt was the most remarkable of her life—was over, it was Steve's turn.

"Linda," he said, after they were comfortably seated in the living room, "I asked you to do me a favor. I told you it meant more to me than almost anything in the world. This is it: Will you let me use your name?"

If he had suddenly asked her to take his, it would have surprised Linda less. Her face showed it.

"I mean this," Steve continued. "Nothing like forgery, so don't look so scared. I want you to let me use your name for my plan in the national competition I'm entering. I know it will bring me luck. Here."

Steve rose and walked to the library table where, under a good light, he spread a large roll of drawing paper. With it were blueprints and colored sketches of houses, plans and elevations.

"This," he said, "tells it better than I can."

CHAPTER TWENTY

Linda's eyes went from the drawing on the large paper to the neat lettering at the top. It read:

CASA LINDA DEVELOPMENT
Housing Plan in One-Family Units. Submitted by STEVEN HUBBARD

Linda stared blankly at the paper without understanding. There were row upon row of neat little bungalows, staggered in location to conserve space without losing artistic arrangement. Each bungalow had a flagstone walk in the midst of shrub-dotted lawns, each had its complement of palms and shade trees.

Linda's glance sped from the large drawing, quickly past the pile of blueprints, and came to rest on a color sketch of one of the model bungalows in elevation. That she could appreciate.

It was a perfect little livable home, a bride's bungalow, if there ever was one.

"Like it?" Steve asked.

"Like it?" she echoed. "Why, Steve, it's adorable."

So THAT'S why he could draw gingerbread houses and fairy castles for Mickey? So that's why this garageman had hands with long, artistic fingers. He drew dream houses that people could live in.

"Come, young man," Linda said. "You've been holding out on us. What's it all about?"

And then Steve told her. All about his hopes and dreams, his years of studying architecture nights, while he worked days to earn his living. . . .

How Timothy Pflueger, the noted architect, who planned buildings like Titan Tower, had seen something in Steve's work, had given him a helping hand, technical pointers and all the assistance that Steve sought. And, modestly, how Pflueger predicted big things for Hubbard some day as an architect.

Steve's expression, "my building," was no longer a hollow phrase to Linda. It meant everything to Steve that some day he, too, would be able to look up at a building like Titan Tower as his own work. Now, it meant something to Linda, too.

"The name just seemed to fit, somehow," Steve explained. "Casa Linda—pretty house, in Spanish. And with your name I know I have luck on my side. How can I lose?"

"You can't, Steven, you're not the kind that loses," Aunt Cynthia said. "I wanted to help him, Linda; I wanted to give him money so he could study—money that's no good to me and that I can't take with me. But the boy's too stubborn—it's an old Hubbard failing. He wanted to make good on his own—and he will.

"They're beautiful houses," she added, "aren't they, Linda?"

"Beautiful," Linda said, softly.

But she wasn't looking at the drawings. She was looking at a pair of sightless eyes and she was thinking of something she had heard termed "blind faith."

For the next several weeks, after the dinner at Steve's home, Linda had two men on her mind—two men and a boy. Her thoughts were divided between those for Dr. Bill Blaine, who was his old charming self after that one night of moodiness, and for the success of Steve's chance of winning the national competition with his entry of the "Casa Linda" housing plan.

She and Steve, Linda told herself, were now great friends—nothing more—and she took a sisterly interest in his progress in architecture. He wasn't any longer the fresh young man of the roof-top meeting, but he was Mickey's steadfast friend, and Linda's, too.

Her permission for the use of her name, the "big favor" which Steve had asked, was readily forthcoming. On the bottom corner of the big drawing, in tiny letters, she had initialed "L. M." for "Linda Morgan."

"That's your good luck charm," Linda had smiled.

"His luck began, Linda," Aunt Cynthia had said sagely, "when he met a girl like you."

Bill Blaine and Steve were the men on her mind—and Mickey was the boy. With Linda's vacation only two weeks away, she thought more and more of Mickey, seeking to decide what to do about vacation plans. She had saved money—enough for the two of them to enjoy two weeks together inexpensively, at a modest beach or mountain resort. But a new problem had arisen to complicate things.

Bill Blaine had asked Linda, had insisted, that she join him in a vacation at the Blaine summer place at Lake Tahoe. The prospect thrilled Linda beyond words, but of course, that meant no Mickey.

Linda never had been to Lake Tahoe and the prospect of a glorious vacation there with Bill and his friends was delightful to contemplate—too delightful to reject without giving the question great consideration.

"It's wonderful there, Linda," Bill had said, You'll love the lake. And you won't be lonely for feminine company if you find old William too boring. Merry will be there with a whole flock of her girl friends. We'll have a great time."

Despite Bill's urging, she had begged off from giving a definite answer. He said he would wait, but he hoped she'd say yes.

It was the first overture Bill had made toward having Linda meet any of his family, and Linda thought the opportunity was too good to miss.

Merry will be there, will she? I wonder, Linda thought, if Miss Meredith Blaine will be any more cordial to little Linda than she was the day they first met, through Mr. Avon, in the sandwich shop?

"How DO you do, Miss Morton?" Merry had said.

Well, Linda would make Merry like her—or else.

On the other hand, the small voice of conscience said, what about Mickey, if you decided to ditch him and go society? Who'll take Mickey on his vacation? If it had not been for that question, which she couldn't put from her mind, no matter how hard she tried, Linda would have said yes immediately to Bill's invitation.

And then, one day, Linda had decided to take her problem to Mr. Avon, her fatherly advisor, as she had before, when she was sorely put for an answer.

Mr. Avon, at luncheon in the sandwich shop, listened to the whole story.

"Hmmm," said Mr. Avon when she was finished. "It seems, Linda, to simmer down to this: Should you spend your vacation with one young man or the other? Your Mickey or the young doctor. I take it that you love both?"

"Oh, yes," Linda answered. "Yes I do."

"Then the answer seems simple," Mr. Avon said. "Why not spend your vacation with both? I can't think of a better opportunity to bring them together. You have to do it some day, you know."

"Oh, no," Linda said quickly, "I couldn't do that—not yet!"

"How long do you intend to go on with this young—this Dr. Blaine—without a full understanding?"

"I don't know," Linda answered, "honestly I don't."

"Well, from what you've told me of the two young men," Mr. Avon continued, "I think I like Mickey much the better. I know he's worthy of you. As for the other.. well, I guess I'll have to know him better."

"You wouldn't say that," Linda flared, "if you knew Bill Blaine. He's....well, he's simply wonderful!"

Hmmm, said the man in gray to himself, is he, now? Funny he hasn't told me the same about Linda....

Mr. Avon seemed to be no particular help in solving this problem, Linda thought. But, considerably later, Mrs. Blauer was.

It was on an evening, when she arrived to keep Mickey, during another of Linda's endless string of dates with Bill Blaine, that the neighbor woman broached the subject.

Long Drought for Rowe Ends As He Defeats Yankees by Scattering Eight N. Y. Hits

Win Puts Detroit in Virtual Three-Way Tie for Third

GIANTS BEATEN

Cardinals End Nine-Game Win Streak While Dizzy Dean Wins Close One

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

Apparently Detroit Tigers were in dead earnest about rallying the rest of the American League against New York Yankees.

After tripping the three-times world champions two games out of three at Detroit and winning nine clubs, the Tigers invaded Yankee stadium over the week end and split their first two contests.

Their 8-5 conquest Sunday headlined a day of spectacular accomplishments such as Lou Fette holding Cincinnati Reds to one hit; Gabby Hartnett hitting a home run to rob Luke Hamlin of a two-hit game, and St. Louis Cardinals halting New York Giants' nine-game winning streak.

One of the most appealing angles of Detroit's victory was that it ended a long drought for Schoolboy Rowe. He hadn't won since pitching a four-hitter in the first week of the season, but he wrote off a lot of hard luck by scattering eight Yankee hits so that they meant no more than one run in any inning.

Near Third Slot

With this solid pitching foundation Hank Greenoerg hit his 16th home run of the season with one on in the first inning. Then doubled with the bases loaded in the fifth.

This rip-roaring assault made up for Saturday's 1-0 loss and left the Tigers with a not too-fantastic chance of taking two straight series from the Yanks. The victory lifted the Tigers into a virtual three-way tie for third place in the American League as Boston Red Sox handed Cleveland Indians a double defeat an Chicago White Sox split a bargain bill with Philadelphia Athletics.

Feller is Beaten

The Boston victories, 5-4 and 5-3, ended a four-game losing streak and thrust off at least temporarily threats to the Red Sox's second-place rating. The Red Sockers took advantage of Bob Feller's wildness, an old fault, to win the first game and rookie Ted Williams' double with the bases loaded decided a duel between old Bob Grove and Willis Hudlin in the nightcap.

The White Sox bunched their blows behind venerable Ted Lyons to win their first game 6-5 but S. Chapman and Bob Johnson hit homers to give the A's the second session, 9-4, on Nelson Potter's competent six-hit pitching.

St. Louis Browns were rained out at Washington.

Fette's one-hit 5-0 shutout came in the second game at Cincinnati and gave the National League leaders their first defeat in five games. A single by Harry Craft kept the Boston ace from a perfect game. The Reds staged their customary rampage in the first game, played in a drizzling rain, and won 12-6, on 16 hits.

Hartnett's Homer Wins

Hartnett's homer gave Chicago Cubs and Dizzy Dean a 1-0 triumph over Brooklyn Dodgers in the first game of their doubleheader and the Bruins made it a cleanup with a 9-1 victory in the nightcap.

In stopping the somewhat mysterious gyrations of the Giants, 8-4, the Cardinals got 15 hits off four New York pitchers. But they concentrated their attack for three runs in the first inning off Bill Lohrman and three more in the third off Carl Hubbell.

Philadelphia at Pittsburgh were rained out.

Belleville Rovers Defeated 2nd Time By Napanee Nine

For the second straight time Napanee defeated the Belleville Rovers this time 11 to 6.

Although Russ Weller was nicked for only eight hits and struck out 14 he was wild enough to walk seven batters. He pitched good ball for the first few innings but then weakened and was replaced by "Stuff" Hall.

Goyer and Campbell with a double and single a piece were Belleville's best batters while Card and Thompson were the best for the winners.

Crossin and Holmes shared pitching duties for the winners.

BUFFALO BISONS TAKE TWIN BILL FROM ROCHESTER

Double Loss Reduces Wings' Lead in International to Two Games

LEAFS LOSE TWO

Syracuse Takes Two Close Games, One Going Eleven Innings

(By The Associated Press)

It's about this time, when Major League teams are pruning their squads to keep under the player limit and farming out spare men to keep them from spending too much time on the bench, that it becomes clear there's no runaway in sight in this year's International League race.

The four-way struggle among Rochester, Newark, Jersey City and Syracuse tightened up a bit yesterday when Buffalo's Bisons took a doubleheader from the league-leading Rochester Red Wings, 5-1, and 7-2; Jersey City conquered Montreal Royals 5-4 in a single contest; Newark trimmed Baltimore Orioles twice, 16-1 and 4-2, and Syracuse took two close ones from Toronto 6-5 and 1-0 in 11 innings.

As a result, Rochester now tops the Little Giants by only two games. Newark is 2 1-2 games further back and in turn tops Syracuse by only a half game.

Five and Four-Hitter

One new pitcher and one who has seen comparatively little service this year combined to bring about Rochester's downfall. After Clay Smith had tossed a five-hitter against John Gordzicki's four-hit flinging to take the opener, Tom Blake, who just reached Buffalo after being optioned by Cleveland, followed up with another four-hit job. A pair of veteran Bisons aided Smith considerably in the first game for Ollie Carnegie belted a triple with two aboard and Jim Darn Oglesby a homer with one on.

Hank Borowy shared the honors at Newark with Joe Beggs and a lot of hitters. Behind Beggs' six-hit flinging in the first game, every one of the Bears hit safely for a total of 16 blows. Then Borowy limited the Orioles to five blows and fanned seven.

The veteran Bill Harris, who hadn't started a game since May 30, won a mound duel against Kemp Wicker for Jersey City as the Little Giants bunched all their five hits for as many runs in two big innings.

SYD WOODERSON 'BUMPBED OUT' OF PRINCETON MILE

Englishman Put Off Stride When He Was Bumped by Rideout

APOLOGY OFFERED

Wooderson Hopes Fenske Will Come to England for Race

(By Hugh S Fullerton Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer).

Princeton, N.J., June 19 (AP)—The sixth annual gathering of picked cinder path stars at Princeton Saturday failed to produce anything like the record-smashing performances of other years but with the failure of Britain's Sydney Wooderson in the mile special it produced enough argument to last a long time.

The question of whether Blaine Rideout bumped into Wooderson to keep him from winning the mile race, whether the collision was intentional, and whether Wooderson would have won, anyway, may keep the cables warm for weeks to come.

Chuck Fenske, 23-year-old University of Wisconsin Alumnus, came up with the strongest "kick" of the four who streamed past Wooderson, when the slightly built Englishman was knocked off stride.

He won in 4.11 flat, undistinguished time for the fast stadium track. Glen Cunningham was some five yards behind with Archie San Romani third and Rideout just edging out Wooderson for fourth.

Slowed by Wind

The main question now seems to be whether Wooderson could have withstood the finishing sprints of his rivals. He is noted for his finishes and had set a pace that left plenty of room for a final kick, although a strong wind slowed him considerably.

He was going along smoothly when Rideout tried to pass him on the final turn. Most observers agreed the Texan in passing, bumped his rival and Wooderson in turn stepped on the track curbing and was thrown off stride. But there were some who claimed Sydney threw up his arm to ward off a collision and shied away when he saw Rideout moving up alongside and that movement caused him to strike the curb.

Referee Says "No Foul"

Wooderson and his trainer, A. G. Hill, both insisted the runner had been fouled and the runner added he "hoped" it was unintentional. Immediately after the race, Rideout offered an apology for the accident, then later explained he was determined to go on through, since he had room on the outside and Wooderson, by bearing out, had twice prevented him passing on the back stretch.

Asa Bushnell, the meet referee, said it was "an unfortunate collision," clearly unintentional, and there was no ground for a disqualification.

Wooderson's Version

London, June 19 (CP)—Sydney Wooderson, beaten by Chuck Fenske in the Princeton mile Saturday, today voiced a hope the American will come to England for a return race.

"I am very much hoping," the runner wrote in New York Chronicle "that Chuck Fenske will come over to England for the International meeting at White City between the United States and Great Britain on the August 7 Bank Holiday, when we could meet again in the mile.

"I am still confident I can beat him."

Of the bump Blaine Rideout, one of the competitors, is said to have given him near the end of the race, Wooderson said: "I lost several yards and there was no opening for me to get through. I would not say it was intentional—I do not think it was. I am certain I could have won if this incident had not happened."

AMSTERDAM NOW LEADING LEAGUE

Three Wins Over the Week-End Helped Turn the Trick

(By The Canadian Press)

If, as rumor has it, an addendum to baseball's rulebook soon will force New York Yankees to spot their opposition three or four runs per contest then they may as well extend the handicap throughout the Yank's farm system—even to Amsterdam Rugmakers of the class C, Canadian-American League.

For Amsterdam, like Newark Bears and Kansas City Blues, has the parent club's habit of being in the thick of every pennant fight. The Rugmakers captured one last season and were rolling towards a second-straight today, with a game and a half lead in their eight-team circuit.

It took Rugmakers a little longer to make the top this time but three straight victories during the week-end turned the trick. The third came yesterday—a hefty, 15-0 decision over the last place Utica Braves while Oswego Nets meanwhile dropped deeper in second-place by splitting a twin-bill with Cornwall Bisons.

More than 3,000 fans at Utica saw Johnny Bianco blank the homesters with three hits as Rugmakers pounded three twirlers for 15 baseblows, including a homer by shortstop Sergiacomi.

At Oswego, the Nets started off on the right foot with a 6-5 victory over the sixth-place Bisons but lost ground to Amsterdam when Cornwall gained a 7-2 triumph in the seven-inning nightcap. Tom Phillips hurled Nets to victory while Leon Trumbore was Cornwall's winner.

On other fronts yesterday, Rome Colonels captured a 3-2 decision at home against Gloversville Glovers and Ottawa Senators split with Ogdensburg Colts. Playing at home Ogdensburg won the nightcap 4-0 after dropping the opener 8-1.

In Saturday contests, Amsterdam downed Ogdensburg twice, 2-1 and 4-1; Gloversville beat Oswego 8-6, in the opener of a doubleheader but Nets evened with a 6-2 decision in the nightcap; Ottawa split with Rome, winning the first 4-3 and losing the next by the same score; Utica defeated Cornwall 3-0 in a floodlight game.

After You 3rd Wins Mikel Cup

In a parade-like finish Maurice Callaghan's After You 3rd. won the W. C. Mikel-U. E. Loyalist Centennial trophy, sponsored by the Belleville Yacht Club yesterday afternoon. A stiff south east breeze welcomed the Yacht Club sailors as six craft faced the starter's gun.

The "After You 3rd" took an early lead, forging slightly to the fore at the second buoy during the first lap and held her position to win ahead of Frank Smith's Joka and Harry Semark's Alaska, finishing in that order. The time for the distance racing was slightly over the hour and one half. A good wind favoured the sailors throughout.

At the conclusion of the race the contestants and a large gallery of onlookers gathered at Victoria Park, where Mrs. Harry Rollins, wife of Vice-Commodore Rollins, presented the Mikel Cup to Skipper Callaghan on behalf of the donor and the Belleville Yacht Club.

The starters in the 1939 Mikel Cup race this year were: After You 3rd, M. Callaghan; Joka, F. Smith; Alaska, H. Semark; After You 2nd, W. Nicholson; Scrapper, N. Kellar, and Atlanta, L. Cook.

STRATFORD NATS. LEAD LEAGUE BY WIDE MARGIN

Team is Getting Good Fielding and Hitting in the Pinches

PETES WIN

Peterborough Club Now in Second Place in Inter-City Loop

(By The Canadian Press)

The reason for Stratford Nationals success in the Ontario Baseball Association's senior series is not hard to find. The Nats are getting what every pennant-winning team must have—good fielding and hitting.

Now leading the Intercounty League by a game, the O.B.A. champions head all clubs in team batting, with a percentage of .314. In team fielding they are shaded only by the weak-hitting Waterloo Tigers, .958 to .957.

Walter Kalmusky of the Nationals, with .520, leads the regular players of the league in hitting, closely followed by teammate Bob Carrick, with .500. It was Carrick who came to the champs' aid Saturday at Woodstock poling out long double in the seventh for two runs to cinch a 5-2 victory.

The league's hardest-working pitcher, Ralph Hammond, held Preston Riversides to one hit as Guelph won 13-0 at home. Hammond has started eight games this season, winning three and losing three.

Jack Wilks pitched three-hit ball for Brantford Alerts to score a 7-0 shutout at Galt. Catcher Lee had three hits for three for the Alerts.

Chief challenge to Stratford's provincial supremacy is being sounded by St. Catharines Transports of the Niagara District League. The T's stretched their winning streak to 10 games when Thorold Mountaineers presented them with two runs at St. Catharines. Andy Kerr limited the league leaders to two hits, but lost 2-0.

With Jeff Kalbfleisch, Hershey hockey player slamming out two home runs, Niagara Falls Brights defeated the luckless Welland Aces 12-7. Brights landed on Frank Blazetich, junior pitcher, for six runs in the sixth inning.

Lefty Pearl won a hard battle from Port Colborne for Fort Erie. He allowed the Tigers six hits, striking out 12, while Chuck Dunn helped him out by hitting a home run and a triple.

In a cricket score match at Peterborough, the Petes climbed into second place in the Intercity League by defeating Toronto Columbus 20-12. Don Ross twirled 10-hit ball as Findlays were shutout 3-0 by Webbers, and Parkdale scored five runs in the sixth at Port Credit to Win 9-3 in other Intercity games.

Timmins kept its undefeated record clean in the Temiskaming baseball league, winning 8-0, when Lefty Grise limited Hollinger to four hits.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Gabby Hartnett, Dizzy Dean and Bill Lee, Cubs: Hartnett's homer was one of two hits Chicago got in winning first game, 1-0, on Dean's six-hit pitching. Lee was in old form in beating Dodgers in nightcap.

Hank Greenberg: Tigers: Hit 16th home run of season and doubled with bases loaded to pace Detroit to triumph over Yankees.

Johnny Mize, Cardinals: Hit two doubles and single and made unassisted double play as St Louis stopped Giants' winning streak.

Tom Carey and T. Williams, Red Sox: Former's double scored winning run in first game of doubleheader while Williams' double with bases full scored three runs to beat Indians in nightcap.

What's the matter with the old game of baseball? Has it lost its appeal to the public or shall it be said the pendulum is on the down beat? Recent attendance at Bay of Quinte League games here has been no incentive to potential sponsors of baseball in Belleville. Naturally the individual craves personal sport competition and with the advancement of golf and tennis the prowess of team sports seems to have hit a new low level in the smaller communities and we are thoroughly convinced team games like baseball are on their way out.

Recently the Oshawa scribe wanted to know what the O.B.A. was going to do about baseball in the Motor City, there being no major series baseball in Oshawa this year. Why should the O.B.A. concern themselves with the organization or sponsorship of baseball in Oshawa or Belleville, if there are not individuals sufficiently interested in the organization of a baseball team in those cities? Oshawa, like Belleville, rode on the crest of winning ball clubs and waved the flag of victory, when the going was rosy, but when these aforementioned centres found themselves minus championship calibre clubs the general enthusiasm was found lacking and the blame for the doldrums is placed on the shoulders of the parent association, when actually the blame lies right on their own doorstep.

Why should the Oshawa scribe suggest the O.B.A. take a hand in the organizing of baseball in the Motor city? Two years ago Oshawa had both senior and junior provincial ball finalists and surely from the remnants of those two clubs an intermediate club could have been sponsored in the Lake Shore League this season. At last, we see the handwriting on the wall and the general decline of baseball is inevitable, not because of the loss of popularity, but because the individual craves personal sporting activities, rather than watching others perform. Baseball seems to be definitely on the way out in Belleville. Once dropped we are certain it will be a long day before the diamond game returns to its former brilliance along the shores of the Bay of Quinte.

Dating back to the early days of the present century Belleville was always proud of her baseball clubs. Long before the C.O.B.L. came into existence Belleville ball clubs swept the strong independent teams of Peterborough Kingston, Oswego and Ogdensburg before them and continued to do so until the past few years. In those early days Oshawa was a complete stranger to the diamond game. Too many Central League championships undoubtedly proved the downfall of the game locally, simply because the fans became acclimatized to winning teams, but when the period of reconstruction rolled around (the present age) the fans just can't take it, as apparently is the case in Oshawa as well as Belleville. However, the Motor City has several fine players available and simply because there is no "angel" to sponsor them the O.B.A. should not be condemned for lack of public interest.

Throughout the entire Central Ontario zone, Peterobro is the only city to pride itself in the sponsorship of local sport. Divorce Oshawa of the General Motors and they would be playing baseball and hockey in the village class along with Bowmanville and Newcastle, but in Peterboro the citizens and business men realize the value of civic advertising in sport and annually come forth with better than average baseball, lacrosse, hockey and football teams. Last fall the business men of Peterboro "took it on the chin" financially to enter senior football. They lost out on a cash basis, but Peterboro gained untold free advertising in their rugby efforts. After all what better free advertising did Belleville ever attain than through the medium of their championship baseball teams of years past? However, baseball, like other team sports of the summer, is on the way out in Belleville with the word "finis" all but written.

Filled with hopefulness the local ball club will try once more to get back into the Bay of Quinte League race and the good graces of the fans. On Tuesday they will journey over to the Air Port and return home to meet Napanee on the home diamond on Thursday night. Providing the Belleville nine can win these two contests they will have elevated themselves into a tie for second place in the league standing and the rest is in the hands of fate.

Maurice Callaghan's After You 3rd took an early lead to show her stern to the rest of the Yacht Club flotilla in the annual Mikel Cup race yesterday. Duke Smith's Joka was out for the first time this year, but regardless the breeze seemed just to the advantage of the "After You" and neither Smtih nor Harry Semark, in the Alaska, could match Callaghan's craft yesterday.

Sports Gossip—Playing .500 ball the Brooklyn Dodgers continue to stick up in the first division of the National League even if some wonder how.....Although there are softball games scheduled at the Flats Monday, Wednesday and Friday, there'll be no changes in the league standing one week hence, we'll wager.....Wooderson the English middle distance runner, knows something of American "win at any costs" practices today; Wooderson was literally "given the works" on Saturday in the true Yankee sportsmanship manner and did not win the invitation mile at Princeton, even though he led practically all of the distance.....Wooderson was clipped by Blaine Rideout of Texas, putting him off stride and letting Fenske of Wisconsin, win.

Cambridge, England, June 19 — (C P Cable)—James Pounder Whitney, 81, Principal of Bishop's College, Lennoxville, Que., from 1900 to 1905, died here Saturday. For the past 20 years he had been Dixie Professor of Ecclesiastical History at Cambridge University.

SEA-SCOUT TRAINING SHIP IS OLIVER H. PERRY

Detroit, June 19—(AP)—The J. T. Wing, only three-masted schooner on the Great Lakes, was rechristened the Oliver H. Perry Saturday before setting out on a cruise of the upper lakes with 95 Sea Scouts aboard. Isle Royale, in Lake Superior, was its destination.

The ship was acquired by the Great Lakes Sea Scouts Training Ship, Incorporated, recently and will make summer cruises for members of the Sea Scout Division of the Boy Scouts of America.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKeown or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating breakfist and ma said to pop, Willyum I want you to stop in at the butchers and tell Mr. Smit to send me a nice leg of lamb, he seems to take the order more seriously when you give it a personel touch by dropping in instead of telephoning.

Suppose he make a naturel mistake and sends calves liver instead? pop said, and ma said, Now Willyum there wouldn't be anything naturel about it and you know it hasn't been any time since we had liver and onions, such a man.

Meaning pop, and I started to go to the butchers with\him on my way to school, saying, Hay pop, if I went in instead of you and ordered calves liver by mistake why then it wouldn't be your fault and I'm so used to making mistakes just one more or less wouldn't make much difference.

I appreciate the spirit of cooperation, but I think perhaps not, thanks just a same, pop said. However, your inventiveness stimulates my own resourcefulness, so maybe I can think of something, he said.

Wich he did, saying to Mr. Smit Good morning, how's the lamb today?

Very young and beautiful, Mr. Smit said, and pop said, Come come, Mr. Smit, you dont mean to tell me you've never had better lamb in your place?

Well, I can hardly go so far as that Mr. Smit said, and pop said, May I use your telephone? and Mr. Smit said, Sure, go right ahead.

Wich pop did, calling up ma and saying I'm around at the butchers and Mr. Smit has some lamb but he admits he's had better, all right then, I'll tell him, it's an ill wind that blows no liver and onions.

And he hung up, saying to Mr. Smit, Mrs. Potts appreciates your frankness and she'd like 2 pounds of calves liver, and Mr. Smit said, What the mischiff? and pop said, Well, 2 pounds and a half then.

And he kept on going and so did I.

Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

Advance Information on Screen Offerings Supplied by Theatre Managers.

AT THE McCARTHY

"MAN OF CONQUEST"

Republic's greatest motion picture production, "Man of Conquest" is now on the screen, at the McCarthy Theatre, which brings it to Belleville, just one week later than it was presented at the Imperial Theatre, Toronto.

"Man of Conquest", is a picture that ranks with Hollywood's best of this year, or any other year and it is a credit to the motion picture industry, as well as to the producers, Republic Studios.

Your reviewer predicts that Belleville and vicinity moviegoers will certainly be thrilled the first time they see it and that many will come again and again to the McCarthy Theatre, to view it, for it is the kind of picture that one wishes to see more than once and still rank it as the top entertainment treat of his lifetime.

In the excellent cast, Richard Dix, portrays the title role that brings to the screen the life story of (Sam Houston), "Man of Conquest", who created an empire of freedom for our good neighbors (The United States) and Dix's character part is done so fine, that actually he makes one believe that they are not watching a screen, but are in reality on the spots where this great man of history made his gallant fight against dictatorship, in a heroic struggle that is breath-taking in its magnificent power and thrilling in its gripping greatness.

But for acting honors, in "Man of Conquest" praise cannot just go to Richard Dix, alone, for every speaking part is in worthy hands, as for instance George "Windy" Hayes, the screen's (Old-Timer) character actor, supplies a brand of comedy that is superb and highlights the production throughout, to make at times one burst out in hearty laughter. And coming down the line—Gail Patrick, Joan Fontaine, Edward Ellis (recently seen in the feature "A Man To Remember), Robert Armstrong, C. Henry Gordon, Victor Jory, Robert Barrat and Max Terhune, a cast of Hollywood's most distinguished performers—all contribute to make "Man of Conquest" the outstanding production that it is. A short program of featurette treats, is as well presented, at each performance and is certain to be enjoyed, either when seen ahead or following the showings of "Man of Conquest."

AT THE BELLE

"ROSE OF WASHINGTON SQUARE"

A glorious evening's entertainment awaits you at the Belle Theatre in "Rose of Washington Square", which made its melodious way over the week end into the Belle Theatre.

Tyrone Power and Alice Faye, the romantic stars of Irving Berlin's "Alexander's Ragtime Band," are co-starred with Al Jolson, singing again in his inimitable way his memory-laden song hits of yesterday.

The story of a woman who loved her man and kept on loving him although he tricked her and hurt her and brought heart-break upon them both is thrillingly told in the milestones of melody of the last two decades.

"Rose of Washington Square" opens at the close of the World War with Jolson as Ted Cotter, a singing candy butcher in a Fourteenth Street burlesque theatre, who has big-time ideas. He loves Rose Sargent (Alice Faye) and dreams of taking her with him up the ladder to fame. But Rose falls for Barton Clinton, a charming, but wayward fellow, played by Tyrone Power.

The film traces Ted's rise to the dizzy heights of stardom at the famous Winter Garden and gives Jolson an opportunity to sing again the hit songs he made famous. Rose, meanwhile, becomes a star of the Follies. At the height of her fame, Bart brings disgrace upon her, but her love for him never wavers.

Among the memorable song hits heard in the film are "My Man", "Toot Toot Tootsie, Goodbye," "Ja-Da", "The Vamp", "The Curse of an Aching Heart", "April Showers" "Mammy", "Rose of Washington Square," the James F. Hanley and Ballard MacDonald number which gives the film its name; "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "I'm Just Wild About Harry", "California, Here I Come" and "Avalon." Climaxing these is a new smash hit, written by Mack Gordon and Harry Revel called "I Never knew Heaven Could Speak."

William Frawley, Joyce Compton and Hobart Cavanaugh also score in the film, which Gregory Ratoff directed from a screen play by Nunnally Johnson.

"Weather Wizard", an unusual and highy entertaining Pete Smith specialty, "Barnyard Eggcitement", a clever and funny color Terrytoon cartoon, and scenes of the King and Queen on their triumphant Canadian tour, precede the feature offering.

'Political Jitters' Attacked by Advertising Men

Blackpool, England, June 19 — (CP)—A denunciation of "political jitters" was voiced today at the opening of the convention of the advertising association by Sir Harold Bellman, its president.

"Some journalistic plan was made when the death of three elderly people occurred shortly after BBC news bulletins, but it remains demonstable that more Englishmen die of heart failure at football matches than succumb to alarms at continental ambitions" Sir Harold said.

"We still prefer the aprons of trade to the uniforms of war, but we have yet to start putting up shutters whenever a military band strikes up in the next street."

He urged counter-propaganda to meet the "manifest skill of the barrage spread by continental countries during recent years."

Establishment of Hotel Problem for Council

Toronto, June 19—(CP)— City council will convene for a special session today to discuss erection of an hotel and beverage room at King St. and Roncesvalles Ave. Much criticism has been levelled at the project.

It is understood city council will consider sending a formal protest to the Ontario government and the Liquor Control Board against granting the beer and wine authority.

Spring License

By GRACE SHAVER

Pa was "sot and determined" to go fishing. Ma was equally bent on house cleaning. Lu's desires were a minor consideration to both parents when their opposing minds met on this old and familiar ground of contention.

Lu had confided hesitantly to her mother that she was expecting company from the city on the first of May and would like to have things looking "kinda nice." Her mother had snorted, "Pshaw! He might not come. There's no use puttin' off my house cleanin' just because you're lookin' fer a beau. Beaus never goes where cobwebs grows anyhow!"

Lu gave up. It was no use to tell Ma that Gordon Lane was not just a beau—Ma was the contrariest woman alive. Once she thought Pa or Lu really didn't want her to do a thing there would be no stopping her.

Pa tried to slip out early but Ma put her foot down hard. He had to "git the rugs out" first. So Pa compromised. If they'd let him git the front room rug out right off he'd give it a few licks before he started. But he was going a fishing on the first day of the season—so there!

With the tears dried by anger on her hot cheeks, Lu helped Pa yank out the living room rug and swing it over the line. Pa gave it the few protesting licks he had promised and then he departed for the cool trout stream in the depths of the woods.

Along about noon Ma was washing the front room windows, with her head tied up in a towel, when she saw a roadster slacken outside the gate. The driver took Ma in and his mind grasped the signaling rug on the clothes line. With foot spurred by anger he stepped on the gas! The roadster flew off down the road.

"Another one of those plaguey fishermen after Pa," thought Ma. And then she guiltily remembered that Lu was expectin' company. A wise head keeps a close mouth. Lu might be twenty-one and have a mind of her own, too, but Ma didn't want no city slickers in the family yet awhile.

A little later Pa looked up from the bubbling pool he was wading and gave a young fellow sitting on the bank a sociable hail. Seeing that the chap was not fishing, Pa called out as a joke: "Got no license?"

"You said it," replied the young fellow disconsolately. "And that's what I came for, too."

"Come out here to git a license?" cried Pa in astonishment. "Why you got to git 'em in to the county seat. You don't pick licenses up along the creek, young feller." Pa relished the joke.

"No-o, Well, you see, they were house-cleaning and it sort of got my goat! Who wants to get mixed up in a thing like that?" The young man was evidently pursuing the tenor of his own thoughts more than answering Pa's witticism.

"That's what druv me out, too," confided Pa, perceiving a kindred spirit. "My daughter Lu she wanted to go somewheres today with a young man from town and Ma she just started house cleanin' to make her stay hum!"

"You mean to say your daughter's name is Lu? And Lu didn't aid, abet, devise and encourage with malice aforethought and all the rest of it, this house cleaning attack which drove us both forth into the wilderness today?"

"Well, no, not eggzactly; Lu didn't, answered Pa, chuckling as he thought of Lu's angry face, "Lu don't eggzactly approve of these all-day skirmishes with imaginary dirt. But then Lu's young. She might develop one of them there complexes yit!"

"I guess I'll go back and get that license," the young chap on the bank exclaimed somewhat abruptly.

It was nearly six as Pa approached his silent home whose very exterior bespoke its spark-and-spanness. But in the kitchen Ma still polished furiously.

"Where's Lu?" Pa asked his silent partner.

"Gone with that feller to git a license," Ma answered bitterly.

"I wonder if you mean that fellow I saw in the woods today. Good looking young chap. Glib tongue, loose at both ends and waggin' from the middle. Come out fishin' without no license. Said he was goin' back after one. But what in heck would he want of Lu to git a fishin' license?"

"Fishing license? Are you clear gone daffy, Pa? There are other things in this world besides fishin', though it don't seem like as if you was ever goin' to find it out! They went to get a marriage license."

"Oh-h," cried Pa. "Was that Lu's beau?"

Pa stood quietly awhile, leaning against the door frame still damp from its recent cleansing. Suddenly Pa chuckled aloud.

"It almost worked, Ma," he said. "You almost cleared him out!"

It deals with the most vital problems in a woman's life!

Kidney Acids Rob Your Rest

Many people never seem to get a good night's rest. They turn and toss—lie awake and count sheep. Often they blame it on "nerves" when it may be their kidneys. Healthy kidneys filter poisons from the blood. If they are faulty and fail, poisons stay in the system and sleeplessness, headache, backache often follow. If you don't sleep well, try Dodd's Kidney Pills—for half a century the favorite remedy. 103

WALL STREET

New York, June 19 (AP)—Leading stocks today recovered fractions to more than a point of recent market losses.

Volume was light from the start, however, and profit taking shaded top quotations near the fourth hour.

Prominent stocks on the forward shift included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, Electric Auto-Lite, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, Allied Chemical, Sperry, American Telephone, Anaconda, Celanese, Montgomery Ward and Great Northern.

A shade higher among Canadian issues were Distillers and International Nickel. Others were ignored.

Firming quotations for industrial staples were reflected in another boost of the price of lead, the second in a week.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 19 (CP)—Toronto Exchange's early period today was moderately strong on absence of further disturbing news from the Orient. Buying was active in the secondary gold list and prices advanced for Aunor, Kerr-Addison, San Antonio, Kirkland Lake, Powell Rouyn, Broulan and others.

Nickel, Noranda, Hudson Bay, Smelters and Waite-Amulet were firmer. A gain of about five cents came out for Eldorado.

Active buying of the big oils at gains of ¼ to ½ featured the industrial section. Foods, utilities, steels and miscellaneous issues posted moderate gains.

An advance of three cents for Home Oil appeared along with a loss of a cent for Calgary-Edmonton. Other western oils were quiet.

Little Change in Produce Market

Toronto, June 19—A steadier undertone was evident in butter, but otherwise little change was noticed in lines on the Toronto open produce market Saturday.

Trading maintained a quiet pace on the butter market, with holders inclined to hold supplies over the week-end rather than sell below the 21 3-4c mark. Some points reported that the English market was showing an improved tone following the decline earlier in the week, and this factor imparted a better feeling toward the market here. No sales were recorded in the Western make, but offerings were available at 22c to 22 1-4c. Ontario creamery solids sold in small volume at 21 3-4c for No. 1 grades and 21c for 38 score. Prints ruled steady at 23c to 23 1-2c for top grades, and 22 1-4c to 22 3-4c for 38 score.

A generally weak tone prevailed on the egg market, although a little more interest in offerings at present levels was reported. Dealers stated that graded shipments were still difficult to clear, and a mild accumulation was apparent. Graded eggs closed out the week at 19c for grade A large, 17c for medium, 15c for B's and 14c for C grades.

Eggs Off in Week.

Montreal, June 19 (CP)— Egg prices slipped narrowly while potato, cheese and butter offerings traded irregularly on open produce markets here last week, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Creamery butter prints to retailers sold for 22 3-4 to 23 cents a pound and solids for 22 1-4 to 22-1-2 cents. Western butter delivered in Montreal was unquoted. Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21 3-4 to 21 7-8 cents. Receipts: 41,160 boxes, compared with 26,145 a year ago.

Ontario white cheese was offered at 12 3-4 cents a pound and colored at 12 7-8. Quebec white traded for 11 3-4 and colored for 11 7-8. Receipts: 30,188 boxes, compared with 33,426 a year ago.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 20 to 21 cents a dozen for A-large, 17 1-2 to 18 for A-medium, 17 for B-large and 15 for C. Receipts: 9,839 cases, compared with 9,917 a year ago.

SONS OF ENGLAND HOLD PICNIC TO CONSECON

Two Belleville Lodges and Trent Lodge Represented at Outing

The members and friends of the Sons of England enjoyed their second annual picnic at Lake Ontario, close to Consecon. Representation was there from both Belleville lodges, Oxford and Lydford and Lodge Trent of Trenton. A fine programme of sports was held and enjoyed by all.

Winners for the events were as follows. All children under five years of age received prizes.

Girls 5 to 7 years—Elsie Rapino, 1st, Dorothy Goodier, 2nd.

Boys 5 to 7 years—John Batchelor 1st, Douglas Kerr, 2nd.

Girls 8 to 10 years—Shirley Allison 1st, Pat Goodier, 2nd.

Boys 8 to 10 years — Rex Yard, 1st, Harry Abbott, 2nd.

Girls 11 to 13 years—Rose Smith, 1st, Shirley Johnson, 2nd.

Boys 11 to 13 years — Douglas Burns 1st, Jack Richardson, 2nd.

Girls 14 to 18 years — Thelma Beale 1st, Helen Richardson, 2nd.

Boys 14 to 18 years—Charlie Allison 1st, Ernest Reid, 2nd.

Senior Men's Race—John Kerr, 1st, Ernest Reid, 2nd.

Honey-moon Race — Harry and Edna Taylor.

Three-legged Race—Ernest and Thelma Beale.

Novelty Ice Cream Race—Walter and Gladys Batchelor.

Tug of War between Oxford and Lydford lodges was a draw. Several games of softball were enjoyed by all.

One of the highlights of the picnic was the presentation of farewell gifts to Ross and Gordon Gregory, who are leaving the lodge to join the British Navy. The presentation was made by Past President J. W. Savage in a very able manner.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered the committee for the able manner in which the picnic was handled. The committee wish to thank all those who kindly made donations and helped to make the day a success.

CASH REGISTER FISHED OUT OF GRAND RIVER

Caledonia, Ont., June 19 (CP)—Two Hamilton anglers hoisted what they thought to be their pot of gold from the Grand River near here yesterday. Excitement mounted when a cash register appeared at the end of their line but the law soon dashed their hopes of easy money by identifying the cash box as one stolen from a garage here early yesterday.

PICTON

U. E. L. LANDING IS CELEBRATED

National Greatness Founded on Open Bible, a Witnessing Church and Established Throne, Speaker Declares

Picton, June 19—Speaking at St. Alban's National U. E. L. Memorial Church yesterday afternoon, Rev. J. D. Mackenzie-Naughton, rector of St. James' Church, Kingston, stated that the foundations of national greatness and international peace are built upon an open Bible, a witnessing church and an established throne.

This service, which drew a capacity crowd to the beautiful edifice, marked the 155th anniversary of the landing of the United Empire Loyalists at Adolphustown.

The service was in charge of Rev. C. C. Brazill, rector of St. Alban's. The church choir gave special music.

"It must have been a peculiar satisfaction to those of U. E. L. stock, whose fathers left the Republic to the south to preserve their loyalty to the British Crown, to see the descendants of those who revolted against the British throne welcoming the present occupants of that throne with such unbounded affection and esteem", observed Rev. Mr. Mackenzie-Naughton.

"Canada and the United States have shown the world that when differences have arisen it was possible to settle them without resort to arms, but by the sane and more lasting way, the Christian way of conference and mutual give and take."

"Today we are reaping the fruits of the past. The peace and prosperity Canada and the United States enjoy today are based on the foundations laid by our fathers. It is the duty of the righteous and of every loyal citizen to preserve the foundations and prevent them from being destroyed."

The open Bible has been one of the greatest factors contributing to the century and a quarter of unbroken peace between Canada and the United States, said the speaker, who urged that the Bible be kept open and read instead of in a bookcase.

The second foundation is a witnessing church and the evangelical revival of the 18th century had great influence on the life and thought of the nation. "Preserve a witnessing church because you are supporting it by helping it in its work of witness."

The third foundation is an established throne. The church has always stood for loyalty to the throne. This loyalty is based on the teaching of our Lord and was enforced by His Apostles. With our present King and Queen this duty is a delight. True religion is the highest patriotism.

An open Bible and a witnessing church will help establish more firmly the foundations of the Empire's throne, said the speaker.

This unusually beautiful edifice is known as the U.E.L. national memorial church. It was built in 1884 to commemorate the one hundredth anniversary of the Loyalist landing, financed by parishioners, generously assisted by public subscriptions of Loyalist families throughout the entire Dominion. Consequently, it is a national memorial church, of United Empire Loyalist significance to those emigres from the U. S., who settled anywhere in Canada. It was erected during the incumbency of Rev. Canon Forneri, in whose memory there is a memorial tablet in the sanctuary.

The interior of the church is most beautiful, with its lovely memorial windows nd its several dozens of memorial plaques or tablets in a continuous band around the walls. These tablets are tributes to the memory of those prominent Canadians of Loyalist extraction who, at the time the Church was built, had contributed in an outstanding manner to the State and to the Church. The tablets are of highly glazed tile work, assembled in Staffordshire, England, and they present a lovely and impressive effect to the interior of the edifice. In the sanctuary are memorial window and its several tors of the parish, including Rev. Job Deacon, the rector when the first Anglican Church was built at that site in 1823.

The first church building was known as St. Paul's. It still stands, used as a Parish Hall now, and somewhat in disrepair. Parishioners are endeavoring to raise a fund to make the necessary repairs, not only to make the hall more suitable for use, but to preserve it as a memorial to early days.

COLT FOUND DEAD NEAR RAIL FENCE

A colt owned by Orley Parks and pastured on the property of Fred Grey, Tyendinaga Township, strayed away through an opening in the fence some days ago. The animal was not missed for two days and later following the organizing of a posse the colt was found dead in the corner of the fence nearby. The animal became tangled in a wire fence on the property of Willard Reid, 8th concession of Tyendinaga, some four miles from the original pasture. The animal was found dangling in the wire fence and dead. Mr. Parks and Mr. Grey found the colt. Later the matter was reported to the Provincial Police.

Second Honeymoon Planned in Schooner

Halifax, June 19 (CP)—A middle-aged Vancouver couple planned today to seek sea adventures on a "second honeymoon". In a battered Nova Scotia schooner, Mr. and Mrs. William Mooney will sail from here next week on a voyage that will take them half-way round the continent.

They are preparing the 16-ton auxiliary vessel Estey to make it ship-shape before they said for New York. From there they plan to make a lazy cruise to the West Indies, across the Caribbean Sea, through the Panama Canal and home.

Neither the retired Vancouver businessman nor his wife are seafaring people.

Two experienced Bluenose sailors will go with them to New York. Then the Vancouver pair will sail the Estey to the West Indies.

POPE PIUS RECEIVES 1000 PILGRIMS

Vatican City, June 19 (CP-Havas) —Pope Pius today received 1,000 pilgrims who arrived here to attend beatification ceremonies for the blessed Emile de Vialar, founder of the congregation of St. Joseph of the Apparition.

Among the crowd were French pilgrims led by Mgr. Jean Delay, the Bishop of Marseille.

Speaking in French, the Pope mentioned the recent Eucharistic Congress at Algiers, which he said commemorated a new era of evangelization on the African continent. Emilie de Vialar was among the pioneers of this movement.

EIGHTEEN ARABS

The scene of the bombings was the Arab marketplace where 65 persons were killed by explosions July 25, 1938, and 23 were killed and more than 60 injured on July 6 that year in an explosion and an ensuing street battle between Jews and Arabs.

Two time-bomb explosions in the market place threw scores of persons out of beds in nearby dwellings.

There were two more explosions, one of which cut off approximately half of Haifa's telephones from the main exchange. The second destroyed a public telephone booth. There was a scene of horror in the marketplace, where some of the victims were decapitated and others mangled.

A wave of terrorism in the long-standing Arab-Jewish conflict resumed following publication of a British government white paper May 17 announcing the establishment of an independent Palestine state and restriction of Jewish immigration.

KING GEORGE VI

the royal party to catch up on the sleep lost on the long royal tour in Canada, United States and Newfoundland, and King George ordered that the clocks be put ahead at three o'clock in the afternoon, instead of at the usual switching hour of midnight, so that his entourage would not be robbed of an hour's sleep.

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aboard R.M.S. Empress of Britain, June 19—(CP)— King George is the sailor King and his knowledge of the ways of the sea probably never has been demonstrated more ably than on this return voyage of the royal party from a glorious visit to North America.

As this giant liner, her spaciousness a striking contrast to the blue and silver train cars that were home to the King and Queen for almost a month, steamed eastward from the new world toward the old, memory of the departure still was vivid in the minds of all aboard.

The King a Good Seaman

His Majesty proved himself a true seaman Saturday as he travelled by launch over the rough waters of Conception Bay to confer honors upon four members of the Royal Navy. A gale whipped up high seas on the bay off the coast of Newfoundland but the King and Queen refused to alter their schedule that called for visits to the cruisers Glasgow, Southampton and Berwick.

A 50-foot royal barge was supposed to carry the royal party from Portugal Cove, where they bid adieu to Newfoundland and North America, to the Glasgow but because of the storm a local passenger boat was used.

Waves were too high for the vessel to come alongside the cruiser so the King and Queen transferred out in the bay to a launch, His Majesty holding Queen Elizabeth's arm as she jumped from one boat to the other.

Splashed by Spray

This vessel fouled her propellor, however, and after drifting helplessly for a time in the swell, the party transferred again to another warship launch which carried them to the Glasgow.

Both King and Queen were splashed from head to foot by the spray when they reached the cruiser where His Majesty jumped to the companion ladder and helped the Queen and other members of the party aboard. The same procedure was followed at each cruiser and by the time they boarded the Empress of Britain Their Majesties had transferred nine times.

It was an experience unsurpassed at any time during the visit and proved that Their Majesties could "take it" at sea as well as on land.

Newfoundland Seaman Drowned

Aboard the Empress, which soon sped them into the darkness of the east, Their Majesties learned of the death of seaman Samuel Batts, 23-year-old Newfoundlander who fell from a lifeboat to the seas 80-feet below.

Showing of a motion picture, scheduled for the evening, was cancelled at the King's request and His Majesty sent a message of sympathy to the young man's parents at Halifax.

The royal couple observed Sunday as a day of rest. They attended a full choral service of the Church of England in the morning and rested the balance of the day. It was their third Sunday at sea since the tour began and followed by a week their visit to the old chapel at Hyde Park, N.Y., where they worshipped with President Roosevelt and Mrs. Roosevelt.

LIGHTNING KILLS VALUABLE HORSE

Barn of J. M. Dawson, East of Napanee, Also Burned in Storm

Damage to the extent of $2,500 was sustained by John M. Dawson, farmer residing nine miles east of Napanee on Friday night when lightning killed a valuable horse, before igniting the barn which later was totally destroyed by the flames. Sixty hens were lost in the blaze that also destroyed a nearby hog-pen.

The lightning acted in a freakish manner. A neighbor of Dawson, who was looking out a window of her home says she saw the bolt strike the building. It followed a steel litter carrier track into the barn and from there to a heavy chain that hung near the horse-stable. The horse was instantly killed while its mate in the next stall was uninjured.

Dawson raced into the blazing building and succeeded in bringing out the terrified animal.

The loss was partially covered by insurance.

KINGSTON BOARD BIG INDUSTRY

Sum Realized for Cheese During 1938 is $512,140.-85

Kingston Cheese Board represents over a half million dollars a year industry. Figures secured show that in 1937 the sum of $584,049.70 was realized through the sale of cheese manufactured throughout the eastern district. Colored cheese to the amount of 30,268 boxes sold at an average price of 13.93 cents, with 16,426 boxes of white cheese at an average price of 13.83 cents.

In 1938 the sale of cheese did not realize as large a sum as in 1937. The amount received from sales totalled $512,140.85. During the year 29,564 boxes of colored cheese sold at an average price of 13.50 cents. There were boarded and sold 12,701 boxes of white cheese at an average price of 13.39 cents. All weights are estimated on 90-pound per box cheese.

Buyers on the Board this year are John Gibson and G. G. Thompson of Kingston; James Cook and W. R. McCreary of Belleville, and W. C. Taylor, Brockville.

BLACKSMITHING NOT A LOST ART

Charleston, S.C., June 19 (AP)—Horseshoeing isn't the business it used to be—but it's still far from a lost art. An advertisement for blacksmiths to work at the Charleston navy yard brought 15 applicants.

WILL CHARGE MOTHER WITH CHILD-MURDER

Fremont, O., June 19 (AP)—A first degree murder charge will be filed against Mrs. Velma Fink, confessed slayer of her 10-weeks-old baby, Haldon Fink, whom she first reported "kidnapped" and whose body was found in a creek.

Prosecutor A. L. Hysec announced that the charge would be made today.

Sheriff H. L. Myers, to whom she had made an oral confession late Saturday night, said Mrs. Fink was too upset for further questioning last night.

The 22-year-old divorcee said, the sheriff said, that she took her son from her parents' home in nearby Clyde, O., last Tuesday night, drove about four miles out of town, and threw the blanket-wrapped child from a bridge into Green Creek.

POLES DEPORT

in the Reich was lodged in Berlin today with Interior Minister Wilhelm Frick by the Polish Union in Germany.

"We wish to express the deep concern caused to Polish parents by the ever-increasing persecution of the younger generation," the memorandum declared. "We ask that the Reich leaders spare these young men the more and more numerous vexations to which members of the Polish minority in Germany are subjected."

The newspaper Warszawski Dziennik Narodowy commented on the memorandum as follows:

"We doubt whether the Polish representations to the German government will produce any result. There must be an end to this situation which the Polish government can no longer tolerate.

Nazi Repressions.

"It is true that there are repressions of the German minority in Poland, but our repressions certainly do not resemble those of the Nazis. A civilized country worthy of the name would not be capable of following their example."

Regarding Propaganda Minister Goebbel's week-end speeches at Danzig, the Polish press alleged that Germany had discarded her mask by revealing that the Free City struggle had no cultural but purely political basis.

"Goebbels admitted the only reason for reuniting Danzig with the Reich was its strategic importance," said the Express Poranny. "Goebbels' visit is the best evidence of the political liberty Poland has left Danzig."

REPRESENTATION

"Alive at Reactions"

The Prime Minister in his statement expressed hope that a local settlement would be found for the incident, but added the government was "fully alive to the reactions of the present dispute on the position of other British and international settlements in China."

"His Majesty's government cannot but believe that the Japanese government share their own desire not to widen the area of disagreement or to render more acute an already difficult situation," Mr. Chamberlain said.

Mr. Chamberlain added Britain was maintaining "close touch with the French and American governments."

Cause of Blockade

The tension at Tientsin developed with refusal of authorities of the British concession to hand over to Japanese officials four alleged terrorists. This was followed by a blockade of the British and French concessions and increased demands by the Japanese.

Mr. Chamberlain said the original demand for the alleged terrorists "had been confused by the introduction of larger issues of general policy."

The Tientsin incident is considered a challenge to British interests and prestige in the Far East. This challenge was described yesterday in a speech by Admiral of the Fleet Sir Roger Keyes as "a declaration of war against the British Empire, with Germany and Italy supporting Japan."

"Food Will Reach Them"

Anthony Eden, former Foreign Secretary, asked the Prime Minister whether it had been "made clear to all concerned that it is the intention of His Majesty's government to ensure that supplies of foodstuffs" to British subjects in Tientsin would reach them.

Mr. Chamberlain replied: "Yes, sir, we are making inquiries into that point and shall take whatever steps may be necessary to ensure that food will reach them."

Richard Butler, Undersecretary for Foreign Affairs, replying to a question, said the government did not recognize the right of the Japanese to arrest and detain British subjects and that the Japanese government had been left in no doubt of this.

Fatal Bayonetting on June 6

He said the government still was awaiting a reply to representations concerning the fatal bayonetting of R. M. Tinkler, cotton mill employee, in the Shanghai industrial section, Pootung, on June 6.

Lieut. Commander R. T. H. Fletcher, Labor, asked: "Is it the case that the Japanese government have so far made no reply whatever regarding this murder which took place in atrocious circumstances?"

(Japanese marines entered the mill during a strike dispute. Tinkler, stabbed and struck on the head with a rifle butt, died the following day. Japanese charged he had threatened to shoot a Japanese officer).

Mr. Butler replied that no reply has been made but exchanges of views have taken place.

Brief Statement on Moscow

The Prime Minister made a brief statement concerning negotiations now in progress at Moscow on the proposed Anglo-Franco-Russian mutual assistance pact, expressing belief that William Strang, foreign office negotiator, would be able to handle the situation without further instructions from London.

He acknowledged "there are several other points" of difference in addition to the Russian desire that guarantees be extended to the Baltic States and the British desire to avoid naming these states specifically. The states, he said, are themselves unwilling to accept an outright Anglo-Russian pledge of help.

Tientsin, China, June 19—Japanese military authorities tonight erected a 1,000-volt electric wire barricade around the British and French concessions here, further strengthening their blockade of the foreign area.

A Japanese engineer pulled a switch sending the current through high tension wires strung around the concessions, the aim being to prevent anyone trying to steal through the blockade under cover of darkness or pass fresh food across the barriers behind the backs of Japanese sentries.

May Evacuate Women and Children

British authorities today considered evacuating women and children as the Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions here continued in its sixth day without a sign of either side weakening.

Spokesmen for the Britons, virtually imprisoned in the concessions by the blockade, said they were resigned "to fight it out."

If the British authorities decide to remove the women and children they probably will sail aboard a passenger ship Wednesday for Chinwangtao and Peitaiho, a nearby beach resort.

A British destroyer returned to Chinwangtao today from Peitaiho, about 135 miles northeast of Tientsin, after apparently finding conditions normal.

Water Shortage Feared

With the delivery of fresh food supplies seriously curtailed although not entirely stopped, a new menace in the form of a possible water shortage appeared to be causing authorities to adopt measures to conserve the supply.

The chairman of the British municipal council issued a statement charging that while Japanese were accusing the council of hoarding flour and rice they were pressing a definite policy of preventing sampans on the Hai River from delivering fresh food to the concession.

He said the British officials never had withheld shipments of flour or other supplies. From June 12 through June 15, he said, 141,890 bags of flour and 9,250 bags of rice were shipped out.

To Break Customs Service.

Asked why sampans were not allowed to deliver food, a Japanese army spokesman said the army had no official knowledge but that the measure probably was instituted "to prevent profiteering".

Japanese took a further step toward breaking down the regular Chinese customs service, but the blockade otherwise was little changed.

What was described as a temporary branch office of the Chinese Maritime Customs service was opened in Japanese-occupied territory of this North China port under the direction of Japanese and Chinese obedient to them to facilitate the clearance of vessels outside the concessions.

Amoy, China, June 19 (CP-Havas) —An international committee composed of Britons, Frenchmen and Americans was set up here today to organize the import of food into blockaded Kulangsu.

It was expected that parleys would shortly resume to bring about reorginization of the Kulangsu municipal council.

Only Slightly Eased.

Tientsin, June 19 (CP-Havas)—The food crisis in the blockaded British concession has been only slightly eased by shipments which arrived in two British merchant ships today.

The two vessels were permitted to dock but they had little food aboard. All Chinese junks were carrying vegetables and meats to the foreign areas but were prevented from coming in.

Since Saturday the British concession received ony about 30 pounds of lamb, 70 pounds of pork, 120 pounds of beef and about 100 pounds of vegetables to feed a population of 3,000 foreigners and 45,000 Chinese.

The French area was understood to be more adequately provisioned.

Because of the indignities heaped on Britons at the barriers, the British Consulate General urged all British Nationals not to try to leave the concession unless it was absolutely necessary.

JAPANESE FORCES BLOCKADE BRITISH IN TIENTSIN

Apparently making a "test case" out of its blockade of the British and French concessions in Tientsin, northern Chinese port, Japan is employing naval and military measures to see that the blockade is enforced. It was originated when British authorities refused to turn over to the Japanese four alleged Chinese terrorists, but since then has assumed much larger international proportions as the Japanese attempt to make the incident a wedge to rid the country they are invading of European influence. At the LEFT is shown a recent picture of one of the gun crews aboard a Japanese destroyer maintaining the blockade in the waters around Tientsin, while at the RIGHT Japanese troops are seen patrolling the streets of the city following their capture of the Chinese section.

WAR VETERAN GREETS HIS KING AT HALIFAX

One lucky war veteran this, as King George VI halts in his review of the old soldiers drawn up during the Royal visit to Halifax, N.S., to shake his hand and exchange a word of greeting. Though the strain of four weeks' constant travelling must have had its effect, the King is obviously happy at the meeting. —SNS.

MONARCHS SAY THEIR FAREWELLS AT HALIFAX

Their four-week tour of Canada, United States and Newfoundland over, Their Majesties the King and Queen are now making their way across the Atlantic to the homeland. Chinese In Vital Services In Concession Quit Jobs

Letters Received Threatening Death To Their Relatives

All Residents in Japanese-Controlled Sector and Working in Concession Resign from Their Positions

SERVICES MAINTAINED

No Casualities Result from Electrification of the Barriers About the Concessions

Tientsin, June 20—(AP)—Chinese employees of vital services in the British concession began quitting their jobs today under threats of death to their families as the Japanese tightened their blockade of the settlement.

Chinese who work for the concession's water, electric, police and other departments received letters saying their relatives would be killed unless they resigned. Those whose families live outside the concession, in the Japanese-controlled area, were resigning.

British authorities expressed the opinion that the services could be maintained by Chinese whose families live inside the British and French concessions, which Japanese yesterday isolated from the rest of the city by high voltage wires in reinforcement of the blockade.

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Too much sunshine! Summertime makes one think of the hot countries. In the deserts the complaint is of too much sunshine where 90 per cent of the possible radiation my actually be received. There the sun rises with very little dawn, and the temperature goes up so fast that by nine o'clock it is very hot and continues getting hotter until 3 or 4 in the afternoon, when quivering mirages are seen. As soon as the sun goes down cooling proceeds rapidly, the air is so calm that flames from fires have scarcely a waver. Desert dwellers are actually cold at night, not because the temperatures fall so low (they reach only to 70 or 80 degrees) but because of the contrast with day temperatures.

Police Inspector Says Girl 'Frozen Alive' in Ice Cake Wore G-String and Smile

New York, June 20—(AP)—Continuing their campaign to cover up nudity at the New York World's Fair, police last night arrested two showgirls, Fay Krop, 20, and Joan Vickers, 22 on charges of participating in an indecent performance.

Arthur Gayner, 31, of Paterson, N.J., manager of the "Frozen Alive" show, and David Bell, 30, manager of the "Congress of Beauty" also were arrested.

Police Inspector Charles Mooney said Miss Krop, who is encased in a piece of ice in the "Frozen Alive" show, wore "a g-string and a nice smile." He said Miss Vickers was a fan dancer in the Congress of Beauty show.

Parliaments Will Suspend Sittings to Enable Members to Greet King

London, June 20—(CP Cable)—A welcome home that will echo the length and breadth of the United Kingdom awaits the King and Queen when they step ashore at Southampton on Thursday, ending a strenuous and historic visit to the new world.

Britain's man in the street is not usually demonstrative. But he makes an exception in the case of royalty—particularly when he feels royalty has done a good job.

And that is the opinion here of Their Majesties' visit to Canada, the United States and Newfoundland. It is felt they carried out a most difficult task with complete success and captivated all who met or even saw them.

TWO SMOTHERED IN GOLD MINE

Encountered Gas Pocket on Way to Posts in Raise on Third Level

Geraldton, Ont., June 20—(CP)—Nick Fairburn, machinist, and his helper, Norman Welch, employees of the Magnet Consolidated Gold Mines, died from gas fumes in a gold mine near here early today.

Fairburn leaves a widow and a small son while Welch is survived by his father and a brother, both working at the mine.

Although details of the accident were not available immediately, it was learned the two men had returned to their posts in a raise on the third level after the lunch hour. They apparently encountered a gas pocket and were overcome.

FORMER BANKER DIES

Toronto, June 20 (CP)—William Rein Wadsworth, 92, for 22 years manager of the head office branch of the Bank of Toronto, died here yesterday. During his 50 years service with the bank he was manager of branches at Collingwood, Port Hope and London. He played on Toronto's first senior rugby team against Hamilton. He served with the Victoria Rifles at Saint John, N.B., during the Fenian Raid.

King and Queen Eagerly Anticipate First Glimpse of English Coastline

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aboard R.M.S. Empress of Britain, June 20—(CP)—With a noisy, heartfelt welcome awaiting them at home, Britain's King and Queen sped across a calm Atlantic today, eagerly anticipating their first glimpse of the white cliffs of England's southern coast.

Logging a steady 20 knots this royal yacht ploughed on steadily as the King and Queen rested after their triumphant tour of Canada, United States and Newfoundland. Shipboard routine was casual and unhurried as all aboard relaxed after an arduous month of travel across a continent and back.

The royal party spent part of yesterday on deck enjoying warm sunshine that appeared spasmodically from behind scattered clouds. The King wore a grey checked lounge suit and the Queen was dressed in a tailored blue-grey tweed suit with a short coat and an off-the-face hat.

Colored motion pictures taken during the tour of the Rockies and Northern Ontario were shown in the evening.

Full Night's Rest

The day was followed by a full night's rest, made possible by the King's order that the ship's clock be put ahead at three each afternoon instead of at midnight so that his entourage would not be robbed of the additional hour's sleep.

Members of the party speculated on the time the English shoreline first would be sighted. The Empress is due off The Needles at 8 a.m., EDT, Thursday, but if the day is clear it is believed possibly the south coast will be visible as the liner enters the English Channel. She is due to dock at Southampton a short time later.

An event an hour before the docking, however, was uppermost in the minds of the King and Queen. Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose will come by destroyer from Southampton to Yarmouth on the Isle of Wight, and transfer by royal barge to the Empress.

Then will come a reunion that will mark the end of almost six weeks of separation.

Pass Half-Way Mark

This morning Their Majesties inspected the ship's company on the promenade deck and chatted informally with members of the crew. The Queen wore a rose pink woollen dress with hat to match.

The Empress logged 469 miles for the 24 hours ending at 11.40 p.m. EDT and was well past the half-way mark in the trans-Atlantic voyage home.

BRITAIN LENDS FRANCE A HAND

England is literally giving France a hand here as British officers help French Chief-of-Staff, General Gamelin, clamber aboard a tank during his inspection of Britain's armed forces at Aldershot, where mechanized units were paraded for the French military visitors, in England to work out plans for close British-French co-operation in the event of war.

JAPANESE PLACE ONUS ON BRITAIN TO FIND SOLUTION

Belief Expressed Britain Could Not Retaliate Commercially for Blockade

BRITONS SEARCHED

Tokyo, June 20—(AP)—Authoritative Japanese placed on Great Britain today the burden of finding a peace formula to settle the week-old Tientsin crisis.

Official quarters expressed the conviction that Britain could not retaliate commercially for the blockade the Japanese imposed last Wednesday on the British and French concessions in the North China port and that "Japan now occupies the favorable position in which the British must carry the burden of finding a peace formula."

Aluminum Company To Build $4,500,000 Plant at Kingston

Kingston, Ont., June 20 (CP)—R. E. Powell, President of the Aluminum Company of Canada, announced today the company will build a $4,500,000 plant in Kingston township just outside the western limits of the city.

He estimated more than $1,000,000 would be spent on wages during the construction period. About 75 men are at work today and several hundred more will be engaged . The plant will employ 600 men at capacity.

Mr. Powell said there will be "substantial extensions" to the company plants at Arvida and Shawinigan Falls, both in Quebec.

BURGLAR SLAPPED BY STORE OWNER

Mrs. Sam Schwartz Woke Up to Find Man Standing Over Bed

Toronto, June 20 (CP)—A burglar with a weakness for bologna and cherries, was chased from Sam Schwartz' grocery store early today by Mrs. Schwarz who slapped his face and then called for help.

The youthful shopbreaker climbed over a seven-foot fence topped with barbed wire and entered the store from the rear. Walked past the sleeping family into the store where he ate a box of cherries, cut and ate a piece of bologna and cut the telephone wire.

It was while he was searching the bedroom that Mrs. Schwartz awakened. When he demanded money with a threat to shoot her, Mrs. Schwartz jumped out of bed and struck him in the face, causing him to flee.

Mr. Schwartz chased him for several blocks but was outdistanced.

'TOTALITARIAN NATIONS OFF ON WRONG FOOT'

Barter System No Improvement Over Time-Honored Systems Says J. S. Duncan

REALIGNMENT SEEN

'Successful Export Trade is Dependent on Strong Position at Home'

Bigwin Island, June 20—(CP)—Totalitarian nations "are off on the wrong foot," J. S. Duncan, general manager of the Massey Harris Co. Ltd., told the Canadian Manufacturers' Association today in a luncheon address on the subject of export trade.

The barter system, he said, although bringing a temporary increase in their export business, was no improvement over the time-honored methods of international exchange of goods. On the contrary he expressed the opinion that the system was a definite step backward, an expedient ultimately doomed to failure.

"On the other hand," he said, "many of the nations who are playing an important part in the overseas trade— notably the United Kingdom herself—are unable, owing to rearmament programs, to give their undivided attention to commercial pursuits. The Japanese commercial menace is no longer what it was only a few years ago, for reasons which we all understand."

SINGLE 6-YEAR TERM PROPOSED

Senate Opponents of Third Term for Roosevelt Secure Vote on Matter

Washington, June 20 (AP)— An attempt to limit Presidential service in the United States to a single six-year term is being made by some of the Senate opponents of a third term for President Roosevelt.

The Senate Judiciary Committee agreed yesterday to vote July 3 on a constitutional amendment incorporating the one-term idea.

Senator Edward Burke (Dem-Nebraska), a frequent critic of administration policies, followed up the committee action with a broadcast speech last night advocating the amendment and declaring that a third term for Mr. Roosevelt next year might lead to a breakdown of American democracy.

"In the light of prevailing trends" he said, "should the third term tradition be broken in 1940, no man can safely predict the fate of our form of government."

Joining Burke in expressing opposition to a third term was Senator Frederick Van Nuys (Dem.-Indiana), likewise a new deal critic.

Van Nuys told reporters a third term "would violate one of the best traditions of our country," and announced his support of Paul McNutt, High Commissioner to the Philippines, for the 1940 Democratic Presidential nomination.

Royal Tour Provides Publicity For Canada in Australia, N. Z.

Auckland, N.Z., June 20—(CP) —The visit of the King and Queen to Canada provided the senior Dominion with the best publicity it has ever had in New Zealand.

Every detail of the royal tour, together with descriptions of the places visited, has been eagerly read. Newspapers and magazines published numerous articles about Canada, its people and its tourist attractions.

The tour resulted in clearing away many misconceptions about Canada. New Zealanders knew little about their larger sister Dominion. There had been, for instance, a feeling that because Canada resembles the United States in its monetary system and in other directions, Canadians must tend toward republicanism. The warmth of the welcome to the King and Queen came as a pleasant surprise to many in New Zealand.

The result of the visit is almost certain to be an increase in tourists from this part of the world, drawn by descriptions of the country's manifold attractions.

Tremendous Boost

Sydney, N.S.W., June 20 —(CP) —Canada received a tremendous boost in Australia during the royal tour, and it appears an increased tourist flow from this Dominion to Canada will follow.

"Spreads" on Canadian features were given in Australian newspapers and periodicals daily during the visit of the King and Queen and steamship offices were besieged with tourist inquiries. So great was the newspaper demand for Canadian illustrations that the usually well-stocked Canadian government trade commissioner's office in Sydney was almost denuded of pictures and literature.

Members to Meet In Palace Grounds Says Chamberlain

Prime Minister Will on Thursday Move Motion for Address to His Majesty the King, Day of Return of King and Queen

THANKSGIVING SERVICE

Princesses Talk to Their Mother by Ship-to-Shore Telephone and Tell Two Wonderful Stories

London, June 20—(CP)—Parliament will suspend its sittings Thursday to welcome the King and Queen after their visit to Canada and the United States, Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today.

"I should like to make a statement to the House," Mr. Chamberlain said at question time. "Their Majesties the King and Queen will return from a tour of Canada and the United States Thursday, and I desire to inform the House that at the beginning of business on that day I shall move a motion for an address to His Majesty.

Sittings to Suspend

"I am sure it will be the wish of members to take part in the welcome to the King and Queen. Accordingly I am consulting the Speaker with regard to making the necessary arrangements for a temporary suspension of the sitting on Thursday.

"Members will assemble on the pavement adjoining the new palace yard and the opposite side of the roadway. I shall announce arrangements later."

He added that the suspension would probably begin at 5:15 p.m., the House to resume business at 6 p.m.

Te Deum at St. Paul's

In reply to a question from Duncan Sandys, Conservative, the Prime Minister said it was not proposed that an address of welcome should be presented to Their Majesties by the Speaker when they passed the Houses of Parliament.

A special te deum will be sung at St. Paul's next Sunday following a thanksgiving service for the safe return of King George and Queen Elizabeth from their Canadian tour it was announced today.

Princesses Break Great News

London, June 20—(CP)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, with two big pieces of news to tell, talked by ship-to-shore telephone with their mother for 10 minutes today.

The first was that they are to go out in a destroyer from Southampton Thursday to meet their parents and second, that they visited the zoo this morning and helped feed the animals. They tossed fish to the sea lions and fed the baby gnu and the antelope from a bottle.

BRITISH BAKERS TOURING CANADA

Montreal, June 20 (CP)—Forty one members of the National Association of master bakers, confectioners and caterers of England and Wales arrived here today aboard the liner Aurania for a tour of Canada and the United States to study baking methods.

The party was headed by a young English girl, Miss M. Small, who took charge when her father, the Associate Secretary, was unable to make the trip.

LITTLE CHANGE IN BRITISH WAYS AT TIENTSIN

Sun Has Not Set on This Bit of England Yet

By J. D. WHITE
Associated Press Staff Writer

British Concession, Tientsin, June 20—(AP)—The sun isn't setting just yet on this bit of England in the Far East.

Despite limitations imposed by the Japanese blockade, Tientsin Britons still are eating regularly although sometimes fresh vegetables are lacking and they still dress for dinner. Occasionally a stiff shirt is worn for two evenings because of laundry difficulties—a majority of the washermen are outside the Concession and the laundries within are overburdened.

Some of the old-timers mumble past pipes through clenched teeth about this, that or the other nuisance and inconvenience but the situation won't be critical until the pipes are removed to facilitate the grumblings—so say veterans of past troubles in China.

'Coffee Takers' Missing

Probably the most startling change occurred within the ranks of so-called "coffee-takers" or "early birds" who for years have met daily at 6 a.m. at British Country Club, outside the Concession. The early birds are missing the regular meeting there for a morning walk exercising the dogs, swimming in the club pool and breakfasting on toast and coffee.

They have, however, worked out a substitute routine. One group led by E. S. Peters and W. M. Howell, exporters and former chairmen of the Concession Council to which they've belonged for 40 years, meets at the Grammer School athletic grounds to walk the dogs. Toast and coffee were arranged for elsewhere. Not for 20 years before the blockade had Peters and Howell missed a session at the country club unless they were ill.

Swimming Club Organized

A second group is led by A. E. Tipper, present chairman of the Council, who is throwing his influence toward a swimming club inside the Concession for pre-breakfast exercise.

The "horsey" element is lamenting its inability to reach stables on the outside, personally to supervise care of prize mounts.

The determination of the British colony not to allow the blockade to shake it from customary calm is indicated by a sign at the front door of the Tientsin club: "Polo today. Five o'clock." Cricket is played regularly also.

DISAPPOINTED SUITOR SOUGHT BY POLICE

New York, June 20 (CP)—Police today spread a net for a man, believed a disappointed suitor, who last night fatally stabbed and strangled Virginia Bender, 18-year-old waitress.

The girl's body was found by her brother and a few minutes later her fiance, who was to have married her in two weeks, arrived at the house to take her out. Police said they were searching for an unnamed acquaintance.

City and District News

CATCHES OF L. ONTARIO TROUT DECIDEDLY BETTER IN PAST WEEK

Trout netting in Lake Ontario during the past week or so has been decidedly better, and "lifts" of two hundred pounds of fish at a time have become more common so far this season, it is reported by district fishermen. This is in contrast to the decidedly lean years and uncommonly poor fishing experienced over the past three or four years.

STRAWBERRY GROWERS PLACE LARGE ORDERS FOR BOXES AND CRATES

An extraordinarily heavy crop of strawberries will be harvested through the district and in sections of Prince Edward County within the next few weeks, it is reported by local supply houses which have been stocking up with extra large orders of strawberry boxes and crates.

"We expect to fill the biggest demand for crates and boxes we have been called upon for years past," stated the manager of one store.

Many new backyard and small acreage plots of berries will be added to the total of acres of the plots in the rural areas this year to boost the total production of the berry, it was stated.

B.-A. PIPE LINE UNDERGOES REPAIRS

The oil pipe line in the lower section of the city which was stated leaking gasoline into a bordering swale on the lower section of Front street yesterday as reported in this paper was declared today by officials to be the British-American line which is now undergoing repairs.

PT. ANNE DOG OWNERS ANNOYED BY ORDER TO KEEP DOGS TIED UP

Dogs of Point Anne, free to road without fetters or hindrance since the village was first settled, have been confined to back yards and kennels through an edict of the police, following the severe mauling of a child of the village last week by one of the dogs. But owners of the animals are not taking kindly to the command to tie their dogs. Such rigid restrictions now imposed on all animals of the village prohibit the use of them in the evening to round up cattle. Stores of the village have the edict of police against the dogs prominently posted.

LAST FRIDAY'S RAIN GREAT HELP TO CROPS

While the heavy rains of last Friday may have resulted in loss to some parts of the district, the benefits derived in other sections of the community will be of great value, farmers on the city market stated today.

The hay crop, prospects for which have fluctuated during the past few weeks, will reap a lot of benefit, Mrs. Ernest Crooks, Crofton, stated.

"Wire-grass hay has shot up at least three to four inches since the rain of last Friday and present prospects indicate a good crop."

Grain will benefit greatly, it was stated, while root crops and planted crops will also be aided.

Board May Not Build Retaining Wall Around Park This Year

Unless the cost can be materially modified the proposed retaining wall along the east and south sides of Victoria Park will not be constructed this year, the city Parks Commission decided in session last evening.

"The cost of constructing a retaining wall around two sides of Victoria Park was found to be far in excess of the amount estimated by the Board. However, our Board has not altogether given up the proposal of the erection of a retaing wall around Victoria Park. It will have to be built sooner or later, but the present cost exceeds our expectations and as this cost was not included in our estimates, the matter will have to be left in abeyance for the time being", stated Chairman W. A. Woodley, as he intimated the matter would be subsequently dealt with.

Fire Chief Wm. Lynch was appointed by the Parks Board to have full control over what is known as Firemen's Park, at the entrance to Victoria Park. Chief Lynch was given full authority in the matter of control of this section of the park.

The board voted to decorate and repaint the alcove entrance to the Belleville Exhibition Park in preparation for the Belleville Fair, while other improvements will be completed at the Fair Grounds in order to take care of the increasingly large numbers of exhibitors now attending the Belleville Exhibition.

The Wharf Street Debating Club and the Young Canada Club were given permission to hold separate picnics on Victoria Park next month, the dates to be announced later. The passing of accounts concluded last night's board meeting.

Q. A. S. CADETS ENJOY PICNIC

Program of Sports and Two Ball Games Carried Out by Those in Charge

Queen Alexandra School cadets, in charge of George Wallace, held an enjoyable picnic and sports day at Twelve O'Clock Point on Saturday. The bu left the school at ten in the morning and the boys had a splendid day's outing, with games, sports, swimming and a picnic lunch to make up the fine program.

Mr. Wallace was assisted in arrangements by Mr. Harold Mott of the school staff. The sports included two baseball games, a senior and junior. The seniors' score was 9-8 for Davis' team. The line-ups were —Davis 'team: Davis (captain), Laskaris, Holway, Rosebush, Simpson, P. Thompson, Evans, DeRushie, Soderberg. McIntyre's team, McIntyre (captain), Kellar, R. Thompson, Aylesworth, Wager, Arnott, Haire, Adams, Wilson. In the junior game Aitcheson's team won out with a score of 8-7. The line-ups included: Aitcheson's team, Aitcheson (captain), Lyall, Rollins A. Rushlow, G. Calbury, Brant, Clarke, O. Rushlow. Cross' team, Cross (captain), B. Rushlow, Claus, Haw, Douglas, L. Rushlow, Kew, J. Calbury, Bankier.

Youth Group Hears Address on Bible

"The Bible should be read because of its importance. In it are the answers to all the criticisms which people put up before us today. It is a way for us to contact God, said Major Alderman in a talk to the Youth Group at the Citadel last night. "Because of his letters to us as if from some dear friend.

"In it is found truth, it is protected and distinguished from any other book in the world. It is called Scripture of truth because it gives true conception of God's dealings with men."

In conclusion Major Alderman told this story, "When Eva Booth, now General of the Army, for the first time of the Army in Canada, she announced her subject as "Heaven and how to get there". After the address a professor came to her and said, "I'm astonished that any woman of your mental ability should dare tell of a place "Heaven and how to get there". He said he had written a volume of books on life and would send her a copy. She refused and told him that she would burn them in a furnace. Later the books came and were burned. Eva Booth wrote a letter back advising him to read the Bible and take heed to its message. Years later she received a letter from the professor's brother telling her they were in the evangelistic work. On his death bed his last words were, tell Eva Booth that "I am going to the Heaven she preached about on Massey Hall platform." "The Bible is a chart and compass on the sea of life," said Major Alderman.

Two vocal duets were sung by the Misses Dorothy and Gertrude Cretney and were enjoyed by all. A pianoforte duet by Misses June Wardle and Glennys Green, and Major Alderman rendered a vocal solo.

Itinerant Contortionist All Set for Business

A tall man of apparent foreign extraction, claiming by means of a printed sign that graced a two-wheeled cart, that he was a contortionist attracted the attention of pedestrians near Victoria Park this morning.

His only companion was a small fox terrier dog, apparently a well-trained animal, that went through some of its tricks for the benefit of a few small boys.

Contrary to the general run of itinerant performers that wander up and down the countryside, the performer refused to talk.

"Too much go in newspaper," he exclaimed in broken English. Wire, and steel contraptions apparently part of the "act" were loaded on the small cart that also carried the wanderer's camping and eating utensils. He was dressed in a shabby coat and sweater, while a pair of army puttees graced sockless feet which were encased in a pair of rubber overshoes.

Proper Type of Immigrant Needed to Develop Resources, Says R. D. Arnott, M.P.P.

Larger Population Would Not Create More Unemployment, He Declares

ADDRESS TO ROTARY

The admission of the proper type of immigrant to develop Canada's vast acres and natural resources is the only practical solution for Canada's unemployment problems, R.D. Arnott, K.C., M.P.P., told members of the Belleville Rotary Club in a stirring address at their weekly luncheon yesterday. "The solution lies in more people, ten times as many as we have now to develop the resources of the country," he said. "This problem which is Canada's major one at the present time, can be dealt with if the proper type of immigrant, and you can get all you want at the present time, is brought into Canada for this purpose."

Not More Unemployment

"It will not create more unemployment in the country, as some people would have us believe," Mr. Arnott stated, "but would make for and create a bigger and better home market. Canada's Resources are no good unless we get people in the country to develop them."

One of the most tragic mistakes this country ever made occurred when its government started the voucher system after the 1929 depression, the speaker declared. "The government dipped deep into the public purse and voted huge grants to public works. People ran to the government with the cry 'Give us more'. The result was a tremendous waste of money". We cannot measure in dollars and cents the loss to the Dominion of Canada, or the loss of self-respect to many of its inhabitants".

"It seems now that governments have educated the people to look to the government to keep them".

Solution for Unemployed Youth

The speaker urged the importance of finding a solution for the unemployed youth of the country. "We have got to do something about it," he said, referring to the case of the young man of 1929 who has had ten years taken out of his life. "Youth does not want the country to provide for it. All it asks is gainful employment and it is our duty to provide it with the opportunity. It does not want charity".

Some of Canada's finest young men are wandering up and down the country in the ranks of the transients, the speaker pointed out, adding that "these young men are not stealing, but looking for work. They are the country's forgotten men, unless of course, a war should break out, then who would the country look to. These young people are asking the question, 'if Canada can raise billions for military equipment to send us to be killed in defense of the country, why can't it do something for us now'. It is dangerous to have these people think there is nothing in sight. The Royal Visit gained some ground for us in that respect, but we must be careful to look after what we gained, or we will lose it".

Only Temporary Stop-Gaps

Many solutions have been advanced but these have been only temporary stop-gaps, Mr. Arnott declared. "We cannot expect the government to rush headlong into heavy expense after its experience of 1929. Uniting the railways has been offered, but that won't help the situation one jot. Placing the unemployed in the army is just so much bunk. The result of this would be a further rise in taxes. The army would have to be kept and equipped. I am in favor of the militia but it is not the solution to unemployment," he said.

"We have heard the cry of unemployment insurance," he continued, "but that is not the answer. Suggestions have been made to disfranchise those on relief. I do not contribute to that idea. These people are Canadians and British subjects and as such are entitled to their franchise. If war broke out we would be mighty glad they had a franchise."

Foresight of Pioneers

Canada has a wonderful system of roads and railways, Mr. Arnott declared, "but when the pioneers, men of foresight and vision, built these railways, they did so for the people who were to come after them. If Canada had the population it should have had down through the years, its present railway system would not be sufficient for its needs. Instead of developing the country we have been tearing up the tracks and asking the government to help us. We are not getting anywhere".

Get People Into Canada

"We have got to get people into Canada. When we do that we will get ahead," Mr. Arnott concluded.

Prior to his address Mr. Arnott paid tribute to the splendid work being done by the Rotary Club. "Being a member of the Kinsmen Club of Belleville, I can well understand what a splendid job Rotary is doing here," he said.

Appreciation for the address was voiced by His Worship Mayor Jamieson Bone, who in the course of his remarks stated that "I still think the principal cause of unemployment is our educational system", and Rotarian W. B. Deacon, who stated that if people used their brains more today, there would be greater opportunities for business. Mr. Arnott was fittingly introduced by Rotarian Chas. A. Cameron, K.C., M.P.

President MacLean Haig was in the chair with Leo Riggs presiding in his usual capable manner at the piano. Guests included Robert Pringle, Dick Kennett, Carl Conger, past-president of the Ottawa Rotary Club, and Major Aldermen of the local corps of the Salvation Army.

John Cassidy, Sr., Tweed, Honored on 91st Birthday

Riverview Cottage, a handsome summer dwelling a short distance north of Tweed was the scene of a jolly gathering on Sunday when 150 descendants of John Cassidy, Sr., gathered to honor him on the occasion of his 91st birthday. It was the 5th annual reunion of the family and one that attracted relatives from the far-flung sections of the Dominion.

An honored guest at the pary was the Rev. Archbishop O'Brien of Kingston who was accompanied by his secretary, Mr. Leon J. Burns. Other clerics in attendance were Rev. Father Cullinane and Rev. Father O'Donnell, both of Tweed.

It was a grand party, one that was bound together by that invisible bond of fellowship and love for which so many of the older Hastings County families are noted. The afternoon was spent in games, some played baseball, others took to the water, while boating proved a popular diversion. A few congratulatory addresses were given the aged guest, who expressed his delight at again seeing the members of his far-flung family.

Nor were the children forgotten. Special ice cream treats were given them while candy-scrambles and other forms of sports rounded out an enjoyable day for the young members of the family. Dinner was served both in the cottage and outside on the spacious lawns.

Representatives of the family came from Stoco, Bogart, Marlbank and Tweed while those from outside points included, Mrs. Gordon Fleming, Edmonton, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Cassidy, Vagarsville, Alta.; Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Trudeau, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Frank Cassidy, Smith's Falls; Mr. John and Miss Stacia Dorian, Belleville; Mr. and Mrs. Dorian Cassidy, Tamworth, and Mrs. John McGraw, of Erinsville.

The officers of the family organization remain the same in 1939, it was decided at a meeting held during the afternoon. They include J. J. Trudeau , president; Stafford Whalen, vice president; Mrs. E. Lesage, secretary, and Mrs. Peter Cassidy and Mrs. W. P. Cassidy, directors.

OBITUARY

LATE MRS. FLORENCE JACKSON

Queensboro, June 20 (Special)—The interment of the late Mrs. Florence Jackson, of Palmerston, Ont., took place in Greenwood cemetery, Queensboro, on Sunday afternoon at two o'clock. The deceased who was the youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. Simon Wiggins, was born near Queensboro and is remembered by many of the people of this vicinity. She left here about thirty years ago residing for some time in Trenton, later making her home in Palmerston where her husband passed away some years ago. The late Mrs. Jackson had been in poor health and had been a great sufferer for many months. Of a large family one brother Mr. Robt. Wiggins, of Vancouver, and Mrs. Margaret Armstrong, of California, are left to mourn her passing. The service at the grave was read by Mr. Moss, of Tamworth, and the bearers at the cemetery were Messrs. John and Jas. Moore, Harry Tokley, Geo. Love, Fred Rollins and Leslie Herbertson.

LATE WILLET SCRIMSHAW

The funeral of Willett Scrimshaw took place from the Martin Funeral Home, Church Street, Monday afternoon, June 19th. The service in the chapel and at the graveside in Belleville Cemetery was conducted by the Rev. W. H. Shadbolt, pastor of the Standard Church, Coleman Street.

The bearers were Messrs. W. Beecham, C. Deline, G. A. Britton, W. Reid, J. Shortt and J. Anderson.

CLAYTON B. PHILLIPS

(Sidney Township)

After an illness of one year's duration Clayton Bird Phillips passed away at the residence of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Phillips, in the 4th concession of Sidney Township on Monday night, June 19th.

The deceased, who was in his 19th year, was born in the 4th concession of Sidney Township and had resided there all his life. He was the possessor of an amiable disposition and many fine traits of character. With his associates he was popular and by his elders he was held in high regard. In religion he was a member of the Centenary United Church and took an active part in the work of the Young People's Union and the Sunday School.

Surviving to mourn his loss and to whom the sympathy of many friends will be extended are his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Edward L. Phillips; one sister, Miss Mildred Phillips, at home; two brothers, Everett and Harold, both at home.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

GEORGE WESLEY SAGER

(Brighton Twp.)

George Wesley Sager passed away Saturday, June 10th at his home, Brighton Township. Mr. Sager, who had been gradually failing in health for some months, and more recently confined to his bed for some time, his passing was not unexpected. Mr. Sager was born at Albury, Prince Edward County, March 10th, 1846.

He married Rhoda Bedal, Feb. 2nd, 1881. Mrs. Sager was called from her earthly home, Feb. 2nd, 1928. The only surviving members of their family are their son and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Sager, residing on the old homestead.

Mr. Sager possessed sterling qualities, a strong character, a true friend and a good neighbor.

In active life he was deeply interested in the activities of Mt. Carmel Church and was ever ready and willing to do his full share. It is a blessed and consoling thought that in the midst of sorrow and death we have a friend who has gone before and who will receive us to Himself that where He is there we may be also. On Monday, June 12th, at the hour of two-thirty o'clock an impressive service was held at his late residence in Brighton Township with a large attendance of relatives and sympathizing friends. The Rev. Mr. Harrison, officiating, appropriate music sweetly rendered by members of Mt. Carmel choir. Beautiful floral tributes paid silent homage to the loved memory.

The funeral cortege proceeded to Albury Cemetery, where the body was interred in its last resting place in the family plot.

DR. LEE LAIRD

(Detroit, Mich.)

Friends of the Laird's, former residents of Foxboro and Belleville will regret to learn, that their youngest son, Dr. Lee Laird, died suddenly on Saturday last at his home 226 Eason Avenue, Detroit, Mich. Surviving are his mother, Mrs. John M. Laird, who lived with him, his wife and two daughters Peggy and Jean and to whom are extended the heartfelt sympathy of their old friends and neighbors of this community. Death was due to a blood clot in the heart.

The Manner in Which Tourist Dollar is Spent Gets Demonstration

A tourist whose car, bearing Ohio licence plates stood just outside the door at the Front street curb, completed his purchases at a lower grocery store this morning and confided to the shop-keeper.

"This is about twenty dollars worth of stuff I've bought in this city since last evening and this morning. Before I leave this afternoon for the north I will spend at least thirty dollars in articles, food and light clothing, fishing tackle and so on."

The tourist who did not leave his name stated he and his family of three were journeying back to Marmora district and Crowe Lake for a two weeks' holiday.

Following up the matter of spending on the part of tourists in Belleville and district, figures of the Chamber of Commerce reveal that the 'tourist dollar' is split in many ways. To the stores go twenty-five per cent, restaurants twenty-two per cent, hotels and camps, 17 per cent, theatres nine per cent, and the remainder is spent in sporting goods stores and other accessory buying, which includes the upkeep of the family car. These figures are taken from the estimate of the Tourist Bureau of the Province.

Belleville, annually, it is shown, can be depended upon to secure a large part of this money which annually is left behind by the invading army of visitors.

Police Blotter

Bennie Wasmund, Bancroft, was remanded to the county jail recently on a charge of setting fire to a tract of woodland, the property of Charles Marquardt near Bancroft. Wasmund was denied bail and will appear in County police court this week on the charge of setting forest fires. The charge was preferred following an extensive investigation by the Fire Marshal's Department in conjunction with the Provincial Police.

Chief Bain of Trenton reported the theft of a C.C.M. bicycle from that town last night. The stolen bike was equipped with a black rear carrier.

A thirteen-year-old Belleville girl who ran away from her home late Sunday night, was found by police in the vicinity of the transient jungle late last night. The lass was returned to her anxious parents apparently none the worse for her experience.

Fifteen transients sought shelter at the police station last night, a marked increase from the number of transients to appear nightly of a recent date.

Council at Special Meeting Sets Tax Rate for Current Year At 45½ Mills; By-Laws Passed

Ald. McLean Haig, Chairman of Executive, Gives Review of Financial Situation

LITTLE DISCUSSION

Members Decide to Purchase New Gasoline Roller for City Use

A tax rate of 45½ mills for the current year was set by the Belleville City Council at a special meeting held in the Council Chamber on Monday evening. Practically all the business of the session was done on Thursday night when the committee meeting was held and last evening, it was simply a matter of reading the by-laws putting into effect the rates accepted by the committee. Those present at the meeting were Mayor Bone, Aldermen McLean Haig, Glen Thompson, Harry Rollins, Eddie Hogan, A. M. Kennedy, Ormonde Butler, William Harvey and Thomas Cushing with Ald. Haig in the chair in the committee of the whole and for by-laws.

The by-laws to set the rate for the collection of taxes for school purposes were passed with Mayor Bone Aldermen Thompson and Rollins opposing on the grounds, that the Board of Education should be asked to collect their own taxes as allowed by law. Mayor Bone in summing up the year's work paid a compliment to the city officials for their constant attention to duty and also read an open letter on Education and his views with respect to the controversy respecting the building of an addition to Queen Mary School. This letter will be found in another column of this issue.

Endorsed Resolution

The council unanimously endorsed the resolutions recently passed by other municipalities respecting the Bata Shoe Company "That the workmen of the Bata Shoe Company be allowed to enter into Canada from Czecho-Slovakia for the purpose of being employed with this company." Letter of this endorsation will be sent to the Rt. Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King and Hon. T. A. Crerar, Minister of Mines and Resources and also to the local member, Charles A. Cameron, K.C., M.P., for South Hastings.

It was also decided to purchase a five-ton gasoline roller at a cost of $2644.00, the same to be delivered in Belleville with all costs and charges paid from the Mussens Ltd. Subject to the approval of City Engineer after inspection. Under the heading of motions, Ald. A. M. Kennedy asked that the City Engineer and Frank Sparks be allowed to go to Toronto to inspect this machine and if satisfied with capabilities to accept delivery. This motion was passed.

The council also decided to repair the roller now in possession of the city at a cost of $584.85. The Fruit Machinery Company was given the contract for this work. Under by-laws the council approved the transfer of city property to P. C. McGuire and C. H. Sweetman and also approved agreements between Herbert Collins for the painting of the City Hall and Howe and Hagerman for the placing of eavetroughs on the same building. This work was approved at a previous meeting of the council.

By-Laws Passed

By-laws to fix the estimated receipts and expenditures for the current year, to levy for the collection of taxes for Public Schools, Collegiate Institute and Vocational School, Separate School, for the City's share of Local Improvements, for Unemployment Relief and for Local Improvement and Unemployment Relief were passed through the various stages and today the city officials are busy preparing the tax rolls for this year with the first payment of taxes due on August 4th.

Alderman McLean Haig, Chairman of the Executive, at the special meeting of the City Council on Monday evening, delivered a statement on the financial situation of the City of Belleville in introducing the by-law fixing the receipts and expenditures for the coming year. The statement is most concise and is given herewith.

Before presenting the by-law to adopt the estimated receipts and expenditures of the Corporation of the City of Belleville for the year 1939, I would briefly like to make a few observations.

During times of depressions particularly there is always a tendency to criticise public bodies for extravagance forgetting that it is the function of all governments including those of municipalities to provide their citizens with essential services which as individuals they cannot provide for themselves. Municipal councils provide police and fire protection, health and sanitation services, educational facilities, hospitalisation and social welfare attention for those unable to look after themselves, a share of the cost of relief and so on. Taxes are collected for the maintenance of these services. Therefore when we got out tax bills let us remember that it is a bill for services rendered and facilities provided which we all enjoy and upon which our very existence and standard of living depends.

Statements Erroneous.

Many statements are continually being made that this service or that service is entirely responsible for the excessive tax rate in Belleville. Such statements are entirely erroneous. An examination of the expenditures for 1939 which I am going to ask you to adopt tonight, and particularly the amounts set aside for debenture charges, will prove this fact. It is not the current cost of relief, not the current cost of education, nor any other single factor which makes our tax rate what it is. The major contributing factor to the high tax situation confronting the City of Belleville is the cost of a continual procession of major capital expenditures involving the issuance of debentures on a large scale during the last twenty years—particularly during the years from 1920-1930—resulting in the creation of a staggering municipal debt.

At the end of 1920 our total gross debenture debt was $1,347,965.00 At the end of 1938 our total gross debenture debt was $2,791,658.00 which represents an increase of $1,443,692.00, or over 200 per cent. This is the case in spite of the fact that municipal indebtedness in Canada as a whole has shown very little increase since 1920, and also in spite of the fact that Belleville's population in 1920 was 12,240 and in 1938 was 14,589 showing an increase of less than 20 per cent.

Table Prepared.

I have prepared a table showing the amount of debentures issued annually for various purposes for the years since 1920, which illustrates how this tremendous increase of debt has been suddenly imposed upon the taxpayers of this city requiring a corresponding increase in the annual costs to pay the debenture charges. The following amounts of debentures were issued in each of the years indicated.

1922	661,413.53
1923	171,329.24
1924	267,352.43
1925	187,071.75
1926	163,376.81
1927	87,390.14
1928	550,294.84
1929	40,418.16
1930	394,172.54
1931	316,547.22
1932	113,162.35
1933	126,193.12
1934	51,500.00
1936	22,900.00
	$ 3,458,586.25

It is not my intention to discuss the merits or demerits of the by-laws creating any of these debentures. I only wish to illustrate the fact that debt has been created in Belleville considerably more rapidly than it has been retired or could be absorbed by normal taxation.

High Per Capita Debt.

Let us look at the matter in another way. In the last available annual report of the Department of Municipal Affairs which is for the year 1937 Municipalities are classified and compared according to population. Belleville finds itself in Class "E"—being places with populations ranging from 10,000 to 20,000. Debt is there shown on a per capita basis. Belleville's debt per capita was at that time over $200—much greater than any other Ontario city of comparable size. The following table shows how unfavorably Belleville compares on this basis:

Niagara Falls	$131.63
Sarnia	87.95
Stratford	147.90
St. Thomas	63.03
Chatham	35.70
BELLEVILLE	200.08
Galt	153.05
Owen Sound	119.09
Woodstock	70.04
Welland	150.47

This also proves that Belleville's debt, in comparison with other Ontario cities of similar size, is excessive and out of all proportion to our population.

In my humble opinion these figures demonstrate conclusively the principal cause of what may be termed our excessive tax rate.

Turns to Future.

Now let us turn to the future—and we hope the more encouraging and optimistic side of the picture. Councils of recent years have refrained from issuing debentures for anything but essential services and then only for very small amounts. The above table proves this fact and I am glad to say that policy has been followed by the present council. Assuming that no debentures are issued the following table shows the debt reduction which will take place for each of several years. The table also shows taxable debt charges which excludes those on debts of a revenue producing nature such as those of the water and gas departments. I intended to translate the reduction in annual debt charges into mills but owing to the fact that they include some property owner's share of local improvements the result would not be entirely accurate.

Year	Debt Reduction	Taxable Debt Charges
1939	$ 94,531.03	$241,010.00
1940	220,973.92	233,430.00
1941	487,627.11	192,772.00
1942	367,725.96	164,858.00
1943	159,832.20	157,272.00
1944	102,650.32	143,892.00
1945	101,917.29	131,027.00
1946	120,075.25	122,677.00
1947	82,676.98	117,797.00

It is apparent from these figures that if there are no further debentures issued before 1947 there would be $123,213.00 less required then for debt services than is required this year. While we all realise some capital expenditure is necessary from time to time, yet the policy of succeeding councils should continue to be one pledged against any unnecessary expenditure until Belleville's debt is reduced to a size in keeping with our population and assessment. Our tax rate is too high because our debt is too high and the obvious way to reduce our rate is to continue to keep our current expenditures within reasonable bounds and to see to it that the present debt is retired at maturity and no unnecessary debt created.

I intended discussing some features of our financial administration which I believe could be and should be improved. For instance I would favor a change being made in the tax instalment dates and that instead of two dates as we have at present, it would be advantageous to have three or even four payment dates. I believe too, that these estimated receipts and expenditures which are being presented tonight should be brought into council in the year so that budgets for spending departments could be established earlier. But time does not permit a discussion of these and other pertinent matters and I shall have to leave them to another time.

Interest Rate High.

I should like to take a minute to mention the interest rate which we are paying at present on our current borrowings. I have read with complete accord the recent remarks of Hon. Eric Cross, Minister of Municipal Affairs, in regard to this matter. The City of Belleville is paying 4½ per cent on its bank borrowings. This rate is too high. If we were to issue debentures on a ten or twenty year basis in the present money market it is unlikely that the net cost to the city would be much over 3 per cent. If we could seek accommodation in a competitive short term money market it is all together likely that we could obtain short term loans for 2 per cent of 2½ per cent. It seems outrageous therefore that we should be victims of a banking combine demanding 4½ per cent. Our credit rating warrants a rate of at least 3½ per cent which would effect a saving to the city annually of about $1800.00 and I suggest that steps be taken to see if this cannot be accomplished.

You will notice that the receipts and expenditures are being introduced this year in a different form to what has been the custom in the past. They have been simplified in form to show under expenditures the total cost of the various major services including maintenance and debenture charges. Under receipts is shown the assessment liable for each of the principal costs, the levy in mills for each and the amount which it is estimated will be produced by such levy. There is attached a detailed summary of current receipts and expenditures and a detail of the estimated expenditures for the public works department.

I am not going to take the time to examine the current receipts and expenditures in detail. Some have been increased and some have been decreased in comparison with last year. In the case of receipts only a conservative estimate has been made of potential revenue and in the case of expenditures appropriations have only been made after most prudent scrutiny.

Receipts Lower.

The ordinary receipts from all sources other than taxes will be about $4600.00 lower than in 1938. The decrease is explained largely by the fact that the surplus carried over from 1938 was $5008.46 while that carried over from 1937 was $10,704.26. In addition to this the estimated amount to be received from the Public Utilities Commission will be lower by about $2000.00 because of less favorable operations in the Gas Department. These reductions will be partially offset however, by an increase in our provincial subsidy from 1 mill to 1½ mills, or about $5000.00.

The requisition of the Board of Education is approximately the same as that for last year. The very slight increase is more than explained by the necessity of replacing the roof on the Collegiate.

Current expenditures are lower than those estimated for 1938 by about $8,500.00. The increase in the Public Works appropriation is almost entirely accounted for because of the abnormal amount of snow fall, which we had this year and the efficient manner with which it was handled. The increase in the estimated expenditure for Market and City Property is because of the necessity of replacing the roof troughs on the City Hall and painting the wood trim on the same building for the first time in 19 years.

Audit Being Held.

The re-assessment is practically completed and the appropriation for this of $3,500.00 will finish the work. An outside audit was authorized by Council this year at a cost not to exceed $1,200.00. The report is not yet available as the audit is not quite completed but it will be tabled in due course and it is hoped that many valuable suggestions will result from the work.

There is an increase of $2,500.00 in the cost of Child Welfare for this year. The cost of this item is an entirely uncontrollable expense because of the municipality's statutory liability for delinquent children but I view with alarm both the increase in the number of such children and the mounting cost of their maintenance.

I cannot conclude without saying a word of thanks to the City Clerk, Mr. Holmes, the Treasurer, Mr. Stock and the Auditor, Mr. Chamberlain. It would be quite impossible for anyone to prepare these receipts and expenditures without the assistance of these officials. I would be very ungrateful if I permitted their hearty co-operation to pass unnoticed.

It affords me very great pleasure to present these estimates which fix the rate for 1939 at 45.5 mills for both public and separate school supporters. This results in a reduction of 1 mill below the rate of 46.5 mills imposed last year and may we hope that this trend will continue until our rate will compare more favorably rather than less favorably with other comparable municipalities.

Expresses U. S. Concern

Deppest entanglements of United States in foreign affairs are in the far east, where Washington keeps a vigilant eye on all that goes on. Following the recent Japanese blockade of the British and French sections of Tientsin, Eugene H. Dooman, ABOVE, counsellor of the U.S. embassy at Tokyo and acting charge d'affairs, advised the Japanese foreign office of his country's "deep concern" over Japan's most recent actions in the northern Chinese city.

HISTORIC VISIT

There will be an inevitable element of formality in the reception. But throngs of shouting subjects in Southampton and London, and intervening points, are going to supply a most noisy and heartfelt welcome.

State Drives Arranged

State drives on two successive days will give London's millions a chance to let off steam and show the King and Queen how glad they are to see them home.

The first will be a drive Thursday evening from Waterloo Station to Buckingham Palace over Westminster Bridge, beneath the shadow of Big Ben and through Whitehall, Trafalgar Square and the stately Mall. The second will be Friday when the King and Queen drive to the Guildhall for the City's formal greeting and lunch with the Lord Mayor.

Canadian veterans will be among those acclaiming Their Majesties as they make the first drive. Blue berets with maple leaf badges, red armbands marked "Canada" and medals will call the attention of onlookers to the spot where 100 members of the English branch, Canadian Legion, will stand on the Mall to watch the King and Queen drive by.

Streets Decorated

Decoration of streets for Thursday's procession will be left to the people along the route. That is in keeping with the idea it is the people themselves who are welcoming the royal travellers home, rather than any civic body.

Both Houses of Parliament will suspend sittings for half an hour to enable members to greet the King and Queen. An address of welcome will be moved in both Houses on the same day, following a precedent set when the royal trip began.

The King already has approved publication in book form by the King George V Jubilee Trust of Their Majesties' broadcasts and speeches during the royal tour.

Receipts and Expenditures

A by-law to adopt the estimated receipts and expenditures of the Corporation of the City of Belleville for the year A.D. 1939.

The Municipal Council of the City of Belleville ENACTS as follows: THAT the following estimated receipts and expenditures for the year A.D. 1939 be adopted.

—Letters to the Editor—

Belleville, June 19th, 1939

To the Editor,
Ontario Intelligencer,
Belleville, Ontario,

Dear Sir:

From your issue of the 17th inst., I gather that the Board of Education had a regular Field Day last Friday evening. Apparently I and my Council were on trial, in true educationist fashion, evidence of the accusers only, being allowed. All sorts of reckless statements, accusations and epithets were indulged in, and everyone had a good time. I hope they all got safely home afterwards. I like to see the Board of Education have fun, because all of them will be, and some of them have been, a long time dead.

Their chief complaint apparently was that the Council voted themselves very modest salaries. So far as I have heard, most people think the Aldermen should be paid for their services, but some think they should not have put this through by their own vote. This matter has been discussed by various councils for years, and as far as I can see, there is no other way it can be done. Citizens who can well afford to offer themselves for public service, refuse to do so. Perhaps with a salary attached, there will be more competition. The Mayor of course has always received an "honorarium" and it would ill become him to object to the Aldermen receiving some small remuneration. As for the talk that this will in 20 years amount to more than the cost of the school. I might say that the High School Teachers' salaries in 20 years would probably run into several million dollars. Furthermore the Board of Education takes roughly one third of all city budgets. Our total levy is about $600,000 annually, and they take $200,000 of it. This is a colossal sum of money and is bankrupting the country and the taxpayer. It is primarily responsible for the complete stoppage of all progress in Canada. We cannot equip our fire brigade, repair streets, paint the city hall, grant any increases to city officials' miserable salaries, or do anything at all. Nothing can be done except hand out money to the Board of Education and the High School Teachers' Federation and they never have made the slightest attempt at economy. Too bad we should take $3900 for council, instead of handing it and everything else we collect, to the spendthrift Board of Education with their frills and fallacies. Most councils elsewhere are paid, I understand, including the Township of Thurlow. I notice in Toronto for example, that the Mayor receives $11,500 per annum, the Board of Control $5,000 each and the Aldermen appear to get $1200 each. Besides this their budget shows about $25,000 for other incidentals of council.

Since I have been Mayor the council has put in a lot of hard work and long hours, and to some purpose. Not so the Board of Education, who never express an original idea so far as I am aware. They meekly submit to the dictates of the Ontario Dept. of Education, and the iniquitous Federation of High School Teachers, who are entirely to blame for the confiscation by taxation of the homes of the poor, in this and all other cities. Not 1 per cent of these poor people who pay taxes, have, or ever will receive, salaries like they are forced to pay to the High School Teachers. Canada has gone crazy on education amongst other things, and is now a backward and almost insolvent nation in consequence — and there are no jobs for anybody, old or young, no matter how much education they have had at the Property Owners' expense.

The Board of Education members are just rubber stamps like Members of Parliament. No brains required. In fact the less brains the better, then one does not have to "sit and think". One can just "sit."

I certainly enjoyed the part about none of them deigning to accept any remuneration for his services. A noble Band of Hope indeed! Just give them the chance.

Dr. Kinnear and Mr. Hyde were quoted at some length, but I really cannot take time and space to reply to them in kind. I have had occasion to reply to the Doctor before, and have had to talk to Mr. Hyde now and then too.

Dr. Kinnear claims that he bought the Bay Bridge and nearly everything else in the city including the Filtration Plant and the Collegiate. No wonder our taxes are high! However, I have before me a copy of the Daily Ontario of Oct. 6th, 1920, with news of the acquisition of the Bay Bridge. I see my own name mentioned at some length in the dealings and I was Chairman of Finance that year, but no mention at all of Dr. Kinnear. Perhaps he was a silent partner somewhere, but I do not believe he had anything whatever to do with it—or anything else. He certainly was not an alderman then.

I am glad to note that the Board of Education "has some brains too." That is news indeed; and may I ask why they don't use them?

Council has refused to sanction the addition to Queen Mary School because there are 155 less children attending school now than four years ago. My figures are from the school inspector's report (his letter of May 13th, 1939) and are not inaccurate, as Mr. Hyde states. Also there is ample accommodation at King George School, and before I get through, there will be further accommodation at the Collegiate, I hope.

Council also refuses to supply further monies for education until the burden of taxation and particularly that of education is placed elsewhere than on real estate, or cut out entirely.

Canada needs a major operation before we can have any return to prosperity, and it is going to get one, if I have anything to do with it. The tax rate here, has been reduced from 50 mills to 45 1-2 mills in 18 months, and the Board of Education are not going to push it up again. So far as I am personally concerned, I will refuse to give them any money at all. They can collect their own taxes, and the citizen will know where his hard earned money is going. Our whole educational set up is a ridiculous and an outrageous farce, and all boards of education who simply o.k. all the accounts that the government tells them to pay, are just wooden men. It may take another five years though, before they see the point.

Yours very truly,
J. Bone, Mayor.

FRETFUL CHILDREN

There's something physically wrong when children aren't their sunny, happy selves. So when your child is fretful, restless and sleepless at night it may be due to the ravages of worms. And here's a splendid way to relieve this condition. Give your child Miller's Worm Powders. See how these safe, pleasant-tasting powders relieve and how they benefit the system and promote normal health, happiness and comfort.

RULERS WILL SOON BE AT HOME

On the broad Atlantic speeding through fine June weather, Their Majesties have covered on the royal yacht the Empress of Britain more than half of their way home. Two days hence, on Thursday, they will land to the cheers of millions of Britons and to the thanksgiving of Canadians and other Britishers.

At this moment Canadian interest shifts to the other side, the Homeland side of the great ocean which is bearing the visiting Monarch and his Consort to their British home. They are followed by the thoughts of Canadians who will ever linger in the impressions which this noble couple left on every heart in Canada, and the prayers of Britons on the other side of the ocean will herald them to Buckingham Palace.

As Canada was athrill for more than a month, athrill even before the Sovereigns landed in Canada, and was even more thrilled as her people saw and met the King and Queen, so are the people of the Old Land, the home and hearth of democracy, athrill to have their Rulers back again. They have known their King and Queen and have seen them, and we in Canada can say the same, now that millions have seen those in whose hands rest the orb and sceptre. Canadians will have as much feeling in the welcome which Britishers will give as if it was another landing of the happy Monarchs in Canada.

Canadians understand what the visit to Canada and the United States and Newfoundland has meant, separation from their circle of friends, from the British people and from their own family. That was a sacrifice made for the sake of Canada and Canadians will hope that the Sovereigns have been repaid in some way by the reception the royal couple received in the Western World. All the while the royal parents were in Canada, Canadians were thinking, as the rulers were thinking, of the little princesses in the Palace who must have missed their father and mother greatly. They know they will have the compensation of reunion on the return of their parents, healthy and happy and with stories to tell their daughters of what the children in Canada are like and how they play, they will see many a picture taken by the royal father and doubtless wll receive mementoes of the six weeks and five days their parents have been away on a great imperial mission and tour of friendship.

Doubtless the princesses have heard what their royal father said last Thursday in a broadcast, that the Queen and he hoped, accompanied by their daughters, to visit Canada some day. To that day Canadians look forward with deep interest even if the next holiday or visit will be more in the nature of a holiday with less formality.

INSPIRATION TO CANADA

What the King and the Queen have done for Canada in inspiring the spirit of the people is beyond expression. They have done so much for Canada, in placing the proper emphasis t,hat their influence will stay in this happy land.

His Majesty held Canada and the United States before the world as an example of peace. Only a King could do this as King George did it. The world cannot but listen to him. Here he made North Americans feel proud as he sought to impress upon Europe the advantages of peace and cooperation.

The Queen's sympathetic temperament has warmed Canadian hearts to a degree surprising even to Canadians. She touched upon the amenities of life as she spoke and one could see all her tour as a representation of that speech.

The King and the Queen have found Canadians whom Canadians did not know. They have shown the groups in Canada that co-operation is essential. They have taught Canadians history and geography, and those noble refinements which they have revealed so abundantly.

THE PRESS

When the Toronto city council last week passed a resolution of compliment to the newspapers for the coverage on the royal visit, it was a compliment the newspapers well deserved. The entire press of Canada served a fine purpose and the purpose the people wanted them to serve in carrying news of the royal guests of the Dominion. In those tour days, the people could not do without the newspapers of every city, town and village, for the newspapers of Canada were the representatives of the people, the news-gatherers and collectors. The smallest of village newspapers did their part well as did those of the towns and cities. The Canadian spirit breathed through them.

KITE WIND

The man who pursues his hat today, or tucks it under his arm, is pulled by a long, long cord that tugs and arches away and is lost a half mile high over his father's farm.
Over the ridges there the long blond grass is whipped streaming over the edge of a world blown clean of all but a running boy with a kite string tightly gripped.
He is leaning hard on space, hard on the mad March air, his hand flung out and up to the sky and the space between as though it would throw the kite on the wind and hang it there.
Today the man running after his hat loses more than his breath in doing that;
and he who tucks his under his arm has good reason for his alarm.

Louis Stoddard, in New York Times.

EVER SINCE MARK TWAIN TOLD THE HILARIOUS STORY of the jumping frog of Calveras County there have been frequent eruptions in the Great West of imitations of the great Mark Twain Frog Derby with careful inspection to make sure that the favorite was not unduly handicapped by carrying over weight. The latest screwy Derby is reported from Coalinga, California, which has announced the 7th Annual Running of the California Horned Toad Derby at that place on June 24th. An Associated Press despatch gives the following particulars:

Dozens of strange little lizards, warted remnants of a prehistoric age, are working out under the watchful eyes of their trainers on the nearby desert in preparation for the 7th annual running of the California Horned Toad Derby here June 24.

Out of town entrants are arriving daily by mail and express from distant points. Mexico and states in the southwest and east are represented in the derby stables. Most feared toad of all is Treasure Island, four ounces of greased lightning entered by the Golden Gate International Exposition and the defending champion.

Rivalry is growing keen, and bets totalling hundreds of dollars are being laid on toads' performances. On the evening of the derby, streets of this oil town will be jammed with thousands of persons as excited as if they were at Churchill Downs.

The scene of the derby will be a 16-foot ring on a wooden platform erected in Coalinga's main street. Toads are placed under a tub in the centre of the ring. At a signal, the tub is raised and they start rambling. The first across the line is the winner.

A dozen heats or more are run prior to the big race to eliminate all but the fastest toads.

Legend has it that the derby was instigated by two inebriated oil riggers, each of whom had a friendly little horned toad as a pet. After an evening of bragging about the relative speeds of their two pets, the oilmen agreed to match them the following week for a $500 stake.

The news spread and the whole community was present for the race.

They never did find out which of the toads was fastest, for one mistook a bumble bee for a fly and didn't live to cross the finish line. The idea caught on, though.

TALK ABOUT ENGLISHMEN capturing the favor of Americans—this incident happened at Billy Rose's "Aquacade" show at the Fair, as reported by Walter Winchell in New York Mirror......The Commander and crew of a British warship attended a performance one night and the producer put them all down front in the "press boxes"....The finale brings on all the girls, many of whom climb high steps, and when the final note is sounded there is spread a giant-sized American Flag....At this, the entire British crew stood up, right hands to their temples in salute....The orchestra leader, however, used great presence of mind....He had his orchestra strike up "God Save the King"....And then the entire audience, almost 11,000 persons, stood up and returned the compliment.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Pain in Hinge Joint Between Upper and Lower Jaws

I believe it would be of help to patients and physicians if medical students were given more instruction on the "mechanics" of the body When the second and third years of the medical course has been completed, the student has learned about the bones, joints, ligaments, muscles, and nerves. He then turns to the chemistry of the body's fluids to the condition of the organs in disease (pathology) and other interesting subjects, and is likely to forget much about the bony and muscle structure of the body. This of course, is not the case with orthopedic, dental or osteopathic physicians.

A very common ailment is pain in the joint—just under the ear—between the upper and lower jaw. This is known as a "hinge" joint, the lower jaw only, moving up and down.

This pain has usually been thought to be due to some infection from teeth, tonsils, or sinus, or to a disturbance of branches of the trifacial or fifth nerve. A very interesting cause for the pain in this joint is described by Dr. C. A. Resch in the Cleveland Clinical Quarterly after a survey of the histories of 854 patients. There were 725 (84 per cent) showed a definite loss of chewing ability with loss of one or more of the back teeth which had not been replaced.

Patients without any teeth complain more of ear symptoms, while those with pain usually have missing teeth on one side only, loss of meeting of upper and lower teeth.

Dr. Resch then describes the various mechanical methods and their difficulties of reconstructing the teeth and mouth to prevent strain on the hinge joint between upper and lower jaw. There is the tipping teeth, the condition of the pulp (nerve and vessels), the time required, the cost to the patients and other details all of which must be considered when a patient with this pain consults his dentist. The time consumer, the effort and the mechanical skill of the dentist must be compensated. Successful treatment of such cases is a long and expensive procedure. The patient must return frequently for rechecks, adjustments and repairs. On the part of the patient it requires complete co-operation and infinite patience.

However, if, after all the discomfort, time, and money expended, the pain has been relieved, it has certainly been worth while.

LETTERS RECEIVED

Source Not Disclosed

The source of threatening letters was not disclosed officially, but Chinese and foreigners alike were certain they were dispatched by the Japanese military after a census of families of Chinese employees of the concession who were living outside its boundaries.

The British concession was called a "branch office" of the Chinese government of General Chiang Kai-Shek in a Japanese army spokesman's statement. The spokesman warned other governments to refrain from aiding Great Britain in any economic reprisals.

No Casualties

No casualties had resulted from electrification of the barrier about the concessions. There were, however, unconfirmed reports of Chinese food vendors being shot or bayonetted by Japanese guards for attempting to smuggle in provisions to the concessions, whose supplies were growing shorter hourly.

Traffic was quiet. Virtually no foreigners attempted to negotiate the barricades. Few Chinese were moving either way.

The Japanese Consul General in Tientsin was quoted in Japanese-controlled newspapers today as having told British officials that any discrimination by Japanese against Britons at the concession barriers was merely due to the "natural emotion of Japanese guards."

Protests Rejected

He was said to have made the statement in rejecting British protests against treatment of British nationals, two of whom were forced to strip off their clothing and were subjected to other mistreatment.

The Consul said Japanese were exercising "considerable patience" and rejected an appeal for relaxing of regulations governing the entry of foodstuffs.

In his statement on possible foreign cooperation with Britain, the Japanese army spokesman said: "If British propaganda is successful in bringing widespread economic reprisals against the Japanese, then Japanese military authorities would consider that such action automatically released them from the obligation to protect foreign rights in China."

ITALY'S SPANISH LEGIONS WELCOMED HOME

Many and varied were the scenes in Italian ports as Mussolini's legionnaires returned "victorious" from Spain. Despite the non-intervention agreements supposedly in operation during the Spanish civil war, celebrations have been common throughout both Italy and Germany since Franco's victory, as the two dictatorships welcomed back their soldiers. TOP LEFT shows a scene in the audience chamber of the Vatican as Pope Pius XII received a delegation of 3,200 who had fought in Spain. An officer is kissing the papal ring, while his comrades wait in line to be presented. TOP RIGHT took place at Nuroro, as Crown Prince Umberto and his wife, the former Princess Marie Jose, of Belgium paid honor to those who had fallen in Spain. MUSICAL FESTIVAL MUCH ENJOYED

Held at Queen Alexandra School Under Direction of George N. Maybee

First of a series of four music festivals for the public schools was held yesterday at Queen Alexandra School under the direction of Mr. George Maybee, director of music, with Mr. John Deacon as adjudicator. Some excellent solo and chorus work was brought out by the interesting program and those taking part maintained such a high standard of performance that the adjudicator was confronted with a difficult problem in selecting the winners in the solo contests.

A large number of parents and friends attended, and the festival gave a better understanding of the musical education received by the pupils of the public school grades. The progress made in solo and choral singing indicated the careful and consistent training by Mr. Maybee and the remarkable accomplishments of the children yesterday showed the great success which has crowned his efforts.

Appreciation by Principal

The appreciation of the pupils and staff for the fine musical festival was expressed by Mr. W. G. Anderson, principal of the school who referred to Mr. Maybee's outstanding work as director of musical studies. Mr. Maybee thanked those present for their attendance as their interest was a source of encouragement to the children and to the instructor. Mr. Deacon in presenting the prize winners said that his task had been most difficult. The large number of those participating showed a real interest in music. The festival had revealed much talent and the adjudicator expressed the hope that all would continue to study and develop their voices.

The solo winners were:

1. Boys under 8 years—1.—Gerald Garrison; 2.—Brock Stackhouse; 3. David Bews.

2. Girls under 8 years—1. Elspeth Wishart; 2.—Elaine Boyle.

3. Boys 9 to 10 years—1. Dick Stackhouse; 2.—Jack Campbell; 3.—Donald Muir.

4. Girls 9 to 10 years—1.—Phillis Dempsey; 2.—Marna Cathcart; 3.—Dorothy Gerow.

5. Boys 11 to 12 years—1.—Donald Beavis; 2.—Billie Bankier.

6. Girls 11 to 12 years—1.—Ethel Smith; 2.—Shirley Smith; 3.—Betty Domosley.

7. Boys over 12 years—1.—Hugh Simpson; 2.—Bobby Dickens.

8. Girls over 12 years—1.—Dorcas Bird; 2.—Barbara Bews.

The following choruses were sung, adding to the interest in the program:—

"Butterflies" — Miss Houston's class.

"Lords and Ladies"—Miss Lockhart's class.

"Caterpillar" — Miss Clemence's class.

"Swinging"—Miss Potter's class.

"Cradle Song"—Miss Lashbrook's class.

"Tirra Lirra"—Miss McGuire's class.

"The Mermaid"—Miss Young's class.

"The Wind"—Miss McPherson's class.

"Old Folks at Home"—Mr. Mott's class.

"The Old Woman—The Peddler"—Miss Cunningham's class.

"Men of Harlech"—Mr. Wallace's class.

"The Minstrel Boy"—Mr. Anderson's class.

German Hymn—School Choir.

JAPANESE PLACE

What was believed to be a preliminary discussion regarding terms for settling the controversy was conducted by Sir Robert Craigie, the British mbassador, and the Japanese Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita.

Japanese authorities indicated afterward that the British Envoy sought a settlement on the basis of the immediate Tientsin issue—Britain's refusal to give up unconditionally four Tientsin Chinese accused by Japanese of terrorism — without approaching any broader principles that might be applied later to the international zones in Shanghai and other cities.

Would Not Accept Arbitration

Doubt was expressed that Japan would accept a localized formula for arbitration because of the apparent determination of the Japanese military in North China to extend the entire question of Chinese foreign concessions which, it has often been reported, Japan wants to abolish or dominate.

It was announced that Arita told the British Ambassador he would "consider" the views set forth by Sir Robert, who also reported on the alleged indignities to Britons in Tientsin. The Foreign Minister promised an investigation.

The statement in Washington by State Secretary Cordell Hull of concern with the "broader aspects" of the crisis failed to arouse comment in newspapers, but official Japanese circles seemed convinced that the United States would remain outside the controversy unless asked by both sides to arbitrate.

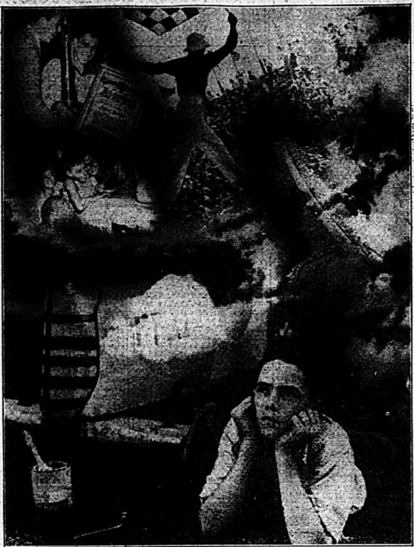
Britons Forced to Strip

Official British reports from Tientsin said three Britons were forced to strip in the presence of hundreds of persons awaiting inspection when they sought to pass Japanese barricades in entering the British concession.

The reports said that the three were subjected to indignities while standing nude before the throng. One of them was found to possess canned food, which was opened by the inspectors. A Chinese policeman conducting the examination under the supervision of Japanese soldiers treated a British woman roughly, the reports added, and murmured obscene remarks until she became hysterical.

(In London it was said that Japan had been asked to clarify demands made by Japanese military spokesmen in Tientsin that Britain cooperate with Japan in establishing a "new order" in Asia.)

Derby Dreams



When Kinsmen Soap Box Derby time rolls around, a boy's head is filled with exciting visions—visions of the checkered flag, of a mother's pride in her champion-son, of a tall silver trphy and a four-year college scholarship, of Derby Downs in Akron, O., and of the cheering crowds . . . these are what boys' dreams are made of, when Derby time rolls around and All-Canadian boys enter the race for an All-Canadian championship.

Pastor and Family Honored Before Leaving Madoc

Madoc—On Thursday evening the members of Trinity United W. A. met at the home of Mrs. Wareham Harris to spend a pleasant social time with Mrs. I. E. Kennedy. During the evening Miss Wood read an address and Mrs. W. McBain presented Mrs. Kennedy with a gift as a momento of her stay in Madoc and with best wishes for her in her new home at Claremont.

On Friday evening the Young People of Trinity United gathered at the home of Misses E. McDermid and Garrett and presented Rev. Mr. Kennedy, Mrs. Kennedy and Reg Kennedy with a gift. Gordon Moon, in an impromptu speech, spoke of the leadership and work of the pastor and family in the Young People's work, Miss Rita Smith making the presentation. The remainder of the evening was spent in games and contests and pleasant social time was enjoyed. On Sunday morning at the Sunday School hour, Mr. Kennedy and Miss Garrett were presented with gifts from the Sunday School as a token of appreciation of the work in the Sunday School. Mr. Percy Holland, superintendent and Mrs. Frank Phillips making the presentations The addresses were as follows:—

Mr. Kennedy, Mr. Holland, Teachers and Pupils:—

During the recent visit of the King and Queen to our country, we have heard many addresses, some of welcome and some of farewell. An address of welcome may be sincere but meaningless in the sense that we cannot see what lies ahead, but an address of farewell, even though it may be made with regret, is filled with meaning because we can look in retrospect and see the history of the time of which we speak; and base our words on the experiences of the past which are ours.

So now to you, Mr. Kennedy, the Sunday School regretfully address its words of farewell. You have been with us four years. And as we look back over that period we see how we have learned to depend on you and look to you for leadership. You have helped us in many ways. We know the work of the Sunday School is of the greatest importance to you. You have proved that to us by your unfailing interest, by your constant attendance, by your work with your own Sunday school class. We are reminded of your leadership and assistance in the various outside activities of the S. S., the annual concert, the picnic, the special services, all the things in which Sunday School is interested. And more than that we know your prayers have followed us as the Sunday School has week by week pursued its appointed work in learning the truths of God which are the precious heritage of children young and old the world over.

We would like very much to have you accept this chair as a gift from Trinity Sunday School. We trust you may enjoy using it and that its presence in your home may sometimes remind you of your friends in Trinity Sunday School whose best wishes follow you as you go from us. May God prosper your work and care for you and yours.

(Signed) P. E. Holland
Supt.

Dear Miss Garrett:—

The officers, teachers and school have learned with regret that you are leaving. During the years you have been in Madoc we have come to consider you a member of our Sunday School family.

You have faithfully undertaken in this Sunday School any task which has been requested of you and it has always been done with a willing smile. Although we know you must have had many pressing duties concerned with your profession. You had not only the will to help but also the ability. For a number of years you have conscientiously assisted with the Christmas entertainments, which are so dear to the hearts of the scholars in this Sunday School.

Your influence as a teacher and a leader of the girls will be felt for years to come. We thank you for your labor of love among us. We wish to offer you our best wishes. Some community will be gaining a fine worker and a pleasant and winning and personality and for that we are glad. You will have a new field of endeavor and a new profession—we wish you luck.

Words cannot express our appreciation for the work you have done in the years you have been with us. We ask you to accept this gift as a token of our appreciation.

Although your place in our school will be occupied by another you will not be forgotten. We want to wish you joy that lasts much longer than a day and that the Lord be with you and keep you and make his face to shine upon you. Signed on behalf of the Sunday School.

Percy E. Holland.

At the Plymouth Congregational Church, Seattle Wash., by Rev. Dr. L. Wendell Sifield, pastor of the church on Saturday, May 13, Mr. Rawlings Orr Young of Seattle was united in marriage to Miss Dorothy Mabel Nickle, Reg. N. daughter of the late Thos. and Mrs. Nickle of Madoc, Ontario, Canada. The couple were attended by intimate friends, Miss Elizabeth Bowder and Mr. Martin McHugh of San Francisco. Mr. and Mrs. Young will reside at 1258 Eastlake Ave., Seattle, Wash.

Young Women's Branch of W. A.

A pleasant evening was enjoyed by all at the meeting of the Young Women's Branch of the W. A. of St. John's Anglican Madoc at The Rectory, Tweed, the home of the rector, Rev. Mr. Pepper, on Monday evening.

Mrs. Pepper led the devotional period. Miss Jean Nickle read an interesting version of the minutes of the last meeting. After the business period selections from Tony Wong Scrap Book were read by Mrs. Davies. Miss Leal and Miss Williamson sang solos.

A dramatic contest followed which was thoroughly enjoyed by all. Dainty refreshments were served by Mrs. Pepper. Plans were made for a supper meeting to be held at Mrs. Nayler's cottage, Moira Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Jay Ross, College Hill, wish to announce the engagement of their daughter, Edaline, to Mr. Nelson Kiser, son of Mrs. Geo. Garrison and the late John Arthur Kiser, the wedding to take place at the Alliance Tabernacle, July 15th.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Newell, Toronto, are guests of the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Earle, 268 Coleman Street.

Mr. and Mrs. Leonard Hill of Brockville, visited friends in the city on Sunday.

Mr. Don G. Bamber of Toronto, has returned home after spending the past two weeks with relatives in the city.

Mrs. T. Yerrow, Bleecker Ave., has returned to the city after a motor trip to Syracuse.

Miss Muriel Cannon has returned to the city after holidaying at Maynooth.

Mr. and Mrs. T. H. Lynch spent the week-end in Watertown where they were the guest of relatives.

Little Jean Masterton, 3 Myers Street, who underwent a serious operation in Belleville General Hospital two weeks ago is now at

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Reid, St. Petersburg, Fla., are the guests of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Ackerman.

The many friends of Mrs. Clayton Chambers who has been ill for the past six weeks at her home, 97 West Bridge Street, will be pleased to learn that she is slightly better.

Fred Chapman, in charge of the Belleville detachment of Canadian National Railway police, left over the week-end for Montreal, where he sailed for England. Mr. Chapman was granted an extended leave of absence from the C.N.R. to visit the land of his birth and is at present on the high seas.

Mrs. W. Price, Gordon Street, who is sailing for a six weeks' holiday in England, was pleasantly surprised last night by the members of her bridge club who gave her a bon voyage party. She was presented with a streamer rug. A social evening of cards was enjoyed, the prizes being won by Mrs. E. Hinchey and Mrs. T. Jameson, after which a delicious lunch was served.

On Saturday afternoon, Mrs. C. A. Bateman was hostess at a shower of kitchenware gifts in honour of Miss Margaret Craig, a bride-to-be of this month. The gift table was decorated by pink, blue and white streamers while pink peonies and pink and blue lupins formed a background of flowers. The afternoon was spent playing games, the prizes being won by Miss Marian Richardson, Mrs. Delbert Keene and Miss Dorothy Eggleton. Miss Donalda Richardson read a short address following which Miss Craig opened her many beautiful gifts. A dainty lunch was served at the close of the afternoon and all departed wishing Margaret much happiness. Guests were included from Belleville, Stirling, Bonarlaw, Queensboro and Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Brickley and four children of Banes, Oriente, Cuba, have arrived in this vicinity to spend a two months' vacation. The Brickley family sailed from Santiago de Cuba on S. S. PULVER—HUMPHREY

The parsonage at Consecon was the scene of a very pretty wedding on Saturday, June 17th., when Flossie Irene Humphrey, daughter of Mrs. Mary H. Humphrey and the late Earl Humphrey was united in marriage to David Winston Pulver, youngest son of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Pulver of Rednersville.

The bride, who was attractively attired in a pastel blue, embroidered sheer with white accessories was attended by her cousin, Jean McQuarrie of Lindsay. Miss McQuarrie wore a wisteria printed sheer with white accessories. The groom's man was Mr. John Humphrey, brother of the bride.

Following the wedding ceremony the bridal party journeyed to the bride's home, where a very tasty buffet luncheon was served.

The groom's gift to the bride was a chest of silver, and to the bridesmaid a gold bracelet set with amethyst and to the groomsman a gold tie clip and pin.

Amid showers of confetti and good wishes the happy couple left for an extended trip around Lake Ontario via Kingston.

HASLETT—HAMER

Ottawa — Picardy gladioli, and white peonies, with effective bankings of palms and ferns, were used to adorn Southminster United Church at six o'clock on Saturday evening, for the pretty wedding of Miss Jean Hope Hamer, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Stokes Hamer, to Gerald Stewart Haslett, son of Mr. and Mrs. Archibald Haslett of Bonarlaw, Ontario. Rev. Russell McGillivray officiated.

Mr. D. S. Johnston presided at the organ, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Howard L. Trueman sang effectively "Until".

The bride was given in marriage by her father, and attended by Mrs. Herbert E. Morgan, as matron of honor. Mr. Lorne Bateman of Peterboro, was best man. The ushers were Mr. H. Sutherland Mackay, Mr. Herbert E. Morgan and Mr. Frederic H. Hamer, brother of the bride.

The bride's lovely costume was an adaptation of Molyneux, in ivory lace tulle in crinoline style, with tiered skirt of lace, with an off-the-shoulder neckline on the tulle bodice. She wore a dainty finger tip veil, and carried a bouquet of gardenias, and lily-of-the-valley.

The matron of honor wore an attractive gown of turquoise blue designed in Princess style, with silk net inserts. She wore matching lace mittens, and a large picture hat of mohair and net, in the same shade as her gown, trimmed with French flowers and velvet ribbon. Her Colonial bouquet was of Johanna Hill roses.

Mrs. Hamer, mother of the bride, was in a charming model of Lido blue silk chiffon, with matching hat and accessories. She wore a corsage bouquet of pink roses and cornflowers.

Mrs. Haslett, mother of the bridegroom, wore a costume of navy blue chiffon with white accessories and a navy blue and white hat. Her corsage bouquet was of crimson roses and cornflowers.

Following the reception, Mr. and Mrs. Haslett left on a motor trip to the Southern States. The bride travelled in a black and white crepe dress, with smart black wool travelling coat, black hat, and patent leather accessories. They will take up residence in Kitchener, Ontario.

MOIRA W. A.

The June meeting of the Moira W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Nelson Welsh with a splendid attendance of twenty-eight members and visitors. A sumptuous dinner was served by the hostess.

At 2 p.m. the meeting was opened by the president, Mrs. Wallace McInroy with a hymn after which Rev. Mr. Tristram led in prayer. Scripture lesson taken from St. Mark was read by Miss Betty Foster.

The Secretary Mrs. James Vanderwater gave the minutes of the last meeting and also the Roll Call to which members answered with a verse of Scripture. Mrs. Herity read an itemized account of parsonage debts. Another hymn was sung. Readings were given by Mrs Frank Emerson "Elizabeth and Margaret Rose" and by Mrs. Arthur Mumby "A Happiness Maker".

Mr. Tristram gave a very fine farewell talk as this was the last W.A. meeting before going to his new charge. A solo by Mrs. Angus Mumby was much enjoyed "Speak a Kind Word When you Can".

During the business part of the meeting it was decided to hold a lawn social on the church grounds in the near future. Committees were appointed to look after the arrangements. A vote of thanks was extended to the hostess.

A closing hymn was followed with prayer by Mrs. David Thompson. Collection amounted to $6.40.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Husband-Sharing a Failure

In some parts of this country there are more women than men. Accordingly, there are not enough husbands to go around and some women have to remain unwed. Nobody has so far thought up a remedy for this situation other than for some of the women to move elsewhere. In any case, the idea of dividing one husband between two wives isn't to be recommended, if the experience of Mrs. Mary Peterson of Chicago, can be relied on.

Mrs. Petersen herself proposed sharing her husband, Nelson, with Mrs. Caroline Bertram. Mrs. Bertram was a childhood sweetheart. The plan didn't work. In fact, the other day both Mr. and Mrs. Petersen had to appear in court. Mr. Petersen says he owes her for separate maintenance. On this occasion the whole strange story came out. No wonder the judge confessed that he was puzzled.

You don't see how such a thing could be arranged? Mrs. Petersen was very business-like. The agreement was written down. Her husband was to be hers on Christmas Day. On New Year's day he was Mrs. Bertram's. Apart from holidays, he belonged to his wife on all the even-numbered days of the month, to Mrs. Bertram on the odd-numbered ones.

As if this alone weren't enough to make Mr. Petersen's head swim, it was proposed three years ago that he should marry Mrs. Bertram, too. Then the two women, they thought would be on an equal footing. The ceremony therefore took place and Mrs. Petersen was a witness. Evidently there wasn't any hoop that Mr. Petersen wouldn't jump through.

The result was precisely what might be expected in a country where monogamy is the tradition, the custom and the law. The women quarrelled over their joint husband. Mrs. Petersen accused Mrs. Bertram of detaining Mr. Petersen for longer and more frequent periods than the contract specified. In fact, she threatened her. Things became very unpleasant, indeed. As for the feelings of the bisected husband, they can only be surmised. The story has its absurd aspects, but it won't do to regard it flippantly. She confesses to being 46. She was devotedly in love with her husband who was evidently a type that women find desirable. We may guess that the day came when the husband turned his eyes oftener than seemed necessary in the direction of his boyhood love, Mrs. Bertram. What was the wife to do? Raise a fuss, with the possibility of losing her man altogether? Not she.

Better than losing him, she reasoned, was to compromise. Half of such a husband was better than none. She made her offer and it was accepted. Well, at least she hadn't lost him completely.

The queer triangular arrangement has lasted for a few years, but doubtless it was never satisfactory to anybody. And from now on there isn't much chance that it can exist at all.

There's a warning in the story, of course, for all women sincerely in love with their husbands. The warning is that they must never take their married peace completely for granted. Success in marriage has to be worked for. To be kept alive, love has to be nourished and tended.

Otherwise a wife who is selfish, or indifferent, or who demands too much may find, when a rival appears, that her own position isn't strong enough to resist rivalry. It's too late then to adopt a different policy. Her husband may be as good as lost. And a desperate attempt to keep him by dividing him in two, to make a double husband of him, will result as the Petersen case resulted, or worse.

Wherefore, rivet the chains that bind your husband to you long before the disturbing "other woman" appears.

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Sister To Be Married

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

My younger sister makes her home with me I am her only close relative. She is to be married soon and I would like your advice regarding the correct wording to use in the wedding announcements.

1 Should my husband's name appear with mine on the announcements?

2—Is an announcement sent to the parents of the bridegroom? They will be unable to attend the wedding but are aware of the plans.

3—Are "At Home" cards sent separately or are they enclosed with the wedding announcements?

R.

1—Yes, your husband's name should appear with yours on the announcement of your sister's marriage. Like this:

Mr. and Mrs. John Wells Forbes have the honour of announcing the marriage of their sister
Grace Allen Brown to

(Or if you prefer, you may combine the second and third lines to read:

announce the marriage of their sister

2—Strictly speaking it is not necessary to send an announcement to the bridegroom's parents, since they were invited to the wedding. But I am sure that they would be delighted to see one of the announcements. You might if you wish send them one enclosed in a letter.

3—If "At Home" cards are sent with the announcement (and this is a correct procedure) they are enclosed with the announcement. Such cards enclosed with the announcement carry the married name Mr. and Mrs. John Robinson.

Broken Engagement

Dear Mrs. Beeckman:

What is the proper procedure to follow regarding gifts when the girl breaks an unannounced engagement?

Is it proper to return the gifts, among them jewelry (not a ring), and so forth?

I.

Yes, when a girl breaks her engagement, whether or not it has been announced, she should return the gifts that her fiance has given her.

Graduation Invitation

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

My daughter is being graduated from High School soon, and she wishes to have cards printed inviting relatives and friends to her graduation. She plans to have about forty cards printed.

Would you tell me whether or not this is the correct thing for her to do, and, if it is, just how they should be worded?

Alice

No, it would not be proper for your daughter to have her own cards of invitation printed for her graduation. If the school authorities provide invitations, she will be given her quota. If they do not, your daughter will undoubtedly be told how many guests she may invite. These guests she may invite verbally, by telephone, or by cordial little notes. But I am sure that if she takes it upon herself to have her own invitations printed, she will put herself in a strange position with her classmates.

The engraved or printed invitation takes in a formality that should be derived only from the school heads.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Doctor Should be Called to Check First Tendency Toward Speech Defect

In the past year I have had a liberal correspondence with parents about this stuttering. Often they want me to recommend a school where stuttering children can be sent for treatment.

Some schools base their theories on the fact that people don't stutter when they sing. This is quite true. I have never been able to understand why it is that a child who is stopped dead by the letter "S" when he is talking, can sing, "Sister Susie sits sewing socks for soldiers" all day long with never a stutter. It is this phenomenon that makes stuttering largely a psychological problem, for no one is so full of apparent contradictions as a stutterer.

The trouble with a stutterer isn't just that he can't talk like other people. He gets to feel that he is different from others; that he lives in a different world. Persecution complexes are very easily developed by stutterers, and the more complexes he has to add to the obsession that he can't carry on a conversation, the more difficult it is to cure him.

The great thing, for teachers and parents alike, is to build up confidence in the child who has a tendency to stutter. He should have it impressed upon him that stuttering isn't really an important defect; that it doesn't make him inferior to his playmates.

Some stutterers gain confidence when they find that they can hold their own with other boys their own age when it comes to playing games, running and jumping. It is important not to punish him for stammering or increase his nervousness in any way.

When a child begins to show a tendency toward a speech defect he should be taken to a doctor for a complete physical examination. If he is run down and nervous, that is probably at the bottom of the trouble, and your physician will know what to do to make him snap out of it.

If the boy is nervous as a result of environment, you should send him away for a while. Boys have been cured of stuttering because they have been sent away to a boarding school.

Fortunately we haven't anything like a stuttering problem so far as the Quintuplets are concerned. For one thing, they are girls, and as I've pointed out, girls aren't nearly as likely to stutter as boys. And I'm glad we don't have that trouble, for the five of them have a habit of doing what each other does. Just think what a problem stuttering would be in such a case.

Fashion Flashes

GO HARLEQUIN at home. The shops are showing both house coats and morning frocks of linen in splashy colors blocked in the traditional harlequin squares on white background.

Back interest comes to the fore as the bustle returns. A lovely dress of pale pink silk jersey with halter neck has a draped sash bustle which is detachable.

Garden weddings call for those lovely cartwheel hats. A beauty in smooth white straw with net crown banked by pink roses and forget-me-nots has long streamers of very narrow black velvet.

A life saver for the girl who goes out a great deal is the decorative jacket, either to change the looks of a basic evening frock or turn it into a dinner costume. One choice is white net, embroidered all over in white silk braid. Peaked shoulders and puffed sleeves.

Those warm days call for cool, comfy frocks. A neat princess model comes in black linen, scalloped from neck to hem with red or white and buttoned to match! It's pretty in blue, too.

Paris favors white dresses with strong dashes of red. A Molyneux shirtwaist model of tussore buttons in bright red and is belted in narrow red patent leather.

Vernon Kennedy, Chet Laabs, Detroit Cast-Offs, Combine to Defeat Senators in 14 Innings

Browns Win 2-1 in Best Played Game in the Majors Monday

YANKEES WIN

N. Y. Squad Now Eleven Games in Front of Second Team

(By Bill White Associated Press Sports Writer).

The two American League Baseball teams voted most likely not to succeed—Washington Senators and St. Louis Browns—are accepting plaudits for the best played game in the big leagues yesterday.

True, there weren't many games played, but that doesn't detract a whit from the 14-inning 2-1 thriller that the bottom place duo put on in Griffith stadium.

It brought to light, not only the fact that two cellar dwellers can have as much fun playing the game as the more proficient Yankees but the suspicion that Manager Fred Haney of the Browns didn't do so badly by himself, when he acquired Vernon Kennedy in that trade with Detroit Tigers that sent big Buck Newsom to the Tigers.

Vernon scattered six hits over a 14-inning route to stop the Senators and it was only last week, that he hurled a three hitter to muffle the Athletics 6-0.

Laabs Hits Triple

Kennedy, the 30-year-old Missouri righthander, got some vital help from one Chet Laabs, who in the 14th cracked out a triple, sending teammate Johnny Berardino home with the game-winning run. The score had been tied since the 10th when both scored.

In the second half of the elongated bill, called because of darkness in the eighth, the Senators clubbed the Messrs. Lawson, Harris and Mills for six hits and a 6-1 victory, behind the six-hit pitching of John Krakauskas of Hamilton, Ont.

While all that was going on in Washington, the league leading Yankees were busy as usual. They stretched that lead to 11 games by socking Detroit Tigers 8-5. The victim was young Paul Trout, whom, you may recall, last month humbled the Yanks with a seven hit performance and beat them 6-1.

The champs made five runs off their young foeman, and didn't seem to mind later being out-homered by 3-2.

Game Rained Out

The Chicago-Philadelphia game was rained out and Cleveland and Boston were not scheduled.

The National league wound up right where it started, with an entire day wasted. Well, it wasn't exactly wasted since the Dodgers and the Cubs got a good workout, even though they couldn't reach a decision. They played eight innings before the rain came, and were tied 3-3.

The Giant-Card game was washed out, as was the Bees-Reds tilt at Cincinnati. The Philadelphia and Pittsburgh clubs were not on the day's billing.

KI-Y LEAGUE

A three way tie for the leadership of the Juvenile section of the Ki-Y softball group was created last evening when the Orioles decisively defeated the Priggsters 13 to 3 at Queen Alexandra School grounds. The Orioles came through in the pinch to elevate themselves into a tie with the Priggsters and the East End Club for the league leadership, which will subsequently be decided by a play-off.

At Queen Mary School grounds the Flying Arrows failed to put in an appearance for a midget game and therefore defaulted last night's game to the West End nine, Umpire Bill Wright, reported.

Keen competition marked the second midget game when the East End club played Consistent ball to down the Personality Kids 14 to 11 at Queen Victoria School grounds. The winners scored in every inning to mount their count, while the 'Kids' were held scoreless in the fifth and sixth, during which time the East Enders took a lead. Lawrence Peets was the umpire for this game while Jim Follwell handed the Jevenile fixture.

FIGHTS LAST NIGHT

(By The Associated Press)

Chicago: Eddie Simms, 196 1-2, Cleveland, O., outpointed Buddy Scott, 810, Dallas, Texas, (10).

San Antonio, Tex.: Lew Jenkins, 128, Sweetwater, Tex., outpointed Jorge Morelia, 132, Mexico City (10).

Baltimore: Pete Galiano, 136 1-2, Baltimore, outpointed Frankie Terranova, 137 1-2, New York (10).

Asheville, N.C.: Clarence (Red) Burman, 188, Baltimore, knocked out Tony Celli, 184, Newark, N.J. (4).

Atlanta: Bearcat O. Walker, 236, Atlanta, outpointed Leroy Haynes, 205, Philadelphia (10).

St. Stephen, N.B.: Johnny Lifford, 137, Saint John, N.B., outpointed Pancho Villa, 140, Waterville, Me. (8).

Oral Hildebrand and Joe Gordon, Yankees: Oral gave Tigers six hits—including three homers—but was tough in the clinches and Joe got four of the Yankees 13 hits.

Carl Reynolds, Cubs: Had a perfect day at bat in the Cub-Dodger 3-3 tie, getting on base twice by singles and twice by being hit by pitcher Hugh Casey.

TORONTO LEAFS DEFEAT LEADERS BY 6-2 COUNT

Team Wins First Game Under New Manager, Tony Lazzeri

RACE IS CLOSE

Montreal, Baltimore and Buffalo Only One Game Apart

(By The Associated Press)

While most of the excitement in the International Baseball League is found up in the first division, where the top four teams are separated by only 4 1-2 games, three second-division scrappers are staging an even hotter race.

The span of one game covers, Montreal, Baltimore and Buffalo in the league standings today, and from the way Toronto Maple Leafs looked when Tony Lazzeri finally took hold as manager, they may even be in the race one of these days.

Buffalo Bisons, who play like champions in their own park and look a trifle too good for a seventh-place club anyway, took a hand in the proceedings last night to tighten up that second division race considerably. They blasted out a 9-3 decision over Montreal's fifth-place Royals while "Boiling Boily" Grimes, Montreal Manager, boiled his way right out of the park.

Leafs Beat Leaders

At the same time Toronto, playing its first game under Lazzeri's active guidance, plastered a third straight defeat on the league-leading Rochester Red Wings 6-2. The Baltimore-Jersey City game was rained out while Newark and Syracuse set their contest back to a later date.

As a result, Rochester's margin over the idle Jersey City Giants was cut to 1 1-2 games; Montreal remained only a half game ahead of Baltimore and the Orioles held a similar margin over Buffalo.

Four home runs, plus the steady pitching of Al Smith produced the Bisons' victory as Ray Mack clouted two homers, Ollie Carnegie his 12th of the season and Lou Boudreau the fourth to account for seven Buffalo runs. Grimes' further difficulties came in the seventh inning when pinch hitter Joe Becker beefed too strenuously to Umpire Borski about a couple of strikes. Burleigh took up the argument and took the same trip to the clubhouse.

Snap Losing Streak

Lazzeri, appointed Toronto manager while the Leafs were on the road, took active charge just in time to see his team snap a four-game losing streak. While Earl Caldwell scattered the league leaders' nine hits, the 'Leafs drove Si Johnson out in two innings and then clouted John Gornicki for the clinching three-run rally in the seventh.

JOHNNIE BAWDEN WINS SIX IN ROW FOR THE 'OILERS'

Scatters Nine Hits to Defeat the Tiremen 12-3

MANAGERS PLAY

Riggs for the Losers Only One to Connect With Bawden's Deliveries

Scattering nine hits with apparent ease, Johnnie Bawden hurled his sixth consecutive victory in the City Softball League as the Shell "Oilers" literally coasted in to a 12 to 3 win over the Dracup "tiremen." The win marked the seventh in succession, without a reverse registered by the Oilers.

The winners opened with a strong attack, pounding Hunter the Tiremen's moundsman for five runs in the first two frames. They added three more in the third and four in the eighth. The Oilers scored the majority of their runs after two were out, however, as the Tiremen booted the ball for seven costly errors. Two runs in the fourth and one in the fifth constituted the losers attack.

Struck Out Ten

Bawden struck out ten and walked but two as he laboured without effort on the mound to chalk up his sixth consecutive victory. Hunter was touched for a total of ten hits, many of the extra base nature and walked four. "Wiggy" Riggs, short stop for the Tiremen, was the chief hitter of the night having a perfect batting average and getting four of the losers' eight hits. Henn, Sinfield and Hannah punched out doubles and Barriage two singles for the losers, while the Oilers were paced at the bat by Bawden and Sero, the latter getting two singles and the only four base blow of the contest. Bawden helped his own cause with a double and two singles. Green and Ronsky also hit well in the clutches punching out timely hits, that spelled runs.

Managers Take Hand

One of the features of the game was the appearance of the rival managers in the role of players, Skipper Kemp taking over the catching duties of the Tiremen, while Frank Sedore went to right field for the Oilers as both clubs were short handed. Neither proved too proficient on the attack, but fielded well.

The lineups:

Dracups: Henn 2b; Sinfield cf; Barriage 3b; Kincaide 1b; Kemp c; Riggs ss; Hannah lf; Lunberg rf; Hunter p and Dracup.

Shell-Aajmaa: Rowbotham c; Ronsky 3b; Bawden p; Sero ss; Amo lf; Moon 2b; Green 1b; Reynolds cf and Sedore rf.

Score by innings:

Shell	230 300 040—12	10	3
Dracups	000 210 000— 3	8	7

Umpires: Ethier, plate; Bawden, bases.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 20 (AP)—Joe Louis probably will go on an exhibition tour through Dixie if he pins Galento's ears back next week. Jim Erwin, Birmingham promoter will do the booking....The Yankees didn't forget to wire congratulations to Lou Gehrig who was 36 yesterday ..... Maxie Rosenbloom has hired a press agent and is demanding Joe Louis.

With irate Cub fans burning up the mails, it must have given Phil K. Wrigley one of those good old collegiate thrills to have Miss Julie Loeful of Madison, Wis., write: "I don't know of any finer entertainment than to watch the Cubs play ball."

Gene Tunney has been in the west putting the heat on about everyone connected with the heavyweight situation....Those interviews in the Detroit papers were pips....Some high spots: Louis-Galento: "The fight never should have been made....Galento has only one chance—1,000 to 1." .... Challengers: "Nova has bad legs and is easy to hit....Pastor is the only one who thinks and has the best chance against Louis." General Phelan: "He don't know his own rules, much less how to enforce them." Boxing Czar: "That's the solution."

The Senators recalled Bob Prichard, star first sacker from their Charlotte (N.C.) farm just when Charlotte needed him most....So the Charlotte News took a poke at one and all with this one: "Bob Prichard yesterday was sold down the river to the Washington club."

Wonder if the Dodgers made a memo of that 73-year-old grandma who broke up a softball game with a homer at Bristol, Conn., the other day?......Fight tip: Ralph Collette, the Broadwayite who urged his pals to bet on Schmeling in the first Louis fight, told the St. Paul Dispatch Galento will stop Louis .... Billy Marquart of Winnipeg, is one lightweight who isn't scared to death of Sammy Angott.

COMING CHAMPS READY TO GRAB LEWIS' CROWN

John Henry Lewis Deprived of Boxing Title by Many Commissions

(By Hugh S. Fullerton, Jr. Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 20 (AP)—Dethroning of John Henry Lewis is promising to bring more activity in boxing's light heavyweight division than that class has enjoyed in a good many years.

Lewis, ruler of the 175-pound division since 1935, never found his title very profitable. He had to scuffle around looking for good opposition and even take a shot at heavyweight champion Joe Louis in order to make it pay. And he suffered an injury which cost him the sight of one eye and, as a result, his title.

Several Ready

But now that most of the ruling bodies of boxing have withdrawn title recognition from John Henry, he may be able to cash in to some extent on the excitement. And at the same time several would-be champions are ready to do a lot of fighting to determine a successor to Lewis.

The New York State Athletic Commission first dropped Lewis from its titular rolls. Then the Michigan Commission wouldn't let him fight Dave Clark because of his impaired vision and the British Board of boxing control followed suit when he went overseas to meet Len Harvey. On his return the National Boxing Association demanded that he undergo an examination. Yesterday it stripped him of his title so far as the 30-odd states under its jurisdiction are concerned for the double reason that his vision was impaired and that he hadn't defended the crown in six months.

Receives Offer

Hardly had the N.B.A. decision been announced when John Henry receives an offer to "defend" his title in St. Louis July 11 against Gus Lesnevich, young Cliffside, N.J., fighter. Since Missouri is not a N.B.A. member, the bout may be accorded recognition as a championship affair there.

That one may not go through, but meanwhile Mello Bettina, of Beacon, N.Y., the New York State champion, is due to fight young Billy Conn of Pittsburgh here soon and Lesnevich and Clark have a scrap scheduled at Nutley, N.J., next Thursday. If the two winners are matched, it's generally understood that both the New York Commission and the N.B.A. will award the world title to the survivor.

If Harvey or Australia's Ron Richards want to come to America for a fling at the title, they'll be let in on the elimination series. Those six compose the entire top flight of light heavies after Lewis is counted out.

MARCHILDON WINS FOR THE BISONS

Takes Over After Ottawa Scores Five Runs Off Perkowski

(By The Canadian Press)

There's been a little commuting done by Phil Marchildon between the International and the Canadian-American Baseball Leagues lately but as long as he winds up in the right place at the right time you won't find Cornwall Bisons kicking.

The right place—take it from Bisons—is on a Can-Am League mound for Cornwall. He was farmed there for experience not so long ago by Toronto Maple Leafs and proceeded to raise Bisons standing by winning three straight games, two of them by shutouts.

The Leafs recalled Marchildon the same day Tony Lazzeri took over their helm and back the youthful hurler went. It didn't stick, though, and nary a dissenting voice was raised from out Cornwall way.

Matter of fact, Bisons' fans are keeping their fingers crossed after the way Marchildon again demonstrated his worth by winning them another ball game yesterday. It was an 8-5 decision over Ottawa Senators and those five runs were not Phil's fault.

Senators shelled starting pitcher Frank Perkowski from the mound in the eighth, putting the tying run on base with one out. Marchildon took over then and wild-pitched the runner home but he blanked Ottawa over the rest of the route while Bisons got it back in their next bats.

Meanwhile the pace-setting Amsterdam Rugmakers defeated the Colonels at Rome, 4-3, to stretch their margin over second-place Oswego Nets, who were idle. Johnny Bianco saved the day for the Little Yanks, appearing as a relief hurler to nip Rome's last inning rally.

In the only other game, the cellar-dwelling Utica Braves turned on Gloversville Glovers to treat their home fans to a 14-5 victory.

Between the Lines

Ken J. Colling

Cy Young, not the old time major league pitcher who won 511 big league pitcher who won 511 Young formerly with the old Belleville Nationals, has taken over the coaching duties of the Citizen's Dairy junior softball team. Young was induced to help the kids out when "Red" Townsend was forced to relinquish his interest on account of business. The Belleville Softball League lost a staunch supporter when the fiery "sorrel-top" mentor was forced into retirement. Red Townsend could see what others failed to see, the lack of replenishment in Belleville's softball ranks and sensing this organized a junior softball team two years ago, drawing his material from the ranks of the Ki-Y leagues. Other softball mentors accepted Townsend and his juniors in a manner similar to that of "the cure is as bad as the disease," having little concern over the advancement of juniors. The value of junior tutorage is being most forcefully shown in the strength of the present-day 'Oilers' the majority of whom were with Townsend's juniors of 1938.

One of the last acts Townsend did before handing over the junior mushball reins to Coach Young today was to invite a catcher and second baseman from Mountain View to try out with the "milkmen". When the time has arrived that junior softball material must be imported into Belleville to fill its needs, something should be done to ..eet those needs post haste. Surely with 17 Ki-Y softball teams in action there should be sufficient material at hand to replenish graduating juniors from year to year. At this very moment there is a crying need for softball players throughout the ranks of the City Softball loop, as can clearly be seen in the needs of Chuck Barnett's Corbys A.C. Incidentally that much-talked of player deal between the Dracup "tiremen" and Corbys A.C. failed to materialize over the week end. The Corbys nine feel they need another catcher and also a second baseman if they hope to nose out the "Oilers", but all of Skipper Barnett's proposed advancements for a deal have been declined by Manager Kemp and his henchmen. Now, the question is — "whose move is it next?"

That man was in again last night—you guessed it—Johnnie Bawden, and he tacked up his sixth consecutive mushball win of the season in as many starts and without apparent exertion. Bawden's win was at the expense of the Dracup "tiremen," the score being 12 to 3. However, had the Kempmen's fielding been a little more keen in the clutches no doubt the score would have been much lower, although the Oilers would have doubtless won. The fact that the Oilers scored the bulk of their runs after two were out and on bobbles and misplays by the Tiremen was quite apparent to the fans, all of which makes matters quite easy and acceptable for the opposing pitcher, who last night happened to be Bawden. One of the features of the game was the appearance of the opposing managers, Hal Kemp of the Tiremen, and Frank Sedore, skipper of the Oilers, injected into the lineups. Both teams were hhort-handed necessitating the managers take a hand. We give Kemp the newspaper decision, but Sedore won, so what. Incidentally Kemp tells us all talked of softball deals are taboo and out. However, what's this we hear about Skippers Barnett and Sedore talking about a switch, to include Art Cole?

Two former Belleville pitchers, Freddie Vasil and Tommy Pointer are faring quite well in far away fields this season. Pointer, after a serious injury last year, is pitching good ball for the Port Hope 'Ontarios' in the Lake Shore League, while Vasil, hurling for Oslers in Toronto softball circles, struck out 18 the other night, but his team mates failed to hit and he lost 2-1. "My luck seems to be about the same in Toronto as it was in Belleville—all bad," remarked Vasil recently. Incidentally Vasil is under suspension with the Belleville Softball Association heads.

Jack Dillon holder of the middleweight title in 1912, winner of over 90 battles and who seemed to have "disappeared from the earth" in the eyes of the boxing fraternity, was found living in Miami as a "hermit." Dillon rated during his era as one of the greatest fighters of all time, is now 48 years old and in improving health. He has been visited by Jack Dempsey and Jess Willard.

H. G. (Twig) Woodley was out giving the local ballsters the once over last evening at the Fair Grounds. If Woodley would take over the coaching duties and if he was given some front office co-operation it wouldn't be long before the Belleville baseball nine would be up and going places in the Bay of Quinte League. To our way of thinking Woodley is the best baseball coach in Belleville and would work wonders, if not miracles, if he decided to toss his lot and efforts in with the Collins-McQuaid-Weeks squad. Incidentally Picton handed Napanee a third reverse yesterday, the Rorke-led nine winning 4-3 at Napanee. Abbott hurled for Picton and Jocko for the homesters. Providing Belleville can win this evening at the Air Port, the locals will then be tied for second place with Napanee, who come to Belleville Thursday.

Sport Spice—Joe Krakauskas, the Hamilton-born Washington Senator hurler, beat the Browns yesterday, scattering six hits and winning 6-1....McCutcheon, Napanee third sacker, belted one 325 feet out of the Gibbard Park yesterday, it was inches foul.....Goody Rosen was back in the Dodgers' lineup with a hit yesterday as the Daffinessmen played the Cubs a 3-3 draw .... Selkirk, the other Canadian playing in the big league yesterday got his usual hit, as the Tigers beat usual hit, as the Yanks beat the Tigers.....A goodly baseball crowd greeted Tony Lazzeri as he took over the reins of the Leafs at the stadium last night, 7,500 seeing the rejuvenated Leafs beat the league leading Red Wings 6-2.

The Stars Say—

For Wednesday, June 21

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

AN EXCEPTIONALLY eventful and fortunate day is presaged by the interesting mutual and lunar aspects. A sudden and devastating occurrence may be a factor in putting the affairs on a substantial basis. There is promise of stability of fortune if the upheaval be met with sagacity and shrewdness. Tact and diplomacy will be the winning measures for success. Employers and superiors are approachable, being impressed by industry, fidelity and the merit of propositions presented.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves suddenly involved in a whirlwind of events which may be responsible for definite stabilization of the affairs and fortunes after the initial devastation and upheaval have subsided. But it will take sound plans, hard work and dependability of character to secure the co-operation of elders and superiors, who are best approached by tact and finesse, rather than high pressure methods.

A child born on this day may be studious, profound, industrious and dependable, despite a rather dynamic or dramatic quality, giving it the power to wrest favor and fortune, place and popularity from untoward circumstances.

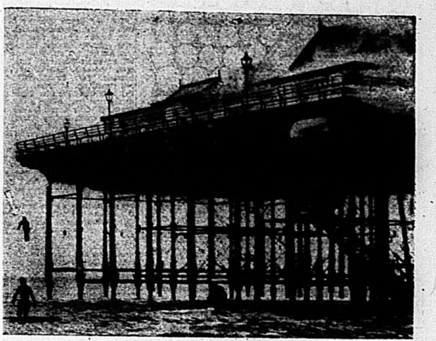
SUCCESSFUL PUPILS RECEIVE CERTIFICATES

Successful pupils of the city public schools, awarded their entrance certificates on the term's work, left the various institutions today with the glorious vista of summer holidays ahead of them.

Successful pupils were presented with their certificates by Inspector H. J. Clarke today, and at noon school yards rang with the joyous shouts of the children "let out" until the fall term.

Those children who were not successful in "passing" on the term's work, will have to write the examination later.

WOMEN ESCAPE FLAMES BY JUMPING INTO SEA



This dramatic picture shows one of the two young ladies trapped by fire at the end of the pier at Hunstanton, England, as she jumped into the extremely shallow water as the only means of escape from the fire that destroyed the frame pier. Most of those on the structure at the time of the blaze raced ashore, but Winnifred Taylor and Doris Bassford found every avenue of escape cut off—except the sea. The water was only a few feet deep, but both were assisted ashore uninjured after their leap.

Brick Buys a Kimono

By KATHLEEN MALLORY

Brick has first seen the kimono two weeks ago. It wasn't really a kimono. That was just Brick's appellation. It was really a gorgeous blue chiffon velvet peignoir. Mr. Bonner had brought it. It was late at night, and Brick had tiptoed to the kitchen for a drink of water.

Drinking the water, he had overheard Mr. Bonner talking to Mumsy. He liked Mr. Bonner. He never forgot to bring him something. It was always there on the breakfast table next morning. The most wonderful things. He was listening: "Jerry, you angel ....It's too sweet of you for words, but I can't let you. You're a darling.... the best friend a woman ever had. But it's impossible ....I'll shut my eyes and pretend....forever after that it's mine, when I'm wearing that ragged, shabby old thing in there!

Brick's breath expelled on a long breath that was almost a sob. He peeked through the crack of the swinging door to the living room. His mother stood facing him, holding the gorgeous blue "kimono" up to her shoulders. Regretfully, she began folding it carefully back into its tissue wrappings.

"Don't be absurd, Sylvia." Jerome Bonner was speaking, gruffly. "That's my birthday gift to you. I shall be away next month, and I wanted you to have it in time. Don't spoil my fun, please, old girl, I get such a kick out of doing it for you."

"Please, Jerry." Brick's mother said thickly, "don't. Bring me some little trinklet that's inexpensive."

"Sylvia .. — let me take care of you .... always! Please dear. I love you so."

"Now, Jerry! You know how things are. I'm going to bring Brick up, first. My first duty is to him. And .... why Jerry, I've a fine young man to take care of me. I want nothing in this world, beyond my home, here, and Brick!"

Brick had crept off to bed, shivering. Gosh. She had said he was enough.

Then he saw it again. Three days later. It was in a shop window, and there was nothing else there. Only the blue kimono. Some way, somehow, he must get that blue kimono for mumsy.

He went in and priced it. He nearly fell over when the lady said twenty-five dollars. She might as well have said twenty-five hundred. Gosh. That was the same price as the bicycle.

But now the bike was forgotten. Each night, when he was through peddling his papers, he went to stare, fascinated, at the blue kimono. Mumsy's birthday was next week, too.

He used to worry about it, as he peddled papers. If someone else bought it, first! Seven bucks saved. how could he make it? Three more days. He couldn't make it.

Then several things happened. Mumsy was working in a store, part time, and he was alone one night. In the closet, looking for a book stored away he came across the picture. It was his father, he knew that. Mumsy had told him. Her eyes had looked all scrunchy when she told him. He never asked her any more about him. But he knew he was alive.

Then one day Brick's father bought a paper from him. Brick knew him instantly. The same face, only the hair was gray now. Expensive fur coat. Costly clothes. "A Post, sonny. Keep the change"—two dimes.

The day before mumsy's birthday, the man stopped again. It was cold. Brick's fingers were numb with cold. He dropped his papers, and his hat fell off. The man bit off an eclamation. "My God," he said, "the same hair even!" Then hoarsely. "Here, Sonny....get yourself something. A bike....shoes!" Brick stared at the fifty dollar bill, as the man jumped into a taxi and drove off. Only that noon he had seen the man's smiling face in the tabloids he had sold along State street. "Noted actor celebrates new hit by marrying leading lady."

He began to shiver, but not with cold. Frantically, he searched his paper bag and found the tabloid; the last remaining one. There it was. "State Street Theater." Brick started toward State street. He borrowed an envelope from the cashier. On it, he wrote his own name. It was also his father's. He knew that, now, from the tabloids. Rick Chandler, Star of New Moon. Inside he tucked the fifty-dollar bill. It was his defeated hope of ever owning the blue kimono or the new bike. But he did not falter, mumsy would want him to.

On the way he saw the sign. "We buy old bikes." Brick went in. He came out, minus his dilapidated old bike, but richer by ten dollars. He'd get another, some day. Now he'd get mumsy a birthday present. A blue kimono.

Brick raced to the shop. He nearly suffocated with joy. Marked down to nineteen fifty!

He stole into the house. In the hall, a glittering object arrested him. It was a new bike. It was the New Bike. But Brick didn't stop. He took the stairs on high.

"Hey, Mom! Hey, Looly! I bought you a present!" "Brick you angel!" Sylva held up the blue peignoir, Tears sparkled in her lashes. "Brick it's the most divine thing! How did you dream I wanted one?" Brick swaggered. He strutted.

"Oh ....girls like a kimono," he said nonchalantly.

DICTION CLASSES AT VARSITY

Toronto, June 19 (CP)—Diction and voice production classes to help prospective teachers enunciate "pleasantly as well as properly" are the latest addition to Ontario College of education's curriculum for teachers in training. Dr. H. J. Cody, President of the University of Toronto, announced today Major George N. Bramfitt, lecturer in music since 1910 in the University of Toronto schools, has been appointed a lecturer in the new subject.

Little Benny's Note Book

After supper pop was changing his shoes for his slippers and ma said, This house is going to be the scene of a little committee meeting this evening, Willyum.

Not this room, I hope? pop said, and ma said, Certainly not, I'm going to take them into the front room, it will be more formal and suitable anyway, and why should I disturb you unnecessarily?

I cant dig up any reason, pop said, and ma said, I expect Mrs. Stammers and Mrs. Grindle, we're the Committee on Details for the next meeting of the Litterary Chapter of the Dawters of Cleopattera. This will be our 3rd meeting, the first was at Mrs. Stammers house and the 2nd was at Mrs. Grindle's. I met both Mr. Stammers and Mr. Grindle and they both acted very nice and agreeable, so perhaps you'd better have just a suggestion of conversation with the ladies, Willyum, or they might think it's funny and it wont kill you, she said.

That's right, it may merely leave me more dead than alive, pop said, I suppose I may as well change back into my shoes, he said, and ma said, well, it would look nicer, I didn't like to suggest it, you seemed so comfortable.

MEETING MR. GRINDLE

O well, life is short, and if we're took comfortable it seems even shorter, pop said.

And he changed his slippers back for his shoes, saying, This is a very smart and becoming shirt I'm wearing, but I better put on my coat, I imagine.

Well if you dont mind, Willyum, after all both these ladies are strangers to you, and of course informality is a great ice breaker, but aybe you'd better, Willyum, ma said.

Wich he got up and did, saying, And now I guess I better put on my hat.

Now Willyum dont be silly, ma said, and pop said, I'd be still sillier to go out without it.

And he took it off the hallrack on his way out, saying, Bring the ladies around to Peet's bowling allys.

BILL WOULD ABOLISH APPEALS TO PRIVY COUNCIL

Ottawa, June 19—(CP)— The Supreme Court of Canada today opened a hearing which may be one step in its elevation to the status of final court of appeal for Canada. It heard argument on the constitutional validity of a bill of parliament to abolish appeals from Canadian courts to the judicial committee of the Privy Council at London.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 20 (CP) — A few gains spotted the Toronto Exchange board in the early session today but the general tone was a bit soft and trading proceeded at a quiet tempo. Base metal shares were a shade higher at noon, western oils unchanged and the industrials and golds were showing a few more losses than gains. Turnover in the first hour totalled 85,000 shares.

Gains of 2 to 5 cents appeared by noon for Kirkland Lake, San Antonio, Preston, Aunor, Central Patricia and Leitch against minor losses for O'Brien, Pamour, Pickle Crow and MacLeod-Cockshutt. Hollinger firmed the minimum fraction to 15⅛, Buffalo-Ankerite ⅛ and other senior golds were steady.

A half point gain for nickel was the main change in the base metal group. Smelters wes up narrowly and chromium added a few cents. Ventures posted a decline of 25 cents.

Most of the industrial leaders held around Monday's closing prices. Ford A added ¼ and Imperial Oil was down ⅛. Banks posted a few gains and Consumers Gas firmed two points or more. Home Oil declined 3 cents to 2.25.

WALL STREET

New York, June 20 (AP)—Rallying signs, while none too distinct, were again visible in today's stock market.

Dealings were a trifle ahead of yesterday's sluggish session. Gains, running to a point or so were plentiful near the fourth hour.

The news, generally, was on the side of recovery. Wall Street was notably pleased, but not surprised, at the way the tax revision bill slid through the United States House of Representatives and the concensus was the measure would get speedy approval of the Senate.

Tilting forward most of the time were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, American Telephone, Southern Railway, Westinghouse, Johns-Manville, Kennecott, U.S. Rubber, Cluett Peabody, Douglas Aircraft, United Aircraft, Montgomery Ward and Du Pont.

In an improved Canadian group fractional gains were scored by Canadian Pacific, McIntyre Porcupine and Distillers. Dominion 4s were under mild pressure.

HUNDREDS FIGHT FOREST FIRES

1,500,000 Feet of Valuable Timber Estimated Lost in Nova Scotia

Halifax, June 20 (CP) — Flames were still devouring large tracts of woodland early today as hundreds of volunteers fought forest fires in three sections of Nova Scotia.

The most serious blaze, at Westphal, Halifax County, said last night to have been under control, showed new signs of life. Yesterday it sent up a huge column of smoke which could be seen from Halifax. Without rain, it was feared the flames would break out with even greater vigor today.

Butter and Egg Prices Remain Steady

Toronto, June 20.—Butter and eggs showed steady prices on the Toronto open produce market Monday, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Buyers purchased cautiously on the butter market, but sellers were not pressing for sales and prices held to former levels. Fresh receipts were not arriving in heavy volume, although supplies were sufficient for the fair demand. Ontario creamery solids traded at 21¾c for No. 1 grades and 21c for 38 score. No change occurred in prints.

Receipts continued in excess of demand on the egg market. Lower grades were moving more freely, however, and a better feeling developed toward the close of the market. Quotations in all sections were unchanged. Graded shipments sold at 19c for grade A-large, 17c for medium, 15c for B's and 14c for C grades.

Montreal Produce Easier

Montreal, June 20—(CP)—Butter, and eggs eased fractionally on open produce markets here today, while cheese offerings held steady, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21 1-2c. Receipts: 35 boxes.

Ontario white cheese was offered at 12 3-4c a pound and colored at 12 7-8c. Quebec white traded for 11 3-4c and colored for 11 7-8c. Receipts: 1,852 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 20c-21c a dozen for A-large, 17 1-2c-18c for A-medium, 16c-17c for B-large, 14c-15c for C. Receipts: 743 cases.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 20 (CP) — Brantford, Hamilton, Hull, Peterborough and Stratford bacon-hog markets posted gains ranging from 10 to 30 cents today. Other reporting markets were unchanged.

Liveweights — Brantford $8.85, Chatham $8.50, Hull $8.90, Peterborough $8.75, London $8.85.

Dressedweights — Barrie $11.75, Chatham $11.60, Hamilton $11.90, Hull $12.20, Peterborough $11.50, Stratford $11.35-$11.65, London $11.80.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 20 (CP)—Cattle trade turned active at mid-session on the Toronto Livestock Market today. Prices were stronger on steers and heifers and steady on cows and bulls. The calf division was steady while a firm tone prevailed on the lamb market. No hog price was set. Cattle market. No hog Monday was 500 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 1,230; calves 1,020; hogs 1,200; sheep and lambs 670.

Weighty steers sold from $6.25-$7 and good butcher cattle brought $6.60-$6.75. A few light steers sold up to $7. Common butcher cattle sold downward to $5.50 and butcher cows ranged from $3.75-$5. Good bulls made $4.65-$5 and bolognas $4-$4.50. Fed calves brought $6.75-$7.75.

Choice veal calves held at $8-$8.50 and common grades sold downyard to $5.

Previous close on off-truck bacon hogs was $9-$9.10.

Choice lambs made $11.50, a few selling up to $11.65. Sheep ranged from $2-$3.50 cwt.

Montreal, June 20—(CP)—Cattle, calves and hogs held steady to firm on Montreal Livestock markets today while lambs eased, the Dominion of Agriculture reported.

Receipts: Cattle 90, sheep and lambs 208; hogs 744; calves 1,074.

Good cows made $5.50 with medium kinds $4.25-$5 and common butchers down to $3.50. Canners and cutters were $2.50-$3.25. Common bulls mostly $4.-$4.50.

Good veals made $7.-$7.50 with medium from $6.-$6.50 and common light ones down to $5. The bulk of the veals were sold between $5.25-$5.75. Drinkers and light grassers sold for $4.50.

The bulk of lambs sold on a flat basis at $10.50-$11, with one small lot of good lambs at $11.50. Sheep were from $2.50-$3.50.

Hogs were firm at $9.50 for bacons, fed and watered. Selects drew $1 premium with regular cuts on off grades. Feeder hogs were slow and about 300 held over from Monday's markets. Sows brought $5.25-$5.75. Hogs sold on rail grade brought $13 for bacons cold weight.

Citizens Will be Rewarded For Apprehension of Criminal

Harold Bawn and Earl Bradshaw of Tamworth May Receive Cash Donations

TRIBUNAL SITS

Pursuant to the recent proposals of the Provincial Attorney General's Department, relative to the tendering of cash rewards to citizens who assist in the apprehension and conviction of persons wanted or sought by police throughout the Province of Ontario, recommendations suggesting that Harold Bawn and Earl W. Bradshaw, both of Tamworth, be rewarded in this manner were handed down by a tribunal that sat in Belleville yesterday.

The suggestion, that Mr. Bawn and Mr. Bradshaw be recommended to the Attorney General's Department for a cash reward, was brought forward by the Ontario Provincial Police, through the office of Inspector Frank Gardner following the apprehension and conviction of one, Harold Fraser, recently. The recommendations were heard by His Honor Judge Madden and Major-General V.A.S. Williams, Commissioner of Police for the Province of Ontario, who acted as a tribunal and after hearing the evidence of Provincial Constable Fred Barrett, who investigated the case, a recommendation for a cash reward was agreed upon and submitted to the Attorney General's Department in favor of Bawn and Bradshaw. Provincial Constable W. E. Smith was also summoned to testify.

Bawn and Bradshaw apprehended Harold Fraser as he and another were, it is said, attempting to rob the safe of Bradshaw's feed mill on May 28th last. Fraser was captured through the efforts of Bawn and Bradshaw at the time and subsequently sentenced to a penitentiary term. His accomplice escaped, however.

The introduction of cash rewards afforded citizens who assist in the apprehension of criminals and their conviction has met with the whole-hearted co-operation of the people of Ontario, the recommendation which was handed down at the County Court House here yesterday in favor of Bawn and Bradshaw was the third of its kind known in the province. Although the amount of the reward was not stated, it is believed the amount will be $25 in each case.

Local Anglers Get Good Catch of Trout

Salmon Lake, one of the more popular fishing spots of North Hastings, gave up some of its champion finny beauties over the week-end.

One party of anglers hauled in a 14-pound trout while Messrs. A. H. Ketcheson and J. D. O'Flynn were forced to be satisfied with a catch of ten in which a 10-pounder was the feature attraction.

That there are still some big fellows left in the lake is apparent in the story of the "one that got away" after a half hour's struggle. According to Mr. O'Flynn the "daddy of them all" after giving them the fishing thrill of their lives, finally broke the bait, escaping with the barbs of two large hooks in its jaws while another was "straightened out".

"He must have weighed in the neighborhood of twenty pounds," Mr. Ketcheson said today in corroborating the story. "We had him alongside the boat on one occasion and even had our hands on him, but no use."

"Also, there is no truth in the rumor that a huge fish attacked us and bit the bow off the boat," he added.

STRAWBERRIES DROP TO 3 BOXES FOR 25C

Hundreds of boxes of strawberries descended on the city market today causing prices to plummet to a new seasonal low of ten cents per box. In the later hours a sluggish market caused a further drop with some vendors offering their stocks at three boxes for twenty-five cents.

There were all sizes and qualities offered by the largest early-week market of the current year. Vendors piled crates and boxes high in practically every available stand. But there was little reaction on the part of the buying, and little or no business was transacted during the early hours.

However, some of the vendors were not to be denied. They took their stocks and started a house-to-house canvass, offering their fruit at ten cents per box.

The strawberry problem apparently was the major market one today for there was little other farm and dairy produce offered. A few eggs were quoted at twenty-two cents per dozen, while some broiler chickens were quoted at one dollar per pair. Spring vegetables were scarce, bowing to the fruit, but what few were offered showed no change from week end quotations.

No Trace Found of Employee

Southampton, England, June 20—(AP)—Investigators failed today to find a trace of Headley Newton Vincent, 36, gasoline company employee missing since an explosion and fire wrecked the Imperial Airways $200,000 flying boat Connemara last night at Hythe, near here.

Six men refueling the airship jumped into the water when the fire started and all except Vincent were rescued.

The Connemara, intended for Transatlantic service, was being prepared for a test flight.

New Dunlop President

James I. Simpson

At a meeting of the board of directors of Dunlop Tire and Rubber Goods Company, Limited, James I. Simpson, formerly vice-president and general manager, was elected president. Sir J. George Beharrell, D.S.O., continues as chairman of the board, and Arthur B. Purvis, formerly president, becomes vice-chairman.

Miss Soutar Gives Report on V.N.A. Work As Carried on at York, Pennsylvania

Chosen by the national office of the Victorian Order of Nurses for Canada to spend one week in York, Pennsylvania, to observe and study methods of the Visiting Nurse Association, Miss Bessie Soutar, nurse in charge of the local V.O.N. branch presented a comprehensive and interesting report of her visit, at the regular meeting of the committee held in the Y.M.C.A. last evening.

Miss Soutar explained the organization of the Association. It gives nursing service to the city of York and the County, with one superintendent, two assistants, and staff nutritionist who helps families with budgets and teaches nutrition. The V.N.A. has its own office building, three floors of twenty-two rooms, including class rooms, offices, accommodation for a day nursery. The association has a wealth of equipment to carry out its program. Child Welfare clinics are conducted throughtout the year. The Parent Teacher Association, very active in York, aids the nurses in a Spring check-up of all pre-school age children, who will be going to school in the Fall. This takes place in the V.N.A. headquarters, with a dentist, doctor, nutritionist, orthoepaedic nurse, and child welfare nurse in attendance, the cases being referred to the family physician if treatment is needed.

In a very interesting manner Miss Soutar recorded the program of each day of her visit and the very helpful information she had collected.

Report on Work in May

The report of the Nurses for May, in Belleville district, was also submitted at last evening's meeting and showed that 75 new patients were admitted. 20 of 156 patients, cared for during the month. 630 visits were made. To the end of May an increase of 110 patients and 374 visits was noted over a similar period in 1938, which shows continued progress in the work.

Last evening's report included additional information on phases of the health activity of the Order which members found most enlightening. The sincere appreciation of the members for Miss Soutar's excellent report was expressed by Mr. Taylor Franklin and extended by Mr. Gordon Bray, president of the committee, who was in the chair. Routine business discussion concluded the meeting, during which the president spoke of the generous cooperation of the citizens on Tag Day.

INTRUDER KNOCKED UNCONSCIOUS

Camden, N.J., June 20 (AP)—An intruder in Harry Pettit's home helped capture himself. Letting himself down after climbing through a kitchen window, he stepped on a table which upended and knocked him to the floor. He started to get up, bumped his head against the kitchen sink and was knocked unconscious.

KIWANIS CLUB "LADIES NIGHT" AT COUNTRY CLUB

Rededication of Members to Ideals of Kiwanis Pledged in Fine Ceremony

A SMART PROGRAM

Belleville Kiwanis Club joined with two thousand associate clubs throughout Canada and the United States last night at the Bay of Quinte Country Club in the sixteenth All-Kiwanis Night, when an estimated 100,000 Kiwanians rededicated themselves to the purposes and principles of the organization. The meeting at the Country Club was in the form of a ladies' night with Albert Boynton in the chair due to the absence of President "Dick" Flynn and wife with Bill Anderson and wife, who are attending the international convention at Boston this week. The community singing was in charge of Jack McIntosh and Claude Tice collected the fines while Leo B. Riggs in his always inimitable style presided at the piano. In attendance were the "Commodores" under the direction of Bud Haines and who delighted with a fine program during the supper hour and played for the dancing following the meeting. The program of stunts was under the direction of Bruce Lattimer and Frank Domenico and the assembly had many a good laugh during the evening.

At the same moment—ten o'clock in Belleville—a similar program was carried out in each of the individual clubs in conjunction with the International Convention in Boston. This fellowship hour opened with a minute of silence followed by the National Anthems of two countries. A message from the International President, H. G. Hatfield, was read. He pleaded for sane thought and sound reasoning in view of the unrest prevalent throughout the world. The program concluded with a prayer of rededication led by Past Lieutenant Governor P. C. MacLaurin and the Fellowship Song of the Kiwanis International. The musical program in charge of Leo B. Riggs was up to the high standard always obtained by this artist of the piano with Miss Mary Alice Rogers delighting with two fine solos.

Tasteful Decorations.

The tables were tastefully decorated with beautiful peonies donated by Mrs. George Bonisteel, while the steward of the Country Club is to be commended for the excellent meal served the seventy-five guests at the gathering. There was no speaker for the evening but P. C. MacLaurin, who can always come to bat in a pinch delivered a fine resume on the work of Kiwanis, while Secretary George Griffin told of the fine fellowship that can be obtained in Kiwanis. Fred Lewis proposed the toast to the ladies and was responded to by Mrs. J. E. Logan and the visitors were welcomed by Jim Barclay and the guest artists were thanked by Harold Seldon. Howard Clarke, the newly elected president of the Rotary Club and Mrs. Clarke were guests at the banquet and Mr. Clarke thanked the club for their welcome and expressed the fine co-operation that existed between the two service clubs. Ivan Scott and Wilfrid Laporte were the winners of the feather stunt while Fred Lewis and Jim Cowan were the most adept at blowing up balloons. Mrs. Jack McIntosh, Mrs. Len Fozard and Mrs. Jim Barclay were the winners of the ladies' prizes while George Forhan and his wife were the winners of the pea contest. Following the singing of "O Canada" the party tripped the light fantastic till the early hours and brought to a close a most delightful evening.

MANUFACTURERS HOLD CONVENTION

Are Told Signs Seen of Removal of Shackles on Foreign Trade

(By H. H. Gordon)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

Bigwin Island, Ont., June 20. —(CP)—Business leaders gathered at the 68th annual Canadian Manufacturers' Association Convention heard today from the director of the Commercial Intelligence Service at Ottawa that "there are definite signs of a trend towards the removal of unnecessary shackles on foreign trade."

L. D. Wilgress told the Association this in a speech on "The Future of our Industrial Exports", one of ten addresses made to a business session that occupied the convention throughout the morning. Trade Commissioners of a half-dozen countries reviewed trade conditions in their respective parts of the world.

Quotas and Exchange controls were listed among the "unnecessary shackles" by Mr. Wilgress who said: "We may expect a slackening of the tendency towards extreme self-sufficiency or economic nationalism".

Restrictionists Lose Initiative

"The initiative is passing from the restrictionist countries, which regulate trade in accordance with their import and currency requirements, to countries with strong currencies practising more unrestricted trade. The trade agreements program of the United States is beginning to be a real force in the reduction of trade barriers."

Mr. Wilgress said the growth of economic nationalism is threatening even exports of some finished natural products. He gave as examples efforts being made to produce newsprint out of Southern pine in the United States and out of gum-wood in Australia.

"We know, however," he added, "that any tendencies toward self-sufficiency which will reduce the opportunities for the export of our finished natural products will be very costly to the consuming countries and, therefore, there is a limit to the extent to which these countries can refuse to take the products in which we have such marked natural advantages."

Canada's Prosperity

Discussing Canada's advantages in supplying needs of developing countries, he spoke of the country's position in being "contiguous to the greatest and most progressive manufacturing country in the world". He found it natural for United States' firms to assign to Canadian branch factories a share of their export business with other countries, because in the case of many industries the Canadian market is not sufficiently large to provide profitable employment for an up-to-date mass production unit.

"I see no reason why this should not be maintained in the future", Mr. Wilgress said. "Although greatly assisted by preferential tariffs, it is a natural tendency based on sound business practice."

Speaking of advantages possessed through water-power resources he declared "there is probably no other place on earth where hydro-lectric power in such large quantities and at such low prices can be made available as quickly at ocean ports as can be done in the case of the great rivers of the Province of Quebec."

British Air Outfit Equal Germany's

Lewis C. Ord, general manager of Canadian Associated Aircraft, Limited, of Montreal, told the convention that British output of military aircraft is at least equal if not greater than Germany's and "we are certainly developing more rapidly."

He said he believed the present piling up of air armament could not continue very long, that it would reach a peak and then lag"

"There is not money enough in the world to keep this game up very long", Mr. Ord said.

5 PERSONS BITTEN BY DOGS IN HAMILTON

Hamilton, June 20—(CP)—Alarmed by the daily increasing number of attacks by dogs upon people, particularly children, Dr. J. E. Davey, Assistant Medical Officer of Health, today appealed for more rigid enforcement of the by-law prohibiting citizens from allowing such animals to run at large during the summer months. Four pupils of Cannon Street school and an employee of the Hamilton Jockey Club were among the victims reported yesterday.

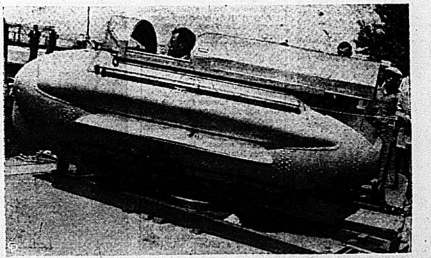
CRAWFORD HEADS TORONTO STOCK EXCHANGE

Toronto, June 20—(CP)—Frederick J. Crawford has been elected by acclamation as president of the Toronto Stock Exchange to succeed Frank G. Lawson whose presidential term is to expire at the annual meeting June 22. Gordon R. Bongard was elected vice-president, T. A. Richardson secretary and R. B. Duggan, treasurer. All offices were filled by acclamation.

ROYAL CHILDREN NOT IMPRESSED BY CEREMONY

The long-to-be remembered visit of the King and Queen to Canada taught Canadians how informally dignified their Monarchs can be, but Their Majesties' Canadian subjects have long been familiar with the unconsciously informal antics of the royal children. The royal family was viewing the trooping of the color from the balcony of Buckingham Palace when this picture was taken, but Prince Edward and Princess Alexandra, children of the Duke and Duchess of Kent, don't appear to be even interested in what is going on BELOW. While their mother resigns herself to their undignified conduct the princess waves to her aunt, the Princess Royal, and Edward finds something at the other side of the balcony of great interest. Queen Mary at the RIGHT, preserves the atmosphere of royal dignity.

GREAT CLAIMS MADE FOR NEW METAL LIFEBOAT



Claiming his craft combines simplicity with efficiency Menotti Nanni, of New York, is seen as he demonstrated his new self-launching safety lifeboat in public for the first time after years spent perfecting it. The boat, said to be unsinkable and non-capsizeable, can be constructed in various sizes to accommodate any number of persons and can be launched from the deck of a sinking or burning vessel by any inexperienced person, the inventor claims.

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

"Linda, honey," Mrs. Blauer said, "don't jump down my throat at what I'm going to ask you, but I wonder if you'd mind awfully if I took Mickey with me for a week or ten days at the coast?"

"Mind, darling?" Linda said. "Why, I think it would be grand! But are you sure he won't be a bother? He's such a little child."

"Bother?" Mrs. Blauer asked, as though she didn't believe her ears. "As if my Mickey could ever be a bother to anyone. Why, I tell you, I'd miss him so much I wouldn't enjoy my vacation—not a bit—if I didn't have him along with me. Why don't you come, Linda? You know I have the little cottage at Capitola that my Phil built for us. There's plenty of room. Phil and his family have finished their vacation and—"

"No, Bertha," Said Linda, "thank you ever so much, though. I have other plans."

And Linda, with the aid of Janice Marberry, and Jo Munroe, went right to work on those "other plans"—plans for a wonderful vacation with Bill at the lake.

"Do you.... do you think I'm an utterly hopeless wretch to run away from Mickey like that?" Linda asked Janice and Jo as they were planning her composite wardrobe.

"Don't be a sil," Jo scoffed. "Why Mother Blauer knows how to take care of him better than you do. He'll be all right; it's yourself you'll have to watch out for."

Janice said nothing.

CHAPTER TWENTY-ONE

Linda's clothes were limited; certainly not the extensive, costly wardrobe of the society girl. Her inexpensive, although smart, clothes would look pretty shoddy against the legance displayed by Merry Blaine and her girl friends. Linda reasoned. That's why she and Janice and Jo got together. Among them, they managed to assemble nearly everything that the well-dressed young girl would wear.

Linda couldn't wear Jo's dresses—they were too large, but she appropriated a swank crinkly bathing suit, to fit any form, beach robe and clogs. Janice and she were of a size, and Janice's wardrobe supplemented Linda's own.

Linda was particularly thrilled when Janice volunteered to loan her the smart new beige and brown tweed coat which was Janice's newest and most cherished garment.

Neither Linda nor Janice knew—at that moment—the effect that the loan of this coat was to have upon both their lives. But it was fated that its effect should be tremendous, although neither could foresee it.

Linda was in the act of slipping out of the suit when there came a frantic pounding on the door of Janice and Jo's apartment.

"Linda," a voice shouted, and it was Steve's. "Linda, come here quick!"

Linda opened the door, holding the tweed coat in front of her to cover her slip-clad form.

"What's the matter?" she asked, alarmed. "Is it....is it Mickey?'

"No, nothing like that," Steve's grin seemed to struggle to exceed the boundaries of his broad face. "It's good news, Linda. Guess what?"

Linda didn't even try to guess.

"It happened, Linda. We've done it! The old good luck sign won! I'm in...."

"Wait a minute," Linda said. "Slow down. We've done what?"

Then she knew.

"Steve!" she said. "You won the competition. Oh, Steve! It's wonderful!"

"Right," Steve beamed. "How could I help but win—with you on my side? Linda," his eyes grew serious and the grin faded. "Linda" he asked, "now I can ask you something...."

Linda noticed for the first time that Steve was looking right at her—directly and frankly.

"Will you—well, will you go out with a guy tonight and help celebrate?" Steve asked.

"I'd love to," Linda said, "but, Steve, I'm sorry....I'm engaged."

"Oh," said Steve, and he was very serious now. "I see."

And, to himself, as he walked down the hall, shoulders hunched and hands in pockets, he added:

"Engaged—hey Might as well be married...."

X X X

When Linda looked back that bright, sunlit Saturday—from the bridge across which she was speeding with Bill Blaine in his powerful topless roadster, island-bound—Titan Tower looked beautiful indeed, rising in its place of prominence on the skyline.

Linda commented upon its beauty.

"Sure," laughed Bill. "Looks better the further away we get Boy! I'm not sorry to leave it, I'm ready for a rest."

It was a lovely building, Linda thought. Glistening and beautiful in the sun.... No longer a pile of cold stone, inanimate, menacing fog-wrapped Funny, but in a way she hated to leave it.

Wonder what the folks are doing on the sun-deck, she mused, up there on the roof where she first met Bill? Wonder how all the slaves in the hundreds of offices feel? Wonder—and her thoughts turned from the building to something dearer, but no nearer—wonder how Mickey is; how he'll get along while I'm gone?

While Linda's thoughts skipped from the people at work in Titan Tower's offices to Mickey at home with Mrs. Blauer, Dr. Blaine's thoughts—strangely following part of the same pattern—were also back in the building. He was thinking of the office he had just left; and of Dr. Leonard Renquist, his young colleague.

And, at that precise moment, Rennie Renquist was thinking of Bill Blaine—and....his thoughts were not pleasant ones.

X X X

In the tiny white cubicle which served as his private laboratory amid the vast suite of offices shared with Dr. Vance and Bill Blaine, Dr. Renquist puttered about with some test tubes and centrifuge. He snorted once, audibly.

"Nuts!" he exploded. "Even Atlas got fed up with a job like this!"

He was conscious that he was alone, and he spoke out loud. But it wouldn't have mattered if the tiny room were packed with people. Dr. Renquist was ready to speak his piece .

"I'm through carrying that guy around on my shoulders!" Rennie continued. "Good old Rennie, he can take it. Let him be the fall guy for all your mistakes. The brilliant fair-haired boy simply doesn't make mistakes, does he? Nuts again!

"Yes, Dr. Vance! no, Dr. Vance. I'm sure Blaine wouldn't have made an error like that. No, sir. It must have been my fault....Sure, it's my fault that the guy is still permitted to practice. If good old Rennie hadn't taken the fall for him every time Bill Blaine pulled a boner, Billy boy wouldn't be ballyhooed as a brilliant young surgeon ,no less.

"What does a man have to do to get ahead in this game —be born with a big name and a lot of pull? If Bill Blaine came from the other side of the tracks and I were Pop Blaine's son and heir, I bet old man Vance would play favorites off the other elbow...."

Whatever other thoughts Rennie might have expressed of Dr. Franc Carter Vance were stilled by the opening of the laboratory door. Through it Dr. Vance, himself, entered.

"Important patient of Blaine's," Dr. Vance said. "I have Mrs. Chase and will be with her some time—can you see him?"

"Certainly, Dr. Vance," Rennie said, obediently.

When he entered his own office, Dr. Renquist learned that the patient was Al Lawson, the political man-about-town, whose whisper—in the right person's ear—could mean a job or a judgeship.

"Nothing serious," Lawson smiled when Rennie informed him that Blaine was away on vacation. "Just came in for a checkup on some of that fancy embroidery he did on me after the last overhauling."

While Rennie was in the midst of the examination, his telephone rang.

Ordinarily, Dr. Renquist was enough of a diplomat to keep his personal feelings hidden in the presence of a patient, but today was not an ordinary day.

"It does?" Lawson heard Rennie exclaim into the mouthpiece. "Well, how much will it cost me?"

There was a pause, while the other party spoke.

"Well, you must have some idea" Dr. Renquist said, obviously irked. "I can't tell you to go ahead and install a whole new transmission, hit or miss, leaving it entirely up to you as to what you're going to soak me....Of course, I'm a doctor—but that doesn't mean I can afford carte blanche."

Another pause.

"Listen," Rennie went on. "I'm just a workingman. I'm not like the big-name doctors. I get paid a salary every month and it's not too big. You've got me where it hurts, because you've got my car and I have to have it in my work, right away, because I make night calls. Go ahead and fix it—but don't charge me for a new car, will you?"

When he had hung up, Rennie, eyes snapping in anger, turned to his patient and noticed that Al Lawson was grinning.

"Tough fellows, these garage guys!" Lawson said sympathetically. "Where is your car? I know some of the boys in the business and maybe I can persuade them to take it easy on you....

"By the way," Lawson continued. "I couldn't help hearing what you said about a salary. A young doctor with your talents and ability should be in business for himself. I've heard a lot of fine things about you. If there's any way I can help you to get started—on your own, I mean—don't hesitate to call on me. I mean ANY way, too. Here, this card will get you by my secretary."

After Rennie had thanked Lawson and completed the examination, he stood there looking at the card the politician had handed him, while Lawson left the office.

"Hmmm," said Rennie. "Maybe, mister, I'll call your bluff. Maybe I'll take you up on that...."

X X X

Life, Linda thought, gasping for breath as a plume of cold water splashed rudely across her face, giving her an impromptu shower, was never like this.

She had known the island would be glorious, but her fondest dream had been exceeded.

Linda had thought that she could never love any trees like the tall spruce and firs of her native Washington, but the Tahoe pines definitely alienated part of her affections.

Meredith Blaine had been grand to her; had greeted Linda like one of her own set, had done everything possible to make brother Bill's friend feel at home and to help her to have a good time.

At first the blue of the lake had reminded Linda of Bill's eyes, but even those eyes were not so blue. Then she knew. It was Mickey. Mickey had real blue eyes, blue like the lake. And she missed him. The first night at 11, she had kissed her pillow in a silent goodnight to Mickey, as she used to do for Mike. In the eventful days she was too busy having a glorious time to feel the ache in her heart. But at night she knew it was there.

Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

Advance Information on Screen Offerings Supplied by Theatre Managers.

AT THE BELLE

"It's a Wonderful World"

Heralding the arrival of one of the screen's most notable teamings, "It's a Wonderful World", starring Claudette Colbert with James Stewart, next at the Belle Theatre.

For Miss Colbert this picture marks a return to the buoyant type of comedy vehicle in which she has achieved such notable success, characterized especially by that unforgetable film, "It Happened One Night", Academy Award winner.

The production marks James Stewart's third heart affair opposite charming screen heroines in recent months. He stepped from the arms of Joan Crawford in "The Ice Follies of 1939" to wed Carole Lombard in "Made for Each Other", and now shares honors with Miss Colbert in "It's a Wonderful World."

Stewart is cast as Guy Johnson, a private detective hired to keep an oft-married Broadway playboy out of trouble. When this millionaire playboy is accused of murder and is caught in the act by Miss Colbert who plays Edwina Corday, a poetess. He enlists her aid and together they track down the real murderer.

In the supporting cast are such sterling players as Guy Kibbee, Nat Pendleton, Frances Drake, Edgar Kennedy and Ernest Truex.

Forty-seven sets were built for the production, all of them supposedly in and around New York. These range from elaborate night club sequences to an apple orchard. Also listed are interiors and exteriors of a train, a yacht, a theatre, a hot-dog stand, an auto camp, a railroad trestle, a motor boat and shots of Sing Sing.

W. S. Van Dyke II directed "It's a Wonderful World", in his first production since "Stand up and Fight" and "Marie Antoinette". Famed for his direction of "The Thin Man", among other successes, "It's a Wonderful World" has given him another opportunity for smart screen detecting punctuated with hilarious comedy situations.

King and Queen in New York

Complete pictures of United States Welcome to King and Queen. Historic never to be forgotten scenes in Washington, Mount Vernon, Hyde Park and New York. Spectacular and stirring is United States official greeting to the first Sovereigns of the British Empire ever to set foot on American soil. The official Royal visit pictures are now being exhibited at the Belle.

Another of the popular Crime-Does-Not-Pay stories will be presented on the same program, the title of this new subject is "Money to Loan" and is a gripping expose of the illegitimate loan racket which provides all the basic elements of a fast moving gangster picture. This 26 minute film packs in its footage more incident and action than are found in many features. It is a subject of social significance and will hold your interest throughout.

"Rose of Washington Square"

The story of a girl who went on loving "her man" even after he had hurt her and tricked her is thrillingly told in the heart songs and hit songs of the past in "Rose of Washington Square", which closes at the Belle soon.

Tyrone Power and Alice Faye, the romantic stars of "Alexander's Ragtime Band" are starred in this 20th Century-Fox hit with Al Jolson who sings again the songs he made great.

"My Man", "April Showers" "Ja-Da", "Mammy", "I'm Always Chasing Rainbows," "I'm Just Wild About Harry", "Avalon" and "Rose of Washington Square", the James F. Hanley-Ballard MacDonald number which gives the film its title are among the many hits heard, plus a brand new Mack Gordon and Harry Revel number "I Never Knew Heaven Could Speak".

An entertaining Pete Smith specialty, a funny comicolor cartoon and pictures of the King and Queen in Washington, Mount Vernon, Hyde Park and New York will be presented on the same program.

AT THE McCARTHY

"MAN OF CONQUEST"

One of the finest motion pictures, yet to be shown on any screen, is in less than one week's time, after its presentation at the Imperial Theatre, Toronto, now on the screen at the McCarthy Theatre, and it is to be hoped that through no fault of their own, no one that enjoys the best in entertainment, will miss the opportunity of attending one or more of the performances during its engagement here....of the outstanding production of this or any other year, "Man of Conquest."

The story is replete with characters whose names are etched in history's thrilling pages. Richard Dix gives an unforgettable portrayal of Houston; Gail Patrick and Joan Fontaine are lovely and capable. Such crack character performers as Edward Ellis, C. Henry Gordon, Victor Jory, Robert Armstrong, George Hayes, Max Terhune, Robert Barrat, Ralph Morgan, William Benedict, and Janet Beecher enhance every scene.

The story traces Houston's life from the time he left the Cherokee Indian tribe, with whom he had been living for a year, to fight with Jackson in the War of 1812.

We are taken on Houston's violent, exciting campaign for governorship of Tennessee; his tragic love affair with Eliza Allen, his first wife; his long period of despair and neglect in trying to forget Eliza; on through his immemorable fight to free Texas from Mexico.

Republic spent two years in research to guarantee historical accuracy. The only liberty taken with actual events is the time of Houston's romance with Margaret Lea, played by Gail Patrick, since the film only takes Houston's life to the time he frees Texas.

The direction of George Nicholls, Jr. is highly laudable. He has drawn the utmost from a wealth of story and cast.

Added treats have been carefully selected to make up the entire screen program now playing and we assure you of a splendid evening's pleasure in comfortable surroundings at the McCarthy Theatre.

Gail Patrick featured with Joan Fontaine and Richard Dix in "Man of Conquest," now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

SCIENTISTS FIND

The bacteria apparently help in producing a vitamin that protects the newborn from hemorrhage, one of the principal risks to baby life in the first few days.

The story begins with prothrombin, a substance which helps clot blood. The Marquette physicians examined newborn babies and found that their prothrombin drops to almost nothing the first day of their lives.

They said this drop appears due to the fact that neither prothrombin, nor vitamin K, the chemical which builds this blood clotting material, is stored in a baby's food at birth.

Strangely, they declared, there is a rise in the prothrombin the second day of a baby's life. It is this second day restoration, they said, which protects babies from hemorrhage.

They attribute the rapid appearance of this life-saving material to vitamin K. But as the baby does not get enough food in its first day to obtain the vitamin, they say another source of the vitamin must be sought.

Since it is known that certain germs have the ability to synthesize vitamin K, they conclude that the baby gets these germs the first time it suckles, and that the germs get busy in the infant's alimentary canal at the job of emergency vitamin-making.

TOTALITARIAN

Canada's Improvement

These circumstances Mr. Duncan declared would bring about a realignment in the Nations enjoying predominant positions as world traders and Canada with her vast natural resources should be well-placed to improve her relative position provided she was already when the call came.

Concluding this phase of his address, Mr. Duncan said; "Do not let us ever forget that successful export trade is dependent upon a strong position at home. Do not, therefore let us neglect our industrial position in Canada. On the contrary let the development of our home and foreign trade go hand in hand."

In setting out what he considered fundamental principles for the building up and holding of export trade the speaker stressed the importance of a sufficient volume of manufacture at home to insure a low unit of production cost. The first step in building up a strong position overseas trade was the safeguarding and development of "our position in the home market under a national policy of stable and adequate protection."

Best Type of Product

He urged manufacturers to make sure their products compared with those with which they expected to compete and to make a thorough study of the habits and customs of the people in the countries where they intended to do business. Suitable representation was also an essential. In this connection he urged the delegates to make use of the commercial intelligence service which the Canadian government has set up in many parts of the world.

Mr. Duncan also emphasized the importance of endeavoring to adapt the Canadian article to the design, the styling, the local requirements and even the fads or the fancies of the purchasers. All quotations and correspondence should be in the language of the importer or in a language in general use among commercial houses in his country.

Canada Has Part to Play

"In these days of totalitarianism, of pressure politics, of new economic ideologies, it seems to me vastly important that the great English - speaking democracies should increase their influence and strengthen their position throughout the world and in this scheme of things Canada has a role to play," Mr. Duncan concluded. "Let us in reaching out toward the overseas markets, carry to them not only the produce of our farms, mines, fisheries and factories, but the example of our sound commercial principles, our honesty of purpose, our spirit of fair play and above all the ideals of democracy upon which this great Dominion of ours has been built."

Britain Abandons Plans for Sanctions Against Japan

While Blockade Remains Local Sanctions Shelved

British Government Evidently Takes View Present is No Time to Force Showdown Against Japanese

PREMIER'S STATEMENT

Battalion Which is British Battalion in North China is Now More Than Half in Tientsin — Japanese Attitude Not Clear

By J. F. SANDERSON

London, June 21 (CP)—The British government has abandoned plans to impose economic sanctions against Japan while the Tientsin blockade remains local, it was reported today.

Meanwhile official circles are confident that all barriers standing in the way of a mutual defence pact linking Great Britain, France and Russia will be swept away in the shortest possible time and that an agreement may be reached in Moscow by the week-end.

No Moment for Showdown.

When the Japanese threw a cordon around the British concession in Tientsin a week ago the British government laid plans to take economic retaliation against the Nipponese trade.

It is understood now that these plans have been shelved and will stay there unless Japan forces the issue.

The British government evidently takes the view that this is no moment to force a showdown with Japan—perhaps leading to war—particularly when the United States has shown no inclination to join Britain and France in retaliatory action.

Barrier Restrictions Same.

The prime minister's statement follows:

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Rain shadows! A sun shadow is where the sunshine is cut off by some obstruction but there may be diffused light. Similarly, a 'rain shadow' is where there is much less rain than on the other side of the obstacle. There are many places in the world on the lee sides of mountains where the rainfall is small compared with that on the windward side. These are called rain shadows. Well-known examples are the semi-arid plateau east of the Rockies in the United States and Alberta in Canada. The explanation is that the moist air on the windward slopes rises, cools and leaves much of its moisture there, and is consequently much drier when it arrives on the lee sides.

King and Queen May See S. W. Tip Of England Tonight

His Majesty Inspects Crew of Ship on Promenade Deck

By R. K. CARNEGIE

Aboard R.M.S. Empress of Britain, June 21 (CP)—Near journey's end, King George and Queen Elizabeth entered today the last stage of a journey that carried them across an ocean and a continent and back.

Their Majesties may see tonight the southwest tip of England. Tomorrow they will be welcomed home, first by their daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, and then by thousands of British subjects.

King and Queen in Good Health.

England will find the King and Queen fit when they land tomorrow at Southampton. The natural fatigue of a month of constant public appearances on the tour of Canada, the United States and Newfoundland has been overcome by the carefree shipboard schedule.

Yesterday probably was the most strenuous day the Royal party has experienced since its departure from Newfoundland last Saturday. The King and Queen joined other members of the entourage in a cricket practice in the afternoon and in the evening their Majesties attended a cinema.

Informality Wins Hearts.

Showing the same informality that won the hearts of millions of North Americans, King George inspected the ship's crew on the promenade deck and later, with the Queen, chatted with a number of the sailors.

Fair weather helped speed the liner on her way and there is little doubt the Southampton pilot will be able to come aboard on schedule at 8 a.m. tomorrow off The Needles, Isle of Wight.

Three Escape Injury When New Type Plane Crashes After Landing

Trenton, Ont.—(Special)— Three members of the Royal Canadian Air Force escaped injury yesterday when a new Oxford Air-Speed bomber crashed while landing at the airport near here.

Officials of the station refused to give any details of the accident.

Witnesses however stated that the plane was taxi-ing across the landing field when the pilot allegedly hauled up the landing gear, causing the new machine to crash heavily. The propeller of one motor was broken off while the struts of one wing sustained damage.

The bomber was one of three new machines of its type assigned to the Airport for training purposes. The machine had just crashed when another Oxford Bomber landed near it from Montreal.

London, June 21—(CP Cable) — Final touches were put today to the program for the reception of the King and Queen at Southampton and London tomorrow while the nation prepared to greet them with enthusiasm rivalling scenes at the coronation two years ago.

Everyone, including the King's two daughters, will be up early in Buckingham Palace tomorrow. Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose are due to leave for Portsmouth in time to board the flotilla leader Kempenfelt and sail down the channel to meet their parents' liner in the solent.

The Princesses are attending the horse show at Olympia in London today—their last outing before

P. E. COUNTY RATE IS 6 1-4 MILLS

This Rate is One-Twelfth of a Mill Less Than a Year Ago

Picton, June 32—(Special)— A county rate of 6 1-4 mills was struck by Prince Edward County Council in session here yesterday after discussing estimates for the year. This is a reduction of one-twelfth of a mill compared with last year. The new rate will raise the sum of about $93,500, whereas estimates totalled $95,428. The balance required will be drawn from the surplus of $6,000.

Council members were of the opinion that the rate should be kept low due to the hard times farmers are still experiencing.

This year council will make a large debenture payment, which it was stated would aid future councils in keeping a low tax rate.

Prince Edward County's attractions as a holiday spot will be advertised by the distribution of ten thousand attractive folders, the Publicity Committee reported. These have been sent to all parts of Ontario and many to the United States. Signs have been erected to mark the entrances to the county, both from the east and from the west.

ART TREASURES FOR MADRID

Madrid, June 21 (AP)—A trainload of art treasures, sent to Switzerland for safekeeping during the Spanish civil war, arrived today from Geneva consigned to the Museum Del Prado, which is to open June 30.

Star Having Volcanic Eruption New Discovery of Scientists

By HOWARD BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

Milwaukee, June 21—(AP)—Discovery of a new celestial mystery, a star which appears to be having a volcanic eruption, was described to the American Association for the Advancement of Science here today.

It looks at present, in photographs, much like an automobile headlight seen side-on in a dark night. A huge, fanshaped beam of light is spreading outward from one side of the star. The light has much the same shape as a comet's tail and is called a cometary nebula.

This tail, or eruption, was discovered at Yerkes Observatory, early this year, and reported today by Dr. John Titus. Spectroscopes have identified the light as probably a reflected glow. The general opinion is that the eruption is gas.

The star has been named 1-1939 orionis, from the fact that it is near the constellation orion. It lies in a black patch in the milky way, its magnitude nine, which means it is not visible without aid of a small telescope.

There is a complete photographic record of an explosion which brought the tail to light. In the last four years the star has multiplied in brightness 3,600 times. Before that it was merely a pin point, of 17th magnitude, visible only in the greatest telescopes.

Although no one has paid attention to it, the regular mapping of the heavens by photography which has been going on for many years, had included this star and enabled astronomers to know that the present flare-up is some sort of star explosion.

Why the gas should rush out from one side only, as from a volcano, is not known, but electrical forces are believed to account for the fan-shape.

DEFENCE PROBLEM IS LINKED WITH ALL INDUSTRY

Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie Gives Impressions at C.M.A. Dinner

INDUSTRY MUST HELP

By H. H. GORDON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

Bigwin Island, Ont., June 21 — (CP)—Defence problems, once the exclusive concern of soldiers and sailors, today are linked with industrial problems that affect such organizations as the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, Defence Minister Ian Mackenzie told the C.M.A. annual dinner here last night.

Real technical skill and ingenuity is shown by Canadian industry in originating the production of many items of defence equipment hitherto imported, Mr. Mackenzie said. Modern service aircraft, naval vessels, machine guns, gas masks and searchlights today are in the capacity of Canadian industry.

Self-Reliance

"The most important contribution made to Canadian defence has been the development within Canada of self-reliance on our own industry." Construction of great state arsenals for producing Canada's limited armament requirements was uneconomic. It was a job better suited to private industry.

President W. D. Black today cautioned Canada against a hasty adoption of a nationally-financed unemployment insurance scheme. He traced the development of insurance plans in Great Britain and European countries and reached this conclusion:

"Whatever tentative limits may be set to its operations in the first instance, the inherent capacity and tendency of the costs of unemployment insurance to vastly exceed all estimates and expectations, render it a risk very conclusively not worth the running.

"We have too much at stake, the obligations probable to be incurred are much too high and the chances of the venture weigh heavily against us."

CAT DISPLAYS FONDNESS FOR HYDRO POLES

Stratford, Ont., June 21—(CP)—Linemen for the Stratford Utilities Commission yield to no one in their love of animals, but there is one cat that is beginning to annoy them. Three times the cat has had to be removed from the top of a tall pole and just the other day the cat added a fourth time when linemen removed it after it had been stranded 24 hours.

BRITISH WOMEN ARE EVACUATED FROM TIENTSIN

Blockade Developed Into a Determined Test of Patience

SHORTAGE OF MILK

By J. D. WHITE
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Tientsin, June 21—(AP)— The eight-day-old Japanese blockade of the British and French concessions developed today into a determined test of patience between Britons and Japanese.

An official British report said 1,000 British women and children were being evacuated from the Tientsin foreign areas, preliminary to "an indefinite period of resistance."

Japanese military and diplomatic authorities indicated, on the other hand, that they were "awaiting British overtures to break the present tense situation." They did not say, however, just what they expected beyond previous British

BREWERY FIRE LASTS FIVE HOURS

24 Firemen Forced to Receive Medical Attention at $150,000 Blaze

Quebec, June 21 —(CP)— Production continued today in the big downtown plant of the Champlain Brewing Company, scene last night of a five-hour fire, which caused damage estimated at $150,000 and forced 24 firemen to seek medical attention.

Georges Couillard, President of the company, said after the fire that deliveries would not be affected and that work would continue in undamaged sections of the brewery, the three-storey main building of which was razed.

Six firemen were cut by jagged tin while fighting the blaze and 18 others were overcome by dense smoke rising from smouldering malt and tar on the building's roof.

Flames broke out in the roof and spread quickly to the second storey of the 28-year-old main structure and then ate their way into the plant's offices on the ground floor. The top storey contained cartons and flimsy materials and in the second floor were vats with 60,000 gallons of fermenting beer.

JAPANESE FORCES OCCUPY SWATOW IN QUICK LANDING

PORT IS SHELLED

Seaport Only 220 Miles East of Canton Where Many Britons Live

Hong Kong, June 21—(AP)—Japanese forces occupied the Kwangtung Province port of Swatow today in a quick landing after months of comparative quiet in the South China war area.

Dispatches from Swatow said Japanese units reached the city proper in midmorning. After the arrival of the troops which had been landed nearby, Japanese transports and warships entered the inner harbor and began unloading reinforcements and supplies.

Swatow, a city of 178,000, is 220 miles east of Canton, which was captured by Japanese last Oct. 21 after an overland drive which started on the coast midway between the two cities.

LONG DISPUTE NEARS AN END

Franco - Turkish Treaty Likely to be Signed Very Shortly

Ankara, Turkey, June 21—(CP-Havas)—A long-standing dispute between France and Turkey over the strategic Sanjak of Alexandretta, lying between Turkey and Syria, was believed to be near an end today with the announcement that a Franco-Turkish mutual assistance pact will be signed here Thursday or Friday.

Simultaneously a Turkish cabinet committee put finishing touches to a statute providing for the hitherto autonomous territory's incorporation into Turkey.

The dispute between the Paris and Ankara governments over Alexandretta began more than three years ago. Originally part of Syria governed by France under a League of Nations' mandate, Ankara first demanded that the district become an autonomous state and later that it be annexed to Turkey because of its overwhelmingly Turkish population.

The development coincided with the arrival here of Foreign Minister Abdul Fattah Yehia Pasha of Egypt for talks which may result in the extension of the 1935 four-power Saadabad pact into an alignment directly linked with the European peace front. The agreement links Turkey, Iran, Iraq and Afghanistan in a non-aggression instrument.

RETAILERS TO DROP 'GAS' HALF CENT IN TORONTO AREA

Toronto, June 21—(CP)— The Retail Gasoline Dealers' Association announced today gasoline prices would be dropped a half cent a gallon in the Toronto area immediately in an effort to stimulate business. Previously prices were reduced last week by half a cent.

Standard gasoline in Toronto now sells at 23 cents a gallon with 27 cents charged for extra quality gasoline. The Association reported border points showed a considerable loss in volume of trade, leading them to conclude motorists were filling their tanks on the United States side of the border.

Worst in 30 Years Fire Sweeps Thru Two Tenements

Crooked Narrow Streets Are Handicap to Firemen as They Fight Blaze Near New York City Hall

4 FIREMEN HURT

Fierceness of Conflagration Moves Mayor La Guardia to Say 'Chinatown Must Go'

New York, June 21—(AP)— The worst Chinatown fire in 30 years raged through two teeming tenements early today, taking at least eight lives and menacing the whole area of crowded outworn buildings.

Excited Chinese and white residents of the district, routed from their beds by the clatter of engines responding to four alarms and the screams and shouts of desperate men and women fleeing for their lives, jammed the crooked narrow streets for hours.

Twisting Streets Hamper Firemen

The firemen, joined by Mayor Fiorella Laguardia during the height of the fire, worked under extreme difficulties in the twisting streets. Four firemen were injured.

For half an hour after they had sighted a man clinging to a fire escape which threatened at any moment to fall, the firemen worked under a protective barrage of water to rescue the man. Eventually he was brought down, only to die later in a hospital.

Fierceness of the blaze and the rapidity with which it roared through the ancient wooden halls and dark cubicles of the tenements moved Mayor La Guardian to declare that "Chinatown must go."

Investigation to be Started

It also led to the announcement by the District Attorney's office that an investigation would be started.

Chinatown, only a few blocks from city hall and the civic centre, lies just north of Brooklyn Bridge at a point where the shabby Bowery with its steaming crowded lodging houses stems off from Chatham Square.

Fire Breaks Out in Darkness

Noisy at night under the glare of many lamps, Chinatown had lapsed into darkness and sleep when the first crackle of flames and the drift of smoke in the tenement where the fire started roused one of its many occupants.

He screamed a warning that sent others tumbling from their beds. One man slid down a pipe from a window of the dark hole in the wall he occupied on the second floor of 17 Doyer Street.

One man stopped to dress. The firemen found him later, dead with a half burned sock in his hand. A woman and her husband picked up their two cats and a handful of belongings and slipped from a window.

BRING JERSEY COW TO DANCE FLOOR TO GIVE MILK

Collingwood, Ont., June 21—D'Arcy Nobes brought milk on the hoof to save the day for a crowd of hungry and thirsty dancers here last night when the refreshment committee found someone had forgotten the cream.

The coffee was boiling and the sandwiches were ready when the committee discovered the lack of cream. Nobes and a friend brought a placid-eyed Jersey cow to the middle of the dance floor and Nobes milked while the admiring crowd stood around in silence.

Supper was served with fresh milk in the coffee.

NESTS DESTROYED IN UPPER TOWER

While preparing the scaffold around the City Hall which is being erected for the purpose of supporting workmen redecorating the exterior of the building, carpenters working on the construction of the scaffold were forced to destroy hundreds of birds' nests, found in the upper regions of the City Hall above the auditorium. The east side of the market square was literally covered with hundreds of birds' nests which were removed and thrown to the ground from their lofty perch. All sizes of birds' nests ranging from the sparrow's nest to the larger pigeon and several night hawks' nests.

QUEBEC PROVINCE SENDS $75.00 TO CHEESE EXHIBITION

The sum of $75.00 has been received by local officials of the Central Ontario Cheesemakers Association from the Province of Quebec as the contribution of this province toward the holding of the British Empire Cheese Exhibition and Dairy Show in Belleville, November next.

Quebec's entries of cheese in the show will be more numerous than ever, Mr. J. L. Irwin, honorary president of the Association has been assured by Geo. A. Bourbeau, federal grader of the Province. Word is also being awaited from the Union of South Africa regarding the number of cheese from this Union which will be shown in Belleville. Other entries from England and other possessions of the British Empire have also been assured, it was stated.

PILES OF ROTTING SHAD POLLUTE THE AIR AT THE OUTLET

Summer residents of the Outlet, Prince Edward County are disgusted over something that nothing can be done about.

Literally, millions of dead shad are piled up on the beach in front of their cottages, in some cases reaching the proportions of windrows.

The shad, a branch of the salt-water herring family, dies in fresh water after it reaches a certain size, and the dead fish are washed on the shores of the lake. In some places the rotting fish are six to eight inches deep, it is stated.

TWO COBOURG MEN RESCUED FROM LAKE

Plunged into the waters of West Lake near Wellington, when high seas were running in the van of a strong offshore breeze, two Cobourg residents were rescued from their overturned boat by the timely arrival of Godfrey Upton and Germaine Vandervoorte village fishermen.

Upton and Vandervoorte were returning from a fishing trip when they noticed the Cobourg men in difficulties. They immediately raced to their assistance, but before they could reach them the boat overturned, precipitating its occupants into the water.

Both were able to swim, and cling to their boat until the rescuers arrived. Valuable fishing tackle was retrieved the next morning by grappling.

PAPER CURRENCY FOUND IN GOOD CONDITION ON BODY

A leather wallet containing eighty-four dollars in currency and thirty-nine cents in silver and copper, found in the pockets of the clothing of James Miller whose body was recovered in the waters of Lake Ontario off Waupoos on Friday last, after forty-one days immersion, was found to be in good condition.

The money was not damaged to any extent, while the wallet was found to be intact.

Miller and Andrew Goodwin, a companion, were drowned six weeks ago when their eighteen-foot boat capsized in the lake a mile off the community of Waupoos.

TOURISTS CALLING AT LOCAL BUREAU NOT SO INTERESTED IN QUINTS

A large number of folders describing the other attractions of the town and area of Callander besides the world famous quintuplets, issued by the tourist bureau of Callander and so popular last year and previous years among tourists passing through the district this season so far have been completely ignored by the visiting motorists calling at the local Chamber of Commerce.

Whether the "Quints" this year have lost their drawing power and have become less popular from the tourists' point is not known by officials of the Chamber here.

"All we do know is that this season so far we haven't had a single enquiry about them or the town of Callander," it was stated.

CATCHES OF MUDCATS, PERCH AND EELS REPORTED GOOD

From boats anchored in the still waters of the Bay of Quinte in the coves and at the fringes of the marshes, from the government dock and piers and wharves of the south end of the city these evenings, local residents are getting in some real mudcat and perch fishing in the evenings.

Catches have been fairly good and fish are plentiful this year it is reported by the anglers. Eels are also numerous this year and catches of this fish have been heavier than experienced last season, some of the specimens weighing four and five pounds.

PROSPECTS FOR BASS FISHING APPEAR GOOD

Fishermen are assured by D. J. Taylor, Ontario Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries that bass fishing prospects in the Province this year are good. The general season in Ontario will commence on July 1st and will last until October 15th, it is announced by the department. Plenty of bass have been reported from the waters of almost every point in the Province, according to a survey of the department.

Maskinonge fishing prospects are uncertain, as always, it is stated by the Deputy Minister. This season will also open at the same time as the bass season except in the Northern Ontario area where it commenced on June 20th this year.

MONDAY, JULY 3rd., HOLIDAY IN CITY

A long holiday week end from July 1st is in prospect for Belleville residents following the decision by city council, and the proclamation which is to be announced by Mayor Bone that Monday, July 3rd will be observed as a holiday by the city.

It is expected that other municipalities of this central district will follow the example of Belleville in this regard, the Town of Campbellford being the first to announce the decision of council there to observe Monday as a holiday.

34th Battery All Set For Inspection Tonight

Before the critical gaze of Major-General H. A. Constantine, officer commanding Military District No. 3., officers and members of the 34th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery will undergo their annual inspection at the Armouries tonight.

The battery will be under the command of acting Captain Ralph Bird, Major J. H. McLeod, officer-commanding being absent in the United States.

The unit will go through foot drill, rifle-drill, and anti-gas demonstration, besides their regular drill with the newly mechanized eighteen-pounder guns.

At the annual sessions of the Grand Encampment of the Ontario I.O.O.F., held at Toronto in the Royal Connaught Hotel, yesterday afternoon, E. C. Garbutt, Picton, was named Grand Treasurer of the society during the election of the year's officers. W. H. Roe, Napanee, was named Grand Junior Warden.

George H. Elson, Toronto, was appointed Grand Patriarch.

In the list of Deputy Grand Masters for the various districts of the Province, appears the name of John S. Stacey, Trenton, representing this central section.

Kid Kar Derby Contestants Groom Entries for Big Race

The sound of pounding hammers and the hum of saws coming from garages, woodsheds and other convenient places of the home these days is nothing to be worried about—it is the youth of the city preparing for the annual Kinsmen Kid Kar Derby being held in July on "Derby Hill."

Officials of the Kinsmen Club, who have installed their Derby headquarters in the store formerly occupied by Howe and Hagerman, Lower Front Street, are enthusiastic over prospects for the 1939 edition of their famous sports event.

"Entries are coming in faster than we expected", President Bill Hurst stated today "and present indications point to a larger number driving this year than in the two previous races."

A modern ramp, built after the one used in Akron, Ohio, where the world's championship races are run annually is now being constructed by Mr. Arthur Young, general manager of the Stewart-Warner Company, and will be ready for operation within a few days.

Plenty of enthusiasm is being shown by both entries and members of the club and officials are looking forward to one of the largest crowds in the history of their sports event to view the classic next month.

RIBS FRACTURED IN HEAVY FALL

Harry Lynch, Trenton, Alleged to Have Fallen from Moving Train

Suffering from fractured ribs and serious internal injuries, Harry Lynch, Trenton, was found lying alongside the Canadian National Railway right-of-way near the Belleville C.N.R. station shortly after sun-up this morning. It was believed that Lynch had fallen from the top of a moving freight train during the night and had lain in the deep wet grass for some hours before being found by Constable J. Jerome, of the C.N.R. police.

Lynch was rushed to the Belleville General hospital in the police cruiser by P.C. Arnott, who was called to investigate the accident. Dr. R. Gibson attended and found several ribs broken and the man to be suffering from severe shock.

According to railway officials it is believed that Lynch boarded an east bound freight train at Trenton late last night and had fallen from the top of a box car as the train passed through the Belleville yards. Lynch fell in the dark, sustaining his injuries and apparently rolling down an embankment into the long grass and weeds where he was found lying helpless in the ditch.

Cheese Make Increases In Peterboro District

Cheese making is showing a decided revival this year all through the area, but more especially in Peterborough County, where, it is estimated by W. S. Moore, district dairy instructor some 35 tons of cheese are now being made weekly by district factories. This is believed to be about one-third more cheese than was made last year and previous years, and the amount has shown a steady increase each year lately, it was reported by Mr. Moore.

Last year more than 75 per cent of the cheese manufactured in Peterborough area was graded with a score of 93, with a considerable portion of the make also being given a 94 grade.

CHAS. WASMUND TAKEN IN COURT

Charged With Publishing a False Story Resulting in Damage to Public

Charged with publishing a false story resulting in damage to the public, Charles Wasmund, Wicklow Township, was arrested during the progress of yesterday's County Police Court at Bancroft for allegedly misleading the court while giving testimony. Wasmund was remanded to the county jail. The court was held before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd of Northbrook.

"It's very convenient to forget at this point, but I am going to ask the Magistrate to have this witness sent to the Ontario Hospital, if within my power," stated Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., as Wasmund continued to say "I don't remember," when giving evidence in an arson case. Wasmund was the Crown's key witness in a case which saw two other men dismissed on charges of setting forest fires, preferred by the Fire Marshal's Department.

Robert W. Robinson, Bancroft, was fined one dollar and costs after being convicted of making a gesture to strike Dr. S. S. Lumb, reeve of the township. The charges arose out of a lengthy controversy relative to an alleged debt. The Crown established that Robinson had raised his hand in a gesture to strike Dr. Lumb.

Four children of the district were made wards of the Children's Aid Society and given into the custody of Inspector Ruston.

Cattle Exporters Prepare for Re-Opening U. S. Market July 1st

Livestock trading has been more active in the Belleville area recently as buyers and shippers prepare for the re-opening of the United States cattle market on July 1. Under the terms of the agreement with the United States, Canada can send 51,720 head of cattle into the United States each quarter. Six weeks after the first quarter opened on April 1, the quota was filled.

When the new trade treaty came into effect on January 1st, exporters in Canada received little benefit. The duty was one and one-half cents a pound, but the quarterly quota was filled, mostly from Mexico. Under the revision, Canadian shippers were allowed a quarterly quota of 51,720 cattle, and other countries were limited to 8,280 cattle.

Police Blotter

Following complaints received Provincial Police swept down on the home of Archie Crossen, Marmora Township, yesterday and seized 85 pints of beer, and part bottles of rye and gin. The raid was conducted by Provincial Constables W. E. Smith and A. A. Starke and the "wet goods" confiscated. No charges have been preferred as yet, but the seizure was today reported to Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C.

Mrs. H. Samuels, 196 Dundas Street, reported the loss of her son's tricycle to the city police yesterday. The tricycle had been left outside Dracup's tire shop on Front Street and found missing later.

Local and district motorists continue to violate the one hour parking bylaw in Belleville, eleven being found infringing over the parking limit yesterday.

No arrests were necessary in the city yesterday, marking the tenth day this city has been free from crime in succession. Nine transients were given shelter at the police station last night.

OBITUARY

LATE ED. W. CASE
Picton)

Picton—Rev. David Wren conducted the funeral service of the late Ed. W. Case on Wednesday afternoon at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Ernest Wright, King Street. The funeral, under Masonic auspices, was largely attended as Mr. Case had friends in all walks of life in his home town.

Mr. Case passed away on Monday afternoon at his home, Bowery Street, in his 79th year. For almost half a century he operated a drug store in Picton, retiring some years ago because of ill health. He is survived by his widow, formerly Margaret Jane Maybee, and one daughter, Lillian, Mrs. Ernest Wright.

Interment was made in Glenwood Cemetery.

LATE JAMES MILLER
(Waupoos)

Picton, June 21—St. John's Anglican Church, Waupoos, was filled to capacity on Monday afternoon, when relatives and friends gathered for the funeral service of James (Jimmy) Miller, whose tragic death by drowning, occurred early in May. The overflow from the church filled the country church yard. The impressive service was conducted by Rev. A. J. Anderson, who had held a short service earlier in the afternoon for the family at the home of John Miller, Waupoos. Most beautiful flowers banked the casket, expressing the sympathy of a host of friends. The pall bearers were Harry Palen, Jack and Teddy Goodwin, Herbie Kerr, Jack Davies and Laverne Willard Foster and children of from a distance were Mr. and Mrs. Willard Fotser and children of Syracuse, N.Y., Messrs. Dan and Claude Goodwin of Maynooth, and Constable Horace Wright of Belleville. Interment was made in the Fyse burying ground, Waupoos.

PLEADS GUILTY TO SETTING FIRE

Barney Marquardt Given Four Months in Reformatory

Barney Marquardt, Wicklow Township farmer, pleaded guilty in a Bancroft, Ontario, Police Court yesterday to charges of setting out fire to Crown Lands in July, 1934.

Marquardt was sentenced to four months determinate and two months indeterminate in the reformatory by Magistrate J. Lloyd yesterday.

Wm. Wasmund and Benny Wasmund, Wicklow residents charged with a similar offence, were dismissed through lack of sufficient evidence.

A near-sensation was caused in court when William Wasmund, star witness for the Crown, was ordered arrested on a charge of giving false information.

The arrests of the Wasmunds and the conviction of Marquardt were the culmination of four years of investigation of forest incendiarism, by Provincial Police Officer S. Palmateer and Deputy Chief Fire Ranger William Stringer of the Ontario Forestry Branch, Bancroft.

Over one hundred acres of valuable timber was destroyed in one fire said to have been set by Marquardt, a few miles north of Bancroft.

Large Crowd Enjoyed Formal Opening of Hastings Motors Ltd.

Motion Pictures Were Shown and Inspection of Premises Taken Advantage of 15 PRIZES GIVEN

One thousand people took advantage of the hospitality of the Hastings Motors Ltd., to view their new home, lower Front Street, and inspect the newly decorated premises, Manager Ivan Scott stated last night. "We had a grand crowd and they not only expressed pleasure in our new quarters, but also enjoyed to the full the entertainment provided," he said.

Motion pictures were presented in the sales building at three o'clock in the afternoon and again at 7.30 p.m. The shows were continuous and were enjoyed by the large crowd.

Keen interest was displayed at ten o'clock in the evening when fifteen door prizes given away by the management, were drawn for. Tickets had been given free of charge to the crowd during the afternoon and evening and the lucky winner's stubs were drawn from a large container.

The winners: Mr. Stewart Goodfellow, Plainfield, Ont.; Mrs. C. Parm, Belleville, Ont.; Mrs. A. Taylor, Belleville, Ont.; Mr. Lyle Potts, Belleville, Ont.; Miss Winnie McAuley, Belleville, Ont.; Mrs. H. M. Davidson, Belleville, Ont.; Mr. Frank Harris, Belleville, Ont.; Mr. W. E. Treverton, Corbyville, Ont.; Mrs. C. A. Riddell, Belleville, Ont.; Mr. T. R. Colden, Belleville, Ont.; Mrs. R. Neal, Belleville, Ont.; Wm. J. Lynch, Belleville, Ont.; Mr. Fred Maund, Belleville, Ont.; Mr. J. T. Craighead, Belleville, Ont.; Mrs. Mabel MacDonald, Belleville, Ont.

Belleville Musicians to Compete at Famed Waterloo Festival

Establishing a precedent in Belleville musical circles, four youthful members of the Belleville Municipal Band, Messrs. Ralph Clapp, John Mitchell, Ted Hinchey and Ronnie Moorman, will take part in the instrumental competitions to be held in conjunction with the Waterloo Musical Festival, being held in the western Ontario city on Saturday.

Ralph Clapp, Mitchell and Hinchey will compete in the clarinet competitions while youthful Master Moorman will endeavor to bring honors to himself, his band and his city in the cornet competitions for youths twelve years and under.

Mr. Leo Riggs, famed Belleville pianist will journey to Waterloo with the young musicians and play the piano accompaniment for them in their efforts to attain success.

Accompanying the youths will be Messrs. Fred Jobson, bandmaster of the Municipal Band, Reg. Hinchey, Harry Moorman, and Albert Branscombe.

The young artists are the first Belleville musicians to enter the contests in the famed Waterloo festival.

PETITIONERS WANT GAS PLANT UNDER CONTROL OF COUNCIL

A round-robin petition containing four and one-half pages of names of local ratepayers is to be presented city council at its next regular meeting asking that council appoint a special committee of its members to take over and operate independently of the local Public Utilities Commission, the city gas plant.

The petition will present the belief of signers that such committee could operate the plant to produce a profit for the city over and above operating expenses for the year. It is expected that a personal deputation of citizens will appear before council bearing the petition and request.

Sex - Predeterminator Not Dismayed by Failure of Prediction

Newark, N.J., June 21 (AP)—Sidney A. Fortel's son turned out to be a girl but the 35-year-old self-taught sex-predeterminator said today it just goes to show that sometimes figures do lie.

"I must have made a miscalculation," he said after he had gotten over the surprise of becoming the father of six-pound, 12-ounce girl yesterday.

"But as wrong as I am, I'm right. And we're going to have another baby and there'll be no mistake."

The Fortel offspring arrived at Beth Israel Hospital at 5:30 p.m. (EDT) yesterday, two days after the deadline Fortel set for the arrival of a "son".

Buckling down to the task of determining the exact reason for the flopping of his predetermination, Fortel announced he was definitely not giving up and was going to study harder than ever to prove he had not wasted 20 years studying sex-predetermination for nothing.

Mrs. Fortel, 25, and her daughter were reported doing well at the hospital.

BANG'S DISEASE IS NEXT TO GO

Agricultural Minister Dewan Says Problem Faces Ontario Dairymen

Lindsay, Ont., June 20—(CP) — Agriculture Minister Dewan said today the next big problem facing Ontario dairymen was elimination of Bang's Disease. He said the Ontario Department of Agriculture is cooperating with breeders in calfhood vaccination as a system of reducing the disease.

Mr. Dewan's statement came during an address today to the Holstein Breeders of Durham, Ontario, Peterborough and Victoria Counties.

He reported on progress of the campaign to eliminate tuberculin-infected cattle. He said nearly every Ontario county has asked to become tuberculin-restricted areas and T. B. tests of cattle were nearly complete in Victoria and Peterborough Counties.

Accredited Area

"Ontario must become an accredited area if we are to hold our export markets," Mr. Dewan said. "Herds must be kept free of disease to meet the health requirements of other countries

He said the farmers in Ontario carry heavy mortgages and debts but the condition could not continue longer without serious consequences. He said he was opposed to the suggested solution of greater government control.

He said the problem could be met by a determination on the part of the farmer to help himself, co-operation from the government and with other classes in the community, and a return to the practice of thrift. Farmers must be made a self-sustaining economic unit.

Says Father Shot Daughter So That 'I May Go to Heaven'

Charlerio, Pa., June 20—(AP)—Little Ada Young lay near death today, the victim of a bullet wound which police said her 35-year-old father admitted inflicting "in order that I may go to Heaven."

State Policeman J. C. Conway reported Clair Young, coal miner and part-time evangelist, shot his 19-months-old daughter through the head with a .22 caliber pistol as she crawled toward him yesterday in their home near here.

Young's wife and 75-year-old mother rushed into the living room after hearing the shot and found him standing over the limp body of the child.

"I felt I had to sacrifice in the eyes of the Lord in order that I may go to Heaven," Conway said the man muttered.

PRESIDENT VETOES BILL

Washington, June 20—(AP) — President Roosevelt vetoed today a bill extending the time for starting and completing construction of a bridge across the Niagara River at Niagara Falls, N.Y.

In a message to the House, the President said he turned down the measure because the original act, authorizing construction of the bridge, contained provisions exempting the bridge, income derived from it, and bonds issued to finance it from federal, state and local taxation.

City Folks From Farms Not Rural People Own Land Equities Nowadays

Boston, June 21—Migration to urban communities from rural areas in recent years has brought the city and farm groups closer together and has meant a great increase in the equity in farm property transferred to town people, Muri McDonald, of Ames, Ia., chairman of the Kiwanis agricultural committee, told Kiwanians at a convention session today.

"There are in many localities people living on farms and operating them who have only a minor ownership interest. This means that city people have a direct interest in the future of agriculture and the welfare of farm families," Mr. McDonald said.

Kiwanians have long recognized this inter-relation between urban and rural areas and are actively promoting programs to better the social and financial relationships between the two groups, Mr. McDonald explained. During the next twelve months some 2,000 clubs will promote diversified agricultural projects, develop soil erosion campaigns, sponsor vocational agriculture in high schools and bring together town and country groups for cooperative study of urban and rural problems.

Over 5,000 high schools are already teaching vocational agriculture to 125,000 youths in the United States, according to the agricultural leader, and at present there are 1,340 Kiwanis clubs engaged in urban-rural activities.

Other work which Kiwanis clubs will promote during the coming year include dairy and grain exhibits, sponsoring county fairs, cattle shows, agricultural implement demonstrations, introducing new farm machinery equipment and developing curb markets.

Public Confident

Robert A. Wood, of Minneapolis, chairman of a business standards committee stated, "Business will have to gain the confidence and support of the majority of people if private enterprise wishes to build a firm foundation for the future.

"Most people form their opinions from what they know of the industries and business in their home communities," he said.

"Because business is stagnated at the present time, with labor knocking at the back-door of business and industry with many unreasonable demands, and government at the front door demanding increased taxes and control of private interests, industry finds itself confronted with problems never before experienced.

"Business must bring forth representative leadership and good citizenship!

"We are going to cooperate with the government in sound and legitimate functions and oppose unsound policies. We are going to urge public officials to cooperate with business and industry and see to it that business gets a fair break in the execution of laws affecting industry," he stated.

Wagner Act

"A better understanding between employer and employee will never result from legislation," Charles E. Millikan, of Los Angeles, chairman of a U.S. public affairs committee said.

"All are familiar with the provisions of the Wagner Act! Out of that act there has resulted the greatest confusion between employer and employee in the history of industrial relations. We have had more strikes affecting more people and with greater loss to the public, than in any other time in our history.

"Ethics are never promoted by public legislation. Moral and ethical standards are the result of education and not the result of publicly exerted authority," he said.

Attack on Churches

"Political and religious persecution in Europe has reawakened the religious spirit in America and we are finding churches increasing both in membership and attendance," Charles S. Donley, of Pittsburgh, Pa., exclaimed.

Because all churches are being attacked, demonstrations are setting aside their doctrinal differences to defend the whole organization of the church, Mr. Donley told a crowded conference of delegates who will return to their home communities with programs to strengthen church life.

"All of us should realize that legislation, mediation and conferences have failed to bring peace and harmony to social and economic problems of the present times," Mr. Donley said.

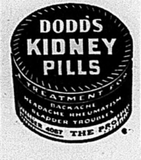
"These conditions are reasons why Kiwanis, as an organization of men from all churches, is lending support. We are not a political organization, but as a group of private citizens dedicate ourselves to maintenance of high moral and material standards of living."

Ministers, priests, Jewish rabbis and outstanding religious laymen will be enlisted in community-wide promotion of religious activities.

The conference today stressed the importance of churches discovering natural talents of both young and old which in times past have been forgotten. Kiwanis-church programs will promote self expression. This will be done by conducting activities in art, dramatics, public speaking, music, etc.

Annual Election

The annual election of officers is scheduled for the convention today. Six members of the board of trustees today end their two-year term of office. They are: Frank E. Finley, Wilkinsburg, Pa.; Dr. Charles B. Holman, St. Louis, Mo.; Donald B. Rice, Oakland, Calif.; Mark A. Smith, Thomaston, Ga.; William A. Williams, Cleveland, O.; and Dr. W. Eugene Wolcott, Des Moines, Ia. Bennett O. Knudson, Albert Lea, Minn. and J. J. Smith, Regina, Sask., vice-presidents and Samuel F. Clabaugh, Nashville Tenn., treasurer, also finish their one-year term of office.



DODDS KIDNEY PILLS

89TH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Mrs. Wm. Jackman, Stirling, Entertained by W.M.S. of St. Paul's Church

Stirling, June 20 —(Special) — Truly fitting were the messages of congratulation and good wishes modestly accepted by Mrs. Wm. Jackman, one of the district's oldest residents, who on Saturday, June 17th, celebrated her 89th birthday at the Church St. home of her son, Mr. and Mrs. Elgin Jackman. Throughout the day and evening greetings were expressed in appropriate cards sent through the mail and friends in large numbers called personally to add their good wishes. In the evening the Friendship circle of the St. Paul's Women's Missionary Society called in a group to honour this active lady, who for more than thirty years has faithfully attended the meetings of the society and also regular services of worship in St. Paul's Church.

After the gay party, a member of the press called to add greetings and the charming lady herself answered the door and welcomed him with a warm smile, that stimulated the friendly atmosphere which prevailed over a most interesting interview. Mrs. Jackman was born in Rawdon Township, as were her parents before her, she is the last remaining of nine children of the late Mr and Mrs. Myer Hubble. Her grandparents were among a group of United Empire Loyalists of Dutch descent. Born in Mount Pleasant district she terminated her academic training on graduating from Allan Public School. There were no High Schools in those days. For sixty-five years, she was the proud help mate, house keeper, and mother, in the operation of a farm on the sixth concession of Rawdon along with her late husband who passed away some twelve years ago.

The activity still continues, even as we talked her fingers stopped work only long enough to reach for a pair of scissors, thread or other working material, for this energetic lady within a dozen years of the century mark has transformed the old fashioned craft of quilt making into an art which occupies her time almost completely. As we watched in admiration her nimble fingers picked up a tiny piece of material which was only one of 14,400 that would some day adorn the bed of some proud owner. Piecing fifty of these tiny patches into six inch squares of which it takes 288 to make a complete quilt, looked like an endless task [illegible] us and this worker seemed able to go on endlessly.

Among those who joined her most proudly in her celebration are her son, Elgin Jackman of Stirling, her daughter, Mrs. Charles Dracup of Rawdon. Five grand children, five great grandchildren, and one great great grand child.

After pleasantly chatting for a time the guest left promising himself that he would return to see this article at a later stage, for doubtless it will be a display of beauty in needle craft.

MUST NOT ABANDON DOG OR CAT

Toronto, June 20—(CP)—Abandoning a cat or dog or any other pet is a criminal offence punishable with a fine of $500 and possible imprisonment, J. M. Wilson Toronto Humane Society official, said today. Wilson condemned "unfeeling citizens who abandon their pets when they go away for the summer."

Toronto Humane Society has obtained convictions against such persons, Mr. Wilson said, adding: "and if we find the owner we make it our business to see he pays the penalty."

A parlour meeting of Woman's Christian Temperance Union was held in the parlour of the Baptist Church on Friday, p.m. June 13., the President Mrs. A. Moore, presiding and Miss Lavoie at the piano. The meeting was opened with prohibition songs, followed by prayer and repetition of the pledge.

The Worship Service was conducted by Mrs. (Rev.) Claude Olmstead, Scripture reading being Mark 9:17-29. One topic of discussion which Christ taught nearly 2,000 years ago, has yet to be fulfilled. More evangelism in all the lives of professing Christians would soon hasten that day.

Mesdames Doolittle and Froman rendered a very beautiful duet "Never mind —go on' which was much appreciated The President suggested that we 'go on' talking Temperance regardless of discouragements. Our Heavenly Father will give the Harvest.

The singing of the theme song was followed by a Spiritual and educational address by Rev. C. V. Freeman of the Alliance Tabernacle, drawing attention to the immense profits made from sale of liquors in the United States of America, but as ill-gotten gains never prosper, such gain pushes them farther and farther in the mire.

He also drew attention to 'Thirteen questions on Liquor Trade' in Friday morning's Globe and Mail, and emphasized the fact that there were no permits required in Ontario.

There are 33 licensed houses within 300 yards of Jerusalem thus Palestine becomes the centre of the drink habit, defiling the Holy City.

Mrs. Nettie Farley then gave a very comprehensive report of the 30th annual conference of W.C.T.U. of the Counties Hastings, Lennox and Addington and Prince Edward which was held in Trenton King Street, United Church, Mrs. E. Farnsworth presiding. The Salvation Army had charge of the devotional exercises, the thought being that God is the King of all the earth and reigneth over all nations.

W.C.T.U. camp for workers is held every year at Consecon, from 20-29th July for eight days. It was decided to have Mrs. Mulholland, a field worker come to the Counties in October.

The Citizenship report showed that many petitions had been sent to the government against the publicity of prize winners of Sweepstakes and against sweepstakes themselves, against late closing of beverage rooms, against sending of war material to belligerent nations and against commercializing the Sabbath day.

The school for leaders meets in Willard Hall, August 3rd to 11th and every union is urged to send a delegate.

Mrs. (Dr.) Baker's report on Sc. Temperance showed an encouraging amount of work done in Public and High Schools. It was strongly recommended that we stress, as never before our prayer life and dependence on Divine aid.

That we stress our educational work among the boys and girls and young people through the department of medal contests and scientific temperance in Sunday Schools

It was also urged that the local W.C.T.U. co-operate with Women's Missionary Society, Woman's Association and Women's Institute in public meetings in preparing interesting and educational programs and in every way possible.

Dr. George A. Little, Associate Editor of United Church S.S. publications gave the address of the evening, which as we might expect was full of much food for thought. He criticized the Liquor Control Board in that though they had promised to take the liquor problem out of politics it has been taken farther into politics.

Mental Hospitals are filling fast or over-flowing as a result of the increased consumption of alcohol.

5,000 women were arrested for drunkenness in the last five yeas. The liquor people spent seventy-five million dollars last year to put out literature to induce boys and girls to want alcoholic drinks.

A piano duet was very capably rendered by Misses Jean Cook and Edna Johnston and the meeting closed with the Mizpah Benediction after which light refreshments were served.

Little Benny's Note Book

We were eating breakfist and I said, G, it's going to seem fearse and long in school today, so near to vacation and everything.

That ought to be the best part of it, the anticipation of a whole summer of freedom, yee gods you dont know when you're sitting pretty, pop said. Any class B phillosopher can tell you that anticipation is the keenest pleasure that life affords, but take my case, what have I got to anticipate? Just an endless succession of other days dictating to a freckle face girl chewing an unmusical piece of gum with her mind on some other man, not that I'd want it on me but I wouldn't mind if at least a small part of it was on the subject under dictation, and all the time my mind is haunted by a dread forboding that the biggest fool and longest winded bore in the world will drop in just at lunch time, yee gods what a vane existence, he said.

DRESSMAKER'S VICTIM

Willyum Potts such talk, your days float by on a rosy tinted cloud compared to mine, ma said. Now just take today as a mild example. The men are coming from the storage company to roll up the rugs, and I'll have to over-see the whole operation and proberly do most of the actual work or otherwise it will be a botch, and then, tired as I am, I mean as I'll be, I have to spend the entire afternoon posing as a dressmaker's victim, standing like patience incarnate while she measures and pins and tucks, all for something that proberly wont be fit to wear. O yes, you have a hard day to look fallward to, I must say, she said, and pop said. Well anyway I still insist it's harder than Benny's.

Making me seem like the luckiest, and I started for school feeling better instead of worse.

A ROYAL HOME-COMING

First welcome to the British Isles tomorrow for the King and Queen who have conquered all hearts in North America will be the two little girls, the Princess Elizabeth and Princess Margaret Rose, daughters of Their Majesties. They are to travel by warship and meet the royal yacht, the Empress of Britain, an hour before she reaches Southampton where thousands of the British nation will give welcome with cheers of thanksgiving.

The welcome home they bring is of a sacred character—that of children for their parents, and they are to have a full hour with Their Majesties. That will be the busiest hour King George and Queen Elizabeth have spent in a long time when children and parents, separated for a month and a half, are reunited.

That happy family scene with outpouring of love, rightly has first place, for the King and the Queen are first of all, a man and a woman, parents of two of the loveliest girls in the world. No greater welcome to England could there be than the welcome of these children and their royal parents' meeting with them.

Britain's people have a wholesome respect for family life and they think so much of their Sovereigns because of the happy life of their home. This is ancestral in the people and throne. Of Queen Victoria the poet laureate of her day, Lord Tennyson, said: "Her court was pure ,her life serene." That is what the Briton wants above all. The life of the family is the sacred hearth about which the house and the palace and Parliaments are built.

The Princesses will give their parents that heartiest of welcomes they can desire. Such family affection is the very heart of the British democracy.

SLIMMING DIONNES

Early in life the quintuplet Dionnes have to go a-slimming. Most youngsters are looked upon as chubby, they may grow up very stout and sometimes they become thin as they reach youth or adulthood.

But not so the Quints. Out go the potatoes for the nurses too for the sake of peace which must reign in the household after the doctor says that starch and sugars must be restricted in the diet of the Quints because they are a little too fat. At first the Dionnes did not like the notion because as Dr. Dafoe says "our girls have tremendous appetites and play like little furies and if we allowed them to continue fattening they would become loggy and slow in their play." But Marie, Emelie, Yvonne, Annette and Cecile will find it hard to see it that way. If they knew they would sympathize with the stout man and woman who have so hard a time to convince themselves that they should be lighter, how to go about dieting and how to stick to it.

The little Dionnes have the best diet. The diet is not strict. Only potatoes are definitely out. It is not so senseless as some of the diets adults take by cutting out almost everything, whereas reduction ordinarily would come by eating a little less volume.

The Dionnes are young. They will no doubt overcome very shortly their slightly too fat condition. When they grow up to be youthful girls they will no doubt thank Dr. Dafoe for his decision.

Even a royal child likes play and buffoonery, too. There has appeared a photograph of a scene on the balcony of Buckingham Palace at the time of the trooping of the color ceremony for the Horse Guards' Parade, when Prince Edward, son of the Duke of Kent, grew playful and forgetting or disregarding in a sense of childish mischief the seriousness of the occasion, picked up a cushion, evidently with the idea of throwing it at the crowd below watching the ceremony. As he was carrying it to the railing of the balcony to heave it over, the hand of a lady-in-waiting and that of Princess Margaret Rose intervened and Prince Edward did not throw the pillow.

British people are so pleased that the children of the royal family are being brought up in so natural an atmosphere, that they may even give way to a prank. They are children first and are not repressed in their natural emotions.

NOT SO KIND

The costermonger smiled happily at the thought that his donkey was enjoying a free feed.

"You're a good little girl to be so kind to a dumb friend," he said. "But who gave you those carrots?"

The good little girl also smiled happily.

"I took them from the back of your barrow," she said, simply.

BITTER WINE

I drink alone,
But lonely wine no pleasure brings;
I sing my song,
But only echo answer brings.

I did arise
And call the moon to my repast
With beckoning eyes—
The moon and Shadow came at last.

The moon is cold,
And shadows are insipid things.
I drink alone,
But lonely wine no pleasure brings.

CANADIANS ARE VERY PROUD OF THE SUCCESS OF THE ROYAL TOUR of Canada and the United States, and this includes a very real pride in the Royal Train and the streamlined right up-to-the-minute locomotive which drew the Royal Train over three thousand miles with grace, precision and the utmost efficiency, train and locomotive both a credit to Canadian workmanship and efficiency. Canada can well be proud of Canada's part in the success of the Royal Tour, an all-important part. Now the suggestions are piling up in regard to the disposition of the Royal Train and locomotive. We would humbly suggest that the train and locomotive be permitted to retrace its steps and linger longer at those places where it was whisked by in a hurry because other and more important, apparently, places might have longer visits with the Royal Couple. F'rinstance Ottawa had to have a few extra social functions which prevented the Royal party from giving more than a passing glance at the beautiful banks and picturesque expanse of the grand old St. Lawrence river from Cornwall to Kingston, not to mention the thousands of loyal subjects gathered to acclaim Their Majesties and denied but a fleeting glimpse of the royal train and party. Belleville, too, had to be satisfied with a glimpse in the gathering darkness. Have the royal train retrace its steps in a leisurely manner and linger at these neglected spots and give the people an opportunity to inspect the train with all its reflected glory. Much will likely be said in print in the days to come of arrangements which might well have been improved but the water has passed under the bridge and will return no more so let's make the best of the job, bad or good, and take pleasure in the general success of the Grand Tour which will not soon be forgotten.

SCHOOL DAYS! SCHOOL DAYS! GOOD OLD GOLDEN RULE DAYS! readin', ritin', and 'rithmetic, all to the tune of a hickory stick—the grind is nearing its end and soon youth will be free once more to revel in the great open spaces, or to ponder on more serious business such as getting a job, and all that sort of thing—glorious youth with its high hopes, courage and determination to make life worth while. For the kiddies the great open spaces are calling with all their wonderful attractions. Youth today, goes out into the great open spaces better equipped than their parents to absorb useful knowledge of bush lore, and the habits of the feathered and furred inhabitants of the great outdoors through school lessons, or Boy Scouts or Girl Guides or similar organizations and consequently mingle enjoyment and healthful recreation with the acquiring of useful knowledge.

NOW FOR THE CIRCUS, the joy of our childhood and still able to give a pleasurable thrill to more mature age. The circus is an institution which should live forever, if it isn't streamlined out of existence. The circus of David Harum's barefoot days need never die for it is an institution of pleasure and education, and transforms a sombre workaday world into a glorious Haroum Al Raschild vision of oriental brightness, jungle memories, leaping, flashing athletes and all the wonders of the modern circus—not to forget those great massive intelligent beasts of the jungle, ponderous, intelligent and sagacious, without which no circus would be complete—THE ELEPHANTS ARE COMING — COUNT 'EM — THIRTY — tail up, Mom, Nell, Bess, Bill and all the rest of 'em.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Treatment of Chronic Backache and Sciatica

In former days, when a patient got a pain in his back which went down into his hip and then down his leg to his foot, it was called lumbago and sciatica and he took the usual remedies for rheumatism. When he recovered from the acute attack, there often remained a "shortened" leg, and a stiff back which was expected to remain with him for years if not permanently.

Today every backache or sciatica that lasts for more than a few weeks is considered a chronic, disabling condition, the cause of which must be found and, if possible, removed.

Dr. William A. Steele, Philadelphia, in New England Journal of Medicine, states that the actual predisposing cause of chronic back ache and sciatica is long-continued faulty posture (the way one stands or sits). Flat foot and muscular weakness are the most frequent causes of faulty posture.

The individual with flat feet and muscular weakness has a fall, tries to lift a heavy weight, makes a step downward on what he thinks is level ground, swings a golf club and misses the ball, or does any one of a number of things that puts a sudden strain on the ligaments holding the last spine bone and the hip bones together. At first the pain is in the lower back but later affects the hip and goes down the leg to the foot. Dr. Steel advises that a search be made for infection in teeth, tonsils, or other parts. Faulty posture may be corrected by exercise. Before exercise is given however, most orthopedic physicians advise the use of a belt or brace, and the application of heat to take the tension out of the muscles which have been trying to "splint" the joint to prevent further strain on it.

The exercise of walking on outsides of feet, raising on toes, and picking up an object with the toes, will gradually correct flat feet. If feet are "rigid", arch supports may be necessary.

Manipulation by an orthopedic or osteopathic physician, if given early, often corrects any slight displacement of the bones of the joint.

In severe cases operation to hold the bones together by bone grafts may be necessary. Dr. Steel outlines the various methods of injecting the spinal canal with novacain and with alcohol. These injections often give relief from pain for a number of months.

DEPORTATION LAW SPLITS UP CANADIAN FAMILY

With inexorable severity, the governments of Canada and the United States have made a Solomon-like decision ordering the separation of a family. The order is to affect John F. McNeil, of Los Angeles, a Canadian war veteran and his seven children plus his wife. The U. S. government charges him with illegal entry and is deporting him. The Canadian government refuses to accept four of his children, because they were born in the United States. McNeil is on relief. Go By Special Train

The Queen mother, the Duke and Duchess of Gloucester, the Duke and Duchess of Kent, and the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood, are going to Southampton by special train to meet the King and Queen as they disembark.

Here is the timetable for the principle events tomorrow:

(All times British Summer Time—subtract five hours for Eastern Daylight Time).

8:50 a.m. The Princesses leave Waterloo station.

12:45 p.m. Special train with royal relatives leaves for Southampton.

2:00 p.m. Special train arrives at Southampton.

2:50 p.m. Empress of Britain reaches Southampton.

3:20 p.m. The King and Queen land.

3.55 p.m. Special train leaves for London.

5.25 p.m. Special train arrives Waterloo station.

5:30 p.m. Carriage procession leaves station for Buckingham Palace.

Ride With Parents

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose will ride in the same carriage with their parents through the streets to the palace to hear and see the acclaim of the London crowds. The royal suite will follow in other carriages. At Buckingham Palace a detachment of the King's Guard will be drawn up in the forecourt.

London's west end will present a carnival scene tomorrow night. Fashionable hotels are giving special parties to celebrate conclusion of the momentous tour.

The ordinary citizen whose means do not run to such splurges will be content to drink Their Majesties' health in a glass of beer.

Visitors Pour In

By GUY RHOADES

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Southampton, England, June 21—(CP Cable)—Visitors poured into this bustling seaport today to join Southampton's own citizens in a rousing demonstration of enthusiasm when the King and Queen disembark tomorrow at the conclusion of a six weeks visit to the new world.

Many of them have come long distances to participate in the mighty welcome—some from Canada and the United States which Their Majesties have just left. The Canadian contingent includes Mrs. R. Billings of Peterborough, Ont., who saw the royal tourists in Toronto May 22 and wants to compare the Canadian and British welcomes.

Seamen to Line Docks

The King is returning home in his capacity as master of the merchant navy with the flag of the merchant navy flying in the liner Empress of Britain. To mark the occasion 500 seamen will line the royal route through the docks. Among them will be 200 lascars whose colorful clothes will add a touch of pageantry to the scene.

Volunteer soldiers of the 5th, 7th Hampshire regiment will form the official guard of honor at the civic centre where various presentations will be made. Nearly 2,000 members of the British Legion and other ex-service organizations have been invited to line the route through the streets.

Mayor A. H. Powdrill was snowed under with applications from persons wishing to occupy special seats at the civic centre where the King and Queen are to spend five minutes before proceeding to the station. There are 2,000 seats but 5,000 persons want to use them.

ART MIX TELLS US HOW TO BECOME 'WESTERN' ACTOR

What are the requirements for becoming a Western star in the movies was asked of Art Mix, who has appeared in over 100 pictures playing the leading role.

"To become a Western actor one must know how to ride and ride well," he stated. "He can't just sit on a horse, but he must be able to set a pace for the best riders everywhere to follow. He should be in a class by himself in this respect.

"Next, a chap must screen well; that is he must have a personality or be a distinct type. A lot of fellows can ride horses but they must be distinctive.

"After a man is selected as a good screen type and can ride well he must learn by months and years of constant work the art of acting. A hell raising, two-gun, bronco buster may be able to ride like nobody's business, and he may look like a million dollars on the screen, but if he can't act he is still lacking one of the essential qualities that would fit him for stardom."

A native of Boseman, Mont., Art Mix punched cattle and rode the ranges of Montana and Wyoming. He appeared in championship rodeos throughout the United States, Canada and in Europe, twice winning the gold medal as the champion cowboy of the world.

As a Western screen star Art Mix has appeared in more than 100 films as the star. His pictures have been shown throughout the world. He recently returned to the United States from a personal appearance tour in Europe.

Art Mix with his great congress of rough riders, Indians and Cossacks is coming to Belleville, Thursday, June 29, with the Cole Bros. Circus. There are 700 people with the show including 300 performers. Two special trains transport the show from city to city. An immense street parade will be seen on the down-town streets at 11 a.m. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m.

Memorial Service Held in Marmora

Marmora—Morning Prayer at St. Paul's on Sunday took the form of a memorial service for Melbourne, Dorothy, John and Wallace Johnston children of Mr. and Mrs. David Johnston who lost their lives on Sunday evening, January 22nd, of this year in a fire which destroyed their home at Cordova. Included in the large congregation were the bereaved parents and their surviving son, Donald and relatives besides Principal Vance and scholars of Cordova Public School. Flowers on the altar and credence table were given by the teachers and scholars of Cordova School in memoriam while on the organ, were flowers from Mrs Arthur Smith in memory of her son, Gerald, who died three years ago. The hymns were fittingly chosen for the occasion. Parts of the eighteenth chapter of St. Matthew's Gospel and of the first chapter of the 1st Epistle to the Thessalonians constituted the lesson which was read by W. J. Cottrell, Diocesan Lay Reader. Rural Dean A. B. Caldwell based his address on Romans 8:23, "The gift of God is eternal life in Jesus Christ our Lord". In his opening remarks the preacher referred to the contrast between the teaching of St. Paul and that of St John and yet he would show that eternal life was characterized in the teaching of each. Continuing in part he said "Life, life, more life. That is the cry of manhood in every age. The young say "We want to live long". The aged say "Let us live a little longer". The sick say "Let our lives be renewed" and the strong say "Save us from disease". How few of us realize that our prayers for the safety of our bodies should be doubled in earnestness and sincerity for the life hereafter. Physical life is a great gift but eternal life is a gift beyond our comprehension. Life is a free gift to us. This is true of all life. Man cannot transmit life The Lord killeth and maketh alive. This is true of the physical life—how much more so of the life beyond our understanding? Man cannot create spiritual life? Many are foolishly trying to create spirituality in their approach to God. Only the grace of God can do this to our hearts" In concluding remarks of comfort to the bereaved Rural Dean Caldwell said "We mourn our physical loss in brotherly contact in companionship in love and in its pains because we are in need of those while on earth but let us rejoice with the spirits gone to Christ".

During the Offertory, a duet "Some day we'll understand" was feelingly rendered by Mrs. P. Gray and Mrs. C. Nichol.

NAZI PROPAGANDA IN S. AMERICA TERMED A 'FLOP'

C.M.A. Hear Address of Exporter on South American Markets

FED UP WITH JUNK

Bigwin Island, Ont., June 21 — (CP)—German propaganda directed to South American countries was described as a "flop" by D. R. Jack, export manager of the Rubberset Company, New York, addressing the annual convention of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association.

"You have undoubtedly heard or read a great deal about German and Italian competition in the South American markets and of propaganda directed to these countries," Mr. Jack said.

"The competition consists of absurdly low prices for the lowest possible merchandise."

He said one South American business man told him merchants were "fed up with the propaganda and the junk being sent them." The great majority preferred to buy American and Canadian goods if they were obtainable at prices their local customers could afford to pay.

"As for political propaganda from Germany, an investigator recently covered that situation tersely when he reported 'German propaganda is a flop,'" said Mr. Jack who urged development by Canadian manufacturers of export trade to South American countries.

Australian Manufacturing Gets Big Impetus

L. R. Macgregor, Australia Trade Commissioner in the United States told the Association that tremendous impetus has been given manufacturing by recognition of the need for actively equipping British Dominions for their own defence.

A close liasion had been established between governments and industry as a definite national policy to which all political parties subscribed.

He said the saturation point of investment of overseas capital in Australian manufacturing had by no means been reached.

"Industrial development has reached a point at which goods to the value of $50,000,000 a year, now being imported, can be manufactured in Australia," he said. "Of this total about $9,000,000 represents goods now imported from British and other Empire countries.

"These factors should be considered in estimating the future trend in Australia's foreign trade."

N.Z. Wants Canadian Co-operation

R. M. Firth, Trade and Tourist Commissioner for New Zealand in Canada and the United States, noted a recession in New Zealand exports to Canada recently. At the same time Canadian exports to New Zealand had increased.

"We know we can not have a complete balance of trade, but we do hope for complete Canadian co-operation," he said.

KING GEORGE 'NOT FUSSY' ABOUT HIS HAIR CUT

Ottawa, June 21 — (CP) —Paul (Red) Tasse, barber on the royal train during the visit of the King and Queen, said today His Majesty was not the least "fussy" about how his hair was dressed and that he shaved himself daily with a safety razor.

"I cut his hair four times," said Tasse, "he never gave any special instructions as to how he wanted it cut. He just told me to cut his hair."

TRY IT THE "SALADA" WAY
Infuse 6 heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh, boiling water. After 6 minutes strain liquid into 2-quart container; while hot, add 1 to 1½ cups of sugar and juice of 2 lemons, strained; stir until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding cold water or liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice. The above makes 7 tall glasses.

Queen to "Buy" B. C. Gulf Isle

Vancouver, B.C.—As a result of the Queen's query, "Could I buy one of these lovely islands?" to the ship's skipper while enroute through the Gulf of Georgia between Victoria and Vancouver, government officials here are considering a proposal to deed one of the picturesque islands that dot the scenic Gulf to Queen Elizabeth.

The Gulf Islands, reached by regular day excursion trips from Vancouver, comprise an archipelago famous as summer resorts. Midway between this city and Vancouver Island, they are claimed to be to the Pacific Coast what the Channel Islands are to England and the Atlantic coast.

A wealth of summer blossoms made a lovely setting for the afternoon tea held yesterday at the home of Mrs. G. E. Deroche under the auspices of Mrs. G. A. Ferguson's and Mrs. A. H. Maguire's groups of the Woman's Association of Bridge Street United Church. The guests were welcomed by Mrs. Deroche, Mrs. C. L. Hyde, president of the W.A., and Mrs. Ferguson. Mrs. R. D. Davidson acted as hostess in the living room while Mrs. W. E. Gartley invited the guests to the tea room. Bowls of daisies were used in the decoration of the dining room, and formed the centrepiece for the tea table, tall ivory tapers adding to the decorative scheme. Mrs. C. D. Tripp and Mrs. L. S. Wight poured tea. Mrs. James Semple and Mrs. R. D. Adams were in charge of the tea table and the tea assistants were Miss D. Williams, Miss B. Anderson, Miss Mary Anderson, Mrs. Greer Roberts, Mrs. O. B. Ragsdale, Mrs. Clive Ryan, Mrs. Wm. Knowles and Mrs. W. G. Anderson. The home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. A. H. Maguire, Mrs. G. P. Cole and Mrs. W. J. Sharpe. Miss Ivy Dickens acted as treasurer for the very successful affair.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

A Job to Cure Loneliness

Dear Miss Fairfax

My first husband died and left me with two boys. I had been a stenographer before my marriage, so I had no difficulty getting a good position. Two years later I married again. My husband belongs to several lodges and different associations, which he attends on his nights off, or he goes to a ballgame, drinks, and forgets to come home.

I spend my evening alone, as the boys go to bed early. My husband gives me just barely enough for food, and if the boys need something I have to figure how I can cut down on even this scant allowance. I'm 35, fairly good looking, in excellent health, and my heart aches for companionship. I love to dance, go to movies and shows.

I do all my own housework, including laundry, cooking. I never have a cent to spend on myself or clothes. The question is, should I go back to work, or do you know of any way I can make money at home? My boys will soon be grown up, and what then?

Undecided

How fortunate you are that you have a good profession and have proved your ability to make it self-supporting. Naturally you are ambitious for your children and want to do something for them in the way of an education. If you go back to your job as a stenographer, you would be able to hire someone to do the housework you now do yourself. It's pretty difficult to make money at home although many women have managed successfully to conduct stenographic and typing offices there.

The Bride Given Away by Her Mother

Dear Miss Fairfax

Is it correct, for a bride to be given away by her mother, when her father is dead? I would much prefer to dispense with this formality, but my mother is so anxious to do this that I hate to refuse her, as she says I am all she has left in this world.

Also, she wants me to wear white and a veil. I should like to be economical and be marriep in my travelling dress. For the same reason, I do not want an elaborate collation. Would wedding cake and fruit cake be enough and have you a good recipe for fruit punch?

Margery

It's perfectly proper for a mother to give her daughter in marriage. She does not, of course, walk down the aisle, but sits in the front pew, and when the question is asked: "Who Giveth this Woman in marriage," the mother answers "I do".

I'm sorry you did not give me your full name, though I have your address, because my wedding leaflet and recipe for punch addressed only to Margery is likely to go astray, especially as you live in an apartment house.

Romeo and Juliet Today

Dear Miss Fairfax:

If we could only discover why our parents are so opposed to our marriage, our trouble would be easier to bear. My sweetheart is 25, has a good job, and can afford to support a wife I am 22, and have a fair job at $20 a week, and am willing to keep on working after we're married.

The funny part of this is that our parents are good friends, and they're always holding secret sessions and ganging up on us. My parents admit they've nothing against me. Yet we're driven to sneaking, and sneak we do, because we don't intend to give each other up.

Things can't go on like this, and our parents are deaf to arguments and entreaties. My older sister who is happily married has no patience with our parents' attitude. She urges me to come to her house and be married from there. As we're both of age, is there any impediment to our marriage that you know of?

Determined

No there is certainly no legal impediment to young people, who are of age, and self-supporting, getting married. And as your sister is entirely sympathetic to you, why not have her take the matter up with your parents? Tell them she thinks their attitude is not reasonable, and that she proposes to have you married from her home.

Weddings

LAPALM—TENEY

A very pretty wedding was solemnized on Friday evening, June 16th., in the presence of a few relatives and intimate friends, when Bernice May Teney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Frederick, Trenton Road, formerly of Foxboro, became the bride of Kenneth P. LaPalm. Rev. B. M. Cooke of Foxboro circuit, officiated at the service.

The bride looked charming in a dress of navy with mauve accessories, wearing a picture hat and also a corsage of roses.

The young couple were attended by Mr. and Mrs. T. Colden. Mrs. Colden wore a pale blue chiffon dress with white accessories and white picture hat and wore a corsage of roses.

The groom's gift to the bride was a cabinet of silver. The happy couple left amid showers of confetti for a honeymoon to Niagara Falls and western points The bride travelled in a navy blue suit with hat, purse, and shoes to match. The couple will reside on their return at Oak Lake for the summer.

Shoulder Your Beauty Burdens

LORETTA YOUNG

Exercise, diet keep her shoulders shapely

By HELEN FOLLETT

BE CHESTY, be normally busty, but see that you don't get a bit too plump on the shoulders. It's not enough to have a svelte and lovely silhouette; one must work to retain it. Life is filled with changes, and getting adipose tissues where they shouldn't be is a change that does not make for human happiness.

Take a peek at your shoulders. If there is a sign of thickness, shrug them. Do this in the privacy of your bedroom, else the family may ask silly questions.

Here is an exercise that is recommended by teachers of physical culture: Stand erect, tummy as close to the back bone as you can get it, feet several inches apart, toes pointing straight ahead. Lower the arms, clasp the hands in front of the body. Take a deep, full breath, expanding the chest to the busting point, lifting the shoulders high, bringing the hands up to the chest as you do that. Twenty times twice a day.

Let the hands hang at the sides, life them on a line with the shoulders, do a grand old shoulder shrug, pivoting at the waistline, sending the upper part of the body from side to side.

Take some member of your family into your confidence, have her hammer your shoulders with her folded hands. Adipose tissue can be pounded into a coomatose state which causes it to go off and die.

It is the woman who is on good terms with her finger wave that is able to keep it strong from one shampoo to the next. She understands the desires of her tresses, lets them have their way. Then they won't go stringy.

Begin by combing the curly ends. Sweep the comb through the undulation, getting the lines as smooth as glass, and give a little forward push. Ends can be curly-cued with a narrow brush or a fine, narrow comb.

Every time the hair is waved it should follow the same design. Then the locks are trained. Changing wave lines drives the hair crazy and it s likely to show its teeth and snarl at you.

After trimming your toenails with the scissors, give the eaves a smooth edge by using a beveling file of emery board. Don't cut down at the sides; if you do you will have ingrowing nails.

Soften the surrounding cuticle by massaging with mineral oil. If you chance upon any budding corns, use mineral oil there. The way to prevent them is to wear shoes that do not press upon the flesh.

In the warm weather soft corns are likely to appear on the inner surfaces of the toes. They will disappear if the skin is kept dry. Sprinkle talcum powder on pads of cotton, tuck them between the toes.

If one toe is lifted among its [illegible] [illegible] [illegible] matter: amputation is sometimes necessary.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Discourteous Drivers are Dangerous Drivers

The minute some drivers take their place behind the wheel, they seem to throw their manners out of window. Many of this odious type, always exasperating pests on the road, often become road menaces because of their bad manners.

A source for wonder is the cause of the curious change that takes place in the behaviour of some people when they take their place at the wheel. With their families, friends and their manners co-makers, they are kind and considerate people; when they play golf, tennis or any other sport, they invariably abide by the etiquette of the game. On all counts their conduct is a model of consideration.

And then they buy a car! They swell with pride. Their mannerliness and consideration for other people immediately depart from their minds. They swoop down the road, leaving their manners in the dust behind them. Is it their pride-of-possession that works this change? Or is it a vain glorious and childish desire to show supremacy over other people's machines? Or is it, as I have often figured out, that they are decent and mannerly to people they know, and, like social cowards, are boorish and inconsiderate to their road-companions whom they do not know? Perhaps it is a combination of all these things that gives them the complex that they are Lords of the Road.

Humbly, and with a full realization of the black looks that I will undoubtedly be given by drivers who are natively and habitually discourteous and inconsiderate, I suggest:

Don't hog the road. Don't obstinately drive in the centre of the road when you are given the signal that someone wants to pass.

Keep on your side.

Don't constantly edge in ahead of other cars.

Don't be niggardly about the amount of room you give a car that wants to pass you. Don't you appreciate it when a driver gives you ample room to pass?

Don't use your horn to express your impatience. How much good does it do you to honk your horn when your car is in the middle of a traffic jam? You aren't the only one who doesn't want to be in that jam. Your horn should be blown for signals, not for bad temper.

Don't hoard your thank-you's. When a driver or a pedestrian shows a courtesy to you, it takes only a second and a "Thank you" to show him that you are civil too.

Cultivate other-fellowism. You don't know when you will be a "motorist in distress." So offer to help one who is.

The other driver, we'll grant you, may be "dumb" or "stupid" or discourteous, but so are many people in many circumstances other than driving. Don't shout at them or give them your most devastating brand of black looks. Don't take cowardly advantage of the fact that they don't know you!

Don't swoop around corners with no thought for pedestrians or for other cars.

Don't hold up a line of cars while you greet friends, look in shop windows or decide which route you will take.

Remember that one of the most distressing of discourtesies, often tragic in its consequences to the car or cars behind you, is your failure to give the proper signal or your failure to give any signal as to what you intend to do.

Remember, too, what a world of courtesy . . . or discourtesy . . . there is in the proper adjustment of your headlights.

Don't keep your good manners "in neutral" while you are driving. The Golden Rule is still the best rule, not only for courteous driving but for skilful driving.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Rickets in Childhood May Cause Great Distress in Later Life

Many a woman who has a great deal of trouble in having children, who is in labor a great many hours, and who may have to submit to a Caesarean operation, can blame her troubles on the fact that as a baby she had a bad case of rickets. I hate to think of how many times I have attended women in this category.

Of course today there is no excuse for any child having rickets, for we now know how to prevent it; however we still run across an occasional case—usually because the child's parents are careless.

Sometimes a case will be so advanced that ordinary treatment by giving cod-liver oil or Vitamin D is useless In such cases we have to give it by injection or by the mouth, in very concentrated form. We find, here, a bony structure almost entirely lacking in calcium. The bones are likely to be thick and long, for nature tries in this way to make up for the calcium deficiency, but they won't have any strength.

Although I have heard of children dying of rickets, I have never seen such a case. But what I have seen far too often is a child whose strength has been undermined by rickets die of some other disease. Those who recover carry the marks to the grave. Everyone knows the signs everyone knows some girl whose bowed legs make her miserable and self-conscious. Anyone who spends any time around a gymnasium has seen the deformed chests that cause many young fellows to be ashamed to take off their shirts when others are around. These things are the monuments rickets raises to itself. Let us hope that in another generation they will disappear. Certainly, there is no excuse for them today when we know how rickets can be avoided. I saw a rather horrible example of rickets several years ago. Rather I should say I studied an example that spead over a period of twenty years.

A couple, living in a little cabin miles from anywhere, had a baby. I attended the birth but didn't see the child again for some time. When I did, she was one of the worst case of rickets I've ever seen. From time to time I used to see her, twisted, deformed, because her parents were poor and ignorant and hadn't paid any attention to her condition.

One day when she was about eighteen years old I heard she was married. How the poor thing ever got any man to marry her I don't know. I knew there might be trouble if they ever had any family. It wasn't a very long time afterward before I was called again to see her. She was pregnant and would have a baby soon. Her confinement was one of the most difficult I have ever attended. The baby was born dead and she herself died ten days later. I am perfectly sure that if she had been properly cared for when she was a baby and rickets hadn't deformed her, she and her baby would have been alive and healthy today.

Hoofs Howling?

By HELEN FOLLETT

THIS IS the time of the year when the little footies protest. They twinge and burn and there is no health in them. You wish you were an acrobat so you could walk on your hands, give your poor hoofs a rest.

When they are in a state of torment, don't soak them in hot water; you'll just annoy them. Get out the cold cream jar, give them a brisk massage. Rub each pink toe separately. Thumb the upper portions of your feet and the soles. Stroke with flattened fingers, up and down, up and down. Clasp your fingers together under the waist of the foot and press with the thumbs on the instep. All this is soothing and comforting.

Wring a turkish towel out of ice cold water, wrap around your feet, hold it there until the flesh begins to steam. Repeat several times. Dry well, dust with borated talcum.

Put on fresh hosiery and a different pair of shoes. Change the shoes frequently during the summer days. Chuck the spiked heels for the season. The best shoe for hurty feet is a good oxford that provides support as frail straps never do. Put a little foot powder in the shoes every morning; it will absorb moisture that causes discomfort to the flesh.

Sit far back in your chair. Keep your feet flat on the floor. Twining them around the chair legs is not according to beauty Hoyle. Sit tall with no loops in your spinal column; you will have an appearance of elegance.

Watch the attitudes of the customers in any restaurants and you will discover that there are a lot of ways one should no disport oneself. And with street skirts cut short it is just as well to be sure that knees are covered.

ARRID

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

CHAPTER TWENTY-TWO

Linda's excitement had begun that first day, from the moment of her arrival. As she and Bill stepped from the car at the low, spreading villa which was the Blaine summer home, a photographer had popped from nowhere and snapped their picture. Resort photographers were on the lookout for new arrivals at the Blaine estate, because it was ten to one to make good society copy.

Now, on the eighth day of Linda's visit to Wonderland, she was speeding across the lake in the Blaine speedboat, "Mere-Maid 11, with Merry, in slacks and a blue form-fitting pull-over, at the helm. Spray splashed the goggles over Merry's eyes as the boat made lots of knots, and Merry's blonde hair, damp from spray, cascaded behind her head like a knight's streamer.

And, in the stern, low—below the curving wake from the sharp bow—Linda sat, snugly harbored in the curve of Bill's strong arm, an arm matching his face, which was now mahogany instead of the bronze she first knew.

The speedboat tore past the dock as Linda breathed a deep sigh, a sigh muffled by the roar of the motor's exhaust. Bill couldn't hear her, but he felt her relax and snuggle closer.

"Bill," she said, very close to his ear, in a whisper that was nearly a shout. "Isn't it perfect? I'm sorry it all has to end sometime, like a beautiful dream....Don't you love it?"

"Not it, Linda," he answered, and his lips were very close. "You. Y-O-U.

"And," he added, it "really doesn't have to end—ever—does it, Linda....?"

Linda wondered .

How close her beautiful dream was to ending, Linda little realized. Nor could she guess the sudden shock with which the delightful island interlude with Dr. Bill Blaine and his friends was to be terminated.

On the evening of her eighth day at Tahoe, Linda's thoughts kept her awake late. Bill had told her he loved her; told her that day on the lake, while Merry piloted "the speed-boat and they snuggled in the stern. So it had happened. It was coming true, the happy ending she had dreamed of, had yearned for. Bill had said their happiness never had to end.

Still, there was Mickey. How did he fit into the happy ending?

Thoughts of Mickey and Bill Blaine were all confused in her mind as Linda finally dropped off to sleep. Was Mickey all right? she wondered. Was he having a good time, being a good boy for Mrs. Blauer, hundreds of miles away?

And Bill Blaine was going to propose to her tomorrow. Linda, being a woman, knew that. Now, Linda, is the time to tell him — now, before he proposes....now.

The instant Linda was awakened it was Mickey who leaped to her mind. She couldn't have explained why. Some call it intuition or premonition or other imposing names.

The insistent pounding at Linda's bedroom door, punctuated by Merry Blaine's voice calling her name, awakened her.

Linda was wide awake, as she opened the door, to be greeted by a wide-eyed Merry.

"It's a telegram for you," Merry said. "The postmaster's on the phone now. It's from Capitola, he says."

Linda's hand flew to her throat. But she said nothing. She was already racing to the telephone.

"Yes, yes," Linda fought to keep her voice steady, "this is Linda Morton. Read it to me, please!"

Each word she heard through the receiver chipped a piece from Linda's chilled heart, and she bit her lower lip until a bright red line showed under her teeth.

"Mickey ill", the postmaster read. "Doctor says appendicitis — must operate. Need you. Try not worry, dear. Bertha Blauer.' '

When Linda had replaced the receiver and turned from the phone, she faced a little group gathered about her, none of whom she saw. Her eyes, which were filled with tears, were wide and staring. She looked directly at Bill Blaine, without seeing him, and said—as though to herself:

"It's Mickey. He needs me. He's sick."

Bill Blaine said nothing. It was Merry who spoke.

"Mickey?" she asked, not understanding. "Your brother, dear? Don't cry—he'll be all right. Buck up!"

While they watched, astounded, Linda burst into wild, uncontrolled laughter; laughed until the laughter broke into sobs and she buried her head in both hands.

"My brother, my brother" she gasped. "He's my baby. It's Mickey. It's my son, don't you understand? ....They're going to operate on him, a little baby, and I'm not there. His mother's not with him! His mother's...."

She broke off into hysterical subbing.

"Linda!" Bill shook her sharply by the shoulder. "Linda, snap out of it!"

Bill Blaine was not too surprised, despite Linda's hysterical revelations, still to be the doctor.

Suddenly—as suddenly as she had broken into her fit of hysteria— Linda was herself again. She sat erect, dabbed her eyes and looked straight at Blaine.

"Bill," she said, and she was no longer crying. "I should have told you long ago—about Mickey, I mean. I was going to tell you tomorrow—today. But now it doesn't matter; Mickey's all that matters. I have to go to him. Now!"

"It is....well, it IS a surprise," Blaine said, looking from Linda to the rug under his feet.

"Does it....does it make such a great difference, Bill?" Linda asked. "This isn't the way I'd planned to tell you...."

"Of course it doesn't darling!" It was Merry who spoke, enfolding the other girl in her arms. "Nothing makes any difference—except getting you to your baby right away."

"Bill," Linda said eagerly. "Is there any way of getting a plane at the lake? Could I charter one ....?"

It was quickly arranged. The Blaines had a neighbor with a private plane quartered at the nearby airport. The request to borrow the plane for the emergency flight to Santa Cruz was no sooner made than it was granted. Merry raced about the house helping Linda pack and getting ready for the flight.

Of that flight to the coast, alone in the plane with the pilot, Linda preferred not to remember. She had sworn never to fly again after the crash which killed Mickey's father. But now it was Mickey's life which was at stake.

After the first twinge of recollection at the takeoff, she had forgotten fear. With her mind full of thoughts for Mickey's safety, there was no room for her own qualms. But she did have time to think how ironic it was that flight, the means of transportation she had foresworn because of one tragedy, was the means to which she turned as a savior in an emergency.

After the landing at the airport, the ride by taxi to Mrs. Blauer's cottage seemed interminable. Linda, nervous and distraught, thought she would never arrive.

When she did reach the Blauer cottage, she received another shock—but this time not so unpleasant. Mrs. Blauer, her face worn with worry but joyfully surprised and relieved to see her so soon, admitted Linda.

"Ssh, now! Don't let go now, Linda," Mrs. Blauer said, foreseeing the tears which Linda strove to hold back. "The darlin'll be all right, don't you worry. The doctor's in with him now. I moved him into my big bed when he first took sick, so he'd be comfortable.' '

As Linda tip-toed, hurriedly but silently, into the sick room, she first saw Mickey, very tiny and out of place in the big spool bed, his face flushed and his eyes red from fever and tears. Then she saw the doctor was not the only one with Mickey.

Linda lay prone on the bed, her hat falling unheeded from her head her arms stretched toward her baby.

"Hello, mummy," Mickey said plaintively. "Where did you go?"

"Far away, darling," Linda said, fighting for control of herself. "Don't worry, mother's here and she's never going to go away from her Mickey again...."

"Look, mother," Mickey said. "Steve's here."

Mickey was right.

It was Steve Hubbard who stood beside the country doctor at the bed, anxiety etched in his face; it was Steve's presence that was Linda's second shock.

"Yep," Steve could still summon a smile. "Just Old Mother Hubbard—you can't keep him away from his kids."

"Ho!" Mickey tried to laugh. "Steve's a man; he isn't a mother."

"I'm afraid," Linda said, "that he's a better one than I am."

The doctor interrupted her.

"I'm Dr. Jepson, Mrs. Morton," he said. "I'm afraid your little boy has a bad appendix and we'd better get it out right away. His nausea started yesterday, followed by mild fever around 100. He complains constantly of abdominal pains and we've noticed occasional muscle spasm. Surgery, although unusual for a child so young, isn't ...."

"Doctor," Linda said abruptly, "did you take a blood count? Forgive me, but I'm a nurse, you see."

"Well, now," Dr. Jepson expanded himself with dignity, as though his professional worth had been challenged. "I feel I've had enough experiecne with such cases.."

"Did you take a blood count?"

"Well, as a matter of fact?" Dr. Jepson mopped his gleaming brow, "with all the confirmatory symptoms, I scarcely thought it necessary. Of course, if you are not satisfied...."

"It's not that at all, doctor," Linda answered. "But, please, let's ....let's be SURE!"

We suppose the experts on such things will label Miss Caryl Smith, ABOVE, a "trylon and perisphere" type of beauty. She has already been named "Miss Television" following her winning of a three-day beauty contest in which she was chosen loveliest of the 600 young ladies employed by the New York world's fair. DEFENCE PROBLEM

Mr. Mackenzie analyzed the current $64,528,815 defence budget and said that many failed to realize that as Canada's defence facilities were expanded, annual maintenance costs rose substantially. Today there are more than 9,000 in the permanent military establishment, twice the figure of three years ago.

Must Make Contribution

Behind the 9,000 and 55,000 in the non-permanent forces, men who gladly give their spare time to train for defence.

"This country expects industry to make its contribution to Canadian defence on the same basis as Canadian manhood makes it—that is, on a decent maintenance basis," said Mr. Mackenzie. Industry had a duty to make a valuable contribution to the security of the state.

The defence purchasing board, to be erected under legislation passed by the last session of parliament, will be made up of men of "the highest integrity and business experience," the Minister promised.

Stirling

Stirling—Held in conjunction with the regular morning worship at St. Paul's United Church on Sunday morning was the St. Paul's Sunday school Anniversary, Mr. J. L. Good, superintendent of the School, conducted the service which was featured by special music by the junior choir under the direction of Mr. G L. Clute organist and choir leader. An excellent message suitable for both young and old was presented by Rev. Dr. Frank Langford, General Superintendent of the department of Religious Education for the United Church of Canada.

Young People's Service

In the evening the service was conducted by the Young People's Union under the leadership of their President, Mr. Den Williams. During this service special leadership in song was offered by the young people's choir and Mr. Wm. Reynold offered a pleasing solo. Mr. G. L. Clute presided at the organ.

Speaking particularly in the interest of the Young People Dr. Frank Langford said in part "We of this generation are obsessed with a continual conglomeration of things" we are told by full page ads what we need, what we must have to make life worthwhile". For the possession of things is not sufficient to give joy and happiness". The elders of today should like those of old observe the power in the strength of youth and should encourage them to accept the message given to the youth of the first century warn them against the love of material wealth, things and pride of self for things such as these offer no comfort.

St. Paul's W.M.S.

Taking the form of a mother and baby's day, the June meeting of St. Paul's W.M.S. was held recently in the church parlours with a good number of members and friends present. The meeting was directed by the President Mrs. R. A. Patterson and opened with the singing of hymn No. 156 and prayer by the presiding officer. During the business part of the meeting satisfactory reports were presented by the secretary and treasurer and the various department secretaries. Mrs. R. B. Duffin, convener of the program committee was in charge of the remaining portion of the meeting who also read the Scripture lesson. Mrs. W. J. Scott offered prayer. At this point a chapter of the Study was read and summarized by Mrs. Arthur Scott. Following the use of another hymn, Rev. W. J. Scott briefly addressed the ladies.

Mission Band Program

In keeping with the special day mother and baby day, a splendid program was provided by the members of the Hands Across Mission Band under the direction of its Superintendent Mrs. Roy Woodbeck. The progam included the following numbers—Piano solo, Beverley Ingram; solo by Floyd Phillips; vocal solo by Tommy Patterson; piano solo by Marjorie Bush; vocal solo by Marion Tulloch. This part of the meeting closed with the benediction and the ladies served luncheon and enjoyed a pleasant social period.

Growing competition with the standard grades was the subject of warm discussion at the meeting which heard and accepted a suggestion from the companies that a third grade gasoline be put on sale by standard dealers to offset what was termed "the menace of increasing lower priced gas sales."

A Flood of THIRD GRADE
GASOLINES
Has hit the market

Read above extract from a report of the meeting of the Retail Gasoline and Automobile Dealers' Association.

Don't Be Misled!

"BLUE STAR" is GOOD RICH FIRST GRADE Gasoline. No Third Grade gasolines can hope to compare with "BLUE STAR" in Power, Efficiency or Economy. They are not even made the same way.

So Don't Be Misled. Motorists have learned that IT IS NOT NECESSARY to pay fancy prices for high grade gasoline when they can get powerful . . efficient . . economical . . . FIRST GRADE "BLUE STAR" at 14 8/10c a gallon (plus tax). Save nearly 5c on every gallon of "BLUE STAR" you buy. Get a tankful. Test it. Prove it for yourself.

FIRST GRADE — "Blue Star" 14 8/10c PLUS TAX
SECOND GRADE — NEW "Major" 11 8/10c PLUS TAX

We recommend NEW MAJOR Gasoline to motorists who can use Second Grade. It sells for 11 8/10c a gallon (plus tax.) We do not sell a third grade gasoline.

Belleville Intermediates Drop Into Cellar Position of League Being Beaten by 'Flyers' 2-1

Inability to Hit in the Pinches Gives Airmen Distinct Edge

COLLINS GETS THREE

Single After Two Are Out Scores All of Winner's Runs

Failing miserably before the slants of a former infielder on the slab for the R.C.A.F. yesterday, the Belleville intermediates dropped back into the cellar position of the Bay of Quinte League by virtue of a 2-1 reverse at the hands of the "Flyers" on an improvised diamond set up on the Aerodrome last evening. Joe Webb, who played shortstop for the "flying men" last week when Joe Kelleher hurled a no-run no-hit contest for Belleville over the Flyers, took to the Flyers' hilltop yesterday and with the aid of some spectacular fielding on the part of his team mates, limited the Wilkins-led Belleville nine to five scattered singles and one unearned run. The win elevated the Flyers into second position in the league standing.

Sammy Ellis started for the locals but faltered in the fourth when he walked the first two batters, but with one out Smith drove a hard single to right centre scoring two runs, which proved sufficient to win as the Belleville batters looked woefully weak before the slants of Webb, who struck out seven and walked but two. Ellis was relieved by Keith Weeks in the sixth but the inability of the Belleville nine to hit in the clutches and before the fine five hit pitching of Webb was the cause of their downfall, not the fault of the pitching.

Collins Led Batters

Belleville's lone tally came in the second as the result of an error, a walk and an error in succession. Russ Collins led the batters of the day with three hits in four times at bat. McQuaid and Weeks getting Belleville's other two one base blows. A fast double play in the ninth, with one out, halted Belleville's last rally abruptly. Tudor, the Flyers' second baseman, got the only extra base hit of the day as L'Heureaux and Webb collected two singles each. The Air Force showed more spirit throughout and gave their pitcher better support as Mallette and L'Heureaux made several sparkling plays in the field.

Although the loss dropped them into the cellar position, the Belleville nine can elevate themselves into a potential play-off berth with a win over the Napanee Gibbards here on Thursday twilight, when Lefty Weeks or Joe Kelleher will draw the local pitching assignment against Jack Switzer, who beat Belleville here on opening day. The brand of baseball being played in the Bay of Quinte League is improving as the league progresses, with the pitchers slowly gaining the upper hand for fans, who delight in a well-pitched baseball game.

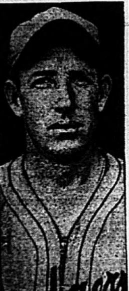
NO LONGER CHAMP

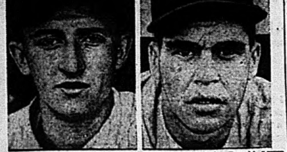
A class without a champion so far as the National Boxing Association is concerned, is the light-heavyweight following removal of the John Henry crown from the head of John Henry Lewis, ABOVE, who had worn it since Oct. 31, 1935. The N.B.A. ruled that it was in the best interests of both John Henry and the fight game that they make this decision, after reports from doctors had recommended that he be allowed to continue his fighting despite blindness in one eye. The New York species of this light-heavy crown had previously been bestowed on Mello Bettina.

Winning for Brooklyn



Leading pitcher in the National League with his record still clear of defeats is Whitlow Wyatt, ABOVE, brought up in the spring by Brooklyn Dodgers from the American Association. Wyatt has had a number of major league trials before, but this year seems to have found himself and boasts a mark of six wins and no losses a mark that would probably be better except that he was forced out of the line-up for about a month.

HELP WHERE IT'S HARDLY NEEDED



No wonder those American League Yankees, guided so smoothly by Manager Joe McCarthy, keep rolling over their opposition. No sooner does one of their stars fade before another one is taking his place and doing as good a job—or better. Two new Yankee stars of this year, both up from Newark in the International League, are Atley Donald, LEFT, and Charley Keller, RIGHT. The former is a pitcher and all he has done so far is post a mark of seven wins without a defeat, while Keller has been hitting well over .300 in the games he has played, and by many observers is called the rookie of the year.

CHIEFS WIN

Jake Mooty Deserves Plenty of Credit for Showing of Syracuse

(By The Associated Press)

If Syracuse Chiefs win the International League pennant this year—and they're as good a bet as almost any right now in view of the way the leaders are tumbling—you can give a large slice of the credit to Jake Mooty.

Jake is the second best flinger on the Syracuse squad in effectiveness and No. 1 for consistency. He has started 13 games so far this season and has been knocked out of the box only once in chalking up eight victories and five defeats.

Victory No. 8 yesterday was a 9-1 decision over Newark Bears which boosted Syracuse into third place and dropped the 1938 champions into fourth. Mooty gave only seven hits, whiffed five and the lone Newark run scored on an error by John Kroner.

The Syracuse triumph, however, was just one of several games that turned the league standing topsy-turvy. The real thriller was a 15-inning battle under the floodlights in which Tony Lazzeri's last-place Toronto Leafs upset Rochester Red Wings 8-7 after rallying in the ninth and 14th innings to tie the count. Successive singles by Carl Fischer and Bill Schuster sent two runs across in the 15th to win the game.

It was Rochester's fifth straight defeat and left the league leaders only one game up on the Jersey City Giants, who split a double-header with Baltimore, losing the first game 8-6 and winning the second 4-2. Then Buffalo's Bisons knocked off Montreal Royals, 8-3, and as a result Montreal, Baltimore and Buffalo wound up in a three-way tie for fifth place.

Lou Boudreau set the pace as Buffalo's Bisons continued their long distance hitting behind a five-hit elbowing job by Bob Kline. He batted a homer and two singles to drive in four runs, while his infield side-kick, Ray Mack, knocked in the other two tallies.

KIWANIANS WIN OVER 'MEATMEN'

Service Club Team Wins Two in Row and in Thick of Fight

For the second time within a week George Griffin's Kiwanis "service clubmen" took falls out of the league leaders in the City "No Kick" softball league when the "big K" boys pounded out a 16 to 14 win over the Luckin "meatmen" at the Collegiate grounds. The victory marked the second consecutive win for the Kiwanis, who have toppled the league leaders with consistency of late.

Knotted at a 15-all score Kiwanian George Fordyce and Herbie Fox smote mighty hits in the sixth and subsequently swept over home plate with what proved to be the winning runs. Ted Hughes and George Griffin proved potent bat wielders for the Kiwanis nine and just couldn't be retired. Errors played a major part in the mounting of the scores on the part of both teams, however, as the Kiwanis used the two Follwell boys, Frank and Jimmie on the mound while Balyx hurled for the "meatmen." Stewart, Cook and Hannah scored the greater number of runs for the losers.

The loss was the second in five starts for the Luckin nine, but made little difference in the league standing, except to elevate the Kiwanis into a strong third position at two wins and two losses.

The lineups:

Luckins: Stewart, Cook, Hannah, Fitzgibbon, Mattis, O'Ray, Browning, Cross and Reid.

Kiwanis: F. Follwell, Fordyce, Fox, Lloyd, Hughes, Griffin, J. Follwell, Baldwin and Logan.

Score by innings:

Luckins	504 120 0—14	runs
Kiwanis	430 522 x—16	runs

First National Loop Hurler To Win 10 Games This Year Is Bucky Walters of the Reds

Win Puts Team 6½ Games Ahead of the St. Louis Cardinals

YANKS LENGTHEN LEAD

Tommy Bridges Helped to Win Another by Homer of Earl Averill

(By Bill White Associated Press Sports Writer).

Maybe it was just a coincidence, but the day Bucky Walters of Cincinnati Reds became the first National League pitcher to win 10 games New York Yankees went on one of their most lucrative batting sprees.

That deserves more than passing mention since along about Oct. 4, if you're watching the first game of the world series you probably will see Walters pitching against the Yankees.

Bucky, a string bean righthander, won No. 10 with a smart 4-3 victory over Brooklyn Dodgers. That elbowing not only put him in a class by himself but moved the Reds up 6 1-2 games in front of the second place St. Louis Cardinals whose game with the Phillies yesterday was rained out.

Dodgers in Second Division

The Dodgers, by their loss and the Chicago Cubs' 3-1 win over Boston Bees, plummeted down into the second division and the Cubs usurped the fourth place spot. Claude Passeau was the big noise in the Cub win, hurling a five hitter.

The Giants-Pirates and the Phillies-Card games were postponed by wet grounds and rain.

In the American League that Yankee uprising must have sounded unpleasant to Walters, though he was miles away. kept Chicago White Sox strictly in the Yankees' "cousin" class. The 13-3 win was the Yankee's seventh over the Sox this season.

Yesterday's tussle started out creditably, the Yanks out in front only by 6-3 going into the seventh. Then the champs blew Vic Frasier out of the box and weren't much kinder to Ed Smith, his successor. They gathered eight consecutive hits, after two were out, and coupled that blast with some weird Sox fielding to score seven runs.

Has Perfect Day

Boston Red Sox, with Joe Vosmik having a perfect day at the plate, blew down the Browns 8-1 to ruin Harry Kimberlin's major league pitching debut. Apparently that 14-inning victory over the Senators the day before was too much for the Browns. It was definitely too much for the Senators who repeated the loss, this time by 4-3 in 12 innings to Cleveland Indians.

In the league's only night game, Tommy Bridges shut out the Athletics and the Tigers coasted to a 5-0 victory. E. Averill's homer with a mate aboard was the strongest blow struck in the victors' favor.

German Scullers Passing Up The Henley Royal Regatta

Canada Will be Represented in Grand Challenge Cup for First Time

100th BIRTHDAY

(By Jack Brayley Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, June 21 (CP)—The Henley Royal Regatta, daddy of all rowing meets, has been given an overhauling and comes up for its 100th birthday July 5 with a promise of bigger and better events although the strong German scullers will not participate.

A steady decline in the number and calibre of entrants forced the stewards of the classic regatta to take action in this centennial year. Instead of waiting for entrance applications they sent urgent messages to most of the world's best oarsmen to patronize the old firm. The reply has been encouraging.

The stewards went after other things besides entrants. They made a successful plea for funds, hired the Royal Horse Guards band as an added attraction, clipped motor-launch mooring prices and continued its policy of allowing artisans to compete with the gentlemen scullers. A bus driver in the diamond sculls and a police eight in the Thames cup inaugurated the latter part of the new policy last year.

Winner Not to Compete

There were disappointments for the stewards as well as success. The Australian Josef Hasenorhl, who beat Toronto's Johnny Coulson in the diamond sculls final last year, decided not to compete and spoiled the "race of the century" against Joe Burk, the North American champion from Philadelphia. The German Rowing Union cancelled all entries on the ground the "present political relations between Britain and Germany would render such a visit inadvisable."

The stewards got increased representation from Canada when an eight from the Toronto Argonaut club entered in the Grand Challenge Cup, the first Canadian try for the cup in 10 years. The boatload, composed of Argos and some members of the Toronto Dons Club, has been in training here under Coach Ted Punchard for some weeks. Norm Moffat, a Canadian now living in London, will row in the famous sculls under the Argo colors.

Boatload of Champions

The Toronto eight is a boatload of champions and former champions, including Coulson, Chuck Campbell, former Olympic sculler, Jim Russell, 145-pound North American champion, and young Keith Gaudaur, nephew of the late Jake Gaudaur, one-time professional champion of the world.

Australia, South Africa and New Zealand will be represented. Large entry lists have been received from the United States, Switzerland, Italy, Norway and Hungary and the increased interest has resulted in more home entries than ever.

Dizzy Pops-Off As to Why Cubs Not in Fight

(By Earl Hilligan Associated Press Sports Writer).

Chicago, June 21 (AP)—The 1939 tailspin of Chicago Cubs, now battling to stick in the first division, is kicking up almost as much general excitement in their home bailiwick as did their stirring charge to the National League pennant last September.

Even since the Cubs started a skid which sent them into fifth place a wave of "what's wrong with the team" comment has swept the town. Then yesterday, just after a published "open letter" by owner P. K. Wrigley anent his club's showing, loquaciously Dizzy Dean came up with one of his well-known pop offs.

Diz, speaking before the Chicago Association of Commerce, accused his mates of "not trying hard enough." Winner of three games and loser of none this season, the $185,000 pitcher said "the reason we're down where we are today is because the players aren't pushin' hard enough. Only two-thirds of us are doing our best. The rest of us ain't. Just let me pitch more often and everything will be okay. I'm getting tired of pitching only on Sundays."

"Oh, what the hell," snapped Manager Gabby Hartnett when he learned of Dean's diagnosis and remedy for the case. "Let him talk. I'm not going to comment. It's none of my business what he says. It's his story, not mine."

Obviously, Gabby wasn't feeling so cheerful about the whole thing. Reports are floating around that he'll lose his managership any day now if the Cubs don't make a better showing.

In his "open letter" to a Chicago sports editor Wrigley said "it is always a little disconcerting to me to have it so forcibly brought home from time to time that the winning team, which belongs to everyone, is so exclusively mine when it is losing."

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz, Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 21 (AP)—Donie Bush, farmer for the Red Sox at Louisville, may have to give up field generaling and move into the front office for the rest of the season....He burned himself out so badly getting the mint juleps into the first division, he needs a rest and maybe a hospital stay....Lou Nova will fight two tune-ups in the south before going against Louis in September (if he does).

Don't know what they wrote in their papers, but most of the British writers quit on Wooderson after that 64-second first quarter....That Armstrong-Roderick fight in Lunnon went into the red for a cool 100 grand.

Today's guest star—Charles Bailey, Buffalo Times: "They are already speculating as to the 1939 'most valuable player' award .... At this writing I'd say Bill Dickey of the Yanks merits the American League honor and Frank McCormick of the Reds the National League laurels."

From the out-start we do not intend to detract from the splendid pitching effort of Joe Webb, the R.C.A.F. pitching-infielder, who let Belleville down with five stingy singles and one unearned run at the Aerodrome last evening, but it is still a fact the locals looked woefully weak, while standing at the plate in feeble efforts in their attempts to punch out hits. The Wilkinians pounded Abbott, Jocko and Switzer, all better appearing hurlers than Webb, for lusty hits, but yesterday the locals just couldn't hit worth the old fashioned lick. Russ Collins got three of Belleville's five singles and only reached second base once all evening and ball games aren't won in that matter. Webb showed splendid control, striking out seven and only walking two, but it was the splendid fielding of his team mates that surprised the locals. One week ago Belleville beat the Flyers 8-0 in a no-run, no-hit contest and the losers looked bad, but yesterday P.O. Foster's nine was a much improved baseball club, but like Belleville the Airmen lack offensive punch.

The improvised diamond at the Airport was far from regulation, the bases looked as though they had been made out of five pound salt bags and there was no home plate of pitcher's rubber. (We'd have liked to seen Walt Gerow's face if his club had been asked to play on the diamond at the Airport yesterday.) However, it wasn't the diamond that beat the locals, it was their inability to solve Webb's rather odd delivery and subsequent slants. There is an old baseball proverb—"you can't win ball games without scoring runs and you don't get runs without hits." Belleville got neither yesterday and naturally didn't win. Just why Sammy Ellis was taken out for Weeks was hard to fathom, the team wasn't hitting and neither Ellis or Weeks could be blamed for the loss. Of course Sikpper Wilkins may have been working both his lefthanders out in preparation for Thursday night's Quinte loop tilt with Walt Gerow's Gibbards here, knowing that only good lefthand pitching can beat the Gibbards consistently. A win yesterday would have materially helped the locals in their bid for a play-off berth in the Bay of Quinte, but if they come through with a win over the Gibbards here on Thursday, all will be forgiven.

Long runs the fox, but like the calf—if given enough rope, he'll commit suicide and in that category we now find the Peterboro sports scribe. In years past ye Liftlock City scribbler always saw plays in the same light as the Petes, especially if they were against his pets. However, last Saturday when the Petes drubbed Toronto Columbus 20 to 12 on two occasions the Toronto team complained the Peterboro umps. had erred. Quoting the Peterboro scribe on one question he said in explanation—"We don't know, nor don't care," indicating his lack of interest as long as the home team won. On the second occasion the Toronto players squawked that Kingdon's home run was slightly foul, enough to see it. The Peterboro scribe's reply to this was —"Not being in line with the right-field pole, we can't say." These confessions prove many points we have always suspected—"there's a lot the Peterboro scribe hasn't seen and as he intimates—just doesn't care much either." Incidentally the Petes have been winning rather consistently of late and are now in second position in the Intercity senior ball loop.

Softball fans around the City League circuit are complaining relative to the league umpiring. "They're too careless; why can't we see the occasional different face? They're getting paid, keep them on the job and let them show a little more interest in the game," are only a few of the verbal cracks and complaints we have heard up around the Flats diamond, while today we received a personal complaint from an ardent fan who generally wants the umpires jacked up all around. Umpiring in a city league is not the most coveted job we can think of, but during recent games it has been suggested the mushball umps. are taking too much for granted. Frankly speaking we feel the players are equally as guilty as the umpires, as we like to see fighting, scrapping ball players. Not long ago we saw a player ejected from a game for throwing a glove, or some minor offense. Although we do not condone unruly players, the fans like to see a scrappy game. On Monday night practically the same incident occurred, a player threw the ball into the dirt to register disgust at the umpire, but he wasn't thumbed out.

Gerald Barriage, one of the chief mentors of the Corbys A.C., dropped in on us today to deny any reports regarding the wholesale trading of players, insofar as the Corbys are concerned. "Who ever told you we were considering trading Art Cole? Why we wouldn't trade him to the Oilers for Johnnie Bawden on an even trade," boasted Mister Barriage as he added Corbys already have two good pitchers. Are only thought was—"Bawden would be a handy man around even if he couldn't pitch. He can still hit better than the average player in the league."

Apparently the Kiwanis lads in the "No Kick" mushball league have their dander up. They beat the league leading Barbers and knocked 'em off their perch last week and last evening turned on the present league leaders, Luckins, and took them over the softball jumps for a 17-14 win. "There's life in us old fellers yet," boasted Kiwanian Jimmie Cowan or was it Herb Fox.

Sport Trail:—Local softball teams took a busman's holiday yesterday the "Oilers" going to Picton to win an exhibition game 12 to 5; while Corbys went over to Trenton and trounced Graham's Garage 11 to 2....The ballyhoo boys are commencing to beat the drums for the Louis-Galento fight on a new angle—suggesting that Galento will take a paste at the referee, if cautioned about roughness too much....What promoter Mike Jacobs can't think of in the line of publicity isn't really worth second thought....The wise guy who tipped off the boys to get their bundle of jack down on Max Schmeling, in the first Schmeling-Louis fight, has the tip out "It's Galento by a K.O.", he says .... Lefty Biddle, former Oshawa hurler, was up to his old tricks yesterday when he pitched the Toronto Danforths to a 3-2 win over the Petes.

Walter Klimczak (Yale '37) now catching for the Toronto Maple Leafs, will take a day off today and go down to Yale to get his M.A. degree in mathematics....His thesis was entitled "The Roots of the Derivative of a Poly-Nominal."

The Yanks and Cardinals are bidding their heads off for Joe Nelson, a Daytona Beach (Fla.) prep school pitcher who is averaging 15 whiffs per game....Mebee Billy Rose can use Clarence Giles of Glendive, Mont., who swam 62 miles up the Yellowstone River in only seven hours....And it was only a warm-up, at that.

The Stars Say

For Thursday, June 22
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A RATHER indifferent state of affairs is the augury for this day, based on the minor lunar transits. Affairs should move along in routine grooves in the direction of progress. Those in large corporations, politics or fraternal bodies whose influence is needed will be more amenable to the diplomatic approach than the direct method.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy a year of fair progress and steady gain by careful and diligent development of plans. They may make headway with important personages, whose co-operation is sought, by cleverness, diplomacy or even intrigue, or collusion. Old matters move while the new may be static.

A child born on this day may be shrewd and able in a clever or subtle way. It should have good mentality and sound judgment, gaining success by tact, courtesy and a capacity for taking pains to please.

The Broadway wise boys are still shaking their heads about those 2-1 odds on Woods to beat Garcia last week.....Add scouts trailing Dominic DiMaggio: Clarence Rowland of the Cubs.....Lantern-jawed Dick Porter will survive the face lifting the new directors are planning for Syracuse Chiefs.

LAKE FREIGHTER BADLY DAMAGED

Boats Collide Early Today at the Mouth of St. Clair River

Port Huron, Mich., June 21—(AP)—The Great Lake freighters David P. Thompson and Alva C. Dinkey collided shortly after dawn today in the mouth of the St. Clair River at Port Huron and soon afterward the Thompson was put into shallow water on the Canadian side to avoid leakage.

No one was injured in the collision, which occurred at 6:25 a.m. EDT as the vessels attempted to pass each other while the steamship Robert Paisley was turning around in the channel.

Capt. A. J. Munroe of the Thompson said it had two holes amidships, one below the water line, but was in no immediate danger. The Thompson was upbound with a cargo of coal.

The Dinkey, loaded with iron ore, proceeded downstream toward Detroit after ascertaining that the Thompson was not in trouble.

Coast guardsmen at Port Huron said they did not know the extent of damage to the Dinkey but believed "she must be hurt in the bow because she left her anchor on the deck of the Thompson."

The Thompson, Dinkey and Paisley all are Cleveland boats.

New Licence Plan Gives Tourists Right to Shoot Bear

Toronto, June 21—(CP)—Tourists here soon will solve any problem arising from an increasing bear population, D. J. Taylor, Deputy Minister of Game and Fisheries, said today. Several groups have petitioned for a bounty on bears, but Mr. Taylor says the tourists are coming into the province in such numbers to shoot bears under the new $3 licence plan that soon bears will be reduced to normal numbers.

TORNADOES KILL ONE

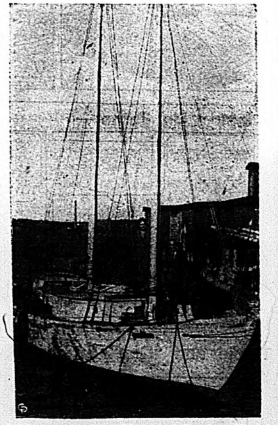
Lubbock, Tex., June 21—(AP) — Three tornadoes on the west Texas-New Mexico border killed one man, injured eight persons and littered highways at nearby Shallowater with dead livestock and timber. Communication lines were torn down.

W. J. Jackson was killed in his demolished farm home. His wife was injured critically.

CASEY'S WIDOW AT THE THROTTLE

He was pulled from the wreck with his hand on the throttle, and here is Mrs. Casey Jones, widow of the immortal hero of the "wreck of the old 97", at the throttle of the Commodore Vanderbilt as she arrived in New York to see the world's fair.

CANADIAN COUPLE EXCHANGE AUTOMOBILE FOR CONVERTED SCHOONER



Arriving in Nova Scotia last July in a $20 motor car and trailer, Mr. and Mrs. William C. Mooney, of Vancouver, are now planning to return home aboard their 16-ton converted schooner which they had refitted at Lunenberg this Spring. They will visit the New York World's Fair and return home via the West Indies and the Panama Canal. They will be accompanied by a crew of two Bluenose sailors on their voyage home.

JAPANESE FORCES

British advices said Japanese vessels had stopped three British ships attempting to enter Swatow—the Suiyang, the Yisang and the Marie Moller. The vessels were forced to anchor off the coast where British naval authorities advised them to remain temporarily.

Destroyers Present

The British destroyer Thanet and the American destroyer Pillsbury are in Swatow's inner harbor, safeguarding interests of the 80 Britons and 40 Americans there.

British naval reports said the Japanese landing was accomplished with 800 men divided into two groups advancing inland from points north and south of the city. A Japanese announcement had said the landing force encountered "unexpectedly stiff" resistance.

Missionary establishments at Swatow include the English Presbyterian and American Baptist Missions.

Foreign sources at Swatow reported that at dawn air raids heralded the Japanese attack and that by mid-morning Japanese warships had silenced batteries on islands commanding the entrance to the port.

Shelled Shore

At noon, it was said, three Japanese destroyers with armed trawlers steamed into the inner harbor and began shelling the shore while Japanese planes continuously bombed approaches to the city.

A Japanese communique said the main Japanese land force was pressing inland north and south of Swatow. The Japanese consulate here issued statements that since the capture of Canton the Chinese had been using Swatow increasingly for the importation of war materials.

All British shippers, acting on advance from British officials, cancelled calls at Swatow.

Peter

By DOROTHY DOUGLAS

Peter, or as everybody called him, Pete, was big and square shouldered with that kind of red hair that seems always to have been rumpled by a stiff breeze. He was stubborn and pugnacious when there was anything to be stubborn and pugnacious about, but usually he was easy going and gentle.

Pete was as putty in the hand of Daphne Baker, but no one but he knew it. Daphne was so fragile that he thought she must have stepped from a Watteau canvas—Pete had once seen a Watteau canvas in London. Her hair was like spun gold.

Sometimes Daphne treated Pete with all the sweetness in the world and sometimes she seemed to regard him as just a big, solid doormat. Pete absorbed her kindnesses and forgot the rest. He felt reasonably sure that in the end Daphne would give herself to his safekeeping, and he waited patiently.

Nobody but Pete knew that just outside the city limits on a sunny hill there sprawled a bungalow, with wide lawns and flower gardens and a fountain playing against the glorious distance of great trees. He pictured Daphne there, and of course, himself somewhere close by.

Daphne had heaps of flirtations. What pretty girl has not? But always she drifted back to the great bulwark that was Pete.

He had not worried much about these affairs until the advent on the screen, of the handsome, soulful-eyed Geoffrey Collins. Daphne simply went wild about him.

During these fascinated days Daphne looked at Pete's unruly red hair and his big useful hands and his broad grin with comparisons in her mind that did not bode well for Pete. When Pete took her across a crowded street, he simply took her arm in his strong hand, guided her swiftly and surely to where he wanted to take her and then let her go. Now, Geoffrey, on the screen of course, would look questionably and most soulfully into the eyes of his ladylove, take her arm gently and wait most gracefully for the traffic to clear before risking his own and his ladylove's life in crossing.

And invariably when Pete took her to dinner he did all the ordering. He made her eat a huge steak, some fine vegetables and a good pudding.

"No," he declared at her protestations. "Girls require more than hearts of lettuce and sardines for dinner. You eat that—all of it." And Daphne did.

On the other hand, Geoffrey would have toyed daintily with some tid-bits that might have satisfied a Persian kitten.

So, when the great announcement came that there was to be a combined society and movie garden party for the benefit of the unemployed, and that Geoffrey was to dance with all and sundry, Daphne knew that the great moments of her life were approaching. But just to make sure, she got herself appointed on the refreshments committee. It was to be a tremendous affair and the whole of the city would flock to see the favorites of the screen in varied forms of charitable performances.

"No," declared Pete, adamant in his decision, "I'd rather go fishing than doll up on a hot day like this. You put on your best frock, look your prettiest and have a dozen or so dances with the great Geoffrey." He knew Daphne was annoyed, but he wanted to give her free rein. In his heart Pete feared for the first time, for Geoffrey seemed like a man of real charm. Pete felt that his castle of dreams might tumble that day, and he went off to fish, far up in the river.

Daphne was exquisite in a silvery wisp of a dress, and a wide droopy hat shadowing the deep violet of her eyes. No wonder that Geoffrey glorified in his partner when it came Daphne's turn to dance with him. Daphne's heart had pounded when she stepped forward to meet him, but no sooner were they on the floor actually dancing than she became her normal, level-headed self.

Geoffrey was delightful. He was a wonderful dancer. He gazed soulfully and respectfully into her eyes but there was the faintest bit of make-up beneath his eyes and a becoming tint of sunburn that the sun had not produced on his face. Daphne smiled softly as she finished her dance with him, then fled swiftly from the garden party. She didn't take time to change her clothes but hurried to her little roadster and drove recklessly far beyond the city limits. Then, parking her car, she walked quickly along the river bank to a tiny grove of trees with some great rocks that lay out on the river. Pete sat there fishing, but even if a whale had been on his line, there would have been no joy in it. For Pete was seeing Daphne in the arms of Geoffrey Collins.

"Pete—dear!" Daphne hurled herself into Pete's arms. There wasn't a soul in the world in sight and her white, silky; arms went up clingingly about Pete's neck and she lifted her lips to be kissed.

The fishing rod floated down the river while Daphne gloried in Pete's strong arms, his rumpled hair and his rugged face with its broad grin. Pete knew his voice would tremble if he spoke, so he only tightened his grip and visualized the bungalow on the sunny hill.

WALL STREET

New York, June 21 (AP)—A slight downdrift depressed prices in the stock market today.

A few shares were off as much as a point near the fourth hour but losses generally were limited to fractions. Offerings found the market inclined to continue its recent waiting, despite widespread belief in financial quarters business was set for gradual recovery.

Yielding to the gentle pressure for small declines were U.S. Steel, American Telephone, Goodyear, Aanconda, International Harvester, New York Central, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Bethlehem and Douglas.

Public Service of New Jersey, J. C. Penney and Johns Manville went counter to the main trend for gains ranging to a point.

Domej and McIntyre Porcupine posted small gains in the Canadian group and International Nickel lost nearly as much, but most others were neglected. Canada 4s were under mild pressure.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 21 (CP)—Toronto market settled down today in the early stage. Business was slow and a few light declines showed. Base metal shares held even while other groups were off narrowly.

Waite-Amulet gained 10. Secondary golds, including Pamour, Kirkland Lake, Aunor, Kerr-Addison, Preston, Siscoe and McLeod-Cockshutt, dropped 3 to 5 cents. Senior golds were generally firm.

In quiet trading Home Oil and Okalta lost 2 to 3 cents and Vulcan dropped 4. Food, utility and bank stocks were unchanged.

GEHRIG SUFFERS FROM PARALYSIS

Ed. Barrow, Manager of the Yankees, Says He May Never Play Again

New York, June 21—(AP)—Ed. Barrow, president of the New York Yankees, announced today that Lou Gehrig is suffering from chronic infantile paralysis and probably will never play baseball again.

Barrow's statement came after Gehrig turned over to him a formal report made by Mayo Clinic experts. Gehrig spent several days in the clinic in order to have a thorough check made on his physical condition.

The one-time great first-baseman had been worried about his condition all year. After making a bad showing in the field and at bat during the early part of the season, Gehrig voluntarily benched himself on May 2, thus ending his consecutive games streak at 2,130 games.

He sat on the bench for several weeks but could not regain his strength. Finally he decided to put himself in the hands of experts to determine just why he had lost his baseball form so suddenly. His trip to the clinic followed.

Ill Two Years

Barrow said Gehrig apparently had been suffering from the ailment for two years and that only his remarkable physique had enabled him to play.

Produce Prices Firm

Toronto, June 21 — Generally steady prices prevailed for all lines during Tuesday's session of the Toronto open produce market, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture .

Only light and spotty trading appeared on the butter market. Prices maintained previous levels, however, as receipts were not arriving in heavy volume and holders were not forcing sales. Ontario creamery solids sold at 21 3-4c for No. 1 grades. Prints moved at the unchanged rates of 23c to 23 1-3c for top grades.

Supply and demand about balanced on the egg market, and prices ruled steady, with local dealers reporting a firmer undertone on top grades. The warmer weather is affecting the quality of eggs at the present time, and the percentage of top grades in current arrivals is being reduced. Offerings cleared well during the day. Graded shipments closed at 19c for grade A large, 17c for medium, 15c for B's, and 14c for C grades. Government inspected lots in new cases were offered at 1-3c per dozen premium.

Montreal Produce Firm.

Montreal, June 21 (CP)—Butter and egg prices advanced on open produce markets here yesterday while cheese offerings held steady, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21-5-8c. Receipts: 4,700 boxes.

Ontario white cheese was offered at 12 3-4c a pound and colored at 12 7-8c. Quebec white traded for 12 1-8c, and colored for 12 1-4c. Receipts: 7,558 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 20c-21 a dozen for A large, 18c for A medium, 16 1-3c-17c for B large, 14c-16c for C. Receipts: 1,915 cases.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 21—(CP)—Bacon-hog markets continued their advance today with all reporting points showing gains except Brantford which held yesterday's quotation.

Liveweights: Brantford $8.85, Hull $9, Peterborough $8.90.

Dressedweights: Barrie $11.90, Hamilton $12, Hull $12.35, Peterborough $11.75, Stratford $11.65.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 21.—(CP) —Cattle prices were firm with a good clean-up made on small supplies at mid-session on the Toronto Livestock Market today. The calf division was steady. The lamb market was strong and sheep were firm. No hog price was established. Cattle holdover from Tuesday was one hundred head.

Hogs sold at $9.50 for bacons fed and watered. Selects drew $1 premium with regular cuts on off grades. Feeder hogs brought from $8-$11.50 according to weights. Sows sold at $5.25-$5.75. Hogs sold on rail grade brought $13 for bacons cold weight .

Empress of Australia Passes Boat Carrying King and Queen Home

(By R. K. Carnegie Canadian Press Staff Writer).

Aboard Empress Britain, June 26 (CP)—At noon E.D.T. the liner Empress of Australia, which carried the King and Queen to Canada last month, overtook and passed the Empress of Britain, returning their Majesties to England. While the Britain is the fastest ship, it slowed down because it was ahead of schedule. The Australia plowed along at f speed.

The King and Queen stood on the promenade deck and waved to those on the passing liner who set up a great cheer of greeting. The Queen wore a lavander blue wool suit with a matching hat and smiled continually at the nautical hail and farewell between the two ocean liners.

The King sent a message of "good luck" to Captain A. R.Meikle commanding the Australia who also was in command of the ship w e it was a Royal yacht on the outward passage.

Queen Victoira School Pupils Display Fine Talent at Music Festival

Arousing considerable interest among parents and friends as well as the pupils themselves the music festival held at Queen Victoria School yesterday was a fine success with the best performers in solos and duet singing being selected by Mr. John Deacon, adjudicator. The guests were welcomed by the principal, Mr. A. C. Wilkin, who also spoke in high terms of the work of the music director, Mr. George Maybee, who has arranged the series of festivals.

Beginning in the morning with the contestants of the junior grades the festival continued all afternoon with choruses by the various classes and selection by the school band adding to the interesting program. Some very fine singing was brought to light by the festival and those who attended thoroughly enjoyed the day's entertainment.

Winners of each group were declared by the adjudicator, the high standard maintained making his choice difficult. At the conclusion of the festival Mr. Deacon referred to the pleasure it had given him to hear such beautiful voices. He congratulated the winners and said that all the singing in the festival was extremely good. Mr. Maybee and the teachers associated with him in preparing the program were highly commended for their training of the children. Music in the school, Mr. Deacon said, was of great importance and the Board of Education was greatly interested in it. With the continuance of such excellent training, in a few years the results would be astounding.

Mr. Maybee also thanked all those present for their interest which was so encouraging to the pupils, staff and to himself.

Solo winners were as follows:

Boys' 8 years and under: 1 Donald Taylor, 2 John Fenn, 3 Gordon McLean.

Girls' 8 years and under: 1 Barbara Diment, 2 Lenore Griffin, 3 Marilyn Kerr.

Boys' 9-10 years: 1 Bobby Davidson, 2 Garnet May, 3 Keith Jackson.

Girls' 9-10 years: 1 Beverly Asselstine; 2 Madeline Walden, 3 Margaret Grant.

Boys' 11-12 years: 1 Edgar Goodfellow, 2 Robert Barlow, 3 Donald Dafoe.

Girls' 11-12 years: 1 Colleen McEwen, 2 Lois McLean, 3 Marion Ormond.

Boys' over 12: 1 Jack Wilshire, 2 Jack Shaddock.

Girls' over 12: Margaret Saunders, 2 Eleanor Mallory, 3 Betty Barr.

Duets: 1 Barbara Diment-Joan Toms, 2 June Empey-Gwen Wilson.

The choruses were:

Chorus: "The Pigs", Grade I—Miss Blue.

Chorus: "The Lullaby," Grade I—Mrs. N. Anderson.

Chorus: "Hop, Hop, Hop," Grade II—Miss Tucker.

Chorus: "Tirra, Lirra, Lirra, Grade II—Miss Campbell.

Chorus: "The Mermaid", Grade VII—Mr. Christie.

Chorus: "The Minstrel Boy", Grades VIII—Mr. Wilkin and Mr. Batsman.

Chorus: Three parts: "Spring is Round the Corner,"—Grades VIII.

Building Operations for June May Set New High Say Builders

Building operations are on the upswing in Belleville at the present time, and the month of June may set a new high in new construction, it is believed by local builders. Architects of Belleville report a decided increase in business of their offices and declare that the present building boom has been extended well into the rural areas where even there new barn building and equipping is going on.

Permits have lately been issued by the local office of the building inspector to A. Safe, for the addition to a building being used as a billiard parlor at 316 Front St., at an estimate cost of $2500; Ray Post, construction of a one and one-half storey residence on Charlotte Street at $1,000; E. Tuck, a one and one-half storey dwelling on Charlotte Street at $1,000 and to P. C. McGuire for the building of a new dwelling at 260 East Bridge Street at $3,000.

BRITAIN STUDIES STORY ON SALMON

By J. F. SANDERSON

London, June 21 (CP)—The British government is giving the "closest attention" to reports Japan has sold $1,200,000 worth of canned salmon in the British market.

Ronald Cross, Parliamentary Secretary to the Board of Trade, gave this information to Alfred Barnes, Labor, in the House of Commons today in reply to a question.

Mr. Barnes asked if the Japanese were endeavoring to unload a large consignment of canned salmon and, "as it is not in the public interest that their efforts should succeed in view of the Japanese attacks on British citizens and interests in China, whether he (Cross) will take steps to prevent this."

"I understand," Mr. Cross replied, "that a considerably supply of last year's output of canned Russian and Japanese salmon is in bond in this country but that a large part of these supplies already belongs to British subjects. As regards the second part of the question, the situation is, of course, receiving the closest attention of his Majesty's government at the present time."

(London newspapers, in attacking the reported deal, have drawn attention to the unsuccessful efforts of Canadian packers to obtain the order for the British Columbia product. It was reported the salmon was to find its way eventually to the food storage authorities, who are building up stocks for use in the event of emergency.)

SOUCISSE GIVEN FIVE-YEAR TERM

Toronto, June 21—(CP)—Thomas Soucisse, who a week ago pleaded guilty to two charges of shopbreaking and one of breaking and entering, was sentenced to five years in Kingston Penitentiary by Magistrate P. Forsyth today.

"This man represents crime in its worst form," declared the Magistrate before passing sentence. "He is a member of an organized gang, a ring, and I cannot but regard it as such."

Police said a Montreal store where some of Soucisse's loot was found, was a regular receiving spot for stolen goods.

TERM AND 5 LASHES IS COURT SENTENCE

Brockville, Ont., June 21—(CP) —William Spalding, no fixed address, was sentenced today by Magistrate to serve two years less one day in the Ontario Reformatory, with five strokes of the strap, for indecent assault upon a nine-year-old girl, daughter of his employer, in the Township of Augusta on June 17. Spalding was arrested the next day in Edwardsburg Township after an all-night search by Provincial Police.

TWEED DEFEATS STIRLING 26-9

Locals Hammered Offerings of Hart to All Corners of Diamond

Tweed, June 21—(Special) The locals had a field day at the expense of Stirling on Monday evening, completely snowing them under by the one sided score of 26 to 9 in a league softball fixture at Memorial Park. The local squad hammered the offering of Hart to all corners, scoring in every inning, pushing across seven runs in the fourth. Wagar crossed the plate six times in six times at bat. Elsburg chalked up five runs and "Toey" Meraw four.

S. Meraw on the mound for Tweed had complete control of the situation, easing off in the last two frames to allow the visitors to score seven of their nine markers. Potter was the only man to solve Meraw's slants consistently scoring three times.

The line-ups

Stirling — Walker, Potter, Lorraine, May, Alcombrack, Woods, McGee, Bailey, Hart.

Tweed— Sayers, Wagar, Elsbury, T. Meraw, Tummon, Hawes, Lindsay, Marsh, S. Meraw.

MAKING HOLE - IN - ONE FOUND NOT EASY

Michigan City, Ind., June 21—(AP)—Harry Gonder, Michigan City golf pro who contended "any one can make a hole-in-one if given enough time," blazed away 1,817 times today and yesterday on a short hole of the Beverly Shores Country Club course in disproving his own argument.

"Maybe it's luck, after all," Gonder admitted ruefully when he gave up at 1:40 a.m. (3 a.m. EDT) because of a blistered left hand and exhaustion accumulated since 9:15 a.m. Tuesday. This particular marathon was born when William Voltz a 100 shooter, fired an ace on the 136-yard 10th hole of Beverley Shores June 4.

Gonder, home pro, scoffed. "Anyone can do that if he shoots long enough," Gonder asserted. "Oh yeah," retorted Voltz.

The upshot was a $25 bet with Gonder entitled to shoot until he scored or threw up the club." I'm actually sorry you didn't make it," Voltz said as he took the money.

VETERAN DIES SUDDENLY

Sarnia, Ont., June 21—(CP) —Frederick A. Hoad, 59, Imperial war veteran, died suddenly here today. A native of Worthing, Sussex, England, he served in the South African and Great War's. For more than seven years he was Secretary of Sarnia Branch of the Canadian Legion.

COMPROMISE WITH RUSSIA LIKELY

Third Meeting of British and French Envoys to be Held in Kremlin

Moscow, June 21—(AP)— British and French negotiators arranged to see Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff late today after receiving what were said to be new instructions from their governments for a compromise to overcome Soviet Russia's objects to joining the British-French mutual assistance agreement.

The meeting in the Kremlin will be the third among the three powers' diplomats since the arrival of William Strang, special British Envoy, to hasten the prolonged discussions.

Strang and the British and French Ambassadors, Sir William Seeds and Paul Emile Naggiar, were to see Molotoff.

The new instructions from London and Paris, informed quarters said, contained a compromise over guarantees to Russia's three Baltic neighbors, an issue which has been considered the main obstacle to an agreement.

Berlin, June 21—(AP)—German diplomats and trade experts were working today on a formula which they hope will bring Berlin and Moscow into a trade agreement after two failures in negotiations.

Count Friedrich von Schullenberg, German Ambassador to Russia, has been in Berlin for a week sounding out his government on how far he may go in negotiations when he returns to Moscow.

Von Schulenberg, who came here to report on negotiations, said today he hoped to return to Moscow within 10 days. If he found it was possible to proceed rapidly toward an agreement, it was said, a German trade delegation probably would go to Moscow also to work out details.

London, June 21—(CP)— An early agreement bringing Russia into the Anglo-French anti-Aggression front was predicted by informed sources today as the cabinet gathered to review talks at Moscow and the situation at Tientsin.

It was stated that Britain had instructed the Envoys to assure Russia that Britain would consider an attack on the Baltic States as menacing to Russia as an attack on Belgium or the Netherlands would be to Britain. Russia has demanded a guarantee of aid to Finland, Estonia and Latvia.

The remaining obstacle to an agreement, reliable sources said, was that Russia does not want a treaty to go into effect without supplementary understandings on military staff talks and naval cooperation.

The diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Telegraph (Conservative) said latest instructions to Sir William Seeds gave him fullest authority to act. The Daily Mail (Independent) said the latest British formula should satisfy Russian demands.

REDNERSVILLE DROPS CLOSE ONE

Thirty-Six Runs Scored in Free - Hitting Contest at Rednersville

Rednersville, June 21 — (Special) —Rednersville dropped a close one to their Consecon rivals last night in a free hitting game that saw 36 runners cross the platter. Consecon pushed nineteen men across to Rednersville seventeen. Dempsey pitched the entire game for the orange and black while Phillips stayed in the mound for five innings to be replaced by Kerr in the sixth.

The Rednersville crew scored three in the first; got a goose egg in the second; one in the third; four in the fourth; two in the fifth and four in each of the last two frames. The fishermen pushed six across in the first; one each in the second and third; two in the fourth; four in the fifth and three in the sixth. Snell on short for Rednersville missed a number of chances and Dempsey at times was pitching into the dirt. B. Clark in centre field for Consecon pulled a couple of catches to hold Rednersville to four runs in the final inning.

The line up

$22,000 Awarded Against Doctor, Nurse

Toronto, June 21—(CP)—Mr. Justice E. R. E. Chevrier today delivered a judgment awarding Abraham Azar of Ottawa $22,000 in his suit against Dr. Joseph Giardine and Eunice Paul, a nurse at Civic Hospital, Ottawa..

Azar, as administrator of his wife's estate, sued the hospital, the doctor and the nurse. The action against the hospital was dismissed.

Azar said his wife was admitted to the hospital Oct. 21, 1933. It was claimed by the plaintiff that Dr. Giardine ordered a drug for the patient and the nurse gave a different drug and Mrs. Azar died.

Belleville Youth Painfully Injured By Molten Lead

Bob Finkle, son of Mr. and Mrs. E. D. Finkle, 267 Foster Avenue, was admitted to Belleville General Hospital yesterday suffering with painful injuries of the face and eye. Fears for the loss of vision entertained following an accident yesterday, when hot leaden solder splashed in the youth's face, were dispelled today when a city specialist stated that the injured youth would retain normal vision.

He will remain in hospital for approximately a week, it was stated.

The young man was engaged in soldering the bolts in a cement base of an electric sign, when the hot metal splashed in his face. He was taken to the hospital where he was found to be suffering from painful burns of the face. These, however, are only superficial, attending physicians stated, and will in no way leave a permanent injury.

CONTRACTS HERE NOT AFFECTED

Reported on Cost-Plus Germany on Cost-Plus 10 Per Cent Basis

Ottawa, June 21 (CP)—The restrictions imposed by the British parliament on excessive munition profits will not, it was learned here, affect Canadian contracts with Britain to any extent. It was announced in London yesterday there would be a 60 per cent tax on excess armaments profits. For the most part the work being done by Canadian manufacturers for the British government is on a basis of cost-plus 10 per cent.

Bren machine guns and fighting aircraft are being made for the United Kingdom, while some small orders of shell casings have been placed.

Whatever provisions may be made statutory in the United Kingdom would have to be written into the individual contracts in Canada, since the domestic legislation of Great Britain has no force or effect in this country, it was pointed out.

WHILE BLOCKADE

"The barrier restrictions have remained the same. Four British subjects have been stripped and searched but no further incidents are reported in the latest telegram received from his Majesty's Consul General.

"It was announced by the Japanese News Agency that the barbed wire encircling the British and French concessions would be electrically charged from late in the evening of June 19.

"As regards the stocks of food, there are ample supplies of flour and rice in the British concession. Arrivals of perishable foodstuffs remain spasmodic and far below normal. There would appear to be no ban on foodstuffs entering the concession but the Japanese authorities claim that all such commodities as vegetables have to be searched at the barriers and this causes considerable delay.

Shipping Matters Improve.

"As regards shipping matters, they have considerably improved and the ships using the river have latterly not been stopped by the Japanese military authorities.

"Various incidents which have marked the enforcement of the blockade have been taken up by his Majesty's Ambassador at Tokyo with the Japanese Minister for Foreign Affairs, who has promised to institute inquiries into the various cases of discrimination and ill-treatment brought to his notice.

"The position of the Japanese government on the main issues concerned is still not clear and it is not yet decided whether these issues are to be discussed in Tokyo or Tientsin but we expect to hear further on these matters today or tomorrow.

"Of the battalion which forms the British garrison in North China rather more than one half is, according to latest strength returns, now stationed in Tientsin."

No Acquiescence.

Answering Anthony Eden, Conservative, Mr. Chamberlain said Japan h ad been informed Britain did not "acquiesce" in the blockade.

Tokyo, June 21 (AP)—The Japanese Consul General at Aboy, Goro Uchida, has repected a protest by the United States, British and French Consuls against a food shortage on Kulangsu Island, the Amoy International Settlement, Domei, Japanese News Agency, reported today.

It was "unavoidable that the island is suffering a lack of materials" because of a naval blockade intended to prevent entrance into the settlement of anti-Japanese elements, Uchida wrote the consuls, Domei's Amoy dispatch said.

JEWELLERS GATHER

Peterborough, Ont., June 21 (CP) —Jewellers from many sections of the province gathered here today for their annual outing. William Sansburn of Windsor, President of the Provincial Association, was chairman of the morning discussions, attended by J. J. Kennedy, President of the Canadian Jewellers Association.

GREAT BRITAIN ASKED TO RECALL CONSUL GENERAL

Germany Makes Demand in Retaliation for Similar Action by Britain

ESPIONAGE CHARGED

Berlin, June 21—(AP)— The foreign office announced today it had asked Great Britain to recall its Consul General in Vienna, D. St. Clair Gainer.

The request was made as a result of the British governments action in asking Germany to recall Walther Reinhardt, Reich Consul-General in Liverpool, who was accused of being involved in an espionage case.

A government spokesman said sufficient "similar evidence" had been assembled against Gainer to warrant for his recall.

Reinhardt, it was said, was leaving English soil at the time the announcement was made.

Gainer went to Vienna shortly after Anschluss of Austria with Germany in March, 1938.

He took over conduct of British affairs in the former Austrian capital after British legation was closed and it fell to him to absorb the old legation with the general consulate.

He went to Vienna from Munich where he also was Consul General.

The official reason given for the German government's demand was that "during a court action it developed that the British General Consulate in Vienna was involved in an affair, concerning a forbidden information service.

The exact charge was not more fully described.

CAVALCADE GOES TO TWEED TODAY

Members of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, businessmen and citizens of Belleville will take part in the last of the series of four good will visits arranged by the Chamber of Commerce to municipalities of North Hastings, at Tweed this afternoon and evening. Tonight's gathering of Belleville residents with those of Tweed and district will mark the end of one of the most original and highly successful better acquaintance projects yet sponsored by any civic organizations within the Province. So successful has this Belleville-North Hastings Cavalcade proved, that it is understood other municipalities may adopt a similar project for the fostering of better will between rural and urban neighbors.

Scheduled to speak on this evening's program at Tweed are Mr. C. A. Cameron, K.C., M.P.; Dr. W. A. Paul, Tweed; Charles H. Kerr, Tweed; W. J. Morrison of the Ontario School for the Deaf; A. B. Collins, past president of the local Chamber; S. B Rollins, former Warden of Hastings, and many others.

ROAST OF BEEF TAKEN FROM SHED

One Grier St. family found themselves without the family roast of meat today, but what was one person's tragedy must have been another's good fortune. Before retiring last night a resident of Grier St. placed a freshly roasted loin of pork in the back shed of the home to cool ,but upon arising early today all that was left of the roast was the large centre bone, found licked clean near the back steps. A wandering dog is believed to have enjoyed the tempting morsel.

SHOE UNION URGES GOV'T. TO OPPOSE REQUEST OF BATA CO.

Toronto, June 21 (CP)—Delegates at the 18th convention of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union today passed resolutions calling on the Canadian and the United States governments to refuse the request of the Bata Shoe Company of Czecho-Sovakia for the right to bring in trained workmen from Europe to establish plants in the two countries.

United States delegates said the company wanted to bring 100 trained workers into that country. They said the company was opposed to unions and the conveyor system of operations was hard on workers.

Canadian delegates said the company wanted to bring in 200 workers here and the result would be "further demoralization" of the shoe industry in the two countries

CARRY TREATY MONEY

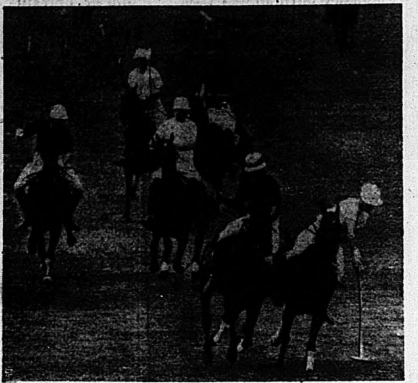
Sioux Lookout, Ont., June 21 —(CP)— Two airplanes headed north from here today on a 1,500-mile flight to bring treaty money to 5,000 Indians in the Patricia district of Northern Ontario. Indian Agent Gifford Swartman will pay treaty money to the Indians at 10 different points.

Medical care will be given by another member of the party, Dr. S. M. Burrs, while a member of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police will investigate any need for police action in the area to be visited.

DECISION RESERVED

Ottawa, June 22 (CP)—The Supreme Court of Canada today reserved its decision on the constitutional validity of a proposed Dominion law to abolish appeals from Canada to the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council. Argument on the question in which representatives of the Dominion government and four provincial governments joined issue ended today.

BORN TOO LATE FOR THE PONY EXPRESS, ALAS!



A combination of constant attack and all the action of a western horse opera as served up on the screen is a delightful feature of the game called polo. This picture, taken during the third and last game of the international series between Great Britain and United States in New York, illustrates the lack of Kitty-bar-the-door tactics, with six of the eight men right in on the play and the other two rapidly approaching (horses legs near top of picture). Mike Phipps is about to bang the ball through the posts for an American goal, while other players shown are LEFT to RIGHT, John Lakin (G.B.), Tommy Hitchcock (U.S.), Winston Guest (U.S.), Bob Skene (G.B.), and Eric Tyrrell-Martin (G.B.). The Americans spotted their opposition 10 goals to start in this game and then lost, 16-14, although the outcome had no bearing on the series which Hitchcock and Co. had already won by taking the first two games.

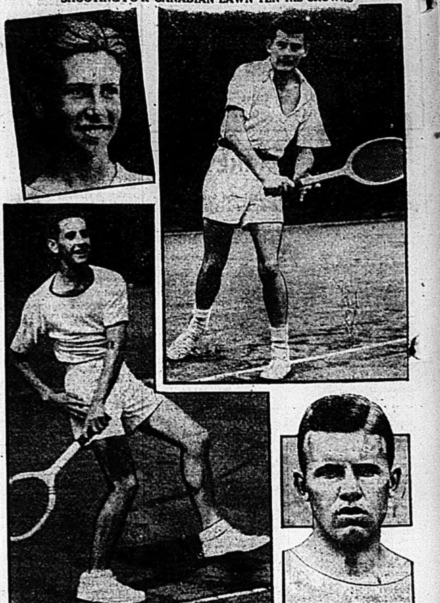
SHOOTING FOR CANADIAN LAWN TENNIS CROWNS



Waging their court battles with a double purpose are these four stars of the Canadian tennis world, at the moment trying for the Canadian championships at Windsor, but at the same time out to further their position as nominees for this year's Davis cup team, a wide open affair with the retirement en masse of last year's squad. At the TOP LEFT is Bruce Hall, of Toronto, and at the LOWER RIGHT, Bill Piggott, of Hamilton, singles stars; while the other two corners are occupied by Phil Pearson, TOP, and Bill Pedlar, BOTTOM, ace doubles team from Vancouver, and rated a sure bet for the Davis cup doubles berth. They recently captured the Ontario crown.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Only Angels Have Wings"

Thrills thundering from the snow-capped Andes! Adventurers gathered from the seven seas! Women cast up from the forgotten past! Romance throbbing through the tropical nights!

A cast assembled from Hollywood's greatest....to bring you 1939's greatest screen adventure! A mighty drama flung against an awesome backdrop, Columbia's "Only Angels Have Wings" opens next at the McCarthy Theatre to tell a flaming story of romance and adventure in a tropical South American port.

Howard Hawks, produced and directed the film, which co-stars Cary Grant and Jean Arthur. Supporting players include Richard Barthelmess, Rita Hayworth, Thomas Mitchell, Sig Ruman, Noah Beery, Jr., Victor Kilian and Allyn Joslyn.

In Technicolor

A sport subject that promises to be one of the most outstanding treats of the season entitled "Fox Hunting" and which is produced entirely in beautiful technicolor is also presented in addition to "Only Angels Have Wings" and an episode of "Flying G-men" the splendid serial shown on every weekend at the McCarthy Theatre.

"Man of Conquest"

For the last times the McCarthy Theatre presents "Man of Conquest" which features Richard Dix, Gail Patrick, Joan Fontaine, Edward Ellis and a supporting cast of thousands and as this production has received the finest reviews of any motion picture made, we hope that if you have read this final announcement, you will not fail to put this fine show on your must-see list. In addition to "Man of Conquest" an excellent "Screen Snapshots", also musical comedy and an amusing cartune are presented that will also be enjoyed by all.

AT THE BELLE

"IT'S A WONDERFUL WORLD"

No happier combination of stellar players has been achieved in recent months than that of Claudette Colbert and James Stewart who are to be seen together now on the Belle screen in "It's A Wonderful World." Miss Colbert at last has found a delightful successor to her Academy Award winner, "It Happened One Night." James Stewart was never more happily cast than as her partner in some of the zaniest doings ever created for the screen.

With amusing situations tumbling over one another, and sprightly dialogue rattling off the laughs at almost machine-gun pace, the story reveals Stewart in the role of Guy Johnson, private detective, hired to keep an irresponsible, oft-married millionaire Broadway playboy out of trouble. When the millionaire is accused of murder, Stewart becomes involved. He escapes to seek a solution of the murder and is caught in the act by Miss Colbert who plays Edwina Corday, a poetess.

Here is where rhyme and reason become hopelessly and hilariously mixed as the pair proceed precariously to track down the real murderer. They become involved in a series of daring exploits and clever deductions, with Miss Colbert in her most scatterbrained strain and Stewart turning in one of his most engaging comedy performances as the much-tried and hard-tested amateur sleuth to whom the poetess, with her unaccountable vagaries and unpredictable whims, is an even greater feminine mystery than the murder both are trying to solve.

The tale sweeps with unremitting energy from elaborate night club scenes to an apple orchard, from trains to yachts, from theatre to hot-dog stand, from auto camp to railroad trestle, motorboats and even Sing Sing prison with hair-breadth escapes and spine-tickling murders to garnish the ever-delightful bill of dramatic fare.

Everyone concerned with "It's A Wonderful World" may take a bow. And this writer's advice is, make haste to see this breezy and gripping murder mystery.

BRITISH WOMEN

overtures, principally a willingness to discuss the status of four Chinese alleged assassins held in the British concession. Refusal of British authorities to relinquish the four Chinese to the Japanese without proof of their guilt precipitated the blockade June 14.

Women Begin Voyage

One hundred British women and children began a 200-mile voyage to Peitaiho, north on the China coast, in a Hai River craft. En route first to Tangku, down the Hai, on the Chihli Gulf, their boat passed Japanese wharves, where usually Japanese halt and search ships. The refugees' vessel passed unmolested. With the women and children were a number of Chinese nurses and a detachment of Durham Light Infantry, who served as escorts. There were no tearful farewells. Everyone seemed delighted to get away.

Males in the British concession believed the evacuation of the women would make it easier for them to take care of themselves. The lack of milk and fresh food has been the most serious inconvenience. The British population of the concession was 1,500, including 21 Canadians.

Japanese military and diplomatic officials reiterated that the possible British surrender of the four accused Chinese "would not be sufficient to raise the blockade" and that a general adjustment of "relations between the two nations" would be insisted upon first.

No Hope of Negotiation

Observers believed the British and Japanese viewpoints remained so divergent, that there was little hope of negotiation or of a betterment of the situation.

(A Tokyo foreign office spokesman denied reports of indignities or discriminatory treatment of Britons at the barricades before the French and British concessions. These reports, from Tientsin, said three Britons yesterday were stripped naked before crowds at concession entrances and that a Chinese policeman, under Japanese supervision, caused a British woman to become hysterical because of obscenities he muttered to her.

("We have no such information," the spokesman said. He said foreigners were searched before entering or leaving the concessions because "they might be carrying arms or bombs to terrorists outside and we must take every precautions.")

Want Prisoner Released

British Consul-General Edgar Jamieson repeated his request to Shigenori Tashiro, Japanese Consul General, for the release of G. A. Smith, British resident of the beleaguered concession, who has been held by Japanese since Saturday. Japanese accuse Smith of striking a Chinese policeman on the Japanese-controlled force.

Jamieson informed Tashiro that if Smith were not released by tonight the case no longer could be considered local and would be referred to London "for action."

Japanese reports said that Major C. B. H. Delamain, British staff officer of the Tientsin garrison, had sought an interview with the Japanese army commander, General Homma, to discuss a possible solution of the blockade. They said Homma refused and replied through a subordinate that discussions would be useless "unless you are prepared to exceed the scope of Jamieson's recent representations."

The British Consul General had sought to discuss with Tashiro the case of four alleged Chinese assassins over which the blockade started. Tashiro replied it was necessary now to consider the whole field of Anglo-Japanese relations, including a change in British policy in China.

"The Bear Went over the Mountain . . . ."

You remember why, don't you? Certainly. It was "to see what he could see."

And it's for just this same beautifully simple reason that thousands of knowing people run through the advertisements in their daily newspapers.

For, it seems, civilized men and women are seldom satisfied with their lot. In this ever-producing age they have an insatiable appetite for something new which may make life brighter. That something may be an electric razor, or new summer clothes . . . a good book, or a ride in a streamlined train.

So they turn the newspaper pages TO SEE WHAT THEY CAN SEE. There they're able to find what it is, why it is, where it is, and how much it is. And the advertisements say, "Come and get it!"

London, June 22—(CP Cable) — Prime Minister Chamberlain told the House of Commons today that the government hopes the Tientsin blockade will be settled by negotiations but that "if those negotiations fail, we are considering what further steps might have to be taken."

Taking a stronger line than he has shown over the Far East in the last day or two, the Prime Minister told Arthur Greenwood, acting leader of the opposition, that the government "view with great alarm" the series of China coast incidents which the Labor leader classed as acts of aggression.

In his brief statement the Prime Minister reviewed the latest events at Tientsin, Kulangsu and Swatow and, in answer to Sir J. S. Wardlaw Milne, Conservative, indignantly denied Japanese press reports that Viscount Halifax, in an interview earlier in the week with Mamoru Shigemitsu, the Japanese Ambassador, "called for mercy."

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Summer solstice! The sun is always shining upon approximately one-half of the earth's surface, but at 2.40 a.m. today all the area within the Arctic circle is included in the sunshiny half. If the value of a day's sunshine at the equator on March 22, is called 1000, then the value at the North Pole today s 1210. Although the sun shines upon the pole at a considerable slant, the sunshine value is great there because daylight is 24 hours long. Today the value of the sunshine at the equator (on the same scale) is only 882, at Philadelphia 1107, and at the northern boundary of Alberta or Labrador it is 1093. After today the sun begins its retreat southward.

Port Atones Fort Blunder

Southampton, June 22—(CP-Cable) With its enthusiastic welcome to the King and Queen today, Southampton atoned for an epic blunder committed by the city fathers a century ago.

When Queen Victoria made a post-coronation visit to the port the city councillors sent to St. James's Palace a bill for a red carpet provided for Her Majesty's arrival.

The Queen was indignant. She placed the city on her black list and never set foot here again.

Unite to Maintain Peace in Balkans and East Mediterranean

Paris, June 22 (AP)—France and Turkey are ready to sign a declaration tomorrow announcing their determination to unite in maintaining peace in the Balkins and the eastern Mediterranean area.

Informed sources said today that the Franco-Turkish understanding would signal great hopes in finally getting Russian adherence to the Anglo-French anti-aggression front as a counterweight to the Rome-Berlin axis. Turkey is a close friend of Russia.

Papers of All Political Shades Join in 'Welcome Home' to Rulers

London, June 22—(CP)— London newspapers of all political shades today joined in a unanimous "welcome home" for the King and Queen.

"King George and Queen Elizabeth already had won our affection," the News Chronicle (Liberal) said, "but their American tour has greatly heightened the respect in which they are held."

The Daily Herald (Labor) said: "Two things stand out from the visit—strengthening of the ties binding Canada and the Mother Country, and the building of even closer friendship between the British Empire and the United States. Now Their Majesties deserve a rest."

"A historic journey ends today," said The Times (Independent). "Yet it is well to remember that when this event is described as a home-coming the word is used in a rather loose and colloquial sense. Properly speaking, apart from the few days they spent in the United States, Their Majesties have been at home all the time.

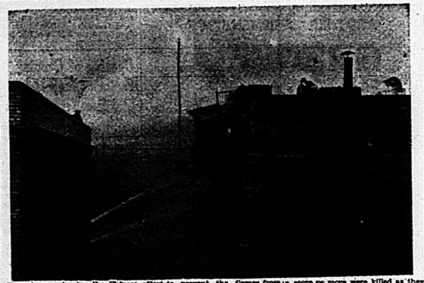
"Wherever they went in Canada, the King and Queen showed unmistakably they felt themselves at home and the people's spontaneous greeting left no doubt they were received, not as distinguished visitors from a remote world, but as the much respected and much loved heads of a family."

Without Precedent

"Since the journey from which Their Majesties are returning is itself without precedent,". The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) said, "parliament was well advised in creating another precedent in honor of so memorable an occasion. All who are fortunate enough to join in today's greetings should not forget that, no less than they are members of the two houses of parliament, they are representatives of a nation of all those millions in these islands, who, absent in body, will be present in thought and spirit to offer their heartfelt greetings to their King."

"In part we will be giving them a curtain call after their performance in America," said the Daily Express (Independent). "We applaud a difficult job well done. But there is a far simpler reason behind the welcome we will give them. We are all very glad to see them again.

"If you would believe God still looks with favor upon this island race, that he forgives all our stupidity, cruelty, bigotry, prejudice and pettiness, then you might do worse this morning than say a prayer, that God has blessed us yet once again with sovereigns of such character and firm purpose."



Two tenements in the Chinese quarter of New York were razed by flames in the worst fire to strike Chinatown in thirty years. Firemen battled the roaring flames for several hours in a successful effort to prevent the flames from spreading to surrounding outworn buildings. Eight bodies were removed from the smoking ruins as searchers continued looking for possible victims. It was feared that a score or more were killed as they fought to escape through narrow, twisty halls. Four firemen were injured in the fight to subdue the flames.

New and Closer Relationship In Business and Social Life Reaped From Good-Will Tours

Cavalcade to Tweed the Largest of Series Undertaken by Chamber of Commerce

SPLENDID TURNOUT

Addresses Kept Brief but Everywhere Evidence of Friendship Seen

Tweed Pavilion on the green-bordered shore of Stoco Lake was the scene last evening of an unforgetable memory, a memory of two hundred and fifty citizens of Belleville, Tweed, Madoc, Marmora and Bancroft and the other municipalities of North Hastings, gathered in one memorable concourse of urban and rural fellowship, friendliness and better acquaintance.

It was the final act, the last one of a series of four good-will and better acquaintance tours sponsored by the Belleville Chamber of Commerce, in an effort to promote better relationship between city and smaller municipality of the county; the final planting of the seeds of good-will sown by Belleville's weekly cavalcade of business-men and citizens, from which a harvest of new and closer relationship in business and social life may be reaped.

ALLEGED LABOR RACKET PROBED

Notice Appears in Paper Advertising Jobs on Canal

Toronto, June 22—(CP)—Ontario Provincial Police yesterday launched a probe into an alleged labor racket in Eastern Ontario. The step was taken at the request of the Ontario Employment Service at Queen's Park.

Employment Service officials said the alleged racket, with headquarters at Brockville and Prescott, was connected with notices appearing in a Hungarian language newspaper inviting unemployed men to send $2 for information about jobs in "canal construction on the St. Lawrence."

H. C. Hudson, head of the Employment Service, said there is no such canal construction and persons advertising the jobs had no licence to operate an employment bureau. Letters had been received from as far north as Kenora inquiring about the advertisers.

350 CANADIANS MISS SCENES IN HEAVY FOG

Southampton, June 22—(CP)— Unluckiest persons today in the royal reception staged here were 350 Canadians who came abroad in the Empress of Australia from Quebec.

The ship, due to dock at Southampton at 1 p.m. (8 p.m. EDT), would have served as a floating grandstand for the passengers affording an excellent view of the royal landing.

But earlier in the day the Australia encountered dense fog off Cherbourg and docked here some time after the Empress of Britain.

GOV'T HAS HOPES TO END TROUBLE ON LOCAL BASIS

If Coercion Continues There Will be 'Counter-Measures' Says Spokesman

MESSAGE SENT

London, June 22—(CP Cable) — The British government still has hopes that the Tientsin blockade will be settled on a local basis, but "if coercion continues there will be counter-measures," an official spokesman declared today.

"The position can't go on indefinitely," it was stated after references to British subjects being forced to strip at the concession barrier, being searched by Japanese sentries and subjected to indignities.

The spokesman made no attempt to enlarge his phrase "counter-measures". It is believed here the British government is reluctant to impose economic sanctions against Japan as long as there is any chance of settling the Tientsin incident on a local basis.

Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, has sent a message to E. G. Jamieson, British Consul General at Tientsin, expressing sympathy with the British community there and assuring them the British government will take every step to protect them and look after their interests.

The Daily Mail (Independent) said in an editorial that "no words can be too strong to express Britain's determination to face up to the Japanese challenge."

"Tientsin," it added, "has become a test of Britain's position in the Orient if the arrogant tone of militarists represents the official view."

"The effect upon the Chinese," said Vernon Bartlett in the News Chronicle (Liberal), "of the constant humiliations to which the British have been subjected by Japanese authorities is most serious, and against this there is, at any rate for the time being, no retaliation.

"It is certain that the present situation cannot long continue without very serious effects upon the prestige of the white nations in the Far East.

MURDER CHARGE FOLLOWS FINDING OF NUDE BODY

Stewart Mighswander, Buffalo, Now in Hospital at Fort Erie, Ont.

Fort Erie, Ont., June 22—(CP)— Police Chief A. E. Griffin said today that Stewart Mighswander, 25, of (185 Auburn Ave.) Buffalo would be charged with the murder of 12-year-old Donald Doto, whose nude body was found on the outskirts of Fort Erie early this morning.

HUGS AND KISSES GIVEN PARENTS BY PRINCESSES

Elizabeth and Margaret Rose Jump Joyously in Excitement of First Meeting

WARM GREETING

Their Majesties, Smiling Happily, Embrace Children Before Ship's Crew

Canadian Press Staff Writer

Aboard the Empress of Britain en route to Southampton, June 22—(CP)— On the mist-shrouded deck of this royal yacht, King George and Queen Elizabeth were reunited today with their daughters from whom they have been separated for the past five weeks.

Hugs and kisses, with the Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose jumping joyously in the excitement of seeing their parents again, marked the royal reunion. And Their Majesties, smiling happily, embraced their children. It was a simple family scene.

But royal formality intruded almost too soon. Greetings over, the Princesses, becomingly dressed in fawn camel hair coats and gray berets walked with Their Majesties to the bridge where King George took the salute from the flotilla leader Kempenflet which had taken the Princesses down the solent following their early morning ride to Portsmouth from London.

Princess Margaret Rose beat her older sister to the top of the companion way to the arms of the Queen, both crying "hello mummy."

Kissed Father Three Times

Princess Elizabeth then kissed her father three times and said she had a "lovely time" on the destroyer.

The solicitous mother, separated from her children longer than ever before, said "you must be cold" and the Princesses were taken to the royal apartments holding their parents' hands.

The Princesses drove in a closed car from Portsmouth harbor station to the dockyard. They were escorted by Admiral of the Fleet the Earl of Cork and Orrery, commander-in-chief of the Portsmouth base, and on arriving at the south railway jetty they were received by Vice-Admiral R. R. Turner, superintendent of the dockyard.

Walking side by side down the scarlet-covered gangway, the Princesses were piped on board in naval fashion. The Kempenfelt immediately put out to sea. As it went out of the harbor a party of girl Sea Rangers from the holiday training ship Implacable drew abreast of the warship on a ferry and gave three cheers which Princess Elizabeth acknowledged with a wave of her hand.

DOLL REPLICAS OF MOUNTIES GIFTS TO PRINCESSES

Southampton, June 22—(CP Cable)—Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose came ashore today carrying two vivid reminders that while their father and mother were in Canada they were constantly watched by the Dominion's Mounted Police.

Under their arms they had tucked doll replicas of scarlet-coated "Mounties" gifts brought to them by the King and Queen.

TRIUMPHANT RETURN

Flags of Nearly All Nations Greet Their Majesties—Crowds Wait Long—Haze on Sea as Royal Yacht Approaches End of Journey—Royal Family Scenes

By EDWIN JOHNSON

London, June 22 (CP) — King George and Queen Elizabeth rode back into the heart of their empire capital tonight amid shouting multitudes to complete a 15,000 mile journey that took them across the greatest of their Dominions.

Hundreds of thousands, lining a Royal route from Waterloo Station, where the Royal train arrived at 5.24 p.m. (12.24 p.m., E.D.T.), to Buckingham Palace cheered themselves hoarse, shouting "Long live the King and Queen" and "Well Done Your Majesties".

Spontaneous Salute.

Not since the King and Queen were crowned in London little more than two years ago have they received such an extensive and spontaneous salute from this city's population.

It was the climax of cheers and acclaim that have followed them from the moment they set foot at Quebec five weeks ago, across Canada to the Pacific, and back again, through Washington, the capital of the United States, and the American metropolis, New York.

At Southampton, where they landed earlier in the day, scenes such as were enacted in all of Canada's cities and towns took place as that port said "welcome home" to the King and Qneen.

Unstinted Acclaim in London.

And in the late afternoon as they rode through London's familiar streets, their Majesties, accompanied by Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, received the unstinted acclaim of Londoners more accustomed to seeing Royalty than the people of the new world.

The Royal Family rode in an open carriage. The King, bronzed and rested by his sea voyage, smiled and saluted repeatedly, the Queen and the little Princesses waving again and again in response to the bursts of cheering.

Across Westminster Bridge, past the historic Houses of Parliament and up Whitehall they rode, into the vastness of Trafalgar Square where the Nelson monument was surrounded by thousands upon thousands of spectators and on to Buckingham Palace.

Acounts of greetings given their Majesties in Canada and the United States had put London's crowds in an even greater cheering mood than usual. Hours before the Royal train arrived from Southampton streets leading to Waterloo station were thronged by eager, enthusiastic but patient Londoners.

"Well Done"

Between the station and Buckingham Palace the route was decorated with flags and signs which read: "Welcome Home" and the time-honored "God Save the King" and "God Save Their Majesties".

'Splice the Main Brace' Order May Ease Feeling of King's Navy

By JACK BRAYLEY
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 22—(CP Cable)— Fate has dealt a lean hand to the navy in its relations with the touring sailor King.

First, the international tension resulted in the distinction of carrying the Lord High Admiral being transferred from the battle cruiser Repulse to the merchantman Empress of Australia. And the Repulse men had shined and polished for weeks, only to act as an escort halfway to Canada and then take some target practice.

So the navy was especially keen on giving its No. 1 jack tar a big welcome. They had planned an amplified cheer and gunnery salute and a spectacular sail past as the Empress of Britain neared Southampton.

But the sailors worst enemy—fog, which had held the Empress of Australia in ice-infested seas off Newfoundland causing delay of the arrival at Quebec—shut down again, making naval manoeuvres dangerous.

So after a consultation among the commanders this signal was issued: "His Majesty the King considers the weather unsuitable for the fleet reception and regrets that it must be cancelled."

The fleet, already steaming out to sea practising manning the ships and cheering, turned off towards Portland without even glimpsing the Empress of Britain.

But it is almost a certainty the understanding of the royal sailor will ease the hurt somewhat by repeating the signal he gave the fleet escort on the outward trip—"Splice the main brace"—which means an extra rum ration for all hands.

U. S. Will Fight If Canada Threatened Conference Told

By JOHN ASPINWALL
Associated Press Staff Writer

Canton, N. Y., June 22—(AP)— Assertions that the United States will fight if Canada is threatened were left today with a Canadian-American conference by Major General John O'Ryan, Great War commander, and Senator Elbert Thomas of Utah.

"An attack on Canada, from a strategic viewpoint, is an attack upon the United States," General O'Ryan told political scientists from both sides of the Canadian border assembled by the Carnegie Endowment for International Peace.

"This nation will respond to such an attack as a lusty man who sees his own brother beset by malefactors," he said. "I believe the same principle would apply were the circumstances reversed."

Senator Thomas said "Defence of Canada from attack on the Pacific is a fundamental concern of the United States," and added:—"If you want to know what America will fight for and when, you can put it quite simply:—

"America will find herself in war the moment the Atlantic no longer is in the hands of friends."

Captain and Mrs. Sharp will be honored by the Salvation Army congregation of Campbellford and district at farewell services in Campbellford on Sunday.

WORKMEN DRAIN POOLS IN SWAMPLAND TO REMOVE GASOLINE

Road barricades have been placed and "no smoking" orders posted at the lower end of Front street where employees of a local oil company are engaged in the sump draining of pools of gasoline from an adjacent swamp into which gasoline trickled over the week-end from a defective pipe line. Special equipment is being used by the company for the drainage of the gasoline, and workmen are carefully digging in various locations to determine if any heavy seepage exists. The work is under the direction of Fire Chief Lynch, and City Engineer Chas. Mott.

EVICTION ORDERS SENT OUT TODAY

Eviction orders are being personally tendered today by officials of the Welfare Department to occupants of several houses of the south ward of the city, which houses have been marked by city council for either complete demolition or thorough renovation. GIRL INJURED WHEN SHE RUNS INTO SIDE OF MOTORCAR

Running into the side of a moving car driven by G. Smith of Oshawa, yesterday, Barbara Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bailey, Wellington, suffered broken bones in one hand and severe lacerations of the face and legs.

She was returning home after school with an older sister when the accident occurred. Dr. R. A. Thompson gave her first aid and later ordered her removed to Prince Edward County Hospital.

LARGE DEAD TURTLE FOUND IN RIVER

The dead body of a large snapping turtle that measured nearly two feet from "stem to stern" attracted the attention of residents yesterday, as it slowly floated down the Moira River.

There was no visible evidence that the turtle had been killed, and old-timers who viewed it as it neared the C.P.R. bridge ventured the opinion that it had died from natural causes. The neck protruded six inches from the shell while the legs were spread-eagled at sharp angles from the four points of the body.

DEMAND BY FARMERS FOR HELP AT PRESENT REPORTED AT LOW EBB

While haying operations are generally under way throughout the various sections of the district, there has been little or no call for help from farmers, officials of the Employment Office stated today. Practically all the farmers that used to secure assistance for the harvest from this source, are either doing their own work or getting their help from some other quarter, it was stated.

Many Hands Help to Renovate Centre Street United Mission

Rev. L. S. Wight, in Charge of Mission, Has Fine Program for Development of Work Among Members

Centre Street United Mission, a fine brick structure just north of the city, and east of the Cannifton Road, is undergoing restoration and renovation this week, under the direction of the Rev. L. S. Wight of this city, who is in charge of the Mission. Work which began on Monday of this week is being rushed so that the opening of the church may take place on Sunday morning June 25th.

This mission was built in the year 1896 and has been used ever since that time. Some time ago a Sunday school room was built at the rear of the church.

How important this church is, may be seen from the fact that there are enough families in the immediate vicinity to fill this ample building. In fact there are sixty-five families associated with it and the Sunday school has a membership of from seventy to seventy-five boys and girls.

Organizes the Young

Mr. Wight has devoted himself unsparingly to the work of the mission. He has carried on services and has organized a boy scout group in charge of Mr. Churchill, who is Scout Master. Plans are under way, Mr. Wight said today, for the organization of a Girl Guide group to interest the girls of the mission.

Realizing that redecoration and improvements were necessary, Rev. Mr. Wight approached, in respect to a contribution, the board of John Street Church Memorial Fund, which has an income yearly from assets of the former John Street church congregation and a committee of Messrs. H. B. Fetterly, John Cook, Rev. Dr. James Semple, and Rev. Dr. Raymond Richards was appointed to look into the matter of necessary improvements and reported favorably. The matter was then brought before the Bay of Quinte Conference and authority was granted to the Board to make a donation to the work of restoration from the John Street fund which is set apart to be used for the work of missions in and around Belleville.

Electric Lights

The activity of this week is the result. Electric lighting has been installed, the interior of the church washed and cleansed, the ceiling papered in white, the walls redecorated in buff, the wainscoting done in deep brown; seats are being cleaned and varnished, and the floor is to be painted in harmony with the color scheme of the church.

The committee of the mission handling the work of renovation is composed of Mr. George Urch, Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Mr. Philip Vandusen, Mrs. Markham, Mrs. Collins, the organist of the mission, and Mrs. Walter Way, who is president of the Ladies Aid.

Women Do Helpful Work

This morning, when a representative of the Ontario Intelligencer visited the mission with the Rev. Mr. Wight, he found all of the evidence of intense interest in the improvements and of speed with which they were being made so as not to interrupt the Sunday services. Quite a large number of women members of the congregation were busy working as only women can work in cleaning a church property. To say that they were busy would be a poor description of the intense activity which was seen on all sides. Already an immense change has been made since Monday morning and the completed transformation will be seen next Sunday morning when in the fully improved edifice services will be held. Mr Wight has arranged that Mr. Harry Atkinson of Albert College, whose good work in the college and outside is so well known, will take the service and preach at this service which opens at eleven o'clock. At ten o'clock in the morning the Sunday school meets under the superintendency of Mr. Charles Wilson. Rev. Mr. Wight will take the evening services. There will be special music for the services of the opening day.

Sports Organizations

The minister, Mr. Wight, sees a great opportunity to serve this community on the fringe of the city. He is organizing all kinds of sports and activities for the young. This comes natural to him because he has always been interested in sports and had it not been for an accident in boyhood, he would no doubt have found his way into baseball. Already he has a baseball series under way and on Friday evening the mission team will play a game. The mission players are already deep in the season's games.

Those who are served by the mission have reason to be proud of this fine place of worship and service, and of the people who do so much to make it serve its noble purpose. It is bright, cheerful and comfortable, possesses large grounds and is in every way an ideal mission. The building erected forty-three years is in a fine state of preservation.

Opening of Canning Factories May Help Stabilize Berry Prices

Reported Two Factories Will Begin Canning Operations Next Week

Stabilization of the price of strawberries was foreseen by farmers and vendors on the city market today following an announcement that two Prince Edward canning factories will start preserving operations next week.

"Lack of factory operation is one of the reasons, that the market has been flooded with the fruit", a prominent Rednersville grower said. The factories will not only relieve the pressure on city and other markets but will result in prices being at least near normal," he added.

Prices offered by the factories were not available today although some vendors advanced the opinion, that in all likelihood a figure between five and seven cents would be paid.

As it was there was plenty of the fruit offered today with prices remaining steady at three boxes for twenty-five cents. Crate-lots were quoted at a slightly lower figure.

Business was sluggish during the early hours with small transactions brightening the general trade later.

Next week will see some of the heaviest pickings" growers stated. A general air of optimism was apparent when Prince Edward County vendors brought word of the canning factory operations.

Rumors Dispelled By Finding of Deer Hide in Salmon Lake

Fisherman from Madoc Reported Hooking Into Fleshy Object on Sunday

AREA DRAGGED

Rumors circulating the district this week regarding the discovery of a dead body submerged in the waters of Salmon Lake near St. Ola in Limerick Township were dispelled today by Provincial Constable Art Dymond of Madoc in a long distance telephone conversation from Madoc with The Ontario Intelligencer.

On Tuesday and Wednesday Constable Dymond had superintended the dragging of a section in the east end of the lake where the body was reported observed by a party of Madoc fishermen.

"Will Connor of Madoc, one of the fishermen reported on Monday that while fishing in the east end of the lake on Sunday his line snubbed on some heavy, yielding object. He reeled in and found that the hook had snagged on something of a fleshy nature. A piece of partly decomposed flesh still remained on the hook.

"We dragged the east end of the lake this week, but all we found was a well rotted deer hide which had evidently been lying on the bottom of the lake for some time. It is quite likely that the piece of flesh on the hook had come from this hide," reported Constable Dymond.

"The very nature of the object would have fooled almost any one," he added.

Silencing of City Clock Bell Causes Many to be Late

Broken engagements and appointments, tardiness to work, and a general loss of time on the part of many citizens waiting for the mute bell of the city hall clock to strike the missing hours have all followed in the wake of the silencing of the hourly ringing of the bell during which time lately repairs are being made to the striking mechanism of the clock, it is noted by an observant citizen.

"You have no idea how many people of Belleville miss this hourly striking of the bell," comments the citizen. "Taxi drivers, stay-out-lates, early morning workers and those residing within the sound of the bell, whose range is estimated at about three miles on a calm night, have all voiced their protest over the silencing of the clock." it was added.

Repairs are being rushed, however, it is reported by Jack Roblin, custodian of the clock, and it is expected that the clock will again be ready to toll the hours by the middle of next week.

34th Battery Complimented On Efficiency, Appearance

Maj. Gen. Constantine Lauds Unit After Inspection Takes Place

R. BIRD IN COMMAND

Tribute to the high efficiency and smart military appearance of the members individually and the unit as a whole, was paid the 34th Battery, Royal Canadian Artillery last night by Major-General H. A. Constantine, D.S.O. officer commanding Military District No. 3 following the annual inspection of the crack local artillery unit in the Armouries.

The inspecting officer was accompanied by Major M. MacCarter, of the staff of M.D. 3, himself an artillery officer, who adjudged with a critical eye the various phases of training, that were gone through by the battery.

A tactful scheme of signalling was one of the features of the inspection while the smart marching with General Constantine taking the salute drew the comments of a large crowd of spectators, who were present to watch the inspection.

Gun-drill on the newly mechanized guns of the unit, rifle drill and battery manoeuvres were gone through by members of the battery, which showed a high state of efficiency as the result of weeks of intensive training.

"The general all round appearance of your unit is worthy of commendation", General Constantine told the assembled unit following the inspection, "while the knowledge shown of the various phases of training and the smartness and efficiency with which your training has been carried out marks the battery as being one of the best in the district."

Acting Captain Ralph Bird was in command of the unit in the absence of Major J. H. McLeod. Officers of the 9th Artillery Brigade of which the 34th is a unit were present, as were many prominent militia officers of other units of the district.

The inspecting staff were the guests of the officers of the battery following the inspection.

Motorists Asked To Exercise Care To Protect Children

Now That Many Children Are Through With School They Use Streets for Playgrounds

One of the city's most ardent proponents of safer driving, Mayor Jamieson Bone today offered the observation to local automobile owners in the hope of an accident-free summer, that more care will be necessary in the use of city and suburban roads on the part of drivers due to the numbers of children at play in the open since the summer closing of classrooms. Within the city special care is urged to avoid children who may dart into the road in pursuit of balls or hoops.

Movement Launched To Organize "Little Theatre" Group Here

A meeting to organise a Little Theatre group in Belleville and district will be held in the children's room, Corby Public Library on Friday evening of this week. This was the decision of a small group who met in the Collegiate Library to discuss the possibility of launching a Little Theatre movement locally. Election of officers and the outlining of a program was postponed until a more representative meeting could be held.

In the meantime all local people known to be interested in the theatre are being contacted and asked to attend, and an open invitation to everyone interested in the project is being extended.

In addressing the preliminary meeting, Wing Commander Hume, who has had considerable experience in Little Theatre activities, commended the group on their attempt to get organized early in the season. Most attempts are made, he said, in November when it is too late to accomplish much. He suggested that two types of prospective members be contacted: those who are interested in taking an active part in dramatics, the others who are interested in the theatre from a cultural standpoint and will assist in the business administrative side of such an undertaking. The latter he emphaized, are as important to the success of a movement as the producing end.

After reviewing the remarkable achievements of Little Theatre groups in other parts of Canada, the States and England in keeping alive the art of the legitimate stage after the commercial theatre had been all but extinguished by the movies, Wing commander Hume remarked that he had been greatly surprised, in first being moved to this district to discover that no vital movement existed here. This he found strange because considerable enterprise had been shown in other cultural pursuits and, he thought, there should be considerable talent in the district.

At a meeting to be held Friday night the various phases of a Little Theatre will be discussed, suggestions sought, officers elected and a program drawn up for the coming season.

The movement, when organized, will be very fortunate in having available the services of Wing Commander Hume of the R.C.A.F. station who has had wide experience in the Little Theatre productions both in Canada and Great Britain. He has intimated his willingness to act in an advisory and directive capacity should the group desire it.

NEW AND CLOSER

It was the brilliant harmonious end last evening of one of the most original and successful ventures yet undertaken by any civic organization of an Ontario municipality, one whose prosperous attainment so completely fulfilled will serve as an inspiration to which other communities may aspire.

About Same Program

In the airy pavilion whose one unscreened side opened new vistas of green woods and blue lake, and the others the trim orderliness of the close-cropped grass and trees of Memorial Park, much the same program had been arranged as followed in other municipalities visited. There were the usual friendly handshakes and informal greetings that had gained in number and strength as older acquaintances were added to the new of recent introduction. There were the songs and stories told and retold by local guests and welcoming hosts; the complete absence of that characteristic stiffness so evident at a majority of gatherings of town and country, and in its place had come a warmth of welcome that was so evidently sincere. But there was also last evening an atmosphere of regret, an unsettled, disturbing feeling that such weekly trips had reached their grand finale, that these charming, friendly visits had been concluded, an emptiness, that settled as the last notes of the Belleville Municipal Band and the voices of two hundred and fifty men ended that postlude of "Auld Lang Syne" roared out while hands joined in hearty grip.

Sorry to Saye Goodbye

"Will ye no come back again?" roared out members of the Tweed, Marmora, Madoc and Bancroft delegation as the last saddened strains of the goodbye echoed through the hall.

"You bet we will" came the answering shout of the Belleville guests, as heartily responded to.

One characteristic feature of last evening's general get together was the brevity of the speeches, a brevity which was insisted upon by general chairman Alderman McLean Haig, president of the Chamber of Commerce to whom has been expressed the full and grateful thanks of all members of the Chamber for the excellent manner in which he has conducted each one of the series of meetings and visits.

"We," he informed his hosts, on behalf of the Belleville visitors, "have not come here to weary you with long speeches. Rather our cavalcade, our weekly visits have been adventures in friendship. New adventures that have been an eye opener for the very and true hospitality that has been shown us everywhere. We have visited three of the scheduled but this evening, Tweed residents may be given the privilege [illegible] suming that we have saved the best visit for the last. Certainly this evening's attendance would indicate that this meeting has been the most successful of the three past successful ones we have had.

Friendly Receptions

"When the Belleville Chamber of Commerce became inspired with this idea of having good will tours of Belleville people through the northern part of the county, we tackled the project with some trepidation and some hesitation," continued chairman Haig, who was interrupted from time to time with a chant from the rear tables: "Haig for Mayor...." "We were not sure of the exact reception we were going to be given. But the first visit was one marked with a welcome, which exceeded our fondest hopes; all through these series we have been given royal welcome and the most friendly receptions it could be possible to receive.

"Our purpose in these visits is easy to explain. In Belleville we have an old adage that to have a friend, be one. We have merely wanted to extend our circle of friendship wider and wider, to take in all our friends of the country to show that we really and truly wish to be friends with all. It is our hope in this way, that the problems which confront our city and your municipality will thus be overcome by the joint co-operation we may receive and be able to give.

"A munificent Providence has bestowed upon Hastings County benefits untold, but not the least of these benefits and resources are the people who go to make up the County of Hastings. It is up to us to knit these people closer, ever closer together in a friendship which will be at once the envy and yet the inspiration of all other municipalities of the province," concluded the chairman.

Band Introduced

At this point Mr. Haig introduced the members of the Belleville Municipal Band, explaining that for the purpose of the visits they had been officially labelled with the name of the Chamber of Commerce Band. "But it is still the Belleville Municipal Band, and we are proud of our band and of our Bandmaster, Lieutenant Fred Jobson, and of our Male Quartette, who will also entertain you this evening," added chairman Haig.

Community singing was led during the evening by Mr. Sandy Burrows, who also earned the compliments of the chairman for the manner in which he has assisted in the entertainment during the visits. "I just don't know what we and the rest of the boys who have would have done without Sandy come along to every meeting," said Mr. Haig.

To Mr. A. B. Collins, K.C., past president of the Belleville Chamber and city solicitor, fell the honor of proposing the toast to the County of Hastings, and briefly Mr. Collins referred to the earlier founding of the village, which bears the name bestowed by the original founder, James Jamieson, who was born at Berwick on the Tweed River in Scotland. "The history of Tweed is linked with that of Hungerford Township, for which it forms the principal trading centre and seat of municipal government" he pointed out.

First Settlement on Island

"The earliest settlements of which record can be found were on Sugar Island lying immediately to the south of Stoco Lake, where Owen Durkin and Martin Donohue located in 1826 and were closely followed by Phillip Huffman and Nichol Conlin. Others who followed closely were Robt. McCannon; Felix Gabourie; Geo. Hart; John R. Wag; Thos. Clare; James Martin; Wm. Caton; J. D. Roblin; Henry Maines and Nathaniel Kerr. The Woodcocks, the McCannons, the Roblins, were also early settlers of Tweed and district."

Previous to this the Mississaugua Indians had settled the district, and Sugar Island derived its name from the fact the Indians made maple sugar from the maples there. This was sold in Myer's Creek village. Stoco Lake gained its name from Chief Stougcong of the Mississaugus. In the year 1890 the village was incorporated with a population in excess of 700 and embraced an area of 475 acres. The first council was elected in 1891, and consisted of Adam McGowan, Reeve. In the early days there was considerable rivalry between the villages of Georgetown and Tweed, but with incorporations, the two hamlets were merged into the village of Tweed, Mr. Collins related.

"JUST A LITTLE TO THE LEFT, PLEASE"

Pupils of the Ontario School for the Deaf at Belleville presented their annual exhibition of work the other night and hundreds of friends and relatives attended. One of the features was a dancing display in which the pupils kept time by feeling the music vibrations. Another high point was the beauty parlor where the latest coiffures were displayed. Phyllis Toompson (here) is giving a permanent wave to Kathleen Bartley.

Reeve Extends Welcome

In his response to the toast to the village, Charles H. Keer, Reeve, extended his hearty welcome to the Belleville guests and those from neighboring municipalities. Hastings County Council was well represented at the gathering. It was shown by Reeve Kerr who asked all councillors to stand with Warden Thompson. To these men as well as the guests, the Reeve paid his full compliments. Mr. S. R. Curry, who had also assisted greatly in the evening's arrangements was also heartily thanked by the speaker, who again extended the invitation for Belleville residents "to visit us back here at Tweed any time."

The toast to the City of Belleville was ably presented by Mr. I. D. Corcoran, president of the Tweed Community Club, who expressed also his appreciation to the ladies of the United Church, who had volunteered their services for the dinner.

"The Tweed Club, and Tweed citizens welcome those of Belleville and the representatives of the other municipalities," Mr. Corcoran assured. "This feature of the Belleville Chamber of Commerce has been a splendid idea, and one that could easily be emulated by the service clubs and the villages of the County, the members of which could make regular visits among themselves. This is an idea I just want to pass along for what it is worth," he added.

The City of Belleville and the name of the United Empire Loyalists have long been closely linked, and the enthusiastic welcome, that was shown the King and Queen during their brief stop in Belleville by Belleville residents and those of the entire county reveals, that this same loyalty that was so evident in the days of the original Loyalists has in no way been diminished, declared the speaker.

Known For Generosity

Belleville has long been known for the generosity of her people, continued Mr. Corcoran and at least one Belleville hotel has extended its hospitality to its guests for many years without a single complaint, he added humorously, referring to the hotel that is run by Governor Gil French, whom we all know" (The County Gaol)

Mr. Corcoran in his toast again pledged the loyalty of Tweed to that of Belleville, and expressed the hope, that such friendliness engendered by the visits of the local Chamber would never grow less.

Mr. W. J. Morrison, superintendent of the Ontario School for the Deaf, in his response to the toast by Mr. Corcoran declared, that his four year's residence in Belleville had given him an outlook on the city, which might be slightly different from that of one born in Belleville. "It is a beautiful place, one endowed with many natural advantages, and one which should show steady and consistent growth year after year. And Belleville's growth naturally will react favorably upon the rest of the county," he added.

The greatness of any city must depend upon the people who populate it, the initiative or foresight of even one may at times be responsible for the tremendously successful growth of a city, declared Mr. Morrison, citing Rochester and the creator, Mr. Eastman as but one example. A city grows because of the intelligence of certain people. The manufacturer who employs workers gives life to the community, all have their place and natural sequence in the life of any community. Belleville, it was pointed out is fortunately situated in this respect.

At this point an apology was made by chairman Haig for the absence of Mr. C. A. Cameron, K.C., M.P., scheduled to propose the toast to the County of Hastings. A telegram had been received from Mr. Cameron during the afternoon explaining his inability to leave Ottawa, where he is at present in connection with the appeal to allow the Bata Shoe Company executives to enter Canada to locate their plant near Frankford. Mr. Cameron's assignment was ably filled by Mr. Mackenzie Robertson, past president of the Belleville Chamber.

Tried to Dodge Assignment

"I had no notice of this duty, and tried to dodge it," declared Mr. Robertson, "but Mac Haig told me if I didn't speak he'd have to get Geo. Stokes, so here I am.

"I've heard a lot of nice things about Tweed here this evening, but there is one thing I'd like to ask, where in Tweed can I post this letter" he asked holding the letter aloft. Prolonged laughter followed this sally.

"In proposing this toast to the County, I'd like to ask also where is this county? Erle Denyes and Jim Haggerty would say it was down at the south end; Jim Moore would say it was up north. What they really mean to say is, that it is the whole area; there can be no subdivision or separated area of Hastings, because it is all one, each section dependent upon the other. Even we of the city have no cleavage, although there might be reason for it some times, but here tonight even members of the Board of Education of Belleville are sitting down at the table with the members of city council, lion and lamb fashion."

Tribute to County

Mr. Robertson paid tribute to the "great County of Hastings with its untold natural resources and great wealth, among which were the natural advantages, which make this country a tourists' paradise and the beginning of an industry which will soon rank as one of the banner industries of the country, that of the tourist industry."

S. B. Rollins, ex-Warden of Hastings County in his response to the toast by Mr. Robertson also paid tribute to the work of the early pioneer in settling Tweed and district. "It's such a big subject, I am almost lost for a start," he confessed. "You can't just stand up and give the County full justice in a few minutes; it takes a lot longer than that," he reminded.

Hastings County had done her part nobly in the emergencies of the country. She had given of her sons to Parliament, and to the Empire in the dark days of need. Over four hundred of the younger men of Tweed and district had volunteered and served with the Canadian Expeditionary Forces in the Great War and during the years the County had proudly held her head up among the leading counties of the Province. She stood today one of the best in Ontario in wealth and finances. Her resources have been but lightly tapped, and during the years to come much in promise lies ahead for her. Mr. Rollins extended the hand of fellowship to Belleville and other guests and expressed the hope that such friendships gained during the visit would be of durable and lasting nature.

Charlie Dolan Entertains

Mr. Charles T. Dolan, past president of the Belleville Rotary Club, in his inimitable style rocked the audience with laughter with his witty sallies and humorous stories, some of which were told in French Canadian dialect with an Irish accent. Waxing serious at intervals, Mr. Dolan paid high tribute to the Belleville Municipal Band, and the Belleville Male Quartette, both of which Belleville residents were extremely proud. To the efforts of officials of the Chamber in arranging the series of trips, he also expressed his appreciation.

"The whole thing has been a fine success, and one thing that has been noted with thanks has been the absence of long speeches. May this cavalcade bring the fruits of friendship and happiness for which we have striven," he complimented.

Dr. W. A. Paul, Tweed, proposed the toast to the Belleville Chamber of Commerce as the "last one of the last meeting, a toast which was like Christmas morning, when all the parcels and gifts are unwrapped, and nothing is left by the packing and wrapping."

"Taking this Chamber of Commerce from a physical aspect, all members who have come here present the appearance of men, who would be at home beside a trout stream. I want to toast these men, who like the true angler are sportsmen, all ethics, which they practice in their daily lives. The yearning in the heart of men for friendliness and association transcends that of profit or material gain. Man can get more out of life than the material profit he would make if he did not scruple about things, but in the effort of the Chamber to build up friendships during the past month, much confidence has been built up, and what would life be without this? I toast the Belleville Chamber of Commerce for their desire to co-operate in the creation of better friendship and fellowship", declared Dr. Paul.

Toast Responded To

Mr. I. L. Moore, principal of the Ontario Business College, Belleville, in his response assured the mover of the toast that members of the Chamber thanked him from the bottom of their hearts for the warmth of welcome and friendliness, that had been shown throughout the entire series of visits.

'Love thy neighbor as thyself' has of late years been much in disuse, stated Mr. Moore, but its importance was never greater than at the present time. "The work of the Chamber of Commerce vents itself in many ways but the fostering of friendship has been just one angle that has received a more important position lately. Why do we do this? asked Mr. Moore "because of sentiment. Not all business is devoid of sentiment. Our daily lives must have some of it. Perhaps it is merely because of sentimental reasons, that we are here tonight and have been elsewhere this month."

Mr. Moore impressed the point that the Belleville Chamber of Commerce is composed of just about one per cent of the people of Belleville, that the organization is supported merely by the contributions of this one per cent of the population, but that the whole city enjoyed the benefits that have been obtained through the efforts of the Chamber.

"These members are not the part of the population who stand to one side and say "what will this Chamber do for me?" they are the workers who do not measure their work by selfish aims.

"It has been said at times that the Chamber has lost this or that industry to Belleville. How can it lose it if it never had it? The officers of the Chamber are not representatives of a spending body like the Board of Education or the city council; they do not extract money from the taxpayers, and they do not have the last say in the matter of industries. Nor can they afford money to bring industries to the city. They have no power to close any deal. That rests with the city council. Mr. Herity, manager, and Miss Fraleck, assistant, are doing an exceptionally good job", complimented Mr. Moore.

Asked to Visit City

The invitation was extended by Mr. Moore for all residents of Tweed and North Hastings to visit Belleville and accept the same friendly greeting, that has characterized each visit by the Belleville men at each municipality.

Chairman McLean Haig, who had hurried the proceedings through in time to clear the floor for the regular Wednesday night dance by the club, asked all who helped the Chamber during the good will trips to accept the sincere and full thanks of every member, and to be assured of the full helpfulness of the Chamber he represented at any time the opportunity offered.

Included on the entertainment program were Mr. Leo Riggs, who assisted the Band and the individual soloists and members of the Male Quartette; Mr. Reg Wardle, who presented a trombone solo; Mr. Sandy Burrows who led in community singing; Harry Moorman; James Bankier; Alfred Evans and Harold Howard.

That beautiful selection "In a Monastery Garden" by the Belleville Band assisted by the Male Quartette ended the most successful evening.

THE KING AND QUEEN COME HOME

Today is a memorable day in Britain. Their Majesties who have traversed the Atlantic Ocean and the North American Continent twice, came home to welcoming crowds of many thousands in England after their long tour. Scenes of the homecoming were expected to rival the pageantry and enthusiasm of the coronation, two years ago last month.

They have returned from the most impressive tour of history and what they have seen of the New World, particularly of Canada and Canada's neighbor, the United States, will be a revelation to the homeland as press reports over the past month and more have shown.

Canadians do not know the British Isles well and it is said Britishers do not know Canada very intimately, but Their Majesties know Canada better than most Canadians for they have seen the country and have met the people. It may be more easy to learn the natural resources of a country than it is to get to know the spirit of a people but the King and the Queen have by the magic of their personalities shown their gifts in getting at the spirit which inspires the people of the Dominion. Their Majesties themselves have been one of the great sources of inspiration of Canadians in these latter days.

Britons appreciate the manner in which Canadians and Americans have welcomed the King and Queen. Such a welcome has inspired the British people to jubilation on the arrival of their Sovereigns today.

Again they see face to face the royal couple who have won their way into all hearts in the democratic New World. To the British Isles the King and Queen have carried something of the air of inspiration and feeling of Canada.

Canada and the rest of the Dominions rejoice today with the Homeland that the Rulers have safely returned after their momentous journey, and though separated by the Seas will participate in the thanksgiving for the safe return of Their Majesties.

BUILDING OF HOMES

Construction of dwellings is looking up and building in Belleville is likely this year to make a record for many years.

The person who wants a new house is primarily interested of course. It is natural to want a modern home. Among the first consulted in construction are the architect and builder, then come those who do the actual work of building, the laborers who prepare the excavation, the stonemasons, and the vendors of stone and cement and lime, the dealers who handle lumber, hardware, glass, paints and oils, the electricians, plumbers, the carpenters and bricklayers, and so on to the man who levels off the grounds, and then to the merchant in house decorations and equipment, furniture dealers and the fuel merchant. These are not all who participate, but this list gives a fair indication of the distribution of money which is set at work when a man starts to build a home.

Then too the question of city development comes up. It is not surprising that some of the new houses will be in some of the popular styles, such as Cape Cod, bungalows and so on. With building of new homes city beautification takes place.

The more homes that are built the more easy it is for the citizens to carry the essential services, which a city demands.

Those who are building homes will in some cases make it possible for others to build by opening up streets.

It is to be hoped that the movement now in evidence will gather momentum and that there will be a great deal of construction.

NOW IT IS JAPAN

Japan is staging an act, it appears to many, one result of which she hopes will be the fall of British prestige in China.

Japan is probably playing upon the chord of the triple alliance in the anti-Comintern pact, Germany and Italy being her two partners and her action may be an effort to embarrass Britain in the time when there are influences at work to keep Britain from completing her anti-aggression pact in Europe.

Japan needs to have her own prestige bolstered, for it has been bluntly broken down by the Chinese whom Japan has despised to her sorrow. It may be she would like to involve Britain and so shift the attention of the world from the undeclared war she has been waging.

THE WILD ROSE

Along the fields and the roadsides
When the world is gay in June,
We catch the sweetest fragrance,
A subtle sweet perfume;
And there, by the zig-zag fences
That enclose the farmer's field,
Gleams the pink of the bright red roses
Which the subtle frangrance yield.

They grow not in city gardens,
Nor in park-lots trim and neat,
But in quiet wayside places
Far away from the noisy street;
And they gladden the wild, waste places
And brighten the countryside,
And add to the pictures of June time
That on memory's wall abide.

A MEMORIAL TO FATHER JOGUES

On July 3 next, on the shores of Lake George, which he discovered almost three hundred years ago, is to be unveiled by Governor Lehman a monument to Father Isaac Jogues, martyred Jesuit missionary and ambassador of peace to the militant Iroquois nation. The statue in his honor is described as impressive; it shows Jogues with his right arm lifted in benignant gesture and his left hand holding a cross, and beneath this inscription: "Ad majorem Dei Gloriam"—"To the greater glory of God."

x

The story of Father Jogues has been told many times but always bears repeating—as summarized by the Montreal Gazette. His story is as follows: From 1636 to 1642 this intrepid servant of God was engaged in missionary work in Huronia. He has been described as a man of saintly character, delicate, refined and scholarly, in whom the fire of religion burned with a bright white flame. He had toiled also among the Algonquin tribes and on one occasion addressed a gathering of two thousand at Sault Ste. Marie. In 1642, the year Maisonneuve founded Montreal, Jogues was sent on a mission to take supplies to the starving Redmen in Huronia. In August, while he and his party were ascending Lake St. Peter in twelve canoes they were attacked by a band of Iroquois warriors. Three Hurons were killed on the spot and Joques, the Frenchmen Goupil and Couture, and twenty-two other Hurons were taken prisoner. The survivors were taken up the Richelieu, dragged through the villages, beaten with clubs, their fingers broken or chopped off and their bodies burned with red-hot embers. Jogues survived the tortures and for a year he went among the Indians, preaching the Gospel despite his sufferings. A trading party of Mohawks took him to the Dutch Settlement at what is now Albany. There the Dutch rescued him and enabled him to return to France, where he was welcomed as saint and martyr.

x

Jogues returned to Canada, to Ville Marie, when, in 1646, the Mohawks were offering to make peace with the French. As he was best fitted to act as envoy, because of his knowledge of the Mohawk language and character, he was chosen by Governor Montmagny. Jogues had forebodings of death, and on the eve of his departure wrote to a friend in France: "Ibo et non redibo"—"I shall go and not return." Meanwhile the peaceful attitude of the Indians had changed, but despite warnings Jogues proceeded on his mission. Smallpox was ravaging the villages and crops had failed, visitations which the Indians blamed on Jogues, he having left a box on a previous visit as a pledge that he would return. The benighted Redmen were convinced that the evils had come from this box, and demanded the death of the missionary. He was beaten and starved, and on the 18th of October, as related by Thomas G. Marquis in his "The Jesuit Missions," while sitting in a wigwam a chief approached and bade him to a feast. Realizing that it was the feast of death, Jogues calmly rose, followed his guide to a wigwam, when, on bending his head to enter, a savage cleft his skull with a tomahawk. Next day, Lalande, a lay brother, was similarly dispatched. Their heads were chopped off and placed on the palisades of the town, their bodies being thrown into the Mohawk river. Thus ended that particular mission of the martyrs, and it was ten years before the work of salvation was resumed. But their memories remain as guiding stars to their successors, who labor in an easier day. And after three centuries another honor is being paid to Jogues on a spot in which he toiled and suffered.

June 22nd., 1889.

A strawberry social will be held at the Tabernacle on the evening of June 26th.

The Holloway Street Church Sunday School picnic will take place per steamer Quinte to the Indian Woods on July 10th.

Mr. F. L. Fellows has been engaged to make a survey on Grass Island near the mouth of Bell's Creek. Mr. E. W. Meyers will assist him in the work.

Strawberries sold on the market today at 7 cents and nine cents per box.

A carefully compiled estimate places the number of logs that have come down the Moira River so far this season at 600,000.

Prof. P. Denyes of the D. & D. Institute left today to spend the summer vacation at his home at St. Julien, Quebec.

Mr. Pepn, paymaster for Davis & Co., was at Point Anne yesterday and paid out about $5,000.00 in wages to the stone cutters and quarrymen.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Simple Method of Relieving Pain in Heel due to Bony Spur

When a pain occurs in the heel every time the heel strikes the floor or ground, it may often be due to a little spur of bone which has grown on the sole surface of the heel bone. This growth of bone is due to infection—rheumatic or other infection.

If the spur is not too long or too sharp, soft insoles or pads for the heel which have a hole into which the spur fits, usually give relief. It was not until the discovery of the Xray that the cause of so many painful heels was learned.

A former method of removing the spur was to make an opening at side with a chisel. This often set up an inflammation of the membrane covering the bone that was as painful as the spur itself.

A new method of giving relief to those suffering severe pain because of these bony spurs is described by Dr. James R. Regan, Milwaukee, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, who says: "For the past five years in those cases of spurs on heel bone which were painful and which did not respond to the use of well-fitting supports, feet pads, and shoe correction, the following procedure was carried out. At the point of greatest tenderness an ordinary hypodermic needle was thrust through the skin of the sole of heel until it reached the heel bone. Then a few drops of 2 per cent procaine hydrochloride was injected, followed, in a few moments by 7 1-2 drops of sodium morrhuate in 5 per cent benzyl alcohol. The relief from the symptoms was rapid and prolonged. Thirty-three patients received this treatment and all but one obtained relief. The relief obtained usually lasts for between two and three years, after which another injection may be given."

Remember, this treatment is for painful heel due to the bony spur; it is not for any other type of pain in heel.

When we think of the former methods of treating this heel spur—all kinds of pads and shoes, and removing spur with a chisel—this simple method, one hypodermic injection of the solution, seems almost too good to be true. But giving relief in thirty-two of thirty-three cases speaks for itself.

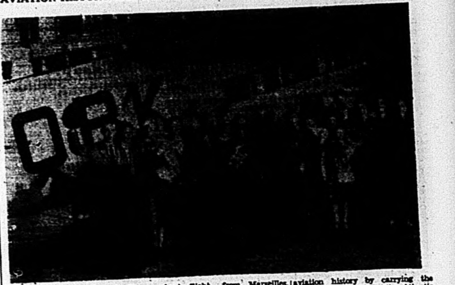
HELEN TOOK THE DECISION BY HER TEETH

When Ernie Mack persistently heckled President Sophie Tucker, of the American Federation of Actors, during a "confidence" meeting in New York, a Tucker supporter, Helen Johnson, tall Texas show girl, turned the meeting into a riot when she attacked Mack. The blonde actress struck Mack in the face and then won the decision by getting a firm hold on his neck with her teeth.

AVIATION HISTORY MADE BY GIANT PLANE ON TRANSATLANTIC FLIGHT



The group of passengers who flew the Atlantic ocean on the "Press Preview" flight of Pan-American Airways Atlantic Clipper is shown in this radio picture at Le Bourget flying field, Paris, France, after a short flight from Marseilles, France, where the Clipper landed to complete a flight from Port Washington, L.I. All told, there were 18 observers and a crew of twelve aboard the giant plane which made aviation history by carrying the first passengers across the Atlantic in a heavier-than-air machine. Twelve reporters, four radio broadcasting men and two members of the Pan-American Airways personnel were the observers.

The woman called police headquarters and a posse of town, provincial and mounted police started in search for the body. About 100 yards west of the Canadian National Railways tracks in a section thick with thorn bushes and weeds they came upon the body.

Hospital authorities said Mighswander still was "very weak" today.

Shannonville

Shannonville—The annual decoration day service of the Riverview Cemetery was held on Wednesday afternoon with a very large number of district folk in attendance, and great interest was taken in the service which was presided over by the Rev. W. D. Craig.

During the early part of the afternoon plot owners busied themselves beautifying their respective plots and afterwards joined in the inspiring service. The service opened and closed with the singing of hymns and addresses were given by Dr. H. K. Welsh, M.L.A., Dr. H. E. Eckardt, the Rev. Enos Farnsworth of Belleville and the Rev. Mr. Beazer of Roslin. All speakers referred to the splendid work being done by the Cemetery board and congratulated them for doing such marvelous work. Mrs. K. R. Vivian, treasurer of the board, informed the Intelligencer that many donations had been received but many more were needed in order to continue with the improvements so essential to the betterment of the Cemetery.

The personnel of the Cemetery Board is as follows:—

Chairman—W. S. Dies.
Treasurer—Mrs. K. R. Vivian.
Secretary—Mr. Fred Melburn.
Chairlady—Mrs. Garbutt.
Board members—Mr. J. F. MacFarlane, Thomas Vivian, Herbert Houston, Everett Stratton, Claude Clarke, Samuel Geddes, Mrs. Samuel Geddes, Mr and Mrs. Andrew Reid, Mrs. Charles Grass, Mrs. Frank Macdonald of Point Anne.

Celebrate Twelfth at Cannifton

The Shannonville Orange Lodge will celebrate the Twelfth at Cannifton this year in conjunction with other district lodges it was announced last week. Lodges from the surrounding district will be in attendance and it is understood that extensive preparations are being made to accommodate the mammoth crowd that it is expected will be in attendance. Last year the twelfth was celebrated in the village and approximately two thousand people were in attendance.

Great interest is being taken in baseball by youths of the district and more than thirty young men were at a recent practice and all showed great promise. The difficult position of choosing eighteen men for the team is left in the hands of William Houston and a very uncompromising proposition it is to say the least. The management of the team is attempting to train the young boys so that in future years they will develop into good players. Gerald Lewis son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Lewis of the village is showing great promise and great things are expected of him in three or four years. At the present time Shannonville stands one game behind the league-leading Cannifton Athletics and they are improving every game. Last season they were woefully weak at bat but thus far they have scored seventeen runs in three games which is no mean chore considering that the games only last five innings, and their fielding has been very good thus far while they have the best pitcher in the league in their ace right-hander Ken Juby. On Wednesday they journey to Latta to play the cellar-dwelling Latta nine who have yet to win a game.

Shortage of Hay

According to remarks emanating from district farmers there will be an alarming shortage of hay this fall. It seems that the hay crop is far below expectations and as a result it is thought that hay prices will hit the sky this fall and for this reason many farmers are seriously considering selling many of their cattle.

Mr. and Mrs. Russell MacFarlane of Trenton were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Houston.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Best and Mr. and Mrs. Cecil Best of Maynooth were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. George Fitzgerald.

Mrs. Olive Mayell and family were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Bateson and family of Cressy.

Thoughts of Winter Are a Long Way Off

Residents of the city and district today had the depressing thought that from now until December 22 next, the shortest day of the year, the period of daylight and sunshine will grow steadily shorter as the sun commences once again its swing from its northernmost point to the southland.

Today sun has reached its point on top of the Tropic of Cancer and from this point an almost imperceptible daily retrogression of its course will be marked day by day.

However, holidays loom ahead for the majority of residents, and the hottest weather of the year is yet to come. Days will be gradually shortened, but the change will be a slow and gradual one, and plenty of daylight and blue sky will yet be available before the first flakes of winter again fall.

Shoe Workers' Union Asks Gov'ts to Refuse Permits to Bata Firm

Delegates at the eighth annual convention of the Boot and Shoe Workers' Union at Toronto yesterday afternoon passed resolutions calling upon the Canadian and United States governments to refuse to allow the Bata Shoe Company of Czecho-Slovakia to bring into the two countries trained workmen from Europe to establish branch plants.

"Further demoralization of the shoe industry in the two countries was foreseen by the Canadian delegates if the Bata Company locates in Canada. It was protested by the Canadian delegates to the convention.

LUCKY DOG!

Kingston, N.C., June 22 (AP)—L. P. Tyndall says if his dog, Rover, "wasn't reasonable, I wouldn't let him have a charge account, but he has never been a glutton." When Rover is hungry he goes to a butcher and barks his choice before a display case. It used to be beef every time, but now he often has a tooth for frankfurters and hamburgers.

Gala Entertainment Arranged by Kinsmen For Ladies' Night

The Bay of Quinte Country Club provided the setting for one of the most enjoyable events of the season last night when the Belleville Kinsmen Club were hosts to the ladies and a large number of guests.

Approximately ninety people sat down to the delectable dinner served shortly after seven o'clock by the club steward and the remainder of the evening was devoted to games, short addresses and dancing.

President William Hurst and his charming wife received the guests in the lounge-room of the club. The toast to the ladies was proposed by Kinsmen Jeff Marvell and responded to by Mrs. Hurst. An impromptu speech given by Don Thomas on his favorite subject, baseball was enjoyed by the large gathering. Kinsmen Marvell acted as song-leader with Cleo Colling collecting the "fines".

A splendid address on the duties of Kinsmenship in Canada was given by National President "Rich" Richards of the Cobourg Club. The speaker was fittingly introduced by Kinsmen Norman Garbutt, while club appreciation was voiced by Kinsmen R. D. Arnott, K.C., M.P.P.

A feature of the entertainment was the fine musical treat given by Phil Huddleston and Jim Elliott, in a piano and trumpet duo. Their efforts were well-received and the two talented artists responded generously to the demand for encores.

Bingo, racing and other games were indulged in with twenty fortunate guests being awarded the prizes given by Kinsmen "Buster" LeBarr. It was a highly enjoyable affair and the Kinsmen's Club's first "Ladies Nights" was adjudged by all to be an unqualified success.

Think of Your Hat as a Crown

FRANCES ROBINSON

Carries her head as if she wore a crown.

By HELEN FOLLETT

Observe the pose of your head whenever you pass a mirror. Do you drop your chin, or tilt it? Both poses are wrong. The head should be properly balanced then you will bear an air of distinction even if you are a pint-size girl, no bigger than a minute.

You should carry your head splendidly, as if you wore a crown. That can be done by being mindful of your backbone, seeing that it is always stretched full length, that it doesn't barrel out at the shoulders, a bad habit that forces the head forward.

The hang-dog pose not only weakens the muscles of the chest and the fibres of the neck, but it invites an extra chin to appear. That's no joke, let me tell you. The hang-dog pose causes the spirits to droop. Look doleful and you'll be that way. The well-poised head, high chest and erect figure combine to create an attitude of courage and well-being.

Don't in your efforts to look queenly, have your nose in the air. People will regard you as snooty and supercilious. Oh! yes, my dears, we're being sized up all the time by the way we carry ourselves.

With the chest on the uplift, chin on the level, body vibrant and graceful, a lot of beauty griefs will be avoided. Poor posture is responsible for digestive disturbances, hurty feet, weakened muscles and grouches. Think that over, those of you who assume the debutante slouch and think yourselves cute.

Would you be rid of freckles that have settled on your nose? Use creams freely, especially after coming in from strong sunlight. It's the frolicsome sun that hands you those brown polka dots.

Protect your complexion with a broad-brimmed hat. Don't forget that a heavy powder is your friend; it acts as a protective agent against exposure to the elements. Avoid strong bleaches that invite infection. When fighting freckles, you might as well know that you are in for a 100-year war.

LIPTON'S Full-Flavoured TEA

Fashion Flashes

(By ALICE ALDEN)

The gleam of satin will continue through Summer. Among the evening gowns is a skirted model in ice blue, with a pointed corselet waistline and strapless bodice.

A good friend to have in the wardrobe is a black triple sheer dress with a white pique yoke and cuffs which are attached by mother-of-pearl buttons. The belt is red patent.

New in flower-trimmed toques is a navy taffeta with long streamer ends in back. The front is splashed with white hyacinths.

Yellow is catching on as an accessory color in many new tones. There's a beautiful bag of corn yellow doeskin, a big pouch gathered into a carved, topaz frame of a translucent composition.

Give a dash of color to your costumes with bead jewelry. A pretty necklace is of pink, bell-shaped beads in graceful clusters suspended from links of sapphire blue composition material.

QUINTE INSTITUTE

The regular monthly meeting of Quinte Institute was held on Tuesday afternoon, June 13th, at the spacious home of Mrs. John Donaldson with an attendance of eighty, when the Melrose Branch were guests of the local branch.

The meeting in charge of the new president, Mrs. G. Connors was opened by singing the Ode, followed by repeating the Lord's Prayer in unison.

The president gave a very sincere welcome to all members of the Melrose Branch and hoped they would enjoy the meeting, as much as the Quinte members enjoyed having them as their guests.

The minutes of the last meeting were read by the new secretary-treasurer, Mrs. G. Bradshaw and approved. Several letters were read by the secretary, one being an invitation from the Mohawk Branch to attend a tea at their branch on June 27th.

It was moved and seconded that the secretary get a new book bag and that five dollars be sent as federated fees to the federated board.

The president then placed the meeting in charge of Mrs. H. Grills convener of community activities and relief.

A paper on Community activities and relief prepared by Mrs. Connors was read by Mrs. Atkins, saying "Let us have our homes lovely with flowers and love where the institutes may meet with pleasure; Let us be glad we can give joy a little and make people glad they walked with us, illustrating this by a story of the old man near the end of his life, who built a bridge for the youths to follow over.

Professor Epps, a talented musician of Napanee, who many years ago taught music at Shannonville, delighted all by a lovely instrumental and encore.

The guest speaker of the afternoon, Mrs. Geo. Tustin, Napanee, was introduced by Mrs. H. Grills, gave a very interesting and instructive talk on the arrival of the King and Queen in Ottawa.

In her talk Mrs. Tustin brought out many incidents showing that "Our King was every bit a King" as the thousands gathered to say farewell to our beloved Majesties, the band played 'Will you no come back again'".

All were proud to know that one of the branch's own members had received an official invitation to see the King and Queen in the person of Mrs. Wesley Gray, who gave a very excellent account of her and Mr. Gray's visit to Toronto.

Members were then favoured by two lovely solos by Mrs. Robbins of Napanee, accompanied by Professor Epps.

The roll call was answered by each member contributing some item to the programme as the Quinte amateurs.

One member spoke of putting 'Peace' in the budget and of the King's visit which had done more to make peace than anything which had happened in the British Empire. Another solo by Mrs. Robbins was great enjoyed.

The meeting was then turned over to the president, Mrs. Connors. A vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. S. Anderson to Mrs. Tustin, Mrs. Robbins, Professor Epps and all those who had taken part and seconded by Mrs. A. Mitchell.

Miss Lily Weese, president of Melrose Branch moved a vote of thanks to the Quinte Branch for the lovely social afternoon which all had enjoyed.

The past president, Mrs. A. Mitchell and past secretary treasurer Mrs. N. Brown were then called forward and presented by Mrs. Connors with Federated Women's Institute pins for their services. Both made suitable replies thanking all for their thoughtful and kind remembrance.

Collection $6.80.

The meeting closed by singing the National Anthem, followed by Grace, after which a lovely lunch was served by Mrs. Donaldson and her helpers and a social hour spent.

AIKEN'S W.A.

The members of Aiken's Woman's Association met at 10.30 on Thursday, June 15 at the home of Mrs. Stanley Spafford for the purpose of quilting a quilt belonging to Mrs. Wm. Wheeler.

During the noon hour all were thrilled as they listened to the farewell messages of Their Majesties King George and Queen Elizabeth.

Following the broadcast, hot dinner was served to the twenty-five who were present.

Mrs. Fred Westover the president opened the afternoon meeting with the theme song, and the Hymn 'God of Our Fathers known of old", followed by prayer by Mrs. Thos. Irwin.

A reading was given by Mrs. Selburn Westover, 'Canada glorifies herself in welcoming her King" a story of Canada's successful pageantry that was so fittingly beautiful during the royal tour. The organization and the colossal staging of all events was a credit to those in charge and to Canada.

The members answered to the roll call with a clipping from a newspaper with an interesting item concerning the royal visit.

The Scripture lessons were appropriately chosen for this day, Psalm 145 and Luke 19, 35-38.

A letter of appreciation was read from Mrs. Dan Hyde, Belleville for the expression of sympathy sent during her recent bereavement.

The patches were removed from the travelling shirt". The largest donation had been placed by Mr. Wm. Wheeler who is to receive a new shirt from the W.A.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Chas. Moon who had donated a stove for the dining hall at Aiken's Church.

The flower committee for the summer months is Mrs. S. Westover, Mrs. Lee Grills, Miss Ruth Spafford and Mrs. Ken Bush.

Each member was asked to start a slip of her favorite house-plant in preparation of a plant sale to be held in the fall.

Mrs. Leon McMullen and Mrs. Ken Bush, delegates, then gave complete and interesting reports of the W.A. convention held in Tweed.

A solo "O Canada" by Mrs. Perry Hamilton was enjoyed by all.

Appreciation was expressed to Mrs. Bush and Mrs. McMullen for their splendid reports and to Mrs. Thos. Irwin who had prepared the program. "O God of Love, O King of Peace" was the closing hymn, followed by "God Save the King" and the Benediction.

ST. JOHN'S MISSION

The Ladies of the Guild held a "Goodwill" meeting on Tuesday. Invitations were sent to the Guilds in the surrounding district Cannifton, Roblin's Mills, Rednersville, Christ Church, St. George's, Kingston Road, and other Guilds were well represented and contributed to the program. The meeting opened with the National Anthem followed by the hymn "Blest be the Tie that binds" and prayer by Mrs. Armstrong. The program followed:

Duet, a hymn by Mrs. Farnsworth and Mrs. Donaldson; reading, Mrs. Fells of Roblin's Mills, "The Master is Coming". solo, Mrs. Hickin of Christ Church, "Crossing the Bar" (Tennyson's last poem.); reading, Mrs. Manore, The "King is Passing by". also poem "The Strike" duet, Mrs. Brenton and Mrs. Twiddy; reading, Miss Jones, "Lo I am with you Always"; solo, pianoforte, Miss Cannons; reading, Mrs. Elmey, "Try and fool Mother" reading, Mrs. Armstrong, Unused Gifts.

Auld Lang Syne was sung by all.

A silver dish was presented to Mrs. Mathews, president of St. John's by the members of the Guild.

A dainty lunch was served to about eighty visitors.

The meeting closed with singing a verse of "Abide with me".

The blessing was pronounced by Rev. A. L. Geen.

IVANHOE W.I.

The members of the Ivanhoe Institute held their June meeting in the Town Hall, Tuesday, June 13th with an attendance of fifty-three. Mrs. J. C. Sills presided and opened the meeting in the usual manner. The roll call was answered with an incident in connection with Their Majesties' visit to Canada. Miss Jean Thompson read the minutes of the annual meeting. Letters were read from shut-ins thanking the members for kindly remembrances of fruit and flowers.

Mrs. Sills spoke briefly on the short course and after some discussion 'the use of commercial patterns' was chosen as the subject should the members decide on taking advantage of this short course. The president Mrs. T. E. Fleming, gave an interesting and entertaining report of the District Annual held in Eldorado on May [illegible]. Mrs. S. Donnan splendidly reviewed Their Majesties tour of Canada. Miss Jean Thompson sang a solo. The new Institute magazine was described by Mrs. Wm. Shaw who asked that as many members as possible subscribe for this magazine as it was full of worthwhile information about Institute work.

A very entertaining and humorous reading was given by Mrs. John McInroy. Miss G. Pitman gave an instrumental number on the piano which was much enjoyed. Mrs. T. E. Fleming in a very gracious manner thanked the leaders for their untiring work in the contest and as a personal token of appreciation Mrs. Fleming presented Mrs. Sills and Mrs. F. Palmer each with a beautiful bouquet. In replying both ladies thanked the members for their kindly co-operation during the year. Collection was taken and the singing of God Save the King closed the meeting.

The social hour took the form of an afternoon tea given to the north members by the members of the south. The tables were beautifully decorated with spring flowers and sandwiches, cake and ice-cream were served. Mrs. S. Donnan and Mrs. Geo. Cooke poured tea. A hearty vote of thanks was moved by Mrs. F. Palmer and heartily responded to by every member.

Do your afternoon stepping in a T-strap sandal of two shades of kidskin, marine blue contrasting with sky blue.

How Thousands Now Improve Complexions

Reduce Enlarged Pores—Help Keep Skin Soft and Smooth With Unique Medicated Cream

NURSES first discovered how this extraordinary skin cream helped soften and whiten red, rough hands. Soon they found that used as a Night Cream and Powder Base it was a marvelous aid to complexion beauty.

Today millions of women depend on Noxzema Medicated Skin Cream as an aid to a clearer, lovelier complexion—over 15,000,000 jars are used yearly!

What Women Write

Externally Caused Pimples..."I suggested Noxzema to a friend of mine. The improvement in the texture of her skin and the quick way blemishes are disappearing is amazing. Noxzema succeeded where everything else she tried failed."

Finer, Smoother Skin..."I used to be troubled with large pores, but the regular use of Noxzema as a Night Cream and also as a Powder Base has helped correct this condition. I also find my skin is much whiter and smoother."

If your complexion is marred by Enlarged Pores or externally caused Pimples—if your skin is rough-textured, try Noxzema. Massage it into your face at night—apply it in the morning as a foundation for make-up. Noxzema is snow-white, greaseless, pleasant to use. See for yourself if it doesn't quickly help improve the texture of your skin.

Homers by Camilli, Stainback Of Dodgers Defeat the Reds All Teams Gaining on Leaders

Camilli's Clout, His 13th of Season, Helps Team Up the Ladder

YANKEES WIN

Bill Dickey Hits Homer With One Aboard to Nose Out Chicago

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

There are a lot of persons who think that Adolph Camilli, a squat, stubborn truckhorse with delusions of being a racer, is the best first baseman in the National League and possibly in all baseball. There are others who do not—but this group suddenly has lost a lot of members.

Camilli (and eight other Brooklyn bumpkins) beat Cincinnati Reds last night, 2-1, and the deciding blow was a home run by Camilli in the ninth inning. Furthermore he capped his customary fine fielding game with a spectacular one-handed stab of a liner in the same inning.

The Dodgers' other run was also a homer, by Tuck Stainback, and gave Whitlow Wyatt his seventh victory without defeat. The Dodgers got only two other hits off Johnny Vander Meer, who struck out seven and walked four. Wyatt yielded five hits but didn't pass a batter.

13th of Season

Camilli's circuit clout was his 13th of the season, and brought his total of runs batted in to 44, although his batting average is a modest .276. Therein lies the paradox of Camilli. In five full seasons in the National League with Chicago, Philadelphia and Brooklyn his percentage has fluctuated anywhere from last year's .251 to the previous season's .339, but his consistency as a power hitter never has wavered.

He never has batted in less than 80 runs and last year with his lowest batting mark he knocked in 100 runs, just two less than he produced in 1936 on a .315 percentage and 20 more than in 1937 on his best percentage performance.

All the other first division clubs advanced against Cincinnati yesterday. Curt Davis, with some steady pitching and his own big bat which accounted for a homer and two other hits, led St. Louis Cardinals to a 14-2 victory over the Phillies. Eight of the Cards' runs were bunched in one inning when Don Gutteridge homered with two on.

Giants Pinch Pirates

New York Giants pinched the Pirates, 6-4, with Carl Hubbell doing an excellent relief chore to save the game for Cliff Melton, and Earl Whitehill of the Cubs shut out Boston Bees 3-0 on seven hits although his own team touched Bill Posedel for only five.

The Yankees cuffed Chicago's White Sox badly in the middle innings for a 9-8 victory after the Pale Hose had attained a 6-0 lead. The clincher was a home run by Bill Dickey with one on in the seventh.

Jack Kramer got himself and the St. Louis Browns back into the win column with a 6-0 shutout of Boston Red Sox although he had to scatter 10 hits and four walks to do it.

Cleveland Indians defeated Washington, 9-8, when Joe Krakauskas showed some of the traits for which southpaws are notorious, throwing to the wrong base once and committing a balk in a pinch. The Senators let Joe Haynes ride all the way through a six-run tribal uprising but Cleveland used three pitchers in one inning when the Senators scored three runs.

Detroit and the Philadelphia Athletics were idle.

EXCITEMENT HIGH OVER BALL GAME

Mount Pleasant Loses First Game of Semi-Final Series to Glen Ross

Stirling, June 22 (Special) — Excitement was high at Mount Pleasant ball park on Tuesday night last, when Mount Pleasant lost the first of the semi-final series with the hustling Glen Ross lads by one run. Umpiring was a strenuous talk for Bill Jones and Don Williams with two teams separated by only one run two out and one on in the last of the seventh. But these boys were immune from the contanious fecer of excitement that was on rampage and their decisions were accepted by the crowd rather grudgingly at times. Art McDonald led the sluggers for the winners getting four hits on five trips to the plate. Bert Jeffs led the losers with two home runs a double and a single The opposing pitchers turned their usual brand of ball and were about even on the evenings performance Friday night they will meet for their second game at Glen Ross and if a third game is necessary it will be played on a neutral field.

CANNIFTON LOSES FIRST TIME IN YEAR TO FOXBORO

Perfect Record of League Leaders Shattered by 4-0 Shutout

LATTA WINS

Shannonville Defeated 9-3 in Other Half of Twin Bill of Loop

Foxboro, June 22 (Special)—Proving that the unexpected can always be depended upon to happen in any league, last night's games in the South Hastings loop produced a couple of upsets, which went a long way towards evening up matters in the league standing and from this point on it appears, that it is going to be four-teamed race right to the wire. Foxboro lads knocked the Cannifton boys' perfect record a flying, when they stepped into Cannifton and handed the homesters a 4-0 shutout, while in the other half of the night's twin bill, the Latta boys got into the win column for the first time this year when they trounced the Shannonville team 9-3. The result of the two upsets is that Cannifton are still perched on the top rung, but with their margin cut to one game over Shannonville and Foxboro, who are now tied for the second position with two wins and the same number of losses to their credit, while the Latta boys, although still in the cellar position with only one win as against three defeats, are decidedly on the upgrade.

Made certain of Victory

Latta made certain of victory in the first inning when they trounced the Shannonville nine last night as they jumped on Juby, the visiting hurler, for five runs in the initial frame to put the game beyond all doubt. N. Hall started things off with a double, while "Dinny" Hall and Hudgins followed suit by getting singles, only to have Jack Gowe stride to the plate and conk out a lordly triple to score three for the longest hit of the night. Latta sent their ace southpaw, G. Hall, in against the Shannonville nine and he kept the visitors well in check until the last inning when Marsh relieved him to silence the "hawks" for the balance of the pastime. The game was highlighted by the return of J. Gowe, Clayton Hall and Marsh as regulars to the Latta team. With these boys back into action again things will seem like old times in the South Hastings League.

In knocking the league leading Cannifton boys for their first loss of the season, Ken Peacock, Foxboro's elongated right hander, got his second shutout in the last three games, when he scattered four hits to whitewash the Collins-Empson aggregation 4-0 in a well played game on the Cannifton diamond last evening. Being afforded perfect support by his teammates, Peacock literally handcuffed Cannifton's heavy hitters and was in danger only upon two occasions, once in the fourth when the losers got two aboard and again in the last inning when White tripled with one away. Both times however, the lanky speedball artist threw his fast one past the succeeding batters to retire the side on strikeouts. Lorne Jarrell pitched good ball for the homesters, but Foxboro managed to bunch their hits in the first and fifth to score all their runs. Jarrell limited the victors to five hits while he fanned seven and walked one. Peacock was nicked for four safeties, struck out eleven and also gave free transportation to one.

Stewart Leads Offensive

Jack Stewart ler the offensive conking out a homer in the fifth with one on base while he accounted for exactly one half of his team's runs when he scored ahead of Spencer in the first inning on Walt's lifter to centre. Walt also hit well for the winners getting a double with Spencer, Wright and Faulkner hitting singles. White led at the plate for the losers getting a single and a triple, which came in the last inning, but was left stranded as Farquahson and Collins both struck out to end the game.

The lineups:

Foxboro: N. Guay cf; Wright 2b; Stewart c; Spencer ss; Walt 3b; R. Peacock 1b; Faulkner lf; K. Peacock p and Jamieson rf.

Cannifton: White ss; Farquhson 2b; Collins 3b; Bleekman cf; Jarrell p; Curly 1b; Smallhorn rf; McCaffery c and Armstrong lf.

TENNIS

Opening the Bay of Quinte Tennis League, Country Club players defeated Madoc Tennis Club four matches to two yesterday afternoon. After dropping the first four matches played the Madoc team rallied to win points in the Men's Singles and Men's Doubles events. Down at Point Anne the Skating Club of Belleville inaugurated the tennis season with a win.

Belleville took both the Mixed Doubles matches, with Grace McCreery and Art Cole defeating Betty Nicol and Ron Regan 7-5, 7-5; and S. Burrows and Bud Odell downing Jean Jickle and B. Aboud, 7-5, 6-1. In the Ladies' Doubles, K. Henley and Evelyn Jack, of Belleville, defeated Mrs. Dunne and Margaret Shannon, Madoc 6-1, 6-2.

M. Cory and H. Hollingsworth, of Madoc, won over Tom Patterson and W. Child, Belleville 6-1, 6-0, in a Men's Doubles match, while in the second Doubles game, Doug Maybee and Les Lennox of Belleville defeated Clint Nickle and Joe Naylor, Madoc 6-4, 3-6, 6-2.

In the Men's Singles event, veteran Ken West, of Madoc, outlasted Murray Mitchell to win after a gruelling match by scores of 6-1, 5-7, 6-4.

On the ahrd cement courts at Point Anne the Belleville Skating Club nettsters swept over the Canada Cement Club tennis club to win five of the six events of the day. The lone set taken by the Point Anne club was the ladies' doubles event.

These results were:

Men's doubles: E Evans and G. Bucker, Belleville, won over A Genereaux and B. Vanorder, Point Anne, 6-3, 7-5; Dawson McLean and Howard Kerr, Belleville, won over B. Roseberry and J. Hart, Point Anne 7-5, 5-7, 6-4.

Mixed doubles: Miss Jo Cruji and G. Atyeo, Belleville won over Miss Mavis Gilmour and Clarke Fraser, Point Anne 6-3, 6-4; Miss Muriel Wardner and Gordon Barclay, Belleville, won over Robert Hudgins and Louise Huck, Point Anne, 6-3, 6-4.

Ladies' doubles: Marion McLean and Mary Lockhart, Belleville lost to Donalda Long and Hilda Callaghan, Point Anne 6-4, 5-7, 9-11.

Men's singles: Thomas Burnett of Belleville defeated Jack Watson, Point Anne 6-1, 6-1

Out at Campbellford the home club defeated the Trenton Tennis club six games to four in the third set of matches played yesterday in the Bay of Quinte Tennis League.

'ALASKA' WINS OVER 'AFTER YOU'

Scrapper of Class "B", However, Outsails "A" Class Boats in One Lap

The feature of yesterday's weekly punt races sponsored off Victoria Park by the Belleville Yacht Club, was the splendid lap race staged by Kellar's Scrapper, a "B" class boat, that actually bested the "A" class craft during a sudden wind spurt on the second leg of the day's racing.

For the third consecutive racing day, however, Harry Semark's "Alaska" triumphed over Maurice Callaghan's "After You 3rd," winning by the small margin of nine seconds in the most closely contested race of the season. A slight breeze welcomed the sailors as they crossed the starting line, but midway through the first lap a strong north-wester sprung up which livened the racing and saw the small Scrapper pass the two "A" class boats and actually best them during the next lap.

The results of the racing were: "A" class, Alaska (Semark) 1.58.20; After You 3rd (Callaghan) 1.58.29.

"B" class, Scrapper (Kellar) 1.58.23; After You 2nd. (Nicholson) 2.004.3.

IN FREE HITTING CONTEST CORBY'S DEFEAT POINTERS

Eddie Schrieder on Hilltop for Winners Held Opposition Safe

REID, COLE HITTING

Standings of Teams in Loop Not Affected by the Contest

In a free hitting contest the Corbys A.C. bettered the City softball league standing with a 10 to 7 win over the "Cementmen" at Point Anne last evening. Eddie Schrieder hurled for the Corbyville nine and was nicked for eleven hits, while 'Ding' Luffman, on the hilltop for the homsters, yielded an even dozen safeties, several for extra bases.

Corbys took a three run lead in the initial frame, but the Ox Point nine came back to score two in the second, but Chuck Barnett's charges pounded in three more in the third and Reid slapped a double and Cole followed through with a triple. Trailing by a 10 to three count the Gaulin-led team made a decided stand in the ninth to score four runs, but Schrieder struck out Scott for a final out and the day was won.

Reid with a home run, a double and single and Cole with a triple and two doubles led the winners at bat while Murney Green had four hits, two doubles and two singles in five tries for the losing Point Anne squad with Skipper Gaulin clubbing a home run in the fifth and single and a timely double in the ninth to constitute the principal hitters of the game.

Schrieder whiffed five and Luffman six in a wide open contest. The Corbys A.C. meet an all-star team from Trenton at Coleman Flats in an exhibition game this evening. Last night's result made no difference in the league standing, however. Reid and Genereaux supplied the fielding sensations of the game.

The lineups:

Point Anne: Genereaux cf; Whitehead 2b; Gaulin 1b; Green c; Whalen 3b; Juby, Brant and Scott lf; Bennett rf; Hutchings ss and Luffman p.

Corbys A.C.: J. Barriage lf; Cy Barriage ss; Kiser rf; Reid 3b; Cole 1b; Murray 2b; McMartin cf; Simpson c and Schrieder p.

PICTON INTS. DEFEAT R.C.A.F.

Prince Edward County Town Team Yet to Meet Defeat

Picton, June 22 (Special)—Picton intermediates defeated R.C.A.F. of Trenton here last evening 4-1 to lengthen their lead in the Bay of Quinte league. It was their fifth successive win and as yet they have to be defeated this season. They have defeated Napanee three times and Belleville once.

Belleville intermediates come to Picton next Wednesday. With a winning streak enthusing the fans, there were over 300 present last night and both teams turned in a fine effort.

Picton secured three runs in the second. Evans and Burley singled and they scored on Church's triple, Church scoring on a wild pitch. The locals added another in the sixth when Lockyer singled to score Dainard.

The Airmen got their lone run in the first inning. L'Heureux was safe on an error, Richard and Mallett were out second to first, L'Heureux scoring on the play. Smith doubled but Dainard struck Tudor out with Smith on third.

Dainard turned in a nice effort for the locals. He struck out ten and allowed only six scattered hits. Perrier went the route for the airport, allowing 11 hits and striking out 3.

Burley led the local batters with 4 singles in as many times at bat. Leavens had two singles. For the Airmen, Smith had a double and a single, and Perrier a double.

GEHRIG'S SALARY TO BE CONTINUED DURING SEASON

Famous First Baseman of Yankees Will Not Play Any More This Year

CURE EXPECTED

Told by Doctors Not to Take Too Much Exercise for a While

(By Gayle Talbot Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 22 (AP)—It is evident now that Lou Gehrig made the smartest decision of his life when he voluntarily removed himself from the Yankee line-up last May 2 and broke his amazing endurance record.

If he had stayed in there stubbornly the great first baseman might by this time have been seriously injured or so far have undermined his health that recovery would have been hopeless.

As it is, there seems reason to believe the treatment prescribed by Mayo clinic specialists will arrest the infantile paralysis, that has afflicted Lou and enable him to enjoy a moderately active life on the riches he has accumulated from baseball.

If he had continued to play, Gehrig sooner or later would have been hurt. It was plain this spring that his reflexes had slowed alarmingly. Ball after ball went down the line between him and first base, balls he would in other years have reached down and snagged without a second thought.

Can't Tell Cause

"If I had known I would have been out of there a long time ago, believe me," he said as he sprawled on the Yankee bench a few minutes after President Ed Barrow had announced the bad news. "No, the doctors couldn't tell me what caused it—whether it was over-exercise or diet or what. It's very rare, they said."

One after another of Lou's team mates and the baseball writers dropped down beside him to say "hard luck, fellow," but the only reaction they got from the old iron hoss was a long-winded dissertation on the miracles being wrought at Mayo clinic.

"All I'm supposed to do is report to my doctor here regularly and not take much exercise," he explained. "No, I'm not going to retire and go fishing. What more relaxation could I get than being right here with these kids every day?"

His salary, believed still to be the largest of any player not also a manager, will continue through this season.

Y's Men Heading "No Kick" League

Harold Vaughan's Y's men moved into the lead position of the city "No Kick" softball league with a decisive 29 to 5 win over the city Barbers at the Collegiate grounds last evening.

The Y's men scored in every inning as the Campbell Street Association lads clubbed the offerings of two "close shavers" high up and far away. President Vaughan, Don Ridley and Lionel Blaker swung potent bats for the winners while "Shinny" Harris and Bill Warren led Larmar Bennett's "clippers" on the attack.

The victory was the second in three starts for the Y's men and elevates the Campbell Street Association into the league leadership.

The lineups:

City Barbers: Starke, Rush, Skinner, Barriage, Warren, Harris, Hutton, Gardiner, Smith and Calnan.

Y's Men's Club: Vaughan, L. Blaker, Wilson, Ridley, Boyd, P. Blaker, Miller, Starke and Goodman.

CALLING 'EM Between the Lines

with

Ken J. Colling

In what might resemble 'Custer's last stand,' Bud Wilkins and his Belleville diamondites take to the local ball park hot under the collar from their Air Force reverse this evening and intend to vindicate themselves before the public's eye with a belated win over Walt Gerow's Napanee Gibbards. The last several Bay of Quinte twilight fixtures have not got under way until long after 6.30 p.m., thus giving the hungry fan ample time to adjourn to the dinner table and appease their appetites before hastening to the Fair Grounds. With darkness not setting in until around 9.00 p.m. these June daylight-savings nights, this gives the teams ample time to get in nine full innings.

The latest rumours coming out of Gibbardville are to the effect Walt Gerow has signed Stan Spratt, who vacated Napanee early this spring in favour of Kingston, where he was to have hurled for the new defunct Kingston 'Locos'. Spratt never proved troublesome to the local Quinte entry, with the exception of the league finals last fall when the locals folded up. Of late the pitchers have been holding a decided edge throughout all Bay of Quinte games and we expect to see a hurling duel this evening with Weeks opposing either Jocko or Spratt, if the latter is with the Gibbards.

Herb Pennock, who pitched for 22 years in the major leagues — a record only equalled by Cy Young and Sam Jones, recently discussed the art of pitching, and with some authority after all those years of successful pitching. One of the greatest lefthanders of his or any day, Pennock is now pitchers' coach with the Red Sox. Recently Herb was asked to draw up ten commandments for pitchers and without hesitation he advised the mound boys not to beef at the umpire, and added the following as his suggested ten commandments for pitchers:

1—Develop your faculty of observation.

2—Conserve your energy.

3—Make contacts with players, especially catchers and infielders, and listen to what they have to say.

4—Work everlastingly for control.

5—When you are on the field, always have a baseball in your hand and don't slouch around. Run for a ball.

6—Keep studying the hitters for their weak and strong points. Keep talking with your catchers.

7—Watch your physical condition and your mode of living.

8—Always pitch to the catcher and not to the hitter. Keep your eye on that catcher and make him your target before letting the ball go.

Find out your easiest way to pitch, your most comfortable delivery, and stick to it.

10—Work for what is called a rag arm. A loose arm can pitch overhand, side arm, three-quarter underhand—any old way to suit the situation at hand.

The life of a sports columnist is never without incident and never a dull moment is experienced. For instance if the columnist ignores centre lines of sports and does not make repeated mention of same, the promoters feel they are being discriminated against and openly contend they are not being given a fair break. Then on the other hand if the sports columnist dares to print anything not exactly favorable the self-same mentors cry to the high heavens they are being "given the business." Present-day sports can only thrive of publicity and as the late P. T. Barnum once said: "Keep my name before the public and I care not whether you're knocking or boosting."

Tony Cuccinello, Boston Bees' keystone mainstay, won his way to big league fame over a long, steep trail. At one of his minor league training camps, Danville in 1928, there were so many rookies and Tony was so far down on the list that his uniform number was 156.

Chuck Barnett's Corbys A.C. gained sweet revenge over the Point Anne "cementmen" with a 10 to 7 win last night, thereby accounting for the 15 to 12 reverse Buddy Gaulin's charges handed the Corbyville nine in their first meeting. With Eddie Schrieder coasting along nicely the Corbys gained six runs in the first three frames and were well out in front when the homesters staged a belated rally in the ninth to score four of their runs, but the rally came too late as Schrieder tightened in the clutches. It was a free-hitting contest, however, with plenty of action and the winners only garnering one more safety than the Ox Point nine, the hits being 12 to 11 for the winners. Extra base clouts decided the issue however, with Cole, Reid, Gaulin and Green being the chief willow-wielders, the latter getting four of Point Anne's hits.

Today's announcement that "Columbia Lou" Gehrig had been forced out of baseball due to infantile paralysis, said to be slowly undermining his health. Gehrig has been confined to a clinic for the past few days under observance and the dreaded news came yesterday. In reply to queries regarding the awful truth, Gehrig replied: "Had I known, I'd have quit long ago," stated the man who played 2,130 consecutive games in the American League, a record that will stand for many years, if ever broken. During his active vareer Gehrig had a lifetime batting average of .341 for 2,717 hits in 7,973 times at bat. He drove in a total 1,990 runs and struck out 787 times.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKeown or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

THEY WANT STRAWBERRY SHORTCAKE SERVED

Toronto, June 22—(CP)—Unless the Royal Canadian Yacht Club serves strawberry shortcake tonight, 40 British bakers will have spent their fourth day in Canada still anticipating the dish they had been told they "couldn't escape" in Canada in June.

The touring members of the National Association of Bakers, Confectioners and Caterers of England and Wales want to try strawberry shortcake.

If they like it, they will introduce it in England.

NEW CAR FERRY TO CARRY 12 CARS

County Council Asks Dept. of Highways for 24-Hour Service

Picton, June 22 (Special)—When the new ferry arrives at Adolphustown-Glenora crossing in the near future it is planned to hold ceremonies which will fittingly mark the inauguration of the new service, which will mean much to the county. County Council yesterday decided to send a request to the Minister of Highways of Ontario, Hon. T. B. McQuesten, asking that he attend these ceremonies. It is expected that the new ferry will be given the name of H. M. Loyalist, commemorating the U. E. Loyalist traditions of this district.

The ferry is being built at Collingwood and will carry twelve cars each way. It is powered by a Diesel engine. The present ferry carries only six cars and has proved inadequate to handle the great increase in traffic on Highway 33, wrich has come as a result of the paving of the highway from Picton to Kingston. A scenic drive, it promises to become more popular.

County Council had made a request of the department that the ferry schedule be extended to 24 hours a day, but the Deputy Minister had stated this would be an added cost of $150 per week. They planned to operate the ferry from 6 a.m. until midnight. Council discussed the matter fully and decided to make a request that the small ferry be used after those hours, feeling that this method would not be so costly.

Road Expenditure.

Road expenditures for the year were decided upon. These will amount to $70,000. There will be $14,800 spent on construction. This will be down on the town line, Demorestville, West Lake, south side of East Lake, Marsh Front, north side of East Lake, these bein gamong the most used roads in the county.

Other estimates included: Superintendence, $24,000; Workmen's Compensation, $900; insurance, $600; truck repairs, $700; rebate, Picton, $2500; new machinery, $7000; fuel, oil, $3000; snow roads, $3500; culverts and bridges, $1000, gravel roads, $12,400; surface treatment, $10,000; paved roads, $3500; dust layer, $6000.

Council made three grants. The Ameliasburgh and the Sophiasburgh Township Agricultural Societies will each receive $100. F. J. Webster, agricultural representative, gave an address in which he told of work among the junior farmers and girls. $100 grant to aid this work was made. This fall, Mr. Webster stated, it was planned to hold a new competition for junior farmers. They would ploy five acres of land on their own farms and prizes would be given. An expert plowman from Western Ontario would come here to give instructions.

Mrs. G. McCaw has returned after a visit with her father, Mr. T. Denver in Watertown, N.Y.

Mrs. Ethel VanAlstine of Toronto was in town Wednesday for the funeral of Ed W. Case.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Hall who have been in town for some time owing to the illness of Mrs. Hill, have returned to their farm in Athol, Mrs. Hill having recovered sufficiently to do so.

Mrs. George Hepburn has returned from Cornwall where she was called wing to the illness of her mother, Mrs. David Petterson.

Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Cooke of Brockville are planning to spend the summer at their cottage at West Lake. They will arrive at the end of the month. Mr. Cooke is a former principal of Picton Collegiate and Vocational Institute.

CARD OF THANKS

The family of the late Mrs. William Adamson wish to express their sincere thanks and appreciation to their many friends and acquaintances for their kind expressions of sympathy extended during their recent sad bereavement. j22-1t

The Stars Say

For Friday, June 23

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ACCORDING to the lunar and mutual aspects of major planets, this should be a day of outstanding if not spectacular events. Matters of major and far-reaching importance may suddenly burst on the horizon with whirlwind force. The upheaval is definitely in line with progress, with promotional, publicity and scientific or literary factors, or surprising novelty or innovation, under stimuli from strange sources. New forces and untried projects, with change, adventure and probably romance, may be expected to hit high marks. However, be cautious.

Those whose birthday it is may be assured of a year of radical importance. New, unusual and probably spectacular events and adventures may cause a complete reorientation of the life. Strangers figure, but in all be vigilant and not entirely swept away from reasonable foundations.

A child born on this day may have extraordinary genius, with novel, possibly revolutionary ideas. But its character should be sound and dependable. It may have a conspicuous place in the public eye, enjoying a romantic and adventurous life.

WALL STREET

New York, June 22—(AP)—Sellers sniped at the stock market today but, generally, were able to inflict only minor damage. Slipping tendencies appeared at the start and, in dealings which were exceptionally light, declines of fractions to a point or so predominated near the fourth hour.

Brokers said buyers, while hopeful for business, apparently were restrained by fresh tension over far eastern affairs into which it was feared the United States might be drawn.

On the losing side of stocks the greater part of the day were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Goodyear, Montgomery Ward, American Telephone, Westinghouse, General Electric, Owens Illinois, Liggett & Myers 'B', Southern Pacific, and Phelps Dodge. Among Canadian issues, fractional losses were scored by Dome, McIntyre Porcupine, Hiram Walker and Distillers.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 22 (CP)—The Toronto market operated under a low head of steam in the early hours and with buying falling off prices today weakened slightly in the mining and industrial sections. western oil stocks carried firm bids and Home Oil firmed a few cents. Royalite at 36 was steady. Aggregate turnover in the first three hours was 184,000 shares.

Fractional losses were boarded by the senior base metal issues, Noranda, Nickel and Smelters and in the gold group losses of 3 to 5 cents were netted by Macassa, O'Brien, Pamour, Kerr-Addison and Leitch. Senior golds showed little change.

Better prices ruled for banks and steels, foods were irregularly higher and utilities slightly lower. Interlisted leaders, including Distillers-Seagrams, Ford A, B. A. Oil and Bell Telephone declined.

The six prizes above represent registration and board for a ten day short course at the Ontario Agricultural College.

Kenneth Flindall Given One Year's Suspended Sentence

Kenneth Flindall, 24-year-old Wooler trucker, was given a one year's suspended sentence, when he appeared for sentence before His Honor Judge Deroche in County Court here today. Flindall had been convicted on a charge of criminal negligence in a previous court and remanded for sentence until today. The charge against Flindall arose out of a motor accident, that occurred west of Belleville last December and resulted in the death of Mrs. Mary McDonald, Toronto, who died as the result of injuries after the car she was riding in collided with Flindall's truck.

The car was driven by Mr. McDonald, husband of the deceased woman, while Flindall had parked his truck, with a portion of it protruding on the highway, after a lighting fuse had blown out. It was while repairing the damaged fuse that the McDonald car collided with the parked truck.

At his trial Flindall conducted his own case, but today he was represented in court by Howard Graham, Trenton barrister, who introduced a petition, signed by many residents of Wooler, and seeking clemency on behalf of young Flindall, who was described by Mr. Graham as an upright and honest citizen, who had never been in trouble before. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K. C., added he felt a suspended sentence would doubtless meet the ends of justice as Flindall had suffered for his carelessness already.

Judgment Given

In his judgment, His Honor Judge Deroche said:—"Well, Flindall, you ran a very close risk when you parked your truck or trailer extending out on to the pavement, and the most serious damage resulted, Mrs. McDonald losing her life, and I found you guilty of the offence charged. But there is much to be said for you when considering the question of sentence. I believe you when you say your lights went out and you drove on the side of the road to park in order to fix your lights. That, of course, was commendable. I believe you also when you say you thought a fuse had blown and you could replace it in a minute or so. I am satisfied too that you had no desire to do harm and no thought that harm would come to any one so quickly. Then too, you are a comparatively young man with life all before you and evidently trying to make the best of life. As far as I know, and your counsel now confirms it, you have no Court record and I am considerably moved by the petition, that has been presented by Mr. Graham this morning signed so very largely by your neighbors and friends, who know you best. In addition to all that, I am also moved considerably by what the Crown Attorney tells me that Mr. McDonald, the driver and owner of the other car in which his wife lost her life, has expressed himself, that he hopes something can be done to relieve you from further punishment.

"You have already suffered some days' imprisonment and I feel, therefore, that you have had all the warning you need to cause you to exercise the utmost caution in the future. I will, however, surround you with another safeguard. The Crown Attorney consents to a suspended sentence, which is also helpful to you, and I am inclined to think that that is the best thing I can do under the circumstances. I will, however, suspend your sentence for on year on condition that you commit no further offence of any kind during that year. At the end of the year you will be entirely free from th's charge. If, however, you do commit any other offence during the year you will be brought before me and sentenced on this charge, as well as any other sentence that may be imposed upon you in regard to any other charge."

The King Confers Honors on Four

Southampton, June 22—(CP Cable)—Captain C. H. Sapsworth, of the Empress of Britain, which brought King George and Queen Elizabeth back to England today, was invested with the insignia of a commander of the Victorian Order shortly before the royal yacht docked.

The King conferred the insignia also on the ship's surgeon, Captain J. A. Maxwell, and Paymaster Captain L. A. C. Ricci.

Lieut. - Commander Peter Dawnay was made a member of the Victorian Order, fourth class. In addition the King made a number of personal gifts to the ship's officers.

Parents and Friends Enjoy Musical Program Put on by Pupils of King George School

Open Music Day at King George School yesterday afternoon attracted an excellent attendance of parents and friends, the auditorium being filled to capacity. The program was a demonstration of the music taught in each grade and gave the parents a splendid idea of the scope of the course and the progress made by the pupils. The entertainment was under the direction of Mr. George Maybee, supervisor of music for the public schools, and to him and the members of the staff who carry out the music training in the classes goes sincere praise for the attainments of the children.

Mr. L. A. Kells, principal of the school was chairman, and present yesterday afternoon was Mr. John Deacon, of the Board of Education, who spoke briefly, commending the classes for the very high standard of their singing, particularly the choral work, and paying tribute to the excellent training by Mr. Maybee, Miss Boyle, music teacher and the teachers of King George School.

The program opened with the singing of "O, Canada," followed by a selection by the Boys' Band. This group of boys, chosen from each of the public schools is trained under the direction of Mr. Cooper. They have played at every musical festival and their part in the program was very well done.

Solos, duets, and choruses made up the two hour musical program yesterday afternoon and the parents and friends were most enthusiastic, warmly commending the pupils and teachers for the excellent performance.

The program follows:

Grade I: Chorus, Bobby Shaftoe. (Miss Lounsberry's class): Solo, "Simple Simon"—Bobby Flindall. Solo: "Miss Muffett"— Roby Graham.

Grade II, Miss Cook: Chorus: "Early One Morning"; Solo, "Hop, Hop, Hop," Marion Landry; Solo, "Good Morning," Carl Court; Trio, "Three Little Kittens."

Other signs read "Well Done".

Along the Mall, and at every point of vantage in the vicinity of Buckingham Palace hundreds had assembled before dawn. All positions on the Victoria Memorial were taken by mid-morning, mostly by women, who carried raincoats and umbrellas and scanned overcast skies anxiously.

Loaded with parcels of food, and reading matter, they began their long wait.

Signs of Pageantry.

All along the Royal route in London, from Waterloo station to the palace there were signs of pageantry attending the arrival of their Majesties from their long and arduous voyage.

The words of the Archbishop of Canterbury were much quoted here today. "Our hearts are all making speeches," the Archbishop said.

Earlier in the morning the crowds had seen two excited little Princesses —13-year-old Elizabeth and 8-year-old Margaret Rose—ride from Buckingham Palace to Waterloo Station enroute to Portsmouth where they were taken by destroyer to board the Empress of Britain and greet their parents.

The blinds of Buckingham Palace were being pulled up as the children appeared on the palace porch, their cheeks flushed and eyes shining with excitement. Princess Elizabeth stepped into the car first. She was followed by Margaret Rose and a lady-in-waiting. At Waterloo, waiting crowds cheered them as they boarded the train.

Crowds See Royalty.

Hundreds of commuters risked being late to work as they left their trains at Waterloo Station and rushed to catch a glimpse of the Royal children.

Crowds around Marlborough House watched Queen Mary leave to board the Royal train with the Dukes of Gloucester and Kent enroute to Southampton to meet the Royal yacht. She was enthusiastically cheered as she appeared, apparently completely recovered from her automobile accident of last month.

Queen Mary wore a coat of powder blue with a fox fur collar dyed to match. Many women shoppers joined the crowds outside Marlborough House.

Arrival at Southampton

Southampton, June 22—(CP)— King George and Queen Elizabeth, their 15,000-mile journey to the new world at an end, today arrived in this mist-shrouded port of Britain to receive the loyal acclaim of their Old Country subjects.

The white Empress of Britain, which for this voyage has been a royal yacht, tied up at her pier at 2:39 p.m. BST (9:39 a.m. EDT).

Cheer upon cheer rang out from thousands lining the wharves, and they were echoed by waiting multitudes in the town.

The scene was in many ways similar to that which took place little more than a month ago at Quebec, but the skies here were drab and gray.

The King and Queen gazed from the bridge on a brilliant panorama of color below them—waving flags, pennants of smaller craft and flower-bedecked welcoming arches.

Princesses at Their Side

Beside them stood Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, and they tugged at their father's arm with excitement. They had joined their parents at sea shortly before the ship pulled into port.

The Queen wore a blue dress made of wool sent from America, embroidered anglais, a matching long coat and brimmed felt hat.

Cheers and sirens made a terrific din as Their Majesties waved again and again.

Queen Mary, walking with sprightly step and showing no apparent ill-effects from the automobile accident she suffered last May 23, led the royal family aboard the Empress for a private half hour of greeting for her son and his radiant consort.

With her were the Dukes and Duchesses of Gloucester and Kent, the Princess Royal and the Earl of Harewood who had come from London aboard the royal train. The train was drawn up on the docks.

250,000 Welcome

The gangplank came down at 2.50 p.m. (9.50 a.m. EDT) as almost 250,000 persons roared their welcome.

Aircraft circled overhead while a public address system kept the vast crowd outside the dock shed informed of the proceedings at the pier.

Almost half an hour elapsed before Their Majesties came ashore. Enthusiasm ran high as they set foot again on the soil of England. They entered a waiting car with the Princesses for a swift drive to Southampton's civic centre along the gay streets.

"Welcome Home"

As the automobile swept from the docks Their Majesties passed under an arch bearing a great banner on which were the words "welcome home."

Just a few feet away from this spot stands a memorial to the Mayflower on which English pilgrims sailed to America in 1620.

The car moved through an ancient Norman arch which was a former gateway to the old part of the town and passed the Dolphin Hotel where Queen Victoria once stabled her horses when she passed through here en route to the Isle of Wight.

Men doffed their hats and the crowds continued to cheer uninterruptedly as the royal couple sped through the town.

King George wore the uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet.

It was 3.23 p.m. (10.23 a. m. EDT) when Their Majesties came ashore.

Southampton's Welcome

The civic welcome was extended to them by Mayor C. R. Powdrill at the civic centre where Their Majesties proceeded along a red carpet to the blue and gold canopy for the brief reception ceremony. Mrs. Powdrill presented the Queen with a large bouquet.

Their Majesties appeared rested after the voyage and in the best of spirits. At the station they walked over another red carpet through a beflagged station and entered a train which sped toward London and toward another roaring welcome.

The train pulled out of Southampton at 3.55 p.m. (10.55 a.m. EDT).

Fog Causes Change of Program

Just as fog off the Newfoundland coast delayed Their Majesties' arrival in Canada five weeks ago, English mist today caused last minute changes in the program. As the gleaming white Empress of Britain moved slowly through the mist toward this port, a message from the liner disclosed that the fleet reception had been cancelled.

Invasion of Southampton by crowds from the surrounding countryside began before dawn and the crowd was expected to be biggest in the town's long history. They came by road, rail and water to join in the gigantic welcome.

Spectators were decorated with patriotic ribbons and badges. They carried lunch baskets and six hours before the ship was due they were in their places along the two-mile route being followed by the King and Queen in their drive from the docks to the London train.

Southampton Decorated

The first hours of the morning saw the finishing touches given to Southampton's gala dress, men had worked all night on some decorations and stands, but the most delicate parts of the town's "make-up" —floral wreaths and garlands of gold and tinsel—were left to the last minute to avoid damage by wind and rain.

High winds did in fact blow down some garlands and streamers during the night, but workmen speedily repaired the damage.

From the Central Station, where the royal enclosure was erected to the dockside, there was ceaseless activity until within a short time before the docking of the vessel.

The vast customs shed at No. 102 berth was prepared for the Royal Yacht. The long building, almost as long as a football field, and as wide, was draped with flags of all nations mingling with emblems of scores of famous shipping lines.

Hydrangeas in Decoration

Van after van drew up at the Central gateway of this huge enclosure facing the waterfront and attendants slowly built up bank on bank of pink, white and blue hydrangeas, the stately flower of which the Queen is known to be fond. The same flowers met her eye when she stepped from the Empress of Australia at Qubec more than a month ago.

At the wharf rows of benches were placed for privileged spectators and inside the shed hundreds of chairs were placed for representatives of various organizations typifying Southampton's intimate connection with the sea.

As the King returned in his capacity of Master of the Merchant and Fishing fleets the British Merchant Marine had an honored place in the reception. Of the Merchant Navy men who waited to bid Their Majesties welcome the largest party was supplied by the Peninsular and Orient liner Stratheden, whose Commander, Capt. Richard Harrison, is a former aide-de-camp to the King.

London, June 22—(CP)— Arthur Greenwood, a leading Labor Member of Parliament, said today in welcoming the King home from Canada and the United States that he hoped President Roosevelt would break with tradition and repay the Royal visit.

Mr. Greenwood, Acting Labor Leader in the absence of Clement Attlee, who is ill, joined Prime Minister Chamberlain in warmly praising the Royal visit to North America as a success.

"If it should be that the United States President may break an old tradition and visit this country or one of His Majesty's Dominions, he would receive an equally warm welcome," said Mr. Greenwood.

(President Roosevelt already has visited Canada on several occasions and has a summer place at Campo Bello Island, N. B.)

Mr. Chamberlain asserted all Britain was "deeply moved" by the warmth of the United States' greeting to the Royal couple, "which we acclaim as a personal tribute to the King and Queen and also as striking proof of the sympathy and friendship which animates the feelings of the peoples of the United States and the United Kingdom."

Church Welcomes King and Queen

London, June 22—(CP)— The National Assembly of the Church of England today adopted a resolution welcoming King George and Queen Elizabeth on their return from Canada.

When the members met in Westminster Most Rev. Cosmo Gordon Lang, Archbishop of Canterbury, said he believed they desired "to offer Their Majesties the King and Queen a most loyal and affectionate welcome upon their return from their visit to Canada and the United States, and to give thanks to Almighty God for the manifold blessings which have been bestowed on that visit."

SAILORS APPEAR

Shanghai, June 22—(AP)—Two British and two United States destroyers stood by in Swatow harbor late today despite a Japanese order or suggestion that foreign warships and nationals withdraw from that newly-captured South China port.

Foreign naval forces were doubled during the day and except for the departure of 20 British women and children the American and British communities stood pat.

Japanese and occidenial accounts differed as to the nature of the Japanese communication. British naval quarters said foreign ships had been "ordered" to leave Swatow harbor by 1 p.m. (1 a.m. EDT). A Japanese naval spokesman in Shanghai said only "the usual warning" had been given foreigners to leave a zone of possible hostilities.

Reject Japanese Message

Reliable informants agreed that British and United States naval authorities had rejected the Japanese communication, whatever its exact nature.

The British Destroyer Thanet, which remained during yesterday's Japanese occupation, still was in the inner harbor and was joined today by the destroyer Scout.

The United States destroyer Pope also arrived and anchored in the outer harbor, supporting another United States destroyer, the Pillsbury, which shared yesterday's watch with the Thanet.

The 20 British women and children sailed for Hong Kong aboard two British merchantmen. The British colony had totalled 80.

Situation at Tientsin

Tientsin, June 22—(AP)— The sudden appearance of British bluejackets today halted Japanese examination of cargo being discharged by British lighters while blockaded British residents further were heartened by a message of sympathy and hope from the London government and the ending of the milk shortage.

These developments occurred on the ninth day the Japanese blockaded the British and French concessions.

A Japanese military patrol withdrew at the sight of the bluejackets after the soldiers had begun inspecting the cargo being discharged at the British bund.

The message from Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax to Consul-General E. G. Jamieson, expressed the government's sympathy to the blockaded residents "for the difficulties and indignities they are being made to suffer."

Protection of Interests

Lord Halifax pledged that the government would make "every effort to protect their interests and terminate the present crisis as soon as possible."

The anti-British campaign meanwhile spread to Peiping, where a mass meeting, to be followed by a parade, is to be held tomorrow. The Japanese-controlled press announced that students, merchants and minor government officials had been instructed to take part. Newspapers arranged to issue special anti-British supplements tomorrow while the Japanese-controlled Central Broadcasting station will observe "anti-British Day."

Fresh milk entered the British and French concessions today in sizable quantities, relieving the shortage. Only a few isolated complaints of inability to obtain milk were reported.

Fewer Fresh Vegetables

The fresh food situation however was deteriorating. Only 10 per cent of the normal meat supply was received today and only one-third of the fresh vegetables. Rice, beans and other staples were the foreigners' fare.

A Japanese Embassy spokesman blamed the British authorities for broadening the Tientsin dispute, precipitated by the British Consul's refusal to hand over four Chinese wanted by Japanese on charges of assassinating a Tientsin customs official.

HUMORIST, POET, DIES IN CALIFORNIA

Walt Mason, Native of Columbus, Ont., Went to States in 1880

San Diego, Calif. June 22—(AP)— Walt Mason, 77, humorist and poet, died early today in his home at suburban La Jolla.

Mason became ill a few days before his birthday May 4. He was a native of Columbus, Ont., and came to the United States in 1880. That same year he was launched on his newspaper career when he got a job on a job press in St. Louis.

The poet's newspaper experience included jobs on the Atchinson, Kas., Globe, Lincoln, Neb., State Journal and Emporia, Kas., Gezette.

His poems were published by 200 newspapers in the United States and Canada.

Mason was survived by a daughter, Mary. His wife died in 1936.

AGENT IS KILLED IN GRADE CRASH

Engineer of Belleville Told Police He Thought Driver Would Stop

Kingston, June 22 (Special) —A level crossing accident Wednesday afternoon took the life of J. L. F. Sproule, insurance agent of Westbrook, whose car was struck by a C.N.R. freight train near Collins Bay. Sproule's neck was broken and he died instantly.

Engineer Ernest Pidgeon of Belleville told Traffic Officer Percy Dowsley that he saw the Sproule car approach the crossing and was quite sure that the driver would stop to allow the train to go by. But, to his amazement and horror, the auto kept going and was squarely on the tracks when struck.

The engineer applied his brakes a short time before, but it required a distance of about one-quarter of a mile before the train came to a stop. The car was carried on the front of the engine for a considerable distance.

Sproule was on his way to visit the farm of Howard Bauder at the time of the accident. He was a farmer most of his life. Surviving are his widow and three daughters.

FLAGS OF NATIONS GREET SOVEREIGNS

Southampton, June 22—(CP) — Flags of virtually all nations greeted the King and Queen as they stepped ashore from the Empress of Britain today.

The crossed hammer and sickle of Soviet Russia was there together with the ensigns of the Dominions, the tricolor of France and the Stars and Stripes of the United States. Missing were the Italian and German flags.

Nothing to Chance

By J. W. TAFF

Charles Rankin, vice president of the First National Bank of Colton, had just murdered Robert Knowels, president of the First National bank of Colton. Rankin looked down at the crumpled body and silently he gloated. He'd removed the last obstacle to his success. Tomorrow when the death of Knowels would be learned, he, Charles Rankin, would be elected to take the place of the dead president. And no one would ever guess that his rise from cashier to president in but a few years had not been the workings of a lucky fate. Only he knew that everything had been accomplished by cold, deliberate planning.

When George Curtis, former vice president of the bank, had been discovered in a hotel room in a compromising situation which had resulted in his disgrace and finally in his forced resignation, it had not been an accident. Not at all. He, Rankin, then cashier, had seen to that. "And when I'm elected president, tomorrow," he visioned, "no one will ever learn that everything didn't happen through the mere whimsy of chance." And now with success in his grasp he was not going to slip.

He glanced at the clock on the mantel. Knowels' servant would be back in thirty minutes. He must work quickly. He knelt beside the dead body and rifled the pockets. Money and papers were taken from the dead man's pockets and dropped in the fire flickering in the fireplace. Then he dropped the iron cudgel into the flames. Blackened and charred it would tell nothing. Finally, satisfied that his plan for making robbery seem the motive of the crime was completed, he left the fire.

He began to walk to each piece of furniture in the room. Anything which he might have touched by accident was scrutinized carefully and closely. The most perfect crimes have been spoiled by fingerprints and he was taking no chances. He walked to the table in the centre of the room at which Knowels had been sitting when he came in. He peered at it closely. Not a mark was on it. At last satisfied that on nothing in the room had he left any evidence which might implicate him, Rankin began to search himself. Too many murderers have been caught by the accidental dropping of some memento at the scene of their crime and he was playing it safe. He searched himself carefully. When the fingers went into the right side pocket of his overcoat and pulled out but one glove, he felt a chill start over him. He steadied himself and turned the pocket inside out. No glove. A premonition of danger, a momentary loss of confidence swept over him.

As he stood there, a sound stabbed him. Like a statue of stone set and cold, he stood, listening intently. Then he remembered and looked at the clock. It had struck the quarter hour. He started. Only fifteen minutes left. His breath was coming in quick, short gasps. "The glove," he muttered, "the glove." He must find it. Or he'd be ruined. He retraced his steps very thoroughly. It was useless. He could not find the glove. His eyes turned on the clock. Twelve minutes left. It throbbed in his mind. "Twelve minutes. . . . twelve minutes . . . ." For a moment a wild terror swept him. He shook it off. He must keep cool. He must. The glove was in the room. He was certain of it. He'd find it. Of course he'd find it. He must find it. He threw a straining, searching glance around the room. He saw the body on the floor. It was the only place he had not looked. In desperation he went to the dead body and turned it over. The glove was lying there. He grabbed it. Shivering from the contact with the murdered man, he stood up. A long sigh of a body relieved came from him. He was beginning to feel better. His confidence in himself was returning. Hurriedly he turned the glove over in his hand. Good. No blood on it. He shoved it in his pocket. From the relaxed tension a nervous sweat drenched him.

How dry his mouth was. How weak his body felt. He snatched the wine glass from the table and in one quick gulp, he drained it. Ah, that was better. He hurled the glass into the fireplace and heard the tinkle as it broke. No glass with finger prints on it was going to be found.

He looked at the clock. Eight minutes left. One final moment he let his glance reve and loiter on everything in the room, and then sure of his safety he started to leave.

Suddenly a great vice-like pain seemed to be cracking his heart. His feet buckled under him. He staggered. He tottered to the table and braced himself. In his struggle for breath, he shook the table and the book on it fell off. He saw there a sheet of paper and it had written on it. It seemed to be mocking him. With a great effort he straightened up and regained a bit of control over himself. He picked up the paper. With fast dimming eyes he read:

To the First National Bank of Colton. Gentlemen:

This is my resignation. For the last year I have been gambling in the stock market and losing. I have lost not only my money but also the bank's. In a few days the auditors will find it out. Rather than bear the disgrace, I am drinking poison tonight.

I would suggest as president of the bank the election of Mr. Chas. Rankin. He is a fine man, has much ability and is too shrewd to take chances.

ROBERT KNOWELS.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was still up shaving his face and I was eating my breakfist and so was ma with her hat on, saying, O deer, your father isn't going to take kindly to the news, but Nora will be off this afternoon and I dont know how I'm going to do a fraction of the shopping I want to do and still get home in time to prepare dinner.

Proberly meaning she was going to ask pop to take us out to a resterant, being the least thing he likes to do, and just then the telephone rang and ma went to answer it and pop came down, me saying, What do you bet ma's not going to ask you to go to a resterant tonight, pop?

I never bet on bad news, it's a superstition with me, pop said, and ma came back saying, Wrong number some people seem to know.

How can even a number be wrong on such a divine morning of early Spring when everything seems right? pop said, and ma said, I dont know what early Spring is doing this late in June?

It's better than early Spring, it's the first gentle embrace of late Spring and early Summer, it's the season of the year when it seems that everything is perfect and the day of the season when I feet that simply nothing can go wrong, pop said. Today I trust the world and everybody in it, I'm sure I'd cry like a wounded bird if anybody told me a single unjoyful thing was going to happen to me today, why cant every day be like this? he said, and ma said, O bother, how can I disturb such childish innocence?

A LOT OF SHOPPING

I'm sure you wouldn't want to, I'm sure you couldn't even if you wanted to, pop said, and ma said, We'll have a simple little dinner that I can get at the last moment.

Wich we did, being lamb chops and things.

With her escorts attired in court uniform, even to the swords, this little lady seems to have stolen the show at the wedding of Miss Pamela Seymour to Lieut. Bryan Durant of the royal navy, at Hampton Court Palace, London.

LADYBIRDS WITH SKY - HIGH AMBITIONS

Two ladies with ambitions are these, shown in a rare moment of relaxation. At TOP is Baroness Disette von Kapri, only licensed woman pilot in Switzerland, who recently arrived in New York after an air tour of Mexico. She has two ambitions. One is to fly solo across the Atlantic; the other to establish an aerial ambulance corps in Switzerland. BELOW is Alice Gibson, American parachute jumper, whose great ambition is to make a successful leap from 30,000 feet. She will make the attempt at Dayton, O., on Sunday, June 25. Three years ago, Miss Gibson was badly injured in a parachute jump. If she achieves her 30,000 drop ambition, she says she'll stay on the ground after.

SUMMER TIME IN PARIS

Once the city of gaiety, Paris, France's "gay Paree" of other days is gradually taking on the appearance of a fortress as sand-bagged gun emplacements spring up here, there and everywhere. This scene on the beautiful Esplanade of the "Invalides" shows an anti-aircraft crew, ready by its gun, during exercises in the French capital.

Rawdon

Presentation at Picnic

Rawdon—About forty-five members of Wellman's Young People's Union enjoyed a picnic supper at Searles Beach, Oak Lake on Friday night. During the evening a game of soft ball was played as well as several other games. This will officially close the league until fall.

As the president, Miss Mary E. Sharp is leaving the community an address of appreciation was read by Miss Mabel Sharp and Douglas Clancy made the presentation of a silver cream and sugar, gold lined and a silver tray. All sang "For She's A Jolly Good Fellow." Rev. J. E. Beckel spoke briefly.

Miss Sharp graciously replied, thanking the young people for their lovely gift, and their cooperation during the year. The address follows:

Oak Lake, June 16th, 1939.

Dear Miss Sharp:—

It is with a feeling of great regret that our community has learned you are going to leave us. We will miss your winning ways very much, and especially the young people to whom you have so endeared yourself.

As president of our league you have been a splendid success. It is mainly due to your new and brilliant ideas that the league has revived to the enviable position it now enjoys.

The Young Men's Class also appreciate your gallant efforts as their teacher. You can be sure that your sound teachings will stay with them as long as they tread life's highway.

During the past winter you devoted a good share of your time and unfailing interest for the benefit of our play. We feel a good share of any success, we may have achieved through the play, belongs to you, so in view of these facts we would like to repay you in some small measure at least. We would ask you to accept this small token of our deep appreciation and trust that it will ever bring you fond recollections of the Wellman's Young People.

Signed on behalf of our league: Isobel Beckett; Mina Dracup; Bernice Dunham; Eileen Jackman; Carlyn Johnson; Owen Sharp; Lorne Watson.

NEW PROPOSALS

ited Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff ironically observed that the newest Anglo-French proposals not only fell short of the mark but were not even new.

"The new 'new' British-French proposals do not represent any improvement over the previous proposals," a foreign office bulletin said.

Mission May Fail

The impression grew that Mr. Strang's mission to Moscow might fail. This, however, was not necessarily taken to mean that the long negotiations to bring Russia into the French-British front would collapse entirely.

Mr. Strang's assistant, Harry Roberts, returned to London this morning. Up to late forenoon Molotoff had not communicated with Sir William and Naggiar but it was thought likely that he might deliver a formal reply to them later today.

The latest Anglo-French proposals sought to meet by compromise Soviet insistence that the Baltic States of Finland, Estonia and Latvia be given direct, triple guarantees of assistance against attack whether they want them or not.

Oh Boy! It Won't Be Long; Cole Bros. Circus is Coming

GIRL RIDERS WITH THE LOYAL REPENSKY FAMILY

Ah! The Circus!

The Great Cole Bros. Combined Shows with Art Mix, America's No. 1 cowboy and Western movie star, is headed this way.

Thursday, June 29, is the date when performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. in Belleville.

Fresh from triumphant Spring engagements in Eastern cities Cole Bros. promise to uncork the very latest in the way of streamlined thrills with its 300 performers recruited from its 18 foreign countries.

Travelling with the big combined shows this season are 700 people, 20 elephants, 250 menagerie animals and 250 horses. Two special trains will transport the circus from thither to yon. Art Mix, the hero of more than one hundred movies with a congress of rough riders, cowboys and cowgirls, Indians and Cossacks promises to make the old West live again. The famous cinema star will be seen on Silver Dan his prize mount.

Everybody wishes to see the Cole Bros. Circus this year, which recently returned from a triumphal five year tour of Europe, and it is a foregone conclusion that the big tent, seating 10,000 persons, will be filled to the last chair afternoon and night. Six rings and stages and the hippodrome track, will be used for the earth's foremost arenic talent — 300 acknowledged kings and queens of daring, grace, skill and incredible agility. Miss Juanita Repensky, charming and youthful equestrienne will be head of a great array of riders.

One of the largest, finest and costliest street parades will be seen at 11 a.m. Hundreds of horses, 20 elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert will be seen. In the picturesque line of march will be nearly fifty elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats, tableau wagons and open dens and cages displaying the menagerie. Doors will open at 1 and 7 p. m. The big shows start at 2 and 8 p. m.

SEX FORECASTER GUESSES WRONG AT HOME

Sidney A. Portel, self-styled sex predeterminator, of Newark, N.J., who claims to have a secret formula to forecast the sex of a baby before birth, guessed wrong at home when his wife gave birth to a girl. Portel had forecast that his wife would bear him a son. He is shown here with Mrs. Portel.

Union Vale

Union Vale—About one hundred friends and neighbors gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Wilson to present the bride and groom, Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Wilson (nee Doris Hyatt) with a miscellaneous shower of gifts. A very appropriate address was read by Mr. Dwight Reynolds and many heavily laden baskets of gifts, were then carried in by little Misses Doris Twilliger and Marilyn Reynolds. After untying of the gifts, the bride and groom capably thanked their many friends for their beautiful gifts and asked all to visit them in the future. Lunch was then served and the rest of the evening was spent in social chat until midnight when all returned to their homes wishing them a long and happy wedded life.

Mr. and Mrs. Clare Pearsall and Aileen spent last Wednesday in Toronto.

Mrs. Charles Thompson of Ivanhoe visited a few days last week with Mr. and Mrs. C. A. Vincent.

Mr. John Royal and son of Rochester are visiting Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Vincent and Mr. Finley Vincent this week.

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

CHAPTER TWENTY-THREE

At exactly the same time in two homes—far apart in size and station—two dramatic scenes were being enacted. And both of them centred about a common focal figure, young Mickey Morton.

In Mrs. Blauer's humble cottage at the shore, Linda Morton and Steve Hubbard tensely awaited the verdict of laboratory science; waited for the report of the nurse who had called to take the blood count of the stricken boy.

In the stately Lake Forest mansion of the Bradley Mortons of Chicago, 2,000 miles away, Mike Morton's parents were learning for the first time they had a grandson.

Since Linda's arrival at Lake Tahoe for her vacation visit with the Blaines, the photograph snapped with Dr. Blaine by the resort photographer had lain unused in newspaper "morgues" throughout the country, to which it had been sent by the resort publicity man.

But when Linda made the dramatic dash by airplane to reach the sick boy, the picture was no longer publicity. It became news with the story. To Chicago editors, the magic Morton name was Page One Copy.

That is how it happened that Bradley Morton, at breakfast, coughed into his coffee and upset his grapefruit from its nest of shaven ice—an epochal upheaval of the Morton aplomb which nothing short of a bank failure or a new surplus tax could accomplish. off his pince nez and wildly waveff his pince enx and wildly waving the morning paper, Michael left a son!"

Mrs. Bradley Morton, so distant that she seemed to be at the other baseline of a white linen tennis court, ready for service, lifted her head in an attitude that implied a lorgnette.

"Don't be absurd, Brad," she said. "How could he? And stop sputtering so!"

"Why shouldn't I sputter?" the captain of finance snapped back "We have a grandson, I tell you!"

"Nonsense!" Mrs. Morton retorted. "We know they were childless when Michael....when our boy was taken from us. Maybe that grasping girl married again ...... or...."

"Yes," exulted Bradley Morton, "OR. That's just it. It says here that the child was born posthumously after Michael's death. Look!"

Despite his years and dignity, Bradley Morton, banker, made it to his wife's side quicker than he could foreclose a note.

"Look!" he repeated.

Mrs. Bradley Morton looked.

There it was, indisputably, on the front page. It was a story, running down the column beside the picture of Linda taken at Tahoe, and it read:

MIKE MORTON WIDOW IN PLANE DASH TO AID SON

SAN FRANCISCO, Sept. 15.—Airplane flight, which robbed her of her husband nearly three years ago, today proved a friend in need for Mrs. Linda Walsh Morton, 24, attractive widow of Mike Morton, late Chicago playboy-pilot.

In a dramatic dash by private plane from Lake Tahoe, where she had been visiting with the family of John R. Blaine, San Francisco capitalist, Mrs. Morton, former airline stewardess, sped to the bedside of her son, Bradley Michael Morton 11, at Capitola, seventy-five miles south of here.

The boy, 2 1-2 years old, was suddenly stricken with appendicitis while on vacation at the seaside resort with his nurse.

Morton, son of Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Morton of Chicago, was killed, etc., etc.

Mrs. Bradley Morton carefully folded the paper and placed it beside her plate.

"It's true, Brad, it's she," Mrs. Morton said. "I know her picture."

"Imogene," her husband said, and he seemed for the first time really human. "Did you see the boy's name? Michael wanted him named for me.... even after what we...."

"Yes, Brad," she answered, and her eyes were moist. "Bradley, we must find out about that child—right away!"

X X X

At the shore, 3,000 miles away, Linda and Steve had found out about Mickey. And their happiness, their relief, knew no bounds.

The report from the laboratory showed that Mickey's blood count was 8,000, normal for a child of his age. And Mickey was vastly improved, sitting up in bed and smiling. The pain was gone and the appendicitis diagnosis appeared definitely to have been an error.

"Praise the Lord!" Mrs. Blaeur had exclaimed reverently. "If anything had happened to my baby it would have been on my head. Though I'm sure I took care of him and didn't let him eat anything I don't feed him at home.."

"Mickey," Linda pleaded, sprawling across the bed and caressing his blond hair with both hands. "Tell mother, darling, did Mickey eat something and didn't tell Aunty Blauer....?"

"Uh-uh," reflectively. "Not but the apples."

"Apples?" Linda sat upright.

"Little ones. In the kitchen."

"Good merciful heavens!" It was Mrs. Blauer. "The crab apples. I made jelly day before yesterday. I forgot about the crabs...."

"No, not crabs,' Mickey corrected solemnly. "Apples. Sour ones."

And then—not so much at Mickey as from relieved tension—Linda snapped like a spring, lay back on the bed and laughed till the tears came. Steve added his deep chuckle and Mrs. Blauer joined in. Mickey, proud, thought he had made a great joke.

"Steve," said Linda, when she had recovered her breath. "I've been too worried to ask you—but I've wondered. How did you happen to be here when you were needed most?"

"Oh, you knew Hubbard," Steve gestured, "always hanging around. Always has his hands full of someone else's business. You just can't drive the guy away."

"Seriously, I mean."

"Well, you see it was this way, lady. I tried to impress you once with the fact that we—Casa Linda and I—won a national competition. I'll be going back East to collect the prize pretty soon and I wanted.... well, I wanted to be with my best friends for a while before I go. So I up and knocked off work for a little vacation, and here I am And here you are, too, and we're all happy—huh?"

"Yes," said Linda. "VERY happy, Steve....And thank you. Lots."

Funny, Steve told himself, she'd never smiled at him that way before. A guy might still have a chance. Well, he might....

Prime Minister is Questioned on Situation Arising from Japanese 'Ultimatum' Over Ships at Swatow

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Pres Staff Writer

London, June 23—(CP Cable) — Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today that Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, will interview Mamoru Shigemitsu, Japanese Ambassador to Great Britain, today concerning the indignities suffered by British subjects in Tientsin.

The Foreign Secretary will make it abundantly clear "what we think of these intolerable insults," the Prime Minister said.

He declared "we have not reached that stage yet" when asked if the time had not been reached when Great Britain should impose economic sanctions against Japan.

Mr. Chamberlain made his statement on the far eastern situa-

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 23—(CP)—Thundershowers have been general in Ontario and Western Quebec and scattered showers have occurred in the Prairie Provinces. The weather has been moderately warm in nearly all parts of the Dominion. A moderate disturbance is centred over James Bay with a trough extending southward across the Ottawa Valley to the Atlantic Coast States and pressure is also relatively low over the Prairie Provinces, but high over the Central States and from the Gulf of St. Lawrence northward across Labrador to Greenland.

Lake Superior—Moderate westerly winds; fair and moderately warm today and part of Saturday.

Manitoba—Mostly cloudy tonight and Saturday with scattered thundershowers; not much change in temperature.

Saskatchewan—Mostly cloudy and comparatively cool today and Saturday with scattered showers.

Alberta—Partly cloudy today and Saturday with scattered showers; not much change in temperature.

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Extremes of heat! These are found on trade-wind deserts, such as the Sahara. They occur of course, in summer. A curious and interesting fact about extremely high temperatures is that on the whole they rise less above the average temperature of the hottest month than the extreme low temperatures of winter fall below the average of the coldest month. The reasons for this are two: first, in the tropical desers there is very little difference between the hours of sunshine and dark, whereas in winter in the cold countries the hours of sunshine are much less than the hours of darkness, thus permitting more cooling; second, the air on hot days is always rising and mixing with cooler air above, while on cold days the air "stays put" and keeps on getting colder and colder.

Sewer Contractor Rescued After Ten Hours' Entombment

Indianapolis, June 23 (AP)—Howard Jackson, 38, sewer contractor, waved to his father today as he was brought to street surface after almost ten hours of entombment by tons of dirt and treacherously sliding gravel.

Jackson, his father, Sam, and a Negro helper were attempting to tap a sewer when timbers supporting the shaft's walls collapsed and pinned him.

Some of the smaller beams fell in such a way that they formed a shield over most of his body, leaving only a small part of his face exposed.

Fearful of digging directly toward him because of the sliding sand and heavy timbers, rescue squads worked in relays sinking an auxiliary shaft some distance away and then tunneled beneath him.

The husky 240-pound Jackson who almost fainted several times because of the pressure on his body, screamed in pain as rescuers reached him, roped his imprisoned arms and pulled him free.

A fire department rescue squad had fed Jackson air through a fresh air pump, whic hin turn was supplanted by an oxygen apparatus from city hospital.

Finding of Gravestone May Solve Mystery of Raleigh's 'Lost Colony'

GGainesville, Ga., June 23—(AP)—Roughly carved lettering of a granite slab that may prove to be the gravestone of Virginia Dare, first white child born in North America, was disclosed today by Dr. H. J. Pearce, President of Brenau College.

In addition to Virginia Dare, the stone bears the names of her father, Anaias Dare, and of 15 others presumably murdered by Indians in 1591, four years after they set foot on the new world. It is signed with the name of Eleanor Dare, mother of Virginia.

Dr. Pearce said that if the authenticity of this and a companion stone now in the Brenau College Museum can be established, the mystery of Sir Walter Raleigh's famed "Lost Colony" will be near solution.

One stone was found on the banks of the Chowan River near Edenton, N.C., in 1937 by a tourist. Its inscription purports to be a message from Eleanor Dare to her father, Gov. John White. Saying savages had slain all but seven of the colonists. It tells of the burial of 17 on a hill and refers to a stone at the burial site listing the dead.

Governor White had gone back to England for supplies soon after planting the colony in Roanoke Island at Raleigh's behest in 1587. European wars delayed his return and when he sailed back four years later the colonists were gone and were never seen again by white men.

The Brenau President emphasized that the college makes no claims for the stones but is so impressed by their potential value to history that excavations will be undertaken soon in the vicinity where the second was found.

The carving on both stones is in what appears to be Elizabethan characters. On one side of the last-discovered one appears the following:

"Heyrlaeth Ananias Dare & Virginia.

"Father, salvage murther al save seaven.

"Names wr'ten heyr. Mai God have mercye.

JAPANESE TO MAKE SPECIFIC DEMANDS ON GREAT BRITAIN

Hope to End 10-Day-Old Tientsin Controversy by Negotiation

ATTITUDE UNCHANGED

Tokyo, June 23—(AP)—Japanese foreign office officials and North China military leaders were reported today to be conferring on specific demands to make of Great Britain to end the 10-day-old Tientsin controversy.

Authorities, both British and Japanese, maintained it was "impossible to open negotiations without some more concrete basis" than Japanese army statements hitherto demanding British "cooperation" with Japanese and abandonment of the alleged "pro-Chiang Kai-Shek policy" of London.

A foreign office spokesman said he believed negotiations concerning the Japanese blockade of the British concession in Tientsin

Bata Plan to Import Key-Men To Open Factory at Frankford Viewed Favorably by Cabinet

Premier King Announces after Meeting Laws and Regulations Will Not Interfere With Investment of Capital in Canada or Entry of Skilled Workmen if Men Possessing Necessary Skill Not Available in the Dominion

NAME COMMITTEE

No New Light Thrown on the Date When General Election Will be Held or if One Will be Held This Year

Ottawa, June 23—(CP)—A full session of cabinet council with Prime Minister Mackenzie King presiding for the first time since May 16 when he started on the royal tour failed to throw any new light on the date of the general election but accomplished a great deal of routine work.

Mr. Mackenzie King met his Ministers yesterday, discussed the application of the Bata Shoe Manufacturing Company of Czecho-Slovakia for permission to bring a body of skilled craftsmen into Canada to establish a factory here, made some appointments, and put through agreements with eight Provinces on the youth training scheme.

The general election was not discussed. "Sufficient unto the day is the evil thereof," the Prime Minister smilingly said when asked directly if the cabinet had dealt with election matters. The Ministers had too much work before them to deal with election possibilities, he said.

Committee to Deal With Question

"But it is gratifying to see so many evidences of satisfaction with the government on the part of many of those who were not too friendly," the Prime Minister observed, without developing the remark.

Opposition has arisen in several quarters to the proposal of the Bata Company to establish a plant in Canada and bring in a number of their own workmen.

Mr. Mackenzie King said a small cabinet committee would deal with the question and he intimated existing laws and regulations would not interfere with the investment of capital in Canada or the entry of skilled workmen if men posessing the necessary skill were not available in the Dominion.

FRANCE USES PACT WITH TURKEY TO INFLUENCE SOVIET

Mutual Assistance Pact Will be Signed by Bonnet Today

TO CEDE HATAY

Paris, June 23—(AP)—France, in gaining a near eastern mutual assistance pact with Turkey, believed today she had a powerful lever to swing Russia into the Anglo-French anti-aggression front.

Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet and the Turkish Ambassador were scheduled to sign a cooperative declaration in a ceremony at 6:30 p.m. (1:30 p.m. EDT) at the foreign office.

In Ankara, at the same time, representatives of the two countries prepared to sign another documents, by which France cedes the republic of Hatay—the former Sanjak of Alexandretta—to Turkey as a part of Turkey's agreement with France.

Turkey is a close friend of Soviet Russia.

Papers Express Disappointment at Soviet's Refusal for Mutual Pact

London, June 23—(CP)— British morning newspapers today expressed disappointment over the Soviet Union's newest refusal to accept Anglo-French terms for a three-power mutual assistance pact.

The diplomatic correspondent of the Daily Herald (Labor), commenting on the current negotiations in Moscow said:

"Foreign Commissar Vyacheslaff Molotoff, one deduces, has put forward no suggestion of his own for 'closing the gap', but is leaving the task of devising a bridge to the British and French.

"But one may perhaps assume that the divergence is still chiefly whether or not to refer to the three Baltic States — Finland, Estonia and Latvia—by name. The atmosphere yesterday at Whitehall was one of great disappointment, but by no means of despair."

The Daily Mail's (Independent) diplomatic correspondent said: "Negotiations in Moscow are likely to continue for some time longer. There is general agreement on the anti-aggression principle aimed at, but it has not yet been possible to find the exact word which will express in the same degree the views of the three parties."

The News Chronicle's (Liberal) diplomatic correspondent said:

"One rumor current last night was to the effect that at the last moment, and rather against the will of the French, a promise of automatic assistance was replaced by one of immediate consultation about assistance. But there was no confirmation in London last night that instructions of this sort had been sent.

"I was told yesterday by two exceptionally well-informed people, first, that signature of the agreement would be announced on Monday and, second, that a German offer of a non-aggression past so appealed to the Soviet government that an Anglo-Russian past was now unlikely."

Finds Humanity Most Potent Force Affecting World

King George Sixth and Queen Elizabeth Tendered Luncheon in the Guildhall by Corporation of the City of London — Lord Mayor Delivers Welcome Speech

HALL IS RESPLENDENT

His Majesty Declares Purpose of Tour Was to Foster Sane Faith of Britain and Show That Its Headship is a Potent Force for Peace and Goodwill

By R. K. CARNEGIE
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 23—(CP)—King George told a distinguished audience at the City of London's welcoming luncheon today that he hoped the royal North American tour might "be of some importance in its influence on the Empire's future destiny."

His Majesty spoke on the first day after his homecoming and after a drive from Buckingham Palace to the Guildhall to receive the city's official greeting.

He told the audience his deepest impression of the tour was "that even in this age of machines and mass production the strength of human feeling still is the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs."

Desire to Serve

His Majesty declared it was his desire to serve the ideals of the British Commonwealth which led him to undertake the journey — "to foster its sane wholesome faith, to show, if I could, that its headship, which I have been called upon to assume, exists today as a potent force for the promotion of peace and goodwill among mankind."

Of the trip itself, he said: "We have been welcomed with a sincerity that stirred us profoundly by millions of our fellow human beings in Canada, the United States and in Newfoundland. In the last 24 hours that welcome has been re-echoed in the land which to us, as to so many of our kindred overseas, will always be home."

Institutions Flourish

"In Canada," he continued, "I saw everywhere not only the mere symbol of the British crown; I saw also, flourishing as strongly as they do here, institutions which have developed century after century beneath the aegis of the crown; institutions British in origin, British in their slow and almost casual growth, which, because they are grounded root and branch on British faith in liberty and justice, mean more to us even than the splendor of our history or the glories of our English tongue."

DUKE OF WINDSOR FORTY-FIVE TODAY

Paris, June 23—(AP)—The Duke of Windsor and the Eiffel Tower today celebrated birthdays together.

The Duke was 45. The famous Paris landmark, which rises from the Champs De Mars on the left bank of the Seine, was 50.

The main event of the day scheduled for both was a party on the first platform of the tower, with the Duke and Duchess guests of honor.

A gala in the style of 1889 was arranged to recall the days when the Duke's grandfather, Edward VII, then Prince of Wales, paid frequent visits to the tower.

Celebrations of the 50th anniversary of the 1,000-foot tower got under way last night with the election of a Paris salesgirl, six feet three inches tall, as "Mademoiselle Tour Eiffel."

Text of the King's Speech At the Guildhall, London

London, June 23—(CP)— The King's speech delivered at the Guildhall today follows:

I thank you, my Lord Mayor, I thank you, ladies and gentlemen, for the manner in which you have honored this toast.

I thank you also for your recognition of the significance of the long journey that the Queen and I have just completed.

To us personally it was a momentous and happy experience. Historically it was unique in that no reigning sovereign has in times past entered one of the sister Dominions that constitute our British Empire.

It is my earnest hope that it may also be of some importance in its fluence on the Empire's future destiny.

We left these shores almost exactly seven weeks ago. During that time we have travelled thousands of miles, by land and by sea; we have seen great cities, noble rivers and vast mountain ranges; we have been welcomed with a sincerity that stirred us profoundly by millions of our fellow human beings in Canada, in the United States and in Newfoundland.

Welcome Re-echoed

In the last 24 hours that welcome has been re-echoed in the land which to us, as to so many of our kindred overseas, will always be home. The detailed story of our travels is familiar to you through the daily press, newsreels and broadcasting corporations which on both sides of the Atlantic have reported it with accuracy and sympathetic understanding. I will only try today to tell some of the impressions of my journey that remain in my mind.

First and deepest is that even in this age of machines and mass production the strength of human feeling is still the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs. Over all nations, as a North American historian has written, is humanity. In no part of the world, perhaps, is that truth more evident than in the continent from which I have just returned. Within its geographical limits live men of almost every race, of many creeds and diverse political faiths, yet first and foremost they are human beings. Over them all is humanity.

Helpful Contribution

I found too a realization that we in this island have made a helpful contribution to the gradual weaving of that fabric of humanity.

That is evident of course from

TIME FOR REUNION MAY BE REDUCED

Possibility that the two-day second annual reunion of the Ex-Members Association of the Belleville Kilties Band of Canada, formerly scheduled to take place here on July 8th and 9th, will be cut down to the Sunday program only, was voiced by members of the Belleville Reception Committee yesterday.

Original plans called for a banquet to be held here on the evening of Saturday, July 8th, followed by a sight-seeing tour and Grand Concert in Victoria Park on Sunday, in which the Belleville Municipal Band will be augmented with former members of the famous organization.

Impossibility of a number of members to arrive here in time for the Saturday program, however, looms as a strong factor in the proposed cancellation of the first day of the reunion, it was stated.

Addresses on Camp Life Are Heard by King George H. & S. Club

The regular meeting of the King George Home and School Association was held Wednesday evening, June 21 in the auditorium with the president, Mrs. R. Ashbury, in the chair.

The meeting opened by singing "O Canada" after which the president welcomed the members and guests. A children's choir of pupils from the higher grades sang several numbers showing the fine training they are receiving. A solo by Helen Arnott was also given in a pleasing manner.

Mrs. D. Bradford, a guest speaker, was then introduced by the president. Her topic was "Girls' Camps" in which she described the local C. G. I. T. camp at Moira Lake. It has accommodation for sixty girls. Each day has a planned program and means more to the girls than just a holiday. There are a qualified nurse, swimming instructress, a camp mother, and other leaders teaching different groups, all working for the interests of these girls.

The movement is closely linked with the church. There is a period of Bible study and also chapel service. At the local camp girls are taken from the age of 13 to 17 years while the older teen-age girls may attend a provincial camp where the same fine spiritual and manual training is received.

Mr. J. Shortt, the second guest speaker, was then introduced. His subject was "Boys' Camps". After entering Y.M.C.A. work he became a camp leader. His interest in this field is well known throughout this district. He brought with him several volumes on camp life by men also interested in teaching boys the study of nature and to appreciate the simple things of life.

A good camp site is extremely important and comfort essential. Health and safety, good equipment, wholesome food and a good program are also important factors. Adequate supervision is maintained at these camps.

At Moira Lake in each cabin there are a counsellor, leader and eight boys and supervising all is a camp director. Camp life is a character builder. Strict discipline is observed.

Mr. Shortt then outlined a day's program at the local camp followed by interesting slides that had been taken at this camp. In the evening there is a campfire which is an inspirational feature where friendliness and good fellowship exist. On Sunday morning the campers attend church service in Madoc.

Mr. Shortt stated that camp work has its rewards and in closing quoted several poems that stress the joy and contentment that are derived from an out-door life.

Miss J. Smyth on behalf of the association extended a hearty vote of thanks to the speakers for their splendid addresses. The meeting was closed with the National Anthem after which refreshments were served. Mr. Brown's room won the attendance award.

POLICE COURT

For the second time in one week no criminal charges were on the day's police docket, held here before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C., today.

As a matter fact only one arrest has been necessary in Belleville for nearly two weeks, last night an old offender falling into the clutches of the law on a charge of intoxication. The man was found sleeping outside behind a local service station.

Today the accused appeared before His Worship and was given a stern reprimand. Sentence was enlarged sine die.

In a subsequent Juvenile Court a teen-aged youth appeared on charges of theft. "This boy has been shoplifting and was caught recently. He is a good boy at home, but when he gets out the temptation is too great, it appears," revealed Chief Kidd.

His Worship lectured the lad at length relative to his erring ways and gave him into the custody of his father, who was present. "Remember, young man, another such incident as this and you will be sent to the Boys' Training School where they are quite strict,"

Music Festival at Schools Concluded By Fine Program at Q. Mary School

Concluding the public school music days, the first to be held in the city, the program at Queen Mary School yesterday was attended by a large number of parents and visitors who were distinctly impressed by the excellence of the afternoon's entertainment. The program was prepared by Mr. George Maybee, supervisor of music in the public schools, assisted by the staff of the school.

The music festivals have given parents a clear idea of the music course that is an important part of the curriculum. Every grade has received splendid instruction in music, and the singing in solo, duet, and chorus work exemplified the patient care that had been taken in the training of the students.

The program yesterday was opened by the boys' band which played three selections and featured a cornet solo. Each grade had its place in the program, and all the pupils took part. An interesting variety of songs, old English airs and familiar melodies delighted the audience as presented in splendid style by the students.

Mr. C. I. Frederick, principal of the school, was chairman and at the conclusion of the program expressed appreciation to Mr. Maybee and the staff, to the pupils who took part in the program, especially those who were so loyal as to return for the program when they had completed their term's work. Mr. Frederick thanked the parents for their fine attendance. He invited them to visit the school often, and informally, to acquaint themselves with the progress of their children and to become familiar with the new course of study.

The program for the afternoon follows:

Miss Arkel's Class—Chorus, Hear the Silv'ry Evening Bell; Boy's solo, Old March Wind, Leo Marcus; Girl's solo, Safety First, Joyce Wiggins.

Miss Hatfield's Class—Chorus Tirra Lirra Lirra; Boy's solo, Who Are You, Clinton Badgley; Girl's solo, Summer Days, Jean Shortt.

Miss Style's Class—Chorus, When Fields Are White; Boy's solo, My Pony, Frank Wells; Girl's solo, A. B. C. Song, Jean Cooper.

Miss Elson's Class—Chorus, Sleep My Baby; Boy's solo, Summer Days, Robert Sinfield; Girl's solo, All Thro. the Night, Marian Vandervoort; Duet, Who Are You, Irene Snowden and Ronald Palmer.

Miss Leslie's Class — Chorus, Where Do They Go; Boy's solo, All Thro' the Night, Gerald McKinnan; Girl's solo, Early One Morning, Jean White; Duet, Busy Bee, George Ward, Reginald Fulton.

Mrs. Carr's Class—Chorus, The Wind; Duet, All Thro' the Night; Girl's solo, Barbara Kyle.

Miss Sullivan's Class—Chorus, Young Richard; Boy's solo, Early One Morning, Stephen Geneja; Girl's solo, Where Do They Go, Marjorie Ashton.

Miss Hart's Class—Chorus, The Ash Grove; Boy's solo, Early One Morning, William Archer; Girl's solo, Slumber Song, Joan Wright; Duet, Where Go the Boats, Dorothy Dobbs, Kenneth Sargent.

Mr. Frink's Class—Chorus, The Mermaid; Boy's duet, Billy Boy, Billy Lafferty, Douglas Burns; Girl's duet, Slumber Song, Mary Everett, Patricia Thurston.

Mr. Fairman's Class—Chorus, The Minstrel Boy, Merry Lark; Girl's solo The Ash Grove, Alice Vandervoort; Boy's solo, Gordon Watkin.

Mr. Frederick's Class — Girl's Chorus, Billy Boy; Two Part Song, Gliding Through the Meadow; Girl's chorus, The Slumber Song; Duet, Strawberry Fair, Mary Wright and Marian Skelcher; Solo, Sylvia Harris.

God Save The King.

Minister From Lachine Called to Campbellford

Rev. G. N. Maxwell, B.A., B.D., of Lachine, Que., has been called to the pastorate of St. John's United Church at Campbellford, it has been announced by the Board. Arrangements for the transfer of the Rev. Maxwell came following the announcement some time ago that the Rev. Harold Neal had accepted a call to Renfrew. Mr. Neal is slated to assume his new duties at Renfrew in July, and will hold his final service in St. John's Church this Sunday.

Rev. G. N. Maxwell is expected to take over the Campbellford charge in August and in the meantime Rev. B. Simpson Black of St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church will conduct the services in St. John's.

Rotary Goes Nautical

The newly-formed Belleville Rotary Yacht Club will be as nautical in appearance as they will be in activities this summer.

Those chaps you will see at the Picton Regatta in the near future, immaculately garbed in navy-blue blazers, adorned with blue and gold crests, cream flannel trousers and blue and white yachting caps, will be none other than the members of the Rotary Club garbed in their new yacht-club uniforms.

The new outfits made by Deacon Shirt Company, will be worn by a large number of members of the club when the "Rotary Admirals" as they have been dubbed, attend the Picton Regatta to give it their moral and personal support.

Decision to attend the regatta in the southern county and support it, was made at the weekly luncheon of the club held on Monday.

VIOLATIONS OF H. T. A. CHARGED

Pair Has in Their Possession Quantity of Cheap Jewellery

Held on suspicion when a quantity of cheap jewellery was found in their possession, two men, who police say are Edward Nathan, Montreal, and Seymour Schuman, Brooklyn, N.Y., were arrested late yesterday afternoon on charges of violations of the Ontario Highway Traffic Act.

When apprehended by Motorcycle Patrolmen Sam Ervine and H. Jillings, who were checking motorists in the matter of possession of driver's licences, the officers found that Nathan was driving Schuman's car, bearing a New York State licence plate and also using Schuman's driver's licence. When Constable Ervine asked Schuman for his tourist permit the latter offered the officer a deportation order, which immediately prompted the police to hold the pair for investigation.

Later in the Belleville police station the officers found a quantity of cheap jewellery in the men's possession. Both are facing Highway Traffic charges while the R.C.M.P. were notified of Schuman's presence in the country and the matter will be reported to the Immigration Department through Corp. Green of the R.C.M.P. Nathan and Schuman were lodged in the county jail on remand today.

Family Endangered in Sudden Swerve of Car

Not knowing that trains stop at the dangerous C.N.R. crossing near White Lake, William Durkin, Stoco, frantically swerved his car when a train suddenly loomed in front of him, but managed to stop it within a few inches of the bank near the crossing, under which flow the deep waters of the lake.

The Durkin family and grandmother were motoring west when Durkin who was driving, saw the train a few feet away, almost on the crossing in front of him. He did not know that trains always stop at the crossing and in his anxiety to avoid an accident swerved his car.

The family although badly frightened, was unhurt and help being secured to retrieve the car from its predicament they proceeded to their home.

Demand is Greater For Colored Cheese States Local Buyer

Fewer colored cheese have been made in the district this season and the demand for it has grown, it was reported at last evening's meeting of the Belleville Cheese Board by James Cook, Belleville buyer. Mr. Cook advised makers to produce more colored cheese and take advantage of the premium on this over white cheese.

"We'd make it if we were sure we were to be given a little more for the expense of making it", declared one salesman.

"You make it and you'll get the premium," assured Mr. Cook.

Last evening a premium of three eighths of cent was paid on colored cheese over the 13 cents a pound paid for the common white.

Hepburn Indisposed With Bronchial Trouble

Toronto, June 23—(CP)—Premier Mitchell Hepburn was confined to bed here today with a recurrence of the bronchial disturbance that has troubled him previously. His doctor ordered him to cancel all speaking engagements for a few days.

As a result, Attorney-General Conant will speak on behalf of Mr. Hepburn tomorrow night at a banquet of the Holy Name Society here.

CROWNING THE ROYAL TOUR

The royal visit to Canada and the United States is history, but not ancient history, it is very lively history and history which the peoples of the New World and the Old World know will be enduring and inspiring. It is one of the great events of modern days and one of the greatest records in the history of the Throne. The home-coming was a triumph.

How the royal visit appealed to Britain is clearly defined in the words of Prime Minister Chemberlain spoken in the British House of Commons yesterday:—

"The demonstrations of loyalty and affection by the crowds which flocked together to welcome Their Majesties at every point on the journey exceeded the utmost expectations.

"Thanks to the efforts of the press, radio and newsreels we have been able to follow every detail of Their Majesties' progress almost as if we had been present ourselves.

"We have been able to see with our own eyes how in Canada, and in Newfoundland later on, the visit demonstrated in a most impressive manner not only the significance of the Crown to the British Commonwealth of Nations but how the loyalty to the Crown in the abstract has been translated in a personal feeling of affection for Their Majesties.

"This feeling has been engendered by the simple, kindly and human qualities which we know are characteristic of our King and Queen. When Their Majesties crossed the frontier into the United States the magnificent welcome which they received from the President and the American people again out-distanced all precedents and must have delighted Their Majesties' hearts.

Mr. Arthur Greenwood, Labor M.P., said:—

"In the past, monarchs and royal princes have left these shores for visits abroad but this visit of the King and Queen across the Atlantic is, I believe, unique in the annals of this country.

"The visit to Canada has proved to the world that this Dominion, with problems of its own, with an historic background of its own, with international questions of its own, is a loyal and devoted member of the British Commonwealth of Nations.

"If there be some who believe that a far-flung empire with a King and its symbolic head is a myth, the visit of Their Majesties must have dispelled that view.

"Should it be that His Majesty contemplates further visits to other Dtminions that view will be corroborated. If it should be that the United States President may break an old tradition and visit this country or one of His Majesty's Dominions he would receive an equally warm welcome.

"The visit Their Majesties paid to the United States opens a new chapter in relations between this country and the American Republic. It proves that blood is thicker than water, but it proves even more the brotherhood of peoples who live under the flag of freedom and democracy.

"There is for the world as a whole a profound significance in the reception the King and Queen received.

"It was, as the Premier said, due to the personal charm and friendliness of Their Majesties, but it also expressed the real kinship of the English-speaking peoples, although one is a republic and the other a constitutional monarchy it proves that they are facing common problems and sharing common ideals, desiring what all men and women of goodwill desire—maintenance of peace and freedom and establishment of enduring prosperity in the world.

"No words of mine are adequate to express what I believe to be the really significance of this visit."

Sir Archibald Sinclair, Liberal Leader, said:—

"Their grace and dignity in the pageantry of formal ceremony, and still more their natural friendliness in meeting the men, women and children of thir great Dominions, have invested the Crown as a vital link between peoples of the British Commonwealth with fresh, human and simple meaning.

"In the United States they were good neighbors paying a visit to the people of that country. We have all been deeply moved by the striiking demonstrations of friendship and understanding by which they were greeted—a friendship none the less real because it is not exclusive but is one in which every peace-loving nation may share.

"So we welcome home our King and Queen with pride in their achievements and gratitude for the service they have rendered so faithfully to their subjects and the cause of peace and understanding between the peoples of the world."

HE LIVES BY THE SEA

The ocean's roar is in his ear
And noise of voices from the town,
The sound of foghorn far and near
By white mist matted down.

The sun between his window shows
The green, the gray, the yellow dune,
And when the wild rose-petal blows
He knows the year is June.

And two by two the dolphin dip,
The dogfish tunneled lip and eye
Litter the beach, the funneled ship
Litters the sea and sky.

The clean two blues of sky and sea
And brick red barges in its trail,
The gull's white wing into the lee ,
The starch spick sail.

—Lloyd Frankenberg, in New York Times.

BELLEVILLE, ONTARIO, CANADA, HAS PASSED THE CENTURY MARK—Just the exact date of the passing is not quite clear because of differences of opinion among those in the Seats of the Mighty, and perhaps it might be well if that weighty matter were settled once and for all so that when the next century rolls around we will not have that dispute as to date to bother us. However, we know that the days of our years and the years of our age number more than one hundred, so for the present that should suffice: This question was brought up by a press despatch informing the world that the municipality of Belleville, New Jersey, has just celebrated its centenary—June 18. Mayor William H. Williams, a fine old pioneer Pilgrim Fathers name, was Chairman of the Centennial Committee, and it would be a gracious gesture, even tho' a trifle belated, for this older Belleville to send greetings and congratulations through Mayor Jamieson Bone to Mayor William H. Williams, of Belleville, New Jersey. Incidentally this recalls, as a matter of news ,that a citizen of our own Belleville visited the New Jersey Belleville a year or two ago, and, wandering into a store, engaged in conversation with the proprietor, (sociable folks us Bellevillians). Exchange of ameneties revealed that the storekeeper was a native of Belleville, Canada. But of course you meet Belleville expatriates everywhere. Gosh, all hemlock if they had all stayed home what a village we sure would have had. Looks like another Old Boys and Girls Reunion is about due—perhaps just before or after the next war which seems to be brewing just over the horizon. And so — Greetings to Belleville, New Jersey, from Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

REMINISCENCES AND ANECDOTES OF THE ROYAL TOUR seemingly go on forever—and well they might ,sez you, for such an epoch-making event. The experience, more or less harrowing, of a Belleville lady, who tried to get a close up view of Their Majesties during the brief and darksome period allotted to Belleville, has reached this desk, and describes an experience which will not soon be forgotten, illustrating how quickly folks can forget their manners in moments of mass excitement, or hysteria, or whatever. The story in rhyme will appear shortly in this column.

ALL HAIL THE RETURN OF THE OLD FASHIONED CIRCUS—with modern trimmings—for the circus parade has returned in all its glory. Circus folks realized at long last their mistake, but the folks who were accustomed to come from the back concessions and line the Main Streets of the nation soured at once upon the new type of circus, sans parade, and stayed away from Circus Town Circus Day with disastrous effect upon the box office. The folks from away back came to town to see the circus parade, and became so enthused that they just had to stay and see the circus performance. So the circus efficiency experts who figured out the saving in transportation charges on golden chariots and resplendent band wagons, besides time taken up and extra equipment found their figures confounded by that curious trait of human nature which comes from Missouri and must be shown. Watch your horses! here comes the elephants!

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Importance of Preventing Tooth Decay in Children

When you read about the thousands of defects in school children revealed by school physicians and dentists you may became unduly alarmed. The Indiana State Board of Health monthly report states that investigations by the United States Public Health Service and other agencies show that among physical defects —nose, throat, eyes, ears, chest, and general physique—observed in school children, dental defects out-number all others combined.

The fact that it is only defects in the teeth that are so numerous may cause you to dismiss these reports from your mind, but teeth defects can be a very serious matter if neglected in childhood. The youngster may later have poor chewing surfaces, indigestion, intestinal disturbances, and, most important of all, may develop an inferiority complex due to the condition and shape of his mouth which spoils the whole expression of his face.

"It is a known fact that dental decay has increased with civilization. In olden times, before food was refined and cooked, when our ancestors had to depend upon raw grains, nuts, and similar foods, care of the teeth was unnecessary. Examination of many of the skulls of early peoples in this country, many of whom died more than one hundred years ago, before contact with our modern civilization, show little if any, tooth decay. The structure was built properly to begin with; the jaws were exercised by grinding hard foods, and the teeth and gums were cleaned by eating raw fruits and vegetables. When civilization is not advanced, dental decay is powerless."

Another point that dentists and food research experts point out is that not only will hard "chewy" food strengthen and cleanse teeth and gums and prevent pyorrhoea, but fruits and vegetables, together with dairy products, are the best known tooth builders.

In these days we all eat the refined and cooked foods of our civilization. These foods are "inviting" and stimulate our digestive juices so that the food is readily digested. And we will likely to continue to eat them.

However, if we and our children would eat "some" coarse hard foods daily, we and they would have fewer defects of teeth and gums.

FRANCE USES PACT

The Franco-Turkish pact, along with the Anglo-Turkish mutual aid agreement, erected a triple facade in the Balkans and eastern Mediterranean, as British and French diplomats labored to bring Russia into their peace bloc.

Both Handed Notes

Diplomatic sources said French hopes in the negotiations rose when the Soviet Premier and Foreign Commissar, Vyacheslaff Molotoff, decided to clarify further Russia's stand. Molotoff handed a note to French and British Ambassadors in Moscow yesterday.

There were some who showed bitterness and distrust in France's decision to cede Hatay, a valuable part of Syria, to Turkey.

The Mediterranean Committee headed by Louis Rollin, Paris Deputy and former Minister of Colonies, addressed a protest to Premier Edouard Daladier asserting that mountaineers in the Moussadagh region of the ceded land would never submit to Turkish rule.

Official annexation by Turkey or Hatay was set for June 26. Armenian and Arab families were moving out.

JAPANESE TO MAKE

would be conducted in that North China port. He indicated that the Japanese military not only would formulate the demands but conduct the conferences.

Meanwhile the Japanese attitude regarding the Tientsin deadlock remained unchanged, but Anglo-Japanese relations were irritated further by the entry without Japanese permission of a British destroyer into Swatow harbor, in South China, during its occupation by the Japanese Wednesday.

Awaited Signal

Newspapers contrasted with this reported episode the actions of a United States warship (probably the destroyer Pillsbury) which awaited an "all clear" signal before entering Swatow harbor under the escort of a Japanese warship.

Neutral sources said the British destroyer Scout was ordered to join the destroyer Thanet, just outside Swatow harbor, and that the Thanet's commander had received the Japanese warning that the harbor was still filled with mines which Japanese were clearing. The Thanet and the United States craft waited beyond the harbor entrance, but the Scout, not having received the Japanese request, steamed inside despite a Japanese protest.

The incident apparently was closed officially, but Japanese newspapers gave it prominence as a "new British intention to oppose Japan."

THEIR MAJESTIES

The King asked him to convey his thanks to the newspapers and press organization.

"They have helped us so much," the Queen interjected, "and we want to thank them."

It was suggested to Their Majesties that their tour had come at the most opportune time to advance unity among the Canadian people.

The King expressed satisfaction at the way the tour had been carried out and agreed that this had been a propitious time to make it.

"We do hope our visit will make Canadians even more united," the Queen remarked.

HEADS KIWANIS

Bennett O. Knudson, of Albert Lea, Minn., was elected president of Kiwanis International for 1939-40 at the annual convention held in Chicago. Mr. Knudson was international vice-president for the past year and has been an active Kiwanian since 1922.

FINDS HUMANITY

The King delivered his speech after hearing the Lord Mayor. Sir Frank Bowater, read a cable from Prime Minister Mackenzie King expressing Canada's pleasure at Their Majesties' safe return.

Ride Through Streets

Only 18 hours after their arrival in London the King and Queen showed themselves to hundreds of thousands who jammed the brilliantly decorated route from the Palace to the "City" riding through the chilly streets in an open landau.

From 8 a.m. onward spectators sought places to view the procession. Many of them, who had seen yesterday's royal arrival at Waterloo Station and the procession to Buckingham Palace, reholsted their toy periscopes to watch the spectacles.

London paraded its ancient customs as Their Majesties left the Palace, outside which thousands craned their necks to see. At 12.30 p.m. the strains of the National Anthem heralded the departure of the procession and the royal landau rolled from the quadrangle while trumpeters blew a shrill flourish and a Captain's escort of lifeguards clomped ahead.

Queen in Dove Grey

In the first carriage rode the King and Queen. The Queen was in dove grey, with grey fur, and gave the crowd the smile which captivated Canadians, Americans and Newfoundlanders. The King wore the full dress uniform of an Admiral of the Fleet. The royal suite occupied three other carriages.

The procession went down the Mall through Trafalgar Square and along the strand to Temple Bar, the ancient entrance to the city, which the King must still obtain ceremonial permission to pass.

The Lord Mayor, garbed in ermine and public dress, stood guard on a purple carpet opposite the Temple Bar where the old wooden gate which once barred progress had been replaced by a purple rope held by two policemen.

King Touches Sword

As the escort was sighted the policemen dropped the rope and the King's landau stopped opposite the Lord Mayor, who presented His Majesty with the "great sword." The King touched the sword, acknowledging his acceptance, left it with the Lord Mayor and drove on.

The Lord Mayor rushed back to the Guildhall and was on the steps with the Lady Mayoress, when the procession reached there.

Inside the hall, before the Mayor left to go to Temple Bar, distinguished guests shaking hands with their hosts paused to applaud vigorously when Vincent Massey, the Canadian High Commissioner was announced. They paid tribute to him for his part in organizing the Canadian tour.

The assembly applauded again when Joseph Kennedy . United States Ambassador to Great Britain, was announced.

Stately Hall Resplendent

The stately hall was resplendent for the city's welcoming luncheon. The King and Queen sat side by side in armchairs of crimson velvet and gold under a canopy of draped crimson velvet, backed with cream silk ornamented with the royal arms of England. At the royal table there were also seats for Queen Mary, the Lord and Lady Mayoress and other distinguished visitors.

On the royal table and 16 other long tables was displayed the city's gold plate, glowing in the soft light which dropped from big candelabra hanging high above.

This was the menu: Clear turtle soup, troute with verte sauce, asvic of foie gras and tongue, the city's famous baron of beef with baked potatoes and lettuce salad, casserole of chicken saint germain, orange jelly, strawberry iced souffle, maids of honor dessert and coffee. Drinks served were punch, sherry, white wine, champagne, port and brandy.

COL. MACALPINE IS CANDIDATE

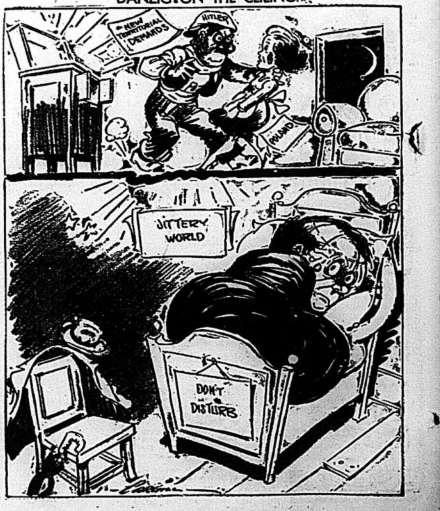
Will Contest Seat for Conservatives in Victoria — Haliburton Riding

Lindsay, Ont., June 23—(CP) — Selection of Col. C. D. H. MacAlpine as Conservative candidate for the Victoria-Haliburton federal riding yesterday, recalled the time he was lost for two months in the Canadian Arctic.

Col. MacAlpire and seven other mining men made a forced landing while flying across the barren lands of the Arctic late in the fall of 1929.

Their disappearance launched the greatest and most expensive search in Canadian history. Such noted fliers as Roy Brown, Andy Cruickshanks, Wop May, and Herbert Hollick-Kenyon flew for weeks across the uncharted north, far into the freeze-up season when flying is dangerous, looking for the men.

Finally they were found at Victoria Island, off the Arctic coast. There were further mishaps in bringing the lost men out and it was weeks before the last of the fliers returned to safety.



KEEP COOL THE "SALADA" WAY
Infuse 6 heaping teaspoons of Salada Black Tea in a pint of fresh, boiling water. After 6 minutes strain liquid into 2-quart container; while hot, add 1 to 1½ cups of sugar and juice of 2 lemons, strained; stir until sugar is dissolved; fill container with cold water. Do not allow tea to cool before adding cold water or liquid will become cloudy. Serve with chipped ice. The above makes 7 tall glasses.

Their Majesties are Home Again And Slip Quietly into Routine Of Royal Life at the Palace

By PAT USSHER
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 22—(CP Cable)—The royal standard fluttered over Buckingham Palace today— Their Majesties are home again.

The King and Queen quickly slipped into the routine of royal life in Britain last night soon after all London hailed their arrival from their triumphant tour of Canada, the United States and Newfoundland.

The King received Prime Minister Chamberlain at the palace and heard from him a review of the international situation as it has developed during the 47 days of his absence. It was believed they also discussed the first visit to North America of a ruling British sovereign and the impressions the King brought back with him.

To Visit Guildhal

Today Their Majesties were to visit the historic Guildhal for an official luncheon to mark the welcome to the City of London. The state procession gave the populace their second opportunity in two days to show their feelings of joy over the return and their admiration for the way in which the King and Queen won the heart of the new world.

After the ceremony the King and Queen will have a few days of rest and quiet with their daughters at the royal lodge in Windsor Great Park.

The Staid Court Circular— the formal chronicle of the activities of royalty—took 1,000 words today to tell of the events of yesterday, a crowded day in which Their Majesties debarked from the liner Empress of Britain at Southampton and came home to the acclaim of their people. Usually the circular is limited to a few clipped sentences.

Many Pictures Shown

Morning newspapers devoted their space generously to pictures, stories and special articles telling of the royal return and in summary form of the whole six weeks and five days of Their Majesties' absence. The Daily Herald (Labor) filled its entire front page with photographs.

Observant newspaper writers expressed the opinion the King had become more confident and more assured in bearing since he went away. Proof of this was seen, they wrote, in the way the King dropped formality in his balcony appearances at the Palace last night. He stood at salute first, then waved his hand, smiling cheerfully as the Queen was doing.

Twice Their Majesties, accompanied by the young Princesses, appeared on the balcony in sight of fully 50,000 persons crowded outside. Little Margaret Rose got so tired waving her right hand to the throng that she rested it and gaily waved the left.

Blew Kiss to Crowd

On the second appearance, for which the King had changed from his Admiral of the Fleet uniform to evening clothes, and the Queen from a blue woollen dress to a flowing heliotrope gown, the Queen blew a kiss to the crowd that kept crying: "Well done Your Majesties," "welcome home," and "stout work."

Then they withdrew into the Palace and the long, busy day was over for them. But not for their subjects. While many thousands continued to cheer outside the palace, others turned to gala celebrations in hotels, restaurants, pubs and private homes.

Dancing lasted far into the night. The simple and frequent toasts to "the King" seemed to have taken on a new meaning for Britons who followed with affection and pride the press, radio and newsreel accounts of Their Majesties' strenuous and completely successful journey across the Atlantic and on to the shores of the Pacific.

Increasing Cheers

The day, which began with the King and Queen steaming toward Southampton and their young daughters leaving London for a reunion on board the liner, proceeded through unceasing cheers. Millions of their people saw the King and Queen —from docks on countless craft at and near Southampton, from Southampton's packed pavements, around Waterloo station and along the procession route in London.

Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, armed with binoculars and excited beyond words, rode from Portsmouth to the Empress of Britain in the flotilla leader Kempenfelt in a thick fog.

They dashed quickly to their smiling parents. "Hello pappa, hello mummy," they shouted as they quickly kissed the King and Queen.

The fog forced cancellation of plans to have the Empress steam through long lines of the home fleet on her way to her pier at Southampton.

Queen Mary and the other members of the royal family boarded the liner as soon as the gangplank was dropped and greeted the King and Queen with kisses. The happy family group talked animatedly in the lounge for half an hour before the party debarked to receive Southampton's official welcome.

Touched by Welcome

"It's grand to be home again and this welcome has touched us deeply," the King told Mayor C. R. Powdrill.

"The tour has been an absolutely wonderful experience," said the Queen. "It was very impressive but one always looks forward at the end to being home. It was lovely when the children met us today."

Every station between Southampton and London was jammed with people as the special train sped along to Waterloo Station where Prime Minister Chamberlain, other members of his cabinet, the Canadian High Commissioner, Vincent Massey, and the United States Ambassador, Joseph Kennedy expressed their welcome.

Then came the triumphant ride in an open carriage through London. The King and Queen sat at the back of the landau with their daughters facing them.

Solid roars of acclaim came from the gaily decorated streets. The only break in the cheering was when the procession passed the cenotaph. There the King saluted and a deep hush fell.

Outside parliament buildings members of the Lords and Commons were massed to add their voices to the swelling roars. A few minutes before both Houses had unanimously passed motions expressing their delight that Their Majesties scored such a personal triumph across the seas.

Stirling

Stirling — At a recent meeting of the Stirling Horticultural Society held under the direction of the president of the organization. Mr. Fred Houchin plans were set in motion and committee formed for the purpose of again holding a flower show in the Community Service Building. Gaining popularity as the years go by this Annual Flower Show is looked forward to with eagerness by all gardners and lovers of horticulture. Its growth and increasing success is due largely to careful planning and cooperation on the part of the various committee workers responsible for its organization. Among other matters discussed during the meeting was the planting of some English Oak trees and selecting with co-operation of other municipal bodies a place. Two places mentioned were Memorial Park and Coronation Park just at the south entrance to the village on Highway 14; it was hoped that these trees would be accepted as Royal Visit project of the Society.

TWENTY-FIFTH WEDDING ANNIVERSARY HELD

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Lee, William Street, Belleville, were pleasantly surprised recently when some thirty relatives and close friends arrived to celebrate their 25th wedding anniversary. After all had exchanged greetings Mr. and Mrs. Lee received many lovely silver gifts. Mr. and Mrs. Lee thanked all for their thoughtful kindness. Rev. Dr. Semple who addressed the gathering spoke very highly of the part both Mr. and Mrs. Lee take in work of any good cause, especially the church and the Y.M.C.A. and how each share their time, home and their selves for the comfort of others. Alderman Harry Rollins also expressed his pleasure in spending an evening with his relatives and friends on this occasion of the twenty-fifth anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Lee, after which all enjoyed sandwiches, tarts, cake and ice cream.

Home-Grown Charm Often Better Than the Bought Kind

A correspondent has sent me a newspaper clipping concerning the three to eight months' jail sentence of a professional vendor of charm. She wants to know what I think about such fakirs and charlatans, who get money from people by false pretenses.

In addition to vending personality and fascination, the charm expert was arrested for taking five hundred dollars from the mother of a college student, after promising to cure the boy of a suicide complex. "I never had a suicide complex", the boy insisted, and the mother, thinking of all the nice things she could have done with her five hundred dollars, hailed the charm expert into a District of Columbia court, where Justice Jesse C. Adkins sentenced her.

The accused was penitent and said she was "willing to give up my life work forever".

How about home-acquired charm? Every woman, by taking thought, can add several cubits to her charm, even though she can't add a cubit to her stature. A comparatively modern industry is this selling of charm. A generation ago, we never heard of it for sale. A girl had a trait or quality that fascinated, and the observers regarded it as a gift of the gods.

Then the idea of selling charm as a commodity, like milk by the pint, quart or gallon, occurred to many opportunists. Huge fortunes were made and only too often the buyer of charm was left notably charmless, if richer in experience. The arrest of the charm-huckster should make the gullible stop and think.

No doubt about it, everyone can become more attractive by working in her own little garden of charm. It's capable of home cultivation, like the package of seeds you buy at the florist's. Newspapers, which I'm always advising you to read, have columns devoted to charm with some mighty good hints in them too.

Advertising agencies send books and leaflets on charm for a box top or a commercial coupon. And you're likely to get as much from these sources, as from the charm sharks who charge you anywhere from twenty-five to a hundred dollars.

Appearance, for instance. Soap and water is a short cut to daintiness, and there's positive beauty in being dainty. Clothes can be made to look smart with a whisk broom and an iron.

A hairbrush will keep your hair as burnished as a bird's wing. Good models in clothes are inexpensive. You'll be more charming in a sane hat than one which looks deranged. The same goes for shoes. Your silk and rayon undies, gloves and stockings, can all be washed in a basin, and with an occasional trip to the beauty parlor, no woman need be the frump or scarecrow, she was likely to be a generation ago, after first youth had departed.

Take your voice. We North Americans are said to have the most terrible in the world. They are alleged to be harsh, unmusical, strident. But a bad voice, like that much-advertised drawback concerning which "your best friend won't tell you", you may be unaware of. Consult your local superintendent of schools and see if there is not a class in voice training in the Vocational Educational courses. These classes are free.

You can be a good listener and become popular on that one gift alone. Read the papers and see what is going on around you. Learn to dance well, keep your body alert by some form of exercise. You can be reasonably slender by not over-eating, unless there is some physical reason for your poundage.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Golden Rule Covers Question of Donation of Alms

A gracious and straightforward letter in my mail today presents an ever-present problem that is important to all of us:

Dear, Mrs Beeckman:

I work in a large office building. I do not make a large salary, so I can't afford to spend foolishly and negligently.

This is my problem: Every day at least two persons come into my office asking for contributions. What can a person in my position do? I simply can't afford to give something to every one of these people. If I can't give what can I say to them so that I will not feel uneasy?

I know, of course, that I am not the only one who is placed in this embarrassing situation during the course of the day. There must be lots of girls and men who have to face this same problem.

Please consider my problem.

Knowing what to do or what to say in response to the many requests for contributions received in office buildings and in other places is indeed most perplexing.

We all have our personal responsibilities. Most of us have as generous a will-to-give as is compatible with our incomes and responsibilities. Most of us, too, have certain favorite charities to which we contribute annually.

It is our own affair to whom or to what we give, and how much we give. Fortified by this knowledge, we really should not feel any embarrassment or self-consciousness about not giving to itinerant solicitors. If they elect to solicit funds in this way, they should be instantly willing to accept our judgment as to whether or not we wish to give or can give.

That is, I should say, the way we should think and the way the "collectors" should think about this problem. And this is where our manners, gentle or brusque, and their manners, understanding or brusque, enter. What we should do, and, if we are mannerly, what we can and must do, is to be polite and gracious in our manner and words of refusal. The Golden Rule is the best rule here. These solicitors may because of pathetic or even tragic circumstances, be forced to do what they are doing, and our understanding may make us feel, "There, but by the grace of God, go I". Or, if we surmise that they aren't forced to do this, we still have no human right to be brusque. That manner only reflects on us.

So, no matter what the circumstances, our own choice has the right to control what we do. If we wish to give, it's simple. If we don't wish to give, for any reason whatever, we should say our "No thank you" politely, graciously, and, if occasion demands, politely firm. There should be no hesitation, no self-consciousness, no embarrassment. Be fortified by the fact that you are meeting a trying but human situation with as much humanity and grace as possible.

Courtesy Tip

It is atrocious taste . . . and I mean atrocious . . . to send a "ready-made" card, printed or engraved, to express your thanks or to express your sympathy. You should write a note of thanks, a note of sympathy.

HOLLOWAY ST. W. A.

The monthly meeting and "Strawberry tea" of the Holloway St. Woman's Association was held on Thursday afternoon, June 22nd., at the home of Mrs. J. Waddell, Foxboro, with a large attendance.

Mrs. R. E. Newman presided in the absence of the president. The meeting opened by all singing "How firm a Foundation" followed by prayer by Mrs. Newman. Scripture lesson 13th chapter of First Corinthians, was taken by Mrs. Chas. Walters. Minutes of the last meeting were read and approved. Reports of various committees were given and a very inspiring report of the W.A. Convention was given by Mrs. S. J. Sweetnam. A duet "Music of the Waves" by Mrs. E. Hubbs and Mrs. C. MacDonald was very much enjoyed. A reading "Parson Jingle Jaw's Surprise" by Mrs. Christie.

A hearty vote of thanks was tendered Mrs. Waddell and the ladies of Foxboro for their kind hospitality. The meeting closed by all repeating the Mizpah Benediction and a social half hour followed at which the Foxboro ladies served strawberries and cream and dainty refreshments.

WALLBRIDGE W.A.

The June meeting of Wallbridge W.A. was held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Lane. The President Mrs. Lorne Badgley opened the meeting with hymn and prayer.

Letters of thanks were read from Mrs. Joe Longman and Miss Bessie Beatty for flowers that had been sent. It was decided to have a bee to clean the church and have a quilting in the near future. A committee was appointed to put flowers in the church for the month.

Group No. 1 served dinner with forty-two present. The collection amounted to $6.20.

The hostess was thanked for her hospitality.

The president closed the meeting with hymn and prayer.

The Wallbridge W.M.S. June meeting was held at the home of Mrs. Edgar Lane with a large attendance. The President, Mrs. L. Ketcheson, opened a meeting with a hymn and prayer by Mrs. Jim Hinchcliffe.

The treasurer's report was very successful. A letter was sent from Frankford inviting the W.M.S. to attend the 15th anniversary of their organization.

Mrs. G. A. Ketcheson gave a reading on "I must be patient". Scripture was read by Mrs. P. Westover, Mrs. L. Badgley, Mrs. A. Latta and Mrs. H. Ketcheson. Mrs. H. Shorey gave a poem "The greatest thing in life". Mrs. Ken Murray and Mrs. E. Lane were appointed to go to the school of leaders of Bay of Quinte Conference branch to be held at Whitby.

Mrs. James Hinchcliffe took the Temperance talk.

Readings were given by Mrs. Clare, Mrs. Westover, Mrs. Chisholm and Mrs. Latta showing a large increase in the use of liquor. Mrs. Noyes gave a poem on "At Wit's End Corner", which was very interesting. Mrs. R. H. Elliott gave the Study Book. Mrs. Frank Shorey took the worship service opened with the reading of a verse of a hymn and prayer. Mrs. E Lane gave reading "Test our work with certain keys". Meeting closed with hymn and prayer.

WOMAN AGED WITH SCIATICA

Now Praises Kruschen

When sciatica attacked this woman six years ago, she couldn't move without great pain. Treatment after treatment failed to help her. She tried Kruschen and got quick relief.

"Six years ago, I suffered terribly from sciatica," she writes. "I tried everything, but to no avail. Then I took Kruschen Salts. The first few doses gave quick relief. At the end of a few weeks my sciatica had gone. Now I always begin the day with a pinch of Kruschen in a glass of water. I live a strenuous life, being widowed four years ago, and having a son to keep. I run a boarding-house, rise at 6 a.m., and retire at 11 p.m. I am 52, but everyone says I look 32 — thanks to Kruschen Salts."—(Mrs.) F.E.R.

The severe pain which is characteristic of sciatica is often due to needle-pointed uric acid crystals in the sheath of the great sciatic nerve. Two of the ingredient salts in Kruschen dissolve uric acid crystals. Other salts in Kruschen help Nature to expel these dissolved crystals through the natural channels.

Weddings

WICKS—KNIGHT

Peonies, orange blossoms, daisies and ferns were effectively used to adorn the Full Gospel Pentecostal Church, Peterboro, for the wedding at eight o'clock Wednesday evening of Joyce Marie Knight, Deaconess of Point Anne, Ontario, youngest daughter of Mrs. Louise Richardson of Hastings, to Rev. Ernest A. Wicks of Birchcliff, Ont., son of Mrs. Wicks and the late Arthur H. Wicks of Birchcliff. Rev. G. A. Chambers performed the ceremony Mr. Ernest Rupert of Belleville, Ont., played the wedding music on his electric vibraharp, and Mrs. S. H. Wilson of Campbellford sang "O Perfect Love".

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Maxwell Richardson of Torono, and was charmingly gowned in a two-tone orchid dove crepe suit, with white hat and accessories. She carried a nosegay of orchid sweet peas and talisman roses. Miss Gladys Rabble of Picton was the bridal attendant, wearing an orchid two-tone sheer suit with white accessories, and carrying a nosegay of orchid sweet peas and roses.

Mr. Russell Shearer of Port Colborne, Ont., attended the groom, and ushers were Mr. Irwin Hall and Mr. Webster Sage of Peterborough.

After the ceremony a Christian Fellowship program was held in the church auditorium, where presentation of a walnut library desk, a lamp and chair was made to the bride, formerly of the Peterborough Pentecostal church, for which she graciously expressed thanks. Brief remarks were made by Rev. Wicks, Rev. E. Kulbeck, Belleville; Rev. S. O'Brien, Campbellford; and Rev. C. Lynn, Marmora, which were interspersed with sacred music selections.

After a wedding trip to Eastern points, Mr. and Mrs. Wicks will live in Napanee, Ont., where the groom is pastor of the Pentecostal church. For travelling the bride wore a navy suit trimmed with fox fur, and white accessories.

Belleville Writer Has Song Published

Mrs. Gerald N. Spafford, 167 Wellington Street, gifted writer of prose and poetry, has had the lyrics of a song "The Teliscopic Lens" accepted by the Columbian Music Publishers, Ltd., of Toronto. The song has recently been published, the music being composed by a member of the publishing house staff.

The Stars Say

For Saturday, June 24

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A WEEKEND of excitement and much movement, with events of prime importance stirring both the personal and business life, is foretold by an interesting chain of planetary configurations. The business commotion might be in connection with a romantic, social or domestic function of more than usual significance. There are signs of extravagance and excessive outlay, and there is a possibility of opposition from superiors, elders or those in power.

Those whose birthday it is are on the eve of a year of great and stirring events, in both business and private life. New projects of major importance are under fine initiative and creative stimulus but be careful of elders, superiors or promotors. These may offer opposition, as extravagance and large expenditures seem to menace. Possible also are romantic, social or domestic adventures, in which much happiness and gratification figure.

A child born on this day may have a splendid endowment for success and happiness in its personal as well as business career. It may be energetic, and resourceful, as well as gentle, refined and hospitable.

Dare You FACE Old Father Time?

GREER GARSON

Proper care, she knows, avoids facial creases.

By HELEN FOLLETT

WHITE HAIR can be borne with fortitude, but facial creases rip a woman's soul into shreds. She hates them. Even young women should give their complexions fastidious care so that turkey tracks and all their crinkly kin can be avoided. Start early or Pop Time will leave his marks.

What causes the facial coating to sag and take on pleats? Worry late hours, malnutrition, speedy reducing, devastating emotions; so don't let yourself get mad at anybody or anything. The fatty tissues upon which the skin rests go into a state of dissolution and the jig is up. There's only one cure for deep lines—the knife of the plastic surgeon.

If you have observed signs of grooves, then arrange a well-ordered life, plenty of nourishing foods, regular hours for eating and sleeping. Create a good working philosophy that will keep you on good terms with your fellow creatures. Get a jar of massage cream and use it. After the facial scouring every night, have a warm water rinse, a gentle drying, a brisk tapping with creamed fingers.

Sour thoughts bring acid looks; grim faces are the ones that wrinkle. Keep sweet and you will always be young.

Don't overlook the vitalizing effects of a daily ice rub. The best time for that is in the morning, just as the best times for the creamy massage is before the sandman comes.

Beige, cafe au lait and soft greys are among the fashionable colors of the season. All of them drain the complexion of natural rosiness. If you wear these shades, better dig out the old rouge pad.

Place the glow high on your temples, forming a half moon. Low placement of rouge makes the lower part of the face look heavy, doesn't serve as a beauty aid to the eyes.

Should it happen that you're mad at the blush pad, don't like it any more, buy yourself a box of the new flesh-tinted powder that is going strong. It will give life to the complexion.

PLAINFIELD W.M.S.

The June meeting of Plainfield W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. Norman Hall with an attendance of thirty-three. The meeting opened with quiet music and hymn 366. Mrs. J. W. Hamilton who had charge of the devotional period led in prayer and also gave the devotional reading. Mrs. Ralph Wilder sang a solo and passages of Scripture were read by Mrs. Violet Elliott, Mrs. Jack Gow, Mrs. Norman Hall (Jr.), and Mrs. Earl Outwater.

Mrs. Arthur Hall and Mrs. Harry McCreary sang a duet and short prayers were given by Mrs. Clarence Hall, Mrs. Arthur Hall, Mrs. Fred Prindle and Miss Annie Hamilton, after which the Lord's prayer was repeated in unison. Roll call answered with verse containing "treasure".

A very thoughtful gesture was made by Mrs. Absalom Parks when she sent $25.00 to the meeting to have the President, Mrs. Violet Elliott, made a Life Member. The presentation was made by Mrs. Arthur Hall and responded to by Mrs. Elliott.

Mrs. Erle Denyes, group leader took charge and gave a chapter of the Study Book assisted by Mrs. Jack Colden, Miss Nellie Hodgen, Mrs. Harry Harrison, Mrs. Horace Palmer and Mrs. Arthur Hall; a piano solo was given by Miss Olive Hall, an interesting reading by Mrs. Everson and a solo by Miss Nellie Hodgen. Hymn 356 was sung and Mrs. Harry Harrison closed the meeting with prayer.

Collection amounted to $4.11. Mrs. Denyes' group assisted the hostess in serving a delicious lunch and a social half-hour was spent.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Child's Scurvy Testifies to Lack of Parental Care

Scurvy once the great scourge of explorers and sailors, is feared by adults no longer, for we have learned how to prevent it. A disease of young children, today, it occurs between the ages of six and fourteen months, and it is a troublesome disease to treat.

Rarely does it occur in adults because it has been found that certain things in the diet will prevent it. A few generations ago, hundreds of men died of scurvy every year. Sailors and explorers —men who took long trips during which they got no fresh vegetables—were the greatest sufferers. Histories show that in 1535 Jacques Cartier found the disease among his crew when they spent the winter on the St. Lawrence. It was the Indians who gave him the cure——a brew made from the needles and bark of spruce trees.

Cartier wrote about this disease, and what he did to curb it. But it was more than a hundred years later before Lind, a British naval surgeon, discovered that fresh limes had a remarkable curative effect. As a result of his discovery, it become compulsory for every British ship to carry limes, and thus we find the origin of the nickname "limey", applied to British sailors.

These discoveries greatly reduced the number of deaths, but there were still a great number of people who didn't know about these things or who couldn't get fresh limes, so the death rate from scurvy was still high.

In fact, it wasn't until 1823 that scurvy was finally identified as a separate malady. Before that it was just looked on as a sort of general sickness. At that time Sir Thomas Barlow wrote a paper in which he related the illness affecting adults of an inadequate diet to that which frequently occurs in very young children.

Then, for nearly a century, things stood still as far as the cure for scurvy was concerned. Early this century, however investigators found that animals developed scurvy when certain substances were removed from their diet. Finally, in 1929, they managed to isolate Vitamin C the substance which cures the disease. This was a great thing for babies, and today the control of scurvy is relatively simple. Any cases we see today are due to ignorance on the part of the parents.

Scurvy is the name given to a condition characterized by the loss of the cement substance between the cells of the blood vessels. In short, it is nothing more or less than leaky blood vessels. This symptom of bleeding is most characteristic of the malady.

Hemorrhages from scurvy apt to occur anywhere in the body, are more likely to break out where there is some damage or irritation of the part. For instance, when a mother changes a diaper on the baby, she usually picks him up by the feet while she slides the clean diaper under him. This causes pressure on the feet, and as a result that is where babies most often show the first indications of the disease.

JOB PRINTING DEPARTMENT

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

After they had returned to San Francisco, Linda didn't see Bill Blaine right away. After all, he hadn't volunteered to accompany her on the plane dash to Mickey's side. Perhaps he was too stunned by the revelation of her son's existence; perhaps he felt he might be in the way. He telephoned daily, but it was several days before Linda could conveniently find time to see him.

And, in that interim, something happened to provide the final blow to her nearly shattered nerves. And this time it happened to Steve. To Steve, whose hands were always full of somebody else's business, bless him for that!

And it had to be Merry Blaine of all people, who was responsible. Anyone but Merry, as careless as she was carefree, would have seen Steve crouched over his rear license plate, fastening the bolts. Anyone but Merry would have been careful about putting her own car into reverse, instead of mistakenly into second gear, and would have started slowly instead of with a heavy tromp on the accelerator, crashing into the car ahead.

Steve's body was turned sideways and missed the full force of the impact. But his two hands had been caught between the headlight and fender of Merry's car and the rear license frame on which he was working.

Steve's left hand, less seriously crushed, had been impaled by the screwdriver which he held in his right.

His right hand was smashed and lacerated.

It was Merry, crying and somewhat sick, who had Steve taken to her brothers' office from the basement garage. And it was Merry who summoned Linda.

When Linda first saw Steve's face she knew he was badly hurt. When she saw his hands, particularly the right hand, she knew that unless this was saved, the real Steve—the hidden Steve she had grown to know—would die.

Linda, looking with shock-widened eyes at Steve's mangled right hand—the hand on which his whole career, his very life, depended—tottered on an emotional fence.

One little list would have thrown her into an advanced attack of the weeps—in which circumstance she would have been less than useless, to Steve or anyone else. A little more exercise of will, if she could muster it, and she'd be the sure, cool Linda—the nurse whose nerveless efficiency helped save the life of the man on the roof. Ages ago, that seemed now.

The will won out. Linda was all right now. She was all right until she looked from his hands back to Steve's face and saw the hurt reflected there.

CHAPTER TWENTY-FOUR

Linda, looking into Steve's eyes, knew the greatest pain was not that in his hands, but the hurt in his heart. In Steve's eyes she saw reflected the grim knowledge that his dream of becoming a famed architect—of one day creating "My Building"—had been shattered by a young girl's criminal carelessness.

"Oh, STEVE!" Linda cried, DON'T let it hurt you so .It's not that bad....the doctors can...."

She hadn't meant to let go that way—to fling her arm tenderly about Steve's pain-hunched shoulders—to act like a ninny instead of a nurse.

Of course, the narcotic which Dr. Blaine had administered had taken effect by that time. But no analgesic could have soothed Steve's heart and his tortured mind the way that Linda's quick impulsive act had accomplished it.

By the time Bill Blaine had probed and dressed the wound in Steve's left hand, Dr. Renquist had entered and was taking a part in examination of the more grievously injured right hand.

The injury to the left had been minor, by comparison. It was a clean puncture wound, made by the screwdriver, which, fortunately, missed striking any bones .

But the right, the one which Steve needed most—well, that was another matter.

Partly because Dr. Renquist and Miss Gillen, Bill Blaine's office nurse, were present; but more because she didn't want Steve to hear what she had to ask, Linda, in an aside, whispered a question to Bill. The blond head nodded affirmatively and, a moment later, he joined Linda in a small outer office.

"Bill," she asked tensely when he had closed the door, "I MUST know. Can you save his hand....so he can use it freely, work with it, I mean....?"

Dr. Blaine took a cigarette from a pack he had drawn from his pocket and Linda noticed that his hand—the hand which had been so steady under similar circumstances on the roof—was not so steady now.

After a long pause, which Linda thought would never end, as he lighted the cigarette, took a puff, inhaled deeply and exhaled with a huff that signalized relieved tension, Bill looked directly at her.

"It's quite a mess," he said.

"But you can fix it, Bill—YOU can. You're the best bone surgeon in the building...."

"It's not only the bones," Blaine replied, somewhat shortly, Linda thought. "Then tendons are cut.."

"TENDONS?" Linda was near the screaming point, "Tendons can be spliced...."

"Of course," Blaine interrupted, "there's no danger that he'll lose his hand. It's just a question of whether he'll have free and full use of it again. The worst thing is possibility of nerve injury. A good man might be able to fix it as good as new. But whether I'm the man."

"Bill," Linda's voice was sharp now. "You MUST...... you just MUST save that hand!"

Blaine looked at her a long moment before he answered. Then he said very quietly:

"I didn't know Hubbard meant so much to you, Linda. I'll do the very best I can."

Linda wanted to say: It's not what he means to me, it's what his hand means to HIM!

Instead she said: "Thank you, Bill; I knew you would."

"Have them get the emergency ready downstairs, please," Bill directed.

When Linda and Bill returned to the treatment room they found Rennie Renquist and Miss Gillen alone with Steve.

Merry Blaine, they were told, had gone out, upset and nearly frantic; had gone to see if she could find her father in the building.

"She MUST be excited," Bill grunted. "She knew he'd gone out of town...."

"Steve," Linda said, trying to smile. "Dr. Blaine's going to fix your hand—as good as new."

"Swell," Steve said. "Gonna give the boy a good hand, eh?"

And Linda saw that Steve could grin again.

X X X

As Linda rode down to the fourteenth floor in the elevator, to have the emergency operating room prepared for Dr. Blaine's operation upon Steve's hand, she had two men on her mind—Steve Hubbard and Bill Blaine.

At the same moment, thirteen floors below, two other girls had one man on their minds. The girls were Jo and Janice and the man was—well, that's what they wanted to know.

Jo and Janice, returning from a late lunch hour, were unaware of the accident to Steve, and the drama going on thirteen floors above. But they had their own little private drama, mostly mystery.

"I think he's a haunt," Jo remarked behind her hand to her girl friend. "Let's call him the Specter. Someone must have hired him to haunt the building."

"Sssh!" Janice admonished. "He'll hear you."

The object of their attention had piqued the girls' interest for the last three days. Every day, particularly during the noon hour, the man in question was to be seen, seated on the first marble bench in the building lobby, watching all passersby with sly intentness.

He sat there, immobile, moving only his eyes, dressed all in black—slouch hat, suit, and shoes—a cigar jutting from one corner of his mouth. He looked a little sinister.

"Who do you think he is?" Janice asked as they rode up in the elevator. "He acts like he's watching for somebody....or waiting for something."

"Probably a street car," Jo supplied. "I'll ask my boss to investigate."

X X X

The drama upstairs, in the fourteenth floor operating room, of which Jo and Janice had been unaware, was a tense one, indeed. Much more tense than even Linda knew.

In the small operating room there had not been space nor need for Linda. Dr. Blaine and Dr. Renquist had been aided by their own nurse, Miss Gillen, while Linda waited anxiously outside.

Miss Gillen could have told Linda, but didn't, of how Bill Blaine had gone just so far in the surgery upon Steve's hand; had stopped, befuddled, rubbed his gloved hands across his perspiring brow and had said, sickly:

"I....I can't finish it, Ren—take over"

Miss Gillen could have told how Dr. Renquist had started on a job badly bungled, had straightened out Blaine's mistakes, and had swiftly and expertly performed a brilliant piece of surgery ....But Miss Gillen didn't tell.

"Is..is he going to be all right?" Linda asked, rushing up to Blaine as they brought Steve from the operating room.

"Yes,....I think so," Blaine answered, color returning to his blanched face. "We did the best we could."

It was then that Dr. Renquist exploded. It was an explosion long overdue. Behind it was all the pent-up feeling which he had stifled month after month.

"You did what;" Renquist roared. "Why don't you tell her the truth? Why don't you tell her it's no fault of yours that the guy still has a hand? Go on, Dr. Fancypants, TELL HER! You windbag...."

Linda had tried not to collapse throughout the whole ordeal. But when Bill Blaine lashed out with his fist at Renquist, Linda was the one who fell—that old falling, falling sensation....

And the whole room did a blackout.

X X X

"A girl," Jo Monroe was saying, "has a perfect right to faint once in her life. It's a feminine prerogative. Makes the males kid themselves into thinking they're the stronger sex...."

The three girls, Linda, Janice and Jo, were together in the kitchen of the two roommate's small apartment settling life's vital questions over the coffee cups—even as they had done that night when Jo gave Linda the unasked advice to "play smart and play single."

Once again, Jo had launched into an oration:

"What I mean is, if you happened to pass out on your doctor boyfriend, so what? I don't see why you should go around all disconsolate and remorseful with your chin so low you have to step over it to keep it from tripping."

"It's not that," Linda said, "I'm just tired, that's all. One darn thing after another. Mickey's sick scare, Steve's accident, Bill...."

.."Bill," exulted Jo, "I knew you'd get around, sooner or later, to your favorite topic!"

"You hush, Jo!" It was the sharpest they ever had heard Janice speak. Jo's arched brows framed an unspoken question. Linda spoke hers.

"You seem upset when I mention Bill's name, Jan," Linda asked, "Is it because you know him well—better than you've let us see?"

There, it was out! Linda had asked it; that question which spawned from the seed planted in Linda's mind by the idle gossip of "Oriole", the Titan Tower scandalmonger.

"Why NO, Linda," Janice was flushed, "It's not that at ALL, honey. I just get mad when Jo picks on you. If you love the Doctor, that's your business!"

"Then you're not keeping back any secret from Mother?" Jo wanted to know. She was smiling, but Janice wasn't.

"No," Janice said. "You know I'd never keep any secret from you girls, except...." She stopped, and her color rose even higher. "Except one," she finished.

"So....?" Jo said.

"If I loved a man and he had a good reason for wanting to keep it secret I......I wouldn't even tell you."

For once Jo didn't joke. She and Linda let it go at that.

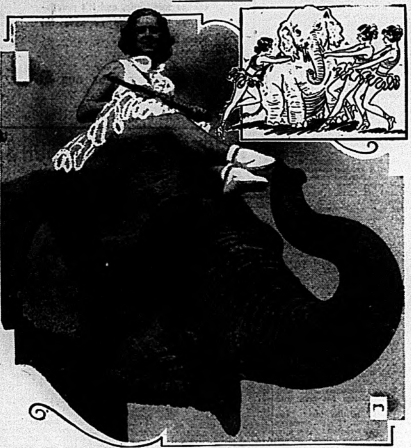
Elephants Helpless; Girl Loves Them



They're only babies, says Nadine St. John, shown above with Triley; big ones easiest to handle

Nadine St. John, charming and beautiful elephant trainer with the Cole Bros. Circus believes the big fellows to be the most intelligent of all dumb animals. Yet they are so big and cumbersome that they are really helpless she says.

From the Ural Mountains of Europe comes Miss St. John, the most youthful of all elephant trainers. All her life she has spent with the circus representing the third generation. Her father before her trained and educated more than 200 of the big fellows.

Here are some facts about elephant lore expounded by Miss St. John:

They eat about 125 pounds of hay every day, almost half a ton a week. What they love best is apples. Big elephants are much easier to work than small ones. The bigger they are the less nervous they are. But little fellows are always scared somebody may attack them.

Only females are used in circus acts. They are better natured and more adaptable.

They are very susceptible to colds and pneuomonia. Even the ladies tend to team in pairs of chums. They become very devoted to each other and are very jealous. In their prime at 30 years of age. They work until eighty, die at a hundred.

Circus people never call them elephants. Even lady elephants are called "bulls".

There are 20 elephants with the Cole Bros. Circus coming to Belleville, Thursday, June 29 for performances at 2 and 8 p.m., the doors will open at 1 and 7 p.m. An immense street parade will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a.m.

BATA PLANS

"It is really a question of applying the existing laws and regulations," the Prime Minister said. He referred to the laws against entry of contract alien labor. But he also observed that exceptions were made when laborers possessing the necessary skill were not available in the Dominion. "It is a matter of discovering whether there are people in Canada able to do this work."

Program Approved

The cabinet approved three-year youth training agreements with eight provinces, which were sent to the provincial governments concerned for their signatures. The agreements provide for continuation and expansion of the Dominion-Provincial youth training program on a new three-year basis. Agreements with all Provinces except Quebec were approved. Quebec has not yet intimated its readiness to accept the Dominion allocation for carrying on youth training.

Mr. Mackenzie King said he would rest as much as possible during the midsummer period but would meet cabinet council at least once a week. He had as a visitor, after council, Lt. Col. J. L. Ralston, former Defence Minister and now member of a Montreal law firm. This revived rumors Col. Ralston, who retired from politics on dissolution of parliament in 1935, might return as Minister of Finance in a pre-election cabinet reorganization.

A Flood of THIRD GRADE GASOLINES Has hit the market

Growing competition with the standard grades was the subject of warm discussion at the meeting which heard and accepted a suggestion from the companies that a third grade gasoline be put on sale by standard dealers to offset what was termed "the menace of increasing lower priced gas sales."

Toronto Daily Star June 9th.

Read above extract from a report of the meeting of the Retail Gasoline and Automobile Dealers' Association.

Don't Be Misled!

"BLUE STAR" is GOOD RICH FIRST GRADE Gasoline. No Third Grade gasolines can hope to compare with "BLUE STAR" in Power, Efficiency or Economy. They are not even made the same way.
So Don't Be Misled. Motorists have learned that IT IS NOT NECESSARY to pay fancy prices for high grade gasoline when they can get powerful . . efficient . . economical . . . FIRST GRADE "BLUE STAR" at 14 8/10c a gallon (plus tax). Save nearly 5c on every gallon of "BLUE STAR" you buy. Get a tankful. Test it. Prove it for yourself.

Costly Errors in the Pinches Force Belleville Intermediates To Accept 8-5 Loss by Napanee

Kelleher, However, Does Fine Relief Hurling in Latter Stages

SLIGHTLY OUTHIT

Three Double Plays by Winners Assist Materially in the Win

Errors of the most costly nature again were chalked up against the Belleville baseball team and proved to be those of the most costly nature as Walt Gerow's Napanee Gibbards handed the local nine their fifth defeat of the season as the Gibbardville nine made merry at the expense of the Belleville miscues to win last night's Bay of Quinte League tussle 8 to 5 on the local diamond.

"Lefty" Weeks went to the hilltop for the locals, and although hit quite hard, the local moundsman was afforded the poorest type of support by his teammates along the left side of the diamond, errors of commission occurring with frequency at short stop while other errors of omission materially helped the visitors in the local left field position. Joe Kelleher was rushed to the hilltop in the role of relief hurler in the fifth inning and gave a fine accounting of his pitching as he literally halted the Gibbards, allowing only four hits and one unearned run from that point in.

Spratt is Used

Stan Spratt, who returned to Napanee from Kingston recently, went to the mound for the Gerowites and although nicked for 11 safeties, Spratt was given airtight support, as the Gibbards played errorless ball, and coupled with three lightning fast double plays, managed to pull out a win, as the Wilkins-led squad began to find Spratt in the latter stages. Spratt whiffed seven as Weeks and Kelleher each struck out four as they split the hurling efforts. Fast accurate fielding on the part of Kinkley and Gerow, with McCutcheon making two sensational defensive plays gave the visitors the edge defensively. Collins led the Belleville team in the field.

Every member of the Napanee nine counted at least one hit except McCutcheon, with Jocko getting a triple and double. Lucas and Curry came through with timely hits also as Napanee counted five doubles. Bill McQuaid with two hits in three tries led the Belleville hitters as Collins, Scott and Weeks had two safeties in four tries. Napanee outhit the locals 12 to 11 in a free hitting contest, that was marred by the poor fielding of the homesters, who committed five bad misplays.

Unearned Run

Napanee got an unearned run in the first, while doubles by Curry and Kinkley gave them another in the third. A walk, an error and two singles gave Gerow's gang three in the fourth, while Lucas and Jocko cuffed doubles to score two in the fourth, while Lucas and run, after Gerow's double, counted the visitors' last run in the ninth.

McQuaid tripled and scored in the second on Scott's single. Jarrell singled and scored on Weeks' double in the sixth while hits by Weeks, Collins and Barriag, interspersed with a brace of sacrifice flies, gave Belleville three in the eighth. A fast double play halted a home town ninth inning rally. The pitching feature of the game was supplied by Kelleher who struck out the side in the seventh and whiffed the first batter in the next frame. Napanee completed three fast and timely double plays to assist their tiring pitcher.

TRENTON LOSES TO CORBYS 12-2

Winning Team Scores Eight Runs in the Eighth Innings

Unleashing a torrid eighth inning attack the Corbys A.C. scored eight runs to beat the Trenton "All-stars" 12 to 2 in an exhibition softball game played at Coleman Flats last evening.

Connie Harris went to the mound for the homesters and blanked the Trenton nine for seven innings, Trenton getting but two hits until the eighth, when they scored their first run and added another in the ninth as Harris dished up six-hit ball.

Davis hurled for the "all-stars" and was nicked for 18 safeties and an even dozen runs. The Barnett-led Corbys scored two runs in the initial frame as Reid, Cole and McMartin hit in succession. The homesters were held scoreless until the seventh, however, when they scored two more on Cole's third hit of the night. Blasting out eight hits including Knott's home run with two aboard, Corbys scored eight runs in the eighth to cinch the piece.

Acker, Long, Heeney, LaMore, Dron and Hicks each counted one hit off Harris' deliveries to account for the visitors' batting. Harris was the only Belleville batsman to go hitless on the night.

The lineups:

Trenton: Moran lf; Acker cf; Long ss; Ellis 2b; Heeney 1b; LaMore c; Dron rf; Hicks 3b and Davis p.

Corby A.C. (Belleville): J. Barriage lf; Cy Barriage ss; Murray 2b; Reid 3b; Cole 1b; McMartin cf; McGuire rf; Knott c and Harris p.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz Associated Press Sports Writer).

Summit, N.J., June 23 (AP) — They are trying to get the jovial Signor Galento irritable and on edge for the fight by beating him at rummy....R. E. Long of Poplar, Mont., sent along a can of spinach with the info that if Tony licks Louis he can have a half interest in the Long Garage....Don't let anybody tell you old two-ton isn't in shape....For Galento, he's in amazing trim....That tremendous stomach is down to also zero, and "Dapper Dan" Darnell, Denver referee, who said, "so Galento is rounding into shape at Madam Bays" was only wise-cracking.

The Niagara Falls Gazette tells you how the local ball club will meet the fight competition:

"As the heavyweight fight between Joe Louis and Tony Galento is scheduled for June 28, arrangements are being made to halt the game for two or three minutes so the spectators may listen to the blow-by-blow account of the affair from the ringside.....Following the knockout the game will proceed."

Red Rolfe, Yankee third sacker, isn't a red, but he writes a column of sports comment for the Daily Worker just for the practice .... This may be telling tales out of school, but Dizzy Dean never had a pair of shoes on until he joined the army in 1927....Here's the Broadway betting situation: Galento backers can get nine slugs from the gamblers for their one. But if you like Louis, you have to lay down 11 to get one....In Jersey, Louis is 1-6, with plenty of potatoes to be had around Newark and the various oranges.

Two other—and richer—American League clubs will be glad to sign Jimmy Dykes to a long-term contract whenever he decides to leave the White Sox....One of them felt him out a year or so back, but it was no soap.

Jimmy Braddock will get $1,500 for refereeing Krieger-Hostak in Seattle June 27....He'll fly to Yakima in time to umpire a ball game the day before and hopes to fly back in time to see Louis and Galento, June 28....Joe DiMaggio says you can quote him that the White Sox are the best and most merciless jockeys in the majors.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

George Selkirk, Yankees: Hit 11th homer of season as New York swept series with White Sox.

Dizzy Dean, Cubs: Pitcher six-hit victory over Bees.

Jack Wilson, Red Sox: Held Browns to six hits for 7-3 triumph.

Ray Muller, Pirates: Batted in four runs in victory over Giants.

Mort Cooper, Cardinals: Pitched five scoreless innings to beat Phillies.

Chubby Dean, Athletics: Sacrificed with bases full in ninth and scored run which beat Tigers.

Jim Bloodworth, Senators: His two doubles driving in two runs paced Washington to victory over Indians.

$185,000 Lemon, Dizzy Dean, Ripens into Real Nifty Fruit As He Hurls 4th Straight Win

Phil Wrigley of the Cubs Likely to Have Last Laugh in Famous Deal

SIX WINS IN ROW

Cubs Now Only Half-Game Away from Giants in Third Place

(By Judson Bailey associated Press Sports Writer).

That $195,000 lemon—meaning pitcher Dizzy Dean—Philip K. Wrigley purchased last year for his Chicago Cubs is beginning to ripen into pretty nifty fruit and possibly the only reason Wrigley has checked his chuckles this long is to make sure his laugh comes last.

At a time when the rest of Chicago's vounted pitching staff has splattered defeats over the National Baseball League, Jerome Herman Dean has confounded his critics by winning four games without a setback.

He held Boston Bees to six hits yesterday as the Cubs won 7-1. They haven't been defeated in their last six games, although tied Monday, and if this seems a puny performance compared with the strings of the Reds, or Giants, or Cardinals, it nevertheless is Cubs' longest undefeated stretch of the season.

Dean started it Sunday and gave it some moral (or oral) support during the week by way of showing, that he is rounding into his old form as a pop-off, too.

Plenty of Help

The Cubs gave ole Diz plenty of help at the plate yesterday, presenting him a five-run start in the second inning when Augie Galan hit a home run with the bases loaded.

The league champions closed the gap between them and the third-place New York Giants to half a game as the Terrymen lost at Pittsburgh 9-8.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals spotted the Phillies five runs in the first four innings and then roused themselves to win 11-5. Mort Cooper got most of the credit for the Red Birds somersaulting to victory, because he pitched five scoreless innings in relieving Lon Warneke and made three hits in three times at bat.

Cincinnati and Brooklyn were idle.

New York Yankees routed Chicago White Sox 6-1 to sweep their ago White Sox 6-1 to sweep their Atley Donald his eighth victory without defeat. The Yankees slugger from Huntsville, Ont., George Selkirk, hit his 11th homer and singled another run across.

Tigers Overcome

Jack Wilson subdued St. Louis Browns on six hits as Boston Red Sox slammed out a 7-3 victory.

Philadelphia Athletics overcame the vaunted Detroit power attack to win 6-5. Three home runs helped the Tigers to take a four-run lead in the first four innings, but the A's caught up in the eighth when catcher Frank Hayes singled with the bases loaded, and pinchhitter Chubby Dean won the game in the ninth on a sacrifice fly with the sacks again filled.

Washington Senators claimed the same kind of a game from Cleveland Indians 8-5. The Tribe got 14 hits, including two home runs, off Harry Kelley, who also was harassed by four errors.

WINGS STEADILY LOSE GROUND IN INTERNATIONAL

Current Nose Dive Lands Them Back Within Half-Game of Giants

BEARS DEFEATED

Champions of Last Year Having Hard Time to Stay in First Division

(By The Associated Press)

It's one thing to take over the International League leadership but something else again to keep it, as Rochester Red Wings have been finding out the past couple of weeks. The Wings gained the lead May 28 from Jersey City and ran their margin up as high as five games before going into the current nose dive which landed them back to within half a game of the second place Giants.

Last night's 17-6 beating the Wings absorbed from Buffalo was the ninth game they have lost in their last 12 starts.

John Grodzicki started on the mound for Rochester and was hardly warmed up before he was removed in favor of Henry Gornicki. The Bisons collected five runs off the pair of them in the first frame, including Jim Oglesby's first homer, and then rested until the fourth when they tallied four more, sending Gornicki to the showers. Elwin Roe assumed the mound duties from there until the seventh and John Wahonick finished, giving up six more runs in the eighth.

Clay Smith was the winning pitcher for the Bisons.

In the only other game played last night, Jersey Giants humbled Newark Bears, 10-6, to push them closer to the .500 mark and the second division. It was the fourth straight defeat for the Bruins.

Hy Vandenberg was credited with the victory his eighth of the year, but he had to relinquish the box to Johnnie Wittig in the seventh, when Newark went on a spree which was good for three runs. Al Glossop was the batting hero for Jersey City, getting a homer and two singles.

Baltimore at Syracuse and Montreal at Toronto were postponed because of rain.

Two-Ton Galento Showing Fine Form Week Before Fight

(By Gayle Talbot Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 23 (AP)—Sports writers should stay away from Tony Galento's training camp before they catch themselves picking the big palooka to knock out Joe Louis for the heavyweight championship next Wednesday night.

There is something about the place that gets a man and it isn't necessarily Madame Bey's home cooking. The Galento of today, five days before the fight, looks like a mean proposition to face in a small ring.

He has worked himself into finer condition than any of the local critics thought possible. That beer stomach of his has almost disappeared and in its place is only a hard bulge that seems to fit in with the rest of his strange physique. Yesterday he fought four tough rounds without blowing, and he was throwing punches every second of the time.

Louis still is a 1 to 9 favorite, and those odds probably are about right. The negro is a great champion by any measure and in the only sane choice in this scrap. But the thing doesn't look so cut-and-dried now and the crowd is likely to get its money's worth.

While it lasts, the fight might produce the wildest, craziest bit of action seen in a ring since Dempsey and Firpo went berserk under the lights. Jim Braddock, the former champion had the same hunch after watching Tony work out yesterday. Jim was impressed, and not for publicity purposes. He seemed reluctant to express such an unpopular opinion. "Tony's got a hell of a chance if he fights Louis like he was fighting today," said Jim.

READY TO TOSS THE RULE BOOK AT PARTICIPANTS

Boxing Commission Bout Will Develop Into "Pier 6 Brawl"

FIGHTERS CALM

Louis Says He Can Throw a Lot of Punches Without Fouling

(By Sid Feder Associated Press Sports Writer).

Pompton Lakes, N.J., June 23—(AP)—The possibility of a "pier 6 brawl" between Joe Louis and Tony Galento in Yankee stadium Wednesday night had the New York State Athletic Commission in such a dither today it was ready to toss the book at the two battlers as a warning.

General John J. Phelan, Commission Chairman, was so irked at reports of a rough and tumble that he waved the entire rule book under the noses of a dozen or so assembled fight writers to prove such a thing can't happen here.

"Why," the General emphasized after putting the official okay on Joe at his training camp here," "if such a thing comes to pass, either or both men can be disqualified."

One section of the rules, devoted to major fouls states the referee "shall disqualify any boxer" for (1) hitting an opponent who is down or is getting up after being down, (2) using the knee, (3) purposely going down without being hit, and (4) "failure to obey the referee; or any physical actions which may injure a contestant except by fair sportsmanlike boxing."

Can Lose a Round

There is another section, under "minor fouls", which penalizes a fighter only with loss of a round for such simple things as holding, back-handling, kidney punching or taking a bite or two out of an opponent's ear.

Neither Louis, who took today off and will wind up training with four rounds of sparring each tomorrow, Sunday and Monday, nor the orange barkeep, Galento) who works out today, Saturday and Sunday, were particularly excited about the General's to-do concerning the rules.

"Y' see this," Tony told the boys at his Summit, N.J., camp, holding out a short thick left arm. "Well, we'll just flatten dat bum with this baby."

"Wha' fo' all the fuss," was Louis' comment. "I ain't gonna do no fouling. We can still throw a lot of tough punches without putting them where they ain't suppose to be."

CORNWALL BISONS GAIN FULL GAME

Defeat Oswego 3-2, While Ottawa Loses to Ogdensburg

(By The Canadian Press)

With clubs from New York State holding all the Canadian-American baseball league's first division berths, the two Canadian entries in the class C circuit—Cornwall Bisons and Ottawa Senators—have been staging steady battle for the top spot in the second section.

Fifth place was Ottawa's today but the Bisons, coming along fast after a shaky start, were only a half-game behind. They've climbed from last to sixth in the past three weeks and a pair of victories in a three-game series with Senators earlier this week helped the cause.

Cornwall gained another full game on Ottawa yesterday when they snared a 3-2 home decision from Oswego Netherlands while Senators were losing 6-2, to Ogdensburg Colts. Al Tarlecki drove in the Bisons' winning tally with two out in the 10th and the count knotted at 2-2.

At Ottawa meanwhile, southpaw Ed Lauer scattered nine hits to keep Senators under control while Ogdensburg belted 11 off Walter Zwatty. Leading 2-1 in the eighth, Colts rallied for four runs that clinched the verdict.

In the top division, third-place Ogdensburg Colts and fourth-place Rome Colonels both gained full games on the pace-setting Amsterdam Rugmakers. Rome did the damage, travelling to Amsterdam for a 7-4 victory that halted Rugmakers' winning streak at eight straight.

At Gloversville, the cellar-dwelling Utica Braves fell, 7-5, before the hometown Glovers. Outhit 14-8, Glovers came through with timely blows.

Between the Lines

It must be tough to manage a team like the New York Yankees. One really should sympathize with Marse Joe McCarthy in his trials and tribualtions. Just imagine all McCarthy has to work with is six or seven starting pitchers, seven or eight .333 hitters and a bench loaded with players equally as good as the regulars. Yes, it must keep Skipper Joe lying awake nights trying to figure out which .300 hitter to bench when Joe DiMaggio is ready to return to the lineup. Recently Oscar Vitt, of the Indians, in reply to the New York sports writers was quoted as saying — "Don't pity me, McCarthy with that band of prima donnas of his needs sympathy, why he's worrying himself sick trying to figure out how to give each player a slice of the Yankee's schedule without making bad friends. However, Johnny Allen, Cleveland hurling ace boasts of another angle. "The Yankees have been pumped up and ballyhooed so much by the newspapers that the other teams have a mental hazard when they face them," says Allen. It looks as though those Yankee bats are much more than mental hazards.

Jimmy Powers, of the New York Daily News observes: "I think too many umpires have become careless. They call many plays automatically and ignore certain rules," to which we add a loud 'amen.' Adding to this, Dan Daniel, writing in the St. Louis Sporting News recently had some excellent advice to the arbiters recently and says: "The Hard-Working Umpire—He is not loaded with grandstand gestures. He has no chip on his shoulder, nor does he carry an unconscious dislike for the town or the team. He does not believe that any man in that crowd has come out to see him umpire. He realizes always that the customers have paid to see the players, and that showing authority by throwing a player out of the game often is mental defense mechanism against poor umpiring. He is always on the job, he never looks bored with the pastime, he is alert and hard-working."

The other day Bob Feller developed a sore spot on his right thumb, pitching a losing game. Newspapermen asked him about it. "Oh, forget about it," pleaded Bob. "They'll think I'm trying to alibi"....Paul Waner's eyes are reported to be backing up.

Edgar (Chi.-Herald and Examiner) Munzel observes that "they ought to present Connie Mack with a scoreboard equipped with a neon sign for night signalling."

Again last night the Belleville intermediates kicked the gong around for five errors and dropped another Quinte loop game to the Napanee Gibbards 8-5. Walt Gerow's charges did pound out some lusty hits, but many of them should have been fielded with ease and we sympathize with the local hurling staff, but such is the lot of playing with a tough luck losing nine. It was not only the errors of commission that hurt, but those of omission were equally as bad, while on the other hand Walter Gerow's charges were playing errorless ball and giving Spratt, their prodigal hurler, airtight support with three rapid-fire double plays for good measure The loss was the locals' fifth in six starts and each time errors or poor playing on their own part was directly responsible for Belleville's reverses.

We were gratified to see Joe Kelleher's neat relief hurling efforts. Kelleher halted the Gibbards practically in their tracks and the lone run chalked against him was an unearned counter. Weeks was hit quite hard early in the piece but it was more the poor defensive work of the locals than anything else that led to Weeks' removal. Incidentally once out of the box and in the field Weeks came through with two timely hits, which proves he can hit when not troubled with the worries of pitching in front of a Belleville infield. Walter Gerow's team played sterling defensive ball and especially of note were the three timely double plays they kicked through with in the clutches.

Walt Gerow informs us the Picton team are hoping Belleville does not finish in a play-off position. "We can beat Napanee or the Air Force without trouble, but that Belleville outfit is too tough for us," lamented Ron Church to Gerow this week, which proves the locals must have something besides errors to their account. Incidentally 63 paid admission last night, five times as many as the previous game, but the patrons became indignant when the game was late in starting. Here again we might add that the local pitchers did not get sufficient warming up before the game. If the players want the fans to become interested in their baseball team, they themselves must show some of that go-getting initiative before the fans eyes.

The calibre of softball played in the Belleville City League is perhaps the best between Toronto and Kingston, as can be shown in the decisive manner in which the local softball teams vanquish outsiders in exhibition games. Last night a "picked team", selected from all of the clubs in the Trenton League, came to town and for seven innings gave Chuck Barnett's Corbys A.C. some worthy opposition, but suddenly those potent Corby bats, that have not been speaking any too vicious this season, found vent and as the Corbys batted around the line-up in the eighth, eight runs were scored and the locals won 12 to 2. Connie Harris hurled six hit mushball to win with ease. The battle for last place is on tonight with Dracups and the Juniors clashing.

Did You Know That— George Selkirk hit his 11th homer as the Yankees won yesterday....Dizzy Dean can pitch as good a game as he talks; latest effort a six-hitter won 7-1 by Dean yesterday over the Bees....It was Dean's fourth win of the season....The Yankees are planning a "Lou Gehrig Day" in honor of the old "iron horse" and to show appreciation of his untiring efforts for 14 consecutive year's service. Bob Pastor is now rated as No. 2 heavyweight contender by the N.Y. commish; and if he's still got his bicycle, he'll remain in the 'challenger class' only....The Chicago White Sox joined ever-increasing major league clubs sponsoring night baseball under the arcs....More than 700 floodlights will light Comiskey Park and Chicago will be the sith major league park to accept the inevitable....If Galento can hit Louis as hard as the publicity boys are beating their drums before the fight, he might have a chance.

Missing Boy Found Sleeping in Old Shed

Bannockburn, Ont. June 23 (Special) — Blissfully unaware that his absence had caused a furore among relatives and neighbors, three-year-old Ephraim Riley, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Riley, lay peacefully sleeping in an old shed yesterday, while a large posse of men scoured nearby woods, swamps and streams in an effort to locate the missing boy.

The small boy had left home early yesterday ostensibly to pick strawberries, and when he did not return last evening a search was hurriedly organized. Buildings of the neighborhood, streams, marshy swamps and woods were thoroughly combed by fifty determined men who doubled their efforts in an attempt to find the youngster before dark.

The building in which Ephraim lay dreaming of swimming pools and other boyish delights was carefully searched, but the rescuers omitted to look behind a pile of straw and rubbish behind which the boy lay asleep.

And it was not until a twelve-year old sister, Myrtle climbed over the rubbish, just as the sun was sinking over the western horizon, that "Eph" was discovered.

TEXT OF SPEECH

the pages of history but which of us has not found that history and Geography, too, never really live for us until we travel?

I was deeply impressed, for example, to find our great political testament, the Magna Carta, an object of keen public interest in the World's Fair at New York, and at every turn of my long journey it was constantly brought home to me how closely interwoven are the threads of our own history with those of the development of that newer continent across the sea.

Exact Replica

Especially was this clear in Canada. Were you, my Lord Mayor, to find yourself in the city hall of Vancouver, you would see there on the coast of the Pacific ocean some 6,000 miles from this Guildhall an exact replica of the Mace which in this old city of London is the symbol of your civic authority. The sight would stir the imagination of any man, who holds your high and ancient office. So it was with me.

In Canada I saw everywhere not only the mere symbol of the British Crown. I saw also, flourishing as strongly as they do here, institutions which have developed century after century beneath the aegis of the Crown: institutions British in origin, British in their slow and almost casual growth, which, because they are grounded root and branch on British faith in liberty and justice, mean more to us even than the splendor of our history or the glories of our English tongue.

The King Plays Part in Canada

To see them thus vigorous on Canadian soil could not but be a source of pride to me, and I counted it a high privilege to be the first of my line to play some personal part in giving them practical effect.

In person I presided over the Canadian Parliament at Ottawa and assented to legislation. In person I received the credentials of the New Minister of Canada's great and friendly neighbor, the United States. In person I signed the trade treaty between the two countries.

And even in the loyal enthusiasm shown to the Queen and myself by hundreds of thousands of my Canadian subjects, young and old, I thought I detected too the influence of those institutions.

Thankfulness For Free Citizenship

For it was not alone the actual presence of their King and Queen that made them open their hearts to us. Their welcome, it seemed to me, was also an expression of their thankfulness for those rights of free citizenship which are the heritage of every member of our great commonweath of nations.

It was the desire to serve the ideals of that commonwealth which led me to undertake my journey, to foster its sane and wholesome faith; to show, if I could, that its headship, which I have been called upon to assume, exists today as a potent force for promoting peace and goodwill among mankind. These were the objects that I and the Queen set out to fulfill. It will be a source of thankfulness to us all our lives long if we have in some sort succeeded.

ORDER INQUEST IN BOY'S DEATH

Dr. E.R. Frankish Completes Post-Mortem and Gives Report to Attorney-Geeneral

Fort Erie, Ont., June 23—(CP)—Coroner Dr. H. L. Butters of Fort Erie said today no inquest will be held in connection with the death of 12-year-old Henry Doto of Buffalo, N.Y., until the official findings of Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico legal expert of the Ontario Government are ready to present in writing to a jury.

Dr. Frankish conducted a post-mortem last night following which the remains were released to Doto's parents for burial in Buffalo.

Dr. Frankish indicated he would not make his written report until he has communicated the information obtained to the Attorney General's Department in Toronto. Probable date for an inquest is believed Monday.

Inspector Albert Ward of the Provincial Police today enlisted the co-operation of the Buffalo Detective Bureau in regard to all facts relative to the record of Stewart Nighswander, 25, held in Welland county jail on a charge of attempted suicide. All activities in the case centred on the Buffalo angles today.

Fingerprints on articles found near the spot where young Doto's body was discovered by Officer Traverse Matthews of Fort Erie police early yesterday morning are under examination.

WHEAT IS DROPPED FROM A.-A. DEAL

Agreement Reached Calling for Exchange of Rubber and Cotton on Barter Basis

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 23—(CP Cable)—Wheat has been dropped from the Anglo-American barter deal as a result of protests from the Canadian Government.

Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons that an agreement had been reached between London and Washington on an exchange of cotton for rubber. Papers were to be signed later today.

The Minister's statement made no mention of wheat and officials of the Board of Trade said the present agreement did not include it.

MOUNTAIN VIEW TEAM VICTORIOUS

Rednersville Given a Shellacking by Hill Top Squad in Softball Contest

Rednersville, June 23 (Special)—Committing enough errors to lose a dozen games the orange and black, from Rednersville took a shelalcking to the tune of 20-2 from their Mountain View rivals in a regular feature of the Consecon softball league.

Minaker on the mound for the Hilltop boys allowed only five hits to the Quinte crew and issued two free tickets. Rednersville got their first runs in the fourth when G. Thompson doubled to left centre and scored on Ward's hit. Ward scored when Snell hit safely for their only other tally.

Mountain View batted once around in the first, scored six runs on five hits and two errors. They tallied nine in the second, third or fourth frames but started a rally in the fifth to drive across eleven runs on eight hits. The Quinte crew blew wide open making six errors before the side was retired. In the final frame they pushed three more across on four hits. Dempsey on the mound for Rednersville seemed ineffective at times. He struck out two but gave three free passes.

The Quinte boys' outfield at times looked woefully weak looking more like a rugby team than softball players. Tanner on short for Rednersville collided with Dawson and came out second best when they both attempted to take a fly.

The win for Mountain View gives them undisputed possession of first place with Consecon in second, Rednersville in third and Ameliasburg in the cellar. With Rednersville visiting Mountain View again at the latter's diamond unless the Quinte crew improve should see the hilltop boys firmly entrenched on the top.

The lineup:

Mountain View: Barber 1b; Black ss; Jones 2b; E. Moy 3b; Mumby cf; Wilson c; C. Moy lf; G. Minaker rf; D. Minaker p.

Rednersville: B. Thompson cf; Sarley 2b; Farley 1b; Dawson lf; G. Thompson c; Dempsey p; Ward rf; Snell ss; Garbutt 3b.

Supper at Lucy's

By BETTY NEWTON

As usual at a quarter to six bedlam reigned in the Bangs kitchen; in the Lucy and Tom Bangs' kitchen; that is—a mile away peace and quite and orderliness reigned as truly in the Lucille and J. Sterling Bangs' kitchen.

Lucy was basting the meat loaf and cheerfully shouting directions to her children above the noise from the radio.

"Sam called Lucy, "run down cellar and get a jar of those big pickled peaches in the right-hand corner of the shelf and bring up a couple of logs for the fireplace. I think it's getting colder and an open fire would be cheerful. Mary, get me the gravy boat and then go wash sister's face and hands and when you come back look over the table to see that I've got everything on, and—"

The telephone. Lucy, with the four children following her, hurried into the living room. "I hope it isn't daddy saying he won't be home," she voiced their thoughts as she took off the receiver. But, "Oh, hello, Lucille," she said reassuringly. "How are you today?" She flushed with annoyance at her trite remark but she could never think just what to say to her rather superior sister-in-law. Then, "Why, of course, Lucille. We'd just love to have you."

Clamor greeted her as she hung up the receiver. "Keep quiet," she said. "Aunt Lucille's coming for supper. I know—it's awful, isn't it? But we'll all have to spruce up a little. Sam, tie Tom's necktie for him—get him a fresh one. And everybody hurry."

And back she went to the kitchen straightening a chair here and a rug there in the cheerful living room that, she knew Lucille thought lacked both style and neatness. Well, she thought, perhaps they did. But they were comfortable and the family all loved them. But she hated having Lucille come there. She was always critical. Lucy didn't think she made Jack Bangs happy—Sterling, as she called him. He was, like his brother Tom, a simple man whose tastes ran to comfort and plenty rather than to style and formality. He adored his one child, the ten-year-old Thomas, whom Lucy's children held in high contempt because of the always white state of his fingernails, the always shining spotlessness of his shoes and various other, to them, unnecessary habits of tidiness and dignity. Lucille's visits weren't popular with Lucy.

The children were in the living room, in fairly orderly array, with Lucy, ten minutes later when Lucille arrived, and they greeted her politely enough. Then Lucy took her to the kitchen.

"Here, Lucille," she said, "Put on this apron and chop this parsley for me."

Lucille's usually critical eye was slightly misty as she took the apron, the bowl, the chopper, "Lucy," she said, "I hope you don't mind my inviting myself tonight—but I was so lonely. Sterling telephoned he couldn't get home. And Thomas—he telephoned too and said he was with his father. Thomas and I had an awful row today. He's ten, and —Lucy, maybe I don't know how to manage him."

"What was the trouble?" asked Lucy, whipping cream.

"His shoes. He tracked in mud this noon. He's such a good boy, you know—he never does. I scolded him, and—Lucy, he said he wished he lived here, where mud tracks weren't such a gosh-awful sin."

Lucy's heart jumped—with happiness. It was right she thought quickly and rather, selfishly, to make the house the sort of place theirs was. But she was full of sympathy with Lucille as she turned and saw tears brimming her eyes. "So," went on Lucille, "later I felt sorry for Thomas, and took him down to his rather's office for a treat—and they're not coming home for supper. I'm lonesome."

"Well," Lucy said carefully, "I'm glad you came over. And it oughtn't to be hard to get Thomas happy again."

A breath of cold air, shouts—and Tom was home. He came into the kitchen, stopped still at the door.

"Hello" Lucy," he said. "And Lucille nice to see you." He shook hands nervously motioning to Lucy that he was in trouble. Then he made the best of it. "Awfully nice of you, Lucille. I—met Jack—Sterling—and your young Thomas on my way home and asked them to come along—" He floundered. He couldn't explain that Sterling had telephoned him for advice, that the two brothers had had a conference about mud marks on clean floors—and other things—that Tom had asked the two to come home for supper, depending on Lucy's advice to set things straight. "I telephoned you, Lucy, a few minutes ago, but I got a busy signal—and I knew you wouldn't mind. Awfully nice, to have Lucille, too." And Tom made his escape.

There wasn't much need for Lucy's advice. Things straightened themselves out, once the awkwardness of the meeting was over. It seemed to be a new Lucille—or a Lucille who saw certain matters of household orderliness with a new eye. And young Thomas soon lost the sense of constraint that had been with him when he arrived. His four noisy, natural cousins made that an easy matter.

The happy meeting, Lucille called it later on in her rather romantic way.

Little Benny's Note Book

This morning I woke up and had a idea, thinking, G, I wonder how pop and ma would feel if jumped up and quick got dressed before they started to call me, bet they'd be so surprised they'd want to give me a medle or somthing.

Sounding like a swell surprise, and I hurry up jumped out of bed and got dressed like lightning, and I was just tying my other shoelace and pop started to go passed my door without saying anything, and I yelled, High, pop, good morning.

Proving I was up already, and pop said Good morning to you, I'm sure.

Me thinking, I bet he's just pretending not to notice anything, I bet he's just leaving on, he cant fool me.

And I started to put on my necktie, being the last thing, and ma looked in the door, saying, Good morning, Benny, have you lost that cold you seemed to be getting?

Sure, ma, gosh, I wasn't even getting it, I said. Hay ma, do you notice anything unusual? I said, and she said, Why yes, your room really looks comparatively tidy, now for goodness sakes please try to keep it that way.

And she kept on going, me thinking, Aw heck, G roosalem good night what's a use?

And I layed down again in diskust and the next thing I knew I was dreaming I was hanging out the window by my hands waving like a flag, and there was a big crowd down in the street cheering and saluting as if I really was a flag, and a big wind came up and waved me so hard I could hardly hold on, and I woke up and it was pop and ma both shaking me and asking me what the idea was.

Me not telling them.

County Court

Legal arguments, as to the point of law and the validity of township bylaws, were argued by counsel in County Police Court, held before Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C. today, when Arthur Baragar, proprietor of the pavilion at Oak Lake appeared on two charges, one of selling confections and ice cream on Sunday and the other of permitting dancing between the hours of midnight Sunday and 8.00 a.m. Monday.

Charles A. Payne, K.C. appeared on behalf of the accused man and argued as to the validity of the latter township bylaw, holding that only the Federal Government could regulate the hours pertaining to the Lord's Day. Baragar was charged with "being a merchant did carry on business on Sunday contrary to the Consolidated Statutes of Upper Canada while the charge of permitting dancing was laid under the Sidney Township bylaws.

No evidence was heard, the defence admitting the facts as charged and only legal arguments being advanced, both counsel making many references to law records in citing their case. Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C. held that the scope of the township bylaw was lawful and binding. His Worship heard all arguments and subsequently reserved his judgment for one week. Only legal arguments were heard.

Clarence Bebee, 17, of this county, appeared on a charge of permitting a licence plate number to be used upon a motor car for which the plate was not issued. Bebee stated the licence plate was removed without his knowledge. Mr. C. Butler appeared on behalf of the accused while Mr. Donnan conducted the prosecution. During the period of cross examination, however, Bebee admitted he had seen his licence plates on a car owned by one "Tommy" Thompson, a friend of Bebee's and he (Bebee) had not attempted to remove the plates. Judgment was reserved.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 23—(CP)— Toronto Exchange had a dull day in trading today. Aunor, only bright spot, moved up to a new high at 2.67, showing a gain of 13 cents. Other issues of the secondary gold group showed slightly firmer bids. All groups except the golds boarded moderate losses.

Along with Aunor, MacLeod-Cockshutt, Hollinger, Pickle Crow and Preston firmed narrowly. Base metals were inclined to recover their morning losses and in the industrials trading continued dull. Prices were moderately off for steels and foods. Senior oils and utilities were generally firm.

Bids were off for the western oils.

WALL STREET

New York, June 23.—(AP) — Traders puttered around in the Stock Market today, gave an assortment of favorites a mild upward push and generally permitted leaders to linger behind small minus signs.

The gloom was thick in commission houses as volume failed to pick up either way. Near the fourth hour prices were only fractionally mixed.

Stocks inclined to lag included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, General Motors, U. S. Rubber, North American, Anaconda, Phelps Dodge, Westinghouse, U. S. Gypsum, Sears Roebuck, Santa Fe and Standard Oil of N.J.

Support was accorded Great Northern, Manhattan Railway, Youngstown Sheet, Spicer Mfg., American Radiator, Industrial Rayon, Sperry, Allied Chemical and United Aircraft.

Distillers fell back a major fraction in the Canadian group while Lake Shore edged forward. Most others were neglected. Dominion 4s shaded lower.

Prime Minister King's Message To Lord Mayor

London, June 23—(CP)— Sir Frank Bowater, Lord Mayor of London, read the following cable from Prime Minister Mackenzie King at today's Guildhall luncheon:

"The citizens of Canada desire to join with the citizens of London and indeed with all parts of the British Empire in rejoicing upon the safe return of the King and Queen after the voyage of Their Majesties across the Atlantic and their visit to the New World.

"At no time has such a welcome been accorded a reigning sovereign as that which marked the progress of King George and Queen Elizabeth across Canada and Their Majesties' visits to the United States and Newfoundland.

"In the personalities and purpose of the King and Queen the people of the countries visited have found an expression of the ideals which they hold in common and which they long to see prevail.

"It will be the prayer of one and all that Their Majesties may long be spared to further among men and nations the understanding, friendship and goodwill which with such evident sincerity they everywhere manifested and on which more than all else depends well-being throughout the world."

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 23—(CP)—A steady tone prevailed on reporting bacon-hog markets today. Peterborough prices advanced 10-15 cents and Stratford dressed-weights gained 20 cents. Other markets were unchanged.

Liveweights: Brantford $8.65; Hull $9; Peterborough $9.

Dressedweights: Barrie $12; Hamilton $12.15; Hull $12.35; Peterborough $11.90; Stratford $11.85.

GRAND LODGE TO SELL HOME

I.O.O.F. Agents Will Plan for Smaller Home, Perhaps Outside Toronto

Hamilton, Ont., June 23 (CP)— Grand Lodge of Ontario, Independent Order of Oddfellows, in session here for its 84th annual convention today decided to dispose of its home for aged and indigent members and orphans located at Toronto. When authority was given to the Advisory Council and the Home Committee to seek a purchaser for the institution a stipulation was appended requiring those agents to plan for another smaller home, perhaps elsewhere in the province.

An attempt to get the present legislation through Grand Lodge was made last year but it was defeated as there was a belief that the aim was to discontinue operation of a home.

Arguments advanced in support of the move were largely based upon the financial position in which the order finds itself in trying to maintain a building which is entirely too large for present and future needs.

To the Council and Home Committee went an injunction that the home is not to be sold at a sacrifice merely to satisfy the need for a smaller place. As a consequence it may be several years before a sale is finally affected.

Installation of officers elected at yesterday's session and those subsequently named to appointed places will be one of the final acts of the Grand Lodge session this afternoon.

Officers

The complete list of officers follows: J. M. Parker, Niagara Falls, Grand Master; Charles Iredale, Preston, Deputy Grand Master; P. V. Ibbetson, Port Arthur, Grand Warden; William Brooks, Toronto, Grand Secretary; N. J. M. Lockhart, St. Catharines, Grand Treasurer; A. O. Fleming, Carleton Place and A. S. Rennie, Tillsonburg, Home Trustees. Those appointed were: Andrew Upcott, Ruthven, Grand Marshal; W. A. Code, Niagara Falls, Grand Conductor; L. R. Hume, North Bay, Grand Guardian; W. Constable, Peterborough, Grand Messenger; James Wright, Jun., Hamilton, Grand Herald and Rev. A. E. Hopper, Shadden, Grand Chaplain.

Commons Thanked For Splendid Welcome To King George

London, June 23—(CP)— R. V. Grimston, M. P., Vice-Chairman of the Royal household, today brought to the House of Commons a message from the King in reply to the address tendered yesterday upon Their Majesties' return. The message follows:—

"I thank you sincerely for your address and for your loyal and affectionate greeting on the return of the Queen and myself from our journey, in the course of which we have in turn visited Canada, the United States and Newfoundland.

"We will always remember the wonderful and inspiring welcome which we received from our subjects in Canada and Newfoundland and the kindness and genuine friendliness of the people of the United States. We have been greatly touched by the warmth of our reception on our return to this country."

King George Holds Privy Council

London, June 23—(CP)— One of the King's first official acts after his return home was to hold a Privy Council today at Buckingham Palace, where he approved three orders-in-council issued under the Military Training Act and the Auxiliary and Reserve Forces Act.

His Majesty was up early and transacted other official business before holding the Privy Council. Those present were Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, Viscount Runciman, the Marquess of Londonderry and Rt Hon. Ernest Brown, James Stuart, Government Whip, and Herwald Ramsbotham, New First Commissioner of Works, were sworn in as members of the Privy Council.

SIXTY MEN AT WORK FOR SAWYER-STOLL CO.

Sixty men, most of whom have been recruited from the immediate district are now at work in the mill of the Sawyer-Stoll Lumber Company which commenced operations near Cloyne last week. This week Mr. Stoll of the parent company, Escanaba, Michigan, paid a visit of inspection to the mill and property.

CHEESE BOARD

A premium of three eighths of a cent a pound was paid on eighty colored cheese offered on the regular trading of the Belleville Cheese Board last evening.

A total of 3291 white, 80 colored and 192 assorted cheese were boarded. Colored sold at 13 3-8 cents; the white and assorted at 13 cents. Initial bid was 12 1-2 cents and bidding was brisk to the 13 cent figure.

Buying was among Mr. McCreary; Mr. Cook; Mr. Morton; Mr. Murphy; Mr. Fraleigh and Mr. Hart.

Buyers present were Messrs. Taylor; Hart; McCreary; Cook; Morton; Fraleigh and Murphy.

Graded Eggs Improve While Butter Steady

Toronto, June 23—Slight improvement occurred in graded eggs, while butter held former levels on the Toronto open produce market Thursday, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Lighter receipts and better enquiry, particularly for top grades, gave a firmer undertone to the egg market. The graded section showed higher prices as offerings cleared well, but other divisions remained at previous rates. Ordinary lots of graded eggs traded at 19½c for grade A-large, 17½c for medium, 15½c for B's and 14½c for C grades. Government inspected lots in new cases sold at ½c to 1c per dozen above these figures.

Offerings met ready absorption under fair demand on the butter market, and prices held firm at former levels. Receipts were on the light side, with holders not pressing sales. Ontario creamery solids turned over at 22c for No. 1 grades and 21¼c for 38 score. Prints sold at 23c to 23¼c for top grades.

Montreal, June 23—Butter, egg and potato prices strengthened on open produce markets here yesterday, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 22c to 22¼c. Receipts 564 boxes.

Ontario white cheese was offered at 12⅞c a pound and colored at 13c. Quebec white traded for 12⅝ cents and colored for 12¾c. Receipts 2182 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 20½c to 21c a dozen for A-large, 18c for A-medium, 16 to 16½c for B-large, 14 to 14½c for C. Receipts 1549 cases.

SIAM'S NEW NAME IS 'LAND OF THE THAI'

Washington, June 23.—(AP) — The Siamese government has notified the statement that it is changing the name of Siam to one signifying "The Land of the Thai".

"Thai" (pronounced like Tie) is what the Siamese call themselves. They use the name Siam only in speaking to foreigners. the new name takes effect today. The full name must be worked out by the Siamese Assembly but it will embrace the termination "Thai".

Field Day Held

W. R. Reek, Deputy Minister of Agriculture, was the chief speaker at the field day held at the farm of Fred Hubbs, Bloomfield, yesterday, sponsored by the Prince Edward County Holstein Breeders' Club, of which Sam Dodds is president. Despite the inclement weather for part of the day there was a large attendance. Mr. Hubbs' fine herd of dairy cattle was inspected in the morning, and at the noon hour basket lunches were enjoyed.

R. M. Holtby of Port Perry, who is fieldman for the Holstein Breeders, gave an address in which he told of the plan for black and white days at fairs. These have been held at several and have proved very successful. One is to be held at Picton Fair in September. In this plan, the graded prize money is done away with and all prizes are $2.00 cash, whether the animal places first or last. This is really expense money, said Mr. Holtby, but results in a larger entry and does much to encourage the breed.

Welcomes were extended to the visitors from Prince Edward, Lennox and Addington, Hastings and Northumberland Counties, by Fred Hubbs who is president of the Canadian Holstein Association, and Roy Ketcheson, Warden of Prince Edward County. F. J. Webster, agricultural representative for the county, also took part in the demonstrations which were held during the afternoon.

Win Exhibition

Dracup's Tiremen of Belleville played an exhibition game of softball with the local Dominion Store Tuesday evening, winning 14-0. The locals were unable to solve the deliveries of pitcher Dracup. Grimmon was on the mound for the locals.

County Council at its June session passed a motion asking the Department of Highways to start work on Highway 41, from Picton to Green Point, to give employment. This road was taken over at election time but no work has been done on it.

Fete Aids Hospital

The annual summer fete in aid of Prince Edward County hospital yesterday afternoon was a splendid success, with more than three hundred ladies attending despite inclement weather during the early part of the afternoon. Strings of pennants and an abundance of flowers were used in decoration. During the afternoon, there was a fashion show, with summer dresses being modelled by Mrs. George Wallace, Misses Kathryn Hadden, Dorothy Learie and Orlean Channell.

Afternoon tea was served at quartette tables, with Mrs. George Hadden as convener, and there were forty tables of bridge in play. Mrs. C. A. Publow and Mrs. I. P. Fraser were in charge of the flower booth where there was an abundance of fragrant summer flowers. The home cooking was in charge of Mrs. O. A. Burley and Mrs. D. P. Van Dusen, while the white elephant table was convened by Mrs. T. Trebilcock and Mrs. C. D. Wilson. Candy found a ready sale under the direction of Mrs. F. H. Minaker, Mrs. Beckwith, Mrs. E. L. Bronskill and Mrs. J. G. Enns.

Miss Beatrice Jones of Rednersville read tea cups. Among those who poured tea at the refreshment hour were Mrs. John Goodwin, Mrs. J. B. Creeggan, Mrs. M. E. R. Boudreau, Mrs. C. H. McGibbon, and Miss Cassie Bradley. Wm. Smith, Marion Rodway, Colin Carter won $5, $3 and $2, respectively as a result of a draw which netted $104.

The many guests were welcomed by Mrs. C. D. McCullough of Wellington, president of the Women's Hospital Auxiliary, and Miss Mabel Grindrod, superintendent of the County hospital.

The W. H. A. were assisted on this occasion by the County Women's Institutes and various organizations of the town.

Unemployed Flock To Frankford in Hope of Finding Work

Unemployed men from many sections of the Province and Dominion have been flocking to Frankford district following the first release of news of the intention of the Bata Shoe Company to locate there if permission is given key men of the company to enter Canada from Czecho-Slovakia, and authorities of the village have been worried over the influx.

Some of the weary hitchhikers have offered to work on district farms for merely board and lodging during the period of waiting, and farmers declare themselves overrun with applicants for work without wages.

Other hopeful hikers have been passing through Belleville lately en route to Kingston where they hope to receive work on the contemplated construction of a factory for the Aluminum Company of Canada which is to locate in that district.

Hunt for Body Of Slain Promoter

Lansing, Mich., June 23—(AP)—State police searched along roadways in nearby Clinton county today for the body of George G. Hall, 50, Detroit oil promoter, reported slain and thrown from his automobile by a hitchhiker.

All the information police had on the case was volunteered by Miss Ruby Colby, of Pinconning, Mich., who said she was present when the shooting took place and was held by the gunman for eight hours afterwards, finally being released at 1 a.m. today in Grand Rapids.

Miss Colby directed the State police search along side roads beginning at dawn but the first four hours were unproductive.

She said the gunman took money, a wristwatch and ring from Hall's body before abandoning it.

Last Night's Rain Will Benefit Berry Yield As Well As Crops

A "million-dollar" rain, as one farmer puts it, deluged the district last night and early today, bringing smiles of appreciation to agriculturists in practically every section of the district.

Prospects for increased crops with the exception perhaps of early peas have brightened considerably since last night, and farmers are looking forward to hay, grain and late fruit yields with a far greater degree of optimism than heretofore.

Early peas, some of which have been plowed under due to lack of maturity through drought, will be somewhat of a disappointment, it was stated in farming circles today, but the later varieties will benefit greatly from the much-needed moisture.

Strawberry growers smiled broadly today as vision of a heavy crop of the later varieties loomed strongly. "If the prices stay near anything near normal, the later berries won't do bad for growers," one told the Ontario Intelligencer today.

Raspberry crop prospects also brightened today following the rain, and with any sort of weather at all, the yield should be a good one.

Late grain and hay crops will also reap large returns from the moisture, and generally speaking the crop situation, in this district at least, has adopted a brighter outlook than was held a week ago.

City to Clean up Tract of Land Near Docks to Remove Fire Hazard

Work Will be Done by Relief Labor Under Supervision of Fire Chief Lynch

NEAR OIL TANKS

Work of clearing up a partly wooded and swampy tract of land bordering lower Front Street near the entrance to the government dock in an effort to remove any fire hazard in this location will be done by relief labor of the city under the direction of Fire Chief Lynch, it was recommended at the regular committee meeting of council last evening.

Authority was asked in the recommendation for the Fire Chief to be given all help necessary to remove any fire hazards in this "gas tank area," this to include the use of relief labor.

A second recommendation asked that a special committee composed of Aldermen Haig, Kennedy, Lewis and Butler be appointed to explore ways and means of co-ordinating the various city departments, designed to improve the management and efficiency of operations, and report back.

Other recommendations asked the authority for the city engineer to purchase 8000 gallons of medium liquid asphalt from the British American Oil Company; 8,000 gallons of the some liquid from the Imperial Oil Company, and the purchase of an estimated 1,000 tons of washed pea gravel from the Patterson Construction Company at $1.85 per ton.

It was also recommended that the city engineer be authorized to proceed with the annual street oiling for 1939 in accordance with the report of the special committee.

Ratification of another recommendation will authorize repairs to the property of the Belleville W.C.A. known as the Old Folks' Home, such work to be proceeded with under instructions of the Home Board and be charged to their account, receivable from the city.

Beautiful Rose Garden Opened to the Public

Frank Domenico Extends Invitation to Flower-Lovers of City

Roses are blooming in Picardy—and also in Belleville. Masses of the fragrant blooms, the favorite flower of many people are now blossoming in all their regal beauty in the splendid gardens of Mr. Frank Domenico, at 217 Dundas Street East. For the next few days, Mr. Domenico, says, the gardens will be a mass of color with many beautiful varieties of the "Flower of England" breaking out into full glory of their bloom.

Mr. Domenico extends a cordial invitation to flower-lovers and others to visit his gardens within the next few days and enjoy the fragrance and colorful beauty that only the rose can produce.

Toronto Woman Slugged By Intruder

Toronto, June 23.—(CP) — A prowler entered the home of Mrs. Martha Tilley here today and struck her twice over the head with a heavy wrench when she screamed for help. Her husband, a night worker who was sleeping upstairs rushed down and chased the prowler.

Mrs. Tilley was removed to the hospital where authorities said her injuries appeared serious.

Mrs. Tilley was sleeping on a couch when the intruder appeared. "You keep quiet or I'll murder you", he told her. Then he struck her twice as she screamed.

The man got in through an open cellar door.

PRAISE N. Y. FAIR

"A grand sight, and one we wouldn't have missed for the world." That is the opinion of the New York World's Fair, as expressed by James MacDonald, and Jack Thompson, members of the Belleville Fire Department, who with their wives returned from Gotham's great show yesterday.

Water-effects, with beautiful illumination were exceptionally attractive, the firemen stated, while the whole Fair teems with sights and attractions that one must see to believe. The firemen and their families spent four days in New York.

Welcome Fit For Conquerors Says London Paper

London, June 23—(CP)— "The King and Queen were given a welcome fit for conquerors returning in triumph," The Daily Express (Independent) said today of Their Majesties' return from their visit to Canada and the United States.

"But what had they done," it continued, "what achievements had they made? They had won no battles, performed no exploits. They had only made friends."

"The casual observer of this unofficial homecoming," said The Daily Mail (Independent), "might even have said that as they passed there was no intense cheering. But London felt too deeply for that. Right or wrong its feeling may be, but London felt last night that it was greeting its friends home as Londoners."

"Such a sincere and spontaneous manifestation of national loyalty and affection could not but be dear and refreshing to their hearts as assurance of how greatly they have deserved well of their people," said the Daily Telegraph (Conservative).

"Service most signal could alone have earned such heartfelt requital. Our King and Queen are unchallengeably entitled to feel that they have helped to write a new page in their country's history and have won for themselves an illustrious place in the story."

TRADE SANCTION

tion in response to numerous questions similar to the barrage directed at him yesterday urging "strong action" against Japan.

"The honorable members will no doubt have seen reports of further indignities to which British nationals have been subjected," Mr. Chamberlain said.

"My noble friend (Lord Halifax) has requested the Japanese Ambassador to see him in connection with these incidents today."

Greeted With Cheers

Cheers greeted his statement.

(Tientsin reports overnight had told how the British Consulate General in Tientsin issued a statement saying eight British subjects had been forced to submit to indignities, including stripping and lengthy examination in full view of Chinese coolies.)

Captain Frank Heilgers, Conservative, was cheered when he asked: "Is the Prime Minister aware that the temper of the British people is rising and will be entirely behind him when he refers to 'intolerable insults'?"

Mr. Chamberlain did not reply. He said the government was studying the question of remedying the shortage of perishable food stuffs in the British concession "where only 10 per cent of the normal daily supplies are now arriving."

"Ample stocks of non-perishable commodities such as flour and rice are at hand," he added.

Serious Consequences

Vyvyan Adams, Conservative, asked the Prime Minister if he "would inform Tokyo that these indignities to which our nationals are being subjected might have serious consequences for Japanese nationals in various British territories throughout the world."

"I have no doubt the Foreign Secretary will make it very clear to the Japanese Ambassador when he sees him what we think of these intolerable insults," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

Arthur Henderson, Labor, asked the Prime Minister to make a statement on the situation arising from the Japanese "ultimatum" at Swatow.

"I have not received any official information this morning but from the reports I have seen in the press it appears that the Japanese had somewhat withdrawn from the view they had held," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

Child's Stomach SICKNESS EASED

Is your child's stomach turning against food? Read what Mrs. E. D. W. says: "Every fifth or sixth week my boy would turn against food. This was always followed by sickness. He has never had an attack since I started giving him Maclean Brand Stomach Powder. Thomasburg

Thomasburg. — Right Rev. John Lyons, D.D., Lord Bishop of the Diocese of Ontario, visited the parish of Roslin on Sunday last preaching in St. John Church, Moneymore to a very large congregation in the morning, conferring the Apostolic Rite of Confirmation or the laying on of hands on a large number of candidates. Mrs. William Geen and Mrs. Harry Sherry of Thomasburg, being among the candidates. During the service two brass vases, the gift of Mrs. George Weir and two prayer books, given by St. John's Guild were consecrated.

The Bishop was assisted in the service by the Rector, Rev. F. C. Beazer. He delivered an impressive sermon from the text "The Grace of the Lord Jesus Christ and the love of God, the Communion of the Holy Ghost be with you all. Cor. II 13:14 followed by the Holy Communion Service. The Church was beautifully adorned with flowers for the occasion.

Mrs. J. E. Brown and Mrs. D. Elliott and Messrs. Billie Brown, B.A., and Arthur Wayling were guests on Thursday of Mr. and Mrs. R. A. Morton at Foxboro.

Miss Isabel Free of Campbellford was a guest on Sunday of Miss Verna Morton.

Miss Marjorie Creeper, Plainfield, spent the week-end with Miss Laura Grills.

Miss Ella Morland of Fuller, spent Friday with Miss Helen McTaggart.

Mr. and Mrs. W. H. Elliott spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Fred Taverner at Napanee.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Fitchett of Roslin spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morton.

A number from here attended the Confirmation and Dedication service at St. John's Church, Moneymore, when the Bishop Right Rev. John Lyons, D.D., made his annual visit to Roslin parish.

The many friends of Miss Alice Heasman will regret to learn that her resignation has been received by the local school board. Miss Heasman has been principal of the local school for the past five years and during that time she has made many friends. Miss E. Reynolds, the former assistant teacher has been chosen as principal to succeed Miss Heasman while Miss D. Juby of Belleville, will take Miss Reynolds place as Junior room teacher.

AT THE BELLE

"EAST SIDE OF HEAVEN"

Nobody knows exactly what "Sandy" thinks of being Hollywood's newest film star. And "Sandy" won't say. In fact, this newest recruit to the ranks of film "biggies" can't say anything—but "hello."

"Sandy" happened to become a film celebrity because Universal studio needed a baby to play in the new Bing Crosby-Joan Blondell picture, "East Side of Heaven." which opens next at the Belle Theatre.

When this news leaked out, hundreds of mothers stormed the studio portals. All carried babies. All but about 50 of the children were quickly eliminated. The others were given exhaustive screen tests.

Then Roy Henville, a Los Angeles milkman, entered the picture. It happened that one of Henville's customers was Charles Previn, Universal musical director. Henville left some pictures of his baby, along with two quarts of milk, on Previn's doorstep one morning. Previn in turn showed the pictures to Director David Butler. An immediate test was arranged, with a contract quickly following.

That is how "Sandy" Henville became a film star, without knowing or caring what was happening. What really counted was the group of great big men who went through the funniest motions for "Sandy's" own particular amusement—whenever the camera was grinding. That is one way baby smiles are obtained on the screen.

Others in the cast of this film include Mischa Auer, Irene Hervey, C. Aubrey Smith, Jerome Cowan and Robert Kent.

King and Queen in Color

A special extra attraction on the same program is the exhibition of the King and Queen in a multiple reel film entitled, Royal Banners Over Ottawa, this timely and beautiful film that has been produced entirely in color, has just been released by the Dominion Government, and the Belle Theatre has been successful in securing a first-run on the film.

"Hockey Champ" an extremely funny Walt Disney cartoon in color, and the popular Belle newsreel will also be exhibited. A new chapter of "Hawk of the Wilderness" serial will be shown this week end.

"It's A Wonderful World"

Combining hairbreadth escapes and suspenseful action with high hilarity, "It's a Wonderful World", presenting for the first time that new and auspicious team, Claudette Colbert and James Stewart closes at the Belle.

The superb cast of funmakers such sterling actors as Guy Kibbee, Nat Pendleton, Frances Drake, Edgar Kennedy and Ernest Truex.

"Love on Tap" a musical comedy novelty, and a splendid crime-does-not-pay subject entitled "Money to Loan" completes the program.

CLAIMS NEW CURE

Dr. Mercier Fauteux in an address to the Canadian Medical Association convention in Montreal, claimed a new successful treatment for angina pectoris. He explained that the removal of the chief blood vessel feeding the heart was the secret.

Guy Kibbee, featured with Claudette Colbert and James Stewart in "It's a Wonderful World," at the Belle.

Rawdon

Rawdon—On Monday, June 19th, another of the older women of Mount Pleasant was honoured in the person of Mrs. Peter Sharp, it being the occasion of her 81st birthday.

Mrs. Leonard Sharp entertained Mrs. Will Johnson, Mrs. James Sharp and Mrs. F. Bowater, and during the afternoon the President and visiting committee of the W. M. S. paid an official visit.

Mrs. Percy MacMullen read an appropriate address and Mrs. Frank Smith made the presentation of a lovely wool kimona in shades of mauve and purple.

Mrs. Sharp graciously replied thanking her friends for the lovely gift and inviting one and all to visit her as she was always delighted to have her friends drop in for a friendly visit. Mrs. Sharp came as a bride to Mount Pleasant over sixty years ago, her home being near Woodstock and during the years she has seen many changes and made many friends. Mrs. Leonard Sharp assisted by Mrs. James Sharp served a dainty lunch and all enjoyed a social time together.

The address follows:—

Mount Pleasant, June 19th, 1939.

Dear Mrs. Sharp:—

We could not let this day go by without extending to you "felicitations and best wishes" on your eighty-first birthday.

We have come as representatives of Mount Pleasant Woman's Missionary Society to visit with you for an hour or so, and to express to you our deep appreciation of what your life has meant to many of us.

Some of us were taught from childhood to call you by the endearing name of "Aunt Ellen" and we still continue that custom. Many times in hours of sorrow, you have stood by and cheered us along Life's pathway with a word of comfort. You have always been a true genuine friend and neighbor and your long life as resident of our community has endeared you to us all.

It is our wish that the richest blessing of the Master whom you have loved and served so faithfully may be with you alway, and at the sunset hour of your life may His abiding presence ever bless and keep you.

On behalf of our society and the older ladies of the community, we ask you to accept this little birthday gift and as you wear it, may it ever remind you of your many friends at Mount Pleasant.

Susie McKeown; Annie Thrasher; Winnie Smith; Florence MacMullen.

Mrs. Sharp also received several bouquets of cut flowers, a potted plant, and a number of cards.

Mrs. Baldwin Reid has returned to her home at Ivanhoe owing to the illness of her daughter-in-law. Mrs. Reid has spent several months in this vicinity and was a splendid help in the W. M. S. and Sunday School.

Mrs. Cyrus Summers spent a few days last week with Mrs. Hamilton Donnan, Ridge Road.

A heavy electric storm passed over this district on Friday evening and the rain which followed was greatly appreciated.

Mrs. M. Park of Stirling is recuperating from her recent illness at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Ross Hoard.

Mrs. O. Irwin of Swift Current, Sask., and Mrs. James Sharp spent a couple of days visiting friends and relatives in Oshawa and Bowmanville.

On Friday evening the boys' soft ball team were defeated in a game at Glen Ross.

The June meeting of Mount Pleasant Rawdon Woman's Missionary Society was held on Wednesday afternoon at the church with twelve members and two visitors in attendance. The program based on "Stewardship", was arranged by Mrs. Arthur Phillips.

The service opened with quiet music and the call to worship was taken from the monthly entitled "Bring Thy gifts to the altar." The roll call was answered with the key word "Money." Mrs. Phillips read the Bible lesson and Mrs. Frank Smith gave a devotional paper on "The corners of the field belong to God."

The treasurer reported almost seventy-five dollars for five months.

Letters and expressions of thanks were received also a letter re "Frontiers of Service." Plans were made to entertain the Mission Band and mothers and babies in July and to quilt for the supply bale on June 28th. Mrs. Percy Hubble sang "I Gave My Life For Thee." Mrs. Baldwin Reid prepared a paper on Stewardship and this was given by Mrs. Phillips assisted by several reading passages of scripture. Mrs. John Holmes read a selection re the conversion of an Infidel Doctor and Mrs. Frank Jeffs read a poem entitled "Real Service." Mrs. Percy MacMullen outlined a chapter in the study book "Learning to live together" and was assisted by Misses Muriel Sine, Eileen MacMullen and Mrs. Holmes.

Mrs. Roy Thrasher and Mrs. J. E. Beckel gave questions and answers on the subject "Should Canada admit Refugees?" The offering amounted to $4.56 and was dedicated to missionary service. The service closed with a hymn and Mrs. Allan Bailey offered prayer based on "Stewardship."

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Runnells and Dorothy were recent guests at the home of Mr and Mrs. Andrew Thompson.

Mrs. J. S. Watson of Winnipeg is holidaying with Mrs. Walter Dracup and other relatives at Wellman's.

Miss Laura Wright of Thomasburg, spent the week end with her parents.

Mrs. Harry Preston and June spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. Jack Preston.

THESE SCENES—25 YEARS AGO—OPENED DRAMA OF WORLD WAR

King Peter of Serbia
Emperor Franz Josef of Austria-Hungary

The greatest drama the world has ever seen — the titanic struggle known as the world war—was precipitated 25 years ago, June 28, 1914, when a young student named Gabriel Princip shot and killed the Archduke Francis Ferdinand, heir to the Austro-Hungarian throne, and his wife, the Princess Hohenberg, as they drove through the streets of Sarajevo, in the province of Bosina-Heregovina, Serbia (now part of Yugoslavia). The crushing indemnities Austria-Hungary asked of Serbia because of the assassinations, Serbia could not meet. After a month of vain negotiations, Austria-Hungary attacked Serbia while Germany, bound by alliance with Austria-Hungary attacked France. Germany's march through neutral Belgium drew Great Britain into the conflict. Italy, though an ally of Germany and Austria-Hungary, remained neutral until 1916 when she joined the ranks of the allies. The U. S. followed, April 6, 1917.

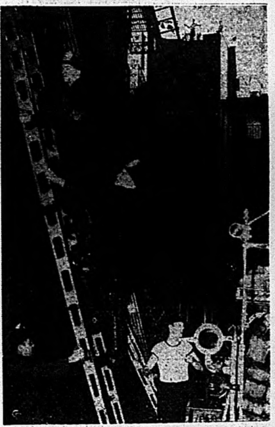
Mrs. Alma Alderman and Col. Martini "Moe" Snyder, shown together at the trial of Mrs. Alderman's $150,000 alienation of effection suit against Ruth Etting present wife of Myrl Alderman. While on the witness stand the Col. said, "I was subpoenaed up here and I don't want to hurt Miss Etting. I still have a big soft spot in my heart for her."

R.C.M.P. ROOKIE GAINS FORTUNE AND BRIDE

When dame fortune smiled on G. Thompson Drummond Hay, R.C.M.P. rookie stationed at Winnipeg, and threw $65,000 into his lap, in the way of an inheritance he lost no time in resigning from the force and boarding a plane for Regina, where he galloped into a five-and-ten cent store to propose to "Buff" Fraser, whom he had met some time previously. His proposal accepted the couple raced to a minister and are now en route to California on a honeymoon.

SEVEN DEAD IN CHINATOWN FIRE

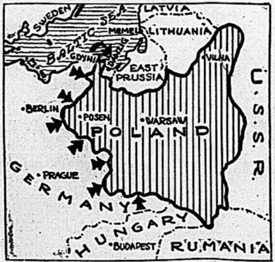


A fireman is shown here carrying out the body of one of the seven victims recovered from the ruins of the two tenement houses that burned in New York's Chinatown. Many other victims were feared to be buried beneath the smoking ruins. Narrow winding streets, jammed with hysterical Chinese hampered firemen as they sought to bring their powerful apparatus into play. Thirty firemen were overcome in spectacular blaze which for a time threatened the entire Chinese section.

BLOODHOUNDS JOIN SEARCH FOR KILLER

Additional volunteers, bloodhounds and even airplanes have joined the posse in the north woods near Haywood, Wis., hunting for Ray Olson, fugitive accused of slaying two deputy sheriffs as they attempted to arrest him for automobile stealing. The manhunt is one of the greatest in the history of the Badger state.

GERMAN TROOPS ON THE MOVE



Arrows locate, approximately, various shifts of German troops toward Polish border. Extensive movements of the Nazi soldiers, estimated at more than 1,500,000, brought rumor that Hitler was preparing for his long-expected move on Danzig.

Probabilities

Lower Lake Region—Moderate westerly winds; fair and warm today and most of Sunday; probably followed by scattered thundershowers.

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Evaporation and humidity! The stuff out of which clouds and afterwards rain is formed is water vapor; it also makes the air humid—stuffily humid if it exists in large quantities. Water vapor gets into the air by evaporation which takes place from the surface of all moist substances, including ice and snow. As evaporation is going on all the time it may be asked why the air does not get saturated, that is, register 100 per cent. humidity. It is because there is an almost constant interchange between the air at the surface and at higher levels which are cooler. The rising air cools and forms clouds thus giving up some of its moisture and is thus dried to some extent before it descends.

Ptomaine Poisoning Affects 300 Children

New York, June 24—(AP)— An outbreak of ptomaine poisoning that struck at least 350 Staten Island children after they ate free school lunches led the Board of Health today to summon for questioning 28 persons who prepared or handled the food.

More than 100 children, stricken yesterday several hours after eating the lunch of Spanish rice, egg-tomato salad, mayonnaise dressing, bread and milk, remained in hospitals today. The children ranged in age from six to 14.

Physicians said all should recover although about 50 were in serious condition. Seven mothers who ate sandwiches brought home by their children also were ill, one critically.

The lunches, prepared by relief workers, are served without charge daily to 125,000 school children throughout the city and are paid for by city, state and federal relief contributions.

Although the food is prepared in central kitchens and the same menu is served each day to all children, only pupils of 48 elementary schools in five Staten Island communities were affected.

BRITAIN, U. S. TO MAKE SWAP IN MATERIALS

600,000 Bales of Cotton Will be Traded With Britain for 175,000,000 lbs. of Rubber

SENATE APPROVES

Washington, June 24—(AP)— Government sources predicted today that the United States Congress would lose little time in approving a history-making agreement with Great Britain to exchange such strategic war materials as cotton and rubber.

The agreement, signed in London yesterday, provides for the exchange of 600,000 bales of surplus American cotton for about 175,000,000 pounds of British rubber.

Joseph P. Kennedy, the United States Ambassador who negotiated the trade, said in London that the same sort of deal was under way between the United States and the Netherlands governments. He reported also that Britain was still considering a proposed exchange of tin for United States wheat, but acknowledged that this suggestion had encountered strong opposition from Canada.

The Ambassador estimated that the agreement just reached would enable the United States to get rid of $30,000,000 worth of surplus cotton and receive rubber which otherwise would cost the United States $36,000,000.

MINISTERS MEET PRESIDENT LEBRUN

International Events Causing French Leaders Deep Concern

Paris, June 24 (AP)—President Albert Lebrun today signed a decree striking at German propaganda in France's border provinces with a ban on the distribution of tracts from abroad.

Police recently have made a number of arrests in connection with the distribution of French language pamphlets printed in Germany which were scattered throughout Alsace-Lorraine and the northern departments of France.

The decree was one of several submitted by Premier Edouard Daladier and signed by the President as the cabinet was summoned for an exhaustive review of the world situation, including yesterday's conclusion of a French-Turkish mutual aid accord.

One of the new decrees provided for building a new submarine to replace the Phenix, which sank with 71 officers and men off the coast of French Indo-China June 15.

Paris, June 24—(AP)— Premier Edouard Daladier called his ministers into a meeting with President Albert Lebrun today for an exhaustive review of international events causing French leaders deep concern.

Although conclusion of a mutual aid treaty with Turkey at the cost of part of Syria caused some optimism, French officials were worried by the failure thus far of negotiations in Moscow to bring Russia into the Anglo-French mutual asistance front.

May Prove Incentive

The Franco-Turkish agreement, signed yesterday, was described by Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet as "exactly the same as the Anglo-Turkish declaration of May 12." The price was cession to Turkey of the Hatay Republic, formerly the Sanjak of Alexandretta in Syria, which France rules under a League of Nations mandate.

186-FOOT PLUNGE FROM EIFFEL TOWER IS PROBED

Paris Police Believe Former Czecho-Slovak Official's Act Deliberate

OFFICIAL DESPONDENT

Paris, June 24—(AP)—Detectives said today the 186-foot death plunge of a former Czecho-Slovak official during a birthday party last night for the Duke of Windsor high in the Eiffel Tower must have been deliberate.

They said he could not have fallen without climbing over several large iron girders surrounding a platform where the Duke's 45th birthday and the tower's 50th anniversary were being celebrated simultaneously.

The dead man was identified by the Czecho-Slovak legation as Colonel Bedrich Benes, its former military attache. Officials said Benes, 42, was no relation to former President Eduard Benes, now residing in the United States, and had resigned his post three months ago.

Tragedy of Czecho-Slovakian

Colonel Vatislof Kalino, present military attache of the legation which has remained independent and active despite the dissolution of Czecho-Slovakia, said Benes long had been despondent over the fate of his country.

"His tragedy," Kalina said, "must be part of the greater tragedy of Czecho-Slovakia."

Benes was not a guest at the dinner for the Duke in the restaurant on the first platform of the Eiffel Tower. A woman companion said he had been taking pictures of the dinner through a window. In the gravel courtyard below police found a camera still strapped to his wrist.

(In London the Society of "Octavians"—named for King Edward VII—commemorated the Duke's 45th birthday last night with a dinner and dance to "give expression to our intense desire to see him back in this country among his own people."

(Compton Mackenzie, the author, told the "Octavians": "The finest national defence for Britain would be for the Duke to return. It is necessary for our future security and the country is incomplete without him. He would make the finest effort possible—without Whitehall platitudes or government inconsistencies— toward world peace. The only way to bring him back is to grant the Duchess that rank (Royal Highness) to which she is entitled. The man who, above all others, devoted all his vitality and charm to the service of his country appears to be cast aside as of no use in this vital time.")

WHEEL PASSES OVER MAN'S HEAD

George Vanderwater, Corbyville, Seriously Hurt When Team Ran Away

Foxboro, June 24 (Special)—Mr. George Vanderwater, popular farmer in the Corbyville district, suffered very serious injury at his home on the fifth concession of Thurlow yesterday afternoon, when he fell beneath the wheels of a loaded manure spreader as the team which he was driving became frightened and ran away. The accident happened in Mr. Vanderwater's own barnyard just as he had completed loadnig the spreader and was preparing to leave for the field. Using the front wheel of the spreader as a step to gain his seat. Mr. Vanderwater's foot in some manner slipped and he was thrown in front of the vehicle so frightening the horses that they ran away with the wheels of the loaded spreader passing completely over his head as he lay helpless on the ground.

The unconscious man was immediately rushed to the Belleville General Hospital and after an examination was found to be suffering from a broken jaw bone, a broken nose and other severe facial lacerations. Serious as his condition is. Mr. Vanderwater undoubtedly owes his life to the fact, that the ground where the accident took place was soft and that it yielded as the wheels passed over his head. Had the mishap occurred in any other place but the barnyard where the earth was fortunately soft, a crushed skull would have been the only possible result.

Kolynos Co. Ordered to Discontinue Certain Representations

Washington, June 24—(AP)— The United States Trade Commission announced today that it had ordered the Kolynos Company of New Haven, Conn., to discontinue certain representations in the sale of its toothpaste. These representations were misleading, the Commission said.

The company was ordered to cease advertising "that Kolynos is an outstanding, competent or effective germicidal or antiseptic agent."

The order also prohibited the representation "that this dentifrice is more concentrated or more economical to use than competing products or that it will accomplish results not obtainable by use of competing dentifrices."

WASTE PRODUCTS YIELD CRUDE OIL

Balsover, England, June 24 (CP) —Britain, dependent for almost all its oil supplies on overseas sources, has seen the opening of its first plant for producing crude oil from waste products of coal distillation.

The plant, in this Derbyshire town, has a capacity of 10,000,000 gallons a year. The whole potential output already has been ordered by industrial firms and it is expected another unit will be added to the plant as soon as possible.

Grand Lodge Wants Assurance Of Aid for Britain in Event of War

Winnipeg, June 24—(CP)— The Grand Orange Lodge of British America yesterday passed a resolution urging that in event Britain is involved in war the Canadian Parliament be assembled immediately and promptly give assurance of support of all Canada's resources of man power and wealth.

Other resolutions endorsed urged restriction of profits in the manufacture of war materials and prevention as far as possible by legal means of the export of war materials from Canada to countries preparing for war against democratic nations.

The meeting urged that immigration from Britain be maintained so that it would more than counterbalance immigration from other European countries to the end that British and democratic principles be preserved in Canada.

Mrs. J. L. Weatherby of Moncton, N.B., was elected Grand Mistress of the Grand Lodge of the Ladies Orange Benevolent Association of British America.

NEW AIR BATTLE BETWEEN JAPAN, MONGOLIA RAGES

Twelve Mongolian Planes Shot Down Bringing Total to 61

FIERCE ENCOUNTER

Concentration of Troops on Both Sides of the Border Now Latest Report

Tokyo, June 24—(AP)—A new air battle between Japanese and Mongolians in a continuation of fighting along the border between Manchoukuo and Russian-dominated Outer Mongolia was reported today by Japanese.

An unspecified number of Japanese planes were said to have downed 12 Mongolian craft, bringing to 61 the number Japanese declared they had shot down since Thursday.

A war office spokesman said a new attack by Mongolians was expected. Japanese airplanes were reconnoitering on Manchoukuo side of the boundary, he said. Ground forces were held in readiness for any eventuality.

REMOVAL OF GOV'T AND PARLIAMENT PART OF SCHEME

Great Britain Has Made Elaborate Plans in Case of War

DETAILS PERFECT

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 24—(CP Cable)— Removal of the government and parliament to safety outside London forms part of an elaborate plan Great Britain has ready to put into operation should the United Kingdom become involved in war.

Never in Britain's long history have preparations for possible war been on such a vast scale and so perfected in detail. Dozens of schemes ranging from evacuation of school children to placing the whole industrial life of the nation under state control have been arranged, ready to put into operation at the touch of a button.

During the Great War, London remained the seat of government and parliament continued to function at Westminster. But in any new war arrangements will be entirely different.

Plans have been made to decentralize administrative departments with the government and parliament "somewhere in the country" where risk from bombs won't be so great as alongside the Thames.

Beausejour, Man., June 24 (CP) —R. K. Finlayson, former Secretary to Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett when he was Prime Minister, was chosen yesterday as Conservative candidate in Springfield for the next Federal election. The seat now is held by J. M. Turner, Liberal.

Prime Minister Speaks in Wales On Foreign Policy

Advises Tokyo "No British Gov't. Could Submit to Dictation from Another Power on Foreign Policy"

A LOCAL DISPUTE

Says "Real Tragedy in Europe Future Being Poisoned by Means of Propagation of False and Unfounded Suspicions"

Cardiff, Wales, June 24.—(CP)— Prime Minister Chamberlain today characterized Japanese actions in Tientsin both "high-handed and intolerably insulting" in a speech advising Tokyo "no British government could submit to dictation from another power as to its Foreign policy.

The Prime Minister made a brief reference to the International situation in an address at an open-air Conservative Party rally. As he has done in the House of Commons, he expressed hope for a local adjustment of the trouble in Tientsin where the Japanese were blockading the British and French concessions for the 11th day.

"A local dispute between ourselves and the Japanese over the alleged complicity of certain Chinese in a murder has been followed by a blockade of the British and French Concessions in Tientsin and by high handed and intolerably insulting treatment of British subjects by the Japanese soldiers," he said.

"The matter is further complicated by public statements in the part of local Japanese officials making the incident a pretext for far reaching and quite inadmissible claims for an alteration of the policy which we and other governments hitherto followed in these regions.

Settled by Negotiation

"....it ought to be possible to settle it (the incident) by negotiation. But I am bound to add that no British Government could mit to dictation from another power as to its foreign policy .... I trust therefore that we are right in supposing no such intention is in the mind of the Japanese government."

Of Europe Mr. Chamberlain said "the real tragedy of the situation ....is the future being poisoned by means of the propagation of false and unfounded suspicions." He once more decried German accusations that Britain was attempting to encircle Germany and said if confidence were restored the path would open to co-operation.

Dream Till Germany Changes

"But such a happy future must remain a dream until Germany is ready to drop her unjust suspicions of others and show she sincerely is ready to talk reason with reasonable people," he said.

The Prime Minister spoke warmly of the royal visit to North America and said: "In Canada the British and French Canadians, who do not always think alike, vied with one another in fervent loyalty —not in the abstract sense of loyalty to the throne but in a warmer personal loyalty to the King and Queen of Canada, whom they have seen and taken to their hearts."

21 Hungarian Nazis Sentenced

Budapest, June 24 —(Ap) — Twenty-one Hungarian Nazis were sentenced to prison today for plotting "violently to overthrow and annihilate the State and Civil Order."

The convicted ringleader, Ivan Mester, a municipal gasworks employee, was sentenced to one year in prison.

Their Majesties are Now Enjoying Quiet and Seclusion of Own Fireside

London, June 24—(CP)— King George and Queen Elizabeth reaped the reward of returned travellers today—the quiet and seclusion of their own fireside.

While the King and Queen rested at Windsor Castle with their daughters, Princesses Elizabeth and Margaret Rose, applause still echoed for their triumphant tour and, particularly, for King George's home-coming speech in which he told 700 guests at London's ancient Guildhall that "the strength of human feeling still is the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs."

Not only because it touched on international amity and the deeper aspects of the imperial relationships but, even more, it was regarded by some quarters as his most important utterance.

The Times devoted almost a column to an editorial on the speech which, it was said, brought to "his island subjects these high thoughts of human brotherhood and of a great tradition of liberty into a world murmurous with international suspicion, where liberty is threatened in many places and derided in some."

The Daily Mail attributed the King's firm, commanding tones to his having smoked a cigarette for five minutes before speaking.

BRUISED KNEE IS SUSTAINED IN CRASH

Matthew Ryan, 27, of this city, sustained a bruised knee and suffered from shock as his truck was struck by a motor car at the intersection of William and Queen streets yesterday afternoon. Mr. Ryan was proceeding westerly when a motor car driven by Mrs. W. Ross, R.R. 7, Belleville, collided with the left rear side of the truck. Ryan informed police Mrs. Ross had not observed the "stop" street. Damage to the result of $75.00 resulted to the front of Mrs. Ross' car while the rear of the truck was also damaged. The matter was reported to police.

THREE MEMBERS OF BAND TO COMPETE

Today St. Michael's Band is proud of three little members who are off to join with hundreds in Canada and the United States to compete in instrumental solo work at the Waterloo Music Festival. Dolores Clapp whose talent as a clarinet soloist is most promising will play in the class of 13-year-olds though she is a few years behind. Nothing is daunting little John Briand, nine years old, from standing his ground with 13-year-olds in a cornet solo. And little Bobby Young who is ten years old will line up with collegiate musicians in the class of 16-year-olds. These children are to be admired for their desire to learn more and more on the road to perfection.

Whether they wear a medal home or not they cannot help but leave an impression in Waterloo, when fifty Canadian and American bands will be gathered today, that the little musicians in Eastern Ontario are good students and good sports.

ORCHESTRA TO PLAY RETURN ENGAGEMENT

Playing a return engagement by special request, after their outstanding success of a few weeks ago, The Ozzie Williams orchestra rated as one of Canada's outstanding dance bands, will appear at the Oak Lake Casino next Tuesday officials of the Casino announced today.

Comprised of eleven talented musicians, the band has played in several popular dance resorts since its organization. It was the dance attraction at the Chateau Laurier, Ottawa, for three years, while its rhythms have captivated the night-life lovers at the Club Esquire, Toronto.

LOCAL DELEGATES TO ATTEND MEET

With a splendid program arranged for visiting delegates the annual convention of District No. 3 of the Ontario Horticultural Association being held in Brockville on June 28th, is expected to attract a large number of provincial representatives to Brockville.

An illustrated lecture by Mr. Warren Oliver, Horticultural Branch, Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, will feature the convention, while a drive along the beautiful gardens beside the St. Lawrence River will provide special entertainment for the delegates. The visitors will be officially welcomed by the Mayor of Brockville, and another lecture by Mr. John Hall, Toronto will round out the day. In the event of rain, the delegates will be entertained with an excellent indoor program.

A large number of Belleville delegates will attend the convention, it was stated today.

CENTRE STREET ROVERS DEFEATED BY BRIGHTON

Centre Street Rovers lost a close softball tussle to Brighton last night by a score of 10-9 in seven innings. At the conclusion of the game and under the direction of Rev. L. S. Wight, the boys of the church gathered to elect their officers who include Honorary President, Rev. L. S. Wight, president, George Bellis, secretary, James McDonald, treasurer, Floyd Urch, coach, Mack McDonald, captain, Willias Bellis. It is the intention of the young people of the mission to organize a girls' softball team.

CATTLEMEN MEET AT ABBEY DAWN

At the annual field day of the Ayrshire Breeders' Association of the Eastern District held at the Abbey Dawn farm of Wallace Havelock Robb, near Kingston, on Thursday, a fairly large attendance of breeders and livestock men from Belleville and district was registered.

Wm. G. McComb and F. M. Rutherford of Bonarlaw were included among the winners in the livestock judging competitions during the afternoon, and a special showmanship award was presented A. McDonnell of Stirling.

MANY BATHERS EXPECTED AT PARK

An increased attendance of bathers at Victoria Park over the week-end is anticipated by members of the Belleville Parks Board who have made full arrangements for the handling of a large number of park visitors. The children's bathing pool has now been repaired and filled and will be available to the smaller swimmers and juvenile bathers.

EXPORT SHIPMENTS OF CATTLE CONTINUE

Cattle buyers are continuing fairly heavy purchases in the district and overseas demand has been reported good lately. Next week one hundred head of tested Holsteins will be shipped by Scott Brothers, local dealers to Montreal and thence to Cardiff, Wales, and Glasgow. S. Levine of Ameliasburg, Prince Edward County will make a shipment of 25 Holsteins at about the same date. Two shiploads of local district and eastern cattle will be shipped from the Montreal port at the same time.

1,817 SHOTS FAIL TO SCORE HOLE-IN-ONE

You might think that one way to score a hole-in-one and thus earn a measure of fame would be by just keeping on shooting at a hole till the ball finally went in from your tee shot. Which is fine if you could do it before you wore yourself out. Harry Gonder couldn't. Harry is pro at a Michigan City, Indiana, club, and for 17 hours banged away at a 136-yard hole—all in vain. He could come within a few feet, a few inches or even circle the rim of the cup, but there was no hole-in-one. After 1,817 shots Harry called it a day with the consolation that it's luck that brings you those one-shotters.

MAYOR REACTS TO GAS PETITION

If Any One Has Charges Let Him Make Them in Writing, He Says

An annual meeting of the Ontario Fire and Casualty Agents' Association, of which he is vice-president, being held at Niagara Falls on Monday will necessitate the absence of Mayor Jamieson Bone from the regular meeting of city council on Monday evening.

Mayor Bone's reaction to the petition, signed by a number of ratepayers which is expected to be presented city council on Monday evening asking that council name a special committee of its members for the purpose of taking over and managing the city gas plant, was a vigorous one as expressed this morning.

"If anyone of Belleville has any special or specific charges against the manner in which the city gas plant is being run at the present time, let them put these in writing before presentation to council", stated the Mayor.

What Council Requires.

"Council will be glad to hear any complaint, if these complaints are based on reason and factual knowledge. But any petition which is signed without having an investigation made of all circumstances surrounding the matter in question is not fair, either to the signer of that petition, or that which the petition is being signed against.

"It has been my experience, and also the experience of my colleagues in council that in the majority of instances matters which have been harangued and talked about on the street corners are discussed by those who have not the least bit of information on the subject, or if they have information, then this information is either false or entirely wrong.

Gas Plant Operation.

"As far as the gas plant is concerned I don't believe that any committee or commission named from the city council has either the experience, the knowledge or the time to give to the gas plant. As it is now it is run by an independent commission of three citizens of Belleville named by the electors on their own ballots. It is separated entirely from the control of city council which council has plenty of work to do without being entangled in a matter which I believe is now being administered fairly, justly and as economically as present conditions permit."

STEALING BREAD IS CHARGE LAID

Arrested in the possession of two loaves of bread, which police say they had stolen from the verandah of a Station St. home, two transients, who gave their names as Lucien Druin and Auriel Bourdeau, were remanded in custody on charges of theft today.

Constable J. Jerome of the Canadian National Railway police force, watched Druin and Bourdeau snatch a loaf of bread from the verandah of 231 Station St. and retreat to a box car in the Belleville C.N.R. yards. Constable Jerome notified the city police with the result P. C. Thomson arrested the pair in the box car. The two loaves of bread were found in the men's possession at the time of their apprehension, the police stated later.

The bread had only been delivered a few moments prior to it being stolen. There have been several cases of bread and milk thefts reported to the police, Chief Kidd revealed today, but it is generally conceded, that transients steal these articles during the early hours of the morning, directly after delivery. Police have been patrolling the streets around dawn every morning in hopes of apprehending some of these habitual sneak thieves.

Youth is Rescued After Boat Capsizes

Eighteen-year-old Thomas Barry of Trenton narrowly escaped drowning when his sail boat capsized in the Bay of Quinte about one-half mile off shore at Trenton yesterday but for the prompt efforts of Jack Keene in a rowboat.

After his sailing craft upset Barry floundered in the water for some time, clinging desperately to the side of the overturned craft. Two Royal Canadian Air Force speed boats hastened to his rescue, but Keene, who was fishing along the opposite shore to Trenton, saw Barry's predicament and arrived ahead of the power boats.

Barry had taken his sailing punt out, just off the Trenton harbor, when a sudden gust of wind caught him unawares and the boat capsized. On three occasions, the young lad, fully clothed, started to swim toward shore, but turned back to hang onto the overturned boat.

When he was brought ashore, Barry stated that he was very tired. "I suppose I could have swam ashore," said the youth, "but I decided not to chance it."

NEW GREEN PEAS GREET SHOPPERS ON MARKET TODAY

Sell at 50 Cents Per Quart; Strawberries Steady at 3 Boxes for 25 Cents

GOOD OFFERING

Many delectable Sunday dinners will grace the festive boards of Belleville tomorrow. If they don't it won't be the fault of the farm and garden produce vendors that offered by far one of the most variable "menus" of the current season on the city market today.

For instance many families will eat succulent young broiler chickens (from 55c to 90c the pair) garnished with new green peas (offered at first at 60c the quart, but declining later to 50c) and new Spring vegtables, and topped off with luscious red strawberries (3 boxes for 25c.)

There were plenty of peas offered during the later hours. The first vendor to arrive promptly set the price at 60c the quart and did some business before several competitors forced the price down to 50c for the same quantity. You could buy them in the shell, at 40 cents per six quart basket, and many people availed themselvs of this opportunity and price. The majority offered were of the Thomas Laxton variety, a popular early variety.

There will be no dearth of this vegetable, vendors stated, recent rains giving a new lease of life to crops that were badly in need of moisture.

Berries Steady

Strawberry prices settled to a firm basis today, with fine quality berries selling generally at three boxes for 25c. Rapid decline of prices that featured the market last week was absent today with vendors stabilizing their prices at the above-mentioned figures. Crate lots, however, were available at a slightly lower price.

Asparagus, nearing its closing production stages noted a slight rise today with pound bunches selling at 15c and 20c, although inferior qualities remained steady at 5c the bunch.

Another tasty vegetable found popular favor today in the form of new beet tops. These sold at three bunches for 10 cents and moved well all morning. New radishes, well-watered, were offered at the same price, but onions in varying sizes sold at 5 cents the bunch as did lettuce and some new cabbage. Water-cress was quoted by two young vendors at the same price.

Potatoes of the new variety have yet to put in an appearance, but last season's crop prices remained steady at $1.25 and $1.35 per 90-pound bag.

Broilers Decline.

There was plenty to choose from in the inside market with a good offering of chicken eggs and butter being displayed. Broiler chicken prices showed a decline from those of a week ago, with choice weighty young birds selling at from 75 cents. Other qualities were offered from 55 cents the pair up. Fowl was quoted at from 50 cents each.

Egg prices were steady with choice "A" selects offered at 21 and 22 cents. Mediums were offered at 18 and 19 cents. Choice butter, some of it wrapped in succulent leaves was quoted at 30 cents the pound. Home-cooking booths did a good business with many Saturday morning shoppers availing themselves of the delectable "goodies" offered.

Fresh lake trout and whitefish of excellent quality were available for lovers of this food, with the former selling at 20 cents per pound, with a slight additional charge for slicing or filleting, and the latter offered at 18 and 20 cents the pound.

Reallocation of Provincial Police Inspector Announces

Following the announcement of a complete redistribution of members of the Ontario Provincial Police today, Inspector Frank Gardner revealed the reallocation of Provincial Constables within the Belleville District No. 8. The officers included in the reallocation will take over their new assignments on Aug. 1st, Inspector Gardner added.

Those constables affected in the Belleville District of the O.P.P. and their moves were announced as follows: Constable A. A. Starke, Belleville to Minden; Constable Don Carruthers, Belleville to Campbellford, Constable G. Campbell, Campbellford to Kingston; Constable A. Nelson, Kingston to Belleville; Constable Pearson, St. Catharines to Picton; Constable Taylor, Minden to Lindsay.

Inspector Gardner added there would be new Provincial Police detachments opened at Northbrook and Port Hope, while the appointing of a constable for Prince Edward County is not new, there has not been a stationary O.P.P. detachment in that county for a number of years.

EPILEPTIC WROTE PEPYSIAN DIARY TO AID RESEARCH

"Lancet" Article Reveals Story of "Mr. X," Who Recorded Fits to Help Doctors Find Best Cure

By GUY E. RHODES
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 24 (CP)—An elderly, introspective bachelor who suffered from epilepsy has been disclosed as an unsung hero of medical science, but only his doctor knows his name.

"Mr. X" the central character in an article in The Lancet by Sir Arthur Hall, kept a "Pepysian" diary for 27 years, describing his fits as well as he could remember them and recording the times of their occurrence.

From the diary Sir Arthur, emeritus professor of medicine in the University of Sheffield, was able to build a complete history of one case of epilepsy from the time when "Mr. X" was 37 years old until his death in 1931 at the age of 64.

It started in 1904 when Sir Arthur treating "Mr. X", suggested a time diary of his attacks might help in deciding the treatment.

"A somewhat introspective bachelor with no outside interests, no hobby and a daily routine of extreme monotony, he took a great interest in his attacks and as the years went on kept it up with Pepysian faithfulness," Sir Arthur wrote.

From the record, Sir Arthur concluded:

(1) An epileptic man remained free from major fits for 30 years, provided he kept strictly to the treatment prescribed. Minor fits continued during the whole time (27 years) that he was taking bromide, but ceased when this was replaced by phenobaritone (three years).

(2) Complete prevention of major fits was not obtained by even larger doses of bromide until he abstained completely from alcohol.

(3) A record shows two distinct types of rhythm of minor fits. From 1904 to 1909 they occurred in groups or units of activity with regular intervals of freedom of two to four weeks. From 1909 to 1928 there was no such grouping. The change from one rhythm to the other began in his 46th year of age.

(4) The hourly incidence of minor fits shows a peak in mid-afternoon, tending to move toward the evening in later years. It is suggested that this is connected with the increasing effect of the bromide (taken night and morning) as he got older.

First Drumhead Service At Air Base on Sunday

Expected to have five hundred men of the station in attendance, as well as the unit band and the men's and boys' choir of Christ Church, the first drumhead service in the history of the station will be held on the parade grounds of the R.C.A.F. near Trenton on Sunday morning.

The service will mark the beginning of such annual events to replace those held previously in Trenton churches, as the present number of personnel has made impossible their presence in a body.

The Rt. Rev. R. J. Denison, D.D., Rector of St. Paul's Church, Toronto and Chaplain of Squadron No. 110, a non-permanent air-force unit now in training at the station, will preside.

Wooler

Wooler — On Monday evening the congregation of the United Church met in the church parlors to bid farewell to Mr. and Mrs. Poulter, who are leaving this year for a new field of labor. After nine years of fellowship and service here the community regret to see them leave. The evening was spent in community singing followed by the Quartette, C. F. Wessel, Bruce Ellis, Clifford Rogers and L. H. Rowe, singing "The Old Rugged Cross". Arnold and June Whaley then sang a duet. A piano duet by Mrs. A. G. Austin and Mrs. L. H. Rowe then the Quartette gave another selection, after which Mr. C. F. Wessel read the address and Mr. S. L. Terrill presented Mr. and Mrs. Poulter with a beautiful silver tea service of five pieces engraved from Wooler United Church 1939. Mrs. Douglas Fox presented Patricia with a lovely brush, comb and mirror set, and Wesley Down presented Theodore with a travelling bag. They all fittingly replied.

The ladies of the Women's Association met in the basement Tuesday. Mrs. Chas. Brown, Mrs. L. C. McColl, Mrs. Henry McColl, Mrs. Bert McColl and Mrs. James Mitchell served the noon hour luncheon. Quilted one quilt.

Mr. and Mrs. J. J. Way spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. W. Ruttan of Rednersville.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Lawson and Ruby Kemp, Morganston, called on Mrs. W. J. Lawson on Tuesday.

Mrs. Katherine and Emma Sharpe, Mrs. A. Masters, Eva Masters, Mrs. P. Rogers and Mrs. A. J. Lawson spent Wednesday with Mrs. Hugh Gainforth in honor of her birthday.

Picking strawberries is the order of the day, they are very plentiful and very cheap, some selling for five cents a quart.

Mrs. Nesbitt Haggerty and Mrs. Leland Bryant spent Wednesday in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Hugh Gainforth spent Tuesday in Campbellford.

Mr. Frank Rogers spent Wednesday in Napanee.

Melrose

Melrose — A large number attended on Sunday the funeral of the late Mr. Richard R. Tripp from the family residence. The funeral service was conducted by Rev. L. M. Sharpe, Belleville, a friend of the family. Left to mourn his loss are his wife; four sons, Carman Tripp, Perth, Ont; Murney, Montreal; Bert, Toronto, and Harry of Flint, Mich; one brother, Clayton Tripp, Sioux Falls, South Dakota; two sisters, Mrs. Frances Morden, Melrose and Miss Lydia Tripp, Randolph, Nebraska.

Interment was made in the family plot, 4th concession of Tyendinaga. The bearers were Messrs. W. Powers, W. McLaren, E. Lansing, J. Milligan, H. Littles and E. Embury.

Mrs. Alexander, California, and Mr. and Mrs. A. Newton, Peterborough, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. R. Macfarlane.

Mrs. Alexander is a sister of Mrs. R. McMeachan and is spending a few weeks visiting relatives here.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Grey, Peterboro, were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. P. Davis.

Mrs. C. Haight entertained Mr. and Mrs. J. Macfarlane, Mr. and Mrs. R. Badgley, Mr. and Mrs. E. Badgley, Mr. and Mrs. S. Demille, Mr. and Mrs. R. Macfarlane and Mr. and Mrs. W. McMeachan at an aluminum demonstration dinner on Thursday evening given by the salesman, Mr. Bird.

Miss Lois Knapp of Napanee is a guest of Mr. and Mrs. E. Badgley.

Mr. and Mrs. G. Swan, Gilead, were Sunday evening callers of Mr. and Mrs. H. Davis.

Mrs. J. Symington, Napanee, was a Sunday visitor of Mr. and Mrs. E. Simpkins and also attended the funeral of the late Mr. R. Tripp.

Mrs. M. Morden who has spent several months with relatives at Bowmanville has returned home.

Mrs. C. Jeffrey, Shannonville, is visiting Mr. and Mrs. F. Jeffrey.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Haight, Mr. and Mrs. Ed. Lazier and Miss Irene visited Mr. Findlay Lazier who is a patient at Kingston Hospital on Sunday.

Rev. and Mrs. Craig were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. J. Milligan.

Mrs. W. Mainprize and daughter and Mrs. H. Gee of Western Ontario attended the funeral of their uncle, Mr. R. Tripp on Sunday.

Several members of the Masonic order from here attended the Masonic Service at Deseronto United Church on Sunday morning.

Point Anne

Point Anne—Mrs. Ethel Bradshaw, Front Road, spent Monday with Mrs. Percy Akey.

Reginald Bennett, the small son of Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Bennett, who was badly bitten by a Great Dane dog last week is improving nicely.

Messrs. Geo. Carter, W. R. Juby, A. B. Charlton, Walter Hull, W. Akey, Wm. Insley and Mr. Coulter who were visiting Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Carter motored to Frankford and attended Orange Lodge on Wednesday evening. Mr. Carter is District Master.

Congratulations to Mr. and Mrs. John Gartland of Deseronto who are the proud parents of twins born in Belleville General Hospital. Mr. and Mrs. Gartland were former residents of Point Anne.

Mrs. Stewart DeRushie and children are spending a month's holidays with her parents Mr. and Mrs. J. Sears of Baptiste Lake.

Maurice Hill is confined to Belleville General Hospital with an infected thumb. Maurice is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Hill.

Mrs. Frank Insley and Miss Ethel Insley are spending the week end in Trenton with Mrs. Insley's mother Mrs. L. Butland.

Canada Cement softball team were at the small end of a 10-7 score in the game played with Corby's A.C. team on Wednesday evening.

Wild strawberries are a plentiful crop this year and a number of pickers from this village are out nearly every day.

Mr. Elmer Juby of Toronto is visiting at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. R. Juby.

THE KING'S SPEECH AT GUILDHALL

Canadians took the deepest interest in the scenes in Southampton and London on Thursday and in the official London welcome yesterday at the centuries-old Guildhall, when Their Majesties were feted by the Lord Mayor of London and when the King spoke on the tour the Queen and he had made in the past seven weeks. His Majesty's kindly references to the Canadian people and the people of the United States and his summary of the impressions he received on the tour were welcome to the people of the New World. His Majesty's explanation of the purpose of the visit to the American continent was expressed in words which cannot pass away: "to serve the ideals of that Commonwealth, to foster its sane and wholesome faith; to show if I could, that its headship, which I have been called upon to assume, exists today as a potent force for promoting peace and good will among mankind."

Those who heard His Majesty speak yesterday or read the royal address realize that it is a document to which Canada with the Empire will look with pride for many years to come.

BRAVELY ACCEPTS HIS FATE

The man who set a record in baseball for more than a hundred years, and a record of good sportsmanship and clean living so that he has been a glowing example to every boy who played baseball on a city, town, village or country lot, the man who played 2130 consecutive games in the American League between June 1st, 1925, and May 2nd, 1939, has finished his play. Lou Gehrig's career is ended. Chronic infantile paralysis has laid a hand upon him and the career which would have gone on possibly for years is closed.

In his forced retirement he will be as heroic as he has been on the baseball diamond game after game and season after season. He still remains the captain of the Yankee team. This is taken as a special matter of congratulation because Gehrig played on New York sandlots and the Columbia campus before he found his way to major ball.

Mayo clinic experts examined Gehrig for several days and the report gives an explanation of the showing he made in the early part of the season. Gehrig voluntarily retired from the game on May 2nd, setting the end of his series of consecutive matches. It appears that Gehrig has apparently been suffering from the disease for two years and the president of the New York Yankees, Ed Barrow, said only his remarkable physique had enabled him to play. He will be continued on the payroll of the Yankees for the present season at least and as non-playing team captain.

Barrow holds out hopes from the report that the disease could be checked and in any event it probably would not grow any worse. Barrow said the first baseman would not play again this year but indicated there was an outside possibility of his return to the game eventually. He is 36 years of age.

According to the report this type of illness affects the motor pathways and cells of the central nervous system. "The nature if this trouble makes it such that Mr. Gehrig will be unable to continue his active participation as a baseball player, inasmuch as it is advisable he conserve his muscular energy. He could, however, continue in some executive capacity.

Gehrig took the blow as a sportsman would. "You have to take the bitter with the sweet. If this means the end of the trail for me, I'll just have to accept it." He is said to have. been the calmest person around when the announcement was made. What self-control that means only a sportsman knows.

THEY FIND A REFUGE

The Jewish refugees who on board ship might well be called "wanderers on the face of the seas," are to find a temporary refuge from Hitler's anti-Semitic purge of the pure German race.

Not to be wanted was the fate of these nine hundred Jewish refugees from Germany. Not to be wanted is one of the saddest situations in life. To many people it would mean the end. But these Jewish refugees have something to live for, something to live to see—the end of the Nazi principle, as mad a political system as ever came out of a human mind. These Jews are wanted after all. Not, it is true, by German Nazis, whom everyone would shun, but by Holland, Britain and France, who have provided temporary homes.

These unfortunate Jews know what it is to have a relentless enemy, but they know what is better, a sympathizing friend. The friend outweighs the enemy, who in his inhumanity is doomed.

Germany under its government has taken the course of folly. She has thrown out scientists among the unwanted, and medical men who made the name of Vienna famous throughout the earth. These will ultimately find a place where they will minister to mankind.

The only fault of these refugees is that they are Jews—no fault in the eyes of sane nations and humanity. Naziism, which extols narrow racialism, has a seared brain in its hatred of others. Surely it cannot prosper.

BROWSING AMONG THE EXCHANGES is a pleasurable task at any time, and particularly so when one has plenty of time for a leisurely survey and appreciation of the editorial pages and columnist creations of other newspapers, still called "Exchanges" in the Sanctum Santorum from the ancient habit of exchanging publications, a practise which died with the Great War and the high price of paper. Browsing among the Exchanges, what an adventure, ever on the alert for the discovery of bright nuggets of wisdom and information hidden away from the casual eyes of the ordinary newspaper reader. One such exchange of unique interest is "The Linotype News," published in Brooklyn, N. Y., as the house organ of the manufacturers of the Linotype machine, the machine which has made possible bigger and better newspapers, and a pepping up all round of the printing and publishing business. Perusing the May number of The Linotype News among the customary bright, sparkling and witty paragraphs on the editorial page the following paragraph gripped our interest and attention, particularly because we have always had a keen admiration for that wonder man and miracle worker who has contributed so much to the development and improvement of the automobile, Charles F. Kettering. Here's the paragraph referred to, judge for yourself:

THE WHOLE THING IS AHEAD OF US

Month after month, with variations, we have been telling you that the supply of materials for the filling of all the needs of the world for generations yet unborn is limitless. Let a great need arise and, suddenly, there is a great supply. If we can't get one kind of thing, we get something just as good.

Charles F. Kettering, the inventive genius of General Motors, knows that we need never worry over lack of a supply of what is needed. Natural resources are never exhausted. One particular thing may go, but before it goes something better has been discovered to take its place. There will always be plenty of work and plenty of materials for millions of men and women.

As an example of the Kettering optimism based on scientific facts, let us tell you of the conversation with some of his engineering friends who wondered what could be done when the sources of gasoline were exhausted. We found this in a New York World-Telegram editorial:

"What is gasoline?" Mr. Kettering asked them. The reply was, "Petroleum."

"Well, what is petroleum?" "The product of decaying vegetable matter."

"How was the vegetable matter produced?" "By the growth of plants."

"What made the plants grow?" "The rays of the sun."

"And there,' said the scientist, "you have it. We run our automobiles now by the stored-up radiant heat of the sun. All we need is to take out a few steps here and there to run them by ray-transmitted power direct. I haven't the slightest idea what we are going to do when the supply of oil runs out, but we are going to do something long before it runs out.

"If we scientists and industrialists could get out of our minds the idea that we know very much about anything, and realize that the whole thing is ahead of us, then ,I think, we would have a shortage of labor in a brief time."

LOOKING BACKWARD

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 24th., 1919.

Strawberries sold on the market this morning at 23 cents and 25 cents per box. New green peas sold at 25 cents per pint.

Hogs are now selling at $20.50 per hundred weight.

Dr. G. Clinton of this city, Provincial Health Officer, has left for Quebec City, where he will attend a meeting of the Medical Association.

Dr. J. W. Ross, formerly of this city, Canadian Trade Commissioner to China, who has been spending a few days here renewing acquaintances, left today to return to China.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mather and little daughter of Vancouver, B. C., are visiting his mother in this city.

30 YEARS AGO

June 24th., 1909.

Year after year the Intelligencer has suggested through its columns the advisability of establishing a public swimming bath. This as yet has not been acted upon. However, we have not lost hope that some council one day will crown itself with glory and give to Belleville a swimming bath, where any one feeling the desire for a refreshing dip, can be accommodated by paying a small fee.

Mr. J. E. Parks is in Kingston to day on business.

Mr. P. J. Lee went to Kingston today on business.

Mr. and Mrs. Gael Donnelly of Rochester, N. Y., formerly of Belleville, are visiting relatives here.

40 YEARS AGO

June 24th., 1899.

Mr. Frank Ferris of New York City is spending his vacation here. At one time he was connected with the local branch of the Bank of Commerce.

Messrs. Frank and Reginald Pearce of Marmora are the guests of Mrs. Job Lingham in this city. They are preparing for a wheeling tour of the British Isles and the continent.

It would be hard to find a prettier place than Belleville in the month of June.

The bylaw regarding burdocks should be enforced. If allowed to go to seed we will have a bumper crop next year. The responsible parties should get busy.

Mr. J. Higgins of Prince Edward County, who left for the Klondike some months ago, has returned home fully convinced that he is just as well off here as in that remote country.

50 YEARS AGO

June 24th., 1889.

The Masonic excursion to Madoc was only fairly patronized this morning. The Oddfellows' and Military Band accompanied the excursion.

Mr. W. Ross of Hamilton, a former alderman of this city, is in town for a short time on business.

A number of local ball players went to Zion's Hill today to engage in a baseball match.

The following members of the Ramblers' Wheel Club will attend the meet of the C. W. A. at St. Catharines: W. P. Way, W. A. Lingham, J. L. Jamieson, C. Lazier, G. Scales, George Smith, G. J. Horne, James Bonar and Ed. Clarke. Lingham will be the only local man who will race at the meet; he has entered for four races.

Dr. William Canniff, Medical Health Officer of Toronto, was in the city today.

REMOVAL OF GOV'T

have been kept up to date as the result of the series of major incidents in Europe and the Far East.

The war office, the admiralty and the air ministry, of course, have plans for actual hostilities under review all the time but other departments are concerned with the civil side of war which would assume an importance never before approached.

Some of the government's plans are known. Conscription would be established at once and the necessary legislation has been drafted. "Dictators" holding in their hands all the powers of government, would be appointed in each section of the country to take charge of civilian defence.

Hundreds of thousands of children would be evacuated from London to less dangerous zones. Houses and camps for them have been marked on maps and all transportation arranged.

Shelters Arranged

Millions of gas masks have been distributed. Thousands of air raid shelters have been built in backyards and city parks. Plans for many others are completed.

Ambulance drivers are being trained, first aid crews drilled, extra firemen enrolled.

For months negotiations have been conducted between the government and representatives of industry. Plans are being drafted to place the whole business life of the nation on a war basis under the Ministry of Supply which would be given extraordinary powers to coordinate all financial and industrial resources.

The government has plans ready for storing and distributing food under a ration scheme, for press censorship, for distributing propaganda, for conversion of peaceful machines like fishing vessels into auxiliary naval ships, for collection of sufficient freighters to provide food for the population and raw products for industry, and in addition has schemes for war insurance, price fixing and increasing farm production.

BRITAIN, U. S.

Widespread Approval

The trade, said to be the first of its kind in history, won widespread approval on Capitol Hill, where legislation must be enacted to complete America's end of the bargain.

The cotton and rubber will be held in storage by both governments "against the contingency of a major war emergency." The two governments agreed not to dispose of the reserves for seven years except in war emergencies. Afterwards they must consult each other if they decide to dispose of their stocks.

Farm administration officials described the proposed barter as ratified by the Senate, and that both Houses must enact legislation giving the government authority to dispose of cotton held under loans. Little opposition to such legislative approval was expected.

American and British shipping are to divide the transport of both cotton and rubber equally. The rubber will be turned over to the War and Navy Departments for storage along with other war material reserves. To prevent deterioration, it will be moved into consumption channels and replaced by new stocks.

ITALY AROUSED OVER MANDATE

Rome, June 23—(AP)—The decision of France to cede Syrian Alexandretta to Turkey was described in a communique of Stefani, Italian official news agency, today as a "patent violation of France's part of the mandate entrusted to her by the Allied and Associated Powers."

The communique, representing the Fascist Government's attitude, said that Italy, as one of the Allied Powers, had a part in establishing the mandate. (France administered the territory under League of Nations mandate. Alexandretta since has become the Republic of Hatay.)

The Turkish Bath

Some boxer on a program has been hurt or cannot arrive in time, and it becomes necessary for a substitute to get rid of three or four pounds of weight in a few hours' time. As he may not have been very active training he has been taking plenty of foods and liquids. In extreme cases, a dose of Epsom salts is taken, not so much to get rid of bowel wastes which would weigh perhaps less than a pound but to drive excess water out of all the tissues. And water is heavy.

The favorite method boxers use to get rid of weight in a short time is the Turkish bath.

"The Turkish bath consists of about five minutes in the steam room; ten to fifteen minutes in the adjoining hot room, vigorous rubbing by a masseur with hot water ladled over the body at frequent intervals during the massage, followed by a shampoo with soap. The next stage is a plunge and swim through the cool pool (or a cool shower), and, finally, an hour of leisure in the cooling room."

You can thus see that from the moment he enters the steam room until his cool shower or plunge, heat is being applied and the perspiration as he sits in the hot room pours from his skin. And, as mentioned above, water is heavy.

He may remove three to five pounds by the Turkish bath and at the weighing time, 2 p.m., be able to "make" the required weight. As he has done without liquids of any kind during all this time, he will take a large drink of water immediately after the weigh-in, and by the hour of the bout that same evening he will have likely regained all the weight lost by the Turkish bath.

When the Turkish bath is being used to relax the individual, remove soreness and stiffness, and not to remove weight, the attendant may give him plenty of water to drink which causes further perspiration. Then, while lying in the cooling room, he may drink so much water that by the time he is ready to leave he is the same weight as before taking the Turkish bath.

ARCTIC DEFENCE

Necessity of guarding Canada's Arctic frontier, which looks into the back yards of Europe's dictators, is stressed by Walter E. Gilbert, veteran northern pilot, who has covered thousands of miles in the Arctic.

Today Northern aerial routes, pioneered by Canadian airmen, many of whom were war-time pilots, no longer are "forgotten trails" of the North; oceans and the icy wilderness of the Arctic fade as the barrier against attack on Canada's shores. Aviation has changed the picture.

Reports Germany sought air bases in Iceland and Greenland focussed attention on the frontier of the north. It is only 2500 miles from northern central Europe, a short distance under present aerial devlopment. Iceland is but 2000 miles from Winnipeg; Greenland 1500 by air. And land-locked bays and level stretches of land afford ideal bases for aerial and naval craft along the boundary.

Six years ago Commander Wolfgang von Gronau, internationally famed German pilot, demonstrated the feasibility of the aerial highway from Greenland to Canada, a flight of but a few hours.

In a charted course from Greenland over the coast of Labrador, von Gronau flew to the Gulf of St. Lawrence to Montreal, and from there to Chicago. In another flight in 1933 he crossed from Greenland to the Dominion, passed over Northern Ontario, via Cochrane, to Detroit. Later he came to Winnipeg, continued to Churchill, Manitoba's northern seaport and across the barrens to the far north Mackenzie River country.

Recent non-stop flight of the Russian airmen, General Vladimir Kokkinaki, from Moscow to Miscout Island, New Brunswick, a distance of 4000 miles, was another demonstration of quick aerial communication.

General Kokkinaki failed to reach his objective, New York, due to compass and oxygen difficulties, but he demonstrated the feasibility of high altitude flight for long distance flying.

Canada might well look to the unprotected border of the Arctic.—St. Catharines Standard.

GARDENING HINT

Gardening seems to breed sympathy and understanding. This tends to make gardeners helpful to each other.

This spirit of helpfulness prompted a gardener who "season after season, broke her back in digging dandelions out of her lawn" to tell the Eastern Chronicle (New Glasgow) of another method which she had discovered to a be "a restful operation." The Eastern Chronicle, in that spirit of public service which characterises newspapers, passed the word along to its readers, with the comment "Recommended." The information may be helpful to other gardeners and the Halifax Chronicle passes it along in turn

An ice-pick dipped in gasoline and thrust into the heart of the dandelions will kill the weeds with little damage to the surrounding grass.

The remedy sounds simple enough and if it proves an effective way to avoid the strenuous stooping and digging and pulling ordinarily employed, it will be a blessing to many a gardener. — Halifax Chronicle.

Letters to the Editor

167 Wellington St, June 22

Dear Mr. Editor:

For the last several weeks I have neglected to read that portion of your paper reserved for civic discussions, being tired of so many reactionary letters.

Looking through the later edition tonight, I fail to find any reason advanced to account for the refusal of the City to give a proper Hall to Queen Mary School.

Of course it is said that we are poor—but must we also be ignorant? The English, in an authorised statement over the radio tell us that, in view of the drop in birthrate, and the immense expenditure laid out on their youth by the reactionary powers, they have in spite of unprecedented taxation, devoted more money to education than ever before. In this way Britain prepares the brains of her people to find a way to combat mere strength and ignorance.

Do we do well to refuse to lift the handicap on our own local youth?

This afternoon I answered an invitation to hear Queen Mary's musical recital. It was evident that great pains and efficiency had been exercised to train the children—who to the last pupil voluntarily gave up the first hour of their holiday to support their school. But, in spite of the fact that the class included some of the voices that have thrilled large congregations in Christ Church, and all made earnest efforts to give pleasure to their listeners—many a mother must have returned home to say: 'Well, darling, I did go, but I simply couldn't hear a thing.' At the back of the hall the voices of those devoted men and women who seek to encourage the children by giving away the prizes, and offering a few simple words of praise and advice—are absolutely inaudible, only to be imagined by the movement of their lips!

It is all in a part of the hopeless cry of Belleville that we lack factories; whilst the splendid industries that do seek to roost on our doorstep have been so often killed by the sword of taxation in order the faster to extract the golden eggs we should expect from them.

When we see how much one man with business ability can do for the City, such a one as Tom Marshall for instance, is there no one in our Council who can raise the flag of progress? If not, isn't it high time that some of our more civic-minded patriots offered their invaluable services?

Very sincerely yours,
Veronica Spafford.

KING AND PRESS

The verdict of the London newspapers is quite favorable in regard to the King's reception of Canadian and United States newspapers in Ottawa recently. It was a distinct departure from the King's custom as he had never granted a conference to newspapermen in Britain, and British journalists had to come to Canada to enjoy this delightful interview. "The King is to be congratulated," said The News-Chronicle "on cutting red tape and inviting American journalists to meet him. He could have chosen no better way of showing his humanity and commending himself to the hearts of the American people."

It was a master stroke of policy, and the King is to be commended for his good judgment in breaking down the barrier that has so far excluded newspaper representatives from personal interviews. In this regard the King showed himself to be a democratic sovereign with an earnest desire to come into close contact not only with the people of Canada, but also with those of the United States.

One of the reasons why the monarchy has survived in Britain and in the British nations is that "the divinity that doth hedge a king" has been largely broken down, and the reigning sovereign has identified himself with all the interests of the common people. It is safe to say that henceforth not only in the Dominion, but also in the United States there will be an entirely different view taken of the relationship that exists between the monarch and his subjects. His Majesty's illustrious father, King George V, was known as a democratic King, but apparently his son, George VI, is resolved to even surpass him in this respect.—Brantford Expositor.

MYSTERY DEER

Mystery of the black barking deer, one of the least known of animals has at last been solved by the Bernay-Cutting Zoological Expedition. Mr. Arthur S. Vernay and Mr. C. Suydam Cutting, trustess of the American Museum of Natural History and leaders of the expedition, set out from Rangoon towards the end of last year. With them went Mr. Kingdon Ward, well known botanist and collector of Asiatic plants, Dr. Harold E. Anthony, Curator of the Department of Mammals of the Museum and Mr. J. K. Stanford, late Deputy Commissioner of Myitkyina, Burma, and a well known ornithologist.

After a 700-mile trek into the Burmese hinterland, the expedition secured two specimens, male and female, of black barking deer and a number of skins and skeletons. As far as is known there is not a single specimen in any museum.

The existence of this deer was discovered 15 years ago. The animal has been so called because to all appearances it is black, altho' actually it is a deep steel-grey. The expedition also secured 1200 specimens of small animals, 1500 specimens of birds and 2000 specimens of plants of 500 different species. It has an example of the Chinese coffin tree, over which there has been considerable discussion. — Montreal Gazette.

NEW AIR BATTLE

Domei, Japanese news agency, told of the new air battle. Its report said the Japanese planes had repulsed an attack by 60 Mongolian craft in a "fierce mid-air encounter" over the Khalka River, near Amkulan, north of Lake Bor.

Another Attack Expected

The war office spokesman said another attack could be expected because "the Mongols, now a dispirited enemy, must demonstrate renewed strength in order to regain their confidence."

(In Moscow, diplomatic quarters received reports of severe fighting on the Manchoukuo-Outer Mongolian frontier. One version there was that troop concentrations on both sides of the border have been increasing since the recent heavy clashes.)

In his discussion of the situation the war office spokesman declined to comment on an editorial in the newspaper Asahi that Russia's aim "is to ascertain the military strength of Japan and simultaneously give an encouraging hint to China that a clash is forthcoming between Japan and third powers."

Two Skirmishes

The battle Thursday was announced yesterday in a communique by the Japanese Kwantung army. Today a correspondent of the Tokyo newspaper Nichi Nichi said he had witnessed the encounter which was in reality two skirmishes.

In the first, he stated, the Japanese engaged 60 Mongolian planes and shot down 24, and in the second shot down 25 to 100. The first fight lasted 15 minutes and the second 20 minutes, he said.

The Japanese planes were said to have attacked in a "T" formation.

REPORTORIAL COMPLAINT

Taking an award from the Atlantic City Press Club the other day, one Dr. William J. Carrington set himself up as a competitor for Bernard Shaw.

"Newspapermen," he said, "usually have avitaminosis, from a combination of acid scepticisim, sourpuss and malnutrition."

This is so intriguing that the average newspaperman will be grateful that Dr. Carrington thought it up. They have taken enough abuse from Hollywood's caricatures of the "typical" journalist who never existed, and from the generally accepted judgment that they are improvident, cynical and against the government.

But such abuse is rarely well phrased. In Dr. Carrington's case it is. He has handed a left-handed tribute with a flowering journalistic jargon which few newspapermen could equal.—Hamilton Spectator.

Latest U. S. Submarine

Undaunted by the recent series of submarine disasters, Uncle Sam's latest undersea fighter, Sea Raven, is shown on the ways at Portsmouth Navy Yard, just before being christened by Mrs. Cyrus W. Cole, wife of the commander of the base. The Sea Raven is a sister ship of the ill-fated Squalus which is at present undergoing salvage operations about 15 miles from the naval base.

ELECTROCUTED IN POOL OF WATER

Fell Into Pool from Wire Fence He Was Trying to Fix

Little Current, Ont., June 24 —(CP)—This little Manitoulin Island town went through its second night without electricity last night as police opened an investigation into the death of Al Griffith, 40, electrocuted Thursday night when he fell into a pool of water from a wire-fence enclosure around a transformer he was helping to fix.

Griffith died in the water while his wife and a fellow worker, Bert Muckler of Sudbury, stood by helplessly. The transformer was put out of commission Thursday evening during a severe storm. Power was restored after Griffith and Muckler spent several hours fixing the transformer.

As they were preparing to leave the enclosure around the transformer, Muckler touched a post and received a shock. Griffith went to go through the gate of the enclosure when Muckler told him there was a short circuit. Griffith's climbing spur caught in a strand of the wire fence and he toppled forward into the water.

Water Makes Ground

As Griffith fell, sparks of electricity shot from the transformer and the water made a perfect ground for the live current. The fence became charged.

Muckler stood two feet from Griffith for 45 minutes, afraid to move for fear of being shocked by the current. He warned Mrs. Griffith to stay back when she rushed to the spot after seeing her husband fall.

Mrs. Griffith's screams attracted J. T. McDonald, deckhand on a government ferry a short distance away. McDonald telephoned Whitefish Falls, site of the power plant, and officials turned off the power. Police refused to allow the power to be turned on again until they had completed a thorough examination of the transformer.

Artificial respiration was tried on Griffith's body for five hours after it was taken from the water. An inquest will be held next week.

Plea for International Peace Made by Bishop

Toronto, June 24—(CP)—A plea for international peace was made here last night by Most Rev. Joseph Ryan, Bishop of Hamilton, before 20,000 Roman Catholics gathered in Varsity Stadium.

Addressing the large crowd at a Holy Hour Service in connection with the Provincial Holy Name Society Convention, Bishop Ryan said disputes of nations should be settled "not by the might of standing armies, but in the peaceful courts of international arbitration; not by the sword, but by the peaceful discussions of Christ-like men."

"The Pope has invited the whole Catholic world to new and more fervent prayers that the world may be liberated from its present anxieties, and that peace and fraternal concord may prevail among men," he said.

"The world is actually too tired to think itself out of the maelstrom of possible horrors. While it does its best, it seems to be doing its worst and to be sinking back."

With only the starry sky above them, the worshippers prayed and sang hymns as part of the traditional Holy Hour Service of the Church, ending with benediction of the Blessed Sacrament.

As the Blessed Sacrament was borne into the stadium field and up to the altar, candles were lit in the hands of the people.

SOAP-BOX DERBY ATTRACTS YOUTH

It won't be long now. The youth of the city is laboring diligently, creating various types of wonder-machines that will carry the hopes of their youthful builders in the forthcoming Kinsmen Club Soap-Box Derby that it is expected will thrill thousands on "Derby Hill" on July 11th.

Many original ideas, with "Dad" throwing in the odd suggestion are gradually taking tangible form, and officials of the club state that this year's entries will outdo all other years for originality of design and efficiency of workmanship.

A few of the embryonic "Barney Oldfields" have already given their creations trial runs and some excellent times have been reported.

Enthusiasm is keen especially in the minds of the public school and a record number of entries is expected from this quarter. In another part of this edition will be found a picture carrying instructions how to build the body of the racers. If young builders follow closely the instructions carried, a lot of their trouble will be remedied.

Special wheels, built for the purpose, are now on sale at the Front Street office of the Kinsmen Club, where officials will gladly give any advice to builders and drivers. The office will remain open daily from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m.

With the new up-to-date ramp that will, it is expected, give the machines a much quicker start than others that have been used, nearing completion, and other arrangements gradually approaching the completed stage, officials are looking forward to one of the most exciting events in the history of the now-famous classic.

TRYING TO SOLVE MYSTERY SLAYING

Girl Sticks to Story Hitchhiker Killed Her Male Companion

Lansing, Mich., June 24—(AP)—Secrecy today surrounded the next move of detectives trying to solve the mysterious killing of a middle-aged Detroit oil promoter, allegedly by a hitch-hiker.

If police obtained any useful information from several persons they questioned and then released last night, there was no indication of it.

Most of those interrogated were business associates of the dead man, George G. Hall, 50, or friends of his woman companion on the fatal automobile ride, Miss Ruby Doty, 32, of Pinconning.

Miss Doty also was questioned and then left for her home. She repeated the details of the ride and shooting after leading officers on an all-day search which finally ended with the finding of Hall's body behind a syringa bush 30 feet from a road three miles south of Laingsburg.

Detective Chief Ira Marmon said he found no discrepancy as Miss Doty repeated her story of picking up a hitch-hiker, about 30 years old and with a scar on one cheek, who shot Hall without warning and dumped the body on an unoccupied farm. She said the killer drove around with her a prisoner in the car for eight hours, meanwhile making love to her and finally releasing her in Grand Rapids on a promise of a "date."

Miss Doty said Hall lived for some time after being shot and died in her arms.

These suggestions on racer body construction from the 1939 Soap Box Derby Official Rule Book are offered merely as "starters" to boys who are planning to build race cars for this year's great sports classic. In the construction of the race car body, each driver has the widest range of designs, allowing him to express his own ideas freely. Winning cars have varied widely in body design, so it's part of the fun of the race to express your own ideas in the construction of your car for this year's race.

POWER PRESIDENT DIES

Montreal, June 24—(CP)—Julian Cleveland Smith, 61, President of Shawinigan Water and Power Company and former President of Montreal Tramways Company, died early today.

Mr. Smith also was President of Quebec Power Company. He was on the Board of Directors of the Royal Bank of Canada, Montreal Trust Company, Dominion Bridge Company, Montreal Tramways, Montreal Light, Heat and Power Consolidated, and Dominion Engineering Works Limited.

A native of Elmira, N.Y., Mr. Smith was educated at Central High School in Buffalo, at Cornell University and at Queen's University in Kingston, Ont., and McGill University.

Gigantic Circus is a Little Transient City

The moving municipality of the Great Cole Bros. Circus covers an area of 12 acres. Its population, according to the last monthly census, consists of 700 people, 300 horses, 20 elephants, two caravans of camels, 10 zebras and 250 wild animals.

To move their tented enterprise over the country, Cole Brothers employ two trains of double length railroad cars. These are divided into trains depending upon the grades to be overcome by the motive power. One section is used to haul the parade equipment. Another carries the portable stage, costumes, special scenery and electrical apparatus used in this season's colossal spectacle.

Cole Bros. Circus represents an investment of $1,250,000 with a daily expense of $5,500. Large as the initial sum may seem it is easily understood when elephants are computed at $5,000 to $10,000 according to their ability to perform and trained horses at an average of $1,000 each. The feeding of the menagerie and the people of this great circus is an item of expense which only thousands of dollars and perfect system can accomplish.

The gigantic canvas hotel occupied by the circus people includes the largest kitchen in the world. A force of 40 chefs, cooks and waiters serve over 2,100 meals a day. The cooking is done on huge ranges and in caldrons and pots of giant proportion heated by steam. Since the majority of this season's performers come from foreign lands, interpreters are carried and the chefs see that special native dishes are prepared for their benefit. All told there are 22 tents in Coleville, and within its confines are spoken no less than 18 languages and dialects. It is a city of many tongues and endless wonders. Cole Bros. will exhibit in Belleville, Thursday, June 29.

Circus day festivities will be ushered in with an immense street parade to be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a. m. Nearly 50 elaborate vehicular appurtenances will be seen along with 20 herds of elephants, two caravans of camels and upwards of 300 horses. Five trumpeting bands and two calliopes will furnish music for the picturesque processional. Doors to the menagerie will open at 1 and 7 p. m.

The big show will start promptly at 2 and 8 p. m. on account of its length. The Cole Bros. Circus recently returned to America after a five year triumphal tour of Continental Europe.

Household Pests Methods of Control

Among the enquiries for information on household insects received by the Division of Entomology of the Science Service, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, probably the most numerous relate to such common pests as ants, cockroaches, silverfish, clothes moths, carpet beetles, house flies, and bedbugs. Ants are particularly annoying in kitchens and pantries at this time of the year, where they are attracted by foodstuffs, especially sweet and fatty substances. Cockroaches and silverfish may be troublesome all the year round, the former feeding upon practically all kinds of foodstuffs, and the latter preferring materials containing starch and glue. These three kinds of insects can be controlled by the same insecticides: namely, by a mixture of equal parts of sodium fluoride and pyrethrum powder, or by the first-named insecticide alone. The powder, which is a poison and should be used with caution on that account, may be applied with a small dust gun or insecticide puffer, blowing it into the cracks and crevices where the insects occur and in other places which they frequent.

The prevention of damage by clothes moths and carpet beetles is less simple and requires care and forethought. Clothing and other articles which these insects attack, when no longer in frequent use, should be brushed and beaten and put away in well-made trunks or boxes, or moth bags, together with a generous supply of naphthalene flakes, about a pound to each trunk, and several ounces to each bag. Places which may harbour the insects such as floor cracks, baseboards, furnace air shafts, etc., should be cleaned out at intervals. When available, a vacuum cleaner is useful fqor this purpose and also for perventing damage to rugs and upholstered furniture.

House flies, which breed in filth, such as manure and garbage, become numerous with the arrival of warm weather. Owing to their structure and habits these insects are important disease carriers. Control is most effective when conducted on a community scale, including the incineration of garbage and the proper treatment and disposal of manure. Doors and windows of dwellings should be screened, and flies that find their way into houses should be promptly destroyed by fly swatters, sticky fly paper, poisoned fly pads, or pyrethrum fly spray.

For further information on the life-history and control of these insects, including bedbugs, write to the Publicity and Extension Division, Department of Agriculture, Ottawa, for a copy of Circular No. 137.

Poison Sprays For Potato Beetles

Potato beetles are usually found in the field even before the new crop of potatoes is up. They lay their eggs on the under sides of the leaves in yellow masses. When a number of these have hatched is the time to make the first application of the poison spray. The best and cheapest poison to use, states Alan G. Dustan, Division of Entomology, Dominion Department of Agriculture, is calcium arsenate at the rate of one and a half to two pounds in 40 gallons of Bordeaux mixture (copper sulphate 6 lb., lime 4 lb., water 40 gallons). If the poison is used in water alone add two to three pounds of hydrated lime to each 40 gallons. Should arsenate of lead or Paris green be preferred as a poison, two to three pounds of the former and a half to one pound of the latter may be substituted in each 40 gallon barrel of spray.

Growers who prefer to apply the poison in powder form should use a dust composed of one part of arsenate of lead to six parts of hydrated lime. In dusting, best results will be secured if the application is made in the early morning or late evening when the vines are wet with dew and the air calm.

In spraying potatoes, the poison should always be mixed with Bordeaux as this material is not only a valuable fungicide but repels the attacks of destructive insects like the flea bettle and leafhopper. Two or three applications in a season should give sufficient protection from all insects when applied thoroughly and at a time when the new damage first becomes evident. In spraying, cover both the upper and the lower surfaces of the leaves and use an abundance of material. When the plants are small, 50 to 75 gallons per acre, and when fully grown 100 to 120 gallons per acre is not too much at each application.

MARRIAGE NOTICE

CROSS—SCHRIEDER — Mr. and Mrs. W. Schrieder of this city wish to announce the marriage of their daughter, Mary to Walter Harold, son of Mr. and Mrs. H. W. Cross of this city, which took place on Saturday, June 17, 1939.

Mr. Murry Denike of Chicago, is visiting in the city.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Thompson and Mr. and Mrs. J. MacDonald have returned home after attending the New York World's Fair. During their visit they were guests of Sergeant and Mrs. Henry of the New York Mounted Police.

Mr. Edward E. Follwell, Grier St., was successful in his second year law examination at Osgoode Hall, Toronto.

Mrs. Fred Temple and Miss Dorothy Grant were tea hostesses at the Belleville Golf Club this afternoon.

Miss Eleanor Johnston left yesterday for Winnipeg after holidaying in the city. On Wednesday evening Miss Della Anderson entertained at a delightful farewell party at the home of Mrs. G. Andrews, Boswell Street, in Miss Johnston's honor. A very interesting evening was enjoyed at the close of which dainty refreshments were served.

Mrs. E. Schrieder Sr., was hostess at a delightfully arranged linen and kitchen shower, in honour of Miss Mary Schrieder. The rooms were decorated with white bells and pink and white streamers. Euchre was played during the evening, the prizes were won by Mrs. S. Shortts, Mrs. A. Eves, Mrs. T. Helm and Miss Willa Elliott. The guest of honour was the recipient of many lovely and useful gifts for which she graciously thanked her friends after which a dainty lunch was served to about thirty-five guests.

A delightfully arranged kitchen shower was given in honour of Miss Ruth Hoskins, whose marriage will take place shortly, by the joint hostesses, Mrs. Fralick and Mrs. Maracle at the former's home. About twenty-five guests assembled and enjoyed euchre and other games. During the evening guitar solos by Miss Jean Maracle and songs and dances by Mr. Frank Daniels were greatly appreciated. An address was read by Miss Olive Fralick and the bride-to-be presented with a daintily-trimmed basket filled with gifts. Miss Hoskins thanked her friends graciously. The service of dainty refreshments brought an enjoyable evening to a close.

The wide sloping lawns at the home of Mrs. Billy Hughes, 41 East Moira Street, proved an ideal setting for the garden party held with outstanding success yesterday by the members of Christ Church Parish Guild. A very large number of guests were present for bridge and euchre early in the afternoon and many men dropped in at the tea hour. Mrs. E. Hickey, president of the Guild, received with Mrs. Hughes. Card tables were arranged in the house and on the lawn. Winners of prizes for bridge were Mrs. Saunders, Mrs. A. Duffield, Mrs. Harold Clark and for euchre Mrs. Jo Adams and Mrs. Baker. Tea was served on the lawn. The dainty lace covered table was centered with roses and delphiniums. Mrs. J. Harold and Mrs. G. G. Wright poured tea and members of the C.G.I.T. served. Mrs. B. J. Theobald was treasurer for the tea. The home-cooking table was in charge of Mrs. W. Adams and Mrs. Storms while Miss Florence Fitzgerald was in charge of the candy table.

With perfect summer weather contributing to the success of the event, the afternoon tea held yesterday by the Girl Guide Council at the home of the divisional commissioner, Mrs. M. E. Branscombe was attended by many visitors from the city and district, Mrs. Leo B. Riggs, district commissioner and Mrs. W. H. Ackerman, deputy commissioner, received with the hostess. Mothers of Girl Guides and former Guides assisted the Council in arrangements, the co-operation of all making the tea a decided success. Field daisies in profusion made a dainty background for the occasion and were used as a centre for the tea table at which Miss Hilda Collier, Mrs. P. C. McGuire, and Miss Dorothy Boyle poured. Miss Elizabeth Corbett was convener of the tea and those who assisted during the afternoon were Mrs. R. D. Arnott, Mrs. B. C. Donnan, Miss Jean Dickens, Mrs. Spruston, Mrs. J. W. Howard, Mrs. C. A Cameron, Miss I. Aman, Mrs. G. Duesberry, Mrs. R. A. Lashbrook and Mrs. J. Diamond. The home-cooking table was well patronized by guests as they visited the lovely garden and was in charge of Mrs. O. H. Trusdale, Mrs. R. Hamilton and Mrs. W. N. Gilroy. Mrs. J. C. McCarthy was treasurer in the absence of Mrs. A. E. MacColl.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Siren For a Dull Family

The lady in this husband's letter of complaint appears to be that almost impossible combination men have been looking for, from the beginning. She is a "natural born siren" and an excellent housekeeper. Still her husband isn't happy.

He appreciates her economy, the way the savings account goes up slowly but steadily, the bargains she brings home, the smart appearance of the house—but he sulks about her ability to charm all and sundry.

In other words, father is jealous of a wife who is 42, but still declines to grow old and cease to have admirers. Father is not alone in his jealousy eoither. The 22-year old daughter doesn't like the way her fiance stops to say hello to mother and often prolongs the greeting into half an hour's merry chit-chat.

Extract from father's letter: "There isn't a mite of harm in my wife, but it's not natural the way everyone falls for her at her time of life. She's 42 and can out-dance any of our kids. And she doesn't exactly flirt when she goes to market, but she's so pleasantly talky-talky that she gets a few cents knocked off everythng.

"There is no denying it, Ma is certainly stream-lined, latest model, but we'd like it a whole lot better, if she acted more like 42 than 22."

I wonder if he would. And wouldn't he, if he found himself married to a lady who acted out all her 42 years, be looking 'round for someone nearer 22?

I've often wondered if there were any new problems or combination of human problems that hadn't found their way to this column. Here it is, at last. A wife, who is a siren (without a mite of harm) and at the same time a good cook and housekeeper as well. And still the family isn't happy in the possession of this perfection.

Hundreds of letters have come to the Beatrice Fairfax column from husbands who, while they enjoy their wives' fluffy biscuits and savory pot-roasts, have said something like "If I could only take some pride in her, but she looks and acts such a dud—when we're out——"

And the other side of the medal: "She's a wonder for looks and all the boys fall for her, but she just can't make a cup of coffee."

I'd like to hear from that lady the one who is a combination siren and good housekeeper. To me it seems likely that she's entirely wasted on a dull family. You can visualize her trying to make a go of things at a dull family dinner table—a good dinner, too, as her husband admits. She'd make a good story out of the give-and-take with the butcher, the vegetable man, to get things a little cheaper.

No one perhaps pays much attention to the unappreciated domestic Muse of Comedy. They don't bother to answer her running account of the market, unless one of them might ask in a voice husky with gravy: "Please pass the potatoes."

"Informal" Cards Have Many Uses

Very popular today, and most convenient, is the folded card, the so-called "Informals" or "Informal Message Cards", which may be used when we write a brief message.

These folded cards may be obtained in several sizes, all of which are larger than the usual visiting-card. The largest size is the most convenient to use.

In the centre of the outside 'page' is engraved the name, as: Miss Elizabeth Forbes or Mrs. George Case Forbes, or Mr. and Mrs. George Case Forbes. To give the cards even greater convenience, the address is usually engraved in the lower right corner, in a type smaller than that used in the name.

These folded cards do not take the place of visiting-cards, and should never be left or sent unless a message is written on them. On the third page, or on the second and third pages used as one, may be written many kinds of informal invitations—to tea, to cocktails, musicale, bridge, shower, housewarming, and so forth. It is the "card of a hundred uses", too, to carry messages of various kinds, messages too long to write on a visiting-card, or perhaps too short to write on note-paper.

These cards are often used to notify friends of a new address. On either the first or the third page may be written the new telephone number.

If you are in doubt about a present for a bride-to-be, or a housewarming or birthday present, or a present for any other occasion, you will give special delight if you give these informal cards. Matching envelopes ,unlined or lined with unpatterned light or dark grey tissue will add enormously to your present.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Severer Forms of Scurvy in Children Causes Extreme Suffering

As we discovered yesterday, when babies contract scurvy it is usually noticed first in their feet and legs. The hemorrhage under these circumstances occurs well under the skin, or it may be deeper, extending right down to the bone. In the more serious cases, we sometimes find that the outer covering of the bone—the periosteum—has been stripped off, due to the large amount of blood lying underneath it.

Another place babies are apt to hemorrhage from scurvy is in the gums. This is because the malady makes its appearance at the time the teeth are beginning to come through. The gums are never involved in a baby that has no teeth and so the importance of the injury to the tissues is apparent.

Of course, hemorrhages may occur in many other parts of the body. The skin may develop large bruises, which are more apt to occur where the skin has been damaged in some way. If a child has scurvy, the slightest injury fill cause a large bruise. Frequently they occur in the area about the eye, and the baby develops what is commonly called a "shiner", for no apparent reason.

Here is the story we doctors usualy find when we run across a case of scurvy in a baby. The child was in the best of health from three to six weeks before the most acute symptoms developed. The first abnormality was that the infant began refusing his food. Then he became increasingly irritable and didn't sleep quietly.

We know that the usual lesion in scurvy is a hemorrhage occurring any place in the body due to the weakening of the cement which holds the cells forming the blood vessels togethre. So it may well be that the early signs of irritability in the baby are due to small hemorrhages occurring where they aren't noticed and causing him some pain. I say this because the case usually starts out with an irritability for which there is no known cause.

Next thing the mother notices is that the baby screams when he is picked up or handled. It gets so he yells when he sees the mother walking toward him, because handling hurts him extremely. As the disease gains headway, the mother will notice that her baby doesn't move his lower extremities at all. Finally, when the disease reaches its height, the baby will lie with his legs drawn up slightly and separated as much as possible. He will not move from his position and any attempt to move him will be met by screams of pain. This pain in handling is due to hemorrhage about the bones of the legs.

In its severer forms, the hemorrhage becomes so bad that the small, growing end of the bone breaks off from the rest and a layer of blood separates the two. When this happens, every movement is accompanied by the same pain as though an actual fracture or break had occurred.

Worthy Grand Matron Visits Minerva Chapter No. 138, O. E. S.

Friday evening, Minerva Chapter 138, O.E.S. was honored by a visit from Mrs. Ethel Malcolm, Worthy Grand Matron of Grand Chapter of Ontario. Also present were a number of grand officers from Ottawa and Kingston and many visitors from surrounding districts. All were welcomed by Mrs. Twiddy, Worthy Matron and Mr. Lazenby, Worthy Patron. A class of candidates received the degrees of the Order. The officers were congratulated by the visitor on the performance of their work.

Mrs. Malcolm was presented with a gift from the Chapter. Refreshments and a social hour were enjoyed at a close of the meeting.

Personality Props

LINDA DARNELL

This beauty has a charming, radiant personality

By HELEN FOLLETT

Is personality what you are or what you make others think you are? Never mind, it doesn't matter. If you are good-natured, have gracious manners, warmth and radiance, you won't miss out. You'll step high and you'll step handsome. You'll find the world exactly to your liking.

Many a charming personality is hidden away beneath a cloak of self-consciousness or shyness. That is a sad state of affairs, since self-consciousness makes a girl wrethhed. A good way to crawl out from under the clouds is to go on a beautifying binge. Get the latest coiffure. Find a make-up specialist who will work out a complexon color plan. Get some sassy clothes, even if you have to snake money out of the savings bank. Tiptop appearance gives one courage and self-respect, and that's all the shy girl needs.

To look well is to feel buoyant and spirited. Look scrubby and you feel scrubby. Everyone should have a normal, pleasant social life, and that's not possible if one is beset with social fear.

If you are numbered among the hesitant, retiring contingent, try to cultivate a little vanity and conceit. They will help you find your place in the world. Those who win out in business or social life have a little bit of these qualities that are, after all, wholesome props and reliable supports. Do we hear boos from the beauty gallery? We stand by the statement just the same.

Yassum, the pompadour is with us. Now and then you spot a girl in a 1903 shirtwaist and a hair dress of the same date. Just like Aunt Emily in the photograph album.

The new pomp does not drop down over the forehead, but, Lawsy me! who knows when it will? The naked forehead has been with us for more years than we can remember perhaps it is time for it to go into retirement.

Rolls atop the head are going a bit stale everybody's wearing them. What everybody wears nobody wants any more. As soon as all the girls fall for a new style, it is ready fore retirement. And, as there seems to be a limit to designs in clothes and coiffures, we have to go back into the remote past, dig out the best it has to offer.

Fashion Flashes

(By ALICE ALDEN)

Warm up on coolish evenings with a little cardigan. A charming frock of coloral pink sheer plaided in silver has its own short-sleeved sweater of hand-knitted silver cord.

Stock up with white splashed in color. A swell frock is of white crepe the bodice in casual shirtwaist style, the gored skirt herringbone-tucked. At the waist is a sash of fuchsia, deep purple and white crepe.

The same fine tailoring and style goes into a smart linen suit as in a woollen model. A beauty is of black linen, crease-resistant, made with a perfetcly fitted short jacket and an umbrella stitch-pleated skirt. It has a patent leather belt to match a strawberry cluster on the lapel, and is worn with lingerie blouse of embroidered batiste.

Summer nights bring out dozens of such cotton evening frocks as a flower-printed model, red on a white background. It is strapless with a heart-shaped neckline marked by ruching, which also trims the hem. A huge red bow with trailing ends is placed at the left shoulder.

Going all day demands a smart yet simple frock. An ideal model is in black shere with a cream white satin collar and enormous roses of the satin at the shoulder. The sleeves are shirred, and a self-belt ties in front.

A lift to summer things is given by one of those hat and bag sets done of straw, trimmed with huge clusters of vividly colored fruits—apples, oranges or huge strawberries.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Shadows Over Shanghai"
"Small Town Boy"

James Dunn, whose portrayal of breezy, daredevil young heroes has become a standard for motion pictures, brings the newest of these to the screen in his latest starring production entitled "Shadows Over Shanghai" which opens next at the McCarthy Theatre.

Cast opposite James Dunn, is the lovely Linda Gray, to whom much credit goes in making the picture so delightful throughout and yet not letting it lose its interest in the way of bringing to the screen a dramatic story of espionage and conflict in war-torn China of today Frank Morgan, Robert Barrat, Paul Sutton and Billy Bevan also top featured players in the cast of "Shadows Over Shanghai" are all seen to perfection in their respective roles and give the story a realness that is most interesting.

Seen on the same new bill which opens next at the McCarthy Theatre and which is to be the companion feature during the period that "Shadows Over Shanghai" will be shown is Fun-maker Stuart Erwin is a 70 minute riot of fun and laughs entitled "Small Town Boy" the picture you have been waiting for! The supporting cast includes Joyce Compton (recently featured in "Rose of Washington Square), Jed Prouty, James Blakley, Clara Blandick and Dorothy Appleby. The picture was made from the famous Cosmopolitan Magazine story "The Thousand Dollar Bill" by Manuel Komroff and produced by Zion Myers who has a record of recent screen successes of which "Small Town Boy" is given top rating. Also in addition to "Shadows Over Shanghai" and "Small Town Boy" the most recently produced Floyd Gibbon's True Adventure story entitled "Chained" which promises to be his most exciting, will be presented at each complete performance.

New Playing

"Only Angels Have Wings" the Columbia film produced and directed by Howard Hawks is now being presented for the last times at the McCarthy Theatre. The film which has been unanimously praised as the greatest screen adventure of 1939, co-stars Gary Grant as an adventurous pilot in South America and Jean Arthur, as a stranded American showgirl. Set against the colorful South American Andes mountains, "Only Angels Have Wings" tells a thrilling story of romance and adventure. In its cast in addition to the co-stars, are Thomas Mitchell, Rita Hayworth, Richard Barthelmess, Sig Ruman, Noah Beery, Jr. and other noted character actors. Please do not miss "Only Angels Have Wings" it's entertainment through and through.

AT THE BELLE

"East Side of Heaven"

Down to earth humanness combined with music so catchy that you just naturally hum it as you leave the theatre is a movie formula guaranteed to please.

And it more than pleases in Universal's new Bing Crosby - Joan Blondell picture, "East Side of Heaven", now at the Belle Theatre.

Bing is a cruising troubadour, or to put it more plainly a singing taxi driver. Joan, his sweetheart, is a hotel telephone operator. Mischa Auer is Bing's unemployed roommate who has learned from reading the stars that he should not even look for work until 1942.

There is your background for the story. And all three players do a successful job of making you like them because you know them so well. You have known them for years—the girl down the block, the boy in that cheap fourth-floor room, and that other likeable fellow who will go to no end of trouble to keep away from work.

Baby Introduced.

This trio would be quite sufficient in any picture. But in "East Side of Heaven" they are aided, and very materially, by "Sandy", the cutest infant ever to face a movie camera. "Sandy" is "deposited" with Crosby by Irene Hervey, who takes this means of keeping her baby from her wealthy and hard-fisted father-in-law, portrayed by C. Aubrey Smith. That's when the fun really starts, fun such as you have rarely seen until you watch Bing, Joan and Mischa try to take care of the youngster.

Then there is the music, four brand new lilting tunes of the kind you want to sing, whistle or hum in or out of a shower bath. They are called "East Side of Heaven", "Sing a Song of Sunbeans", "That Sly Old Gentleman From Featherbed Lane" and "Hang Your Heart on a Hickory Limb". Johnny Burke and James Monaco, two of America's favorite composers, wrote them. Crosby sings them in that style which is all his own. Furthermore, each song has a definite and natural place in the plot.

David Butler directed the picture, giving it reality, smoothness and movement seldom equalled on the screen.

King and Queen In Color.

The King and Queen in "Royal Banners Over Ottawa", a timely and interesting subject, produced entirely in color, is a special extra attraction on the same program. 'Hockey Champ", an extremely funny Walt Disney cartoon and the popular Belle Newsreel will also be exhibited.

"This world presents enough problems if you believe it to be a world of law and order, and do not add to them by believing it to be a world of miracles."—Louis D. Brandeis.

"There is no sense in any one making war, and every argument is against it."—John Jacob Astor.

Cary Grant and Jean Arthur in a scene from "Only Angels Have Wings," which is now playing at the McCarthy Theatre.

Paying his first official visit to Toronto, Most Reverend Hilderbrand Antoniutti, LEFT, apostolic delegate in Canada, is shown here with Most Reverend James McGuigan, Archbishop of Toronto.

"Sandy", Joan Blondell and Bing Crosby in "East Side of Heaven", now at the Belle.

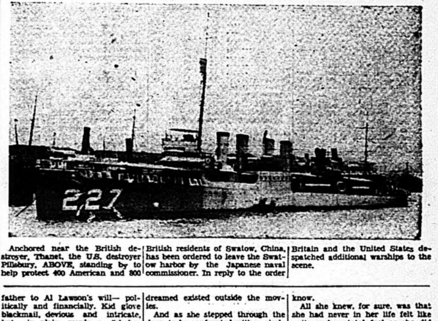
1,500,000 GERMAN TROOPS START SUMMER MANOEUVRES

Here are the latest pictures taken of Germany's highly-touted Siegfried Line, the barrier which the Nazis have erected facing the Maginot Line of France. Finishing touches are being rushed at same time as repair work, necessitated by recent floods which inundated part of the system. Meanwhile Germany is reported moving the first units of a force of 100,000 men into the fortifications, including the Condor Legion, which fought in the Spanish war, as a million and a half men start summer manoeuvres. German soldiers are seen entering the steel and concrete fortress, UPPER LEFT. At LOWER LEFT, two soldiers are shown in one of the washrooms. Note the ventilation system at RIGHT which would filter air in event of gas attack. At RIGHT, a soldier climbs up ladder to the firing step while another closes the door into the bomb and shell-proof shelter.

JAPAN ORDERS U. S., BRITISH WARSHIPS TO LEAVE



Anchored near the British destroyer, Thanet, the U.S. destroyer Pillsbury, ABOVE, standing by to help protect 400 American and 800 British residents of Swatow, China, has been ordered to leave the Swatow harbor by the Japanese naval commissioner. In reply to the order Britain and the United States despatched additional warships to the scene.

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

CHAPTER TWENTY-FIVE

Much had happened since Linda had fainted in the emergency hospital of Titan Tower.

Linda's fainting had served to stop any fight which might have ensued between the two doctors. But, Linda had learned shortly afterward, Dr. Renquist had stomped into the office of Dr. Franc Carter Vance, himself, and had resigned on the spot.

Steve, both hands swathed in bandages, had been taken home by Merry Blaine, an utterly contrite Merry, who was extremely solicitous and anxious to do anything to make amends for the result of her thoughtlessness.

What Merry did, however, was to make matters worse. Not knowing of the condition of Aunt Cynthia, Merry had bluntly broken the news to the aged blind woman, and Steve's accident had come as a shock which prostrated his aunt.

Although she joked about it, Jo — and Janice, too — knew that Linda's collapse in the emergency hospital of Titan Tower was nothing to be taken lightly. When Linda explained that she was "tired," she was guilty of understatement. She needed a rest—badly.

"Lin, chile," Jo said, "why don't you take up your chum, old Mr. Avon, on that offer to let you have his shack over at Boulder Creek. You could have a week's quiet rest—and you could use it."

"But what about Mickey?" Linda protested. "I can't leave him again—I WON'T!"

"Take him along, honey," Janice put in. "He'll be company for you."

The girls' arguments won out over Linda's feeble protests. She asked Dr. Thorpe if she could have a week off, which was readily granted. She didn't have to ask Mr. Avon for the use of his summer cottage. He suggested it again, the next day at lunch.

Mr. Avon insisted upon driving Linda and Mickey to his mountain place, upon leaving his car with Linda and returning to San Francisco by train.

Then began for Linda and Mickey a delightful six days alone in a little cottage by a brook, surrounded by towering trees, with nothing to do but rest and play and picnic every day. It was a dream existence in dream cottage that was mostly huge stone fireplace, surrounded by a few comfortably-fitted rooms, with walls of logs.

But what was happening to that dream, while Linda and Mickey were enjoying it together Linda little imagined — and Mickey wouldn't have understood, had he known.

"Jan!" Jo Monroe exploded bursting into Janice's office three days later, with about the same amount of warning given by an aerial bomb. "Jan, I've found out!"

"What?" It was all Janice could manage.

"You know that little black shadow that's been sitting on the bench in the lobby, like a frog on a gravestone?"

"Yes—who is he, do you know?"

"I'll say I know! He was just in the office to see Anderson. Why, that little whoozis is a 'tail' from Chicago—a sleuth, a snooper. And guess why he's been here, hanging around the lobby?" .. ..

Jo answered, before Janice could have, even if she had known the answer.

He's been watching LINDA!"

"No!" Janice didn't understand.

"But yes!" Jo went on. "He's been hired by the old Richwitch Mortons, Mickey's grandparents. Jan, honey, they're trying to take Linda's boy away from her!"

"Jo, they CAN'T!"

"I don't know if they can, honey, but they WILL, if I know that G-wizard G-man I work for. Little Whoozis in the lobby has been following Linda, after her tagged her from that picture that ran in the paper—you know, with your coat—when she flew down to the shore while Mickey was sick. Linda'd better watch her step. They're out to get her and they've got the best fighter on their side—[illegible]

"Oh," gasped Janice. "Isn't it awful! What can we do?"

X X X

Later, long after Jo had gone, with Janice's question still unanswered, Janice sat by her typewriter, work forgotten, and tried to piece out the answer.

And suddenly the answer came to her. It was a difficult decision to make, a decision made at the cost of tears and inner turmoil, but once her mind was made up, Janice was determined to go through with it.

That's how she happened to be seated in a waiting room of the lavish suite of offices tenanted by Al Lawson, the attorney-politician, and his associates.

When the receptionist said, "Mr. Blaine will see you now, Miss Marberry," Janice took a deep breath, steeled herself and walked, as poised as she could be under the circumstances, into the office of Jack Blaine.

"How do you do?" Blaine (who resembled his brother Bill only in wavy blond hair and clear blue eyes) said formally as he rose from his chair.

But when the receptionist had closed the door, and Janice stood there before his desk, uneasy and strange, he strode quickly to her side, anxiety in his eyes.

"Jan, dear," he said, "what's wrong? Why in the world......?"

"I know I shouldn't have come here," she said, with a futile gesture. "But I had to go to someone for advice and help. I wouldn't have come if it wasn't so terribly important. You're the only one I have in the world, Jack. It's ...... it's about Linda. They're going to take her baby away from her."

"Yes," Blaine said, in a strange voice. "I know."

"You KNOW?" Janice was incredulous. "How could you....?"

"Jan," he said, and his face had the look of a man accused of striking his own mother. "Jan—I'm on the other side."

For an elastic minute which seemed to stretch into many more, Janice just looked at Jack Blaine, dumbfounded.

"You....you're what?" she managed to say, shaking her head dazedly from side to side.

"I'm sorry, Jan," Blaine said, "but I can't help—this time. I'm working against Linda—and ...."

"And against me, Jack!" Janice finished for him.

"Don't put it that way, Jan," Blaine said, obviously hurt. "It isn't that I want to do it; to try to take Linda's child away from her. Mr. Lawson always has represented the Bradley Morton interests on the coast. And when they determined to make a fight for the custody of their son's boy, they called on him. And when Mr. Lawson called me in on the case...."

"When mighty Lawson cracks the whip, little Jack jumps!"

That didn't sound as though Janice .... demure, retiring, little Jan....could have said it. But she did. This was a new Janice.

"But Jan!" Jack Blaine was genuinely pained. "You don't understand. There's such a thing as duty. ....I can't pick and choose the cases I handle and I can't turn them down, even....even if my action hurts someone who means everything to me."

"Duty!" Janice said in a flat voice. "Haven't you any duty to your own conscience..to what you know is right?"

"Can you call it duty," she continued, her voice quavering emotionally, "to fight, with money and power, a poor girl who has nothing but the baby you're trying to take away from her? To tear her very heart out to gratify your sense of duty?"

The tears, which Janice had been fighting to hold back, had won out. She was crying brokenly.

"Oh, Jack, dear," she sobbed. "This isn't the way things should be—this shouldn't be happening to ....to us. Not US, Jack. Not the way we've loved each other. I've loved you completely, trustingly, blindly—without questioning duty to myself or anyone. I've done everything you've told me; kept our secret because of your folks; waited for the time we could be married, when you have your own practice."

"I know, Jan," he said quietly. His face was flushed.

"Jack, you know I'd DIE rather than ask you to put aside your duty to help me, unless it meant something more to me, even than ....us. I know now that Linda's happiness means more than anything in the world. Won't you help her, Jack?"

"Jan, I...." he couldn't say it. He shrugged his shoulders and stared fixedly at the rug under his feet.

"I'm sorry," he said finally, without looking up.

Janice was so broken, so stunned that she didn't know herself what she said next. It was as though she were talking to herself, struggling, seeking some way out.

"There's Mr. Avon," she said. "He'd want to help Linda. She's at his place in the mountains now. Maybe he'd loan her the money for a lawyer...."

"Who is Mr. Avon?" Jack Blaine was looking at Janice now, intently.

"Why he's the man Linda....." Janice, realizing what she had said, gladly would have bitten off her tongue if that would have recalled the words. "Jack Blaine," she gasped, eyes wide, "you wouldn't turn an innocent thing like that into something bad, just to..you WOULDN'T!"

John Ralston Blaine, Jr. ("Mr. Avon's" second son—unknown to him)—didn't say whether he would or would not.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SIX

When Linda returned to San Francisco with Mickey after the glorious week of rest, fresh air and sunshine in the mountains, the worst worry on her mind was what to tell Mr. Avon.

For Linda, a poor driver at best, had backed his expensive car into a redwood tree, inflicting costly damage to the rear trunk and one fender. As she made up her mind to insist that she pay the repair bill, she had worried aloud on the drive back from Boulder Creek.

"Don't worry, mommy," Mickey had soothed. "Steve c'n fix it. Steve c'n fix anything."

"Yes, dear," Linda had agreed, "when Steve's hands are all well again."

The indications that Steve's hands—particularly the all-important right hand—would be all right again, were favorable. But, of course, they wouldn't know for sure for several weeks, until the casts and bandages could be removed.

As Linda pulled to a stop at the curb in front of her home, she noticed that a man was standing on the front steps, apparently waiting for someone. Because she did not know that the stranger was waiting for her, she didn't give his presence a second thought.

He was a stranger to Linda, but would not have been a stranger to Janice and Jo, who would have recognized him as the "ghost" of Titan Tower lobby.

As Linda and Mickey started toward the steps, the stranger approached them and asked:

"Mrs. Linda Morton?"

"Yes," Linda's answer was itself a question.

By way of answer, the man-in-black shoved into Linda's hand a folded paper, very formal and legal appearing. Her eyes, resting on the title on the outside of the document read:

"In and for the Superior Court of "The City and County of etc. etc.

"In the matter of the Guardianship of Bradley Michael Morton 11, a minor.

"Bradley M. Morton and Mrs. Imogene Hart Morton, petitioners;

"Mrs. Linda Walsh Morton, also known as Mrs. Michael Morton, respondent...."

When Linda's eyes dazedly left the paper in her hand and went back to the man-in-black, she saw that he was copying, in a black book, the license number of Mr. Avon's car.

Later, when she was inside the house, Linda flung herself on the studio couch and clasped Mickey to her, as though real hands, not a formal legal document, were trying to snatch him away.

Mickey, little understanding, struggled to free himself from the tight grip.

"What's the matter mommy?" he asked. "Why you grab me?"

"Mickey, darling," Linda said. "Someone....someone you don't know....wants to take Mickey away from Mother."

"Mickey doesn't wanta go 'way!"

"Sweet, you won't have to; they'll take you away over my dead body!"

Then Linda, despite herself, laughed.

"No, darling," she said. "Mother's very much alive—alive enough to fight for her boy!"

Then, later, when the doorbell rang, Linda, fearful lest the Morton's money and power already had dispatched juvenile authorities for her boy, locked Mickey in his room before going to answer it.

When she saw it was Steve Hubbard, she hurled herself into his arms—arms that ached to clasp her to him, but were restrained by two injured, bandaged hands.

In a few minutes, after freeing Mickey from his nursery-prison, she had told Steve the entire story.

"The things they charge me with are terrible," she frowned. "Entirely innocent things turned around to look simply awful if I try to explain them in court. 'Neglect' of Mickey while I went to Lake Tahoe with Dr. Blaine. 'Wanton abandoning' of him while he was ill. 'Consorting with a man whose true name is unknown to petitioners' — and all sorts of things....If only I could afford to get a good attorney...."

"Linda," Steve said. "You can Aunt Cynthia's money will help you. I know there's no place she'd rather have it go."

"No, I couldn't!"

Steve was looking straight into her eyes, searchingly—tenderly.

"What about getting married, Linda?" he asked, very quietly.

Linda....so lost in the forest she couldn't see the stout, sheltering oak at her side....said:

"I'm not sure he wants to marry me, now—not with Mickey...."

Steve said nothing. Linda, looking back to him after a moment, missed the crushed look of utter hurt which crossed his face.

"But about Aunt Cynthia's money," she continued, "I want to see her to tell her how sweet...."

"Aunt Cynthia," Steve said simply, "died last Monday."

And his voice said that something else—within Steve Hubbard—had died in the last minute.

X X X

Linda, entering the lobby of Titan Tower for her first day of work after the week's respite at Mr. Avon's mountain cabin, passed the marble bench and saw a shade.

It wasn't the man-in-black whom Janice and Jo had noticed there, the "Specter of Titan Tower" who had served Linda with the guardianship papers. It was a real specter.... the shade of a benevolent kindly little old lady—a person who had "seen" with sightless eyes more life and drama in this vertical city than any of its everyday tenants....

So Aunt Cynthia was dead.

She wouldn't ever seem dead — really—to Linda. Not Aunt Cynthia, who had seen life and laughter and happiness, tears and tragedy, in Titan Tower; had seen, despite her blindness, a scene which people with two good eyes had missed because it was too obvious.

Linda, with a deep ache in her heart, performed her duties in Dr. Thorpe's office as though there were nothing to worry about. Her employer commended her for the good that the week's rest had done.

"Well," Dr. Thorpe said. "Now you seem your old self again, Linda. That rest was just what the doctor ordered. Just one thing more—a big smile would help...."

Linda's face shortened in a made-to-order smile she didn't feel.

She underwent an anxious few minutes at the lunch counter that noon, worrying for fear Mr. Avon wouldn't show up—until he appeared, smiling and friendly as usual.

"Well, young lady," he beamed. "You look like a living advertisement for a week at Avon's Acres. How did it go?"

"Get ready for a shock," Linda said. "I wrecked your car!"

"Hmm...." Mr. Avon's eyebrows went up. "Nothing trivial, I hope. I never did like that car; too big and pretentious."

That's the way Linda had known Mr. Avon would take it—no tut-tutting or lectures.

"Well, just some dents in the trunk and fenders," she said. "I want you to let me pay for the repairs."

"Don't give it another thought, my dear," he said. "It's completely insured. Won't cost us a cent. Let's forget about the car—how about you? No bad dents, I hope......to the heart, I mean."

And then Linda told him—everything.

About the Bradley Mortons and their move to gain custody of Mickey, using Linda's romance with Bill Blaine and her innocent association with Mr. Avon, himself, as proof that Linda was an "unfit" parent.

When she got to the part of Steve Hubbard's offer of aid, from Aunt Cynthia's funds, and his suggestion that Linda get married, Pop Blaine said:

"Tell me that again, please—just what Steve said."

"He said, 'What about getting married, Linda?'"

"Are you sure, child," Mr. Avon observed, very earnestly, "that your Steve wasn't speaking for himself?"

"You mean...." Linda's mouth popped open. "Steve meant....He doesn't care for ME!"

"I think," Mr. Avon said, "that he does—very much."

"But...."

"Are you sure, Linda, that you love this Dr. Blaine?"

Linda hesitated, looked pensively at her coffee cup.

"I WAS sure," she answered at last, "SO sure. Now....well, I don't know that he loves me. Really, I mean. He seemed so different from the Bill I knew, when he learned about Mickey and when Dr. Renquist accused him of bungling the operation on Steve...."

"What's that?" Mr. Avon's tone was sharp.

"Bill and Rennie had a terrible scene after the operation on Steve," Linda explained. "That was why Dr. Renquist quit Dr. Vance's office and went into practice in his own office."

"Oh," said Mr. Avon, as though he understood. His face said that he meant to understand more.

"Linda," he said, after a pause. "It's hard to think this out straight right here. I'm afraid we'll get all messed up and confused. Let's talk it over at my home tonight. Oh, don't look startled; we'll be perfectly chaperoned in case the Mortons are shadowing you. I want you to meet my wife and my children....

"Besides," he continued thoughtfully, "I have a surprise for you—one that is long overdue, my dear."

When he insisted, Linda, her curiosity piqued by the prospect of the "surprise" promised to come. The "surprise" was to be greater than she anticipated.

CHAPTER TWENTY-SEVEN

Mickey, too, had his own surprise when Linda returned home. Throwing off her hat and coat, she swooped him up from the floor and held him tight in her arms as she sat down on the couch.

"Oh, Mickey, honey," she said. "Let's not worry any more about anything. We'll be all right—you and mother—I just KNOW we will."

X X X

When Mr. Avon left Linda, he left his role behind. He was J. R. Blaine of Titan Tower when he strode into the new office of Dr. Leonard Renquist.

After a few preliminary words, Renquist, like Linda, found in Pop Blaine someone in whom to confide. He told him, without reservation, the story of his experiences as eraser for the professional mistakes of Dr. Bill Blaine, of his determination to get out from under an unbearable situation, of Blaine's bungling of the operation on Steve Hubbard.

And, finally, Dr. Renquist told Pop Blaine that he had learned why Al Lawson was so desirous of setting up young Dr. Renquist in business for himself.

It was to make a cat's paw of Rennie, a political club to hold over Pop Blaine himself, using Rennie's knowledge of Bill Blaine's mistakes as a threat to swing Bill Blaine's father to Al Lawson's will— politically and financially. Kid glove blackmail, devious and intricate, but —in plain words—a "shakedown."

And Rennie Renquist would have none of it.

"I'm glad you came," he said. "If you hadn't, I would have gone to you! I'm through with the whole rotten mess; with Lawson, with Titan Tower, with everything. I'm going somewhere where a man can live his own life—and keep his self-respect!"

"I don't think," Blaine said cryptically, "that you'll have to go far. But you're going far, son, mark my words."

X X X

When Linda drove Mr. Avon's car to a stop in front of the massive residence in Pacific avenue, she looked twice at the paper bearing the address which he had given her. The address was right. But the house didn't look like his home—or anyone's. It looked like the new Federal building.

Awed by its imposing marble front and its tremendous bulk, Linda stood there at the front door timorously waiting the answer to her ring. This couldn't be Mr. Avon's place, she reasoned, there must be some mistake.

When the door opened and Mr. Avon himself stood there, she felt that everything was all right again.

"Come right in, my dear," he said pleasantly. "I'm glad you came. We're all ready for you — and the surprise."

But even though Linda felt everything was all right now that Mr. Avon was here, she thought that the butler in such an awesome, impressive mansion as this should be attired in something a little more formal than the old gray suit which Mr. Avon was wearing, the same gray suit which had seemed a part of him ever since the incident of the roof.

He noticed her standing in the door and staring at his clothes.

"I'll have to apologize," he said. "Mother wanted me to put on that blamed monkey suit, but I thought you wouldn't recognize your old friend in it."

At that moment, a person, who looked like the butler, of such an establishment should look, appeared at Mr. Avon's side.

Awed, Linda followed, down the lovely, classic hallway, with Mr. Avon at her arm, while the butler opened the door into a drawing room such as Linda had never dreamed existed outside the movies.

And as she stepped through the door, to be confronted with a circle of surprised and surprising faces, Mr. Avon said:

"Linda, dear, this is my family. This is my surprise. You're among friends. I'm sure you know my son Bill and my daughter Merry."

It would have been difficult to choose between Linda and Bill Blaine for the first prize in an open, free-style, surprise-expression contest.

"Oh," gulped Linda, looking bewilderedly at Mr. Blaine, as a drowning man scans the sea for a spar, "You .... you're NOT Mr. Avon....I mean .... you're Mr. Blaine!"

"I'm your friend, Linda," he smiled. "Names don't mean anything."

Friend! After dinner, while they were in the library, after Mrs. Blaine had excused herself and withdrawn, Linda was to learn just which of this happy family circle WERE her friends....

"My dear," Mrs. Blaine had said, taking both of Linda's trembling hands into her own, "you're lovely! Much nicer even than John told me you were."

Strange, Linda thought at the time, having seen the society page pictures of Mrs. Beryl Meredith Blaine, all aloof and aristocratic, you'd never dream she could be as sweet and warmly friendly as this kind, distinguished woman. And she was Bill's mother.

Linda was excited and tense — but not too excited nor too tense to notice that it was John—Mr. Avon—who had spoken to Bill's mother about Linda. Not Bill. If Bill Blaine had told his mother of the girl he loved, Mrs. Blaine failed to mention that fact.

After presenting Linda to Mrs. Blaine, Mr. Blaine had introduced Bill's brother Jack.

Funny, that one. Jack Blaine hadn't acted any too glad to meet Linda. It wasn't that he was being high-hat. He had acted sort of flustered and ashamed. Linda couldn't understand him at all.

"I'm sure you know my son Bill and my daughter Merry," Mr. Avon-Blaine had said. Well, he could be sure she knew Merry, because he had introduced them before—under somewhat strained circumstances in the lunchroom, ages ago. As for Bill—

Well, DID she really know him? Linda wondered. How close she was to being answered, Linda didn't know.

All she knew, for sure, was that she had never in her life felt like quite such a total fool as she did the moment she confronted the Blaines in a family group.

Was Bill Blaine a party to his father's deception, as Mr. Avon was a party to Linda's deception of Bill? No, Linda, decided, noticing that Bill was, if anything, more surprised than Linda at their meeting in his own home.

Through dinner they had just chatted; pleasantries, small talk, about Linda's vacation at the Blaine estate at Lake Tahoe. But after dinner they got down to cases.

Mr. Blaine, sr., opened the subject, as they gathered close together in the library over their after-dinner liqueurs.

"About the fight we have on our hands—shall I tell them, Linda, or will you?" Mr. Blaine began.

"Fight!" Merry chimed in. "I love a good scrap! Lead me to it."

"What fight is that, dad?" Bill wanted to know.

Only Jack Blaine, of the entire group, was silent.

At Linda's nod, Mr. Blaine went on.

"Just this: The Mortons, the grandparents of Linda's son, are trying to take her boy away from her. They've filed a guardianship petition, charging Linda is unfit to keep him."

"UNFIT!" It was Merry. "Linda how AWFUL!"

Merry's arm, flung about Linda's shoulder, drew the other girl to her in a comforting gesture.

"Why, you poor kid!" Merry said warmly. "Unfit! We'll show them who's unfit!"

"Atta girl, Merry" her father cheered. "I know we could count on you."

"Dad'll get the best attorneys money can buy," Merry went on.

"Yes," Mr. Blaine interrupted. "So long as it's all in the family, we've got the best attorney right here, and we won't have to buy.."

Jack Blaine leaned forward in his chair, at the outside of the group.

QUIZZED IN MURDER

Stuart Nighswander, 25-year-old Buffalo aviation mechanic, is facing a "temporary" charge of attempted suicide while investigators of C.I.D. Ontario provincial police continue their investigation into the alleged razor murder of 12-year-old Henry Doto, of Buffalo. Nighswander is pictured here dressed in hospital trousers and a mechanic's smock as he was escorted from the hospital to the Welland county jail at Welland, Ont.

Glory Road Getting Rough For Cincinnati Reds as Team Strikes Season's Best Hurling

Leaders Drop Three Out of Their Last Four Games

GIANTS MOVE UP

'Speed - Ball' Feller Wins Eleventh of Season by Beating A's.

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

The glory road is getting rough for Cincinnati Reds, who suddenly have struck the season's best pitching in the National Baseball League.

In losing three out of their last four games the Reds ran into a one-hit pitching job by Boston's Lou Fette a five-hitter at night by Whitlow Wyatt, Brooklyn's undefeated rookie, and a two hit spectace uncovered by Bill Lohrman of New York Giants yesterday.

The first two setbacks were just nuisances for maestro Bill McKechnie, but the 7-0 shutout by the Giants was a real headache, because the Terrymen are really getting terrible and unless the Reds stop them in this series are going to cause a lot of trouble.

Giants Troublesome

New York has won 11 of its last 13 games and climbed from sixth to third place in approximately two weeks. Crouched one-game out of second place and 6 1-2 behind the Reds, the Giants are in position to gouge the leaders unless Cincinnati can discipline them this week end.

Yesterday Paul Derringer the Reds' veteran mound ace, was clubbed for a dozen hits and five runs before being removed for a pinch hitter in the sixth. On the other hand Lohrman permitted only two widely-separated singles and never gave a base on balls.

The second-place St. Louis Cardinals postponed their Friday game with Boston to make a Sunday doubleheader, but Chicago Cubs, who also are revived and challenging, made the most of their chances by paddling the Phillies 4-3.

Wins Hurling Duel

Bill Lee won a pitching duel with Max Butcher on eight hits to extend the Bruins' undefeated string to seven games—six victories and a tie. He received some nobl assistance from Stan Hack, who made three hits and raced across the plate with the winning run in the ninth inning on a fumble by Heinie Muller.

Another pitching comeback was the seven-hit performance of Pittsburgh's big Russ Bauers, who had been nursing a sore shoulder since May 30. He went the route for the first time this season to beat the Dodgers 2-1.

Rain Ruins Program

Rain ruined half the American League program—the Browns at New York and the White Sox at Boston—leaving the stage to Cleveland Indians and Detroit Tigers.

The Tribe scored a 2-15 victory over Philadelphia Athletics to give Bobby Feller his 11th triumph of the term. The young fireballer allowed 10 hits, but his mates got 17 of three Philadelphia pitchers and clustered seven runs in the seventh inning.

Detroit beat the Senators 7-4. Six errors were committed, four by the Tigers, but a big seventh inning made up of a triple, three doubles and two singles got five runs and the ball game.

Y'S MEN RALLY TO WIN GAME

Score Four Runs in Last Two Frames to Defeat Kiwanis 16-12

Scoring four runs in the last two innings, the Y's Men's Club came from behind to down their city service club rivals 16 to 12 in a "No Kick" Softball League game at the Collegiate grounds last evening.

The win elevated the Y's Men into the league leadership in one of the closest contested mushball loops in the city. Both nines introduced their heaviest sluggers in an effort to win the night's honors, which saw the more youthful Campbell street Association boys out-last the veteran Kiwanis nobles. Jim "Bunt" Miller was on the mound for the Y's Men while Ted Follwell delivered them up for the big "K" nine whose last inning rally failed to function.

Don Ridley, Vern Weir, Lionel Blaker and President Harold Vaughan wielded the potent bats for the winners with Bob Pringle, Jake Goodman and "Dolly" Starke providing the fielding sensations. Herb Fox, Bill Cook and Eddie Logan cuffed the spheroid hard and often for the losers with Frank Domenica and Jack McVeigh having to carry the defensive load.

Kiwanis—Lloyd, Logan, Domenico, F. Follwell, Hughes, Fox, Cook, McVeigh and Follwell.

Y's Men—Vaughan, Wilson, Ridley, Weir, Blaker, Goodman, Starke, Miller, Pringle and Boyd.

DRACUPS WEILD POTENT BATS TO DOWN JUNIORS

"Tiremen" Hand Kids a 19-8 Shellacking at Coleman Flats

2 THUMBED OUT

Coach of Juniors and Player Ejected by Umpire Thomas

Between the making merry of Dracups wielding potent bats for 18 hits and the continued errors of the Citizen's Juniors, the "Tiremen" handed the kids their seventh consecutive loss of the current City Softball League and won the one-sided count of 19 to 8 at the Coleman Flats last evening.

The game developed into a hitting spree on the part of Kemp's "Tiremen" from the outset and the juniors in no way assisted their own cause by repeatedly booting the ball for costly errors, the kids committing 11 errors of commission and nearly as many omission. The win was the second of the season for Dracups, both being at the expense of Townsend's juniors.

Dracups scored six runs in the first two innings and coasted in to win as Harold Dracup hurled nine-hit ball. Every member of the winning nine counted at least one hit as Chuck Barriage led the parade with four, including a second inning triple with two on. Kincaide with a home run and two singles was next in line, with Henn and Tuttle coming through with timely one base smashes. Goyer hit a home run for the Juniors in the second with one on, while Graham tripled with two aboard in the fourth. The juniors could only score one run with four singles in the sixth.

The game was marked with the poorest fielding exhibitions of the season and the highlight of the game came when Umpire Thomas ejected Coach "Red" Townsend and outfielder Leo Goyer in the sixth for abusiveness, when Townsend and Goyer objecting strongly as Thomas called Goyer out for being hit with a batted ball. Pinch-hitters failed to help the losers in the dying frames.

The lineups:

Citizen's Dairy Juniors: Samain ss; Ethier 3b; Hook p; Mallory c; Mitchell 1b; Clare lf; Graham rf; Mansfield 2b; Goyer cf; Wilson, Jones, Cook and Yarrow.

Dracup Tires: Henn 2b; Barriage 3b; Tuttle c; Sinfield cf; Kincaide 1b; Hannah rf; Lumberg lf; Riggs ss, Dracup p and Philp.

by GEO. E. WATKIN

Two teams of mixed rinks took part in a tournament at Deseronto on Wednesday. Ab. Wonnacott took second money, with him was Mrs. Wonnacott and Mr. and Mrs. Shaw.

Three teams of trebles went to Brighton on Monday night. Brighton took first with 32 points. Geo. Watkin second with 31 points and Fred Harper third with 30 points.

The winning teams were: Mr. Beale, Mark Vanner and Fred Harper skip. Col. Bonisteel, Joe Black and Geo. Watkin skip.

Was glad to see Morley Duff our Hydro chairman out on the greens.

We miss Charlie Symons, Charlie has been on the sick list for several weeks. Let us all hope he will soon be back with us.

Dues are due.

Our club games are well under way they should be completed by the 1st of July.

Have you picked your partner for Monday, July 3rd.

INDIAN PLAYER LEADING SCORER

Bill Isaacs of Hamilton is Real Headache for Lacrosse Goalies

Toronto, June 24 (CP)— The flashing stick that Bill Isaacs wields for Hamilton Tigers is a headache these days to goal-tenders in the Ontario Lacrosse Association.

The brilliant Indian centre leads all scorers with a total of 48 points 16 more than his nearest rival. He has scored 29 goals, one more than Morton of St. Catharines.

Isaacs started the week with 20 goals and 13 assists but added 15 points at Hamilton lost to St. Catharines and won from Pergus.

He tallied five times against the Athletics, but it wasn't enough to prevent them winning their first invasion of the Tiger's new stadium, 20-12. At Fergus he teamed up with Ernie Curran and Bob Jamieson to scalp the Thistles 21-16 wiping out a seven-goal deficit in the final period.

Morton scored seven goals in St. Kitt's uprising at Hamilton to stand second in the scoring summaries with 28 goals and four assists.

In the only other game of the week, Mimico, playing at home, overcame a Brampton lead to keep the Excelsiors still winless. Brampton had an 8-3 command at half time but finished up on the wrong end of a 13-11 score.

Orillia Terriers can move into a triple tie for second place with the idle Hamilton and Mimico teams tonight by defeating their visitors, the Athletics. Brampton take on Fergus in the other week-end game.

39TH BIRTHDAY CELEBRATED BY WINNING GAME

Bill Harris of Jersey City Shows Youngsters He is Still in Loop

TORONTO LOSES

Poor Base - Running Tosses Away Whatever Chances Squad Enjoyed

It's nothing unusual for a man to celebrate his 39th birthday by going to a ball game, but if he celebrates by winning a game, that's a different story.

That, in fact, is the story of Bill Harris, an important member of the Little Giants of Jersey City.

Harris, who toiled for a good many years in big league parks and won the name of "Hard Lock" Harris by losing so many tough games, was 39 yesterday. So he went out and pitched six innings of good ball in a tough league.

He was credited with his eighth victory of the year against three defeats when Jersey Giants, second in the International Circuit, downed Newark Bears 6-4.

Bill had to be relieved with two out in the sixth as the Bears came within a run of tying the score, but Frank Pearce did an adequate relief job.

The victory enabled the Jerseys to keep pace with the league-leading Rochester Red Wings, who toppled Buffalo Bisons 7-6 to maintain their one-game margin. Si Johnson, almost as much a veteran as Harris, managed to keep a dozen Bison hits scattered to earn his twelfth victory.

Orioles Win Two.

Baltimore Orioles, a persistent jinx to the third-place Syracuse club this season, made it ten victories in twelve meetings with the Chiefs and climbed into fifth place with a double-header victory. Syracuse made most of the hits, but Baltimore won the games, 6-4 and 5-3, on a total of ten blows. A three run rally in the sixth won the opener as Art Graham tripled with the corners crammed. Then the Birds scored five runs in the eighth inning of the afterpiece on three walks and two hits, including Frank McGowan's pinch double.

Montreal Royals just breezed through to a 6-0 win over the cellar-dwelling Toronto club as the Leafs tossed away their chances through poor base running in the early innings and gave away a couple of runs on errors.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Bill Lohrman, Giants: Pitched two-hitter to shutout Reds.

Russ Baeurs, Pirates: Held Dodgers to six hits for 2-1 victory.

Bob Feller, Indians: Won 11th victory of season against Athletics.

Stan Hack, Cubs: Scored winning run to beat Phillies 4-3.

Pete Fox, Tigers: His triple was big blow of five-run rally which beat Senators.

Louis' Stomach Object of Attention For Tony Galento

Summit, N.J., June 24 (AP) — Joe Louis's stomach, which reports say has been the object of too much attention of another kind, will be Tony Galento's principal target when he makes his bid for the heavyweight title at the Yankee stadium Wednesday night.

Tony and his manager, Joe Jacobs, yesterday outlined a plan of compaign which called for concentration on Joe's fried chicken and ice cream sector.

"That's definitely part of our campaign to knock out Louis," Jacobs said. "The alleged 'Bomber' has never met a fighter who threw punches at his body, and we're going to find out if he can take it in the breadbasket."

Galento followed that up by slamming left hooks into Abe Feldman and Mickey McAboy until he nearly ripped them apart.

Wants Doctor Present

Pompton Lakes, N.J., June 24 — (AP)—Joe Louis, who maintains Tony Galento can't hit as hard as has been reported and who hints he'll dispose of the pudgy challenger for his heavyweight title in one round, nevertheless wants his own physican on hand at next Wednesday's 15-round title bout.

His managers, John Roxborough and Julian Black, said yesterday they would ask the New York Athletic Commission to permit Dr. Chester Ames of Detroit to sit near the champion's corner and advise chief second Jack Blackburn what to do in case Louis receives any cuts.

They added they thought Galento also should have physician on hand and that the fight shouldn't be stopped unless the doctors and seconds demanded it in case either contestant was cut.

Veteran Ted Lyons Of Chicago White Sox Doing Swell Job

By GAYLE TALBOT

New York, June 24 (AP)—Somewhat overlooked in the shuffle is the most remarkable job of baseball pitching being done in the big leagues this season—by the veteran Ted Lyons of Chicago White Sox.

He has pitched and won seven complete games since he lost his first start of the season to St. Louis Browns. Some of them have been "pretty sloppy", he said, but he won them, nevertheless.

On July 2 it will be sixteen years to the day since Ted, fresh from Baylor University, pitched in his first game for the White Sox. It was a little relief chore, and it's still worth a chuckle to him.

"We were behind 6-0 when Eddie Collins, who was handling the club that day, sent me in to pitch the eighth inning," Ted recalled. "I got 'em out all right, and in our half we scored three runs and had the bases filled when it came my time to bat.

Taken Out For Hitter.

"I was halfway out there, swinging two bats, before Collins asked me what I thought I was going. I told him I was going to smack one, of course. He got a big kick out of it. He asked me if I would mind if he put in a pinch-hitter for me just that once. Then he led me gently back to the dugout. I don't remember what that pinch-hitter did."

"The old arm feels about as good as ever after sixteen years," Ted said. "Of course, I can't still rely on that high, hard one like I used to, and I'm pitching only once a week now. But some days my fast one still has a lot of life in it, and I use my knuckler more than ever before. I had a sore arm back in 1928. I lost twenty games that year."

Ted says he thinks his sore flipper was exactly the same ailment that has afflicted Dizzy Dean for two seasons.

BASEBALL TEAMS IN HASTINGS LOOP EVENLY MATCHED

Shannonville Takes Cannifton and Latta Disposes of Foxboro

A MERRY RACE

Teams Can All be Tied at Half-Way Mark if Foxboro and Latta Win

Foxboro, Junt 24 (Special)—Demonstrating very forcibly the evenness with which all four teams of the South Hastings League are matched this season, last night's contests in this popular loop placed all four teams right in a heap with only one game separating the leader from the tail-ender. Prior to last night's games Cannifton was enjoying a margin of one full game over Shannonville, and Foxboro was tied for second place, while Latta was trailing with one win against three defeats. Today, however, Shannonville are right up even with the leaders and the Foxboro lads have dropped back into a tie for the cellar position. As proof of the remarkable closeness of the race, the standing at the half way mark in the schedule, which comes next Wednesday evening, can very easily place all the teams in a four way tie for first position. If Foxboro can take Shannonville when the "Hawks" visit the former village next week, and if Latta can take a fall out of Cannifton on the same night, all four teams will be right back where they started with three wins and an equal number of losses to their credit.

Cannifton Trounced.

Shannonville made it two defeats in a row for the Cannifton boys last night when they visited the Riverside lads and soundly trounced them to the tune of 16-5 in a slugfest in which no less than three Cannifton hurlers saw duty in a vain attempt to stem the tide of base hits coming from the visitors' clubs. Loucks was the starting hurler for the losers but proved no mystery for the Shannonville lads and was relieved by Empson early in the game. He fared no better, however, and was replaced by Farquharson who finished the pastime for the vanquished Cannifton nine. Shannonville trotted out their lately acquired dark horse hurler who hails from Deseronto and the eastern lad showed great promise in setting the league leaders down with a loss in his first pitching assignment in the South Hastings League.

Reinforced by four of their former players who have been out of the game for the past two years, the Latta boys won their second game of the week when they visited Foxboro and handed the homesters a decisive 9-3 drubbing last evening. Taking full advantage of numerous errors and lackadaisical fielding on the part of the homesters, the Latta boys caught the Foxboro lads on an off night and dropped them into a tie for the cellar position as they jumped on Peacock for seven runs in the third inning after two were out. Dunning for the winners kept the losers' hits well scattered and was scored upon only in one inning as a walk, an error and a single by Norman Guay accounted for three runs. Marsh went in to hurl for the Latta boys in the last inning as the homesters filled the bases with only one away to hold the losers scoreless.

Gowe, Marsh, Dunning and Parks went well at the plate for the winners as this foursome accounted for practically all their runs, while Faulkner, Peacock and Noley Guay scored for the losers.

Latta—Hall 2b, Sayers lf, Gowe cf, Marsh ss, Dunning p, Parks 1b, Hodgens c, Golden 3b, Platt and Harrison rf.

Foxboro—N. Guay cf, Jamieson and Campbell 2b, Stewart c, Spencer ss, Walt 3b, Faulkner lf, R. Peacock 1b, Norman Guay rf, K. Peacock p.

Amateurs in this country somtimes bemoan the fact they are abused and not given the freedom they feel they are entitled to. If Canadian amateurs had to operate under English amateur rules and regulations perhaps they'd find restructions more strict and cut to the finest letter. Ttake for instance the case of Megan Taylor, world amateur figure-skating champion, who was recently refused permission by the British National Skating Association to give an exhibition in Johannesburg ice rink. The British skating moguls informed Miss Megan she had already given the maximum number of skating exhibitions permitted an amateur, six skating exhibitions each season. Miss Taylor contends the official skating season in England is over and feels she is being discriminated against. On the other hand if Miss Taylor participated in this exhibition without the consent of the British Association she would immediately lose her amateur status. Naturally Miss Taylor was disappointed, butunlike Canadian amateurs did not haul out the crying towel.

Harry Kemp's "Tiremen" fattened their mushball batting averages at the expense of Red Townsend's juniors last night when the winners scored 19 runs on 18 hits. Although the "tiremen" did cuff Steve Hook's hooks hard and often it was the errors committed by the teen-aged kids that really mounted the winners' score. The score of 19 to 8 does not indicate the play as the middle frames looked as though the kids might pull through, but their miscues played havoc and then the Dracups bats really rang out with hits. Incidentally Secretary Harry Knott is desirous of having the softball league managers meet the league executive for an important conference on Tuesday night. Hear ye, hear ye—Chuck, Frank ,etc.

Some excitement was injected into last night's drab affair when Umpire Don Thomas thumbed Skipper Townsend and Outfielder Goyer from the game. Thomas ruled Goyer out for being struck with a batted ball and the argument was immediately on. The official was justified for ejecting Townsend, who commenced to push the umpire around in trying to gain his point while Goyer asked for the thumb by hurling verbal insults at the official, which were soon taken up by the fans as there was little else to gain the patrons' interest.

Do you remember when black-haired Barney Ross snatched a close decision from Tony Canzonert, world lightweight boxing champion, at Chicago six years ago last night after 10 bitterly-fought rounds. Ross won the welterweight title in 1935 and retired May 31, 1938, after taking a savage beating from Henry Armstrong for the 147-pound crown, and even later when—"Kid" Chocolate, then at the peak of his form, picked an opening in the first round and knocked out Jackie Johnston at Toronto 10 years ago tonight. The Cuban battler—whose comeback last year failed—smashed the Toronto fighter to the canvas in two minutes and 57 seconds?

An observation by Jimmy Powers of the New York Daily News: "In the era of the rabbit ball, third basing is supposed to have fallen into disrepute. The hot corner patrolman grabs for the whistling bullet and it's a case of either 'he do-or he don't.' Soooooo, it would seem third basemen should be chosen primarily for their ability to hit. Statistics show NO third sacker has won the league batting title in the lively ball age (last 20 years), while players of every other position have."

As next Thursday is circus day in Belleville, the Picton at Belleville Bay of Quinte League game has been advanced one day and will be played in Picton as part of a double header on Wednesday afternoon. The locals are scheduled to play a league game in Picton on Wednesday, so the local baseball heads queried Picton relative to doubling up for a cash guarantee, which was immediately accepted. Coach Roly Rorke's nine is far in the lead of the Bay of Quinte loop having won all five of their league games. However in their first meeting with Belleville, Picton was most fortunate to win as two glaring errors gave Picton the tying and winning runs in the ninth. The Picton club outwardly fears Belleville and do not deny this fact, but until the locals unearth a good fielding shortstop they'll, what is commonly known, get no place fast in the Quinte League. However with three teams in the Quinte League play-offs the Belleville club is not out of the running as yet.

Bobby Riggs, U.S.A. No. 1 amateur tennis star of last year is not going so well in 1939. Last week he was soundly trounced by a fellow-American in Paris, but yesterday crowned his present year reveres when Baron von Cramm the German adonis tennis star, beat Riggs 6-0 and 6-1 in the famous London tennis semi-finals. Big Bill Tilden watched the matches and later stated von Cramm was undoubtedly the class of all amateur tennis players of the day. And while on the subject of tennis we observe a good number of net artists enjoying tennis under the floodlights at the Quinte Skating Club these fine June nights.

Sports Spice — Gene Tunney, former world's heavyweight boxing champion, became the father of a bouncing baby girl yesterday, the first girl in four children.....Cleveland Indians Bob Feller chalked up his 11th American League victory yesterday, beating the Athletics..The Reds were devoid of hits yesterday as the Giants handed 'em a shutout.

It was just 20 years ago since the Reds won the National League and the Dutchmen are all agog over their Redlegs....Joe Louis says 'no dice' in regards to a bout with Maxie Rosenbloom the clown movie and radio actor... We observe Lee "Stub" Barrett is master minding the Dracup "tiremen" from the coaching lines of late and was literally chasing his charges around the runways last night.

CORNWALL BISONS ARE MOVING UP

Polly Veach Pitches Team to Wins on Successive Nights

(By The Canadian Press)

Two victories a week usually are the best that can be expected of a pitcher in baseball, but Polly Veach, who tosses them over for Cornwall of the Canadian-American League, has gone one better than that. He scored victories on successive nights.

With Phil Marchildon back in the International League with Toronto Maple Leafs, Veach has moved into the spotlight that centred most of this month on Cornwall's hurlers.

He tossed the Bisons to a 5-3 victory over Oswego Netherlands last night after getting credit as a relief pitcher for a 3-2 victory over the same team the night before. He went the whole distance himself last night, however, and though he gave up eight bases on balls, allowed only three hits and never was in trouble.

Canada's other entry in the league, Ottawa Senators, scored a 6-3 victory over Ogdensburg Colts in a game at Ottawa. It was Senators second straight win over the Colts.

In an all-United States contest, Gloversville Glovers pushed over a run in the ninth inning to beat Rome Colonels 5-4. A wild pitch with the bases loaded brought in the winning run after Rome had moved ahead with two runs in their half of the ninth.

The Utica at Amsterdam game was postponed because of wet grounds.

The Stars Say

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, June 25

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds conflicting testimonies. While the spiritual and artistic affairs of the day are under happy auspices, there are adverse aspects for the young in connection with writings, speech and papers. Business might as well be deferred, as enmities and snares menace.

Those whose birthday it is may have fair success with intimate affairs, in which subtle, intriguing and mystifying slants develop. Business is beset by signs of trickery, anxieties over papers, writings, speech or gossip. Elders or parents may misunderstand and cause worry to young people, whose interests do not thrive. Theft and untruth seem to figure.

A child born on this day may have certain talents of an unusual, curious or mystical nature. An instability of character may prove detrimental to its success unless it be given early training and discipline in integrity and truth.

For Monday, June 26

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a state of perplexity and doubt. While there is testimony for promotion and favors, as well as a token of preferment from employers and those in authority, there also are tenacious obstacles, postponements and sorrow. A tendency to rash, impetuous and quarrelsome conduct will not mend a situation of disappointment and delay. Cheerful and restrained behavior would prove more effective.

Those whose birthday it is may enjoy some tokens of preferment, favors or advancement from superiors, but there also may be disappointments, delays and impediments which had better be handled good-naturedly and with restraint. Impetuosity, violence and recklessness would aggravate an uncertain status.

A child born on this day may be capable and ambitious resourceful and forceful. But an ill-natured and passionate quality may prove detrimental to any worthwhile accomplishment. It should have rigid discipline in self-control and gentle deportment.

GEN. CRUIKSHANK DIES IN OTTAWA

Chairman of Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada Since Inception

Ottawa, June 24—(CP)—Funeral services will be held here Monday for Brigadier-General Ernest Alexander Cruikshank, soldier, historical writer and Chairman of the Historic Sites and Monuments Board of Canada.

The distinguished Canadian, who served as chairman of the Board since its inception 20 years ago, died at his home late last night after a brief illness. A native of Bertie Township, Ont., he was 86 years old.

General Cruikshank's career in the Canadian militia began in 1877 when he received a commission in the 44th Welland Battalion. It culminated in 1911 when he was appointed Officer Commanding Military District No. 13 at Calgary. He was promoted to a Brigadier in 1915.

He remained Officer Command of the Calgary Military District until 1917 when he was recalled to headquarters in Ottawa. He was assigned to special duty and went to France in 1917. Following the Great War he returned here and was appointed Director of the Historical section of the General Staff.

General Cruikshank was appointed a member of the Historical Sites and Monuments Board when it was created in 1919 by the Dominion Government. Its purpose was to select and advise regarding monuments or works of preservation in fortifications, battlefields and other spots of national importance in Canada's history.

He was chosen the Board's Chairman at its first meeting and remained in that position until his death. More than 200 bronze tablets have been erected under the Board's guidance to commemorate outstanding occurrences in Canadian history and a score of historic buildings or sites have been acquired and preserved.

General Cruikshank wrote numerous books and pamphlets and contributed articles to military and historical publications in Great Britain, the United States and Canada.

In 1935 the Royal Society of Canada awarded him the Tyrrell Gold Medal for outstanding work in connection with history of Canada.

MINISTERS MEET

Extension of the Anglo-French anti-aggression lineup to the far eastern end of the Mediterranean, some French sources believed, may prove a strong incentive to Russia to join.

The tension between Japan and other powers in China also received cabinet attention. Some French leaders have expressed belief that Japan, friendly to the Rome-Berlin axis powers, may be acting to divert the attention of London and Paris from Europe.

The cabinet also deliberated Spanish nationalist demands for return of Bank of Spain gold deposited in France by the defeated Republican government. Franco-Spanish relations still were obscure with Paris wondering whether Spain would preserve neutrality or work with Italy and Germany in the event of a European war.

TO EXPLORE INDIA IN $80,000 TRAILER

Mr. and Mrs. Lawrence Copely Thaw, socially prominent New York explorers, are pictured here on board the S.S. President Roosevelt as they sailed from New York to begin an exploration tour of the little-known interior of India. They will do their exploring in comfort, however, for they are taking along a trailer equipped with air-conditioning and refrigerating units, a bathroom equipped with hot and cold water, an ultra-modern bedroom and a library. The outfit is valued at $80,000.

HARVARD STAGES CONFETTI BATTLE

Nearly 4,000 graduates of Harvard University joined in the confetti battle at Harvard stadium as the university celebrated its class day. Governor Leaverett Saltonstall, of Massachusetts, chief marshal of all Harvard alumni, led the graduates in the high jinks.

"THIS IS THE MAN!" SAID DOROTHY

Dorothy Lamour, beautiful singing star of screen and radio, pictured with Stephen Fuld, radio executive of whom she said: "This is the man." Neither would elaborate on the statement. Dorothy is in New York where she will contest a suit for $6,000 filed against her by Alfred C. Evans, orchestra leader. Evans claims he taught Dorothy all the little tricks of song delivery which have made her so popular.

'The' Sally Whitcomb

By ALICE DUANE

Sally Whitcomb, from her high window, watched the guests gathering on the terrace above the lake before dinner with unexpected resentment.

"I'll cheat," she said. "I'll cheat if I have to."

Depression had struck Sally a double blow. First it had killed her well-to-do father, after he had lost all his money in one of the financial crashes. She had pluckily looked about for a means of making money. As a result of her college diploma, natural taste and aptitude, she had landed a job teaching smart young girls in a fashionable school. But smart young girls, like everybody else, were feeling the depression, and the Rosecliff school found it necessary to curtail expenses. Sally, being the last teacher taken on, had been the first laid off. And no other work seemed to be open to her.

So, after several months when the shreds of her old fortune had been her only means of support, she had gratefully accepted employment from the mother of one of her old friends—now married and living abroad.

"It may be a bit trying, Sally," Mrs. Van Arsdale had said. "Aunt Jane is a bit of a trial and you may get awfully bored. There's a trained nurse, of course, to look after her, but she wants someone young and attractive as a sort of companion."

So Sally went to the Adirondacks with the Van Arsdales as Aunt Jane's companion. It wasn't so bad. She read to the crotchety old invalid, she wrote letters for her, she helped her do crossword and jigsaw puzzles. Aunt Jane always went to her room at six, and the nurse took charge of her then, so Sally's evenings were free.

She had been swimming in the lake while Aunt Jane had her usual afternoon nap when she first saw him. She hadn't seen him enter the lake. But there he was, sitting on the float when she came up from a dive.

"Nice work," he said, lazily, admiringly.

Sally pulled herself leftly up beside him.

"Nice water," she said. "When did you come? Today?"

"Yes. 'm Jack Barnwell. I Ever hear of me?"

Sally racked her brain. "No," she said, after a minute. "I'm Sally Whitcomb."

"Oh!" said Jack. "The Sally Whitcomb?"

Sally laughed. "Well, I'm Sally Whitcomb. I don't suppose there are two of me."

They sat silent, content, for a few minutes.

"Come on" he said suddenly, jumping up and reaching out a hand to help Sally to her feet. "It's time to go dress. Race you to the dock."

They plunged together into the cold water and swam silently to the house.

Sally liked him, and sensed he liked her, too.

She had looked for him again the next afternoon when she went for her swim. But he hadn't been there.

Today Aunt Jane had been particularly trying, and Sally had missed her swim. "I'm not going to take a nap," Aunt Jane had said. "It's such a nice day I'm just going to stay awake and work out that new crocheted mat."

"I'll cheat," said Sally to her reflection in the mirror, as she brushed her burnished hair. "I'll make him like me."

After dinner that night she wandered away from the other guests in quest of Jack. She found him smoking under the pine trees at the edge of the little beach. He jumped to his feet as she came toward him. "It's you, isn't it? I was just going up to the house." And he started to walk away toward the voices on the terrace and the lights of the house.

"Well, you're not very polite," said Sally. He turned toward her suddenly and took both her hands in a strong, nervous grasp. "I came out specially to find you. Anything the matter with me?" Sally went on.

"Yes," said Jack sternly. "You're too darned—attractive. I'm sorry. I've tried to avoid you. But I can't help it. I knew, the minute I saw you, like a million dollars there on the float, and now, you doll yourself up so you look like a princess and follow me out here. What do you think I'm made of?"

Sally giggled in the dark. "It's two years old," she said. "Are you rich?"

"No," said Jack, gruffly. "I'm poor and I'm nobody. And coming up on the train Mr. Van Arsdale said I'd meet Sally Whitcomb here—The Sally Whitcomb. Said your father was an old friend—"

"Yes," said Sally quietly. "Is that all he said?"

"All? It was more than enough, when I went to South America two years ago, with the vain and mistaken idea that that continent needed me to gather up a fortune, I knew all about you. I'd fallen for you then—your picture in the rotogravures. One of the richest, most popular girls in town—"

"Well? Didn't you make good?"

"No. I lost what little I had. And now I'm sort of a secretary for Van Arsdale.

"But so am I. I mean; I haven't a cent in the world but what the Van Arsdales pay me to amuse their funny old aunt, and I thought you were—well, anyway—you see—we match, don't we?"

And Jack decided that they did.

FRED PEERNOT AND THE BURGLARS

Scene, brekfist.

Mrs. Peernot. For goodness sakes Fred sit still.

Mr. Peernot. Stop that squerming cant you?

Fred Peernot. I'm uncomfortable.

Mrs. Peernot. Have you got a pane?

Mr. Peernot. Have you got the itch?

STEALING A LADY'S FUR COAT

Fred Peernot. No, neither. I guess maybe it's because I slept with all the silverware under my mattress last night and it kind of stuck through.

Mrs. Peernot. Well of all things, I was wondering where all the silverware was, I was just going to inquire.

Mr. Peernot. What did you want to go and do a thing like that for Fred?

Fred Peernot. Yestidday I overheard 2 suspicious caracters making up a plot to rob our house and steel all the silverware, so I just calmly stuck it under my mattress.

Mrs. Peernot. O deer now I realize what happened to my mink coat, they couldn't find the silverware so they took that instead, O deer.

Fred Peernot. Well, fur gets wore out and old fashioned but silverware lasts forever and becomes anteeks for our grandchildren.

Mr. Peernot. But anyway Fred, if you had said something we could of notified the police and maybe not of lost anything, and you wouldn't have to be squerming around on your chair.

Fred Peernot. Next time I will.

JAPANESE AND MONGOLIANS FIGHT

Tokyo, June 23—(AP)—A heavy air battle between Japanese and Mongolian forces was reported today to have taken place Thursday in the Lake Bor area on the frontier between Manchoukuo and Russian-dominated outer Mongolia.

Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported from Hsinking, Manchoukuo, a communique of the Japanese Kwantung Army telling of the clash.

The communique said Japanese downed 49 Mongolian planes and lost five in the battle above Kansurmaiao, north of Lake Bor. It said 18 Japanese planes had engaged 150 Mongol craft and added: "outer Mongolian and Soviet flying units have been invading Manchoukuo repeatedly since June 19.

VOICE PLEASES HEARERS

Toronto, June 23 (CP) — Alex Brady, 24-year-old elevator operator never received a better break than when he was asked to voice Ontario's tribute over the Canadian Broadcasting Corporation's network to the King and Queen Empire Day. Brady received so many letters commending his voice that he started training it. The C.B.C. has promised him an audition for an announcer's job as soon as he believes he's ready, Brady said.

CRUISER'S AMPHIBIANS TO VISIT TORONTO

Ottawa, June 23 — Two flying boat amphibians, attached to the British cruiser H.M.S. Berwick now visiting Quebec, took off from here today en route to Toronto, Hamilton, Niagara Falls and Windsor.

The two aircraft were flown here from Montreal yesterday to pay a courtesy visit to the Royal Canadian Air Force base at Rockcliffe.

TORONTO STOCKS CLOSE

Toronto, June 24 (CP)—The Toronto Stock Market concluded the week with a firm to strong price tone today while the turnover continued small. Only about 175,000 shares changed hands in the two hour session. Gold shares firmed slightly and other index groups showed practically no change.

Aunor was the feature of the trade in the gold group. It advanced to a new high at $2.72 and closed around $2.70 for a gain of 5 cents. Pickle Crow, Wright Hargreaves, Hard Rock, Preston, Uchi, and Moneta were up narrowly at the close against minor losses for Sigma, Central Patricia, Kirkland Lake and Leitch. Senior golds held steady in slow action.

Price adjustments in the Base Metal group were down to minimum fractions while losses of 2 to 5 cents were netted by Waite-Amulet, Pend Oreille and Sherritt. International Nickel advanced 1-4. Bids for the silver issues were firmer. Nipissing added 5 cents.

Prices were down slightly for the Steel and Liquor groups and about steady in the average for the Foods and the Utilities. Walkers Common and Distillers-Seagrams weakened 1-4 to 3-8. Fanny Farmer dropped 1-4 and National Steel Car lost 1-2.

Bruises Lower Value of Product

All persons who handle livestock should keep in mind that every bruise lowers the value of the product they are handling.

The fact that livestock, in the process of marketing, pass through so many hands there is a tendency for someone to become careless which destroys the effectiveness of the careful handling on the part of others.

All who handle livestock must be conscious of their responsibility.

Some good lots of hogs received during the week of June 23rd, 1939, are as follows:

WALL STREET

New York, June 24 — Both buyers and sellers pulled their punches in today's stock market but the former seemed to have a shade the best of the contest.

It was about an even argument until the latter part of the final hour when selected issues [illegible] edge forward. Many leaders, however, were unable to get ahead and small minus signs were plentiful at the close.

Transfers for the two hours approximated 175,000 shares.

High hopes for further business improvement, broker said, provided the principal speculative prop. The United States government loan program was again a negative market factor.

Among stocks touching new peaks for the year were Loft and J. C. Penney. Supported most of the time were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, Chrysler, Yellow Truck, U.S. Rubber, Woolworth, International Harvester, United Aircraft, General Electric, Great Northern and Texas Corp.

Hiram Walker and Distillers shaded lower among Canadian issues while Lake Shore posted a small gain. Most others including Dominion 4s in the bond market, were neglected.

Top Grade Eggs Gain Up to One Cent

Toronto, June 24. — Price gains ranged to a full cent per dozen on top grade eggs, and butter closed at previous levels on the Toronto open produce market Friday, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Falling production was being reflected by lighter arrivals of fresh receipts on the egg market, and top grades advanced in all sections under good demand. Ungraded eggs changed hands at 18c for Grade A-large, 16c for medium, 13c for B's and 12c for C grades, while graded shipments rose to 20c for grade A-large, 18c for medium, 15½c for B's and 14½c for C grades. Government inspected lots sold at ½c to 1c per dozen above these prices.

Increased prices established on the Ontario boards were responsible for higher values on the cheese market. Quotations were nominal as sales were practically negligible. Good export demand was said to be the factor behind the continued strength on the Ontario cheese market at the present time.

The butter market firmed about mid-day only to slip back to former prices with reports of an easier Montreal market. Good buying readily cleared light offerings in the morning session, but the pace slackened before the close. While the odd lot sold at 22¼c in afternoon trading, prices for Ontario creamery solids closed at 22c for No. 1 grades and at 21¼c for 38 score. Prints remained unchanged.

Montreal, June 24. — Egg and cheese prices took an upward turn in quiet trading on open produce markets here today while butter offerings eased, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21⅜c. Receipts: 1,497 boxes.

Ontario white cheese sold for 13½-⅝ cents a pound and colored for 13⅜c. Quebec white and colored were unquoted. Receipts: 620 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 21½-22 cents a dozen for A-large; 18-19 cents for A-medium, 16-16½ cents for B-large, 14-14½ cents for C. Receipts: 605 cases.

CHEESE BOARDS

Winchester—Boarded 482 boxes white, 326 colored. White sold at 12 13-16c, colored at 12⅞c.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 24 (CP)—Excepting Stratford dressedweights which dropped 15 cents, reporting bacon hog markets were unchanged.

Liveweights — Chatham $8.75, Hull $9.

Dressedweights — Barrie $12, Chatham $12, Hamilton $12.15, Hull $12.25, Stratford $11.70.

MAURETANIA ENDS MAIDEN VOYAGE

New Ship With Old Name Makes No Bid for Speed Supremacy

By PAUL LEE
Associated Press Staff Writer

New York, June 24 (AP)—The 34,000 ton Mauretania, the North Atlantic's newest liner, steamed into New York harbor today on her maiden voyage from England.

Six days, 18 hours and 15 minutes out of Liverpool, this bearer of a proud old name that has been missing from the sea lanes since the original Mauretania was broken up in 1934, was greeted by the raucous whistles of vessels in port and by a score of circling aircraft, including two chartered transport planes.

Thousands of work-bound commuters from New Jersey lined the decks of ferry boats and cheered the Mauretania's passage. Other hundreds met her at the flag-decked Cunard-White Star pier on the Hudson River.

Like Motionless Model

Sighted from the air, with the Statue of Liberty in the background and the sun-flecked towers of lower Manhattan ahead, the Mauretania looked like a motionless model out of some maritime diorama. Actually, she is no speed queen, and made no bid for the figurative blue ribbon of Atlantic supremacy that her famous predecessor held for a generation.

Built along the lines of the Queen Mary, but smaller and slower, the Mauretania has ten decks and accommodations for 1,500 passengers. She is a twin-screw vessel 772 feet long and 89½ feet wide at her broadest point.

Sailed On Both Ships.

Aboard her were three passengers who sailed on the first voyage of the old Mauretania when she left Liverpool for New York on Nov. 16, 1907. They were Mr. and Mrs. R. S. Middlemas of Glasgow and C. Morfey.

Other passengers included Ray Milland, movie star; Sir Percy Bates, chairman of Cunard White Star, and Mrs. Bates, who christened the ship; 40 members of the Junior Car Club of England and their autos, and a dozen press and radio representatives.

The old Mauretania, which for a generation held the blue ribbon emblematic of Atlantic speed supremacy, startled shipping circles in September, 1910, by making the east-west crossing in 4 days, 10 hours and 41 minutes at an average speed of 26.6 knots. This run was later eclipsed by the Queen Mary and the Normandie.

An interesting photograph, a link with Belleville's past, was received at Corby Public Library yesterday by the librarian, Miss Adams, when Judge J. A. Forin, Vancouver, B.C., forwarded a picture of the City of Belleville Chemical Fire Engine group 1882-83. Seen in the picture are Joe Hynes, Frank McKay, Herb Hulme, Harry Price, Dr. Wills, Bullen, Frank Foster, Beasley, Arthur Elliott, P. McL. Forin and Jack Tannahill.

The letter accompanying the photograph said—

"This photograph taken in the early eighties will be interesting to any survivors of the prominent families represented among these lads, who did good service. Their chemical engine was housed in a small shed immediately north and adjoining the residence of David B. Robertson on N. John Street, opposite the Separate School.

"Your library building was built in 1854-5. My father, the late John Forin, was the contractor; it was well and truly built, typical of his work in Belleville.

URGES COMPENSATION FOR COLONIES, NOT THEIR RETURN

Lydenburg, South Africa, June 24 (AP)— Oswald Pirow, defence minister, declared today it was "quite impossible" to return Southwest Africa and Tanganyika to Germany but urged compensation for loss of the colonies.

(The areas, taken from Germany after the Great War, are administered under League of Nations mandates by South Africa and Great Britain respectively.)

"No lasting world peace is conceivable," he said in a speech here, "without an unequivocal acknowledgment of German colonial demands with the proviso, in the case of Southwest Africa and Tanganyika, that since 1914 there have been developments that make the return of these territories impossible.

"As far as these territories are concerned fair compensation will have to be arranged by negotiation."

KENNETH REGAN STRUCK BY CAR

Marmora Youth Stepping From Milk Wagon Knocked Unconscious

Marmora, June 24.—(Special) — Kenneth Regan, sixteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Regan was rendered unconscious about 6.45 p.m. on Friday as stepping off L. E. Neal's milk wagon he was struck by a car driven by Charles Rupert of Cordova. After remaining unconscious for over an hour in Dr. H. Crawford's office he was conveyed to Belleville Hospital for an X-ray examination and treatment.

NO NEW CHARGE FOR TIME BEING

Stewart Nighswander Held on Charge of Attempted Suicide

Toronto, June 24—(CP)— Provincial Police said today investigations into the death of Henry Doto, 12, of Buffalo were proceeding on three fronts, in Toronto, Buffalo and Fort Erie, where the lad's nude body was found Wednesday.

Police said no new charge would be laid against Stewart Nighswander, 25, Buffalo airplane mechanic, until he appears in court late next week at Fort Erie on a charge of attempted suicide. An inquest will be held into the boy's death at Fort Erie early next week.

Nighswander was arrested on a technical charge of vagrancy a few hours after police found the Buffalo boy's body, but the charge was changed later to attempted suicide.

In Toronto laboratories experts examined Nighswander's clothes and articles found in a clump of bushes beside the body and studied the report of Dr. E. R. Frankish, medico-legal expert of the Ontario police, on a post-mortem examination.

Inspector Albert Ward today visited Buffalo to get photographs of Nighswander's fingerprints on file there and photographs of prints found on articles beside the body.

Nighswander, who staggered to the door of a hospital here Tuesday with his arm badly gashed, is held in the county jail at Welland.

Mrs. Owen Kehoe Hit by Bicycle, Taken to Hospital

Mrs. Owen Kehoe, elderly resident of Prince Edward County was taken to Belleville General Hospital shortly after eleven-thirty today suffering from head injuries sustained when she was knocked down by a bicycle said by police to have been ridden by Allen Juby, Alexander Street.

According to Mrs. P. W. Bell, John Street, an eyewitness to the accident, Mrs. Kehoe was crossing the road near the city hall when she was struck by the bicycle.

The injured woman was taken into the Dominion Stores branch and given first aid by Don McKinney of the Martin Funeral Home and then taken to the hospital in the Martin Ambulance. Police Constable Harold Taylor investigated.

Red Cross Home Nursing Course Is Concluded

Concluding the series of twelve lessons of the Red Cross Home Nursing Course, the girls of the various classes conducted since February met in Bridge St. Auditorium last evening when Dr. G. S. Cronk delivered the lecture on Contagious Diseases and Miss Dorothy Gray gave an excellent paper on Dietetics.

The first ten lessons of the course were given by nurses, Miss Earshman, Mrs. Moult and Mrs. Thompson, the groups being members of C.G.I.T. and the Rangers. Mrs. A. C. Locke is convener of the Home Nursing Department of the Belleville Red Cross Branch. Present last evening were Mrs. Stuart Lazier, vice-president of the Red Cross Society, Mrs. Thompson and Mrs. Logie of St. Thomas' Church, Mrs. B. Hughes, leader of Christ Church C.G.I.T., and Mrs. J. Semple.

A social evening concluded the evening's meeting.

SAYS BITES INFLICTED BY DOGS KEPT UNDER $500 TRUST FUND

Opelika, Ala., June 24—(AP)— Minnie and Willie, a pair of dogs with a $500 trust fund, have run into legal difficulties.

Sallie Sanford wants the $500 as salve for bites she contends were inflicted by the dogs, and filed suit attempting to collect.

The dogs, the suit states, were pets of wealthy Mrs. Margie McBurney, who before her death named Tommie Timms custodian of the fund, exacting a promise he never would mistreat them nor hurt their feelings.

The plaintiff alleges the dogs attacked her in Timms' store and that Timms did nothing to hurt the dogs' feelings then.

20% TAX ON LUXURIES TO MAINTAIN SOLDIERS

Madrid, June 24—Madrilenos began paying another 20 per cent. tax on luxuries today to help maintain the families of General Francisco Franco's soldiers.

The new tax applied to all purchases in confectioneries, perfume shops and such barber shop luxuries as shampoos. Franco previously had struck a heavy blow to one of Madrid's favorite pastimes—drinking—by taxing all sales in cafes, bars and restaurants 20 per cent.

BRIDE CHANGES MIND AND WEDS ANOTHER

Reno, Nev., June 24—(AP)—Elizabeth Ann Tuttle of Colusa, Calif., who called off her scheduled wedding with one man, to marry another, is Mrs. Roy Barnett Cohn today. The couple were married here yesterday.

There was no comment in Los Angeles from Clement Smoot, 25, who left his job in Houston, Tex., by automobile to drive to California for a July 1 wedding date with Miss Tuttle, niece of Admiral William D. Leahy of the United States Navy.

He was en route when his future bride changed her mind about it all and withdrew 400 wedding invitations.

The 40-ton ship was scheduled to follow the North Atlantic blazed 20 years ago by Sir John Alcock and Sir J. W. Brown, who crossed from Newfoundland to Ireland in an army bi-plane.

Follows Sister Ship

The Yankee Clipper's departure came one week after the start of the first "preview" flight by its sister ship, the Atlantic Clipper, which followed the southern route. Newspaper and radio observers were carried on that flight, preliminary to the beginning of regular Trans-Atlantic passenger service next Wednesday.

As the plane left the waters of Long Island Sound, almost an hour behind schedule because of ceremonies attendant on the departure, her sister ship, the Atlantic Clipper, was en route homeward from Lisbon, Portugal, via the southern route.

Among the observers aboard the Yankee Clipper for the flight to Southampton were Stephen Early, one of President Roosevelt's secretaries; United States Senators Dennis Chavez (Dem—New Mexico) and Ernest Lundeen (Fl—Minnesota), and Representatives Clarence Cannon (Dem—Missouri) and Carl Mapes (Rep—Michigan).

ASKS POLICE TO PROVE HALIFAX IN N. S.

Halifax, June 24 (CP)—Stipendiary Magistrate J. L. Barnhill ruled yesterday it was necessary for the Mounted Police to prove to him that Halifax was in Nova Scotia.

Dismissing the case of John Dixon, charged with unlawful possession of liquor, the magistrate said that under an order of the Nova Scotia Liquor Commission, Dixon was forbidden to have liquor anywhere in the province. Police testified he had a bottle of ale at his residence "in the City and County of Halifax". They neglected to add "in the Province of Nova Scotia", Magistrate Barnhill said.

JAPAN CLOSES PORT OF NINGPO

Maritime Approach, 120 Miles South of Shanghai, Completely Cut Off

Shanghai, June 24.— (AP)— Japanese virtually closed the important Port of Ningpo today in their drive to wrest from the Chinese the few remaining coastal cities which have been gateways for armaments.

Quickly following up their occupation Wednesday of Swatow, on the South China coast, Japanese naval officers announced an operation shutting off the Maritime approach to Ningpo, 120 miles south of Shanghai.

Ningpo and Foochow, in Chekiang and Fukient provinces respectively, are the only major ports remaining in Chinese hands.

Eastern Situation At a Glance

LONDON—Britain awaits Japan's answer to blunt warning that indignities to Britons in China must cease; retaliation predicted if an answer not delivered by early next week.

TIENTSIN—British-Japanese tension mounts with general tightening of Japanese blockade of British and French concessions; Japanese officers declare "temporary martial law" in Japanese concession.

SHANGHAI — Japanese virtually close important port of Ningpo, one of only two major Chinese ports still in Chinese hands.

Poland Orders Civilian Defences Completed By July 31

Poles Feel Concern Over Situation In Centre Europe

Exports of Oats Temporarily Forbidden by Economic Committee Because of Greater Domestic Needs for Grain

SOLID-BUILT CELLARS

Double Doors in Polish Houses Must be Provided With Glass Windows Which Can Easily be Smashed to Permit Gases to Escape

Warsaw, June 26—(CP-Havas) —The Polish government today ordered completion of special civilian defence works now under construction before Aug. 1.

Also indicative of Poland's concern over the present situation was a decision announced by the economic committee attached to Premier Pelician Slawoj-Skladowski's office to stop exports of oats temporarily because of greater domestic needs for the grain.

The Interior Minister ordered all building contractors to provide each new house with a solidly-built cellar for protection from air raids. House-owners received orders to break passages in all walls surrounding gardens or courtyards so as to permit air currents to disseminate any poison gas.

All double-doors must be provided with glass windows which can be smashed easily to permit gases to escape from a house. All this work must be completed before Aug. 1.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 26—(CP)— Moderate to heavy rains have occurred over the week end in the more northern districts of the Prairie Provinces with light to moderate showers farther south, while in Ontario and Quebec the weather has been fair. Cool, showery weather has prevailed in the Maritime Provinces. Pressure is high from the Great Lakes eastward to Newfoundland and over the northern portion of the continent, but relatively low over the Prairie Provinces and Western States, with a shallow depression centred to the southward of Nova Scotia.

Saskatchewan—Mostly fair and somewhat warmer in southern districts today and Tuesday; unsettled with showers farther north.

Alberta—Mostly cloudy today and Tuesday with scattered showers; stationary or a little higher temperature.

Desert living! 'With scorching heat—the highest temperatures known on the earth—during the day, and lower temperatures combined wtih free radiation enough to freeze water at night, and the air so dry that wood splits and leather gets as hard as a board, how do desert travellers live? Ten pints of water must be drunk a day. Evaporation proceeds so rapidly that the body cools enough to make living possible, and indeed the Saharan climate is not considered unhealthy. Rainfall is less than five inches a year, and heavy rains may be expected only about once in ten years, so that comfort from that source can not be relied upon.

BOMB THROWERS CHALLENGE POLICE BY DARING TIMING

Four Explosions in Heart of London and 19 Persons Injured

I.R.A. BLAMED

London, June 26—(CP)— The daring timing of bomb-throwers, whose missiles were fashioned to explode within a few seconds after being thrown, challenged today the ingenuity of Scotland Yard.

Seven men were being questioned at police stations about the four explosions in the heart of London Saturday night when 19 persons were injured. Two of the wounded still were undergoing hospital treatment today for eye injuries.

Chief Constable Albert Canning, Scotland Yard official who helped in the arrangements for the police protection of the King and Queen during their North American tour, led detectives in a widespread search for Irish Republican army members suspected of the bombings.

Canning's squad obtained search warrants for more than 100 dwellings. It was hoped he could uncover a large secret store of explosives.

Girl of Six Years, Second Victim Of Gunman's Gun

Windsor, Ont., June 26—(CP)—Second victim of the weapon used by a gunman who shot Alex Clarke, drug store manager Thursday night was six-year-old Demetra Lukos, who found the revolver in a field near the shooting scene during the weekend. The little girl was burned on the hands when the revolver went off as she handled it.

Thinking it a toy, Demetra pulled the trigger but the weapon was pointed away from her. Police found four live and two used bullets in the gun which had been identified as the one with which Clarke was shot in the groin. Clarke, shot while resisting a hold-up attempt, is recovering in hospital.

MISSIONARIES DIE IN JAP AIR RAID

Belfast, Northern Ireland, June 26—(CP Cable)—Friends here of the Rev. A. A. Caswell and his wife, Canadian missionaries in China, today expressed keen regret at their deaths in a Japanese air raid.

Mr. and Mrs. Caswell were well known here. The former arrived from Canada in 1909 and worked here two years. He returned in 1914 with his wife and remained three years.

Axis Powers United to Risk Utmost, Says Hitler; Goebbels is Insulting

Berlin, June 26—(AP)— Germany and Italy stand ready "unitedly to risk even the utmost, if necessary" for their existence and their futures, says Chancellor Hitler.

In a brief address in Munich to 500 touring Italian war veterans, Hitler said:

"Italy and Germany, sharing a common fate, will march together toward the same goal for all time. Anyone who should seek to tear the bonds between these states will fail in the face of the determind resistance of the axis powers."

The Chancellor told the veterans they were visiting Germany at a time when Nazis and Fascists stood united against "a world of opponents and enviers, of haters and enemies."

Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels, speaking at a Nazi party meeting in Essen, took issue with Prime Minister Chamberlain's Saturday speech in which he said Great Britain's navy is "the most powerful in the world, our army is daily increasing in numbers and in efficiency of equipment...."

"We wish statesmen would understand our policies," Goebbels said. "England stands as an idiot. They cannot compete with our might."

Goebbels demanded the return of colonies he said were stolen after the war and added:

"We would have no reason to say thank you. We only want our own back. England says we can do everything by treaty. We want no promises from London, but deeds.

"He who does not gamble cannot win. From 1915 to 1918 we followed a riskless policy.

"If they (Britain) attempt to threaten, that does not matter to us. There is no force behind it. Look at Japan. The Japanese strip them (Britons) naked and they can do nothing."

NINE-YEAR BOY IS DROWNED IN LOCAL HARBOR

Nine-Year-Old Donald Brickman, Belleville, Falls Off Victoria Park

RETURNING HOME

Cousin Runs for Life Guard, Body is Found in Six Feet of Water

While playing around Belleville's waterfront at Victoria Park on Saturday afternoon, nine-year-old Donald Brickman, son of Mr. and Mrs. Orrell Brickman, Belleville, fell into the harbor waters and was drowned. The little Brickman lad was in company with his eight-year-old cousin Douglas Brickman when he lost his balance and fell into the water. The body was not recovered until an hour afterwards and all efforts of artificial respiration failed. Later it was officially stated no inquest was necessary under the circumstances.

Had Been Bathing

The two Brickman lads had been bathing off the end of Victoria Park earlier in the afternoon and donning their civilian clothes were returning homeward along the east side of Victoria Park and it is believed that little Donald was swinging his bathing suit towards the water when he fell. Immediately his cousin ran for the aid of Life Guard Bennie Ritchie, who was stationed at the south end of the park. Upon their return and in eight-year-old Douglas Brickman's excitement, the lad pointed to a point in the harbor water some 20 feet south of the point where his cousin had fallen. Ritchie dove into the water without results, but later Donald Wardaugh, who had seen the fatal accident from the east side of the harbor, shouted directions. The water at the point was but six feet deep.

Body is Recovered

With the aid of boats and grappling hooks, however, Robert Brown, Chas. Barriage and Wm. Dingman later recovered the body nearby. Artificial resuscitation was attempted by Ritchie, R. Lloyd and J. Follwell and firemen. An oxygen unvaletor was brought from Belleville General Hospital and Dr. Anderson responded, accompanied by Arthur O'Dell, assistant to Dr. J. J. Robertson and J. D. Empson, hospital interne. With Dr. Robertson and the firemen, attempts were made to revive the child without success.

Chief Coroner Dr. Robertson and Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C. announced today an inquest would not be necessary.

Was Born in Belleville

Donald Bruce Brickman, who was in his 9th year, was born in Belleville and attended King George School and Bridge Street United Church Sunday School. He is survived by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Orrell Brickman and his grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Barr of Tichbourne, Ont. The sincere sympathy of friends will be extended to Mr. and Mrs. Brickman in their trouble.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Organisms Frozen for 20,000 Years Revived By Soviet Scientists

Moscow, June 26—(AP)—Tass, official Russian news agency, reported today living organisms dating back 20,000 years have been revived by Soviet scientists after a long sleep in frozen soil.

Species of water plants and fungi and also soil bacteria were found in the frozen soil strata of eastern Siberia near the bones of extinct mammoth bison.

Soviet scientists, using nature's refrigerator in the Arctic for their experiments, have been seeking to locate the boundary between life and death for many years.

Back in September, 1936, they were successful in reviving plant organisms calculated to have been frozen solid from 1,000 to 3,000 years in the land of perpetual ice.

The All-Union Academy of Sciences then undertook experiments to revive "dead" organisms of even greater antiquity.

The region north of the Arctic Circle provides an ideal workshop since the scientists need dig down but a few yards to strike the zone of perpetual ice which is from 165 to 200 feet thick.

In this frozen belt, nature has stored for centuries both plant and animal organisms which may be dead or in a state of suspension.

FATALITIES MOUNT AS SEVEN DIE OVER WEEK END

Death from Skies as Parachute Fails to Open

THREE DROWNED

By The Canadian Press

Death from the skies as a parachute failed to open, was included today in Ontario's seven violent fatalities at the week-end. Drownings claimed three lives, two persons were killed in automobile accidents and one man was electrocuted.

His mother was among 2,000 horrified spectators who saw 21-year-old Joseph Chadwick step calmly from the wing of a privately-owned airplane yesterday near St. Catharines, to hurtle 2,500 feet to an orchard. It is believed he either "froze" or fainted after making the leap.

The young St. Catharines aviation enthusiast was the first of three novices scheduled to make initial parachute jumps—his dive to death brought the show to a sudden and tragic end.

Parachute Partly Opened

An investigation was started immediately and it was learned one of two parachutes with which Chadwick was equipped was partially opened. It could not be learned whether it was opened by the impact as his body hit the ground.

Fourteen-year-old Tom Ferguson of Brantford, who bathed in Crystal Springs because his widowed mother considered the Grand River dangerous, was one of three who met death in the water.

TRANSPORT GOES THRU STEEL WORK

Driver Escapes Injury as Vehicle is Held by Steel from Falling Into Water

When a large Marsh Transport, driven by Clarence Conliff, Morrisburg, crashed into the steel work of a bridge over Mud Creek at Marysville early yesterday, the frame of the vehicle pierced the steel work of the bridge, saving the vehicle from tumbling into the water below. The driver, 35-year-old Conliff, sustained a fractured right leg and was badly shaken up whe nextricated some time later by passing motorists. The accident occurred shortly after 5.00 a.m.

The large ten ton transport buckled at the rear of the tractor, blocking all traffic for many hours before it was released. Conliff was removed to the Belleville Hospital after being assisted from the wreckage, as the tractor portion of the vehicle was a complete wreck.

When first found Conliff intimated to Traffic Officer Sam Ervine that a second man had been in the cab of the vehicle at the time of the crash. Subsequent searching revealed no signs of any other person in the wreckage. Later it was learned a man had alighted from the vehicle east of Belleville, after having been given a lift. The tractor was completely demolished, but the cargo of soda biscuits was reported to be practically intact. It is believed the driver fell asleep just prior to the truck crashing into the steel frame work of the bridge.

JAPANESE REFUSE TO PROBE REPORTS OF INDIGNITIES

Allege British Women Forced to Disrobe in Full View of Japanese Sentry

MILK SHORTAGE

Tokyo, June 26—(P)— Domei, Japanese news agency, reported in a dispatch from Swatow that Japanese navy officials forcibly prevented two British steamers from unloading passengers and freight at the South China port today.

Tientsin, June 26—(AP)—A Japanese spokesman declared today Japan had not and would not investigate reports that a British couple had been forced by Japanese to disrobe in Tientsin because "in principle such a case could not happen."

Major G. A. Herbert, British Consul in Tientsin, had charged that a British subject and his wife, Mr. and Mrs. D. A. Finlay, were undressed and searched before being allowed to cross the Japanese barrier surrounding the blockaded British concession here.

Mrs. Finlay was said to have been permitted to keep on only one garment—a girdle—while a Chinese policeman examined her in full view of a Japanese army sentry.

Asked if he could deny the report that Mr. and Mrs. Finlay had been compelled to strip the spokesman answered, "in principle, yes."

He acknowledged, however, that he had no report from gendarmes at the racecourse road barrier where Major Herbert said the incident occurred Saturday.

Concerned About News

With the British community shocked by the reported incident, the Japanese apparently were beginning to be concerned by accounts of their activities published abroad.

BANK OF TORONTO BRANCH HELD UP

Armed Bandit Takes $3,000 and is Driven Away by Confederate

Toronto, June 26—(CP)— An armed bandit took between $2,000 and $3,000 from the Bank of Toronto branch at Eglinton Avenue and Bathurst Street, in Forest Hill Village, at noon today. He escaped in a motor car driven by a confederate who waited outside.

The robber flourished an automatic pistol to intimidate the bank staff. After getting his loot, he backed from the bank, keeping the staff covered, and leaped in the waiting motor car.

Cabinet to Announce Decision Thursday

Ottawa, June 26—(CP)—Thomas Bata, Czechoslovak shoe manufacturer, conferred today with Mines Minister Crerar and F. C. Blair, Dominion Director of Immigration, on details of his proposal to bring into Canada a few key men to help staff a proposed shoe plant in Canada.

From the Minister's office it was announced that the question will not be decided before the next meeting of cabinet council Thursday. A cabinet committee was delegated last week to study the question.

Border Warfare Raging for Past Six Weeks, Moscow Learns

Moscow, June 26—(AP)— Fears of a major conflict between Russia and Japan were aroused in some quarters today by official reports of heavy fighting on the frontier between Outer Mongolia and Manchoukuo.

Soviet citizens learned for the first time last night that border warfare has been raging for more than six weeks. A broadcast announcement gave the first specific news of the fighting which it said involved men, tanks, airplanes and artillery.

GERMAN POLICE GIVEN 16 YEARS

Special Tribunal Tries Men for Shooting of Czech Policeman in Bohemia

Prague, June 26—(AP)— Two German policemen, George Bulla and Paul Stehr, were convicted and sentenced to 15 years imprisonment each today for the killing of a Czech policeman, Johann Mueller, June 6 at Nachod.

The sentence was imposed by a special tribunal from whose verdict no appeal is possible. In addition to the prison term, both defendants were dishonorably discharged from the German police service.

Two fellow officers of Mueller testified at the trial that he was shot through the head as he pressed against the wall of the Nachod police station in an attempt to escape the German's gunfire through a window.

Three barmaids said the Germans drank 47 marks' ($18.80) worth of beer, wine and cognac in a Nachod bar and that they went through the streets shooting into the air prior to shooting Mueller.

MISS AMY SHERWOOD DIES

British Government Urged to Adopt Firmer Stand in Far East by Papers

London, June 26—(CP Havas)—Propaganda Minister Paul Joseph Goebbels' "exultation" in Berlin over the indignities experienced by Britons at the hands of the Japanese in Tientsin was condemned today by The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) in an editorial urging the British government to adopt a firm far eastern stand.

The diplomatic editor of The Financial Times (Independent) said Prime Minister Chamberlain's cabinet believed it had reason to feel it was still "possible to negotiate a local settlement" of the Tientsin dispute.

He concurred with the diplomatic correspondent of the Sunday Times (Independent) in predicting that in case Japanese continued in their present course, Britain would decide on a naval demonstration in preference to economic reprisals.

"Goebbels, with his language of mingled insolence, enmity and provocation, has exulted in the fact that the Japanese are stripping British subjects naked," The Daily Telegraph observed.

Probably Cheers Him

"Doubtless it cheers him to think that the brutal indignities which Nazidom with savage delight inflicted on German Jews have found such worthy imitators.

"That treatment....is even worthy of the inspiration of Goebbels himself, who now boasts that the British government can do nothing about it. Fortunately, we are no longer an unarmed nation, and, in the Prime Minister's opinion, we can face the future 'with calm confidence in our growing strength.'..

"Our readiness to 'talk reason with reasonable people' cannot be anywhere in doubt. Where we have dangerouslyq deluded ourselves is in attempting to talk reason to unreasonable people whose only purpose is to have their own way and who regard our appeal to reason simply as a manifestation of 'weakness and want of will'."

Report Available

The Financial Times' diplomatic correspondent pointed out that a report of British Ambassador Sir Robert Craigie's meeting with Japanese Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita on Saturday would be available to the cabinet today.

"The British government, having expressed to the Japanese government....its determination to uphold British interests in China, and to maintain Britain's prestige there, believes it is impossoble to negotiate a local settlement. The British cabinet has considered what action should follow adherence by Japan to her present policy. This consideration took place before Sir Robert Craigie met Arita on Saturday.

"Economic reprisals were at first strongly favored, but it was recognized that the effect of imposing these reprisals might well defeat the main objective—to restrict the scope of the trouble. The ministers have considered whether a demonstration of naval forces would not be more effective."

Sir Robert Craigge, British Ambassador at Tokyo, Makes Representations to Japan on Advice of Lord Halifax

WARNED TO CEASE

France and Britain Will Likely Accept Russian Terms for Military Alliance and Completion of European Peace Bloc

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 26—(CP Cable) — The British and Japanese governments have decided to open negotiations at Tokyo within 48 hours on blockaded Tientsin. Sir Robert Craigie, the British Ambassador, will represent British interests while Sotomatsu Kato, former Japanese Minister to Canada, will lead the Japanese delegation.

May Lift Blockade

The Japanese, it is understood, have agreed to lift the blockade of the British concession soon after the negotiations start. It had been represented to them by the British government that it would be impossible to continue negotiations any length of time while the concession was walled off.

Prime Minister Chamberlain previously had told the House of Commons he was hopeful that negotiations which had already been started by Sir Robert Craigie in preliminary form would lead to settlement of the Tientsin incident, which has stretched Anglo-Japanese relations close to the breaking point.

London, June 26—(CP Cable) — Prime Minister Chamberlain today told the House of Commons he was hopeful that the representations of Sir Robert Craigie, British Ambassador at Tokyo, to the Japanese government would lead to a settlement of the Tientsin affair.

The Prime Minister was questioned in the House by members who were obviously becoming impatient over the indignities British subjects have suffered in the blockaded British concession at Tientsin.

Mr. Chamberlain asked one or two members who mentioned the possibility of economic reprisals against Japan to restrain themselves so as not to prejudice the conversations now proceeding in Tokyo.

In an earlier statement the Prime Minister said the British and French governments were in consultation on the negotiations to

City and District News

CITY ENGINEER TO EXAMINE ROAD ROLLER

City road repairing operations are now about two months behind schedule, and a heavy program looms for employees of the city works department when this summer work starts, it is reported by City Engineer Chas. Mott. This week Mr. Mott and Mr. Frank Sparks will visit Frankfort, N.Y., for the examination of a gasoline road roller prior to expected purchase by the city. The city steam roller has been out of operation for some time and is now undergoing extensive repairs.

BIG SUPPLY CRUSHED ROCK NOW ON HAND

With storage bins now filled with an estimated 40,000 tons of crushed rock of various sizes, workers in the north end city quarry will suspend operations there about the middle of this week, a summer's supply of stone being assured. The order will affect an even dozen employees who have been given about six weeks' work on this project.

CROP SCHEDULE ABOUT NORMAL

Farmers of the county are right on schedule with their summer work and crops, it is reported at local agricultural offices. Annually the farmer hopes to finish his haying and prepare the land for millet and buckwheat between the period of July 4 and 12, it is stated. This year much of the haying has already been completed, and it is expected that many will commence the sowing of millet and buckwheat at about the end of the present week.

"Conditions look lovely in Hastings and Prince Edward," it was reported by officials.

CANOEISTS DUMPED WHILE CROSSING BAY DURING HIGH WIND

While heavy white-caps rolled in the bay west of the bay bridge on Saturday afternoon under the force of a strong gale, four unidentified canoeists paddled their frail craft directly into the face of the gale. Midway in the bay they were unable to proceed further, and in attempting to turn the canoe was swamped and the youths thrown into the water.

Residents of Rossmore gathered on shore helplessly fearful of a tragedy, but the youths clinging to the canoe floated to shore where the craft was righted and emptied. They then set out again and completed the difficult crossing of the bay.

'THREE STOREYS OF NOAH'S ARK' SERMON THEME

Anniversary services were held yesterday at the Evangel Temple, Bridge St. W., marking the completion of the first year of the pastorate by Pastor and Mrs. E. N. O. Kulbeck. After partaking of the Lord's Supper, nearly everyone present at the morning service took part in a time of fellowship and testimony, which was vibrant with the spirit of victory and Christian warmth. Musical portions of the evening evangelistic rally included vocal solos by Mrs. E. N. O. Kulbeck and Mrs. C. LaFontaine, and a solo on the electric vibraphone by Mr. Ed. Rupert. Mr. Kulbeck spoke on the "Three Storeys of Noah's Ark" pointing out the importance of the Genesis account of the flood from standpoint of historicity as well as the spiritual truths portrayed by it illustrating the plan of salvation.

CARP REPORTED BITING WELL ON MIXTURE OF DOUGH AND CHEESE

Huge carp now inhabiting the bay have reversed their feeding habits through some unknown reason and alert anglers of the city have reaped a small financial harvest lately as the result.

The fish which never before had been known to bite on a baited hook are now being hauled freely from the government dock and south side wharves with a new bait introduced by a visiting fisherman, a mixture of bread dough and cheese. Several of the fish, the largest of which weighed nearly thirty pounds were caught by Wm. Dingman.

A ready sale for the carp at prices ranging as high as $$1.50 for the larger ones is reported by anglers.

QUEST FOR WORK IN WESTERN ONTARIO PROVES FRUITLESS

Three young local men who returned to Belleville over the weekend from Western Ontario where they had looked fruitlessly for work warned other unemployed of the city to keep out of that section unless they wanted to go workless and hungry.

Warnings have been posted in the employment offices throughout Kent, Essex and other counties that there is no work to be had in the tobacco fields and that a full supply of applicants is on hand at all offices to fill these jobs. A heavy invasion of the western part of the province has been noted this year and jobs of any kind are hard to get, reported the local youths.

PUPILS TAKE UP STUDY OF ROCKS

New studies in the minerals of Hastings County are being undertaken by budding young geologist-pupils of King George School. Weekend visits and picnics of the children to North Hastings points give children an opportunity of collecting various specimens of minerals which are being added to the school collection. Today a new batch of the stones which include samples of feldspar, gold quartz and other minerals was identified and classified for the school by the local Chamber of Commerce.

REGIOPOLIS COLLEGE 100 YEARS OLD

Regiopolis College, Kingston, celebrated its hundredth anniversary with befitting ceremonies which continued from Wednesday to Friday of last week. A large number of visitors included the the Papal Delegate, members of the hierarchy and the clergy, and laity joined with the alumni to celebrate the occasion.

Among the speakers was Rt. Rev. J. P. Nicholson, V.G., a former principal of the institution.

Regiopolis was founded by Bishop Macdonell in the year 1839. His life and works figured prominently in the early days of this province.

50 CHILDREN RECEIVE FIRST COMMUNION AT ST. MICHAEL'S

Fifty boys and girls received First Holy Communion at the 8:30 Mass at the Church of St. Michael the Archangel yesterday morning. The little girls in their school uniforms, with white veils, and the boys in navy blue, marched in procession from the academy. In the afternoon at three o'clock the children were enrolled in the Scapulars by the pastor, Rt. Rev. J. P. Nicholson, V.G. who addressed the class on the significance of their First Communion day in their lives. The Act of Consecration to the Blessed Virgin was recited by Charles Doran and Catharine Morell. During the morning and Mass, and at Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament in the afternoon, a choir of children from St. Michael's Academy sang very beautifully.

FREEMASONRY SEEKS TO MOULD MAN'S CHARACTER

Rev. C. T. Olmstead Delivers Sermon to Brethren of Order at Victoria Baptist Church

"A building depends for its solidity upon its foundation stone. Character depends for its solidity upon its foundation—Jesus Christ," declared Rev. C. T. Olmstead at the annual St. John the Baptist's Day Masonic divine service Sunday morning in Victoria Ave. Baptist Church.

Quoting his text from Ephesians II:21 'Jesus Christ, Himself the Chief Corner Stone; in whom all the building fitly framed together groweth unto a holy temple in the Lord, in whom you also are builded together for a habitation of God through the spirit'. The minister went on to say: "Freemasonry endeavors to mould a man's character into the beauty and strength of a majestic cathedral. It has in it the lure of a splendid ideal. The plumb, square and level in Masonic symbolism teach a man to be upright and virtuous, to square his every action by the square of virtue; and in the centre of these symbols is God.

Characters and Reality

"But our characters must be rigged with reality. The problem of Freemasonry, like the problem of religion, is to get men to govern their conduct by their ideals. These ideals get up against the perversity of human will. Masonic idealism needs a personal religious devotion in order to give it reality. It must not be used as a garment but as a mould of character. Mere profession is cheap; true and worthy conduct costs much."

Pursuing his subject, "Building Manhood From the Trestle Board" the preacher mentioned Solomon's Temple and great cathedrals of St. Peter's, Cologne, Rheims, St. Paul's, Canterbury and others, whose strength and beauty were translated into spires, arches and massive walls from the architect's dream as outlined on the trestle board.

Ideals of Freemasonry

"Freemasonry has traced on its trestle board the ideals, the visions and the plans of the Cathedral of Character. A holy temple is a magnificent structure and a mason or a non-mason who comes to be fitly framed together in Jesus Christ becomes a magnificent specimen of manhood. The man in whom God makes His habitation will become noble in thought and emotion."

During the service Rt. Wor. Bro. C. H. Ketcheson, D.D.G.M. of the Prince Edward District No. 13, G.R.C., read the Scripture lesson while Bro. Rev. A. L. Geen offered special prayers.

The lodges paraded from the Masonic Temple in a body with Moira Lodge No. 11, Wor. Bro. M. R. Anderson presiding master, The Belleville Lodge No. 123, Wor. Bro. Frank Tulk, master, and Eureka Lodge, No. 283, Wor. Bro. B. G. Wilkinson, presiding master, were all represented.

Beaches Project Must Go Forward

Now that the summer season is here, and bathing will be popular for the next nine or ten weeks, it is to be hoped that every step will be taken by the Beaches Association and City Council to assure that the beaches will be in such a state that the bathers will not be incommoded by unsavory odors from exposed garbage and that everything be done to make the place as attractive as possible to the children and their elders.

A good deal of time has been spent upon the beach. Private citizens have co-operated with not only their efforts but also with considerable money donations, and the project has been well advanced on the way to its ultimate object.

With so many desirous of making use of the park and the beaches, it would be unwise to let the project drift. The Beaches Association and the City Council should co-operate and make every effort, not only to remedy any situation that needs remedying but also to make all the improvements possible.

The Beach Project looks an impressive one for the future if it is given steady co-operation on every hand and continues to grow.

Belleville Musicians Win High Honors at Waterloo Musical Festival Saturday

Ted Hinchey and Johnny Green and Two Children, Bobby Young and Dolores Clapp, from St. Michael's Band, Win Gold Medals

L. RIGGS ACCOMPANIST

Four youthful musicians, a distinct credit to themselves and to their instructors, brought honor to their native city on Saturday when they swept aside all opposition in their respective classes at the famous Waterloo Musical Festival, and to win first places and gold medals. Three other young artists won fourth places while another won honorable mention.

The outstanding achievement of the Belleville contingent was made by Johnny Green, cornetist who won first place in the Premier Open Cornet Competition defeating the cream of Western Ontario artists to win the coveted Gold Medal, emblematic of the championship.

So difficulty was the selection to be played, critics said, that only six entrants competed in the contest. Green was awarded 89½ points for musical merit.

Ted Hinchey, son of Mr. and Mrs. Reg. Hinchey, took first place in the clarinet contest for players 20 years and under finishing with a perfect score of 90 points. In the same contest, Ralph Clapp took fourth place with a score of 88½ points.

In the contest for clarinetists 25 years and under, John Mitchell garnered 87 points to finish in fourth place, while Ronnie Moorman son of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Moorman, won fourth place in the cornet contest for twelve years and under.

Children from Band Excel

Of the three tots of St. Michael's Band, two took first places and gold medals and the third merited distinction high in rank but outside the third place.

Master Bobby Young gathered marks from the start. Bobby is only ten years of age. He doesn't yet know what it is all about but the judges who were strict in every detail agreed that his place was first in saxaphone solos. A sixteen-year-old boy from Western Ontario came second.

Little Dolores Clapp, who won first place in the clarinet contest, was the only girl playing in a large class.

Nine-year-old John Briand played in the cornet class with "excellence" as stated in the official report. Being away from home he added radio touches which withdrew too many marks. The band presented John with a beautiful pencil today when he laughed and said "I won't do it again."

The performance of these very young contestants brought distinction to their teacher, Rev. Sister M. Mercedes, who has trained the St. Michael's Band since its organization and who merits highest praise for the outstanding success of her efforts.

Splendid Accompaniment

A feature of the Belleville Artists' success was the fact that Leo Riggs, popular local pianist accompanied all the prize winners. Messrs. Reg. Hinchey, Fred Jobson and Harry Moorman were loud in their praise of the admirable artistry of Mr. Riggs whose splendid accompaniment proved great inspiration to the youthful musicians.

"The festival was one of the most colorful affairs of its kind I have ever witnessed," Mr Hinchey said today in paying tribute to the young Belleville musicians. "Sixty-seven bands, mostly from Western Ontario competed, while our youngsters were up against the stiffest competition, a fact that reflects even more on their splendid achievements."

Centre Street Mission

Centre Street Mission, looking spick and span in its new coat of paint, varnish and wallpaper, held unique services on Sunday. Rapid renovation had taken place in the past few days and electric lights had been installed so that the mission has become one of the finest of the smaller churches in the section. Large congregations were present morning and evening, sixty-five or seventy persons attending the evening service. There was a good attendance at the Sunday School held at ten o'clock in the morning.

Mr. Harry Atkinson of Albert College took the morning service and preached. Mrs. Charles Wilson and Mr. Atkinson sang a duet at this service and Mrs. George Ferguson and Miss Joy Nichols took part in the program.

Rev. L. S. Wight, who is in charge of services, was the preacher at the evening service and preached on "Solomon's Choice of Wisdom and Understanding." Attending this service were the members of the Mission baseball team who were present in a body. Mr. Ernest A. Ridley led the song service in the evening, and Miss Dorothy Osborne sang a solo.

Mrs. Collins presided at the piano and organ at the morning service and Mrs. Osborne at the evening service.

Mr. Turnbull is scoutmaster at the Mission and Mrs. Turnbull is an active worker in the congregation.

Rev. Mr. Wight has arranged a series of special services for the evenings of Sundays in the month of July.

STIRLING

DECORATION DAY HELD AT STIRLING

Members of Stirling I.O.O.F. Marched to Memorial Park and Cemetery

Stirling, June 26—(Special)—Fine weather and a large turnout of Lodge Members and visiting brethren from neighboring towns added to the success of the day when Stirling Lodge No. 239 I.O.O.F. held their annual decoration day on Sunday, June 25th. Formation for the long procession took place at the Lodge rooms on Front St. and headed by the Stirling Citizens Band, under the leadership of Maurice Bell, marched first to Memorial Park where flowers were placed there in honor of those of the order who had paid the supreme sacrifice in the world war. The sounding Reveille and Last Post was performed by Bandsmen James Ward and Frank Butler and this brief ceremony climaxed with two minutes' silence. Proceeding to the Stirling Cemetery the brethren formed in a large circle about a huge flag spread on the grass and the service which was conducted by Bro. H. R. Tompkins, opened with the band playing "Lead Kindly Light." Bro. George Weaver offered prayer and the names of the departed brethren were read by Bro. Ernest Carlisle as each of the lodge members solemnly placed a flower tribute upon the flag. As the flowers were being placed on the graves at the conclusion of this ceremony Rev. W.H.V. Walker gave the address of the day in which he urged the brethren to remain steadfast in the traditions and beliefs of the order which during its existence has contributed largely to the advancement of Christian civilization.

"Y" BOYS HOLD ANNUAL PICNIC

Some thirty-five members of the Prep and Junior Boys' Classes enjoyed a picnic at Oak Lake on Saturday.

The boys left the Y.M.C.A. shortly after 9 o'clock in high spirits in anticipation of a big day at the lake under perfect picnic weather conditions. The programme consisted of baseball, running, swimming and diving races with prizes for the lucky winners. After dinner a short programme of games passed the time until 2 o'clock when they left for home.

Transportation to and from the lake was gratefully provided in cars by Mrs. Stobie, Messrs. M. P. Duff, J. B. Boyce, F. S. Deacon, F. S. Douglas and Bruce May.

The picnic was under the supervision of Mr Shortt, Homer "Red" Townsend and Ronald Foster.

OBITUARY

VIVIAN BRADSHAW

The death occurred at the Belleville General Hospital on Sunday, June 25th., of Vivian Bradshaw, R.R. 6, Belleville. He was 57 years of age and his illness was of brief duration.

MRS. WILLIAM J. CROW (Toronto)

Margaret McNulty, beloved wife of Wm. J. Crow of Toronto, youngest daughter of the late Mr. and Mrs. John McNulty, formerly of Belleville Ont., died suddenly after an emergency operation at St. Michael's Hospital, Toronto, on Friday, May 12th, 1939.

Her pleasant kindly disposition endeared her to all who knew her, many of whom paid her final tribute at C. A. Connors' Funeral Parlors, where she rested, and at Holy Name Church where Requiem High Mass was sung by Rev. Father James N. Fullerton. The pall bearers were intimate friends, Clem. Boegel, Joseph Meehan, Edward J. Keating, James Keating, Gilbert Lynes and Bert Adams. Rev. Father McCann gave final benediction at the grave in Mount Hope cemetery.

She leaves to mourn her loss, her husband and daughters, Marie and Rita, her sisters, Mrs. Joseph Bousher, Croghan, N. Y., Mrs. Frank Rabeau, Carnduff, Sask., the family of the late Mrs. Con. Mullins of Belleville, and Charles, Michael, Peter and John McNulty of Elzevir, Ont.

Tire Falls Off Truck Damaging Motor Car

Plainfield (Special)—A spare tire which was lying loosely on the platform of a commercial truck driven by Mr. C. C. Thompson, merchant of Northbrook, who was on his way home from Belleville, was thrown off opposite the home of Mr. William Marshall in Plainfield. In its course the tire, which weighed about one hundred pounds, struck Mr. Marshall's Ford coupe which was parked on the edge of his lawn, damaging it considerably.

Mr. Thompson had last noticed the tire when he was about Cannifton. After several hours' delay spent in an unsuccessful retracing of his steps in search of the tire, Mr. Thompson proceeded to Northbrook and returned again the same evening to make a further search, when the missing tire was located having been placed in safe keeping by Mr. Marshall, who until the owner turned up was unable to solve the mystery attached to finding his car damaged and a brand new tire lying on his lawn. The matter was amicably settled.

FEAR MAJOR FIGHT

"Vestpocket" Conflict

The last time Russia and Japan came to grips in the Far East was at Changkufeng, along the Siberia-Manchoukuo-Korea border, last summer. Although that "vestpocket" conflict caused fears of a major war, it was settled finally through diplomatic negotiations which ended in a truce. Both sides gave themselves credit for having achieved peace with victory.

Whether the fighting between Soviet-Mongolian and Japanese-Manchoukuoan forces on the border southeast of Lake Bor would taper off the same day was remained to be seen.

Observers here noted, however, that Russia and Japan technically are not fighting. They are striking at each other through states they dominate. These sources said the conflict, therefore, need not spread unless either Moscow or Tokyo decides to force a real showdown.

They said no such decision as yet was apparent.

Long Series of Battles

The Russian communique described a long series of battles beginning May 11 and continuing up to Saturday along the border which Premier Vyacheslaff Molotoff said May 31 would be defended by the Soviet Union "with the same determination as our own."

It said a total of 82 warplanes—59 of them Japanese—had been shot down. Tass, official Soviet News Agency, said 25 Japanese-Manchoukuo planes were shot down in an air battle Saturday in the Far East in which 60 planes on each side fought. It said two Russian aircraft were lost,

FATALITIES

On his way home after bathing in a pool, Donald Brickman of Rossmore, nine, fell into Belleville harbor. His body was located 45 minutes later. In full view of thousands attending the Waterloo Band festival Saturday, 14-year-old Carlo Maccio of Sarnia drowned while swimming in Silver Lake.

Head Touches Wire

Resuscitation efforts for several hours failed to save the life of Sylvester Allan 52, of Seaforth, whose head accidentally touched a high tension wire atop a pole he was working on at the Seaforth Public Utilities plant.

When a car in which she was a passenger plunged through a bridge guard rail and landed upside down in a ravine, four miles east of Sault Ste. Marie, Mrs. J. Doherty of the Sault was killed instantly. Her neck was broken in the crash.

An accident which brought injuries to three others proved fatal for James Bradley of Brantford. He suffered a skull fracture and died in hospital. The accident happened near his home, the car turning over at a street intersection.

Rev. H. B. Herrington closed the meeting with prayer, after which the hostess and her assistants served a dainty lunch and a social half hour was enjoyed.

Bonarlaw

Bonarlaw. — A very successful "Loyalty" Tea was held Thursday afternoon at the Rectory grounds, under the auspices of St. Mark's W.A. from 3 p.m. to 6 p.m.

About sixty persons sat down at small tables placed on the lawn under the shade of the trees and were served strawberries and cream, small cakes, bread and butter, tea, etc. The tables were decorated with beautiful bouquets of flowers, some of the color combinations being the appropriate red, white and blue.

The guests were also entertained with games, contests, readings, etc. Mrs. W. J. Barlow contributed a reading entitled, "We Will Remember Her Smile," and Mrs. A. D. McComb a poem entitled "What a Smile is Worth." One of the contests was "Places Visited by Their Majesties."

Marmora

Marmora—On Thursday evening about sixty friends of Mr. and Mrs. W. A. Shannon gathered at the Separate School to honor the newly married couple. Dancing was enjoyed to music supplied by Mike Kouri and Eugene Reynolds. A delicious lunch was served by the ladies after which a presentation of a tri-lite floor lamp and an occasional chair was made to the newlyweds. The following address was read:

Dear Bill and Dorena:

It is customary on some happy occasions as this to wish the bride and groom every joy, the best of health, much wealth, good luck, felicitations and many blessings. Knowing you both so well, as we all do, we in all sincerity, wish you all those aforementioned adjuncts of happiness. We are all glad to have you with us tonight and ask you to accept these gifts as a token of our goodwill towards you. May the future hold nothing but happiness in store for you; and in the twilight of your life when you look back on the long road you have travelled together, may you be able to say that you have at least captured a goodly portion of that happiness which we now wish for you.

Yours very sincerely,
ALL OF US.

Marmora softball team secured its fifth consecutive Trent Balley League victory on Friday in defeating Madoc on the local diamond by the score of 15 to 9. Reynolds, the home pitcher, was in his usual good form. Naylor, commenced on the mound for Madoc and was relieved by Major in the fourth when Marmora compiled 8 runs. The game only went six innings, due to the late arrival of the visiting team. Leonard in making a home run as opening batter in the first was emulated by Hollingsworth and Reynolds. No home runs appeared in Madoc's total.

Score by innings:

Madoc	412 110	9
Marmora	103 812	15

Umpires—C. Wallbridge at plate; F. Burns on bases.

Teams:

Madoc—Abey, ss; Alexander lf; Flinch, rf; Root, cf; Nickle, c; Kellar, 2nd.; Martin, 1st; Naylor, p; Major, p; Dingman, 3rd.

Marmora—Leonard, c; McColl, rf; Burridge, ss; Hollingsworth, 1st; Gray, 3rd; Kouri, 2nd; Phillips, cf; Reynolds, p; Osborne, lf.

At Deloro the Smelters won their first league fixture over Stirling by the score of 22-6.

Mrs. M. S. Doupe of Salt Lake City, is visiting Mrs. E. Rose and other friends in Marmora.

Massassaga

Massassaga — Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray entertained the former's brother and wife, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Gray, also Mr. and Mrs. Dawson of Welland, on Wednesday of last week.

Mrs. Bell and Mrs. Geddes of the Front Road, spent Wednesday with Mrs. George Flower.

Mr. Jim Broad, Miss Hattie Broad, also Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Jose spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Boyle, Cole Creek.

Mrs. Harry Wallbridge spent Wednesday in Belleville with her sister, Miss Pearl Jose, who is ill.

On Thursday of last week Mr. and Mrs. Will Gray, June and Jack attended a family reunion at Tweed in honor of Mr. and Mrs. George Gray.

Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Ackerman of Campbellford, were guests of Mr. and Mrs. Roy Valleau on Thursday.

Mrs. W. P. Osborne, Mrs. Embury and Miss Mary Lou Lazier of Belleville, spent Sunday at Mrs. Osborne's cottage and attended church in the evening.

Mrs. R. A. Lazier, of Belleville, was a supper guest of Mr. and Mrs. I. Nightingale on Sunday.

Mrs. Howard Wallbridge called on Mrs. Will Gray on Thursday afternoon.

Christian Street

Christian Street—Mrs. Stanley Werden came home on Sunday and Miss Nellie Werden is now staying with her grandmother, Mrs. Pooley, who is some better again.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Allison and Arthur of Big Island, spent Sunday with his mother, Mrs. D. W. Allison and sister, Miss Claire Allison.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Heddington of Belleville, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Basil Ainsworth.

Mr. and Mrs. Douglas Moxam and Lillian of Rossmore, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. David Fox.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Burr and Ronald of Burr's, spent Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Werden.

Mr. Harold Cross spent Saturday afternoon with Mr. Oscar Parks of Wellington Road. His many friends will be glad to hear that he is steadily improving after his recent illness and also Mrs. Parks who has been ill.

The information of the sudden passing of Albert Herrington Werden of Cleveland on Sunday was a shock to his aged parents, Mr. and Mrs. M. M. Werden and other relatives and friends. While he had been ill with a stomach ailment during the winter the last word had been that he was improved enough to be able to work part time. He is survived by his wife and two young sons, Albert and Allan of Cleveland, his parents and one brother, Stanley, of Christian Street; two sisters, Mrs. Nellie Anderson, of Belleville and Mrs. Ross Burr of Burr's; one brother Ralph, passed away suddenly after a few days' illness from pneumonia some years ago.

Deepest sympathy is extended to all the bereaved relatives and a pall of gloom hangs over the neighborhood where he was born and spent his early life and was so well and favorably known.

A number from the neighborhood attended the W.M.S. tea at Bethel one afternoon last week.

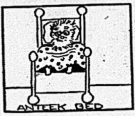
A number from the enighborhood attended the ice cream social at Dorsee's on Wednesday evening.

Mrs. Harold Noxon attended an afternoon tea held by members of Bethlehem Shrine at the home of Mrs. Varley in Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. James Demille of Dorsee's called on Mrs. S. J. Cross on Sunday evening.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking to himself in his private chair and ma said, O dear, Willyum, I cant stop thinking of that genuine French provincial plate rack that was on sail in Hookbinders anteek department for only 18 dollers and 75 cents, the thought of it haunts me like a refrain and if you were't so silly about the whole idea of anteeks I'd have it sent up to see how it looked even if I didn't actually keep it, but you're such an ultra conservative pull-back about anteeks.



No more, that's a thing of the passed, I'm a changed man with a bran new outlook, pop said. I saw an anteek downtown today that revolutionised my whole attitude. I'm beginning to appriciate the charm of certain old pieces, no wonder some people go nutty on the subject, he said, and ma said, Why Willyum what a change, do you mean you really wont mind if I buy that French provincial plate rack?

Why not, then I wont have any feeling of gilt if I plank down 20 dollers for that ivory handle old fashion razor, pop said. It was made in Sweden more than 50 years ago when they really understood how to make a piece of steel that would hold its edge, it felt just like a feather when I handled it, he said, and ma said, Now Willyum you've got 50 razors of every possible make and state of rustiness and you're not going to go and spend 20 dollers for any old Swedish feather, now Willyum dont be unheard of.

But 20 dollers is practically the same price as 18 seventy five, that's the price of your plate hanger, isn't it? pop said, and ma said, I'm not going to have any plate hanger as you call it and you're not going to have any old Swedish junk as I call it.

Being the end of the subject and pop looking like somebody that thought they had won the argument.

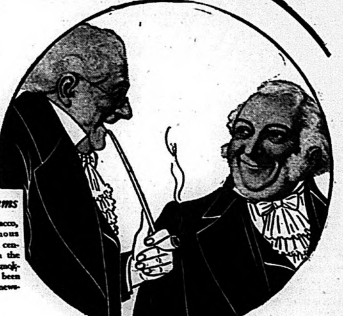
The famous Sweet Caporal Girl

● Her charming face and figure have long been symbolic of the largest selling brand of cigarettes in Canada. The spectacular popularity of Sweet Caporals is due both to their quality and to the consistent newspaper advertising done for them over a period of 25 years — the early advertising is still remembered by many smokers.



The Two Old Chums

● Old Chum smoking tobacco, popularized by the famous "Old Chums", has for half a century held a steady place in the affections of Canadian pipe smokers, and this position has been consistently fortified by newspaper advertising.

Mr. Picobac

● Picobac Tobacco was introduced through the genial "Mr. Picobac", to sell high quality Canadian Burley tobacco to Canadian pipe smokers. This was accomplished almost entirely through newspaper advertising, and today Picobac is Canada's largest selling pipe tobacco.

Faces made Famous by NEWSPAPER ADVERTISING

● One of Canada's oldest and largest users of newspaper advertising, Imperial Tobacco Company has found the employment of "trade characters" a very great aid in promoting the sale of these leading brands. This success in itself affords ample testimony to the effectiveness of Canada's daily newspapers as a medium for productive advertising.

Imperial Tobacco Company of Canada, Limited

The growth of Imperial Tobacco Company is the result of the adoption of progressive policies which are fundamental to success. These include (1) the making of high quality products, (2) pursuing broad-visioned and enlightened sales policies, (3) doing sincere and constructive advertising. Ever since its inception, Imperial Tobacco Company has advertised in the Canadian daily newspapers consistently and persistently. This, with its resulting volume of sales, is in itself the best possible evidence that daily newspaper space, properly utilized to promote worthy products, brings the desired results.

'STRENGTH OF HUMAN FEELING'

"In this age of machines and mass production the strength of human feeling is still the most potent of all forces affecting world affairs. Over all nations, as a North American historian has written, is humanity. In no part of the world, perhaps, is that truth more evident than in the continent from which I have just returned. Within its geographical limits live men of almost every race, of many creeds and diverse political faiths, yet first and foremost they are human beings. Over them all is humanity."

So spoke His Majesty King George Sixth at the Guildhall, London, when the Sovereigns just returned from Canada, the United States and Newfoundland, were honored by the City of London. This truth is the first and deepest of all impressions of the King's journey to the New World.

Canadians also learned that truth when the Sovereigns appeared in the towns and cities and at their railway stations. The personality of the King and Queen stood out paramount above the pageantry, even though this fits in so well with our system of government and even though we would not part with pageantry for all the world, because of the truths it speaks and the messages it gives to men. Pageantry is a good way to learn history for even through pageantry shines human feeling.

Of course it is human feeling which dominates all. It rules the world. His Majesty kneew this truth long before, but his journey to the English-speaking world across thousands of miles of ocean showed him a great proof of this fact, "the strength of human feeling."

For the Sovereign to pass through such a journey and return to speak these words, full of truth, should be a lesson to every man and woman. The King and Queen saw much that they had never before seen, great expanses of territory, tracts of mineral and timber wealth, seas which team with the wealth of fish, cities of industry and farmlands whose riches feed the nations, and yet above all it was the people the King and Queen were thinking of, that greatest of all things, human feeling which no one can get out of his mind. The Sovereigns knew that Canadians were pouring out their devotion and acclamation from the depth of their heart, not with the idea of impressing the Sovereigns with the wealth and greatness of Canada but of demonstrating their affection and loyalty. That opportunity has been good for Canadians, and men in public places, ministers in pulpits, those who help to mold human opinion in the newspapers, and the great mass of the people in their reactions upon one another must not forget how blessed Canada was during that four weeks' tour when the best was what they gave and was what attracted and satisfied the King and Queen, and what the King and Queen gave.

Against this great truth all other facts seem weak. "Over them all is humanity."

In this age, called an era of civilization, often this truth is ignored. But ill awaits that institution, group, state or person who acts as if human feelings were not paramount. The spirit of humanity will win.

Canada has been accorded the rarest and noblest privilege of making clear in the actions of her people that this is the supreme fact. In the presence of this truth there needs no boasting, no stressing of military might, for this truth reigns.

His Majesty the King stresses this fact before the nations and the New World has been the agency of this new revelation or reiteration of this truth before the world.

In these words of the Sovereign, Canadians can realize that their King and their Queen have had this fact borne home upon their hearts—that "the strength of human feeling" is still the most potent of all forces affecting the world, of every human association, of society, of every form of government and of the world spirit.

RIGHT OF CHOICE IN LITERATURE

Jan Masaryk, son of the founder and first president of the Czecho-Slovakian republic, has in a radio address to the American Library Association warned that body to safeguard their book sanctuaries in the name of freedom and democracy. Stressing freedom of thought, of speech, and of education, he declared that free citizens of a free democracy must insist upon being told actual facts besides enjoying the free choice of international fiction. He warned that democratic civilization will disappear if "we do not return ere long to intellectual freedom.

It is apparent to anyone who reads current news that the Czech people are going to preserve their intellectual freedom.

His warning to democratic nations to preserve the right of choice in literature is not to be lightly passed over.

THE NEW DRESS

She found a dress that matched her dreams at last—
A thing of quiet rapture and surprise,
And she could see the dancers, as they passed
To soft far music, turn admiring eyes.
No longer would the mice of loneliness
Gnaw in the chilling walls of Winter nights,
For she would find new worlds in that new dress
Of warmth and glamour and enchanting lights.

When work was done each night, the dress was there
To heal her weariness, and she would smile
And lift a trembling hand to touch her hair,
And she escaped dull streets a little while . . . . . .
Then snowflakes chilled the cheeks they lingered on,
By that shop window — for the dress was gone.

IN THE MEMORY OF MAN, so far as most newshawks can remember, there has never been a good word said in print, or in prayer, or the reverse, about that most unloved of all outdoor pests THE BLACK FLY. Hence when the New York Times editorial columnist recently devoted a paragraph to the Black Fly without any cussin' in it, he certainly created a record. We did not know that New York scribes knew anything about Black Flies, and are still a bit doubtful after perusing the Times Man's composition, and suspect that he is waiting for the end of the black fly season before making a vacation plunge into the Canadian woods. Soon the black fly will cease from troubling, brother, and the pesky mosquito will take over. However, here's "A WORD FOR THE BLACK FLY," from the scribe of Times Square:

A WORD FOR THE BLACK FLY

When lovers of the out-of-doors enlarge upon the beauties of our Northern mountains during June they do not ordinarily allude to the black fly — that creature of sunshine and fresh air who rises, like Aurora, with the dawn. The entomologists know him under various names. Sometimes he may be registered in Nature's great hotel as Simulium venustum. Sometimes he masquerades as Prosimulium hirtipes. One should add "and wife," for it is the lady who does the biting.

Should the black fly be as much as mentioned when the mountains call and the wild places beckon? It is sad, as one recent traveler remarked, to think of all that lovely scenery alive with insect enemies. But the black fly, like the force of gravitation, has a place in the eternal scheme of things. It is laborious to climb a mountain, but the view from the summit may compensate. It is painful to be nipped by female flies, but say not the struggle naught availeth. These incidents remind us, as nothing else could, of the nature of Nature.

Nature is not the gentlest of mistresses nor the most indulgenet of mothers. At heart she is full of poetry and romance. Her innermost secrets she saves for the patient and enduring. Who will ever again see the Rockies as Parkman saw them, the Great Valley of California as it burst in Fremont's vision after he had struggled through the Sierra snows. Whom Nature loveth she chasteneth. The long climb, the heat of the desert, black flies and mosquitoes, the thunder of rain, the surge of surf against tiny craft—these are a species of initiation.

AMOS AND ANDY COMEDIANS OF THE AIRWAYS, certainly have fastened themselves as fixtures on some of their listeners, especially in the Harlem black belt of Manhattan. Walter Winchell records in the New York Mirror that "The other Thursday evening on the Amos and Andy program, Andy was arrested and the detective said he was going to take Andy to the 25th Precinct, which is located at 148 East 126th St. program ended at 7.15 and at 7.30 there were about 500 dopes standing outside that police station wondering why Andy and the detective hadn't shown up." Truth is stranger than fiction, but fiction has everything beaten when it comes to filling some people's brain boxes with fantasies and making them imagine a vain thing.

A. Cox. The departure of Mr. Donnelly and his family from Belleville is much regretted by many citizens.

POTATOES BEST

Hoi Polloi of the vegetable world, the democratic potato has been beamed upon by science.

In this day and age, when allergy on the vitamine puts the mark of distinction on foodstuffs, a lot of our staples either fight it out with competitors or perish. It is survival of the fittest. The "spud" has survived.

It has not survived because it is good to taste or because it has sustained some sturdy races, or because it is a natural companion of meat. But Sir John Orr, the noted authority on diet, says it is good food. "Eat lots of potatoes," says Sir John. "They're not fattening. Milk and potatoes are almost perfect as a diet."

No longer can the potato be regarded as one of those sinister messengers of starch, those harbingers of obesity that keep thousands in suspense. Like white bread, it has been vindicated. Moreover, by becoming vaguely fashionable thru' this recent sanction, it should avenge itself in a revived acclaim.—Hamilton Spectator.

ABOUT NEW YORK

New York is a city conveniently situated with respect to the Fair, and can be easily identified by its tall buildings, "No Parking" signs, traffic messes, court scandals and policemen asking for directions to given points. The main avenues run north and south and the cross streets run from east to $400 a month. It has one of the most modern systems of traffic lights ever wholly ignored.

Its famous street is Fifth Avenue, the upper end of which is full of elaborate homes of famous people who haven't lived there in years. Another famous street is Broadway, which is a World's Fair in itself. It has no trylon or perisphere but it has more burlesque shows, fan dancers, flea circuses, hamburger counters, orange drink stands, cut-rate razor blade stores, mounted policemen, checker games and people who go around talking to themselves than any other street on earth.

Manhattan has a river on each side, both in good shape, considering their age. Wall Street is located at the lower end, or was at yesterday's market closing. On a clear day it can be seen with the naked eye.—H. I. Phillips in N.Y. Sun.

WOMAN SLEUTH

In Philadelphia last February Mrs. Henry W. Breyer, widow of an ice-cream maker, and her daughter-in-law were robbed by bandits of jewelry worth $100,000. Police got to work and while the case was still unsolved a woman, her clothes shabby and worn, appeared in New York jewelry circles. She appeared to be a down-at-the-heels commission merchant. Last week she walked into a Fifth Avenue office, revealed that she was Detective Mary Shanley and arrested Robert C. (Chicago Bob) Nelson, who, it was alleged, had bought unset diamonds that were part of the Breyer loot.

Nelson, an ex-convict on parole, a man whose record as a receiver of stolen property has been many times told, was the most prominent of six men arrested as a result of Detective Shanley's work on the Breyer case. In nearly eight years on the police force Miss Shanley has earned a reputation of getting her man. She can use an automatic if necessary. She has been known to fell a suspect with a swing of her pocketbook. Behind such a swing she puts about 160 pounds.—New York Times.

Walter D. Head, of Montclair, N. J., was elected head of the International Rotary in the association's annual election in Cleveland.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

Most Cases With Bent or Deflected Septum Require no Treatment

Most physicians pay little or no attention to bends in the septum—the partition between the two nostrils. As a matter of fact, a nose with a straight septum is almost rare. It is estimated that perhaps one in every five or ten is about the average finding.

The reason little or no attention is paid to a bent or deflected septum is that the physician figures that there is no difference in air space between 50 and 50 each side in a straight septum and 60 and 40 with a bent septum; they both add up to 100. This, of course, refers to slight bends or deflections.

What about severe bends or deflections of the septum? Can the severe deflection cause symptoms?

When the deflection is so severe that it actually closes up one side of the nose there will not be any air going to or coming from the lungs on that side. This means lack of ventilation of the sinuses on that side of the head and lack of draining of any mucous from the sinuses.

Dr. W. S. Syme, Glasgow, whom I have quoted before, in the British Medical Journal, tells us that middle ear and catarrhal conditions are found very often with reflection of the septum. When severe, it may cause pain by pressing against the side wall of the nose. However, the blockage of the little opening from sinus into the nose prevents mucous or pus from draining out into nose and throat, causing severe pain from pressure. In these cases the bend or deflection is high up in the nose due to injury—football, boxing, or a fall.

The point about this is that while most of us have a bent septum and no treatment is required, in cases of sinus trouble, catarrh, or middle ear conditions, where good ventilation and drainage is necessary, one with a bent septum is more likely to have severe pain and require operation than one whose septum is straight.

A bent or deflected septum, even if badly deflected, which is causing no symptoms requires no treatment.

ITALIAN TRAGEDY

Information which denies the claim of Premier Mussolini of Italy that his people are solidly behind him in his policies has been brought forward from time to time, particularly in the past few months. The latest to come to attention is given by a Port Arthur man, born in Italy, who fought in the Italian Army in the Great War and came to Canada shortly afterward, leaving many relatives who still are there and from whom he hears from time to time.

This man referred to a recent issue of L'Unita del Popolo, an Italian-American weekly published at New York and described as "dedicated to the cause of peace, tolerance and democracy."

Of six pages, the back page of the paper is printed in English, and on this page is the story of an officer of the Italian army, General Ascoli, who was required to give up his command because he was Jewish.

"The general obtained permission to call his soldiers together to bid them goodbye," the story relates. "Standing in military formation, the soldiers listened to their commander's parting words spoken with a voice filled with emotion and every now and then broken by unrestrained sobs. These were his parting words—

"'My men. Brothers-in-arms. For the last time I obey. An order from my superiors compels me to leave the army, to which I have dedicated my entire life. I wish to express now my last farewell to the flag. I have always served with loyalty. Always and everywhere I have hosanna-ed a greater, a greater, a nobler and a more beautiful Italy. Together with many of you I have known some terrible hours in the last campaign. With a broken heart I ask you to turn your gaze to our regimental banners so that you may meditate for a moment and send a heartfelt thought to those who have had the privilege to die while fighting.

"Soldiers. Above all, I bow before the command of my superiors. If necessary, you must know how to die like heroes. Goodbye, my men, goodbye.'

"The emotion of the soldiers was tremendous. The general then kissed the regimental flag for the last time, and screening his head in its folds he quickly grabbed his gun, shot himself in the right temple and fell dead."—Port Arthur News Chronicle.

THEIR INSPIRATION

In one of his lectures recently delivered in Toronto, Earl Baldwin expressed his belief that Great Britain's disposition to attempt the solution of international problems by honest deliberations and conferences roots back into generation upon generation of Bible-reading by the people of Britain.

At the annual meeting of the American Bible Society, just held, mention of that was made in the published report, as was also the remarkable fact that in Germany last year the Bible outsold Adolf Hitler's Mein Kampf by 200,000 copies.

It is interesting, too, to note that the Scriptures moved into a dozen new languages in 1938, bringing the total number of tongues in which some part of the Bible has been translated to 1,021.

Without any exaggeration it can be said that no other book in the world even faintly approaches this record. And one thing is sure—the cause of human freedom has no greater ally.—Halifax Herald.

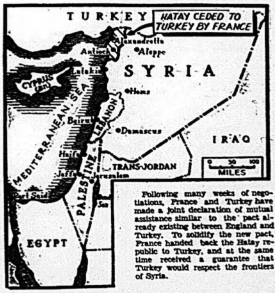
Turkey and France Sign Mutual Assurance Pact



Following many weeks of negotiations, France and Turkey have made a joint declaration of mutual assistance similar to the pact already existing between England and Turkey. To solidify the new pact, France handed back the Hatay republic to Turkey, and at the same time received a guarantee that Turkey would respect the frontiers of Syria.

JAPANESE REFUSE

The army spokesman disclosed that the Japanese Consul-General, Shigenori Tashiro, had protested to the British Consul-General, E. G. Jamieson, "against the handling of news by British newspapers and newspaper agencies, which are exaggerating the importance of small incidents, distorting facts and in some cases fabricating so-called acts of indignity against British subjects."

The situation remained unchanged as the blockade entered its 13th day. Begun over a local issue, the refusal of British authorities to yield four Chinese accused by Japan of killing a local official, it has grown to involve whole policy in China.

Shortage Continues

The milk shortage in the British concession continued and one British hospital reported no deliveries had been made it. The municipal market in the neighboring French concession—also within the Japanese electrified barricades — received no fresh meat. It still was selling surplus stocks from yesterday.

Supplies of fresh vegetables were about the same in both French and British markets and were not sufficient to meet the demand.

Increasing guerrilla activities on Tientsin's outskirts were reported by Chinese sources. Other reports said guerrilla attacks also might be expected in Eastern Hopeh Province.

A Japanese poster in the Tientsin situation announced that railroad service might be interrupted because Japanese troops were engaging Chinese irregulars in Eastern Hopeh.

Tashiro's protest said the allegedly inaccurate British news report not only aggravated the situation but also reflected unfavorably on the Japanese military and consular police.

The Japanese Consul General cited "for instance, the British press cable about indignity suffered by a British lady and an insult offered British subjects." The version of his protest made public did not deny the incidents.

It charged, however, that British subjects assume an arrogant attitude purposely to make trouble and mentioned the case of G. A. Smith, a British exporter, who was released from Japanese custody yesterday after being held eight days on charges of manhandling a Chinese policeman.

Tashiro requested British authorities here to control and correct the attitude of Britons.

"It is apparent," he said, "that if the British authorities do not comply in all sincerity with these requests and allow present conditions to continue the responsibility for any untoward event hereafter is on your side."

Conducted in Closed Rooms

Examinations of foreign women by Chinese policewomen are conducted in closed rooms, he said, and regulations prohibit the examiners from disrobing them.

According to Herbert, Finlay and his wife reported they were admitted to the British concession on their return from work at the International Country Club in Japanese-occupied territory only after standing in line for an hour while other foreigners and Chinese entered.

According to the British Consul, they were taken into a Japanese "searching hut" where Finlay said he was divested of all his clothing and examined closely while his wife was compelled to watch.

Mrs. Finlay said she requested the Japanese sentry to leave the inner room where, her husband reported, she was forced to undergo a similar examination. She said the sentry turned his back "momentarily" but "soon resumed a steady scrutiny of the examination."

YANKEE CLIPPER POISED FOR TRIP

Trail-Blazing Craft Grounded Since Saturday by Bad Weather

Shediac, N.B., June 26—(CP)—Like some huge bird ready to soar skyward, the 40-ton flying boat Yankee Clipper was poised today for an historic trans-Atlantic flight—if weather permits. The Pan-American Airways trail-blazing craft will inaugurate air mail flight to Europe over the North Atlantic route.

Grounded by bad weather since Saturday, the 21 passengers and 11-man crew, commanded by Captain Harold Gray, breakfasted today in this little town on Shediac Bay, inlet of Northumberland Strait, instead of Southampton, England. If the weather had been kind, they would have reached Southampton yesterday.

The Clipper loomed out of murky skies here Saturday for what was intended to be only a brief refueling and mail-loading stop. Rain fell heavily over the week-end, however, and the ceiling yesterday was only 400 feet to 500 feet.

Bad Weather Encountered

"It just isn't Pan-American weather," one disappointed official commented. "We won't fly under those conditions."

Bad weather was encountered for almost all of the 600-mile hop from Port Washington, N.Y., to Shediac. The flight was through fog and the airmen had to fly blind. Her arrival at 2.58 p.m. EDT Saturday was about an hour later than scheduled.

Botwood, an Atlantic port about 300 miles north of St. John's Nfld., beckoned the airmen today. From there, the route lay across the ocean to Foynes, Eire, and Southampton the journey's end.

Stamp collectors throughout the continent had an anxious eye on the Clipper. She carries in the mail more than 125,000 "first flight covers."

Current Offerings at Belleville Theatres

Advance Information on Screen Offerings Supplied by Theatre Managers.

AT THE BELLE

"Brother Rat"
"South Riding"

"Brother Rat," the gay comedy of life in a military school, which ran on a Broadway stage for eighteen consecutive months and had three road companies successfully touring the country at the same time, is now a picture and will have its first local showing next at the Belle Theatre.

It is a Warner Bros. production and stars Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane, two young stars who already have had several sensational successes. A considerable portion of the picture was made on the grounds of the Virginia Military Institute at Lexington, Vt., and the entire cadet corps of that famous and historic school, 700 strong took part.

A "Rat" in V.M.I. parlance is a freshman, or "plebe" as they are called at West Point. Those who go through the four years training together are called "Brother Rats." Hence the titite. They are loyal to each other through thick and thin.

This story—scenarized by Richard Macauley and Jerry Wald from the original play by John Monks, Jr., and Fred F. Finklehoffe—revolves around the mishaps of one of the lads who has disobeyed a rule of the Institute and has secretly taken himself a bride. Not only that, but he's about to become a father. His pals stick to him and get him out of his jam.

Eddie Albert, recruited from the New York stage play, has this part. Lovely little Jane Bryan is the girl he marries.

Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane have a sweet, idyllic boy-and-girl romance, though of course they can't marry until the cadets have been graduated. Others in the splendid cast include Johnnie 'Scat' Davis, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Gordon Oliver, Henry O'Neill, Olin Howland, Jessie Busley, Louise Beavers and Isabel Withers.

"South Riding"

The screen version of Winifred Holtby's famous book, "South Riding," is announced as the companion feature.

It is one of the first pictures made in this country, which, besides being superbly acted by a well balanced cast, is played against a background which only England can provide.

The screen version is a faithful reproduction of the book, which was posthumously awarded the James Tait Black Memorial Prize, one of the most highly valued literary awards. The book was first published in March, 1936, and was a Book Society Choice and a best seller of the year, not only in this country but in America. It has been translated into several languages.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Shadows Over Shanghai"
"Small Town Boy"

Excitingly different—these two words most appropriately describe the theme or story of James Dunn's latest picture, "Shadows Over Shanghai" which is now playing at the McCarthy Theatre, for it is a story of the China of today—with its war, political intrigue, bombings and criss-cross of adventures of the world, woven into a plot that never ceases to be at the highest dramatic point every second. The action of the story presents a graphic picture of the very unsettled condition in Shanghai and the photography covering these activities shows actual warfare scenes which have never before, outside of newsreels, been seen by any theatre audience. Others in the cast of "Shadows Over Shanghai" opposite James Dunn include Linda Grey, Ralph Morgan and Robert Barrat to whom the highest credits possible can go, for the pleasing and entertaining manner in which they make this production one of the most exciting films of the year. On the same program, a second feature presentation, for laughing purposes only, because fun-maker Stuart Erwin, heads the cast in a picture, made to order for him, entitled "Small Town Boy," which is adapted from Manuel Komroff's famous Cosmopolitan Magazine story, "The Thousand Dollar Bill" which has been read over and over again by millions, for it is a story natural for anybody, because it tells a story of typical life in a small town of the kind which has universal appeal. An exceptionally fine cast is seen in support of the star, Stuart Erwin; featured are the charming, blonde Joyce Compton, who plays opposite him, Dorothy Appleby, Jed Prouty, Clara Brandick and James Blakely, who will delight you in the amusing way they handle their character parts. In addition to the feature presentations, another new Floyd Gibbons' true adventure story entitled "Chained" which is interesting as well as thrilling, as only this popular true adventure reporter can relate them on the screen.

Popular Chatterton Couple Honored on Silver Anniversary

Wednesday evening, June 21, 1939 relatives, friends and neighbors numbering over one hundred gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. Campbell, Chatterton, to tender them a surprise visit on their silver wedding anniversary.

Rev. Cooke of Foxboro, ably carried out the duties as chairman. The programme opened by all singing "O Canada." Mr. S. Gay led the singing with Mrs. (Col.) Vanderwater at the piano, this was followed by the chairman's address, community singing, "Silver Threads Among the Gold," and "Pack up Your Troubles." Miss Dorothy Reid gave a humorous reading, relating to the event., Mrs. G. Frederick and Miss A. Horton sang a duet with Mrs. J. H. Frederick at the piano.

At this point the presentation of the evening took place. The bride and groom of twenty-five years entered the room to the strains of the Wedding March and were given seats of prominence while Mrs. P. Meale read the following address:

Chatterton, June 21, 1939.

Mr. and Mrs. F. Campbell,

Dear Fred and Pearl:

We your relatives, friends, and neighbors have come to your home tonight uninvited, but we know quite welcome, to celebrate with you an important milestone in your lives, your silver wedding anniversary.

Twenty-five years ago this occasion, we are sure, was far removed from your minds, but time and tide wait for no man and swiftly the years have sped by.

As you review the passing years you, no doubt, recall days of happiness, sorrow, and trouble, but with our trust in God and faith in each other you have overcome all these problems.

Your marriage has been blessed with one of God's greatest gifts to any home, a son. Needless to say he caused you many hours of watchfulness and care, but as he has developed into young manhood we feel sure many times your hearts have swelled with pride, and justly so.

Pearl, you have been a great help in our community, a valued worker in our church, Sunday School and W.M.S. Your kindly disposition has endeared you to us all.

Fred, you were born and raised in this community, we are all fully aware of your many fine qualities and the trusted positions which you hold speak for themselves of your sterling worth.

We ask you to accept these gifts as a small token of our esteem.

As we leave you tonight, we shall sincerely hope and pray that you may both be spared to enjoy many future years of health, happiness and success together.

Signed on behalf of the community:

Ivy Meale,
Lottie Hamblin,
May Frederick,
Mellisa Frederick,
Luella Marshall.

At the proper time Mrs. A. Hamblin, Miss M. Frederick and Mrs. J. H. Frederick brought in an array of gifts, consisting of an electric radio clock, silver casserole, silver gravy boat and ladel, and five silver butter spreaders, all suitably engraved. Both the honored couple expressed their delight with the gifts and thanked all present, after which all joined in singing "For they are jolly good fellows" and "The More we are together, the happier we'll be."

The chairman called on a number present for short speeches, one of which was Mr. Ralph Campbell, son of the honored couple.

The evening was brought to a close with a delicious lunch, consisting of sandwiches, cake, tarts, and coffee.

As all departed for their homes a sincere wish for many future years of happiness was in the minds of all.

SHARPER PROTEST MADE TO JAPAN

No Word Heard Directly from Japanese on Former Protest

Tokyo, June 26—(AP)—The British Ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie, was said today to have lodged another protest with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arito of Japan against indignities suffered by Britons in Tientsin.

The protest, authoritative sources revealed, was more sharply worded than those the Ambassador submitted on June 14, when Japanese started blockading the North China port, or the next day when Prime Minister Chamberlain said the controversy might lead to "regrettable incidents."

No Reply From Japan

A foreign office spokesman disclosed Japan had not answered British representations made in Tokyo and London last week concerning the blockade and the actions of Japanese sentries in stripping Britons naked while searching them at barricades before the British concession in Tientsin.

Sir Robert was put off last week with the promise an investigation would be made, but the spokesman said today "we have no detailed information about the indignities" and reiterated a belief that the reports were exaggerated.

Food Allowed in at Kulangsu

The spokesman did not explain the lack of information and said Arita informed the British Envoy there was no discrimination against Britons in Tientsin. The official declared Japan had no intention of aggravating the situation and that there was no development looking toward a solution of the controversy.

The spokesman said supplies were allowed to enter Kulangsu, international settlement at Amoy which the Japanese navy has blockaded. Great Britain, the United States and France protested last week against a food shortage on Kulangsu Island.

REPUBLICANS DEFY EIRE GOV'T. BAN

Dublin, June 26—The Irish Republican Army on Sunday successfully defied the Eire Government's ban on the organization and held a meeting outside the General Postoffice here, burning the Union Jack in the street.

As result of the new ban against the I.R.A. announced Friday, police and military were active throughout Eire yesterday, especially as demonstrations were scheduled in memory of Theobald Wolfe Tone, 18th century Irish leader.

Precautions were taken to insure that a forbidden I.R.A. pilgrimage to Tone's grave in the Bodenstown churchyard, County Kildare, should not take place. Three hundred police threw cordons around the little village near the churchyard. No incident occurred there.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Brown, Rochester, N.Y., were guests over the week-end of Mr. and Mrs. Herb Fox, McDonald Ave.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Fuzzen whose marriage took place in Toronto, recently have returned from their honeymoon and have taken up residence at 48 1-2 Alexander Street.

Miss Marjorie Sharpe and Miss Jean Bowen have returned to the city after visiting friends in Ottawa for the past week.

A delightfully arranged shower was given at the home of Mrs. Ralph Weese, 82 North Front Street, in honor of Miss Daisy Petrie whose marriage will take place shortly. The rooms were prettily decorated with orange blossoms, peonies and roses. About forty guests assembled and the evening was spent in euchre and other games, prize winners being Mrs. E. R. Hinchey, Mr. Jack Brown and Mrs. Harry Bateman. The bride-to-be was presented with a beautiful walnut tea wagon for which she graciously thanked her many friends. Dainty refreshments brought the evening to a close.

The Presto Music Club brought its 1938-39 activities to a close with the annual picnic. Mrs. Houston entertained the members at her cottage on Stoco Lake, Wednesday afternoon, June 21st. After a very enjoyable lunch, there was a boat ride on the Lake. A huge bonfire with toasted marshmallows provided a fitting ending to a very delightful occasion.

Announcement has been made by the Minister of Health of the results of the examination for Nurse Registration in the Province of Ontario. Those successful from this district include Misses Neta Marie Bush, Mildred Evelyn Gist, Erma Nora Lazier, Marjorie P. Sharpe and Catherine J. Truaisch all of Belleville. Reita Welbanks, Picton, Annie H. Cryan, Demorestville, Agnes Ellen Regan, Frankford, Velda Pearl Cryderman, Campbellford. Besides Miss Sharpe the following 1939 graduates of Belleville General Hospital passed the examination, Ruth M. Cryderman, Edmonton, Alta, Laura E. Foster, Pembroke, Grace A. Paterson, Peterboro, Ruth V. Tyers, Redbridge.

Miss Jean Brockway was hostess at a surprise party Friday evening, in honor of Miss Margaret Fair, who has left to join her parents in their new home at Port Hope. School chums and friends joined in a popular scavenger hunt, later returning with their treasure to the home of Miss Jennie Irvine, where various games were played. A delicious supper was served by the hostess and assistants and while all were assembled in a circle Margaret was presented with a Collegiate ring.

Weddings

RICHMOND—LYONS

A lovely summer wedding of widespread interest was solemnized in St. George's Cathedral, Kingston, at three o'clock Saturday afternoon, when Marian Helena, daughter of the Bishop of Ontario and Mrs. John Lyons, was united in marriage to Dr. Clifford Rowlands Richmond son of Mr. and Mrs. R. R. Richmond, Hamilton. Snap dragon and pale pink peonies adorned the altar, while ferns, peonies and daisies were arranged at the chancel steps and at the guest pews, forming an attractive setting for the bride party. The ceremony was performed by the bride's father, the Right Rev. John Lyons, assisted by the Very Rev. Dean Craig, Dean of Ontario and rector of the Cathedral. Mr. J. E. Tunstall played the wedding music in the absence from the city of the Cathedral organist, Dr. Harrison.

The bride, who was given in marriage by her uncle, Mr. L. L. Bolton of Ottawa, was a radiant figure in her wedding gown of white suede lace in scroll design, made with a sweetheart neckline and long frilled sleeves with lily points over the hands. The full sweeping skirt was edged with a pleated net frill, and she wore her mother's wedding veil of white tulle, arranged in a halo effect caught with orange blossoms, and carried a shower bouquet of Briarcliff roses and lily-of-the-valley.

The bride was attended by her cousin, Miss Barbara Bolton of Ottawa, who wore a lovely frock of sea-foam mousseline embroidered in a small white pattern, made with a full skirt and a bolero jacket with short tucked sleeves caught with small bunches of peach color flowers. She wore a small peach color flower hat of shirred chiffon, and peach color accessories, and carried a Colonial bouquet of Token roses and gusophelia. The best man was Dr. John McDougall of Buffalo, N.Y., and the ushers were Mr. Kenneth Richmond of Hamilton, brother of the groom, and Mr. Ralph Lepper of Toronto.

After the ceremony a reception was held at "Bishop's Court", the home of the bride's parents. Here quantities of peonies and other summer flowers were artistically arranged and the bride's table looked most effective with the wedding cake and pale pink roses. Mrs. John Lyons, mother of the bride, wore a lovely gown of mauve and white figured chiffon and a corsage of roses; Mrs. R. R. Richmond, of Hamilton, mother of the groom, wore a smart gown of French grey chiffon, with a lace hat in rough straw braid in Queen's purple with lilac trim, and accessories to match, and a corsage of Premier Supreme roses; Mrs. Allan J. Anderson of Milford, sister of the bride, wore an effective floor-length frock of sky blue organza with a natural color linen hat and accessories, and a corsage of Briarcliff roses.

Later the bride and groom left by motor for a trip to the Atlantic coast, the bride travelling in a smart frock of chartreuse crepe, veiled by a full-length flower fresh painted chiffon coat in shades of chartreuse and violet, a small turban hat of chartreuse crepe, natural color linen accessories and wearing a corsage of violets. The bride and groom are both graduates of Queen's University. Upon their return they will reside at Ethel, Ont.

BIRD—MORLAND

A quiet wedding took place in the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Manse, George Street, on Saturday afternoon, June 24, at four o'clock, when Evelyn Beatrice Morland of West Huntingdon, became the bride of Mr. Garrance Perry Bird of Halloway. Rev. W. J. Walker officiated at the ceremony.

Miss Carmel Coe, Bancroft and Mr. Elwood Wilson, Stirling, officiated. The happy couple left on a motor trip.

O'KEEFE—CLARKE

Blessed Sacrament Church, Ottawa, was the scene of a charming wedding at 10 o'clock Saturday morning, of Miss Mary Gloria Clarke, daughter of Mrs. Clarke, of Ottawa, and the late Mr. Frank Clarke of Brooklyn, N.Y., to Mr. George Patrick O'Keefe, son of Mr. and Mrs. George O'Keefe, of Ottawa. Rev. Canon George D. Prudhomme officiated.

Lovely bankings of large Cibotum ferns were placed on either side of the altar steps, making a lace-like setting for the bridal party. The altar was adorned with two large white jars of lilies and white peonies. Tall standards of pink and white peonies and blue cornflowers were banked at the chancel railing. The guest pews were marked with loops of white satin ribbon.

Mr. Charles O'Reilly presided at the organ, and during the service, Miss Gertrude Stringer sang sweetly an "Ave Maria" and a group of hymns.

The bride was given in marriage by her brother, Mr. Emmett Clarke, and was attended by her sister, Miss Rita Clarke. Mr. Eric Blackburn was best man, and the ushers were Mr. Barry O'Brien, Mr. Brian O'Brien, Mr. John Dewar, and Mr. Jack Weir of Toronto.

The bride wore an exquisite model of frail marquisheer, with delicate lace inserts, and full demure sleeves. The bodice was finished with a flattering Sweetheart neckline. The full skirt fell into a graceful train, and the short tulle veil, worn over the face at front, was caught with a semi-circle of lily-of-the-valley. She carried a dainty Queen Elizabeth shower bouquet of Sweetheart roses and lily-of-the-valley, with a frill of white tulle, tied with white satin ribbon.

The bridesmaid, Miss Rita Clarke, wore a becoming Princesse gown of chartreuse shade, with the bodice and bolero of lace, and the skirt of filmy tulle. She wore a small flowered hat and carried an arm bouquet of roses, cornflowers and daisies, in colors to tone with the hat, tied with satin streamers of the same three tones.

Mrs. Clarke, mother of the bride, wore an attractive model of dawn blue crepe, with shoes and hat to match. The shoulder knot was of Sweetheart roses, lily-of-the-valley, and cornflowers.

Mrs. O'Keefe, mother of the bridegroom, was in a charming ensemble of azure blue sheer, with a large navy blue Juliet model hat. She wore a shoulder bouquet of lily-of-the-valley and roses.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, Clemow avenue. Peonies and mixed Summer flowers were used in decoration. The toast to the bride was proposed by her uncle and godfather, Mr. W. M. Weir, of Montreal.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. O'Keefe left on a motor trip to the White Mountains. The bride travelled in a smart costume of Mokapu blue casha, with a jacket of Polynesian design. She wore a hat of the same shade of blue, with blue accessories. Mr. and Mrs. O'Keefe will reside in Belleville.

HAIR NEWS. A new way to pin long bob into a close peruke coiffure

By HELEN FOLLETT

IN PARIS the high hairdress is making strides. It has not found many devotees in Uncle Sam's domain. The only way to manage it is with tuck combs. If you have a long bob, sweep it crownward, front, sides and back, confine the massed ringlets with curved combs that fit the head snugly.

It looks as if the pompadour is going to sneak up on us whether we like it or not. It's rakish with peanut-sized hats that hang over one eyebrow. Long time since the pomp was with us; only the old timers remember it in all its puffed out glory. It's not very becoming to the moon-faced femme, but piquant on the girl with the oval portrait.

Strange though it may seem, there are complexions that revolt against soap and rebel against creamy cosmetics. A case of slumbering eczema may be the cause of this unhappy state of affairs. The best application is one of those semi-milky hand lotions.

When a complexion is cantankerous, if blotches appear or there is undue redness, the wise step is to consult a medical man who specializes in diseases of the skin and scalp. The irritation may be due to an infection, possibly to a food fobia. To monkey with home remedies at such a time may be to permit a disorder to get such a hold that treatment may have to be continued for a long time.

Advice to the Lovelorn

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Answers to "Patricia" Considering Marrying Without Love

Two or 3 weeks ago a girl named Patricia wrote to this column and asked for suggestions. Briefly her story is as follows:

She is twenty-one and was engaged to a boy of twenty-three. He had money saved and was making $48.00 a week. Both were of Irish descent, and families on both sides were delighted with the engagement. As Patricia wrote "it was too good to be true. We were too happy for this world."

Out of the blue, the boy announced he didn't love his sweetheart enough to marry her, but wanted to be friends. She wrote me that was too much for her Irish temper, and told him she couldn't be friends with anyone who didn't know his own mind. Then the boy disappeared, and everyone thought that Patricia had been fickle, and it was she who broke the engagement. Later she learned that the boy was ill and had had a nervous breakdown. She wrote there were three things she was considering doing, but had not decided which course to follow.

(1) Wait for him to come back;
(2) Write and agree to be friends;
(3) Marry another man one whom she likes and respects though she hesitates because she doesn't love this man and continues to think of her first beau, John.

Scores of letters have come to this column with suggestions to Patricia. Here are three:

"Dear Miss Fairfax

"I feel there is a fourth and better solution to Patricia's problem. She must realise the affair is over and put John completely out of her mind. It will leave a great emptiness in her life, and instead of brooding she must set about, finding new interests and activities. A change of surroundings would be most helpful. She should ask relatives and friends not to mention John, or acquaint her of his activities by letter or word.

"She should get a job where she will meet new people, join in activities of the younger set. Fill her day with so many new interests and people that at night she will fall asleep immediately from sheer exhaustion. Soon she will find this incident crowded out of her life, and she will become a finer and more intelligent woman because of the battle she has fought and won, and as a result will draw to her a man whom she will love more deeply, because of her greater understanding of life.

Lora"

That's an excellent letter, and herewith our thanks to Lora. Another correspondent takes a different point of view.

"Dear Miss Fairfax

"If I were in Patricia's place, I would go to John, the man she loves. She says her pride is cold comfort to John's arms, and suppose she does find, after going to him, that he still doesn't love her. Well, at least she will have the satisfaction of having tried once more to show her love by going to him when he is ill.

"Patricia would never be happy if she married the other man, whom she does not love, but who loves her. My final suggestion is that if she finds John does not love her, after going to him, she should turn to work and forget about marriage for the time being.

Happily Married Woman

A third suggestion is

"Dear Miss Fairfax

"In a case almost similar to Patricia's, the man told his fiancee he did not love her enough to marry her, when in reality he loved her to distraction. He had contracted tuberculosis, and knew she would insist on marrying him and caring for him. So he took his cruel method of sparing her. Eventually, he was cured and they are happily married today.

Proper Day to Wear Rings

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

Please tell me which is the proper way to wear the engagement ring and wedding ring? Should the wedding ring be put on the finger first and then the engagement ring or vice versa?

L.

The wedding ring is put on the finger first, and the engagement ring is worn above the wedding ring. (This is, incidentally, why the bride, during the marriage ceremony, either wears her engagement ring on the right hand, or leaves it at home when she goes to the church.)

Should Wedding Ring Be Worn Before Marriage?

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

I will appreciated it sincerely if you will settle a little argument for me.

Of course the proper engagement ring is the usual diamond. The question is, if a girl intends to forego that luxury for financial reasons, would it be permissible to wear the wedding band ahead of time, as an engagement ring? A friend tells me that she has known of this being done and without arousing comment, I do feel that when one is engaged, as I am, there should be some visible "sign" but I am uncertain how this would appear.

"Texas"

I am so happy that you wrote me about this question that is in your mind, for I wouldn't for the world have you wear your wedding ring before the wedding ceremony. This would be terribly wrong, and inevitably you would regret it. Save that precious band for the sacred moment when it is put on your finger during the ceremony.

You needn't feel the slightest bit embarrassed or self-conscious about not having an engagement ring. The Great Truth is that in your heart and in your soul you are betrothed . . . . that's what counts. You don't need an "outward and visible sign" of this truth . . . I'm sure that your happy eyes and your glowing expression reveal it!

In these practical and closely-budgeted days many girls prefer to apply that budget-item on necessities for the new home. So put your head up . . . never mind not having an engagement ring . . but do give proper spiritual value to the wedding ring.

Quiet Wedding

Dear Mrs. Beeckman

I am to be a June bride and have, of course, many problems.

My parents are not here so the wedding will be very quiet with a dozen or so close friends. Mother is to send out announcements from my home town. Should the guests be sent announcements too? I will send informal hand-written invitations to those chosen.

No; marriage announcements are not sent to the guests who are invited to the wedding. And this is true whether the guests have received formal or informal invitations to the wedding.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Mother Becoming More Cognizant of Symptoms of Scurvy

In some bad cases of scurvy the hemmorhage in the leg spreads up along the shaft of the bone until the poor baby has a swollen, intensely tender leg. About this time in the development of the disease, hemmorhages begin to be seen in the skin. Often these are preceded by injuries so slight that if the child were well, there wouldn't be a mark on him. Because of his illness, however, the slightest pinch or blow causes a large, black hemmorhage to appear. For example, baby, in searching for his mouth with his thumb, inadvertently put it in his eye, and his eye turns black.

Only occasionally do we find that the parents have detected bleeding in the gums. This occurs only in babies that have one or more teeth and never before their teeth erupt. If the gums are infected by the scurvy, they become very black in color and swollen because of the blood congested in the tissues. In the most severe cases, the teeth drop out, but this happens very rarely in this modern day.

I used to see a lot of scurvy in children when I began practise. Today scurvy is not nearly so common and the reason is that when the child first refuses food and gets a bit cranky, the mother calls in the doctor. The physician will suspect the symptoms, and if need be he can make sure whether it is scurvy or not by examining the leg bones under the X-ray.

Children don't die of scurvy, but like that other deficiency disease, rickets, it leaves them so weakened that they fall easy prey to some other disease.

The cure for scurvy is simple, and the prevention of it is even simpler. As we learned a day or so ago, Jacques Cartier cured his sailors with spruce bark. We know today that this was because there was Vitamin C in that bark but it wasn't until 1928 that this vitamin was isolated.

It is a chemical, soluble in water with the rather troublesome name of "oscorbic acid". It is a very unstable compound, rapidly destroyed by heating. Previous to the Isolation of the pure vitamin it was known that fruit juices contained it. So fruit juices were taken, and are still taken, to prevent scurvy and to cure it when it did develop. In fact it was found that an ounce of orange juice a day would prevent a child from developing the disease.

At one time it was thought that if fruit juice was started when the child was four or five months of age, it was sufficient protection. But when science was able to isolate Vitamin C we found that a baby's blood contained so little of it that he needs new supplies of it when he is a month old. So today we start giving fruit juice at the age of three or four weeks.

Fruit juice has played a large part in the diet of the Dionne Quintuplets. We started them on it just as soon as we could, and they have had it ever since. You see, we knew they were having a hard enough fight for life without running the risk of scurvy.

Mr. and Mrs. H. Lough Celebrate Their 50th Wedding Anniversary

Mr. and Mrs. Henry Lough, residents of Hastings County for over half a century are quietly celebrating the fiftieth anniversary of their wedding today (June 26th.)

Both scions of well known Hastings County families Mr. and Mrs. Lough were married June 16th., 1889 by Rev. Mr. Harris, rector of the Anglican Church of Marmora. They resided first on a farm in Marmora Township at Malone and 32 years ago moved to a spacious home in Madoc Township near Eldorado where they still reside.

They have one daughter, Leila (Mrs. Herbert Fox) of Belleville, and one little grand-daughter, Marylea Beatrice, aged four years.

Mrs. Lough was formerly Beatrice Brown only daughter of the late Susannah Brown and John Brown of Eldorado. One brother, Arthur M. Brown resides at Schreiber, Ontario.

Mr. Lough is the son of the late William and Martha Lough of Malone and had three brothers and three sisters, David, deceased, of Madoc; Robert and James of Calgary, Alberta, Mrs. W. Heagle, (Margaret), deceased, of Calgary, Mrs. Wm. Bateman (Emma) of Toronto and Mrs. John Welcome, (Martha) of San Diego, California.

Mr. and Mrs. Lough attend church at Union United Church and are well known throughout the county where they have many friends. Mr. Lough has been engaged in agricultural pursuits and gained the reputation of being one of the successful farmers of the district. He recalls the days when radio was not thought of, automobiles were yet to make an appearance as Mr. Lough purchased his first automobile in 1914 and horse and buggy was the method of transportation and electrical appliances were unknown.

To Mr. and Mrs. Lough friends extend heartiest congratulations and best wishes for many more years of health and happiness.

ST. JEAN BAPTISTE DAY IS CELEBRATED

Quebec, June 26—French-Canada's ancient tribute to St. Jean Baptiste was renewed Saturday throughout this old province with parades and celebrations, French-Canadians honored the memory of the saint chosen by their ancestors as patron saint.

About thirty regiments of Zouaves, parish guards and cadet corps, accompanied by bands and floats which depicted historic events of the city and province, passed through the winding, narrow streets, decorated for the occasion.

The day started with Solemn High Mass and sermons eulogizing the patron.

"TITAN TOWER" by JAMES G. CHESNUTT

"You mean me, dad," he said, "and you've put me on the spot. There's nothing I'd rather do than help Linda. Matter of fact, I've been asked to help her fight this case by someone . . . well, by someone else. But you'll have to count me out."

There was a pause. When someone finally spoke, it was Mr. Blaine, and he was frowning.

"Why, son?" he said.

"Because the Bradley Mortons are Lawson's clients—and I'm on the other side."

"Lawson!" Pop Blaine fairly snorted the word. "You're not his office boy any longer. You're your own boss, son, in your own office—as of tomorrow morning."

"Sorry, dad," Jack sounded as though he meant it. "I'm in this case now and I'm going to stick with it."

"Then, by Harry, we'll fight YOU too." Blaine, Sr., was thoroughly aroused now. "If we have to, we'll fight you, son, and give you a licking!"

"Whoa, now! Wait a minute, you hotheads."

It was Bill. Linda had wondered when Bill was going to speak his piece. Linda had wondered why Bill—the Bill she loved—wasn't the first to step to her side, instead of Merry.

"Look," Bill said, spreading his hands in front of his knees in a gesture that said, "This solves everything."

"Look," he said, "you Hotspurs—Merry and Dad and Jack—seem to want a fight. It can be all worked out smoothly without any ruckus, inside the family or out."

CHAPTER 28

"I . . ." Linda faltered, "I didn't mean to burden your family with my troubles, Bill, but Mickey means so much to me."

"I understand," continued Bill, "but the best thing for Mickey, and for you and all of us, is to handle this thing with as little fuss as possible. You could settle with the Mortons out of court—tell them they may have the boy . . ."

Linda, doubting her ears, caught her breath sharply, and her heart—the heart in which she had crowded Mickey over to make way for Bill Blaine—stood still in her throat.

" . . . of course, they won't know it, but it will be only temporary," Bill continued blandly. "Let them have Mickey for a while and then they'll drop the guardianship matter and, after we're married, we'll have no trouble getting the boy back. There," he paused, looking for approval, "doesn't that fix it?"

The room was very still when Linda answered.

"Yes, Bill," she said, and her voice was very, very quiet, "that fixes everything."

And Linda looked directly at Bill Blaine and, finally, really saw him for the first time. It wasn't in that tense romantic moment ages ago, high on a rooftop, that she first saw Bill Blaine. It was now, here, in the library of the Blaine mansion, where a girl's feet could be on the ground—and her heart could sink much lower.

Looking at Bill, she looked thru' him and what she saw was another Mike, cast in the same mold, taller, blonder, but still Mike Morton. Totally charming, totally irresistible—and totally shallow.

Linda finally said, "Thank you, Bill. I'll try not to make too much notoriety for you . . . I'll let you know my decision tomorrow."

Leaving, she looked deep into Mr. Avon's face and saw a strange expression there—of hurt mingled with heartfelt understanding.

He looked as though, in one short, revealing statement, he had lost a son—and gained a daughter.

"Mommy," said Mickey. "I want to help you write. Give me a pencil."

"Why, darling!" Linda said, surprised, "I thought you were sound asleep. Aunty Blauer told me you went to bed early."

"I waked up." Mickey, clad in a plaid bathrobe over his pyjamas, climbed up beside her at the kitchen table.

While Mickey drew on his paper, Linda wrote—

"You were kind, Bill, to try to make an honest woman of me and give my son a father. But it wouldn't work. Thanks, though, for being noble.

"Nothing will work for us. If I gave Mickey to the Mortons without a fight, it would have torn out a part of my heart, and there wouldn't be much left for you, would there?

"I'm sure you wouldn't want what would be left—I."

It's not Bill's fault, she thought, that he happens to be Bill. It's Linda's fault, all Linda's fault for playing a game that couldn't possibly have ended happily.

"Smart girl!" she said aloud.

"I'm smart, too," Mickey answered. "Look, I made a pig! What did you make, mommy?"

"Mommy made," Linda said, "a mess of things."

Mickey studied her sheet of paper intently, without seeing what he sought.

But it was there.

Linda's mind, for the next several days, was too occupied with two strong influences upon her life to notice the absence of a third.

The coming custody battle over Mickey and the revelation of the real Bill Blaine—a man who was a total stranger from that Bill she first met on the roof—so held her thoughts during every waking hour that she failed to notice the absence of Steve Hubbard.

It was on the third day after the family counsel in the Blaine home ....the night that Bill Blaine had stood revealed to her the first time . . . that realization dawned on Lindo that Steve was strangely missing from his old haunts—chiefly from his daily romp with Mickey.

When Steve failed to visit Mickey that day and the next, Linda began to miss him. That was why she went to the basement of the Titan Tower and made inquiries of the manager.

"No, Miss," the manager said "Steve isn't with us now. You know his hands got hurt. Besides, Miss, I don't think he's coming back with us even after his hands heal. His uncle or aunt or somebody died and left him a ranch somewhere up-state . . .

Later, Linda tried to telephone Steve at his apartment. The operator told her that Steve's number had been disconnected. She felt that Steve Hubbard had gone out of her life—without even saying goodby, too....not even to Mickey, let alone Linda.

Yes, Linda MUST have hurt him, more deeply than she realized. She couldn't let him go away like that—not Steve, who had been so kind and good to both of them.

It wasn't like Steve to exit quietly, from her life or anyone's, not the Steve who had entered it so brashly that bright day on the sundeck as she waited for Bill Blaine.

How could she find him? Where was it that Aunt Cynthia had said her ranch was? Maybe she could reach Steve there—was it Susanville? No, that wasn't it . . . Vacaville? No, that wasn't 1234 6 666 ville? Linda couldn't remember.

Linda, had she known it, would not have needed to look far for Steve.

At the moment she was trying to reach him by telephone from her office, Steve was only a few blocks away, at a downtown bank.

He had come from a lawyer's office, where the estate of Aunt Cynthia, which had been in excellent order and quickly settled was wound up, and had gone directly to the bank to transact business prior to leaving for his aunt's ranch—now Steve's.

With a friends for a chauffeur—one of the boys from the garage on his day off—Steve was driven from the bank to a familiar stopping place in a residential district. Steve's hands were healing rapidly but were not sufficiently sound yet to permit him to risk their full recovery by driving his car.

After a brief stop, Steve emerged to climb back in his car, and, looking back to wave at someone in a window, drove away—across the city, over the bay bridge and north toward Oroville and his ranch.

"Jan," said Jo Monroe, bursting into Janice's office, "I need a good burglar—come with me!"

Janice had been sitting idly at her typewriter and when she looked up, Jo noticed that her eyes were red.

"What did you say?" Janice asked. "I . . . I didn't hear you."

"Hey!" said Joe. "Snap out of it, kid. The world isn't coming to an end. You look like you've committed all seven deadly sins and had thought up a couple extra of your own to repent."

"I'm sorry, Jo," Janice said. "I'm all right . . ."

"Listen, then," Jo went on. "Here's our big chance. My big G-man boss is a Gone-man, and I'm alone in the office. I can't leave it for long, so hurry and come back with me. Now's our chance to rifle his files and see just what they have on Linda. I need you to holler 'Hickey the cops!' if anyone comes . . ."

For a moment Janice looked alive again.

"Oh, Jo!" she cried. "Do you think we can find out something to help Linda—?"

"Well, we won't standing around here," Jo urged. "Let's get going."

A few minutes later the two girls were doing a very thorough job of rifling the secret files of Mr. Anderson, Jo's private detective employer.

At one point, when a postman knocked at the outer office door to leave a special delivery letter, both girls swung around startled, their whirls synchronized like two dolls on a common mechanism.

And then, on a sheet of paper at the bottom of the file, they found something to reward their efforts and justify the risk they had taken.

It was a letter to Mr. Anderson from Jack Blaine, and Jo quickly copied it in shorthand before restoring it to the file.

Later, when Janice and Jo hurried to Linda's office to tell her the news, Jo read the text to Linda from her notes.

"Unless," Jack Blaine had written, "some concrete evidence of misconduct is forthcoming, I feel that I will have to recommend to our clients that the guardianship petition be withdrawn.

"So far the case against the child's mother, charging that she is unfit to have his custody, is a circumstantial one, built on suspicion alone, and without definite proof.

"Unless your investigation uncovers some clincher, some actual evidence of misconduct, I am afraid we will get nowhere.

"Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Morton are arriving Tuesday to be present when the case comes to court, and I know they will want . . ."

"Linda!" Jo enthrusted. "Don't you understand, honey? We've got them licked!"

And Janice said, "Jack did it—I knew it!"

Neither Linda nor Jo understood. Joe said,

"What's 'jack' got to do with it? All the 'jack' in the world won't help them!"

CHAPTER 29

When Linda arrived at her home that evening after work, Mickey was playing in his room and Mrs. Blauer was sewing in the kitchen. Linda thought it strange that the neighbor woman acted so innocently guilty, like a small boy caught in the jam cupboard. Mrs. Blauer, finding some excuse, hastily left.

A few minutes later, when she read the note, Linda understood Mrs. Blauer's strange conduct.

"Mickey," Linda said to her son. "What's that you have in your hand?"

She crouched and tried to take from Mickey the small black book which he was eagerly scanning with a wise expression, as though he could read and understand the writing in it.

"Don't!" he screamed sharply as she sought to take the book from him. "It's Mickey's—Steve gave it to me!"

Linda who could read the writing but couldn't understand, saw that Mickey had spoken the truth.

It was a bankbook, and on the first page, Linda read:

"Mickey Morton," followed by Linda's address.

On the next page there was the inked record of a single deposit. It read: "$2,000."

Linda, half way out the back door to get Mrs. Blauer and extract the secret from her, saw the note on the kitchen table. With trembling hands, she opened it and read—as far as she could.

"Linda": it began, "Please don't try to give it back. It's Mickey's, not yours.

"It's pretty small ammunition against the Mortons' big guns, but it will help him fight to keep someone that it's pretty tough to lose.

"Besides, I won't need the money, really. I'm going up to run the ranch—and I'll be growing the stuff on trees pretty soon.

"The reason my handwriting's so good is that Mrs. Blauer wrote this for me—I never could write, even without blankets on my hands . ."

That was as far as Linda could read.

Through the tears welling in her eyes, she saw something that she had been blind to only too long. She saw something which her heart had been trying to tell her ever since a sunny morning on the roof of Titan Tower when a fresh young "heart specialist" in a mechanic's jumper first barged into her life—and Mickey's.

And Linda resolved then, in all humility, to go to Steve and to tell him how blind she had been.

Linda would have gone to Steve right away—had she known where to find him. When she did learn the whereabouts of Aunt Cynthia's ranch, it was too late. Something—something terrible, unforeseen—was to intervene. Something which would help the Bradley Mortons in their custody fight.

On Tuesday, the Bradley Mortons had arrived from Chicago and had taken a suite at a fashionable hotel. On Tuesday night, Janice Marberry . . knowing through Jo that the Mortons had conferred with Jack Blaine and Lawson, his employer . . . sought out Jack.

Now was the time to see Jack, Janice reasoned; now was the time to learn whether he had heeded her pleas, as the text of his letter to Jo's employer had indicated; now was the time to learn, from Jack's own lips—whether he was going through with the fight to take Linda's boy from her. NOW!

A telephone call to Jack's home brought the reply. "He's at Titan Tower. He'll be there late. He said he was working on an important case . . ."

"At the office?" Janice asked.

"No, in Mr. Blaine's penthouse."

Janice, however, didn't call the number. Donning a hat and her light tweed coat—the one with the patch pockets of beaver, which Linda had worn at Lake Tahoe—she took a quick glance in the mirror and then called a taxi.

When Janice left the house, she did not notice the little man lounging beside a tree at the curb, a man whose dark clothing, black suit and hat seemed to merge with the gloom about him. Nor did she notice that the man climbed into a car and followed her taxi.

When Janice's taxi pulled to a stop in front of Titan Tower, the car of the man-in-black was not far behind. Janice, as she dashed into the building, didn't notice that she was being followed. Nor did she know that this shadow was accompanied by another man, who carried a square black box and a small handbag.

Janice couldn't see either, as she walked up to the elevator with as much nonchalance as she could command under the circumstances, that the shadow withdrew from his pocket a folded newspaper clipping and showed it to his companion.

The clipping was a reproduction of the photograph of Linda taken at Lake Tahoe; Linda wearing Janice's distinctive coat—the same coat which Janice herself now wore.

"It's her all right," the shadow whispered. "We'll wait and grab the next elevator."

Twenty-six floors above them, Attorney Jack Blaine was admitting Janice to his father's penthouse.

"Jan!" he exclaimed. "What in the world . . . How did you find me here?"

"Don't you . . . "Janice said and she bit her lip as her eyes searched his face for the answer she yearned, "don't you want to see me, Jack?"

"Darling," he answered. "Please don't....you know I do—always."

When they were comfortably seated by the fireplace, Janice tried to turn the conversation toward the reason for her unexpected call.

"I don't want to butt into your business . . . again, Jack," she began, "but is it true that the Mortons are going to drop the case? Oh, I HOPE so; I hope so; so much . . ."

Jack looked at her a long time before answering.

"Do we have to talk about that tonight, Jan?" he asked, and his arm slid down to encircle her shoulders. "About other folks' lives, I mean, when we have our own lives—when we have us?"

The warmth from the fire was cosy, the lights were low and the stars, peeking in the vaulted penthouse window from a moonless sky, were very bright. But Janice tried again.

"It IS my life, Jack," she said, sitting up. "If anything happens to Linda, if she loses her boy, it would just kill me!"

Jack stood up and walked about, lost in thought....

"Look, dear," he said, softly, "I know, I've given it a lot of thought but let's talk it over later. Right now we have a lot of remembering to do. Of us—of nights by the fire like this...."

x x x

Outside below the grilled iron stairs leading from the penthouse, two figures in black waited. They had waited hours....

"Ssah!" warned the shadow. "Here she comes. Get focused on the stairs!"

When the photographer's flash bulb was ignited, Janice felt it, rather than saw it. She couldn't have covered up her face in time to beat the flash—but her face already was covered, because Janice's arm was in front of her face and the reason it was there was because Janice was crying.

Yet in that flash everything stood revealed to Janice—everything. As clearly as the bright flare illumined the penthouse surroundings did that other inner flash which came to Janice, show a course for Janice to take—a course she must take.

Jack Blaine, attorney for the Mortons, was going through with his fight against Linda. And now she, Janice herself, had given the Mortons some pictorial evidence for that court battle.

That was why the Mortons' hirelings, who had scuttled below after obtaining the picture, had taken it. That was why they had watched and waited. She wasn't Janice to them—she was Linda!

Their picture would show the coat that Linda had worn. Janice's picture—a picture of a girl in a distinctive coat, her face covered—would be Linda's picture to the public and maybe the court, too!

Thus Janice, who loved Linda so sincerely, would be the innocent instrument responsible for handing Mickey over to the Mortons.

Janice's course became clear to her. She must stop them from producing that picture. She MUST!

Immediately before her lay a fork in that clearly-defined course—two ways to accomplish the same end, the end that must be achieved.

The first was to follow immediately after the Morton minions, the photographer and the shadow, to catch them before they sped away, and to convince them, then and there, that she was NOT Linda. The second....

Janice, a heartbroken girl with little for which to live, was strangely fascinated by the prospect which that second fork held for her. Strangely and morbidly gripped by the way it beckoned. In this second solution was a definite, irrevocable answer, no loose ends....

CHAPTER THIRTY

It was a magnet which drew Janice in swift nervous steps, to the parapet at the edge of the roof. As she neared the waist-high wall, her steps slowed. Her hands felt the cold concrete of the parapet. For an instant she stood there poised, her tear-dimmed gaze slowly sweeping the broad panorama of the city she loved—brilliant, warm, alive.

Then she looked down, down into the void which ended in the bright thin lines of signs over the sidewalk, twenty-six floors below.

A tear, the first to fall from her brimming eyes, dropped—into oblivion. Janice, absently seeking to follow its course, found her clearing vision focused on a spot at the curb across the street, far, far below.

There, by a beetle-like car, she discerned two tiny ant-like figures, figures of men who loomed much larger on the roof only moments before, to throw a shadow over her whole life.

Sight of them—that and a wellspring of new inner strength which she found in that sight—decided for Janice, in that instant, what to do.

Janice did not follow her fallen tear into oblivion.

Turning blindly from the parapet, she ran, stumblingly, from something strong—but not quite as strong as herself; ran for the elevator to follow, instead, the men who waited for her at the curb below....

x x x

It seemed that Linda had scarcely gone to sleep—so restless and fitful was the night she spent—when she was awakened by the telephone. Sleepily, she noted that the clock's radium dial said that the time was a few minutes after 5 a.m.

As great as was her surprise that someone should be phoning her at that hour, it was even greater when she learned the identity of the caller.

"Mrs. Morton," the voice on the other end said, "this is John Blaine Jr.—Bill's brother."

"Yes," Linda said, now wide awake.

"It's....it's Janice!" he said. "Can you come down right away—to Titan Tower? I'm in my office." That was all. He didn't tell Linda what had happened. But Linda had a presentiment of something terrible....

As she sped downtown in a taxi, Linda, staring from the cab window, saw black newspaper headlines on the corner stands. But she didn't read them. They were just words, a black blur. Her mind was busy with the awful thought of what might have happened to Janice. Her thoughts sped back to that first tragedy of the tower, the workman pinioned in the elevator machinery. Janice injured some way—badly hurt or....kill....

Linda couldn't bring herself to finish the word.

Had she read the headlines, however, she could have seen her sentence finished for her.

BEAUTY KILLED BY HIT-RUN DRIVER

That was what the headlines screamed.

There was nothing in the story (had Linda seen it) to explain how Janice, blinded by tears, had dashed out of the entrance to Titan Tower, her one objective the two dark men who waited at the car across the street still on their watch. There was ample description of how the hit-run car, with its screeching of brakes, had struck the girl as she reached the car tracks, had dragged her twenty yards before speeding away to disappear around a corner.

But nothing to tell WHY a girl who, a few moments before, had willed to live with every fiber of strength in her being, had met now a death she didn't seek....

When Linda dashed, breathless, into the young attorney's office she found Mr. Blaine—"Mr. Avon" Blaine—there ahead of her. It was he who broke the news.

"Janice....," Linda cried. "Where is she? Tell me—what's happened?"

Mr. Blaine took her in his arms, sought to comfort and quiet her.

"Linda, child," he said. "Be a good soldier. It's a terrible shock—but you might as well take it all in one dose. Janice is dead, Linda."

"DEAD?" Linda pushed herself clear of his arms and stood there staring at him, shock and disbelief in her face.

"Killed," he said quietly, "by a hit-run driver as she left the building—early this morning."

"Oh, no," she said dazedly. "Not Jan! NOT JAN!"

It was at this moment that Jo Monroe, notified by the coroner's office, burst tearfully into the room. She and Linda flung themselves into each other's arms.

x x x

If Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Morton were puzzled over the unheralded visit to their hotel suite by John Ralston Blaine, neither showed it. They were the personification of gracious cordiality as Jack Blaine, nervous and strained, presented his father to his prominent clients.

"Mr. Morton," Jack had started bluntly, and his eyes were bloodshot, his voice tight, "I'll have to ask you to let me withdraw from this case...."

"Here, here, son," his father interrupted, "suppose you let me handle this. Maybe I can speak Mr. Morton's language...."

Mr. Blaine's own amiable ease was something to match the Morton aplomb at its best.

"Mr. Morton," he began, "Mrs. Morton"—with a gracious bow toward her—"you have come out here to gain legal custody of your grandson, to take him away from a girl about whom you know little or nothing. My son has been retained to act for you. With your permission, I'd like to tell you something about this girl—about your grandson and his mother—that neither of you could possibly know."

Then he told them—everything. And Mr. and Mrs. Bradley Morton of Chicago listened to what he had to say.

"I am not threatening you or attempting to tell you what to do, Mr. Morton," Blaine concluded. "I'm simply stating this: That every cent I have, that every resource I can command will back up Linda to see that her boy is not taken from her by you or anyone else.

"If you had hunted the world over and hand-picked each candidate yourself you couldn't have found a finer wife for your son than Linda Morton, and if you were half good enough to deserve her for a daughter-in-law you could put your souls at peace.

"I had thought once that she was going to be my daughter-in-law—and it's my great loss that she isn't. But as long as J. R. Blaine has a dime or an ounce of fight you're not going to get her baby."

When the Blaines, senior and junior, left the Mortons' suite minutes later, they carried with them a signed document insuring that the custody fight was abandoned; that there would be no further move from the Bradley Mortons to obtain guardianship of the grandson they had never seen—the son of their son and the wife they once didn't care to know.

x x x

It was deepening dusk that evening when Linda went alone to the roof of Titan Tower—to the sundeck of the building which had shaped her life, even as a master builder had shaped the building itself.

She was still shocked and stunned by the emotional ordeal of the day—the staggering blow of Janice's death; and the news that she no longer had to fear the loss of Mickey.

Odd, the way the side of Titan Tower looked that way. Not at all the way it appeared, looking up, the way Steve Hubbard had showed it to her that day when he asked for his first date, in the midst of the sidewalk throng.

She thought she heard Steve's voice again—now. Only this time he said:

"Don't look down, Linda, look, out—far out!"

It WAS Steve. She could believe her eyes.

"Over there, Linda."

He pointed. And the hand with which he pointed—his right hand—was free and unbandaged and whole.

"Over there, Linda, way past the buildings; past the hills, toward the mountains...."

"Steve!" she said. "You came to ME?"

"It's a swell little ranch, Linda, just the place for Mickey; sunshine, buckets full of fresh air, flowers...."

"Oh, Steve! Not only for Mickey—for US—for you and me."

"Us, Linda."

"Steve...."

"Yes, Lin?"

"Can you...." She was going to say "forgive me?" She said: "Can you do your work there—I mean your REAL work, drawing, designing? Your building....?"

Steve laughed.

"Can you steer a plow while I work, taking it easy in a hammock in the shade?"

"Oh, Steve! I CAN!" Linda thought of crumpled fenders, of her driving, over which Steve had laughed. "And no wrecks!"

Her head dropped. She might have been laughing or crying or a little of both.

"Chin up, Linda!"

That's the way she held it.

So what could Steve do?

THE END.

C. C. F. MEMBERS STORM CENTRE

Angus McInnis M.P.P., Vancouver East, Decries Suspicions

Vancouver, June 26—(CP)— The Co-operative Commonwealth Federation's parliamentary representatives became a storm centre at the British Columbia C.C.F. convention yesterday as delegates debated an earlier convention decision to bar C.C.F. members of the British Columbia legislature from office on the provincial party executive.

The barring clause ultimately was withdrawn, but not before one member of parliament shouted that the convention had turned into a "dog fight" which could only result in a lowering of the party's prestige.

Angus MacInnis (C.C.F. Vancouver-East) told the 116 delegates:

"All you people are wallowing in a morass of suspicion toward your elected representatives. You've got to get over it. This kind of argument won't get you anywhere.

Says Prestige Higher

"The prestige of the C.C.F. is higher now than ever before, and that's so because of the showing of your representatives at the provincial capital (Victoria) and at Ottawa.

"It's dog fights like this that lower our prestige. I'm glad more of the public isn't present."

The motion barring members of the provincial legislature from office on the executive was passed Friday night. Several attempts were made to reopen discussion but President Wallis W. Lefeaux, chairman of the convention, ruled them out of order.

Then a substitute motion was introduced, to extend the bar to include all elected representatives of the party, including members of parliament and municipal office holders. After MacInnis' remarks the delegates voted out the substitute.

Odds and Sentiment Shift To Galento as Louis Fails To Impress in Workouts

Galento Trains for First Time in Career and Predicts "Win in 5"

SHOUTS 'DISRESPECT'

"I'll Ketch Him Acomin' in," Says the Brown Bomber

(By Sid Feder Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 26 (AP)—To the tune of a shift in sentiment toward Tony Galento and an up-beat at the box office that promised a possible $500,000-gate, Joe Louis and the roly-poly puncher wound up training details today for their 15-round meeting in Yankee stadium Wednesday night.

Louis tapered off with two rounds of sparring today at his training base at Pompton Lakes, N.J. Galento, after winding up his heavy duty work with five so-so rounds at Summit, N.J., yesterday, only went through the loosen-up motions of bag punching and rope skipping.

Galento finally topped his long, loud shouts of "disrespect" of the Bomber's ability by predicting a knockout for Tony in five rounds.

"Yeah, that's it," he roared. "Five heats and this (holding up his club-like left) will do it. I'll flatten the guy and show 'em who's boss."

"He's a tough white boy," was Louis' only comment. "I figure I'll belt him out, but I don't know how early. It'll be jes' as soon as I ketch him comin' in."

With the fight only two days off, promoter Mike Jacobs saw the possibility of a financial as well as an artistic success out of this threatened 15-round heavyweight title rough house.

"I don't like to guess as to what its going to be," promoter Mike explained, "but we should be $500,000 if the sale these last two days is as good as we hope."

The most experienced fight "guessers" however, were inclined to predict the big Bronx ball yard would be holding between 40,000 and 60,000 customers.

No one was able to explain just why the odds have shifted in the last five days toward Galento. It's true that Louis has not been any too impressive in his approximately six weeks of work at Pompton. His spar mates have been altogether too free with their left hand wallops, and Galento, if nothing else can toss that southpaw shot of his around.

The fact that Tony has trained seriously and strongly for the first time in his career, staying away, for the most part, from his customary beer and spaghetti diet, may have something to do with the shift. Ten days ago, 10 to 1 money, with Louis favorite, was going begging. Today with the odds dwindled to 6 to 1 there is considerable betting going on.

GOLF

Women players of Belleville Golf Club entertained Bay of Quinte Country Club, Trenton Golf Club and Picton Golf Club at a tournament on Friday. Competition was keen and the players thoroughly enjoyed the day's play.

The low gross prize was won by Miss Palmer of Picton with 90 and the low net by Mrs. Thompson of Belleville Golf Club with 80. Mrs. W. Patterson of Belleville Golf Club won the low putting score in eighteen holes with 29.

At noon the visitors were entertained at luncheon. The hostesses for the afternoon were Mrs. Cather and Mrs. Heard.

TORRID PACE IS BEING SET IN SR. O.B.A. RACE

Peterboro Chalks Up Sixth Inter-City Win to Remain Second

NATS. IN FRONT

The torrid pace set by Stratford and Brantford in the senior Intercounty Baseball League kept both clubs well ahead of the pack today after weekend victories, with the championship Stratford club two games in front.

Schoolmaster Earl Craig twirled Stratford to a 15-1 triumph over Preston while Brantford held a two-run lead through nine innings to down Woodstock 3-2. Two errors in the third inning robbed Craig of a shutout. His tight hurling limited Preston to four hits as the Nationals collected 16.

Cellar dwellers in the loop, Galt Terriers managed a shutout over the fourth-place Guelph team, Bob Lamb pitching airtight ball to win 4-0. A revamped team lineup proved a deciding factor in the struggle, seven Guelph players being left on bases.

Another shutout was chalked up in the Niagara District Senior League as Niagara Falls Red Birds scored a 5-0 victory over St. Catharines.

Six errors accounting for four runs, allowed Red Birds to come within one game of St. Catharines for the loop leadership. Tight Niagara Falls' fielding included two double plays.

Port Colborne held third place with a 7-5 decision over Niagara Falls Brocks. The Ports were paced by Vince Upper, veteran shortstop, with a double and two singles in four attempts.

Third shutout of the weekend's senior baseball was counted by Merritton who blanked Fort Erie 3-0. Fort Erie smashed out three triples off pitcher Scott but were unable to convert any of them into runs.

Peterborough pounded out an 8-4 decision over Toronto Parkdale Berbys for their sixth Intercity senior victory of the season. The win consolidated the Petes in second place as Toronto Danforth Aces, league leaders, kept in front by defeating Toronto Columbus Grads 15-8.

MOUNT PLEASANT, GLEN ROSS TIED

Third Game for Title Necessary after Mount Pleasant Wins Second Game

Stirling, June 26 (Special)—Softball fans of the Rawdon district and throughout the neighborhood of Stirling have plenty of real thrills to look forward to yet before the play-off feud between Glen Ross and Mount Pleasant is decided. In the first game after a hefty slugging game with numerous errors by both teams Glen Ross got the nod winning by a one run margin. The northerners turned the tables on them on Friday night downing them 13-10 making a third game on a neutral park necessary. Rabid fans and supporters of both teams freely express their approval or disapproval of the decisions given by Umpires that have to be changed for each game. So keen is the contest and feeling between these two squads playing off for the right to meet the group leading Bethel nine that no local Umpire is anxious to take on the responsibility. But such support and excitement adds to the thrills of a good game and John Public is thoroughly satisfied though expressions are otherwise.

The lineups:

Mount Pleasant: Bill Jeffs c; Ken Kingston cf; Irvin Potts p; Bert Jeffs 2b; Herb Higgs ss; Herb Smith rf; F. Fitzgerald 3b; Coggins 1b; Bedford lf.

Glen Ross: Harry Brown 2b; E. Grills rf; Gerald Pyear 1b; B. Hagerman c; R. Pyear p; A. McDonald cf; J. Armstrong rf; A. Fraser ss; Martin 3b.

Score by innings:

Mt. Pleasant .... 150 113 2—13
Glen Ross .. .. 314 110 0—10

Umpires: Fraser, Holmes and Fraser.

As Giants Get Hot, Gothamite Fans Hope for 'Subway Series' Of Giants Versus Yankees

Reds Lose Complete Series to the Rushing Terrymen

BONURA HITS .370

Lowly Browns Humble Mighty Yankees, Split Double Header

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York's baseball fans haven't started chanting "subway series" yet, but it's a fact their Giants are the hottest thing in baseball right now and in the inflammable National League anything can happen.

Bill Terry's terribles completed their western swing by sweeping an entire three-game series with the pace-setting Cincinnati Reds—an unheard of conquest this season.

The 3-2 victory ground out by the Giants yesterday was their 13th in 15 games since June 7. At the start of this streak New York was in sixth place 10 games behind the Reds. Now the club has climbed to third place just a half game behing the St. Louis Cardinals and 4 1-2 behind the Reds.

The Giants haven't made less than seven hits in the 15-game stretch nor less than nine in their last nine games. Until yesterday no pitcher had gone the route against them during the spurt.

Zeke Bonura, taking over the league leadership in runs batted in, has lifted his percentage hitting 29 points to .370 and clouted four home runs in less than three weeks. He tripled in the second inning yesterday to start a two-run punch and then singled the winning run across in the third inning.

Pressing close behind the Giants and presaging more trouble for the Reds and Cardinals, Chicago Cubs have lost only one of their last nine games, although tied once. The defeat came Saturday, 1-0, when Joe Marty hit a home run to win a two-hit game for Hugh Mulcahy of the Phillies. The trade which sent Marty from Chicago to the Phillies was redeemed yesterday, however, as Claude Passeau outpitched Kirby Higbe to win, 4-3 for the Cubs.

Bees Challenge

Boston Bees gave the Giants' and Cubs' challenge a boost by swamping St. Louis in a Sunday doubleheader. With Max West getting a homer in each game the Bees took the opener 8-5 and the second 2-0 on the steady eight-hit hurling of Bill Posedel.

Brooklyn Dodgers eased the embarrassment of their western woes by nosing out Pittsburgh Pirates, 6-5. Although Dolph Camilli and Babe Phelps homered earlier it remained for Harry Lavagetto to decide the game with a two-run double in the ninth.

St. Louis' lowly Browns finally smote the mighty Yankees to split a doubleheader. After eight losses to the champions the rail-enders batted around for five runs in the ninth inning of yesterday's first game to win 7-3. Bill Dickey accounted for all the Yankee runs with two homers. In the second session Oral Hildebrand handcuffed his former mates on five hits and New York slugged out a familiar 11-2 triumph.

Cleveland Indians and Philadelphia Athletics also divided a bargain bill. Ben Chapman, Hal Trosky and Jeff Heath hit consecutive homers in the seventh inning to tie an old record and clinch the first game for the Tribe, 8-4, while Geo. Caster's seven-hit pitching snared the nightcap, 10-2.

In a type of game common only to Washington, Detroit Tigers defeated the Senators, 6-5, although outhit 12-7 and letting in two runs on errors. Boston and Chicago White Sox again were rained out.

In the American League Saturday Red Ruffing pitched the Yankees to a 2-1 win over St. Louis and Washington combed three Detroit hurlers for 14 hits to win 12-4.

Chicago defeated Boston 14-6 and Philadelphia won 10-6 from Cleveland. In the National League the Giants defeated Cincinnati 7-2 and Pittsburgh knocked over Brooklyn 6-2. Philadelphia scored only one run but it was enough to win from Chicago and St. Louis downed Boston 5-2.

KIRKLAND LAKE IMPORTED PUCK ARTISTS DENIED

Three Members of Trail "Smokies" Denied Residence in East-West Agreement

C. A. H. A. MEETS

Toronto, June 26 (CP)—Kirkland Lake Blue Devils of the Northern Ontario Hockey Association must get along next season without the services of three players they counted on to aid in a determined drive towards the Canadian senior title.

Kirkland Lake hopes of their first Allan Cup in history suffered a setback when the Central Committee of the Executive of the Canadian Amateur Hockey Association ruled at a week end meeting here that three members of the Trail, B.C., team last winter—Johnny McCready, Dick Kowcinak and Mel Snowden—could not play for any eastern Canada team this coming season since they had not qualified under the east-west May 15 residence deadline.

Toured Europe

The three players, who toured Europe last season with the Trail Smoke Eaters, Dominion senior titlists in 1938, are living in Kirkland Lake at the present time. The Association Committee ruled that the three are not free agents but are subject to all rules and regulation of the Dominion body.

McCready, who was given a trial with Toronto Maple Leafs last fall and Kowcinak, are forwards. Snowden is a defenceman. The Devils were ousted from the provincial playdowns last spring by Toronto Goodyears and were seeking to bolster their team. At least one of their stars—Don Grosso—will be missing. He signed with Detroit Red Wings after the Devils were eliminated.

The committee voted a grant of $5,000 towards expenses of sending Port Arthur Bearcats, 1939 Canadian senior champions, to the 1940 Olympics in Germany. Frank Sargent of Port Arthur, second Vice-President of the association, will accompany the team as association representative.

C.A.H.A. and N.H.L. officials, at a joint meeting Saturday, decided that a agreement between the two bodies will remain in effect the amateur body will present a brief to the National League concerning reimbursing of amateur clubs by professional organizations for players developed by Amateur club and signed to professional contracts.

Players who performed in a new-defunct Florida league last season without permission of the C.A.H.A. stand suspended indefinitely, the committee announced.

NETHERLANDS IN SECOND PLACE

Standing Helped Considerably by Fine Hurling of Ken Tashian

(By The Canadian Press)

Never worse than second in the standing all season to date, Oswego Netherlands need look no further than twirler Ken Tashian to find one of the big reasons for their fast-stepping in the current Canadian-American Baseball League pennant-chase.

In second berth today, a half-game behind Amsterdam Rugmakers, Oswego has won 29 contests. Of these Tashian has pitched them to victory in 10 while only one of the games he hurled has been marked down in the lost column.

The ace-moundsman took the measure of Amsterdam yesterday, coasting to a 6-3 decision in the opener of one of those crucial twin-bills. When team-mate Syl Nowak repeated with a 2-0 triumph in the nightcap, the Nets moved two full games closer in the standing.

Tashian gave the pace-setters all their runs in one inning, allowing three in the second. The Nets came through with a bigger rally in the eighth, baging five for the verdict. In the nightcap, Newark blanked Rugmakers with six hits while Oswego counted single tallies in the first and third.

LITTLE GIANTS OUST WINGS AS LEAGUE LEADERS

Jersey City Wins Dual Tilt Over Orioles as Wings Lose

LEAFS WIN TWO

It is with no great amazement that the fall of Rochester Red Wings from the International League lead and the return of Jersey City Giants to the top is recorded. The competition this season has been too strong for a team to slacken off much and still hold the lead.

But there's more than a little surprise in the fact that Buffalo Bisons should be the instrument of Rochester's downfall.

Buffalo's recent slugging feats have been one of the most remarkable developments of the season. Buried deep in the second division, the Bisons suddenly started belting the ball out of the park about 10 days ago.

Twice before they had staged similar spurts, but this one was prolonged until the club hit at least one home run in 13 successive games. They collected 24 homers in that stretch, won nine of the games and even though the string finally was interrupted in yesterday's second game against the Red Wings, moved up into a fifth-place tie with the Baltimore Orioles.

Lou Boudreau fashioned the final four-bagger of the chain yesterday as the Bisons beat Rochester, 4-2, in the first game of their doubleheader. He tossed in three doubles for good measure. The afterpiece was a mound duel in which Earl Cook and Mike Ryba each allowed six hits, but the latter tossed one up where Nowak could connect for a single with the bases loaded in the seventh. Mike himself drove in the only Red Wing run in the last half of the inning.

Jersey City turned in a double victory over Baltimore, 5-2 and 4-3. Johnny Dickshot of the Giants and Red Howell of the Orioles each hit a homer in each game.

Bears Third

Two other changes in the standing were recorded yesterday as Newark won a pair of games from Syracuse to move past the Chiefs into third place while Toronto's last place Maple Leafs whipped Montreal twice to drop the Royals into seventh.

Geo. Washburn was the hero of the Bears' twin triumph. He blanked Syracuse with five hits to win the opener 6-0. Then contributed a pinch homer with two aboard to Newark's six-run uprising in the sixth inning of the nightcap. Buster Mills' double to score Ham Schulte in the seventh finally won the game 7-6.

With Manager Tony Lazzeri setting the pace, Toronto twice came from behind to win 6-5 and 4-3. Homers by ex-pilot Jack Burns and Mayo Smith helped take the opener, then the second clash went eight innings before Smith doubled and scored the winning run on Lazzeri's sacrifice and Flea Clifton's single.

Newark ended a five-game losing streak Saturday with a 6-4 win over Jersey City while Toronto defeated Montreal 8-3 and Buffalo turned back Rochester 10-5. Baltimore scored four runs in the last inning to whip Syracuse 8-7.

BIG LEAGU E "THIEVES" DISCUSS THEIR TRADE

The former and the present base path speed champions of major league baseball discuss their methods (or something) during a series between their teams. George Washington Case, of Washington Senators, at the RIGHT, is the current terror of pitchers and catchers and already this year has a stolen base total more than double that of his nearest competitor and higher than what was sufficient to lead the majors last year. Talking with him is Ben Chapman, of Cleveland Indians, who was a sensation eight years ago when he pilfered 61 bases for New York Yankees, to revive thoughts of Cobb, Carey and others of an earlier era, and who has by far the highest life-time total of any player now active. Record for a single season is 96, set by Ty Cobb in 1915.

CANADA'S TOP-RANKING FIGHTERS

Tops among Canadian boxers according to the most recent ratings of the National Boxing Association in the United States is this quartet, comprising the only Canadians to make the first 10 in any of the eight divisions. N.B.A. rankings are regarded usually as being as far from infallible, but they add lustre to a fighter's record and aid at the box office. TOP LEFT, Sammy Luftspring, of Toronto, No. 7 among the welterweight contenders; TOP RIGHT, Dave Castilloux, Montreal, fourth ranking featherweight challenger; LOWER LEFT, Billy Marquardt, Winnipeg, No. 8, in the lightweight list; and LOWER RIGHT, Baby Yack, of Toronto, who holds the same spot among the bantams.

CALLING 'EM

Between the Lines

with

Ken J. Colling

The full story of the famous "long count" in the second Dempsey-Tunney fight the most controversial point in the whole history of modern heavyweight boxing, is now finally completed with detailed statements by both fighters. Gene Tunney gave his version in 1932, and now Jack Dempsey presents his side of the picture. After describing the knock-down of Tunney in the seventh round, and the delay in the count because he failed to go to a neutral corner, Dempsey writes:

"When you have given your all in a sports competition you have only one thought and it's usually of rest. I did the human thing and thought only of rest. More than anything else in the world I wanted to stand still for an instant and relax long enough to take a deep breath in safety. The motion pictures show that I did just that. I leaned back against a convenient spot on the ropes and draped my arms over the top strand to enjoy the most welcome moment of relaxation a fighter ever knew.

"Tunney has said that he kept his wits during those fleeting seconds. If he actually did, he is more of a ring fighter than his record shows, because few people can be staggered against the ropes with a heavy right and, five seconds later, spilled to the deck with five more rights and lefts, and still be cagey enough to remember that the other guy must go to a neutral corner before the counting begins.

"It was a sickening sight to me to see Tunney grab that rope, pick up the belated count and pull himself to an upright position. I felt like the unluckiest guy on earth at that moment.

"Today, eleven years later, I feel that I was most fortunate of all the world's able-bodied citizens. For, if Gene Tunney had remained on the canvas, the whole course of my life would have been changed, and for the worse, I am certain. Had Tunney remained on the floor in Chicago, I would have been hailed as a 'superman' of the ring. Money would have been showered my way by the bucketful. Clamor of the public and press would have guaranteed $3,000,000 for another Tunney-Dempsey battle.

"And nine months later I would have been in the ring taking a third straight beating (Dempsey describes the Tunney fights as the only real "shellackings" he ever took) a million beating win or lose; for, being the most studious and determined of all fighters, Tunney had perfected a defense and a counter-attack for the only fighting style I knew.

"Defeated, I believed it wise to stop fighting. The reasoning behind this decision was simple. I was firmly convinced that a body, after giving it and taking it for more than a third of its 32 years, could not be subjected to further punishment without risking and suffering permanent damage. Too many fighters refuse to realize this cruel fact."

In Tunney's story of the long count he stated that after he was knocked down, he picked up the referee's count at two, and figured out his campaign of defense and attack while waiting for the count of nine.

"Whether twenty-nine seconds or nine seconds had elapsed when the referee said 'nine'," he wrote, "would have made no difference to me. My signal to get off the ground was the count—nine. No boxer that I have ever known has carried a stop-watch on his wrist going into the ring."

With the Louis-Galento fight set for Wednesday night the above comment should sharpen the sport fans' boxing appetite before the big bout.

Goody Rosen, who seemed to be hitting with a degree of consistency along with two other members of the Brooklyn "Daffiness Men," was traded to Montreal for Art Parks, hard hitting outer gardener of the Royals by Manager Leo Durocher. Rosen, a native of Toronto, gained prominence in the majors the hard way, having to battle his way to the top. The 'sparkplug" tpe of player, there are those who predict the Toronto lad will be back in the big time before another season rolls around.

Hither and Yon—The Reds lost two over the week end and are only four games in front of the Cardinals, but then the Giants seem to be playing the best ball in the senior circuit these days .... Bill Dickey, Yankee catcher, had a perfect day at the bat yesterday, four for four, as the boys say .... And the Yanks continue to steam roller in the American League despite the Tigers brave stand .... Canadians only won one tennis title in the recent Canadian Tennis championships held at Windsor, which doesn't speak any too highly for the Canuck net stars .... The Leafs swept the series over the Royals and seem to be playing better ball under Lazzeri, who is setting the pace at second himself ..... Rosen was only hitting .250 when traded to the Royals .... Selkirk went hitless in five tries yesterday....."Hold your horses here comes the elephants" will be the feature cry on Thursday.

HOW TO OVERCOME ITCHING PILES

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKeown or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

CHARLES M. DOOLITTLE

(Orillia)

Toronto, June 26.— (CP)— Funeral services were conducted in Orillia yesterday for Charles M. Doolittle, Troonto resident, who died of a heart attack at St. Michael's hospital here on Thursday.

Born in Belleville 66 years ago of United Empire Loyalist lineage, he was the younger son of the late Stephen and Elizabeth Doolittle. The greater part of his life was spent in Northern Ontario and Orillia where he had been general superintendent of the Canada Smelting and Refining Company during its years of operation."

He is survived by his widow and one son, C. H. Doolittle, and a daughter, Mrs. E] Warburton, South River.

IN MEMORIAM

WILSON—In loving memory of a dear son and brother, James Wilson, who passed away June 26, 1937, in his thirty-eighth year.

Oh how patient in thy suffering
When no hand could give thee ease;
God the helper of the helpless
Saw thy pain and gave thee peace.

Sadly missed by mother, sisters, and brothers. j26-1t

BIRTHS

BIRD—On Saturday, June 24th, at the Belleville General Hospital, to Mr. and Mrs. K. M. Bird, Trent Road, a son, (Richard Allan). j26-1t

Being A Horse's Neck Isn't So Bad

Miss Juanita Repensky, Charming and Youthful Performer to Appear Here With Big Show

From Italy has come to America one of the outstanding riding acts of this generation—the Loyal-Repensky Family, composed of ten famous bareback riders. They were imported to America directly by the Cole Bros. Circus coming to Belleville, Thursday, June 29th, for performances at 2 and 8 p.m. and an immense parade at 11 a.m.

Long famed in Continental Europe the Loyal-Repensky Family has made its home in Italy for generations. Their incomparable feats as riders have made their act outstanding, but they excel chiefly as somersaulting equestrians.

Miss Juanita Repensky is one of the high lights among the stars with the Cole Bros. Circus. An ordinary back somersault on a running horse she performs "just to limber up." Old timers of the circus state she is the all-time tops as a feminine rider.

There are 60 riders with the Cole Bros. Circus this season. They hail from all parts of the globe. John Smith presents 70 horses simultaneously performing in one number. In addition there are 40 high school or menage riders. Altogether there are 150 performing horses with the show this season.

Windsor, Ont., June 26 (CP)—Meet Bill Pedlar and Phil Pearson, the happy-go-lucky kids who are almost certain to catch a boat to Cuba next month to play doubles on Canada's Davis Cup team.

Pedlar is 18 and left-handed, Pearson 19 and a right-handed socker who puts a tennis ball away with a despatch that makes your ears sing. They began playing doubles together in Vancouver in the spring of 1938 and they long since have gained revenge on the only Canadian doubles team ever to beat them, Ellis Tarshis and Gordon MacNeil of Montreal.

On Saturday Pedlar and Pearson were defeated in the final of the Canadian tennis championships at the Windsor tennis club by Morey Lewis of Texarkana, Tex., and F. Froehling of Chicago. But before Lewis and Froehling achieved their 6-4, 2-6, 6-4, 6-2 success, Pedlar and Pearson had knocked out a string of Canadians to indicate they're the best active doubles combination in Canada. The previous week they won the Ontario title.

Pedlar and Pearson contributed the main Canadian angles as United States stars swept all but one event on the Dominion championship board.

Lewis, 20-year-old captain of the Kenyon college team , won the men's singles title by defeating B. Madden of Detroit, 6-2, 6-2, 6-3.

Elizabeth Blackman of Detroit took the women's singles championship by overthrowing the 1938 winner, Mrs. Rene Bolte of Montreal, 7-5, 7-5. Then Miss Blackman teamed with her sister, Louise, to win the women's doubles over Mrs. Bolte and Mrs. A. R. Porter of Montreal, 6-2, 6-3.

But if there was any lingering doubt about the doubles-playing ability of Pedlar and Pearson, it was dispelled when they reached the mixed doubles final. There Pedlar and Eleanor Young of Vancouver beat Pearson and Mrs. W. R. Walton, Jr., of Toronto, 6-2, 6-4.

HOCKEY PLAYER BURNED

Calgary, June 26 (CP)— Chuck Millman, hockey player who came from Stratford, Ont., to play defence for Calgary Stampeders in the Alberta senior league next season, suffered minor head and hand burns last night when a gas furnace in a Calgary hotel exploded.

Millman a guest at the hotel, had accompanied Albert Thompson, hotel employee, to the basement just before the mishap. Cause of the explosion was not determined.

Thompson's right arm and face were burned and he was removed to hospital. Millman's injuries required only first aid treatment.

BEES INVADE HOUSE

Brantford, Ont., June 26—(CP)—Firemen were called to the home of Glen Hastings, Brantford, yesterday to evict a swarm of bees that gathered underneath the bedroom floor. They were forced to cut a hole in the floor to locate the swarm.

For Tuesday, June 27

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

ASTROLOGICALLY, a day of "mixed influences" is foreseen. While there may be unusually lively conditions, which might be manipulated profitably, the chances are that commotion, excitement and sudden upheaval may preclude wise action. Employers or superiors may offer opposition to clever proposals. The saving grace may materialize in tact, subtle manoeuvring or secret agreements. Be particularly guarded with speech.

Those whose birthday it is may have a successful and satisfactory year, with much productive work, provided they will curb tendencies to unwise and hasty speech. They must guard against being swept off their feet by occurrences that may be of rather whirlwind or breathtaking swiftness. Elders, employers or superiors may be hostile to seemingly brilliant propositions. Treat these with sagacity, diplomacy and shrewdness, and do not be averse to a degree of subtlety or intrigue to gain their good will. Compromise may prove effective.

A child born on this day may have a brilliant mentality, much versality shrewdness and subtlety, but it may be eccentric, unsettled or have radical ideas that are frowned on by its superiors.

REVEALS ZOG'S PLANS

Baroness Suzanne de Strasser of Budapest is pictured at the Riviera as she revealed the plans of King Zog and Queen Geraldine, Albania's exiled monarchs, to visit the United Statees. It was the baroness who started the romance between Zog and his queen who is part American. Their visit will be one of business and pleasure, said the baroness, who added there was a possibility that they may make their permanent home in the U. S.

Stubborn Grass Fire Gives Firemen Trouble

Gasoline-soaked earth in the swampy land opposite the Schuster Coal Co. dock gave city firemen a half-hour of strenuous work last night, when a blaze, ignited in a mysterious manner, threatened to spread over a large area. The fire was brought under control after offering stubborn resistance to the fire fighters, as it spread over tall grass and reeds.

The gasoline-soaked earth is a result of a leak in a gasoline company pipeline which was repaired last week.

Firemen dug four wells and retrieved nearly one thousand gallons of gasoline mixture which has been sent to refineries.

Negotiations are under way, it is understood, by the gasoline companies and the city which own the swampy marshlands to have it cleared and the menace of the gassoaked earth removed

Poultry Buyer And His Helper Unseen for Week

Toronto, June 26—(CP)—Ontario Poultry Buyers' Co-operative today offered $100 reward for information leading to the solution of the mystery of the disappearance of Morris Gershon, Toronto poultry buyer, and his helper, Murray Baker, unheard from for a week.

Gershon's truck was found near Oakville last week. Sunday co-operative members in 15 trucks, and Provincial Policemen and Toronto detectives sought the men in the district between Toronto and Orangeville.

"How to Win Men"

By CORONA REMINGTON

Almost on the verge of tears Claire Newton sat curled up in the one big comfortable chair in her bedroom. Her chin cupped in her hand, she reread the paragraph in "How to Win Men," chapter 21 page 226.

"Men like girls to do as they wish them to do, they like to feel that they are ruling things. Any girl who foolishly dares to have opinions contrary to her lover's—or to refuse to do things he wants to do and think the way he thinks is imperilling her popularity."

Well, she had always done as Dick Barton had wanted. She had gone to the movies when she had wanted to dance. She had eaten in a restaurant when she had preferred preparing a picnic supper and driving out to the country to eat it in some green pasture, beside a brook. She had done everything according to the directions given in "How to Win Men" and—she had failed.

Here was the last day of the second week slipping into eternity since Dick had not so much as called her—and she had liked him, more than he would admit even to herself. She loved his sunny manner, his tall, wiry slimness. She had thought that he liked her—a little perhaps. For weeks he had been so attentive calling her up nearly every day, taking her out, sending her flowers and candy; then suddenly it had all stopped. And last night when she was at a movie with her sister, didn't she run right into him with some girl hanging on his arm and looking up at him as only blue-eyed girls can look at men!

She brushed away the stinging tears with a gesture of impatience and flung the book she had been reading across the room.

"Darn you!" she said to the prostrate volume, to Dick, to the girl she had seen draped on his arm last night.

Then she got up, turned off the light and slid into bed.

The next morning there were dark circles beneath her big brown eyes that gave them a tragic expression and instead of the staccato little tap tappings her heels usually made as she hurried gaily along to work, she moved listlessly this morning without animation or joy.

"Miss Newton, what happened?" asked Mr. Dedron, her boss, pulling out his watch as she entered the office. "I've been waiting for you for twenty minutes."

"I—can't help it!" she was amazed to hear her voice say. "I know I'm awfully late and what can I do about it?"

Tears were standing in her eyes and her voice broke on the last words. It was just like old Dedron to come to the office on time the only morning she had been late in months.

"Let's take dictation first," he said more kindly a moment later, making a mental note to see that she didn't work overtime quite so much.

She had scarcely begun the first letter when the telephone at her elbow jangled in its important, persistent way. With a jerk she removed the receiver from its hook.

"That you, Claire?" Dick's voice asked.

"Yes," replied the girl, too taken back to think what manner she should use toward him after his cool neglect.

"Is Mr. Dedron there yet?"

"Yes."

"Hang! I'm sorry. Well, anyhow, let's go out to the beach tonight."

"Darned if I will!" said Claire with unmistakable vehemence as she slammed the receiver on its hook.

When she reached home late that afternoon she found Dick seated in his car waiting for her.

"Jump in, Claire," he called cheerfully, but she only flushed angrily and started up the stairs to the house. With a bound Dick had left the car and was at her side.

"Come on Madcap," he teased, gently but firmly leading her toward the car.

She knew if she attempted to argue with him she would begin to cry so she permitted him to help her into the car. Quickly jumping in beside her, Dick threw in the clutch and they sped away. For the first few miles he said nothing, then placing a hand over hers he slowed down and began to talk.

"You know Claire I always thought you were a cute kid and I was goofy about you, but you seemed sort of wishy-washy. Fact is I got tired of hanging around a girl who never had any opinions of her own; when you ripped out that 'Darned if I will' this morning, I could have hugged you. You have independence of your own after all."

"Dick, is that really—why you—quit?" she asked breathlessly.

"Sure. Why not?"

"Oh, oh, oh, and I thought—" she checked herself suddenly.

"Come on, what did you think?" he said coaxingly.

He stopped the car and took both her hands in his. "Thought I liked that sort of girl?"

Claire flushed and nodded.

"Thunderation, no! No man cares for a namby pamby. But, say, did you really want me to—like you?"

Without waiting for her answer he boldly took her in his arms. "You imp," he laughed—and kissed her.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 26.—(CP)—Prices were heavy from the opening on Toronto Exchange today. Trading thinned out to 185,000 shares in the first three hours.

Aunor swung between 2.62 and 2.71 holding in the area of Saturday's close and firmness ruled for Hollinger, Dome, Teck Hughes and other Senior Golds. East Malartic, MacLeod-Cockshutt, Kerr-Addison, Pamour, Pickle Crow and a few others moved downward.

International Nickel weakened a point and Hudson Bay and Smelters were off fractions. Calgary-Edmonton and Home Oil displayed losses of 2 to 4 points and other Western Oils were steady.

Utilities, Senior Oils, Liquors and Foods posted lower prices.

WALL ST.

New York, June 26 (AP)—Stocks were all but friendless in today's market and leaders fell back fractions to a point or so.

The retreat was accomplished on relatively small volume, however. Near the fourth hour prices in most cases were around the day's lows.

Securities in European centres were mixed. Bonds and commodities moved sluggishly over an uneven route.

Stocks inclined to give ground included U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U.S. Rubber, Westinghouse, Philip Morris, Montgomery Ward, Loft, Liquid Carbonic, Spicer Mfg., Public Service of N. J. and Eastman Kodak.

Rails were fairly resistant, with Santa Fe up a trifle at one time.

Among Canadian issues small gains were posted by McIntyre, Porcupine and Lake Shore. Down a trifle were C.P.R., Dome and International Nickel. Dominion 4s were steady.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 26 (CP)—Bacon hogs gained 26 cents for off-truck and 30 cents for dressed at Hull today. Prices were up 15 cents on both classes in Peterborough. Other reporting bacon hog markets were unchanged.

Liveweights: Brantford, $9; Hull, $9.25; Peterborough, $9.15.

Dressedweights: Stratford $11.70; Hull $11.65; Hamilton, $12.15; Barrie $12; Peterborough, $12.05.

1,500 Pounds of Silver Ore Stolen

O'Brien, Ont., June 26—(CP)—Thieves stole 1,500 pounds of high grade silver ore from the Millar Lake-O'Brien Silver Mine here Saturday and escaped with their loot, worth about $1,600.

They cut a hole in the shaft house door and opened the door then using blunt tools and a hammer, they removed the ore from the walls of the mine.

Police said residents saw a truck in the neighborhood recently and the police thought the loot probably was on a truck parked somewhere in the bush in the district. The O'Brien Mine is northwest of New Liskeard.

J. A. Richardson Dies Suddenly At Winnipeg

Winnipeg, June 26—(CP)—James A. Richardson, widely known grain dealer and Chancellor of Queens' University, died suddenly at his home here today.

His wife, formerly Muriel Sprague, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Mark Sprague of this city, survives, also two sons and two daughters.

Produce Unchanged

Toronto, June 26.—Local produce lines closed out the week with steady to firmer prices during Saturday's short session of the open market.

While trading slackened to a quiet pace, the butter market ended on a firm note as supplies were fairly well cleared at the week-end. Current receipts were said to be comparatively light for June, and dealers report that the production of Eastern Ontario appears to be running below a year ago with the make in Western Ontario about even or slightly ahead of last year. Ontario creamery solids sold at 22c for No. 1 grades and 21¼c for 38 score. No change occurred in prints to the retail trade. Buyers stepped up prices on churning cream to 22c for No. 1 grade on truck country points, and 25c for shipments delivered to Toronto.

The lighter volume of receipts were taken up at steady prices on the egg market. Demand was good, with Government inspected graded lots attracting much attention. Ordinary lots of graded eggs closed out the week at 20c for grade A-large, 18c for medium, 15½c for B's and 14½c for C grades. Government inspected lots traded at ½c to 1c per dozen higher.

Montreal, June 26.—An upturn movement marked butter, egg, cheese prices on open produce markets here last week, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21⅜c. Receipts: 38,115 boxes, including 1,107 export, compared with 26,268 a year ago.

Ontario white cheese sold for 13¼-⅜ cents a pound and colored for 13⅜c. Quebec white and colored were unquoted. Receipts: 35,244 boxes, including 2,011 export, compared with 42,176 a year ago.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 21½-22 cents a dozen for A-large, 18-19c for A-medium, 16-16½c for B-large and 14-14½c for C. Receipts: 8,181 cases, including 14 export, compared with 6,228 a year ago.

APPARENTLY DEAD, WOMAN LIVES FOR SEVEN DAYS

London, June 26—(CP)—A woman's restoration to life for seven days after her "death" under an anaesthetic at North Middlesex County Hospital has been described at the Edmonton inquest on Mrs. Dorothy Sarah Stannard, 36, Highgate.

Dr. R. A. Hudson said Mrs. Stannard was admitted suffering from Hemmorrhage and because of her nervous condition he decided to carry out an examination under anaesthetic. After the anaesthetic had been administered she collopsed, but by cardiac message the heart, which had stopped for some minutes, was restarted and breathing was restored.

The patient was taken back to the ward and appeared to improve but did not regain consciousness. Seven days later she collapsed suddenly and died.

bring Russia into the peace bloc.

Viscount Halifax, Foreign Secretary, hoped to send fresh instructions to the British negotiators in Moscow very soon, he said.

Chamberlain's Statement

After reference to the fresh indignities against British subjects in Tientsin, the Prime Minister declared:

"Lord Halifax has spoken in the strongest terms to the Japanese Ambassador and Sir Robert Craigie at Tokyo has made similar representations to the Minister of Foreign Affairs, with whom he is discussing the present situation in all its aspects.

"I have some reason to hope that this discussion may lead to a settlement of the Tientsin affair and therefore, while insisting that the treatment of British nationals by local Japanese soldiers to which I have referred must cease, I do not want to say anything which would prejudice prospects of a satisfactory issue with the Japanese government."

The Prime Minister's statement was made after the Foreign Affairs Committee of the cabinet had discussed both the Russian negotiations and the far eastern incidents. There is a growing belief that Great Britain and France will agree this week to accept the Russian terms for a military alliance linking the three countries and completing the European peace bloc.

Mr. Chamberlain was asked by Hugh Dalton, Labor, whether it was not clear that delays in the negotiations "were giving greatest satisfaction in Berlin and increasing the risk of new German aggression and a general war in Europe."

"That may be so and I hope it is in the minds of the Soviet government as well," Mr. Chamberlain replied.

BOMB THROWERS

Demand Release of Prisoners

Demands for release of I.R.A. members under arrest in connection with previous outbreaks were printed on banners carried by Irishmen in parades yesterday past the scene of the Saturday bombings. An anonymous speaker at Trafalgar Square shouted: "The bombs will not stop until English institutions and the English army are taken away from Ireland."

I.R.A. members have been blamed for more than 100 acts of disorder, including bombings, since February.

While plainclothes investigators spent Sunday examining blown-out Piccadilly store fronts, a few hundred yards away uniformed police gave protection to the Trafalgar Square demonstration on behalf of imprisoned I.R.A. members.

Bank Badly Damaged

The heaviest damage in the Saturday bombings was done to the Midland Bank in Park Lane. The entire front of the building was blown off.

Commenting on the blasts the Daily Mail (Independent) said Northern Ireland will never be relinquished as long as it wishes to remain British.

"British troops are only in Northern Ireland, just as there are British troops stationed in Kent or Hampshire or Sussex," the paper said.

"Yet men from Eire pass freely —as they have always done —into other parts of Britain, without a passport, and free to get jobs or the dole if they cannot get jobs. If they wish to avoid military service they have only to buy passage back to Eire again.

"John Bull has never played such a tolerant and benevolent role, while the name of Eire is being dragged through the mud. People in Britain look with consideration and even kindness upon the efforts of (Prime Minister Eamon) De Valera to endow his country with a sense of Dominion dignity.

Lowest Form of Outrage

"He leads what is now the enlightened majority of Eire. But men who confess themselves guilty of such outrages as Saturday's say that they alone wish to keep Ireland for the Irish. What they really mean is that they wish a section of the great island to be kept for a minority of its citizens who are willing to stoop to the lowest forms of political outrage."

The News Chronicle (Liberal) said: "A vigorous watch should be kept on all suspicious characters, and a strict search should be instituted for stores where explosives are kept. Not the least, an eye should be kept on the possibility that the Irish Republican army is merely a tool in a bigger game."

"We have not, after all, to battle against an enormous secret army of bomb throwers," said The Daily Sketch (Independent). "Notably they lack an inexhaustible field of recruiting. Every one of them put behind bars means one fewer to prosecute the wholly fantastic and impossible campaign."

FEAR YOUTHS DROWNED

Amherstburg, Ont., June 26—(CP)—Search continued today for two Italian youths, believed drowned in a lonely quarry lake near here last night. The 200-foot body of clear water has been dragged, so far unsuccessfully, for the bodies of Lorne Charles, 12, and Peter De-Luca, 14.

Unknown Man Rescued From Water After Hooking Large Fish

Falls in Unnoticed Off Gov't. Dock and is Saved by Jack Cook

The first real fish story of the season here almost had a tragic end on Sunday.

Fishing from the end of the government dock during the late afternoon an unidentified, middle-aged man caught a large carp whose weight, or the excitement of the catch caused the man to tumble in.

Other fishermen unaware of his plight angled while his muffled cries as he struggled in the water went unheard.

Mr. Jack Cooke, proprietor of Cooke's Key Service, sitting in his car nearby heard an indistinct shout and investigated. From the edge of the dock where he hung precariously he managed to get a grasp on the wrist of the sinking man and held him until members of the crew of the Steamer Glen Allan hauled him to safety.

Frontenac Cty. Reeve Thinks Bata Company Should Be Given Permit

"It is too bad that in this district of Kingston we have not an area of a thousand acres of land suitable for the Bata Shoe Company of Czecho-Slovakia, or we might have persuaded that firm to come to Frontenac County," reported Reeve W. R. Aylesworth of the county.

"This amount of land might be found in the north part of the county, but certainly not near Kingston. If the Dominion Government allows the 250 Czechs to enter Canada, I would not be surprised to see them locate near Trenton," commented the Reeve. The Reeve could se no reason why the government should not allow the men to enter, as they have the financial backing of a wealthy firm. Moreover they are skilled workers and good citizens of any country, and in his opinion all the wealth and better class of citizens possible should be allowed into Canada.

Sneak Thieves Active In Thurlow Township

Sneak thieves working under the cover of night have been active throughout Thurlow Township of a recent date, Provincial Police learned over the week-end.

During Saturday night burglars entered the barn of Mrs. Reg Scott, Foxboro, and stole 150 feet of rope from a hay fork and a three pronged fork.

Some time recently thieves entered the unoccupied home of Frank Garrison, fourth concession of Thurlow and completely ransacked the entire household. Missing were three guns, some silverware and other articles of household goods, Provincial Constable William McBrien ascertained upon investigation.

As Mr. Garrison has not been in good health lately, he closed his home and has been visiting relatives in Belleville. It was during his absence the house was entered. A complete check-up of the premises is being made today.

Blind Man Found Driving Car Declare Police

Peoria, Ill., June 26—(AP)—The police had one for the record book today—the apprehension of a blind man for driving an automobile.

Policemen Vern Roberson and Leo Mauschbaugh vouched for this story:

Harold Swords, 26, a blind man receiving a state blind pension, startled neighbors when they saw him driving a car near his home.

Roberson and Mauschbaugh, reported they found Swords driving an ancient jallopy down a quarter-mile stretch of little used gravel road running from his home to a brick yard.

"I feel my way along," he said. "I like to run down to the brick yards to chin with the boys."

The astonished policemen hustled him down to the station. He was released after he promised to drive no more.

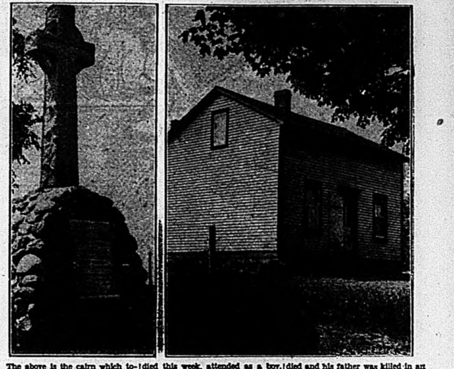
REMANDED ON BAIL

Toronto, June 26—(CP)— Fred Allay, arrested June 19 on a vagrancy charge, today was charged with the armed robbery of the Canadian Bank of Commerce branch at Queen Street and Rushbrooke Avenue, June 3. He was remanded to June 30 with bail fixed at $5,000.

WALT MASON'S CHURCH



The above is the cairn which today marks the village church. Walt Mason, U. S. poet-humorist who died this week, attended as a boy. He left for a future of fame and fortune no tlong after his mother died and his father was killed in an accident.

FAMED U.S. POET-HUMORIST WAS BORN IN ONTARIO

Almost the last wish of Walt Mason (LOWER LEFT) famed U.S. poet-humorist, was to return to the old home in Ontario where he was born. His father's house (UPPER) still stands near the place where the village of Empire Mills once flourished near the present village of Columbus. Recently the poet wrote from California to the postmistress of the hamlet for information about his boyhood friends. One to whom he started to correspond was Sampson Roberts (LOWER RIGHT) now 81. The poet who died last week, had sent him several of his works shortly after they were written.

POLICE COURT

Lucien Drum and Auriel Boudreau, two transients who stole a loaf of bread each from the premises of 231 Station Street, last Saturday morning, today were given three days' imprisonment, to date from the time of their arrest, after pleading guilty as charged when they appeared before Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., in today's city police court.

"You boys had better learn to leave things alone or you may find yourselves getting into serious difficulty", warned His Worship as he instructed the lads to leave the city, they having served their sentence while on remand over the week-end.

A non-support case, that saw the accused man remanded in custody until Friday when he refused to assure the court he would take care of his family, concluded the hearing.

Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K.C., was present and reminded His Worship that next Monday was a legal holiday, all cases having to be heard that day will be postponed until July 4th.

Police Blotter

Summer is undoubtedly in our midst, at least the Belleville police department has reasons to believe this as a fact, because last night marked the first night this year no transient appeared at the police station in search of a night's lodging. Only three put in an appearance on Saturday night.

Considerable damage resulted to the fenders of two motor cars during a collision on Foster Avenue, early Saturday evening, when a motor car driven by Chas. G. Ruttan, R.C.A.F., collided with a parked car owned by R. Cuarke, 52 Forin Street. Mr. Ruttan informed Traffic Officer Doug Ellis, on his investigation that the front wheel brake of his vehicle seized, causing his machine to swerve into the parked vehicle. No person was injured, however.

A local newspaper vendor complained to police early today that his bundle of newspapers, left by delivery, had been opened and some of the copies removed before his arrival to open his place of business.

The only arrest over the week end was the result of a non-support charge preferred against a husband.

Owners are Indignant As Flowers Trampled

Not satisfied with stealing flowers from private flower beds in East Belleville, sneak thieves and prowlers are said to be responsible for the trampling of citizens' flower beds and floral displays, much to the chagrin of the owners who have become quite indignant and requested police protection in the matter.

The wilful destruction of property will be charged any person found stealing flowers or plants from private dwellings, Chief Kidd stated today after complaints relative to this contemptible practice had been received by the police over the week-end.

Those to suffer the loss of flowers are not so much concerned regarding the actual theft of the flowers, but what makes the owners indignant and out of patience is the wilful trampling of flower beds by the marauders while in the act of stealing the flowers. Several citizens on Charles street have been victimised in this manner and in their anger assured police they intended to take drastic measures if the practice was not immediately discontinued.

"We work hard to plant our flower beds and assist in beautifying the city and we're not going to tolerate hoodlums destroying the same," pointedly warned one resident whose flower bed had been trampled over the week-end.

They're only bab ies, says Nadine St. John, shown above with Triley; big ones easiest to handle

Nadine St. John, charming and beautiful elephant trainer with the Cole Bros. Circus believes the big fellows to be the most intelligent of all dumb animals. Yet they are so big and cumbersome that they are really helpless she says.

From the Ural Mountains of Europe comes Miss St. John, the most youthful of all elephant trainers. All her life she has spent with the circus representing the third generation. Her father before her trained and educated more than 200 of the big fellows.

Here are some facts about elephant lore expounded by Miss St. John:

They eat about 125 pounds of hay every day, almost half a ton a week. What they love best is apples. Big elephants are much easier to work than small ones. The bigger they are the less nervous they are. But little fellows are always scared somebody may attack them.

Only females are used in circus acts. They are better natured and more adaptable.

They are very susceptible to colds and pneuomonia. Even the ladies tend to team in pairs of chums. They become very devoted to each other and are very jealous. In their prime at 30 years of age. They work until eighty, die at a hundred.

Circus people never call them elephants. Even lady elephants are called "bulls".

There are 20 elephants with the Cole Bros. Circus coming to Belleville, Thursday, June 29 for performances at 2 and 8 p.m., the doors will open at 1 and 7 p.m. An immense street parade will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a.m.

WARNS JAPS

Pictured in full dress uniform is Colonel Sir John Laurie, of the Gordon Highlanders, who is in command of British armed forces in Tientsin, China, now under blockade by Japanese troops. Sir John is reported to have warned Japanese authorities that if they persisted in stopping entrance of food supplies to the British concession, he would send a military expedition out to bring it in.

HEADS PARTY

General Herberta Jara is pictured taking his oath when he assumed the presidency of the Mexican National Revolutionary Party, the most powerful political organization in Mexico.

"The Bear Went over the Mountain . . . ."

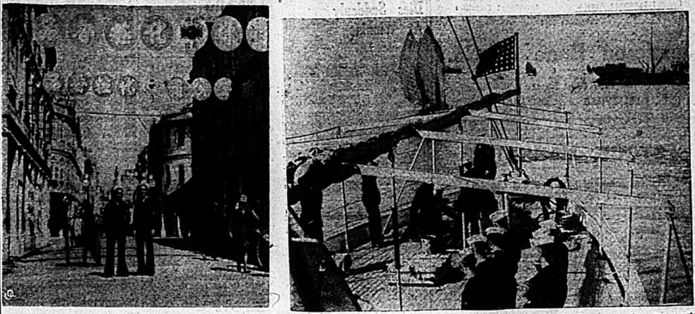
You remember why, don't you? Certainly. It was "to see what he could see."

And it's for just this same beautifully simple reason that thousands of knowing people run through the advertisements in their daily newspapers.

For, it seems, civilized men and women are seldom satisfied with their lot. In this ever-producing age they have an insatiable appetite for something new which may make life brighter. That something may be an electric razor, or new summer clothes . . . a good book, or a ride in a streamlined train.

So they turn the newspaper pages TO SEE WHAT THEY CAN SEE. There they're able to find what it is, why it is, where it is, and how much it is. And the advertisements say, "Come and get it!"

ENGLAND, U NITED STATES DEFY JAP ULTIMATUM IN SWATOW, LATEST TROUBLE SPOT IN ORIENT



Defying a Japanese ultimatum to remove their warships from Swatow harbor, Great Britain and the United States are rushing additional warships to the latest trouble spot in the turbulent Orient. Lord Halifax, British foreign minister, has issued a warning to Japan to cease "intolerable insults" to British residents. A street scene in the Chinese city, now occupied by Japs, is shown LEFT, with two sailors seeing the sights of one of China's foremost seaports. A general view of the Swatow harbor is shown, RIGHT, from the deck of the U.S.S. Isabel. At the present time Japanese soldiers are blockading the British and French concessions in Tientsin, and residents attempting to leave these settlements are being searched and stripped by Japanese sentries. At a meeting of French and British military officials in Singapore a plan was reported to have been made to pool the British and French forces in case of a conflict with the Japanese.

Three Million Dollars a Month Average Shipment from Mexico to United States

Mexico City, June 27—(AP)—Mexican businessmen expressed concern today over passage by the United States Senate of a bill which would stop foreign purchases of silver—one of Mexico's most important products.

Financial commentators here were hopeful, however, that final congressional action would not be taken. The newspaper Excelsior declared editorially that a halt in purchases would cut one of Mexico's chief sources of income and added:

"We must agree that this action is not at all friendly to our country; is in complete contrast with the ends of American policies during the last few years, which have attempted to bring the countries of this continent ever closer together; and that it will certainly provoke,

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen

Science Service Meteorologist

Sailing the ocean blue! The coming July like the present month of June will be favorable for crossing the Atlantic, that is, especially for those who like smooth seas. While the season for tropical hurricanes has commenced, it has not advanced far. These storms, however, when they do occur, and have moved in an altered form into northern waters, are mostly responsible for such gales as may occur which are seldom very heavy. Fogs are about as frequent as in June over the Grand Banks, and common from Newfoundland to the Virginia Capes, and somewhat frequent over the western half of the main Atlantic routes to Europe.

NEWS ODDITIES AND BRIEFS

A PLEASING SUBSTITUTE

Kitchener, Ont., June 27 (CP)—Gordon Schariach, Assistant City Clerk, tells about a man, somewhat hard of hearing, who applied for a marriage licence. Applicants are required to swear the information they give is correct. "Kiss the Bible," Schariach instructed the bridegroom. He looked surprised but willing and started to kiss the bride-to-be. She blushed. "Kiss the Bible not the bride," she shouted.

Major W. Gladstone Murray, General Manager of the CBC, accepted the award at annual dinner of the press women. Certificates were also awarded to other major broadcasting companies which relayed the program and to Dr. John S. Young who conceived the series.

Germans Must Be Sparing in Use Of Wood as of Metals and Foods

Berlin, June 27—(CP-Havas) — Germans will have to be as sparing in their use of wood as they already have to be in using metals and consuming fats and other foods, it was indicated here today.

Inaugurating the forestry congress of greater Germany last night, Field Marshal Hermann Goering said Germany itself provided only two-thirds of its lumber needs and would have to ration it out carefully while seeking further sources of supply.

Represented at the Congress are Great Britain, Italy, The Netherlands, Portugal, Sweden, Denmark, Bulgaria, Latvia and Hungary.

Wood, said Goering, has become, along with iron, steel and stone one of the most important raw materials. Prior to the last war Germany's colonies filled in the balance of its lumber needs but, now lacking those sources, the same rules would have to apply to lumber as to other essential raw materials, he said.

ONLY 2 CONTRACTS ARE MADE FOR 'AGREED CHARGES'

Hon. C. D. Howe Makes Statement to Railroad Association

RAIL CO-OPERATION

'Doing Everything to Reduce Operating Expenses' of Railways in Canada

Toronto, June 27—(CP)— Only two contracts for "agreed charges" authorized by act of parliament in 1938, have been made by Canadian railways, Hon. C. D. Howe, Minister of Transport, said today in addressing the accounting division of the Association of American Railroads here.

These two contracts cover large areas and important commodities however and the Minister felt confident agreed charges would become important to the railways in meeting competition on water and highways.

(Agreed charges are special rates agreed on on behalf of a railway and particular shipper covering the movement of specified commodities or volume of freight.)

Railway Co-operation

Mr. Howe said Canada had excellent co-operation between the Canadian Pacific and Canadian National Railways, though it is a matter for argument whether the 1931 legislation for compulsory co-operation that prevailed before the legislation.

Hundreds of United States railway accounting executives are attending the convention. For their benefit, Mr. Howe sketched Canada's railway problems and outlined the history of the Canadian National Railways.

Truck, Trailer Plunge Down 30-Foot Bank

Toronto, June 27 (CP)—A 10-ton truck and trailer plunged down a 30-foot embankment after a head-on collision with an automobile on the Kingston Highway near the Rouge River bridge last night. No one was seriously hurt.

Emile Lacombe, 26, Gananoque, the truck driver, escaped with minor abdominal injuries. The motorist, Jacques Leal, Park Plaza Hotel, Toronto, was unhurt, police said. His car was driven back 37 feet by the impact.

The truck, hauling a trailer loaded with nails and other metal products, remained upright, its nose buried deep in the ditch. The front wheels of the truck were ripped clear of the chassis.

BOY FOUND ASLEEP IN A BOX CAR

Hamilton, June 27 (CP)—A 15-year-old boy who escaped from a Juvenile Court detention officer last Wednesday while awaiting trial for delinquency arising out of arson and shopbreaking charges was apprehended last night by Detective Howard Moreau. He was asleep in a box car on a north end siding.

The boy was arrested with two older companions several weeks ago after investigation of the alleged attempt to burn a shed of the United Steel and Metal Company.

Firemen saved the building and three trucks although several hundred dollars' damage was done. While he was waiting trial, the boy accompanied an officer to a health clinic and made a dash for freedom.

British Plane Output Exceeds Germany's; Airdromes in Ground

By DEVON FRANCIS

Associated Press Aviation Editor

London, June 27—(AP)— Great Britain's monthly warplane production against the possibility of a European conflict has surpassed Germany's output and aircraft now are being stored in underground warehouses, a confidential source close to the Air Ministry said today.

The actual number of planes rolling off assembly lines had been expected to exceed production in Germany in late May or early June. That point was said to have been reached in fact last April.

$10,000,000 Weekly on Planes

What the turnout of planes is remains undisclosed but Britain is spending $10,000,000 a week on production. Germany's rate has been estimated as high as 12,000 warplanes yearly, but neutral observers are inclined to believe the figure should be 8,000 or 9,000.

It cannot be said that Britain's "first line" warplane strength — warplanes now on hand—is equal to Germany's. But factory production in Britain, plus accelerated manufacture in France, would indicate a state of preparedness by the two nations which goes beyond the impression conveyed in daily reports.

The necessity for military secrecy has kept in the dark details on the location and production of factories.

British officials have taken precautions to guard against the vulnerability of aircraft factories in air raids as extensive as the geographical limitatioss of these isles will allow.

Airdromes Pop Out of Ground

Airdromes pop out of the ground here and there in England. Almost daily new fields are cleared for tactical basing of air force units. Because the sullen English weather grows abundant grass, fields with quick drainage but without hard runways are in general use.

HON. R. J. MANION SEEKS A SEAT IN FORT WILLIAM

Declares Co-operation Between Provinces Only Obtained by Returning Conservative Gov't.

YOUTH TRAINING

Kakabeka Falls, Ont., June 27—(CP)—Co-operation between Dominion and Provincial governments can only be restored by the return of a Conservative administration to power at Ottawa in the opinion of Conservative Leader R. J. Manion whose hat is in the ring today for the Conservative nomination in Fort William.

Dr. Manion returned eastward today after announcing yesterday his name would go before the party convention for the seat which returned him to the House of Commons in 1917, 1921, 1925, 1926 and 1930 but defeated him in 1935.

"You must have co-operation with the provincial governments if you are to solve the economic problems of Canada," he said, "and you can't get it from (Prime Minister) Mackenzie King. Why Mr. King can't get the co-operation of the government of Ontario nor the government of Quebec because they do not agree with his do-nothing policies.

Will Work For Him is Claim

"I say here tonight that I can get co-operation from both those governments. They will work with me."

The Conservative leader wound up a visit to his home constituency with two speeches last night, one broadcast from Fort William and the other at a public meeting in this rural centre.

JAP PLANES OVER MONGOL BORDER

Tokyo, June 27—(AP)—Japanese warplanes were reported officially today to have crossed into Russian-dominated Outer Mongolia and raided an air base in a continuation of border fighting.

It was the first instance in which Japanese were known to have crossed the boundary, invading either Mongol or Siberian territory.

A Japanese army communique, sent from Hsinking, Manchoukuo, by Domei (Japanese news agency) told of the clash. It said 98 and "possibly 104" Mongol planes were destroyed in a Japanese raid on Tamsk (Tamsksumu), 62 miles south of Lake Bor on the Man-

J. A. RICHARDSON DIES SUDDENLY IN WINNIPEG

Suffers Heart Attack in His Home After Trip from East

WELL-KNOWN HERE

Winnipeg, June 27 (CP)—James A. Richardson, widely known grain dealer and Chancellor of Queens' University, died suddenly at his home here Monday.

Just Returned Home

Mr. Richardson who just returned from a trip to the East, was stricken with a heart attack Monday morning and died a few minutes later. He previously had been in good health.

After he arose in the morning, Mr. Richardson suffered an attack and collapsed. He was revived but suffered another attack from which he failed to recover.

Mr. Richardson, 53, was one of the leading figures in the Western grain trade and also held a prominent place in the field of education. His birthplace was Kingston, Ont., where he received his education.

Head of Grain Company

Besides heading a huge grain exporting business, he was a director of the Canadian Pacific Railway, the Canadian Bank of Commerce and was a member of the Canadian committee, Hudson's Bay Company. He also held directorships on numerous other firms.

His great business activity apparently took toll of a rugged physique. He was not feeling well when he stepped from the train Sunday morning on his way home from the East but spent more than half an hour talking to persons in the station.

Married Belleville Girl

He is survived by two sons and two daughters and his widow, formerly Muriel Sprague, daughter of Mark Sprague of Belleville, Ont. Mr. Richardson was married in Belleville in 1919.

Bought Radio Stations

Mr. Richardson joined the firm after his graduation from Queen's University at Kingston, Ont., in 1906. He was placed in charge of the Toronto office the following year and remained there five years until he came to Western Canada as vice-president of western branches. He had lived in Winnipeg since 1912.

He succeeded Senator H. W. Richardson as president and his keen business intellect skilfully guided the firm to the forefront

MOTORCYCLIST INJURED

Peterborough, Ont., June 27—(CP)—Douglas Ford, 19, Peterborough, suffered injuries last night when the motorcycle he was riding collided with a truck driven by John Kitney of Otonabee Township. At first Ford did not seem to be badly hurt and started for home riding on the rear of a companion's motorcycle but the pain grew so bad that he was taken to the hospital and found to be suffering from a ruptured abdominal wall and internal injur-

GREAT BRITAIN MAY DEMAND STAMP ON SALMON

President Stanley of Board of Trade Tells Commons of Possible Measure

8 MILLION SHIPMENT

Labor M.P. Holds up Label Off Tin of Japanese Salmon

London, June 27—(CP Cable) — Oliver Stanley, President of the Board of Trade, announced in the House of Commons today that the government is considering making it obligatory for the country of origin to be stamped on every tin of salmon sold in the United Kingdom.

No decision has been reached as to whether the government should stop distribution of a shipment of 680,000 cases of Japanese canned salmon valued at $8,000,000 which was recently landed in this country in bond and which raised a storm of protest because of anti-British incidents in the Far East.

Label is Held up

Holding up a label off a can of Japanese salmon, Thomas Johnston, Labor, said it was absolutely impossible for the British housewife to know the country of origin.

Mr. Stanley agreed and said British law contained no provision making it necessary for Japanese goods to be designated as such but that the government was considering amending the law.

Replying to further questions, Mr. Stanley said he was not aware of any protests from the Canadian government over the big salmon deal.

Pony Grazes Woman With Teeth, Owner is Held Not Responsible

New York, June 27 (CP)—The principle that a pony as well as a dog is entitled to a first bite at a human being is firmly established in British law today, relates a London cable to the New York Herald Tribune.

This addition to the realm of jurisprudence was contributed in King's Bench Division yesterday by Mr. Justice Humphreys in setting aside a jury's award of £300 (approximately $1,410) to Miss Ethel Adlham of Kensington, who sued United Dairies Limited for injury suffered when an unattended milk-wagon pony knocked her down and grazed her with its teeth.

The Humphrey's edict was: "The law in this country is that the owner of a domestic animal is not responsible for damage to a person unless he has knowledge of some propensity on the part of the animal to behave in this way."

In other words, all that matters is that the animal have an unblemished past.

Artificial Radioactive Substances Reveal Activities of Cancer Cells

By RENNIE TAYLOR

Associated Press Staff Writer

Palo Alto, Calif., June 27—(AP)—Man-made radioactive substances have betrayed some of the heretofore secret workings of cancer cells.

The discovery that one type of malignant growth uses phosphorus more rapidly than another and therefore probably grows somewhat faster was reported today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science by Dr. Lawrence, University of California research expert.

Since cancer does its damage by its wild, uncontrolled growth, the discovery may give medical science a new angle from which to attack the disease.

A scientific trick akin to using marked money in trapping thieves enabled Dr. Lawrence and his associates to learn the secret.

With an ordinary substance containing phosphorus they mixed another portion of the element which had been made radioactive by the cyclotron, atom-smashing machine developed at the university by Dr. Ernest O. Lawrence, brother of the medical experimenter.

They injected the mixture into cancerous mice. Since radioactive phosphorus gives off electrical particles which can be detected and measured as to quantity with delicate instruments, they were able to determine how much of the mixture was taken up by the cancer cells in their growth process.

Lymphosarcoma, one of the cancer forms, used phosphorus much faster than did the other type, lymphoma.

Dr. Lawrence said the experiments were being extended to other forms of tumor and were leading to "new knowledge concerning the metabolism of cancer cells."

Dr. Robert Newell, Stanford University radiologist, expressed the belief that further increases in power for X-ray tubes would add little to the effectiveness of the rays in treating cancer.

The most powerful tubes designed for therapy now produce rays up to about 1,000,000 volts in strength.

Poland Reported to Have Closed Road Today in Order to Build Tank Obstructions and Other Military Works

Warsaw, June 27—(CP-Havas)—Several Polish newspapers today said Chancellor Hitler ordered suspension of plans for "peaceful" incorporation of the Free City of Danzig in the Reich this month because the reaction abroad and in Poland indicated it could not be done without provoking a conflict.

Gazeta Podska (government party organ) said there is no Danzig question, but only the question of German hegemony over Europe, and that the compromise between Germany and Poland over Danzig

SLASHES WRISTS AND WALKS OUT

Man's Trail Sought by Police—Hospitals Keep Lookout for Man

Toronto, June 27 (CP)—A man who slashed his wrists with a razor blade in a Kingston Road hamburger store and then walked out accompanied by a woman companion, is being sought by police today.

Officers followed a trail of blood to the office of Dr. Gilbert F. R. Richardson, Scarboro, where it stopped. The physician said he had been awakened by the ringing of his bell early today, but when he arrived at the door he found no one there. Police believe the couple may have obtained a lift from a passing motorist. Hospitals were notified to keep a lookout for the man.

At 3.30 a.m. a man about 21 and a woman walked into the hamburger shop, Bob Smith, 19, of Main street, who was in charge of the store, told police.

"They asked me for coffee," he related. "The man then asked me to turn on the electric phonograph. He persuaded me to play the Beer Barrel Polka. The record was playing for the third time when the man slumped over the counter. The woman said: 'I guess he can't take it'.

"She asked me to get him a drink of water. While I was at the back of the store getting the water, she came running in and told me that he must have cut himself, because he as bleeding. I brought a towel and when I looked at him, I could see he was bleeding from both wrists. We took him to the back and the flow of blood was stemmed. The couple went to the front of the store and while I was cleaning up the blood at the rear, they disappeared."

"Hyah Kids!"

Here he is, kids! Art Mix, galloping caballero of the wild and woolly West, the movie lots and now with Cole Brothers' Circus playing here Thursday.

Through special arrangement with this newspaper, in all his colorful Western paraphernalia he will be in front of the office of The Ontario Intelligencer at a few minutes after ten o'clock Thursday to meet and shake hands with the boys and girls of Belleville. So if you want to meet a real Western movie star in person, be at the appointed place on time for he won't be able to stay only a few minutes.

Art has his congress of rough-riders, cowboys and cowgirls with him at the circus where they furnish a dazzling display of riding, roping and shooting.

A wire received today from the cowboy motion picture star states that he will be here positively at 10 a.m. Thursday. "Round up the Belleville boys and gals. I sure want to meet up with them," he wires.

"WINGS" PINNED ON BREASTS OF R.C.A.F. PILOTS

Thirty-Three New Pilot-Officers Decorated by Group-Captain A. L. Cuffe, Toronto

MUSTER PARADE

Trenton, Ont., June 27—(Special)—Gleaming wings, insignia of full-fledged pilots, were pinned on the breasts of thirty-three pilot-officers of the Royal Canadian Air Force at the station near here today.

The presentations, made by group-captain A. L. Cuffe, Toronto, were given in full view of six hundred of the R.C.A.F. personnel drawn up in a hollow square on the parade-ground. Twenty aircraft of the station, were likewise formed in a hollow square adding dignity and atmosphere to the occasion.

Three of the pilot-officers to receive their "wings" today were members of the 110th non-permanent squadron of Toronto, which trained here, while the remainder were members of the permanent force stationed here.

The DeHaviland Trophy emblematic of the first place in forced-landing efficiency was awarded to Pilot-Officer Charles Willis, Sherbrooke, Que., by Group-Captain Cuffe.

STRAWBERRY PRESERVE BOILS OVER ON STOVE

Smoke with a strawberry flavor whetted appetites of city firemen this morning when they were called to a Harriett street residence where a large pot filled with strawberry jam in the making overflowed, filling the home with as one fireman puts it, "strawberry incense". No damage was done and the boys in blue returned to their station surrounded by an odor that was anything but objectionable.

CANNING OF PEAS STARTS AT BLOOMFIELD

Whirling machinery in canning factories of the district today denoted the start of pea-preserving operations. The Baxter plant in Bloomfield started their seasonal pack this morning while other factories are expected to follow suit within the next few days.

Prospects for a good pack are bright, a prominent canning factory official stated today. While early peas are not as heavy a crop as was first intimated, later varieties have benefited greatly by recent rains and a good seasonal pack is anticipated.

LAUNCH OWNERS MUST SLOW DOWN IN HARBOR

Boat owners are again reminded in the first season's warning by Harbormaster Jos. Waddell that half-speed regulations must be observed by owners of the craft entering or leaving the upper harbor. Numerous complaints have been registered by some owners against others of the excessive speed and annoying wash left in the wake of the faster boats.

MANY NEW COTTAGES UNDER CONSTRUCTION AT PAUDASH LAKE

New summer cottage construction on lakes through the northern section of the county this year has reached the highest peak in some time, it is reported by resort owners. This season about twelve new cottages are planned or under construction at Paudash Lake in the vicinity of Bancroft.

LUMBER COMPANY AT BUSY SEASON

Hubbell Lumber Company of North Hastings is now experiencing one of its busiest periods of the year. Ten trucks at present are drawing logs twenty-four hours a day to the mill near Bancroft and about one hundred and seventy-five men are employed by the company.

WEEDS FOUL HARBOR

Harbor officials are already surveying the first heavy crop of weeds in the upper harbor, a crop which this year appears to have grown much earlier than in past seasons. Boat owners have been busy cutting channels in the matted growth and removing the tangled fronds from fouled propellors.

SEVERAL APPLICATIONS MADE TO PAINT FLAG POLE OF CITY HALL

Budding steeplejacks are numerous in Belleville it has been discovered by Herb. Collins now engaged on one of the city's loftiest jobs, the painting of the city hall. Applications by several of unemployed painters for the job of painting the fragile flag pole at the peak of the tower have been turned down by Mr. Collins and Son.

"We'll paint it ourselves," he stated this morning. "Probably on some calm day."

Today much of the work on the lofty spire of the building had been completed by a man swinging in mid-air from a 'bosun's chair', and considerable improvement in the appearance of the hall is already evident.

ROTARIANS ENJOY 'COUNTRY SUPPER' AT VICTORIA CH.

Jack Deacon and Jack Green Feature Musical Program With Ronnie Moorman

LADIES PRESENT

Instituting a novel departure from the regular weekly program of luncheon and addresses, members of the Belleville Rotary Club sought the fresh air of the rural district last night when accompanied by the 'Rotary Anns' they journed to Victoria United Church to partake of a delicious "country supper."

About seventy-five Rotarians and their wives and guests sat down to dinner after being entertained by the skirling pipes of Piper Jamie Clark, who, clad in full Highland costume, drew the well-merited applause of the gathering with a fine performance.

The gathering was strictly informal with the program being of a musical nature. Jack Green, Belleville's sterling cornet virtuoso, who brought honors to himself and Belleville on Saturday when he won a senior championship at the Waterloo Musical Festival, delighted the gathering with well-rendered solos, later teaming with youthful Ronnie Moorman in a series of duets.

Jack Deacon's fine voice was heard to good advantage in two solos, with the ever dependable Leo Riggs again asserting his mastery of the piano with delightfully rendered selections.

President MacLean Haig was in the chair during the early part of the program, being relieved by Rotarian Percy McGuire when forced to leave to attend the City Council meeting. Appreciation of the club, ladies and guests, for the delightful dinner was expressed by Rotarian E. Bernstein.

Bicycle Strikes Bus Girl Thrown to Road

Twelve-year-old Margaret Stebbings, 97 College St., sustained minor injuries and was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital after falling off her bicycle on Front St. last evening. The girl sustained abrasions and was suffering from internal injuries and shock, Dr. R. Bird, physician in attendance, stated following an examination at the hospital.

The Stebbings girl was riding her bicycle on Front St. when she collided with the rear of the city bus, which stopped in order to permit passengers to alight. When the bicycle struck the bus the force of the impact hurled the girl to the pavement. Following behind was Eddie Turner, 77 Cedar Street., who was riding his motorcycle. Turner braked his machine and as it swerved in avoiding the girl, the machine toppled over on top of the prostrate lass, adding to her injuries. The girl was rolled some distance by the heavier machine.

Miss Stebbings was removed to the hospital in Martin's ambulance.

Bay of Quinte Cup Championship Played at Picton

The district golf season will officially open throughout the Bay of Quinte district on Wednesday, two outstanding golf events being scheduled.

At Picton the annual Bay of Quinte cup championship will be played with teams from Napanee, Trenton, Belleville Golf Club and Picton competing. Nine players compose a competing team in this championship cup match, the Belleville Golf Club team being composed of Tommy Carruthers, captain, Harry Ridley, Joe Legault, Jack Marsh, Ted Hughes, R. Synden, Don Kelly, Wally Waldorf and Sam Hibbard.

At the Bay of Quinte Country Club tomorrow the annual Jewellers' Cup tournament will be played. This trophy is competed for annually by the members of the Country Club and was won last year by S. R. (Sandy) Burrows.

Today the ladies of the Country Club are entertaining the lady golfers from other district clubs including Trenton, Napanee, Picton and the Belleville Golf Club.

Bad Luck Dogs Bonarlaw Resident, Loses $110

A resident of Bonarlaw has discovered that when Fate sets out to be unkind it is possible to go a long way in the direction of ill luck. For some time he had been facing some pressing bills and Saturday he decided to get them out of the way by borrowing enough money to meet his obligations. Accordingly he made a trip to Peterborough, negotiated a loan from a finance company and started for home feeling a sense of relief that his financial jam had been to some extent alleviated.

He stopped at a garage at Downey's Corners and paid a bill he owed there and at that time he had the borrowed money intact, placing it, as he thought, in the watch pocket of his trousers. A little later when he reached Indian River he found that he had lost eleven ten dollar bills.

The loss was reported to Provincial Constable David Sylvester, but so far the missing money has not been recovered.

100 City and 25 Rural Candidates Will Write at Belleville

Entrance examinations open tomorrow (Wednesday) in Belleville Collegiate Institute. There will be 100 candidates writing from the city and 25 from the rural schools. Inspector H. J. Clarke will be the chief presiding officer for both the city and county centres. He will be assisted by Sister M. Leonard, Miss Merry and Mr. Edgar Bateman.

There are only four papers this year, literature, arithmetic, composition and spelling. Writing will be judged on one of the four papers.

This year 170 candidates from the Public and Separate Schools of Belleville for the high schools and collegiate institutes were passed on recommendation and are not required to write. From the rural schools there were 108 candidates passed on recommendation.

Principal P. C. MacLaurin will be presiding at Toronto at the Entrance exams.

STRAWBERRIES IN ABUNDANCE GREET MARKETERS TODAY

New Potatoes, Peas, Feature Good Early-Week Offering

PRICES FAIR

Strawberries again flooded the city market today in one of the heaviest early-week offerings of produce of the season. Quality of the berries was exceptionally good with large juicy specimens from Sidney and Prince Edward County attracting buyers.

Prices however were steady with vendors offering their stocks at three boxes for twenty-five cents. Wholesalers quoted canning factory prices of five cents the box but business was dull in this line. Buying was sluggish during the early hours but picked up near noon, when a few vendors dropped their quotations to four boxes for twenty-five cents.

New potatoes made their market debut today with a Crofton farmer offering good quality "spuds" at two berry boxes for twenty-five cents. Last year's stocks were available in fairly heavy quantities with prices remaining firm at $1.25 and $1.35 per ninety pound bag.

New peas were offered at twenty-cents the pints and thirty-five cents the quart. Stocks were plentiful and those who like their peas in the pod could get them for thirty-five cents per ten-quart basket.

Eggs were quoted at twenty-two cents per dozen for "selects" while fresh whitefish and trout selling at eighteen and twenty cents the pound attracted a good business. New vegetables were plentiful selling at week-end prices, with the exception of the rapidly disappearing asparagus that held firm at twenty cents per pound bunch.

OBITUARY

WILLIAM FRANCIS HANNA

Stirling, June 27 (Special)—Following an illness of about four weeks duration, the death occurred at his home on the Frankford Road, Stirling, on Thursday, June 22, of William Francis Hanna, a pioneer resident of Sidney Township at the advanced age of eighty-six years.

Deceased was born on the Eighth Concession of Sidney Township near River Valley, son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Jerad Hanna, pioneers of the district. After his marriage to Miss Sarah Anderson 62 years ago he continued to reside at River Valley following the vocation of farming until about twenty years ago when they moved to Stirling.

He was a faithful member of St. Paul's United Church and fraternally associated with the Stirling Lodge No. 239 I.O.O.F. under whose auspices the funeral was conducted. Possessed of many fine qualities Mr. Hanna found friends wherever he went, was a courteous neighbor always giving of his best to anyone in sorrow or needing assistance in any way. Floral tributes numerous and beautiful portrayed the high esteem in which he was held by those about him.

The funeral service was held at his late residence on the Frankford road on Saturday, June 24 and was largely attended. Service was conducted by Rev. W. J. Scott of St. Paul's United Church and interment was made in Stirling Cemetery.

Surviving besides his sorrowing widow are three sons, Jerad Hanna, Corbyville, Bert Hanna, Stockdale, and David Hanna, Bonarlaw. There are also three grandchildren and seven great grandchildren, a sister, Mrs. Samantha Dix predeceased him less than a year ago.

Pall bearers, all brethren of the Stirling Oddfellows' Lodge were the Messrs. Wm. Anderson, Geo. Megginson, Percy Utman, Arthur Andrews, Fred Kent.

DR. GEORGE H. WILSON

Dr. George H. Wilson, formerly of Stirling passed away at his home in Union, Michigan, on Saturday, June 17th in his seventy-fifth year. He was born here in 1864 being the son of the late George and Ellen Wilson. In 1888 he married Miss Mary Girdwood and moved to Chicago, Ill., about forty-three years ago. He retired from practice nine years ago and has since made his home in Union, Michigan.

During his residence in Stirling Dr. Wilson was prominent in musical circles being a member of the Stirling Band and also active in athletics. He was well known and highly esteemed and his passing has brought genuine feeling of regret to a large circle of friends who along with the entire community extend sympathy to the bereaved family. Silent tribute of the esteem in which he was held was manifest in many lovely floral designs.

Funeral service was held at his late residence on Tuesday, June 20th and was conducted by Rev. Meeden, left to mourn besides his widow are two daughters Mrs. Lloyd J. Cleveland of Union, Mich., (Leila) Mrs. Andrew Larsen of Maywood (Evelyn). Two grandsons Kenneth and George Cleveland, two granddaughters Leila and Mary Margaret Larson and one sister, Mrs. Walter Sine of Stirling. One brother John C. Wilson, and two sisters, Mrs. Jennie McKee and Mrs. Ida Denike of Stirling predeceased him.

MRS. ANN HOLLIDAY

(Sidney Township)

After an illness of two years' duration Mrs. Holliday passed away at her residence on the Marshall Road in Sidney Township this Thursday morning.

The deceased was born 87 years ago on Wolfe Island, her parents being the late Mr. and Mrs. David Barnhardt. For some time she resided in St. Catharines and for the past twenty-five years she made her home in this vicinity, being well respected by those who knew her. In religion she was a member of Holloway Street United Church.

Surviving her is one brother-in-law, Mr. James Halliday.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

Police Blotter

Traffic violations are increasing at an alarming rate in Belleville city police revealed today. Of a recent date police have apprehended motorists for failing to stop at designated "stop streets", speeding, driving without first having obtained a driver's licence, and of course, the violation of the city's one hour parking restriction in the downtown area. Several summonses have already been issued this week to motorists found delinquent in one or the other of the above offences, Chief Kidd announced today in warning to the motoring public.

No longer is it possible to fly the national flag at Belleville's tourist camp. The reason is quite simple—some person stole the rope off the flag pole, the caretaker complained to police authorities today.

Oshawa police reported the theft of a 1927 model Essex coach last night.

Three local young men were detained at the police station for investigation last night, following the theft of scrap metal from A. Safe, Station Street. Today the trio appeared before H. B. Wilson, Justice of the Peace, charged with theft and were remanded in custody until Friday. The names of the three men were given as Thomas Graves, Herman Lucas and Samuel Way, all of Belleville.

County Court

Archie Crossen, Marmora, was sentenced to serve two months in the common jail after being convicted of selling liquor. Crossen appeared before Magistrate J. L. Lloyd in County Police Court held at Marmora yesterday following a raid on his home, conducted by Provincial Police last week. At the time of the raid 85 pints of ale and some whisky and gin were confiscated and yesterday presented as evidence against the accused. The charge was laid under the Liquor Control Act.

A second charge of reckless driving against Crossen was dismissed by his worship. The latter charge arose out of an accident which occurred when Crossen's car struck a pedestrian near Marmora recently. Mr. T. J. Carley, Peterborough barrister representing the accused, held that the man struck had not taken sufficient precaution and was walking too close to the travelled portion of the highway. His holdings were upheld by the court.

Two Marmora youths, Donald Ash and James Strachan, were fined one dollar and costs after being convicted of disturbing the peace. Constable Gray of Marmora stated the pair were singing and shouting in a Marmora restaurant late at night.

Court was also held at Madoc at the conclusion of the Marmora proceedings, but only minor matters were heard in the latter sittings. County Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan, K.C., conducted the prosecution in both courts.

YANKEE CLIPPER TAKES OFF AFTER LONG DELAY

Shediac, N.B., June 27 (CP) — Delayed here since Saturday afternoon by weather conditions farther along the route, the Pan-American Yankee Clipper soared from Shediac Bay at 12.55 p.m., E.D.T. and headed for Botwood, Nfld., the next stop on the inaugural mail flight over the northern Atlantic great circle course to Europe.

E. RUPERT WILL PLAY VIBRA HARP IN TORONTO, PARIS

The many friends of Mr. Ed. Rupert will be interested to learn that he has accepted an invitation to play his electric vibra-harp at special services to be conducted by Mr. Thomas Miller, Scots Evangelist and Bible Expositor, in Toronto, Paris and London, Ont. Mr. Rupert left Belleville today to join Mr. Miller in Toronto. The Belleville musician will take part in radio programs in Toronto and London. Several days will be spent at the Braeside Pentecostal Camp near Paris, said to be one of the largest of its kind on the continent. Mr. Rupert expects to return to Belleville the latter part of July.

Member for Halton Thinks Bata Company Fair to Employees

Has Record of High Wages and Fair Treatment for Its Employees

Returning this week from Ottawa where he spent several days to support the application of the Bata, Shoe Company of Czecho-Slovakia for admission to Canada of its key men to establish an industry in Ontario, Hughes Cleaver, M.P., for Halton, reported progress has been made in this matter, according to a report of the Burlington correspondent of the Hamilton Spectator.

In the course of an interview with the Spectator's reporter, Mr. Hughes Cleaver declared:

"The question of the admission of the Bata company to Canada has in some instances been misrepresented to the Canadian public. This firm is already selling over 350,000 pairs of shoes in Canada annually and is also selling 900,000 pairs of shoes each year to the British Indies Newfoundland and other Empire countries. On account of the present disturbed conditions in Europe, the company intends to erect a large plant somewhere, to supply its Canadian and British Empire trade.

"The company manufactures a low-priced serviceable shoe retailing at $2.50 and less and does not enter the moderate-priced and high-priced field. It does not anticipate any immediate expansion of its Canadian trade. By this company coming to Canada it does not necessarily follow that existing Canadian shoe firms will lose business, but it does mean that the existing Bata customers in Canada and in British Empire countries will be served from the Canadian plant and Canadian workers will be employed. While the opposition to the company coming to Canada is ostensibly coming from a boot and shoe union in Boston, Mass., I am informed that this is only a front and that the actual opposition is coming from other quarters.

"The Bata company in other countries, where it is now operating has a record of high wages and fair treatment for its employees, including very attractive housing conditions and cooperative selling supplies. Under proper safeguards to Canadian business, which have been announced by the Prime Minister, the coming of this firm to Canada should be highly beneficial to the shoe trade and to the Canadian public. Already other industries in Canada, such as the Dominions' Foundries & Steel, Hamilton, have made provision for insurance, continuity of employment and profit-sharing schemes for its employees. Every additional industry showing a likewise proper attitude toward labour is highly beneficial and should be encouraged," the federal member concluded.

Mission Band Rally Held In Stirling

Stirling.—Held for the first time in Stirling the Annual Rally of Mission Bands for the Kingston Presbytery of the Presbyterian Church of Canada brought representative candidates and delegates both old and young from Mission bands in Deseronto, Belleville, Madoc, Trenton, Burnbrae, Fuller, Roslin and West Huntingdon with messages of regrets received from Gananoque. The Church parlours at St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church were filled to the doors with the happy active children who enjoyed the entire afternoon. Mrs. W. H. V. Walker presided over the meeting which opened with a devotional period including the singing of hymns, presentation of the Scripture lesson by Jean Thompson of West Huntingdon and prayer by Mrs. Harper Rollins, Stirling. In response to the roll call each group collectively recited one of the psalms or portion of Scripture led by the supervisor in the following order—Stirling Psalm 100 Mrs. H. Rollins; Burnbrae Psalm 67; Mrs. McMillen; Belleville; Matt 28: 16-20; Mrs. Weir; Roslin John 3 16-17 Miss MacDonald; West Huntingdon Matt 16 24-26; Deseronto Matt 9 35-38 Miss Douglas.

Interesting Program

The first musical number on the fine program was a chorus by the Stirling group. Betty Foote of Roslin gave a recitation "Her Mite Box; An excellent vocal duet was given by Billie and Margaret Walker of Belleville; followed by two fine readings given by Joan Babcock, Deseronto, and Margaret McCoy of Madoc; both numbers exceptionally well rendered; The next musical contribution was a chorus by the West Huntingdon group.

Mrs. MacMillen of Burnbrae, gave a fine reading and a dialogue featuring Doris Jandrew and Shirley Montgomery was most interesting. Helena Purvis and Helen Whitlow of duet and the next recitation was given by Sammy Cross of Roslin; next was a vocal chorus by the Belleville group. Other numbers included a vocal duet by Patsy and Barbara Nichol of Madoc, and the presentation of a fine story, by Miss Lorna Wright of West Huntingdon. The speaker of the afternoon was Mrs. (Rev.) Hunter of Madoc, who gave a fine address on the splendid work of the Mission Bands throughout the Kingston Presbytery. Brief messages of greeting were delivered by Rev. Douglas of Deseronto, Rev. MacDonald of Roslin, Rev. Walker and Mr. Bateman of Belleville and a vote of thanks was extended to all those taking part by Mrs. H. Rollins. Luncheon was served by the members of the Stirling group consisting of sandwiches, cookies and lemonade, climaxing a delightful afternoon.

Greetings From Ottawa

Midway through the afternoon programme a letter of greeting to the Kingston Presbytery Rally of Mission Bands was read. The message came from Mrs. J. R. Hill of Ottawa, Mission Band Secretary of the Ontario Provincial W.M.S. and expressed her regrets at being unable to attend the rally.

The Letter

Dear Members of the Mission Bands of the Kingston Presbytery

Greetings—How I would love to be with you this afternoon and look into your bright young faces and listen to all the things you will do and say today.

But, as that cannot be; we will do the next best, so please imagine that I am on the platform and speaking to you for I want to give you a short message.

Once, long ago, when the Lord Jesus was talking to His disciples He said "Lift up your eyes and look on the fields for they are white already to harvest", you will find this in John's Gospel 4th chapter, 35th verse; In our Mission Bands, this is what we are trying to do, to lift our eyes and look on the Mission fields, where there are so many precious boys and girls already to harvest—which means, already to be gathered into God's Kingdom only they do not know about Him, yet He loves each one of them even as He loves you and me. What are we to do about it—? The Lord Jesus has the word for this also for He says in Matt. 10th chapter 8th verse "Freely ye have received, freely give". You will all understand what that means and now comes His last great command Mark 16-51; "Go ye into all the world and preach the gospel to every creature" possibly some of you girls and boys may really go when you are older think this out. Meantime, we must do all we can to send someone who can go now. That is quite plain and that is why we are members of the mission band.

So let us gather these altogether and say—

Lift up your eyes and look, John 4; 35.

Lift up your hearts and pray, Matt. 9, 38.

Lift up your hands and give, Matt 10-8;

Lift up your feet and go, Mark 16-15.

Let us repeat these together twice and then lay them up in our hearts and minds and practice them in our lives and May God Bless you all.

Very sincerely,
Belle Cameron Hill,
(Mrs. J. R. Hill)
Ottawa, Canada.

Circus Orphan Adds Cub Lion to Galaxy of Pets

MARY HILTON, CIRCUS ORPHAN, AND TOOTS

Among the boys and girls with the great Cole Brothers Circus there are a score. They are children of performers and officials of the big show, excepting Mary Hilton five years old, the little circus orphan.

Tragedy has followed in the wake of little Mary's life. Her father, an aerial gymnast, was killed in a fall from a perch pole at the Chicago Stadium three years ago. Several months later her mother, who, too was a circus performer, died after a short illness. With no immediate relatives, Mary was adopted by performers of the Cole Brothers Circus.

Although deprived of parental care, Mary is the little sweetheart of all the 300 performers with the show. She has an endless number of Shetland ponies and a wagon-load of dogs as playmates. Added to this list of pets this year is a lion cub, Toots.

The little trouper wishes to be an acrobat when she grows up. Her training has already started. Just now Mary is studying her Three R's, under the tutelage of Fred Yost, a clown, and the most schooled performer with the circus.

The Cole Brothers Circus is coming to Belleville, on Thursday, June 29, for two performances at 2 and 8 p.m. Doors to the menagerie will open at 1 and 7 p.m. An immense street parade will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a.m. There will be hundreds of horses, rumbling wagons of red and gold, tooting calliopes, trumpeting bands, 20 elephants and two caravans of camels from Asia and Siberia.

Investigates Poisoning

Abraham Churchrow an investigator for the U.S. federal bureau of food and drugs, leaves public school No. 32, at Stapleton, Staten Island, with canisters of food, as police, federal and city health agencies start widespread investigation of the epidemic of ptomaine poisoning which struck down 368 children in 41 Staten Island public schools.

ROYAL AIR FORCES INCREASE OVERSEAS

By EDWIN JOHNSON
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

London, June 27 (CP Cable)—Sir Kingsley Wood, Secretary for Air, told the opening meeting of the Empire Press Union's annual conference today that the next two years would see increases in the number of Royal Air Force squadrons stationed permanently overseas as the Government pursues its efforts to strengthen Empire defences.

The Air Minister expressed satisfaction with recruiting for the R.A.F. and its auxiliary services, mentioning that hundreds of youths had volunteered from all parts of the Empire while large numbers were being trained under arrangements with the dominions. He added that a large proportion of the raw materials required for the production of aircraft had been obtained fom Empire sources.

Shunted from one side of the Atlantic to the other, the 900 refugees from Germany and Czechoslovakia aboard the S.S. St. Louis finally found a sanctuary when England, Belgium and The Netherlands agreed to receive them. Cuba and several Central American countries had previously refused to allow the refugees to land. This little lad, RIGHT, appears highly pleased with life as he steps ashore at Southampton closely followed by his father and sister.

UNITED STATES OF EUROPE?

A federal government for Europe!

Richard Butler, Foreign Office Undersecretary, yesterday in the British Commons that such would be in the interests of the continent and the world.

Every democratic country believes that.

But the great point is how it is to be achieved and maintained.

William Leach, Labor, asked if the British Prime Minister would approach other governments to gain their support for a federal system, linking all willing states of Europe in a common bond of free trade, simple coinage, and a system of federal government on the lines of the United States.

Mr. Butler said he did not believe the present propitious for such a program, though Britain is always ready to consider any useful suggestions to advance the cooperation of the nations.

"Yes, in the interests of the whole world," said Mr. Butler when asked if federation would be in the interests of "this country."

If such a confederacy should come, it would be the real "Parliament of Man, the Federation of the World" for other continents would not long stay out.

But unfortunately the present moment is not favorable according to Mr. Butler. More's the pity. When it will be no one of us can tell. The hope and prayer of mankind is that it will not take a major war to start such a federation of European nations.

The United States is one of the great confederacies. The Dominion of Canada is another great confederacy. So is Switzerland. The American Indians had a powerful confederacy of nations on this continent before the white man came.

But a federal government of Europe would be different in its origin than a confederacy of provinces or states, all of one race and largely and of one ideal and of one tongue. Switzerland is possibly the best example of confederated government with three distinct races speaking distinct tongues. Europe has many differences, so many divergent interests, so many entanglements, so many colonial issues.

But man demands assurance of peace and security. He knows war is brutal and obsolete, but unfortunately it is possible that forces may arise under present conditions to endanger society throughout the world.

But whatever the trials and disappointments, men and women will strive towards that ideal of brotherhood throughout the earth.

There have been fears expressed that another general struggle would wipe out civilization. That would be a poor basis for the building of a federation of European nations whereas the advancements of today instead of being stumbling blocks may be made agencies for making a federation the greatest agency for peace in the world.

TROUBLE WITH CZECHS

Czecho-Slovakians are steadily keeping German minds busy, there is not the slightest doubt of that. Their high sense of freedom will not permit them to bow the knee to the Germans who unfortunately for the world subject themselves to an "ism" which appears a danger against the world. The Czechs originally belonged to that race, the Slavs, a group of peoples with great potentialities. Germans have claimed the Czech mountains and Hungary grabbed them by superior strength, but not by greater spirit.

Today few Germans defy Hitler's Nazis. Yet the Czechs do. Czech entertainers in public halls in Prague dare to sing Czech patriotic songs and have had to be stopped by their Nazi "protectors." German protection means suppression, it has crushed all the sports events because the Czechs sing Czech songs and boo German players.

This is in a protectorate imposed by Germany on a free people.

FROM ANCIENT ROME

In the heyday of the Roman Empire when statues were chiselled in great profusion, two statues of high artistic value were hewn and later found themselves in a niche which protected them at least since the early Middle Ages. Both were in good condition except that the caving in of walls had broken off the forearm of one statue, when they were found a few days ago in the digging of a subway on the new Viale d'Africa near Constantine's Arch.

The statue with the broken arm is a divinity bearded with a cloak around his shoulders while the other represents a goddess in a voluminous tunic.

News of such discoveries and of digging of subways and improvements for the people makes better reading than anything having to do with the marshalling of na-

ODE TO THE "FALLEN"

(Contributed)

(NOTE: An unpublished news item carries the story of a Belleville lady who was knocked to the ground and trampled during the rush of the crowd toward the Royal Train when Their Majesties appeared here last June 21st. When she arose, the train had gone, and she missed a sight of the Royal Couple.)

Dense the crowd and loud the cheering, round the station Sunday night,
As the Royal Train agleaming glides in,
midst fading light.
On it standing in their beauty, grace and charm and royal mein
Handsome, smiling, charming lovely,
Britain's King and Britain's Queen.

Roared the loud tumultous welcome;
young and old acclaimed their King
Beauteous Queen, 'a white-garbed vision';
long did Belleville's voices ring,
Surged the crowd then quickly forward,
anxious for a closer view,
Cared it not what happened to it; happened me, or happened you.

Soldiers, policemen, veterans, children,
eyes aflame with loyal light,
Broke away from close formation, plunging forward in the night.
Snowfence crashed like rows of ninepins,
fore the crowds onrushing feet,
Cinders flew, and chunks of gravel rose in clouds like hail and sleet.
Stumbling, tripping, pushing, shoving,
stubbing toes and cricking backs,
Forward to the main objective standing
there upon the tracks.
Little cared they for each other, none
deign to look around,
Little cared they for that sylph-like figure lying on the ground.

Crushed to Earth like Truth, the Goddess, vain she tried to rise again,
Fearful lest she miss a sight of King and Queen and Royal Train,
But the feet of marching thousands, pressing onward in the night,
Kept her there quite horizontal, sad, ah sad, her sorry plight.

Rubber heels removed her lipstick;
Spanish ones caressed her ears
Lying there for ten short minutes, fifteen added to her years.
Cinders ground into her hairdress, square-toed shoes into her side, Lost indeed her equilibrium, nerve and dignity and pride.

Chunks of coal ground in her body, knees and ears and eyes and chin,
(A ray of light stole through her pain-'mist—"enough perhaps, to fill the bin")
She moved, a twinge of pain shot through her, numb her limbs; she could not 'feel',
A foreign taste brought on near-nausea; a cough—out came a rubber heel.

At last the charging feet grew fewer; in the distance shone a light,
Cheering lessened, music stopped; the crowd dispersed throughout the night,
Slowly upward, cinder-covered, limbs painwracked, she gently rose,
Made her way toward the tracks where royalty lay in repose.

Suddenly she stopped in chagrin, gazed with unbelieving eyes,
At the spot where, to her knowledge, King and Queen would be the prize,
But no Royal Train awaited, bleak and empty were the rails
In the distance, long-drawn whistles, echoed back in dreary wails.

Anger blazed within her body; gleamed in cinder-blackened eyes,
Clenched her fists, athrob her heart, as gradually she realized
That while she lay supine and helpless, neath the crowd in darkened light
The Royal Train, had, like the Arabs, slowly faded in the night.

Campaign to Prevent Deaths From Appendicitis

When a large city, Philadelphia, decided to lessen the death rate from appendicitis, the simple suggestions to the citizens when they had "stomach ache" lasting more than an hour or two were, (a) call a doctor, (b) eat no food, (c) take no purgative. By following these simple rules the death rate from appendicitis was so greatly reduced that other cities and municipalities are now making similar drives against this dangerous ailment.

"It may be only a stomach ache, but if you want to be safe, call a doctor. Remain quiet and apply an ice bag to the abdomen. Do not take a laxative, food, or medicine. These simple rules are based on sound medical experience, reinforced by a recent study of health authorities."

It has been found that self treatment is responsible for a large number of deaths and most of these could be prevented by calling a doctor and receiving surgical care when needed.

"The appendicitis survey shows that in a group of appendicitis patients among those who received no laxatives only one died out of 64. When one laxative was taken, the deaths were one out of 18, while among those who received more than one dose, one death occurred in 11 patients."

The study also revealed that when patients did not enter the hospital for two or three days after an attack, the death rate was three times as great as among patients who were admitted to hospital within the first 24 hours".

The advice to call the doctor and [illegible] laxatives, food or medicine of any kind can be followed by everyone even should ice to put on the abdomen not be available.

Remember, any persistent pain in the abdomen may be due to appendicitis, so that the above suggestions should be followed in all such cases.

The "usual" symptoms are pain in the pit of the stomach which gradually moves down to lower right side of abdomen and stays there.

among the greatest grain exporting organizations of the continent. There are offices at Kingston, Winnipeg, Calgary, Toronto, Montreal and other places in Canada and the company has elevators along the Great Lakes.

Mr. Richardson acquired ownership of a string of radio stations in Western Canada. This development arose from a desire to be of best possible service to his customers, and the experiment in radio was undertaken after the firm had been serving its customers with a network of telegraph wires.

Founder of Western Canada Airways, which later became Canadian Airways, Mr. Richardson played an important role in the development of northern mining by providing miners and prospectors with easy access to the wealthy mineral resources of Northern Canada.

Mr. Richardson became associated in 1918 with the Allied Wheat Commission and at the joint request of the buyer for the allied Governments and the Eastern Canadian mills, he took charge of wheat distribution to the 384 flour mills in Eastern Canada. Afterward he was vice-president of Wheat Export Company, Limited, as second in command of the purchasing and forwarding of grain and grain products for the allied Governments in Canada.

Helped Two Universities

Mr. Richardson was chancellor of Queen's University at Kingston, where he was born Aug. 21, 1885, the son of George A. Richardson and Agnes McCausland. He was a benefactor of his Alma Mater and the big Richardson Memorial Stadium stands as a monument to his efforts and munificence. The stadium was given in memory of a brother, the late George Taylor Richardson, one of the greatest hockey players ever developed at Queens.

Mr. Richardson aided the University of Manitoba also, setting up the Richardson scholarships in art. He was a member of Winnipeg Grain Exchange of which he was president in 1923 and 1924. He also was a member of Calgary Grain Exchange, Toronto Board of Trade, Montreal Board of Trade, Chicago Board of Trade, New York Produce Exchange and a director of the Canadian Bank of Commerce.

He was interested in many Canadian companies and headed the Eastern Terminal Elevator Company and the Pioneer Grain Company. His chief sports interests were sailing, fishing and hunting.

Kingston Expresses Sorrow

Kingston, June 27 (Staff)—There were general expressions of regret here over the passing of James A. Richardson, who was born and educated in the schools of this city.

Mayor H. A. Stewart stated: "Kingston has lost a loyal former citizen in the passing of James A. Richardson. Although living away from the city for some years, he never lost his interest in his home town; and this city and the Dominion of Canada are poorer today due to his sudden death."

Charles Hicks, secretary of the Athletic Board of Control, Queens University, paid a warm tribute to Mr. Richardson by stating that he was always keenly interested in good sport. "The George Richardson Stadium," said Mr. Hicks, "was erected by James Richardson as a memorial to his brother, the late Captain George T. Richardson, who was killed in action while serving with the 2nd Canadian Infantry Battalion, C.E.F."

Principal R. C. Wallace of Queens University, who was greatly affected by news of the death of Chanellor Richardson, said: "Queens University has lost a dear friend in the passing of James Richardson, who had always shown a great interest in his alma mater."

Dr. W. T. G. Brown, former minister of Sydenham Street United Church, where Mr. Richardson received his early religious training, referred to him as a good citizen who had made a general contribution to mankind, being interested in many worthwhile enterprises of the church life.

Port Arthur, Ont., June 27 (CP)—Tribute to James A. Richardson, prominent grain trader and industrialist who died in Winnipeg yesterday, was paid by Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, national Conservative leader, during a visit here.

"Mr. Richardson was an outstanding business man and educationist of the finest type, and his death will be a severe blow to Canada," Dr. Manion said. "I had a great deal of personal respect for Mr. Richardson and am very sorry indeed to hear of his death."

Beatty's Tribute

Montreal, June 27 (CP)—Sir Edward Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway, said in a statement last night that "the tragically sudden death" of James A. Richardson in Winnipeg yesterday "leaves the national life of this country greatly the poorer."

"His high sense of public and social responsibility, no less than his achievement as a business man gave him a place in the first rank of citizenship. Heir to a great name in Western Canadian business, he brought indomitable courage and resourcefulness to the tasks before him which had been made heavy by adverse economic conditions and general business instability."

Sir Edward paid tribute to his "important contributions" to education and said: "I feel a deep sense of personal loss by reason of our intimate friendship and close business relations over a great number of years."

ACT IS PASSED TO CONTROL ALIENS

South Africa May Now Deport Anyone Harmful to State

Johannesburg, June 27 (CP)—South Africa's Parliament has passed an Act to control aliens living in the union. It provides that after consultation with the Minister of Justice the Minister of the Interior may deport any alien whose presence is considered harmful to the state.

Inquiries into an undesirable person's activities will be made by the immigrant's selection board which will take any evidence the person concerned wishes to offer.

A chief registration officer and district registrars will be appointed to carry out provisions of the Act. They will be assisted by the police. It is estimated that 35,000 aliens will have to register and each will be compelled to carry a certificate with him. Aliens already in the union must register within two months and newcomers within 14 days of arrival.

Registration, immigration and police officers may require any person suspected of being an alien to produce his certificate and the onus of proving he is not an alien is placed on the person charged under the Act. Employers must give notice of aliens they employ or propose to employ, and occupiers of premises must give notice to the registration officer of the presence of aliens.

HON. R. J. MANION

In an effort to harness the best mental equipment in the country to the solution of unemployment and other problems he urged creation of a national planning body, made up of representatives of business and industry, agriculture, labor, the church, war veterans, women and youth.

The proposed body would meet at regular intervals and advise and assist the government of the day. The federal youth training scheme had only touched the fringe of the youth problem, said Dr. Manion, as he urged adoption in Canada of the civilian conservation corps camp plan of the United States.

Under this plan the United States had trained more than 2,000,000 young men and equipped them for useful employment in industry. In the past few years Canada should have provided similar training for 200,000 youths instead of leaving them to wander about the country "pan-handling" and, in some cases, drifting into crime.

Playing Politics

The people who were doing most to destroy the present political and economic system were a few rich men who adopted a stand-pat attitude and argued nothing should be done.

"If I ever have to choose between a small group of reactionary rich men and the people of Canada, I will choose the people," he said.

In his Fort William speech Dr. Manion charged the King government with playing politics with the Canadian National Railways and claimed he was the only public man, who had come out in criticism of the railway unification proposals put forward by Sir Edward Beatty, President of the Canadian Pacific Railway.

Neither Transport Minister Howe nor any other member of the cabinet had opposed the proposals in a public speech. Yet the Ministers should not only be out convincing the people that unification was not a solution of the railway problem but should compel the heads of the Canadian National Railways to reply to the Beatty proposals.

TONG WARS STIR CHINATOWN

Toronto Police Cars Cruise Through Areas to Prevent Trouble

Toronto, June 27 (AP)—Police cars cruised through Toronto's Chinatown today to prevent recurrence of tong wars and mob violence which have brought on a series of police expeditions and four arrests since developing serious aspects the past week-end.

Five hundred enraged Chinese attacked Wong Kee, 45, when he tried to make a street corner address last night, warning fellow-countrymen against violence in the quarrels springing from the collection of funds for war-stricken China.

Police Sergeant George Crawford struggled through the surging mob to Wong's side and saved him from serious injury, though struck often himself. Wong was taken to police headquarters and charged with vagrancy, to be locked up for the night for his own safety.

Police said they would tolerate no Chinese courts, called to pronounce judgment on those not co-operating fully with the collectors of war funds.

Tat Yet Too, 36, and Gun Yee Ying, 52, were arrested Sunday on charges of assaulting Foo Yuen, an importer. Ing Koh Kan, 56, and Lun Look, 48, were arrested on charges of stealing $90 from Foon after a group had assaulted him and spirited him from home.

Police say the outbreaks have arisen from methods of dealing with the $1,250,000 subscribed by Toronto Chinese to those in China affected by the war with Japan.

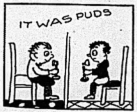
Little Benny's Note Book

Ma was reading a book with a green cover and I was doing my lessens and the telephone rang and it was Puds Simkins to find out if I could go over to his house and play his new game of Hopping the Atlantic with him, and I asked ma and she said, Have you studgionfttitTpf 'd ied your holmework?

Yes mam, I know it all here's the list of questions we're suppose to know the answers to, and you can hear them to me. I said, and ma said, Well, I suppsoe I ought to be on the safe side, O deer this book is so intristing I cant bare to take my eyes off it, well hand me the questions.



Wich I did and ma read me the first one and then kept right on reading her book. The first question being How many coats has the stummick, and I thought, G, I wonder if I just answered any old thing I wonder if ma would know the difference on account of being so intristed in her book?

And I tried it to see ,saying, The stummick has 7 coats and 4 hats but no shoelaces, what's the 2nd question, ma?

What, O yes, the 2nd one is What did Pance de Leon discover and when, ma said, and she went right on with her book, and I said, Ponce de Leon discovered the chickin came before the egg and then he discovered it was half passed 7 going on 8, is that right, ma?

What, very good ma said. And she looked up from her book just time enough to read out the next question, being, What are the exports of India?

India ink, India pencils, India erasers and Indians, I said and just then somebody said, Am I hearing right or are my ears having hallucinations?

Being pop looking in the door, and I quick said, Tea, spices, ivory, cottons and silks.

And I quick went over to Puds's house feeling lucky.

Parishioners Honor Rev. J. F. Everson And Mrs. Everson

Plainfield.—On Friday evening the parishioners of Rev. J. F. and Mrs. Everson from Plainfield, Zion Hill, Bethel and Mount Pleasant invited them to a social evening in the Plainfield church where they in tangible form expressed to them their warm appreciation of their services during the past six years. Mr. Clarence Hall, treasurer of Plainfield congregation, acted as chairman, while Mrs. Arthur F. Hall presided at the piano for the following program. Solos by Miss Phyllis Hall, Joseph Gow, Mrs. Carman Gibson and Mrs. Bernice Moore and readings by Mrs. Milton Robson and Mrs. Harry Harrison. Near the close Mr. and Mrs. Everson were called to the front. Mr. J. Frank Treverton, recording secretary of the circuit, read an address while Mrs. Harry McCreary and Mrs. Arthur F. Hall made the presentation of a four-piece silver tea service and a three-candle trilight reflector lamp with shade of celanese with braid and cord trimmings.

To Rev. and Mrs. J. F. Everson,—

It is with a feeling of sincere regret that we are assembled here tonight. You have labored among us for six years with incessant energy and profound perseverance, hence it is our wish to express to you in some tangible way, our appreciation of your devoted efforts.

The service you have rendered the churches and Sunday Schools of the different appointments of the Plainfield circuit are a true example of your loyalty to God and to your chosen life work. You have always supported the cause of righteousness and helped to promote every good enterprise. For these excellent qualities we trust and pray a just reward may be yours. We have been inspired and cheered by your sermons, which have lightened our burdens during the passing years and have given us courage

To leave by the road a rose,
A goblet by the spring.
For every pilgrim knows,
That every path he goes
Will other pilgrims bring—
And some perhaps a rose will need,
A cooling cup, a kindly deed.

Leave by the spring a glass,
A rose beside the road,
For other pilgrims pass,
Yes, many a lad and lass,
Grown weary with life's load
Who need the roses still to find,
A cup to tell them men are kind.

Leave by the road of years
Your roses all along,
Some memory that cheers
In some one's time of tears,
For times when things go wrong—
Yes, in your happier moments leave
A cup, a rose for those who grieve.

Leave something day by day
By every road you tread,
That other souls may say,
"A friend has passed this way,
Yes, some one walks ahead,
Who on the purple heights will stand
And give us hail and give us hand.

We have appreciated the interest, Mrs. Everson, you have taken in every phase of our church work. We have always shared your co-operation and wish you to know that we were ever mindful of this support, which you so freely gave during your sojourn amongst us.

May the memories of your many friends of Plainfield circuit comfort you in knowing that our most sincere desire is that both of you may enjoy the fellowship of the congregations of your new charge. We need not remind you that the Lord will guide those who seek guidance from him.

Lord, it is dark, the road is long to go,
I lift an unlit candle in the night;
Behold it Lord, within my upraised hand,
Touch it to flame with Thine own heavenly light.

This slender, waxen thing that is my faith—
Fire it Lord, with some divine white spark,
Until its circle widening at my feet,
Will make my certain way across the dark.

"Thou wilt light my candle." Thus assured
I shall go forward through the unknown land,
The way can never grow too dark, too long,
For I shall bear Thy light within my hand.

As an expression of our sentiments, we ask you to accept these slight tokens of our esteem and may they always recall many happy memories.

Signed on behalf of the congregations,

Miss Margaret Moult
Mrs. Ina Palmer
Mrs. Emma Ketcheson
Mrs. Mary L. Hall
Mrs. Lorne Brough
Mrs. Harry McCreary
Miss Lottie Goodman
Mrs. Clarence Marshall.

Mr. Everson made a suitable reply in which he thanked the people for their kindness and their expressions of goodwill and fellowship. The ladies served a delicious lunch.

Mrs. Fred Prindle spent a few days recently with his mother at Carmel.

Several Plainfield ladies attended the open W.M.S. meeting held at Carmel on Thursday evening.

Rev. H. B. and Mrs. Herrington of Thomasburg spent an hour on Thursday evening with Rev. J. F. and Mrs. Everson.

During the service in the United Church on Sunday evening Norman Pennington and Oscar Moore were received into full communion with the congregation.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Latta of Dartford were Sunday guests of his mother, Mrs. James Gilbert, Latta.

Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Parks and Mr. and Mrs. Sherman Parks and Teddie were the guests on Sunday of friends in Prince Edward.

Mrs. Ernest Hodgen is seriously ill suffering from a stroke which overtook her while milking on Saturday evening.

Mr. Gordon Ray and his brother Floyd, sons of Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Ray were received into full connection with the Zion Hill congregation on Sunday. During the same service Donna Marlene Ray, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Ray received the Sacrament of Baptism. The pastor, Rev. J. F. Everson officiated.

Mr. Harry Lovabond of Toronto visited his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Absalom Parks on Thursday and conveyed Mrs. Parks to her sister's at Ivanhoe for a few days' rest. Mrs. Stewart is taking care of Mr. Parks in his wife's absence.

Mr. and Mrs. Wm. Marshall visited their son Sam in Sidney one day recently.

James Dunn featured with Frank Morgan and Linda Gray in "Shadows Over Shanghai," now playing at the McCarthy Theatre with a second companion feature, "Small Town Boy," starring Stuart Erwin.

FACING FACTS
By McKEOWN'S DRUG STORE

The most tireless engine, perhaps the most perfect, is the human heart. It is a small organ, weighing from eight to twelve ounces, but it never rests, beating steadily seventy-two times every minute of a man's life.

One of every six persons above the age of forty dies of a heart ailment. The pace of modern living kills even that marvellous organism.

How about your heart? Know the facts, face the facts. Consult a doctor—learn if you are putting too much strain upon the most important organ of your body.

Pleasing Expression

BRENDA JOYCE

A pleasing expression lights up her pretty face

(By HELEN FOLLETT)

EXPRESSION is the lighting system of the face. Press the button of good humor and there's something doing. Women should think more about that interesting subject. Those glum frozen assets who trail through life looking like graven images don't have much fun. You can't imagine anybody loving them. And it must be no satisfaction to them to look in a mirror.

A word of warning to the sophisticated young ladies who think it is smart to look bored. They belong to the know-all class, there's nothing new for them to experience. The bored expression takes root, the sweet radiance of youth departs. By the time they get into the thirties they'll be wrestling with early wrinkles, wondering why they didn't have more sense, why they didn't smile up and keep their facial muscles strong and active.

Grasping women have hard faces. Fibres around the mouth are tight, eyes are cold and calculating. No sense in this type spending money for cosmetics.

Mary, Mary, quite contrary, how does your garden grow? And what about your appearance when you are playing with your flowers? Do you wear a brimmed hat to protect your complexion from the sun, low-heeled, wide soled shoes so your feet won't get hurty, gloves to protect your hands against the ravages of grime?

Let us suggest that after your sessions with the posies you wash your hands and arms with soap suds to which corn meal has been added. The meal contains elements that are softening to the skin, and it will dig dust from those little knuckle creases. Even though it is the silly season, hands need the comfort of soothing lotions. Semi-milky ones that dry immediately are convenient to us. Don't leave the hands sticky.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Father is Unreasonable

Dear Miss Fairfax:

My father did not want me at home and made me leave when I was 21, as he would not support me any longer. I had to go to a distant city to get a job, and now he wants all the money I earn, working. I have sent him twenty dollars, and I must keep some of my money to pay my bills. It makes it so hard for me

I have a very nice "steady". We are both of the same religion, though he is foreign-born. He wants to return to his native country this summer to visit his mother and he would like me to marry him and go along. As I love him dearly I would like to do as he asks, but my father does not approve of him. Mother likes him very much, and says he is a gentleman and a thoroughbred.

As I'm 22, am I not at liberty to make my own choice?

Undecided

Any girl who has been told to leave home, because her father declines to support her, and is now earning her own living, is to my way of thinking, free to marry the man of her choice. Your mother approves of him, your father doesn't gives no valid reason, and demands your salary. Here's wishing you bon voyage.

Beware That First Fib

Dear Miss Fairfax

It was such a silly lie I told her, but she broke with me on account of it, after we had been going together for three years. I didn't see her for months and knew she had taken up with another fellow and declined to take me back in her good graces.

Then one day she came to see my mother, who was an old friend. My mother was out and we were very happy talking over old times and what fun we used to have. I asked her to make up with me, but she declined as she was going "steady" with some one else.

She is lovely to me when I see her, but still declines to make up.

Repentant Liar

These visits to your mother and the fact that she's so nice to you when you meet seem to me like so many straws blowing in the direction of a reconciliation. She's probably teaching you a lesson on the importance of being truthful.

Chivalry Must Be Practical

Dear Miss Fairfax

I am tired of being the butt of my family's ridicule. I won't be out of high school until mid-year semester, and my parents and older brothers think I'm funny for being in love with the sweetest girl that ever lived. On account of home teasing, jokes, and not having any money, I had to lose this girl a few weeks ago, and see anther fellow get her. We didn't speak for some days.

Then I met her and she told me she took up with this other fellow because I dropped her, and she was heartbroken over it. So we made up and love each other just as much as ever. But I can't ask her to stop rating other fellows, when I haven't even the price of a movie and my family can't afford to give me any spending money.

Do you know how a fourth-year high school boy could earn a little money? I can give good references.

Jimmy

Your attitude toward this girl is very generous. You can't afford to take her out, and instead of jealously sulking, you admit it's unfair to keep her from going out with other boys. As to making money, during summer vacation a good many high school boys earn a little by carrying home marketing from chain stores, cutting grass, watering lawns. And I know of one boy who's greatly in demand for minding youngsters. He's the favorite "minder" of the neighborhood. The kids all like him; he's trustworthy, and parents go off for the evening and leave him in charge. But a boy must be absolutely responsible to hold this kind of a job.

You can deliver newspapers and distribute handbills. For this latter apply to department and grocery stores. You might get a job as bus boy in a restaurant, or a messenger boy. Whatever you do or do not do, you have the comfort of knowing your girl still likes you. And here's wishing you all success.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

Is There a Spoiled Child in the House?

If there is a spoiled child in the house, the parents whose love for their child is untempered by wisdom will probably think the child is perfectly adorable, cute and clever as clever can be. Well maybe.

An untrained, spoiled child is a pest and a nuisance to everyone except the darling's mother and father. It is pathetically unfortunate and unfair to a child that he has been allowed to develop an unattractive personality when an attractive personality could have been developed by wise guidance on the part of the parents.

As a spoiled child grows up and comes more into contact with people outside his home, he begins, if he develops a sensibility concerning other people, to sense his unpopularity and wonders why.

The "why" is lack of proper courtesy, no charm of manner or manners, constant bad taste in comments made and rude questions asked, disregard of other people's feelings and comfort, a show-off manner, disloyalty, in particular to those who have spoiled him; an irritating indifference to anything or anybody who tries, however patiently or kindly, to make a dent on his all-absorbing ego.

The spoiled child is an unfortunate child. In his adaptation to life and to people, this unfair and unwise point of view instilled in him by his parents will be a handicap either constantly to be struggled against and defeated, or, if not struggled against, to lead to deep spiritual unhappiness, for himself and for other people.

Courtesy Tip

Emerson, that kindly and wise observer of manners, says, in one of his essays, "The longer I live, the more I am impressed with the importance of manners . . . .When we reflect upon their persuasive and cheering force, how they recommend, prepare and draw people together when we think what keys they are, and to what secrets what high and inspiring tokens of character they convey and what divination is required in us for the reading of this fine telegraph, we see what range the subject has and what relations to convenience and beauty".

IF EVERYBODY WOULD CONSCIENTIOUSLY DO THEIR PART, FLIES WOULD NOT REMAIN A MAJOR HEALTH PROBLEM

A female house fly deposits 100 to 150 eggs at one time and, from this batch of eggs, it may be less than two weeks, in warm weather, before the winged flies emerge. It is obvious, then how quickly they may multiply unless they are ruthlessly controlled and, in any communities where they are left unmolested, they may bring a real epidemic of sickness and disease for they are carriers of typhoid and other germs. If their breeding places, which are usually out-of-doors, on garbage, manure piles and similar situations, could be eliminated, this would reduce the fly menace to a very minor problem but, unfortunately, this cannot be adequately done. The flies must, therefore, be prevented from carrying filth and dangerous germs from out-of-doors onto feeding bottles, food or drink that's left exposed inside the home.

As we have already said, the most important thing is to clean up thoroughly where potential breeding places exist out-of-doors, particularly adjoining the house. To prevent flies entering the house, doors and windows must be screened. Children's cribs should be protected and all exposed food or drink covered. However, whatever is done, (and there is a surprisingly large number of people who are not interested enough to do anything) flies have a way of entering most homes in small or large numbers.

In such a case, a few Wilson's Fly Pads, put in convenient places around the house, all the time until cold weather comes and the fly danger is over, will effectively stop their activities. They work quickly, cleanly and kill all the flies.

Join your fellow citizens, who believe in a safer, cleaner community for the children and public at large, by doing your part to combat and eliminate the fly menace.

Is This the Reason You Are Constipated?

If you're wondering why your bowels don't work right . . . stop and think about what you eat. Bread, meat, eggs and potatoes. All good nourishing foods . . . but lacking in "bulk" after the digestive process. And you need "bulk!" Food that gives the bowels something to work on . . . to help them move.

If it's this lack of "bulk" that's causing your constipation, Kellogg's All-Bran is just what you need. After digestion a soft mass remains which helps your bowels move. In addition, All-Bran gives you Nature's intestinal tonic, vitamin B_1. Eat this tasteful ready-to-eat cereal every day, drink plenty of water, and enjoy happier days. All-Bran is made by Kellogg in London, Can. Sold by every grocer.

Weddings

HURLEY—KENNEDY

St. Ignatius Church, Winnipeg, was the setting for the marriage of Eileen Mary, elder daughter of Mrs. Kennedy, and the late Dr. Charles Edward Kennedy to Mr. Henry Thomas Hurley of God's Lake, Man., eldest son of Mrs. Hurley and the late Mr. Thomas J. Hurley of Belleville, Ont.

The Nuptial Mass took place on Saturday, June 24, at nine o'clock, before an altar decorated with white peonies. Rev. Father F. X. MacAuley, cousin of the bride, read the marriage lines. Miss Cecile Henderson played the traditional wedding music while Mrs. John Gordon sang Gounod's Ave Marie, and during the signing of the register she sang Panis Angelicus by Cesar Franck.

The bride given in marriage by Mr. J. T. Murray, K.C., looked lovely in an imported dressmaker suit. The fitted princess coat of navy blue triple sheer featured elbow length sleeves piped with white pique and opened over a French printed silk frock in a lover's knot design of chalk white and navy. She wore a white Toyo panama hat, mushroom sailor style, with a navy band and veiling caught at the back with long streamers. Her corsage was of Cattleya hybrid orchids.

The bride was attended by her sister, Miss Margaret Kennedy, who wore a printed tailored dress of rhapsody blue. She wore a matching blue picture hat. Her corsage was of rose pyrethrum.

Following the ceremony an informal reception was held at the home of the bride's mother, in the Lancaster apartments. Mrs. Kennedy, mother of the bride, was becomingly gowned in a printed bolero dress in shades of lilac, Regina blue and white on a navy background, with matching straw hat and corsage of Talisman roses and lilies of the valley.

Later, Mr. and Mrs. Hurley left for Eastern Canada via the Great Lakes to visit in Belleville and St. Andrew's by the Sea, N.B. On their return they will reside at God's Lake, Man.

CAMPBELL—ELLIOTT

Picton, (Special) June 27—A lovely wedding, and one of much interest to Prince Edward County people, took place in Grace United Church at Napanee on Saturday, at three o'clock, when Rev. Dr. R. T. Richards united in marriage, Eva Patricia Elliott, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Burton Elliott of Napanee and Reginald Campbell of Toronto, son of Mr. and Mrs. John Campbell of Trenton.

The bride made a lovely picture in a gown of white net over taffeta, with ribbon jacket and a fingertip white net veil with coronet arrangement of white ribbon with real orange blossoms. She carried a large nosegay of red roses and lilies of the valley. She was given in marriage by her father, entering the church to music played by Mrs. Black, organist of the church. Baskets of white and red peonies and ferns adorned the altar.

Miss Mary Elliott younger sister of the bride, and Miss Miriam Richards, dressed alike in blue and pink lace frocks, with matching hats, and carrying nosegays of sweet peas and lilies of the valley with a red rose in the centre, were junior bridesmaids. Miss Reta Elliott, elder sister of the bride, was bridesmaid, wearing a green lace jacket gown with nosegay hat, and carried a bouquet similar to that of the junior bridesmaids.

Mr. Bernard Campbell, youngest brother of the groom, was best man. Ushers were Mr. Douglas Campbell, brother of the groom, and Mr. Grant Rathbun of Trenton.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of the bride's parents, with a buffet luncheon being served, by five friends of the bride, Misses Jetta Thompson, Miriam Miller, Iris Seymour, Frances and Dorothy Coakwell, all of Napanee. The bride's table was centred with the wedding cake, white candles in silver sticks, and red roses.

Mrs. Elliott was smart in fuchsia ensemble with matching accessories and corsage of white and fuchsia colored roses. Mrs. Campbell was in navy sheer with white accessories, and corsage of Talisman roses. The bride's bouquet was caught by Miss Miriam Miller of Napanee. There were sixty guests present and many lovely gifts were presented the newlyweds.

Later the bride and groom left to spend three weeks camping at Stoney Lake north of Peterboro. For travelling the bride wore a mauve linen dress with yellow flannel coat and yellow felt hat and matching accessories. On their return they will reside in St. Catharines.

EVANS—HOSKIN

On Monday evening, Moodie Cottage was the scene of a quiet wedding when Ernest Allen Evans, son of Mr. and Mrs. Wesley Evans, and Lola Onadell Hoskin daughter of Mr. Arthur Hoskin, were united in Holy Matrimony by the Rev. Albert L. Geen, Ralph Collins being bestman and Ruby Collins, bridesmaid. They will reside in the city.

Dr. Dafoe's Column on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Dr. Dafoe Explains Fruit Juice Feedings

Mothers frequently write me that they can't give the baby orange juice because it doesn't agree with infant. One of the most common complaints is that the juice gives the baby diarrhoea yet the mother wants to protect her baby against scurvy.

The baby's gastro-intestinal tract is a very delicate mechanism, it is easily upset, and it may be that if he is getting an ounce of fruit juice every day it is too much for him. So if he is upset by this much, she can quite safely reduce the dose for a few days until the baby's digestive system has readjusted itself or becomes more accustomed to the fruit juice.

In other cases we find that when the baby takes fruit juice at all, he breaks out in a rash. In such cases it is wise to experiment with different juices. Usually you will find one that will agree, with him and which will give him the Vitamin C he needs. Tomato juice will do it. So will pineapple juice and grapefruit juice.

One thing to remember in this respect is that Vitamin C is very volatile and when any food containing it is heated in the open air, practically all this vitamin is driven off.

Another thing to bear in mind if you are giving tomato juice, is that it contains just half the vitamin that other fruit juices do. So baby must have two ounces daily in order to get the protection he requires against scurvy.

Lemons and limes are high in Vitamin C content, but they are difficult for the baby to digest. There is a small amount of the vitamin in potato water, but this liquid is rarely used.

Recently the vitamin has been made available in capsule form. This is used mostly when the child's stomach refuses all the Vitamin C fruit juices.

I find that many children have trouble with fruit juice at first because they aren't introduced to it in the proper way. It is important for the mother to remember that when she is starting the juice, she must do it gradually. Fruit juice feedings should be started before the child is a month old, and the first day he should be given about a teaspoonful of strained juice, mixed with the same amount of boiled water. This mixture can be placed in a nursing bottle and the baby given it about bath time in the morning. This is the time that is most satisfactory to the mother. Actually, so far as the baby is concerned, it doesn't matter, just so long as he gets it at the same time each day.

If this first dose is a success, the amount can be increased gradually until he is taking the ounce. Be sure and strain the juice, for the pulp might cause diarrhoea. Give equal parts of juice and water until the baby is three months old, and then you can taper off on the water.

AT THE BELLE

"Brother Rat"

With Wayne Morris and Priscilla Lane as its stars, "Brother Rat" which is proclaimed as the best comedy ever made, opens at the Belle Theatre. This is the Warner Bros. picturization of the famed stage comedy that took Broadway by storm and ran for two years there with three road show companies touring the country.

It's a play about college life, yes—but it isn't that sort of college play, where the lads and the co-eds team up and break into choruses and dances every so often, generally without any excuse whatever. As a matter of fact, "Brother Rat" is laid in and about the Virginia Military Institute, which is by no means co-educational and the photoplay has nary a song nor a tap step in it.

It deals with the difficulties into which one of the cadets gets himself by entering upon a secret marriage a business distinctly against all rules and regulations. Not only that, but he faces parenthood—and instant dismissal from V.M.I. If the authorities get wise to him.

The indiscreet cadet is played by Eddie Albert, who carried the role in the original Broadway company. Little Jane Bryan is the bride who has to be hidden away.

"Rat" is the name for a freshman at V.M.I. and "Brother Rats" are classmen who go together through the four-year course. They're like fraternity brothers and "Bing" Edwards, has need of the loyalty and ingenuity of all his Brother Rats before he gets out of his fix.

Other notables in the cast besides the stars, Wayne and Priscilla, and Eddie Albert and Jane Bryan, include Johnnie 'Scat' Davis, Jane Wyman, Ronald Reagan, Henry O'Neill, Gordon Oliver, Jessie Busley, William Tracey, Olin Howland and Louise Beavers.

"South Riding"

"South Riding" is the title of the second fine hit to be presented and was produced and directed by Victor Saville for London Films. Saville considers it the finest thing he has ever done. There are certainly good grounds for his optimism. A fine subject, based on the Winifred Holtby best-seller, and a very sound cast headed by Edna Best, making an overdue return to the screen, Ralph Richardson, Ann Todd, Edmund Gwenn and John Clements, who attracted attention with his excellent cameo in "Knight Without Armour" is a combination worthy of special interest.

Readers of the book will recall the story which deals with the corrupt council of a small Yorkshire town and the efforts of the local squire and schoolmistress in cleaning it up. The very fact of a home producer attempting to portray a cross-section of typical British life is welcome news.

Saville sent a camera crew to Ilkley to obtain authentic background "shots" and also engaged five young Yorkshire girls to play in the film. One of these, 16-year-old Joan Ellum, has quite an important role. She is the daughter of a bus driver.

The popular Belle News of the Day will be presented on the same program.

AT THE McCARTHY

"Small Town Boy"

"Small Town Boy" is the picture you have been waiting for. Starring the "Prince of Chumps" Stuart Erwin, it is packed full of fun, excitement, thrills and romance This picture made from "The Thousand Dollar Bill" by Manuel Komroff which appeared in the Cosmopolitan magazine is now delighting large audiences at the McCarthy Theatre, where it is now showing on the same program with the companion feature hit, James Dunn in "Shadows Over Shanghai". "Small Town Boy" is a scream and if you laughed at the antics of Stuart Erwin in "Pigskin Parade" and "All American Chump" you will howl at him in "Small Town Boy". It's that good.

The supporting cast includes Joyce Compton, (recently featured in "Rose of Washington Square"), Ted Prouty, Clara Blandick, James Blakely and Dorothy Appleby, to whom much credit goes in keeping the picture moving at a fast tempo from start to final fade-out.

"Shadows Over Shanghai"

The companion feature presentation "Shadows Over Shanghai" featuring James Dunn, Ralph Morgan, Linda Grey, Robert Barrat and Paul Sutton, is a distinctly new type of espionage screen story and reaches a new height in excitement and also presents mightier thrills—than any picture you ever saw before.

The action of the story presents a graphic picture of the very unsettled condition throughout the China of today and many scenes are actual camera shots of the war area in which the bombings and fightings are at present time going on. Do not miss "Shadows Over Shanghai". It is a picture to remember. In addition to both feature presentations, the McCarthy Theatre is now presenting the latest Floyd Gibbons' True Adventure Story entitled "Chained" which is the best in the series to date.

Thomasburg Couple Mark Golden Jubilee

Sunday, June 25th was the fiftieth anniversary of the marriage of Mr. and Mrs. George Jones, Thomasburg. They received many messages of congratulation and gifts among them being a radio from Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Webb, Tweed; Archie Jones, Thomasburg and Mr. and Mrs. Edgar Jones, Tweed. They spent the day on a short motor trip accompanied by their children, grand-children and Mrs. L. Fox and Mrs. H. Jones.

Special Committee on Oiling Reports to City Council at Last Session Before Holidays

Streets to be Oiled Approved and Work Will Start on July 4th.

BY-LAWS PASSED

Number of Motions Receive Consideration; New Inhalator May be Bought

With the exception of a possible Special meeting in July, the City Council will not function during the summer months but all arrangements to conduct the city business during that interim were made last night at a regular session of that body. The Council will meet for a regular committee meeting Sept. 14th and the first regular council meeting of the fall term will be held on September 18th. A by-law was passed last evening empowering the City Treasurer to pay all bills for labor and other necessities, if said bills are properly signed by the Chairmen of the several departments.

A petition, signed by about 130 of the heaviest taxpayers in this city was laid on the table asking for more hearty co-operation of the Hydro Commissioners towards the Gas Plant and requesting that the plant be not scrapped as has been intimated on several occasions. Mr. Herbert Diamond spoke on the petition after which Alderman Eddie Logan introduced a motion "That the Mayor appoint a committee from the council to meet the Hydro Commission on this question and then report back to the council." In the meantime the petition will be tabled for future reference. Mr. Diamond told members of the council and Acting Mayor McLean Haig that he had spent a considerable portion of his time in taking the petition around and that there was a ready response on the part of the ratepayers to sign the same. "I don't like the idea of seeing this plant scrapped, when a report issued by the Commission states that $5,700 operating profit was enjoyed in one year," said Mr. Diamond. "I think the gas plant lacks the co-operation of the Commission and I would like to see a committee from this council appointed to investigate the whole situation."

Cites a Case

Giving an incident, where there is little co-operation in the gas plant, Mr. Diamond cited the case of a housewife on Myers Street, who put in a gas order to the Commission and it was never filled and finally the gas equipment was bought in Toronto. At present there are two gas ranges on display at the Commission store but there was a time last winter, when there was no display of gas equipment on the floor. "I know this to be a fact because I took the trouble to walk into the store and look around" said Mr. Diamond.

Alderman Logan: "It is most unfortunate that the Mayor is not present tonight. This gas question has been discussed in committee of the council on several occasions but little has been done. I would like the Acting Mavor to appoint a committee to take up this question with the Public Utilities as I am of the opinion the Mayor is definitely opposed to the gas plant as a public utility."

Ald Haig: "I don't feel as if I should appoint the committee but I think it would be in order for the Alderman to pass a motion to that effect and His Worship could make the appointment when he returns to the city." The motion was passed under the heading of motions.

Oiling Report

A comprehensive road oiling report was received from the City Engineer after the special oiling committee of Aldermen Kennedy, Rollins, Lewis and the City Engineer had inspected the streets of the city. Another report respecting the purchase of material for this work was also received and a covering recommendation ordering the material was passed. 8,000 gallons of liquid asphalt will be purchased from the British American Oil Company at a cost of 11.75 cents per gallon and a like amount from the Imperial Oil Company for the same price, while 1,000 tons of washed pea gravel will be purchased from the Patterson Construction Company at a cost of $1.85 per ton. The reports are as follows:

June 22nd, 1939

His Worship Mayor Bone and Alderman of the City Council,
Belleville, Ont.

Re: 1939 Street Oiling

Gentlemen:

Your Special Committee appointed to make an inspection of the macadam roads in the City of Belleville, which are maintained by means of surface treatment with a bituminous liquid asphalt or tar and water washed 3-8" stone cover, report as follows.

On Wednesday morning, June 21st, the Committee drove over all the surface treated streets and made a careful inspection of the wearing surface of these roadways. Many of the streets which have been surface treated annually for the past few years are in excellent condition, due to the heavy mat which has been built up on the roadway, by continual oiling, to form a wearing surface. This heavy mat forms a waterproof surface and protects the foundation of the road bed from the damaging elements of climatic conditions.

Several of the roadways which have had only one or two treatments, and other streets which have not been treated during the past two or three years, showed signs of breaking up and of dryness. In order to preserve the foundation of these roadways and to build up a heavier wearing surface for present day traffic, we strongly recommend that a special treatment with medium liquid asphalt and water washed 3-8" stone cover, spread and rolled in place, be given the streets on the attached lists for the year 1939.

Yours respectfully,
A. Kennedy, Chairman of Public Works.
Laurie Lewis, Chairman of Fire.
H. Rollins, Chairman of Light.
Charles A. Mott, City Engineer.

Chairman of Public Works,
City Council,
Belleville, Ont.

Re: 1939 Street Oiling

Dear Sir:

In order to carry out the programme of street oiling, as recommended by the Special Oiling Committee this year, it will be necessary to purchase approximately 16,000 imperial gallons of bituminous liquid material and 1,000 tons of stone cover. The quotations received for the supply of this material, F.O.B., Belleville, are as follows:

Liquid Asphalts R.C. 2 Medium

British American Oil Company, Ltd. F.O.B. Belleville 11.75c gal.
Crescent Oil Company of Canada, F.O.B. Belleville 11.00 gal.
Imperial Oil Limited, F.O.B. Belleville 11.75 gal.

Asphalt Emulsions

Canadians Bitumals Company, Ltd. F.O.B. Belleville 14.35c gal.
Colas Roads Limited, F.O.B. Belleville 14.35c gal.

Tars

The Barrett Company, Limited, F.O.B. Belleville 14.7c gal.
Curris Products, Limited, F.O.B. Belleville 14.7c gal.
Dominion Tar & Chemical Co., Limited, F.O.B. Belleville 14.7c gal.

Stone Cover Material

Kirkfield Crushed Stone, Limited 3-8" Limestone Chips $1.85 ton.
Patterson Construction Company 3-8" washed pea gravel $1.85 ton.

We have obtained excellent results from the use of medium liquid asphalt and water washed 3-8" stone cover and I would suggest that we use the same material this year. The attached recommendation will cover the purchasing of this material from the firms as listed. I would appreciate having authority from Council at tonight's Committee Meeting to purchase this material at once, so that the necessary arrangements can be made by the respective Companies to have their materials on hand to start oiling operations on July 4th.

We are considering using the Elgin street sweeper to sweep the streets before oiling this year, which will eliminate much of the dust created by the horse drawn broom. The sweeper needs no repairs or adjustments to carry out this work.

Yours respectfully,
Charles A. Mott, City Engineer

The resignations of R. W. Adams and W. H. Panter from the Board of Revision were received and accepted, while a by-law was passed appointing Miles Hall and A. P. Allen to the positions. The remuneration for this position is $75 a year. Letters of thanks will be sent to the retiring members. A committee of Aldermen Haig, Kennedy, Lewis and Butler were appointed to explore Ways and Means to co-ordinate the various city departments designed to improve the management and efficiency of operations and report back to the council.

By-laws Passed

A number of by-laws were passed preparatory to ending the sessions for the summer season. Deeds of conveyance were given to W. H. Panter, Frank Coddling, Charles Hiles, Samuel Pappas and Ernest Carefoot for propert purchased from the city and upon which houses will be erected. The Special Property Committee were given power to transact business and issue deeds during the vacation period. Aldermen Cushing and Marshall were appointed as council members to attend the city tax sale.

An agreement between the City Council and the Board of Governors of the Belleville General Hospital was ratified at the session and a motion also passed requesting that immediate application be made to the Ontario Municipal Board for the privilege of issuing debentures to cover the share of the city's cost on the new addition to the hospital. Harry B. Stock was appointed Tax Collector at no more remuneration than he is now receiving.

A number of motions were presented and passed, one being that the Police Commission be asked to make owners of music machines stop playing the instruments after midnight and if the warning was not heeded to have a fine levied for creating a public nuisance. Alderman Logan stated he had received complaints, that residents of flats on Front Street were unable to get their proper rest because of the blaring of these machines to all hours of the night. "I think this matter should be attended to by the police commission and very soon," said the Alderman.

May Purchase Inhalator

A committee of Ald. Rollins, Lewis and Marshall with the Medical Officer of Health be appointed to enquire into the purchase of an inhalator costing $225. This machine would be stationed at the Number One Fire Hall and be used for resuscitation purposes. "Probably a life could have been saved if the city had been in possession of this machine on Saturday last," said a member of the council. The committee will report back to the council in the near future. Ald. Harvey expressed his approval of the purchase and hoped that it would soon be made. "It is money well spent," said the Alderman.

A motion "that the City Clerk write the Chief of Police asking if any special parking privilege is granted to merchants on Front St. and if so why?" was passed. Ald. Jeffery stated he had been informed that a police constable put a sticker on a car on Front Street on Monday afternoon and that the merchant had told the officer he had special privileges.

Alderman Marshall, chairman of the Special Property Committee asked what action could be taken about the property on Great St. James Street, which was sold to J. C. McCarthy and which will go back into the tax sale this year. "Mr. McCarthy is willing to tear down the old houses on this lot but first wants the property free of all encumbrances" said the Alderman. "The property is in a disgraceful condition and should be torn down. No rents are being collected either by Mr. McCarthy or the city and the Board of Health have inspected the place several times. I would like to know if the City Council can take any action in the matter." Alderman Cushing stated "that Mr. McCarthy had purchased the property for $200 and it is up to him to administer his property." A special report will be given by the Property Committee. There being no further business the council adjourned or until called by special command until September 14th.

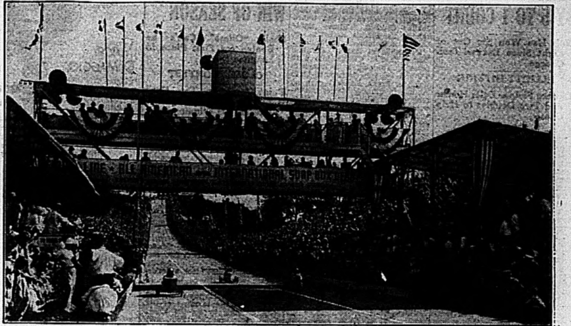
A Belleville Boy Will Speed Across This Line on August 13th



The thrill of thrills—a finish at the National Soap Box Derby finals. With the frenzied cheers of thousands urging them on, the three champions in each heat speed down the concrete ribbon at Derby Downs, Akron, Ohio. Excitement is at a high pitch, for two of these racers will be eliminated in this race, while the winner will compete in subsequent heats, possibly reaching the final race and a chance at the grand prize—a four-year college scholarship. Overhead, on the judges' bridge, the results are broadcast to the listeners back home. Out of the press stand (left foreground) wires carry the stories and pictures to waiting readers, while newsreels and cameramen record each exciting race. Parents and friends fill the guest stand (right).

THIRTY INJURED, $50,000 DAMAGE DONE BY IRISH TERRORISTS IN LONDON

Thirty people were injured and $50,000 damage done by the fresh outbreak of terrorism on the part of the fanatical Irish Republican Army in London. Seven bombings took place in Piccadilly circus and other parts of central London. The I.R.A. was recently denounced by Premier De Valera, who was once its leader, and the fresh outbreak of terrorism is thought to be the I.R.A.'s way of continuing their work against English domination in Ireland. The organization has demanded that England withdraw all its armed forces, the British civil service and all British institutions near Ulster. The ABOVE pictures show damage created by previous bombings in London by the Irish terrorist group.

JAP PLANES

Establishment at Tamsk

Soviet and Mongol forces are reported to have been constructing permanent military establishments at Tamsk for about a year. Large forces of cavalry and airplanes are said to be concentrated there, and roads connecting Tamsk with Urga, Outer Mongolian capital, and the Manchoukuo border are said to be under construction.

The communisue said 30 Mongol planes were destroyed on the ground before the main force, of approximately 200, rose to fight. Although the enemy craft were described as "Mongol," it was understood most of them were Soviet planes.

Say 25 Japanese Planes Shot Down

Moscow, June 27—(AP)— Two paragraphs on the second pages of Moscow newspapers described today the air clash on the Outer Mongolian frontier between Japanese and Mongolian-Russian forces yesterday, in which it was claimed 25 Japanese combat planes were shot down.

Such small space devoted to the frontier war made the conflict seem far away to Moscow's man on the street.

A communique plainly showed that Soviet forces were involved in the fighting, however, for the news came from "staff headquarters of the Mongolian-Soviet troops in the Mongolian peoples republic", not simply from Outer Mongolian headquarters.

Neither Soviet nor Japanese quarters here seemed unduly excited—the Japanese particularly seemed to expect the conflict to remain restricted to the border region.

BRITISH PLANE

Everywhere there is preparedness for air defence. Signs proclaiming the necessity for "national service," with inducements for air service abound in Trafalgar Square.

Even more significant is the presence of a dozen men near a west end hotel, standing beside an empty envelope and a series of gas cylinders. There are other dozens scattered through London. In an emergency, they would fill a gas balloon forming part of a huge net intended to entrap attack type planes swooping low over searchlight and anti-aircraft gun targets while bombers soared miles overhead.

TORONTO LEAFS BEAT ROCHESTER BY 5 TO 1 COUNT

Club Has Won Six Out of Eight Since Lazzeri Took Charge

ELLIOTT HITTING

Toronto Fielder Belts Homer and Two Doubles to Help Cause

(By The Associated Press)

It's only been about a week since Tony Lazzeri, the old sparkplug of New York Yankees juggernaut, took active charge of Toronto Maple Leafs, but even that time has been enough to show he still can set a team on fire.

To give credit where it's due, the form reversal the Leafs have shown isn't entirely due to Lazzeri. Reinforcements have been placed in several important spots in the lineup, but even considering that fact, you have to hand it to Tony. He's the main reason why the International League's last-place club has won six of the eight games it has played since he took over the reins. And Tony has made more than one contribution in the form of hits.

The Leafs last night walloped Rochester Red Wings who were only ousted from the league lead Sunday. The score was 5-1 and it just about told the margin of Toronto superiority. It was the Leafs' fourth straight win and Rochester's fourth straight loss.

Gave Only Five Hits

Joe Mulligan, who hadn't won a game in a month serving mostly as a relief flinger, set the Red Wing sluggers down with five singles and lost a shutout through manager Lazzeri's error in the eighth. Before that happened, however, Bob Elliott had belted a homer inside the park and two doubles to knock in three runs. The homer came with one aboard in the climactic three-run rally in the first half of the eighth.

Meanwhile Baltimore's Orioles turned on Jersey City with a six-run rally in the eighth to defeat the new league leaders, 7-4, and Montreal outlasted Buffalo, recent conquerors of Rochester 7-6. This again gave the Orioles sole possession of fifth place while Buffalo went back to sixth, a half game ahead of Montreal.

Newark and Syracuse were idle.

A pinch home run by Reilly with two aboard and one by Etten, good for two more runs, made up Baltimore's winning rally. Up to that time Hy Vandenberg had held the Orioles to one run and five hits.

CORNWALL BISONS IN FIFTH PLACE

Sweep Twin Bill from Fourth-Berth Rome Colonels

(By The Canadian Press)

The axe hangs uneasily over the baseball manager's head when his team fails to strike a winning stride. ven being part-owner of the club, as /; Manager McConnell of Utica Braves in the Canadian-American League sometimes fails to stop its fall.

So, in an effort to bolster his last-place outfit by a general shake-up, McConnell announced his retirement from the helm last night along with the acquisition of two new pitchers. Playing their first season in the loop, Utica has won only 13 of 46 starts.

One of the new hurlers, Jack Cahill from Bloomington in the Three I League, gave Braves their 13th victory yesterday. The righthander limited Ottawa Senators to four hits for a 5-2 decision in the opener of a doubleheader at Utica.

Senators evened up with a 4-1 triumph in th nightcap behind the steady flinging of Ted Springer. Immediately after the game, McConnell announced he had traded Johnny Orpheus, Utica righthander, for Blackie Rochevit of Ottawa in a straight player deal.

Meanwhile at Rome, Cornwall Bisons hurdled Ottawa into fifth place by sweeping a doubleheader 5-2 and 7-6, from the fourth-berth Colonels. Frank Perkoski gave up six hits in winning the seventh-inning opener while the nightcap went 10 frames with Polly Veach, who took over in the eighth, getting credit for the victory.

With a chance to take over first place from Amsterdam Rugmakers, Oswego Nets failed when they lost, 4-1, at home against the Rugmakers. Tied in the sixth, Amsterdam pushed across snigle runs in each of-te last three frames.

The homesters lost at Ogdensburg, too, when Gloversville Glovers rallied for six runs in the ninth and an 8-7 triumph over the hometown Colts.

JOHNNIE BAWDEN SCORES SEVENTH WIN OF SEASON

Shell "Oilers" Can't be Beaten for First Place in League

CLOSE CONTEST

Point Anne on Top Until Eighth When St. Louis Homers for Winning Run

Johnnie Bawden rung up his seventh consecutive victory for the Shell 'Oilers' last night as his team mates rapped out four circuit blows to help their pitcher's cause and the 'Oilers' remain undefeated at eight wins and no losses by virtue of winning over the Point Anne "Cementmen" 10 to 9 at the Flats.

Tied at nine-all "Speedy" St. Louis, playing his first game of the season for the 'Oilers', stepped to the plate in the eighth inning and drove a hard and mighty blow to deep centre field, that went for a home run and victory as Bawden retired three of the next four men to face him.

The "Cementmen" took a decided lead in the fourth as they hit Bawden hard and scored six runs, adding two more in the fifth which seemed adequate to win at that point. Trailing by six the 'Oilers' found "Ski" Brant, Ox Point hurler, for three runs in the fifth and three more to knot the count in the seventh. Brant was then replaced by "Ding" Luffman from whose deliveries St. Louis poled out his homer and winning run of the game. Point Anne only got one hit off Bawden after the fifth.

The game was marked with lusty hitting as O'Nell clubbed two homers, Bawden one and St. Louis a fourth for the winners. Genereaux, Juby and Scott each had a brace of hits for the "Cementmen" as the Oilers outhit the losers 13 to eight. Bennett in left for the losers supplied the fielding features with two fine running catches. The result failed to change the league standing, however.

The lineups:

Point Anne: Genereaux ss; Whitehead 3b; Gaulin 1b; Green c; Bennett lf; Juby rf; Whalen 2b; Scott cf, Brant and Luffman p.

Shell-Aajmsa: Rowbotham c; Ronsky 3b; O'Nell 1b; Sero ss; Bawden p; Ano lf; Dickey rf; Moon 2b and St. Louis cf.

Pompton Lakes, N.J., June 27 — A few short jabs on the big fight you may have overlooked in the rush (??) to get tickets:

That week-end shift toward Galento was on the level, but after watching Louis, you can't help but wonder why.....Win, lose or draw tomorrow night, Galento has been promised a summer fight in London by Brig.-General Critchley, the Calgary-born British promoter.... A bet has been made (8 to 1) that some time during the proceedings, Louis hits the deck....It doesn't matter if he is knocked down, elbowed down, butted down or kicked down—just so he hits the deck.... Nate Lewis, Chicago fight manager, as bet 10 bucks at 25 to 1 Louis doesn't come out for the third round.

Four-Hit Performance Gives Sacramento Rookie, Pippen, First Win of Year Over Yanks

Men of McCarthy Lost Debut Under Lights to the A's.

VETERANS WIN

Grove and Bridges Each Win Their Games to Move Up With Leaders

(By Bill White Associated Press Sports Writer).

Henry H. Pippen, the Cisco (Tex.) kid of Philadelphia Athletics has his revenge on New York Yankees and some revenge it is from any angle you look at the Major League baseball situation.

Pippen, a mere 180-pound stripling, up by way of Sacramento, hurled the sixth place Athletics to a stunning 3-2 victory over New York Yankees in Monday's feature offering—a night game that drew 33,074 to Shibe Park as he held the champions to four hits.

The revenge was sweet to Henry because it was only last May 26 when Pippen lost his major league debut—to these same New Yorkers in Yankee stadium, and he lost it 1-0 on another four hit performance when Tobby Henrich homered in the sixth.

So Henry is the man of the minute in Philadelphia right now because his victory was not only his first of the year, but because it also gave the Athletics (A) their first win of the season over the Yankees, (B) Their first victory in five night-time tries, and (C) Fits because they hadn't thought up this way of beating the Yankees long ago.

Heartbreaker to Lose

It was the Yankees' first time under the lights and was a heartbreaker for Bump Hadley to lose. He hurled four hit ball, too, matching Pippen in that department, but he erred when he walked Sam Chapman, filling the bases in the eighth to get to Duke University's latest gift to the A's—because Eric Tipton pumped a long sacrifice fly that scored Dee Miles with the all-important run.

Tipton also drove out another sacrifice fly in the second inning to score Bob Johnson. The second Athletic score that tied the count at 2-2, came in the seventh. The Yankees picked up their first run in the second inning on Bill Dickey's double and Joe Gordon's single and then took a lead in the fourth when George Selkirk, the slugger from Huntsville, Ont., tripled and was wild-pitched home.

Grove Wins One

On the other American League fronts, a couple of battle-scarred veterans came through with fancy pitching performances. At Washington, the veteran Lefty Grove held the Senators to seven hits while his Red Sox mates collected 10 off the combined hurling of Joe Haynes and Walter Masterson, to win 3-0.

At Cleveland Detroit Tigers teed off on three Indians pitchers and won, not only a victory by 11-2, but also possession of third place in the pennant chase. That gave veteran Tommy Bridges his 10th triumph of the year.

St. Louis and Chicago were not scheduled and the National League took a holiday.

FRIGGSTERS NOSE OUT ORIOLES FOR TITLE

New champions were crowned in the city Ki-Y league in the Juvenile series when the Friggsters nosed out the Orioles in a gdoup play-off at Queen Victoria grounds last evening, the Friggsters winning by a score of 11 to 9.

The winners garnered four runs in the first inning as Thomaso, Whittard, Carson and Burley all scored in succession. The nines were practically tied by the time the seventh stanza rolled around, the Friggsters leading by a scant one run. The Orioles staged a belated rally in the ninth and scored three runs to leave the tying tallies stranded on the runways, as their rally fell short of knotting the count. Carter, Adams and Asselstine scored for losers in their futile bid.

Bockus hurled for the newly crowned champion Friggsters.

The lineups:

Friggsters: Gannon, Tomaso, Whittard, Carson, Burley, Crossley, Bockus, Thompson and Moult.

Orioles: Carter, Adams, Asselstine, DeCote, Barriage, Goyer, Coleman, Saunders, Moncrief.

MOUNTAIN VIEW WINS CLOSE ONE

Defeats Rednersville 3-1 in Best Game of Current Season

Rednersville, June 27 (Special)— In one of the best games of the current season Mountain View won over their Rednersville rivals 3-1 in a scheduled feature of the Consecon softball league. The game brought the two teams together for the last time this season unless they should connect in the play-offs. Mountain View now have a firm hold on first place and though it is possible to pull them out of top place it is highly improbable that Consecon can overtake the hilltop boys.

The game turned out to be a pitchers duel between Dempsey and Minaker each walking one man with Minaker striking out seven to Dempsey's six. Minaker yielded 6 hits while Dempsey allowed only three to the hilltop boys. However, Rednersville had four errors that proved costly.

M. Thompson first up for the Orange and Black singled and was tagged out stealing second. The next two men were retired in order. In the second half Barber flied out, Black singled and Jones was safe on G. Thompson's error, Black going to third and Jones to second. They both scored on E. Moy's single to right. Neith team could score again until the fourth when Ward singled for Rednersville, stole second and scored on G. Thompson's single. Mountain View increased their lead in the fifth when Barber walked, advanced to second when Sarley attempting to catch him off first threw wild and before the ball could be returned Barber was camped on third. He scored on Minaker's infield out. The lineups:

Mountain View: C. Barber 1b; Black ss; Jones 2b; E. Moy 3b; Mumby cf; C. Moy lf; Wilson c; Symonds rf; H. Minaker p.

Rednersville: M. Thompson 2b; Ward 3b; Wannamaker rf; Dempsey p; G. Thompson ss; Dawson lf; Snell 1b; Sarley c; Thompson cf.

LOUIS-GALENTO FIGHT WILL DRAW ABOUT $400,000

Credit for Last-Minute Interest Belongs to Manager of Galento

LOUIS' ODDS DOWN

(By Gayle Talbot-Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 27 (AP)— The Louis-Galento championship fight, which looked like a financial flop a week ago, has caught on amazingly and now looks as if it might attract better than $400,000 worth of playing customers to Yankee stadium tomorrow night.

Much of the credit for this last-minute interest belongs to Joe (Yussel) Jacobs, the manager of rotund Tony, who has performed some astonishing mental flip-flops in the past fortnight, starting with his help that Louis operated upon Max Schmeling with a "gimmick" last fall.

Some of Joe's other stunts, including his "cocktail party" in honor of Louis the other day, haven't made any particular sense. Even his violent assertion of last week that the boxing "experts" were uniformly stupid in picking Joe Louis to win didn't necessarily make Galento's chances against the champion any brighter.

Odds Reduced

But Joe's purple-faced insistence that Tony will wade into Louis tomorrow night and knock him loose from his crown has at least set the populace to wondering. Sufficient of them have placed bets on Tony on the past week to reduce the odds against him from 9 to 1 and 6 to 1.

And Joe (The Muscle) isn't through yet. He declares now that he's going to tote a pair of private scales into the ring to make sure the gloves weigh exactly the same. This, again, is on the silly side, for there is no commission rule that says the mitts must weight size hands and needs bigger givoes weight, and if a fighter has over-Galento family, has tomorrow than his rival, why, that's his business. Primo Carnera, for instance, regularly wore pillows several ounces heavier than his opponents. Still, Jacobs is likely as not to attempt to haul his scales into the ring, if only on the off-chance he can create a rumpus and upset the champ's composure.

(By Jim Hackett Associated Press Sports Writer).

Mrs. Galento Sure

Orange, N.J., June 27 (AP) — Tony's wife, Mary Galento, who's just as grave as her prize fighting husband is clownish and who, incidentally, is the real boss of the Galenti family, has tomorrow night's title bout with Joe Louis all figured out:

"Tony can't and won't lose this fight. He'll knock Mr. Louis out in the third round."

That's all. There is no ifs, ands or buts about it. The third round. A knockout.

"Then," said Mrs. Galento, "Tony's going to retire as world champion. We've got an 11-acre place picked out in West Orange, and we're going to start building our home on it right after the fight."

Mrs. Galento will be on hand in Yankees stadium tomorrow night to see "Tony do it."

Mr. and Mrs. Galento have talked the whole thing out, and have planned it so Tony will come out of his corner in a rush, right glove over his face and with the lethal left poised midway between his waist and the floor.

Bets on Husband

From that point on it's all up to Tony, but, says his wife of four years, "we're not thinking of losing; that's how sure we are. I've bet $100 on Tony to win at 8 to 1."

"Bashful" is her description of the orange heavyweight. Here's how Mary explains it:

"It took him all his life to talk to me; that's how bashful he is. He was my iceman, but he'd only say 'hello' " when he got a new automobile six years ago, he broke down and asked me how I liked it. I told him it was nice and that I'd like to be able to drive. He taught me. That's how we began to know each other.

"Everything is 50-50 in this family but Tony, he's an overgrown baby and has a heart as big as can be. He wants Junior to be a doctor and leave fighting alone."

COOPER TO TRY FOR NEW RECORD

His 225 Cubic Inch Boat Capable of Doing 90 Miles Per Hour

Picton, June 27 (Special)—Jack Cooper of Kansas City, Mo., will seek to establish a world's record for 225 cubic inch boats, when he comes to Picton regatta on July 3. There will be a special mile test for this purpose. In addition, Mr. Cooper will seek to win for the second time, the Gold Trophy which he won last year as winner of the Gold Cup race for 225 cubic inch boats. Mr. Cooper last year won with Tops II this year has a new craft, Tops III, which it is claimed will do better than ninety miles per hour. However, these are risky craft to drive and accidents may overtake him as it did George Cannon of Rockledge, Florida, who last year was unable to compete, when his Gray Goose overturned in the first heat. Cannon won the race the first year.

Giving Mr. Cooper, keen competition will be Harold Wilson of Ingersoll, who has a new boat. He was second in the event last year. Robert Juite of Juite, Ohio, also has an entry in the Gold Cup race, and local interest is keen since Lawrence and Keith Roblin nave their Marguerite V equipped with pontoons and otherwise improved and trials have proved, that it will be a dangerous contender. Other entries are ex[illegible]ted this week.

Entries for the outboard classes have come in large numbers, from Ontario, Quebec and the United States.

There is a full program of sailing events and these are being held on Sunday.

Prince Edward Yacht Club is a hive of industry these days as local boats try out,

Tomorrow evening the pugnacious Tony Galento, who is built like one of the barrels from which he draws his favourite brew, will climb into the ring with the devastating Joe Louis. Some folks are born lucky—but we can't class Galento in this category tomorrow night, that is unless Louis is affected with the St. Vitus dance or the palsy. Of course "Two Ton Tony" was never noted for his good looks or beauty, but he'll be the first patient in a long time whose features will be changed by Dr. Louis and will also get paid for the treatment. Ordinarily a patient pays the doctor, but when Lethal Louis goes to work the patient usually receibes some remuneration, even if he doesn't enjoy it for some months to come. (As per Max Schmeling a year ago).

• Promoter Mike Jacobs says he'll have 60,000 customers in the big Bronx ball yard tomorrow night and has had the publicity boys beating the drums loud and long with the latest ballyhoo quoting the odds as falling from 10 to 6 to 1 on Louis and plenty of takers in sight. The sad truth of the picture is that Galento has been licked by as many stumblebums as he ever pasted to the canvas himself. To name a single outstanding heavyweight ever pushed over by Galento is next to impossible, so why should one predict a victory for the beer-bruising baron is beyond our conception. Frankly speaking we feel Galento was nominated for the operation simply because Dr. Louis was running short on patients. Of course who wouldn't undergo a minor operation at the hands of Doc Louis for $200,000.00 or so? That is if you live to enjoy it.

Why, you probably never even heard of some of the lads who hold decisions over Galento. See how many of these names you recognize and bear in mind that all of them have beaten Tony: Frankie Alberts, Jay Laweless, Harold Mays (twice), Al Friedman, Bud Gorman, Paul Cavalier, Jack Dorval (twice), Johnny Risko, Ernie Schaff, Jack Gagnon, Natie Brown, Neal Clisby, Obie Walker, Unknown Winston, Bob Tow, Patsy Perroni and Al Delaney. Even Marty Gallagher stopped our hero.

And what real good fighter did Tony ever lick? To be honest with you, the answer is none.

Jackie Cooper, of Kansas City who holds the Canadian 225 class power boat title, has a new craft with which to defend his Canadian honors at Picton, and also at Belleville this year in his new Tops 3rd. Harold Wilson, who is one of Cooper's main rivals, has his new Miss Canada VI which he will race against Cooper in an effort to regain the Canadian power boat title. Incidentally Cooper will attempt to shatter the existing world's record for 225 class boats, which is 85 miles per hour. Hugh Gingras' speedster "Sabot" which upset last year travelling at 67 miles per hour, Jack McInnes "Miss Quebec 2nd" runner-up to Cooper for the Canadian title will also exhibit their wares at the local regattas this year.

We do believe that in the course of halting the Cincinnati Reds' steamroller course with the double-shellacking on Memorial Day the 1939 Chicago Cubs set probably an all-time baseball record for playing morning-afternoon-night in three successive games. Their holiday billing called for a.m. and p.m. battles; their next engagement was the night game opening in Brooklyn.

Had Skipper Bud Gaulin rushed "Ding" Luffman to the mound when "Ski" Brant showed signs of tiring last night at the Flats, there is a possibility the "cementmen" might have been the first this year to upset the Shell 'Oilers' and hand Johnnie Bawden his first defeat of the season. As it was, however, the Oilers pounded out four home runs, including St. Louis' circuit blow that proved the winning run, and Bawden tacked his seventh consecutive City League victory to the league masthead. The Ox Point nine clubbed Bawden fairly hard in the early stages and at one time enjoyed a six run lead, but when the big boy settled away after the fifth, the "cementmen" collected but one single afterwards. Of course had Luffman been rushed to the breach earlier, there are those who believe he might have stopped the subsequent rush of the Oilers, but that point will never be proven and now we'll have to wait until Friday when the Oilers and Corbys meet in their grudge tilt. In the meantime Secretary Harry Knott wants to meet the team managers at an executive meeting tonight.

Members of the Belleville Anglers' Club will regret to learn of the sudden death of Lawrence Day, Canadian fly-casting champion, who was drowned in Beach Lake over the week end. Mr. Day addressed the Belleville Anglers at their inaugural spring meeting this season and his tips on casting and equipment proved interesting as well as educational. Mr. Day had been fishing when his boat capsized, the pair of wading boots he displayed in Belleville, trapping him before aid could assist. He was a strong swimmer, we are told.

Sports Spice — Little Tommy Bridges seems to be the sparkplug of the Detroit Tigers, who slipped into third place in the American League on Tommy's tenth win of the season yesterday....July 4th is to be Lou Gehrig Day at the Yankee stadium and Marse Joe McCarthy is now telling the news boys Columbia Lou is a Ty Cobb, Ruth and Wagner all rolled into one ....Tsk, tsk Joe, did you forget Christy Mathewson....Even the astrologists like Joe Louis tomorrow, which does not elevate his stocks to any great degree, however....'Member old Frank Nighbor, the poke-check artist of the old Ottawa Senators? Well, Frank is slated to coach the Pembroke "Lumbermen" Juniors next winter....Look for a big shake-up in hockey circles down around Kingston before Santa Claus calls around next Christmas, if he does....Leafs chalked up their fourth consecutive win last night, beating the Red Wings but it's a tough old row to hoe out of that cellar plot, eh Tony?

The Stars Say

For Wednesday, June 28
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

LUNAR ASPECTS of this day point to very decisive steps in putting over new projects of major importance. These may call for drastic action and possibly ruthless behavior, but the mind will be keen and progressive, with a quick grasp of factors making for innovation, new propositions and perhaps radical change. With all such shrewd insight its logic will be sound. In social, domestic or emotional relations there may be peculiar developments, with intrigue and unconventionality banishing formality.

Those whose birthday it is may anticipate a year of very lively and important activities, both in business and private life. A definite probably drastic course of action may be needed to launch new projects or to fortify old ones. In intimate relations unconventionality and intrigue may give a singular turn to events. Some semblance of prudence and formality are recommended, lest regrets follow.

A child born on this day may be extremely active, energetic and forceful, and perhaps it may seek an outlet for its versatility and initiative in sports or athletics. In its private affairs there may be a tendency to intrigue, duplicity and informality.

GOVERNOR EARL LONG SEEKS TO SAVE HUEY LONG PARTY

Baton Rouge, La., June 27—(AP)—Triumphant in his quest for state power, Governor Earl Kemp Long today moved swiftly to rehabilitate and save the old Huey Long political machine, badly shaken by "financial irregularity" charges claiming attention of Federal authorities.

The new governor, brother of the late "Kingfish" Huey Long, promised no let-up in a cleanup of knotted political affairs of the state. Long was sworn in last night following the resignation of Richard Leche in the midst of further Federal Government scrutiny of relief activities here.

HOUSEWIFE SURPRISED WHEN MINNOW COMES OUT OF FAUCET

Los Angeles, June 27 (AP) — This little fish "swam and he swam"—right out of the faucet into Mrs. Abbie Hobson's sink. "I was planning a fishing trip up in the mountains," Mrs. Hobson said, "but if the trout are going to plop right out of the faucet I'll stay home and fish in the sink."

RATTLE WAS TOO COOPERATIVE

Tulsa, June 27 (AP)—Hugh Davi, director of Mohawk Zoo, used live snakes in a lecture to girl campers on what to do for rattlesnake bite. "At least," he said as a tourniquet was applied above his left hand and someone sucked out the poison, "it gave me an opportunity to practice what I was preaching." One of the rattlers was too cooperative.

WOMAN KILLED IN CAR ACCIDENT

Six Others Injured When Two Cars Collide Head-On

Brampton, Ont., June 27—(CP)—Miss Martha Sutherland, 84, was killed and six other persons were injured, one critically, when two automobiles collided last night on the Brampton-Cooksville Highway.

Miss Sutherland died soon after admittance to Peel Memorial Hospital here. The condition of Miss Gertrude M. MacKenzie of Brampton was reported grave.

Other injured persons were Sidney Back, Toronto, Mrs. Evelyn Back, Sam Back, Ed Granger, dislocated shoulder, Gordon Emery, broken kneecap.

Police said the accident occurred when a car Emery was driving, with Misses Sutherland and Mackenzie as passengers, turned off the highway into a side-road. Both machines were badly damaged in the collision. Driver of the Back car was not named.

TWO ARE KILLED AT RAIL CROSSING

Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilton of Strathroy Going to Market at Time

London, Ont., June 27—(CP)—Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Wilton of Strathroy were killed today when their car was struck by a Canadian National Railway passenger train on a level crossing four miles east of Strathroy.

The couple were en route to the London market with a load of berries. The train was in charge of Engineer Wheacroft and Conductor A. Eby, both of Sarnia. According to their reports the weather was clear and the crossing affords a good view.

The train was delayed 38 minutes at the scene.

Dr. A. O. Berdan of Strathroy, Coroner, ordered an inquest.

Wilton was 54 and his wife 49.

Police were informed the trailer and car were tossed 75 feet by the crash. The dead were identified by Allan McNeill who lives 200 yards from the scene.

The fatality occurred only half-a-mile from the Wilton home.

Judge Gets Story Piece by Piece From Escapee

Minneapolis, June 27—(AP)—It took time but Judge Levi Hall finally got to the point with Eugene Crossley, 21, who was in court for automobile theft'

"You've been in St. Cloud Reformatory before, what for?" asked the court.

"For escaping from Red Wing." Crossley replied.

"Well, then how did you happen to get in Red Wing "

"For escaping from Glen Lake."

"Come, come, why were you there, what did you do," snapped the Judge.

"Oh, that was for taking a car," Crossley exclaimed.

Sentence—up to three years.

Eighty Searchers Find No Trace Of Missing Man

Minden, Ont., June 27—(CP) — Eighty weary searchers today trudged through the thick bush country around Devil's Lake searching for Benjamin Yelland, 79, missing for six days. More than 20 dropped out of the search today, convinced the missing man was dead.

Many men plan to continue the search until they find something, even though Provincial Police said it was unlikely the elderly man could survive exposure and lack of food. Dr. H. M. Yelland of Peterborough, son of the missing man, is among the searchers.

Mr. Yelland left his summer cottage on the north shore of Devil's Lake Wednesday on a four-mile trip to visit a neighbor.

Devil's Lake is between the villages of Kinmount and Gooderham in the Haliburton district.

FINDS LOST DIAMOND RING IN GIZZARD OF DUCK

Elyria, O., June 27 (AP)—Mrs. William Beal had a duck for dinner, and the duck brought something—a $125 diamond ring lost six weeks ago. Mrs. Beal found it in the duck's gizzard and said she probably had dropped it into a pan of peelings fed to her flock.

ART MIX TELLS US HOW TO BECOME 'WESTERN' ACTOR

What are the requirements for becoming a Western star in the movies was asked of Art Mix, who has appeared in over 100 pictures playing the leading role.

"To become a Western actor one must know how to ride and ride well," he stated. "He can't just sit on a horse, but he must be able to set a pace for the best riders everywhere to follow. He should be in a class by himself in this respect.

"Next, a chap must screen well; that is he must have a personality or be a distinct type. A lot of fellows can ride horses but they must be distinctive.

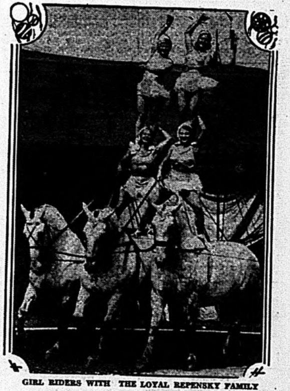
"After a man is selected as a good screen type and can ride well he must learn by months and years of constant work the art of acting. A hell raising, two-gun, bronco buster may be able to ride like nobody's business, and he may look like a million dollars on the screen, but if he can't act he is still lacking one of the essential qualities that would fit him for stardom."

A native of Bozeman, Mont., Art Mix punched cattle and rode the ranges of Montana and Wyoming. He appeared in championship rodeos throughout the United States, Canada and in Europe, twice winning the gold medal as the champion cowboy of the world.

As a Western screen star Art Mix has appeared in more than 100 films as the star. His pictures have been shown throughout the world. He recently returned to the United States from a personal appearance tour in Europe.

Art Mix with his great congress of rough riders, Indians and Cossacks is coming to Belleville, Thursday, June 29, with the Cole Bros. Circus. There are 700 people with the show including 300 performers. Two special trains transport the show from city to city. An immense street parade will be seen on the down-town streets at 11 a.m. Performances will be given at 2 and 8 p.m.

Oh Boy! It Won't Be Long; Cole Bros. Circus is Coming



GIRL RIDERS WITH THE LOYAL REPENSKY FAMILY

Ah! The Circus!

The Great Cole Bros. Combined Shows with Art Mix, America's No. 1 cowboy and Western movie star, is headed this way.

Thursday, June 29, is the date when performances will be given at 2 and 8 p. m. in Belleville.

Fresh from triumphant Spring engagements in Eastern cities Cole Bros. promise to uncork the very latest in the way of streamlined thrills with its 300 performers recruited from its 18 foreign countries.

Travelling with the big combined shows this season are 700 people, 20 elephants, 250 menagerie animals and 250 horses. Two special trains will transport the circus from thither to yon. Art Mix, the hero of more than one hundred movies with a congress of rough riders, cowboys and cowgirls, Indians and Cossacks promises to make the old West live again. The famous cinema star will be seen on Silver Dan his prize mount.

Everybody wishes to see the Cole Bros. Circus this year, which recently returned from a triumphal five year tour of Europe, and it is a foregone conclusic. that the big tent, seating 10,000 persons, will be filled to the last chair afternoon and night. Six rings and stages and the hippodrome track, will be used for the earth's foremost arenic talent — 300 acknowledged kings and queens of daring, grace, skill and incredible agility. Miss Juanita Repensky, charming and youthful equestrienne will be head of a great array of riders.

One of the largest, finest and costliest street parades will be seen at 11 a.m. Hundreds of horses, 20 elephants and two caravans of camels from the great desert will be seen. In the picturesque line of march will be nearly fifty elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats, tableau wagons and open dens and cages displaying the menagerie. Doors will open at 1 and 7 p. m. The big shows start at 2 and 8 p. m.

MAY VISIT COBOURG

Cobourg, Ont., June 27—(CP)—Mrs. L. Bingham of Cobourg, aunt of Mrs. Andy Devine, has received word that Andy Devine and Jack Benny, radio comedians, may visit Cobourg with their wives for a fishing trip to nearby Rice Lake.

Mrs. Bingham hopes to entertain them for tea at the cottage where the late Marie Dressler was born

FALL FATAL TO FARMER

Peterborough, Ont., June 27—(CP)—Edmund Dawson, 50, one of South Monaghan's best known farmers, died here today as the result of a fall from a wagon while unloading hay at his barn on Saturday. He was taken to Nicholls Hospital but he failed to rally following an operation and two blood transfusions.

The Perfect Accident

By ROBERT LE VITRE

Maxwell Judd raised his rifle slowly and the eye that sighted along its barrel had the cold ruthlessness of a stalking tiger's. For four days he had waited for this, and now the setting was perfect. He had heard Masters shooting over across the ravine two minutes ago. Then he saw the big buck, wounded, charging up through the sparse aspens. It was following the top of the ridge. When it fell dead its body was out of sight. Only its head showed.

That was the beautiful part, Judd saw grimly. Its head had become propped in the brush as it fell. From where he stood it appeared still alive. It seemed just a cautious deer, frozen into listening immobility before it ventured over the ridge. Its four-point horns were wide and unmistakable against the sky. A natural shot for a hunter. He became still as the stone he lay behind as he heard Jim Masters making his way up the far side of the ridge, coming up to his kill.

As the time for action neared Maxwell Judd felt could drops of perspiration on his temples, knew that his determination was ebbing. Desperately he called to his mind a picture of Gloria Masters. He dwelt upon the intoxicating glamour of her; upon her physical beauty that made her sa desirable it filled a man with madness. He lived again the times she had met him clandestinely; seemed to feel her once more trembling in his arms. There was only one way. Jim Masters must be put out of the picture!

It had been her idea, too, he told himself. He had to do it for her sake.

"Jim will never give me a divorce," she had said, that last night he saw her. "And anyway, dear, we need his insurance money. Maybe fate is just sending you on this hunting trip. There are so many hunting accidents, you know. It would be so easy to mistake him for a deer."

Five of them from the insurance office had come down here to the Salt Creek Range for a week's hunting. Since their arrival Judd had waited patiently for this chance.

He felt himself trembling again as the head of Jim Masters appeared behind ten big horns. He cradled his left hand more firmly on the stone, steadied the gun barrel. The sights settled between the spread of horns, found the hunter who stood there. Then his finger tightened; the gun barked. There must be no bungling. He worked the bolt; shot again and again.

It was such an obvious accident. Hours later, almost overcome with grief, he explained it to the other members of the party. Told them over and over how it happened. He insisted that they come with him and stand where he had been. They had to realize that it was not his fault. They looked—and understood. The deer had not been moved. They pictured the drama and realized that doubtless they would have made the same shot. Knowing this, they sympathized with him the more deeply. In their hearts they could not even accuse him of carelessness.

At late evening the sorrowing party brought their dead comrade into camp. Maxwell Judd walked behind the improvised stretcher, solemn-faced, his handkerchief constantly in his hand. Secretly he was exultant. His innocence was established beyond any doubt.

They packed hastily and were on the verge of departing when a car came rapidly up the narrow canyon and stopped beside them. Two sober-faced men alighted and strode to where they were working.

"We're from the sheriff's office," the smaller of the two explained. "We're looking for the hunting party of James W. Masters. Have some bad news for him. His wife has been seriously injured in an auto accident."

The hunters looked at one another for a moment of stunned silence. So Jim's death wasn't enough hard luck! Maxwell Judd stared at the speaker in utter bewilderment.

"I helped take her to the hospital," the larger of the two said. "She's in pretty bad shape. Delirious. Kept raving about her husband being shot for a deer."

Agan glance met glance in wonderment. The hunters sensed a strange tension in the situation. One of them spoke in an awed voice. "Her husband was shot by mistake for a deer. Maxwell Judd did it, entirely accidental."

Maxwell Judd stepped forward suddenly, caution forgotten, his mask of mock grief changed to one of anxiety. "Is Gloria—is Mrs. Masters hurt very badly? Will she die?"

"Probably," the officer said. Then suddenly he looked at the hunter searchingly while his brow wrinkled. "Say," he asked, "what did you say your name was?"

The other had collected himself and as wearing his mask of grief again.

"Judd," he said quietly. "Maxwell Judd."

The officer repeated the name musingly. "Maxwell Judd .. .. Mighty strange. And you seem to take quite an interest in Mrs. Masters, too. By jove, it fits teogether! Maxwell Judd—I have it now!"

His voice rang with conviction. He stepped forward and grasped the hunter's arm.

"That's the name she kept repeating," he exclaimed. "The name of the man she said would shoot her husband!"

Wire Barricades Built at Swatow About British Wharves

Hong Kong, June 26—(AP)—Wire barricades around British wharves at Japanese-held Swatow created a possible new source of friction today between Great Britain and Japan in China.

British naval officers said Japanese had strung the barricades around British wharves at the South China port, occupied by the Japanese last week, but there had been not test as yet of their effectiveness because lack of Chinese coolies prevented British shippers attempting to unload.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 27 (CP)—Prices on the Toronto Stock Exchange today moved with a restricted range and showed practically no change at noon from Monday's close except for a slight set-back for the western oils. Trading dwindled to only 130,000 shares in the first hour.

In the industrial section utilities, foods and banks held minor gains, off-setting mild weakness in the senior oils, steels and implements.

Base metal issues showed losses among the seniors and firmer prices for the cheaper issues. In the gold prices were off slightly for McIntyre, Hard Rock, Chesterville, Canadian Malartic and Pickle Crow.

Home Oil and Okalta held unchanged and Anglo-Canadian weakened a cent or two.

NEW YORK STOCKS

New York, June 27 (AP)—Stocks shuffled over a somewhat uneven terrain in today's market.

The list tried a selective rally at the start, but soon wavered. After a moderate dip, however, a mild recovery move again got under way. Near the fourth hour forenoon declines of as much as a point or so were reduced or converted into advances in many cases.

Bonds shifted in varying directions and commodities were mixed.

Resistant stocks included Bethlehem Steel, U.S. Steel, Chrysler, J. C. Penney, N.Y. Central, Southern Pacific, U.S. Rubber and Westinghouse.

Backward were American Telephone, U.S. Gypsum, Anaconda, American Smelting, Eastman Kodak, Loft and Air Reduction.

Pushed back fractionally among Canadian issues were distillers, Dome and Lake Shore. C.P.R. moved up a trifle. Dominion 4s coasted along evenly.

Sunshine mining on the "big board", the largest silver producer in the United States, moved up substantially, appearing with an initial block of 3,500 shares. Homestake and McIntyre Porcupine, prominent gold mines, weakened in reflection of the senate's monetary shift.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 27 (CP)— Cattle trade was fairly active at mid-session on the Toronto Livestock market today with prices steady. Calf, sheep and lambs held steady. No prices were established on hogs. Cattle holdover from Monday was 700 head.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 1,530; calves 1,090; hogs, 1,190! sheep and lambs 780.

Weighty steers sold from $6.25-$7. Good butcher steers and heifers were $6.85-$8.75 with common downward to $5.50. Butcher cows traded at $3.75-$5.25. Good butcher bulls brought from $5-$5.25 with bolognas at $4.25-$4.75. Fed calves ranged from $6.75-$7.75.

Choice veal calves sold at $8-$8.50 with common downward to $5.50. Few grass calves sold at $4.50-$5.

Previous close on off-truck bacon hogs was $9.50.

Lambs brought $11 for choice and down to $8 for culls. Sheep traded at $2-$3.50 cwt. with few light ewes up to $4.

Egg Prices Show Sharp Advance

Toronto, June 27.—Another general advance was recorded by eggs during Monday's session of the Toronto open produce market, while butter showed no change, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Good demand readily absorbed the prevailing light receipts on the egg market and prices were boosted from 1c to 2c per dozen. Ungraded eggs changed hands yesterday at 19c for grade A large, 17c for medium, 14c for B's and 13c for C grades. Graded shipments closed at 21c to 22c for grade A-large, 19c to 20c for medium, 16c to 16 1-2c for B's and 14 1-2c to 15c for grades.

Demand was light on the butter market, with trading practically at a standstill in the afternoon session. Holders were not pressing sales, but buyers displayed little interest in offerings, and the market closed with an easier undertone at previous levels. Ontario creamery solids ended at 22c for No. 1 grades and 21 1-4c for 38 score. Prints ruled steady.

Montreal Eggs Up

Montreal, June 27. — (CP)—Feature of trading on open produce markets here was rise of nearly 2 cents which came out in egg prices, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported. Potato, butter and cheese offerings slipped back slightly.

Creamery butter prints to retailers sold for 22 3-4 to 23 cents a pound and solids for 22 1-4 to 22 1-2 cents. Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21 1-2c. Receipts: 933 boxes.

Ontario white cheese sold for 13 1-8 cents a pound and colored for 13 3-8 cents. Quebec white traded for 12 3-4 cents and colored for 13 cents. Receipts: 1,326 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 23 cents a dozen for A-large, 20c to 21c for A-medium, 17c for B-large and 15c for C. Receipts: 878 cases.

ADMIRALS CONFER AT SINGAPORE

Singapore, June 27 (CP-Reuters)—Vice-Admirau Sir Ragnar Colvin, First Naval Member of the Australian Naval Board, conferred here today with Admiral Sir Percy Noble, Commander-in-Chief of the China station.

Anglo-French naval parleys in progress here since last Thursday came to an end this afternoon. Sir Percy leaves Thursday in his flagship, H.M.S. Kent, for China waters.

Sir Ragnar, who arrived in the patrol sloop Swan, is enroute to London for Admiralty conferences.

SILVER IS EASIER

if this new American monetary policy should be definitely adopted, an intense depression in commercial exchange within our country."

Mexico ships about 7,000,000 ounces of silver monthly to the United States, sells it for an average of 43 cents an ounce, or about $3,000,000 monthly. The shipments are made directly by the mining industry from whom the government collects an export tax of about $200,000 and a production tax in addition.

Silver Price Drops

Montreal, June 27—(CP)— Bids for silver futures were more than one cent an ounce lower in early trading on Canadian commodity exchange today following passage by the United States Senate of a bill which would end purchases of foreign-mined silver.

At the opening of the exchange—centre of silver trading in Canada—the bid was down 1 5-16 cents for the current trading month, June, at 39 29-32 cents an ounce. The price was the lowest since December, 1937. Trading was at a standstill.

Officials said today's decline was the direct result of backsets in the London silver market, which reacted sharply to the Senate vote. They pointed out, however, that the bill, which also raises the price of domestic silver, has yet to receive congressional approval.

Silver Contracts

London, June 27—(AP)— Both immediate and forward silver contracts in the London silver market slumped sharply today in reaction to the United States Senate's vote to raise the domestic price of the metal and abandon the purchase of foreign silver. Both positions slumped by the equivalent of 1.45 cents an ounce to 39.89 cents and 39.40 cents respectively.

The nervousness in the market which was strikingly evident last week increased with the approach of the June 30 date on which the United States must renew, revise or abandon its foreign silver purchasing policy. Today's London silver price was the lowest since Sept. 28, 1938. The volume of trading, however, was light.

Price Cut to 40 Cents

Washington, June 27—(AP) — The United States Treasury slashed its price for foreign silver today from 43 to 40 cents an ounce.

This action was taken less than 24 hours after the Senate voted to discontinue purchases of foreign silver July 1.

The Treasury's foreign silver price had been 43 cents per ounce since March 1938, and had been 45 cents per ounce for two years prior to that cut.

PLANS PROCEED FOR CONFERENCE

British Ambassador Awaits Word from London on Tientsin Issue

Tokyo, June 27—(AP)—Preparations went forward today for talks to end the 14-day Anglo-Japanese deadlock at Tientsin.

The British Ambassador, Sir Robert Craigie, awaited word from London after a half-hour conference yesterday with Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita on a basis for a settlement of the controversy, in which Japanese have blockaded the British and French concessions in the North China port and subjected Britons to what Prime Minister Chamberlain called "intolerable" indignities.

Arita reported on the Tientsin situation at a regular cabinet meeting this afternoon and the Foreign Office spokesman said the five-man "inner cabinet" was meeting later to discuss "Japan's policy toward third powers" in connection with the Tientsin episode.

Reaction at Washington

Qualified observers believed the projected conversations would be conducted with an ear cocked for reaction in the United States because of what they called a strong desire for American friendship. Japan, they said, was anxious that the United States preserve strict neutrality and was concerned over reports from Washington of deep interest in the deadlock.

The basis of the possible Anglo-Japanese negotiations was confused because of the absence of concrete Japanese demands but it was believed that Sir Robert and Arita discussed in general terms Japanese demands for British "cooperation" in China. That has superseded the fundamental issue—the British refusal to relinquish to Japanese four Chinese accused by Japanese of terrorism. The refusal led Japanese to blockade the Tientsin foreign areas June 14.

It was believed that the negotiations might be conducted in Tokyo.

which has continued for 20 years must be preserved.

The newspaper added that the current German propaganda slogan—"nobody wants to die for Danzig"—is false.

Fighting For Danzig

"In London everybody declares himself ready to fight for Danzig because that is to fight for London Gibraltar and Suez," the paper said. "Each Frenchman also understands he must be ready to fight for Danzig if he wishes to find Europeans ready to die for Strasbourg and Metz.

"As for the Germans, they are ready to make a peaceful conquest of provinces, whether German or not, but they are in no hurry to make war. They would risk it if it promised to be brief, local and glorious, but they retreat before the idea of a general long war, which would mathematically be lost for them."

Warsaw, June 27—(AP)—Polish sources denied today there was any military significance in the temporary closing of the main highway between Gdynia, Polish port, and the Free City of Danzig. It was explained the highway was closed yesterday for repairs.

Danzig, June 27—(AP)— Poland closed the frontier road between Zoppot, Danzig, and Gdynia, Polish port near the Free City, from 2 a.m. to noon today. The Danzig newspaper Vorposten said Poland was building tank obstructions and other items of military character on the road.

Say Windsors Plan to Reside In London Soon

London Standard Says Return Will be in October Next

London, June 27.—(AP)— Lord Beaverbrook's London evening Standard, usually well informed about the Duke of Windsor's plans, said today the Duke and Duchess had decided to return to England next October to take up residence here.

The Standard's story, published in late afternoon editions, said also it was possible that the Duke and Duchess would visit the United States next year.

Lord Beaverbrook's Standard and his morning paper, the Daily Express, long have carried on a campaign for the return of the Duke to England, which he last saw immediately after his abdication December 11, 1936.

Lord Beaverbrook and some members of his staff are personal friends of the Duke.

Without giving the source of its information, the Standard said:

"The Duke and Duchess of Windsor have decided to return to England. They will arrive in October and take up residence here. There is no question of their obtaining permission.

"As British citizens, the Duke and Duchess are free to come and go as they please. The Duke has for some time past resolved not to insist on the granting of the title Royal Highness to the Duchess. It is probable that they will visit the United States next year."

The Windsors now reside in France.

They planned to visit the United States last year but cancelled their trip after American labor criticized the Duke's selection of Charles Bedaux, who headed an industrial efficiency system, to handle arrangements for the tour.

Since the recent visit of the Duke's brother and successor, King George VI and Queen Elizabeth to Canada and the United States there has been speculation in London whether the Windsors might decide that circumstances were more favorable now for their own visit to the Duchess' homeland.

Paris, June 27 (AP)—The Duke and Duchess of Windsor today neither confirmed nor denied reports in London that they would take up residence in England this autumn.

A secretary of the Duke said:

"The Duke and Duchess have not yet made their plans for the autumn."

The Duke and Duchess expect to leave Paris tomorrow by automobile for Aix-Les-Bains. They plan to stay there several days and then proceed to their Cap D'Aintibes estate for the summer.

Sidney Crossing

Sidney Crossing, June 27. — The Aikin's "Busy Bee" Mission Band held their annual picnic at Wills' Grave, Bay Shore, on Friday last. After a lunch of hot dogs and ice cream along with other good things a splendid program was given which had been arranged by the superintendent, Miss Helen Card. At the close of the program a presentation in honor of Miss Helen Card, Mission Band superintendent and also teacher of S.S. No. 4 for the past three years, was made, in view of the fact that she has given up her position as teacher.

The following address was read by Miss Jewell Bailey:

Dear Miss Card: We, the pupils of this school, felt we could not let you leave us without expressing in some way our love and devotion to you, as a teacher and as a friend.

Young as we are, we realize what a splendid teacher you have been. you have given us in studying our work was important and a necessary part of our growing up. Many times you must have been discouraged at our progress, but under your training we have always felt the urge to do better.

Especially do we appreciate, as do our parents, the excellent training you have given u sin studying our Bibles. As we grow older many passages of Scripture that we have stored in our memories, will help us when we meet with temptations. Your influence for everything that is good, has always been a help to us throughout the years that you have been our teacher.

We ask you now to accept this little gift, and as you use it, may you have kindly thoughts of your teaching days in our little red school house.

We wish you much joy, and happiness in your future life, and we trust that the God whom you serve and have taught us to love, will ever guide you.

Signed an behalf of the pupils of S.S. No. 4.

Little Miss Margaret Kells then presented Miss Card with a beautiful two-piece silver and glass relish dish after which Miss Card graciously thanked the children for the gift, and also stated that she had greatly enjoyed her work among them and especially that of the Mission Band. While the present was being unwrapped the children sang "O Give Me Something to Remember You By", and afterward "For She's a Jolly Good Fellow" was sung. The rest of the time was spent in bathing and races and all report a real good time.

The visitors would find in Canada a great deal of agitation that the nation should go much further in solving her railway problems than legislation for co-operation. But once a railway was built, it was no easy matter to tear it up. Value of other peoples' property was destroyed and tearing up tracks didn't remove fixed charges.

Operating Costs

"We have been doing and are doing everything that can reasonably be done to reduce operating expenses," he said. Railways are as essential as ever to bulk commodity movements. A ton of bulk freight can still be moved a mile cheaper by railway than by any other means except a bulk water freighter.

Even as Minister of Transport, Mr. Howe said he had not been able to get very close to the railway accounting systems. There seemed to be a barrier. If the association had as an aim a more uniform system of railway accounting, he hoped the Canadian railways would take this aim to heart. For three years a Canadian committee has worked on the problem and hasn't submitted a report.

C. N. R. Management

Present system of managing the C.N.R. was satisfactory, said Mr. Howe. The board of seven, composed of one practical railway executive, one representative of railway labor, and five businessmen, was doing a good job.

"We have the type of men who won't stand for government interference and would resign immediately if any was attempted," he said.

Mayor Ralph Day, welcoming the convention, said Canadians wished to thank the people of the United States for "the very great welcome they gave our King and Queen so recently."

Roslin

Roslin, June 27—The Lord Bishop of the diocese of Ontario, the Right Rev. John Lyons, visited the parish of Roslin on Sunday, June 18th. Service was held in St. John's Church, Moneymore. The Rector, Rev. F. C. Beazer, presented a class of thirteen candidates to the Bishop for the rite of confirmation. A celebration of Holy Communion followed the confirmation service.

During the service two new prayer books donated by the Ladies' Guild and two brass altar vases donated by Mrs. George Weir were dedicated for use in the church by the Bishop.

Mr. and Mrs. Chancey Sills and family and Mrs. N. Sills spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Joseph Coulter.

Bishop Lyons and Rev. F. C. Beazer and Mrs. Beazer spent the dinner hour Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Weir and Mrs. George Weir.

Messrs. Norman White, John Goodfellow, Charles Hart and R. Easton spent the week end in Toronto and attended the Conservative convention.

Mr. John Fargey has gone to Picton where he has secured a position.

Mrs. H. Chisholm and Mrs. H. Sayers spent the week end in Toronto.

The Ladies' Guild held a pot luck dinner and quilting at the home of Mrs. B. Colden on Wednesday. There were nineteen present at the delicious dinner which was served at noon, the afternoon was spent in quilting.

The cemetery fence at the Anglican Church is being pointed and presents a much improved appearance.

WILL PLACE CANNONS IN OLD FORT ERIE

Fort Erie, Ont., June 27 (CP)—Professor Donald Way of Kingston, in charge of the restoration of Fort Erie's ramparts, arrived here today to supervise the placing of old cannons in the places cannons rested when the Fort was surrendered to invading United States troops in 1814.

Seven cannons have been put in the fort by the Niagara Parks Commission. Efforts to fire the old cannons will be made tomorrow and if they are successful the guns will be used in the historical pageant opening here Saturday.

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Soil, a climatic factor! The climate of any place is the additive result of many major and minor factors, and soil is one of the minor factors. Everyone knows how hot dry sand can get under the sun's rays, and how slowly moist earth warms up; dry soils also radiate (lose heat) their heat faster than moist soils. A sandy region then may have warmer days and cooler nights than a moist region. The moister region is also more disposed to fogs. The character of the soil will also determine to some extent the character of the vegetation which in turn will modify climate.

Immigration Laws Divide Family Of Nine in United States Three Ways

Los Angeles, June 28—(AP)—Immigration laws divided a family of nine three ways today.

The indigent parents, John McNeil, 39, a Canadian Great War veteran, his wife, Ann, 39, and a son, Jack, 6 were aboard a deportation train bound for Halifax.

McNeil was hopeful to the last he could keep his family together. Finally he put his arms about his wife.

"We've lost," he said. "Let's get it over with."

One by one he kissed the children to be left behind, then led his wife and son to an automobile which took them to the train. There McNeil was told to ride with the men. His wife and son were taken to a car for women and children.

Mrs. McNeil prayed before a statute, "Oh, Sainted Mother, don't let them take my children."

Then she screamed to officers, "I'll kill my children rather than see them taken away."

Two other Canadian-born children, Mildred, 18, and Mrs. Dorothy Lofton, 19, were to have been deported also. But Mrs. Lofton, an expectant mother fainted as they were being taken to the station and was permitted to remain with her American husband.

Colleen, eight, said her sister Mildred ran away because she wanted to stay in the United States. Edna, 16, who could have stayed anyway, was missing with her. Mildred still faces deportation when found.

Immigration officials here said the Canadian government refused to accept Edna, Colleen, Marjorie, 14, and Shirley, 10, because they were born in the United States and their father was on relief. They will be placed in an institution.

McNeil's illegal entry government agents charged, was the reason for deportation.

10-YEAR-OLD BOY DENNIS DONOHUE DROWNS AT TWEED

Father Who is Sitting on Verandah, Hears Cry, Dashes to River

PLUNGES INTO WATER

Makes Desperate Effort to Save Son in Vain and Gets Into Deep Water

Tweed, Ont., June 28 (Special)—Despite a father's frantic effort to save him, ten year old Dennis Donohue, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Donohue, Tweed, was drowned above the north dam of the Moira River last night while swimming with a companion. The body was recovered near the dam some eighty-five minutes after the tragedy had occurred, but artificial respiration given by Dr. M. B. George, and a local hydro crew proved fruitless.

First intimation of the impending tragedy came when Chief of Police Claire Hayes, who was driving along Moira Street on the north bank of the river, saw two heads bobbing in the water, and heard a faint cry. "Help, help" came the voice of ten year old Joseph Genereaux, chum of Donohue, who was swimming with him, "Hurry, Denny's drowning."

Father Dashes to River

The police officer leaped out of his car and was shedding his clothes, when Edward Donohue, father of the drowned boy, who was sitting on the verandah of his home nearby, and who had heard the frantic cries, dashed past the police car, and plunged into the water.

Donohue could not swim, but made his way to the struggling figures and in his desperate attempts to save the boys the three sank in about twelve feet of water.

Ropes were thrown from the shore and the elder Donohue and Genereaux were hauled to safety. The younger Donohue had disappeared beneath the surface and efforts to locate him were fruitless. It was not until a few stop-logs had been removed from the dam, and a powerful light brought into action to search the river-bottom that the body was discovered lying near the dam.

It was recovered by Dr. George and other men with a boat, but despite strenuous efforts at resuscitation, the boy failed to revive.

JAMES A. RICHARDSON BURIAL TO BE HELD IN WINNIPEG THURSDAY

Winnipeg, June 28—James A. Richardson, leader in Canada's grain trade, financier and philanthropist, who died at his home here Monday, will be buried in the family plot at St. John's Cemetery, last resting place for many Winnipeg pioneers. The funeral service will be held at Augustine United Church Thursday at 2:30 o'clock. Trading was halted on the floor of the Winnipeg Grain Exchange today as members paid silent tribute to Mr. Richardson.

The late J. A. Richardson was a director of Great West Life Assurance Company.

25 Years After Sarajevo

——*

20 Years After Versailles

London, June 28—(CP)—European nations, beset by fears of a new conflict, marked today two anniversaries of the Great War.

Twenty-five years ago today the assassination at Sarajevo of Archduke Franz Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary was the spark which set off the war.

The treaty which 27 nations signed exactly five years later at Versailles was intended to bring "lasting peace." But in rearmed Germany the pact has been proclaimed "dead."

France's parliament went home, adjourned yesterday by Premier Daladier with a declaration that France faces the greatest international crisis since the end of the Great War. His pessimistic statement and his reminder that "on our frontiers are 3,000,000 men, without counting semi-military units" foreshadowed a worried summer.

Britain And Russia

Great Britain harassed by Japan's challenge to her interests in the Far East, pressed diplomatic efforts to bring Soviet Russia into the Anglo-French front. Russia herself was involved in border skirmishing on the Mongolian- Manchoukuoan frontier.

In Rome, Fascist military leaders talked of Italy's ability to win a war speedily through lightning attacks in the "spirit of fascism." This was the theme of "armed forces of fascist Italy," a book published under government auspices.

The Nazi press in Berlin emphasized Chancellor Hitler's success in smashing the Versailles Treaty. His Voelkischer Beobachter asserted, "the dictate of Versailles is dead," and added: "In the consciousness of our strength and at the side of our firm friend, Italy, we cry out on this day of remembrance—never again Versailles!"

Danzig is Urgent Question

The most urgent question at the moment for Britain and France is Danzig, with its 96 per cent German population but with economic control by Poland.

As a German naval base at the mouth of the Polish river Vistula it would be both a German stronghold in the Baltic and possibly a stranglehold on Poland's economic and political existence. Britain and France already have pledged aid in the event of an attack on the independence of Poland.

There are fears Hitler may order a surprise swoop on Danzig. Some had guessed today's anniversary had been marked down for the day, others have put it as Aug. 4, the date of German entry into the Great War.

Played Major Part in Demobilization of British Empire's Troops

74 YEARS OLD

Toronto, June 28—(CP) — Sir George McLaren Brown, who played a major part in the demobilization of the British Empire's troops after the Great War, died in Toronto General Hospital early today after an operation.

Sir George, who was 74, came here Monday night from his home in Hamilton to attend a meeting of the Board of Governors of Upper Canada College. He was admitted to hospital early last night suffering from a strangulated hernia, a complication of a football injury suffered in his youth.

Officials Warned Not to Interfere With U. S. Interests

Shanghai, June 28—(AP)—Clarence Gauss, United States Consul General, notified Japanese officials today that Japan would be held responsible for any damage to American interests in attempts to take the Chinese ports of Foochow and Wenchow.

Gauss also replied to a Japanese warning that foreign vessels must leave the two ports by Thursday noon with a reiteration of previous declarations that United States naval vessels would go wherever necessary to protect American citizens.

This reply was similar to a British reply, made known yesterday.

No United States naval vessels were today at either of the two ports, where Japanese were said to be completing preparations for direct attacks. Villages outside Foochow were bombed today. Nine Japanese transports were said to be in the vicinity.

Eighteen foreign missionaries were said to have left Wenchow in the British steamship Joan Moller. Other foreigners were staying there. All commercial ships were expected to leave before the Thursday noon deadline set by Japanese.

POLICEMAN HITS GAS TANK OF CAR TO CAPTURE PAIR

ESCAPED PRISONERS

Collingwood, Ont., June 28—(CP)—Provincial Constable J. A. Rowe captured two escaped prisoners from Guelph Reformatory near here early today when he punctured the gasoline tank of their automobile as they fled at 90-miles-an-hour.

The chase started when Archie McPhee, gasoline station owner two miles west of here, woke to find two men stealing gasoline from one of his pumps. They fled, but he got their licence number.

Constable Rowe, wearing a bathrobe and pyjamas, was in an automobile waiting for them when they drove toward Collingwood. He saw they wore prison clothes and checked the licence number. He fired several times during the chase.

The fugitives were Clifford Davidson, 18, of Brantford, and Stanley West, 17 of Windsor Junction, N. S., yho fled from the reformatory June 23. Guards lost them in the bush country. Both men had been convicted recently and had lengthy terms to serve at the time of their escape.

One of the bullets went through the back of the car and nicked West's arm. When the prisoner's car ran out of gasoline, Davidson, the driver, drove it into the ditch. The policeman's car skidded to a stop beside them.

"I'll shoot if you try to escape" Rowe said.

"We're not going to move," one of the men said. "Your aim is too good."

5 GARDENERS FINED

Port Credit, Ont., June 28—(CP)—Five market gardeners, convicted under an Upper Canada Statute of 1859 of exposing merchandise for sale on Sunday, were fined $1 and costs each here yesterday by Magistrate W. E. McIlveen.

The informations were laid by S. H. Patchett under the old statute after Toronto Township Council refused to pass a by-law prohibiting the sale and display of merchandise at roadside stands on Sunday.

Brockvillians Given Free Water 4 Months

Brockville, Ont., June 28—(CP)—Repeating its order of last year, the Public Utilities Commission has decreed that all water consumers here with the exception of the Ontario Hospital and the C. N. R. which hold special contracts, shall receive water supplies without charge for the last four months of the year, thus leading to a saving of about $12,000 on the part of consumers.

Unmetered water rates here for houses of moderate size average 50 cents per month.

With the free-water provision for four months, the rate falls to about 33 1-3 cents per month.

JAPANESE GOV'T WILL NEGOTIATE WITH GT. BRITAIN

Two - Week - Old Tientsin Dispute to be Arbitrated at Tokyo

OFFICIALS WIN POINT

Japan Will Try to Include Question of British Support for Japanese Money

Tokyo, June 28—(AP)—The Japanese government announced formally today that at the request of the British government it would negotiate with Britain at Tokyo on arbitration of the two-week-old Tientsin dispute.

Britons hoped the negotiations would be limited to the Tientsin controversy, but Japanese were determined to include the question of British support of Japanese currency.

The announcement today, confirming previous unofficial assertions that the two powers would negotiate, said:

"In response to a British proposal the Japanese government have decided to conduct negotiations in Tokyo with a view to solving various questions relating to the present situation at Tientsin. Japanese officials concerned in Tientsin will be summoned to Tokyo for the purpose."

Neither the foreign office nor the British embassy were informed as to when the Tientsin representatives would arrive, but they were expected within a few days. The conferences may begin before the weekend.

Qualified observers believed that if Great Britain agreed to back the Japanese federal reserve money, with which Tokyo has been trying to drive out Chinese dollars in North China since last winter, it would be tantamount to placing the assistance of foreign businessmen behind the new Japanese money.

(Japanese outlawed Chinese dollars on March 10 in favor of the federal reserve currency. However the Chinese money continued firm in Peiping trading for some time because, it was reported, British banks contributed £5,000,000 (about $25,000,000) to a new currency stabilization fund created by the

NO PARKING ON COUNTRY ROADS IN QUEBEC

Quebec, June 28—(CP)—Provincial authorities have no quarrel with Dan Cupid but parking along country roads at night will be prohibited throughout the province as "dangerous to traffic."

Quebec's traffic director, Major Charles Girouard, said today traffic police will campaign against parking on dark roads and automobiles with defective lights, to reduce accidents.

BALDWIN TO VISIT U. S.

London, June 28—(CP)—Earl Baldwin announced today he would visit the United States to speak at a dinner of the World Congress of Education for Democracy in New York Aug. 16.

It will be Lord Baldwin's second trip across the Atlantic this year. Last spring he came over to deliver a series of Addresses at the University of Toronto.

Canadian in Charge of Propaganda In Hostile Countries Under New Plan

London, June 28—(CP)— Sir Campbell Stuart, 54, chairman of Imperial Communications Advisory Committee and a son of Montreal, will be in charge of propaganda in hostile countries when the Earl of Perth organizes the skeleton Ministry of Information, according to the Londoner's diary in the Evening Standard. Sir Campbell declined to discuss the report.

He will be held responsible for preparing the plans for British propaganda in any country that may go to war with Britain, the newspaper stated.

The diary recalled that Sir Campbell had "a remarkable career."

"He came to England at the outbreak of the war with the Duchess of Connaught's Own Irish Canadian Rangers, which he recruited in the Province of Quebec. And his fertile ideas for popularizing the battalion attracted the attention of Lord Northcliffe.

"He worked under Northcliffe as Deputy Director of Propaganda in enemy countries, became his principle colleague and was knighted in 1918. Before Lord Northcliffe died Sir Campbell was in control of the Northcliffe publications. And it was a surprise to many that on the death of Lord Northcliffe he did not inherit the newspapers.

"He was responsible for negotiating the sale of The Times to J. J. Astor. In the course of those negotiations he was faced with the competition of Lord Rothermere, who wanted to buy the paper and was willing to pay £1,400,000 for control of the ordinary shares.

"Then Jeoffrey Dawson who had retired in disagreement with Northcliffe returned as editor of The Times under the new control. Sir Campbell, who, up to that time, had had a great deal to do with the management of the paper, continued as director.

"He has always taken an imperial view of every issue and his interests have been directed actively to the furtherance of Anglo-Canadian relations."

Japan Informed British Shipping Will Take Its Own Course in Chinese Waters, Chamberlain Tells British Commons

By J. F. SANDERSON
Canadian Press Staff Writer

London, June 28—(CP Cable) — Prime Minister Chamberlain announced in the House of Commons today that negotiations will be started immediately in Tokyo in an effort to settle the dispute between Great Britain and Japan over the blockade of British concession at Tientsin, China.

At the same time the Prime Minister reiterated Britain's determination to dispute Japan's right to order British shipping not to use the South China treaty ports of Wenchow and Foochow. He said Japan had been told British shipping intended to go anywhere it chose in Chinese waters.

As a result of negotiations between Sir Robert Craigie, Japanese Ambassador to Japan, and Foreign Minister Hachiro Arita it "has been agreed," Mr. Chamberlain said, "that conversations shall take place in Tokyo in order to effect a settlement of the various questions relating to present conditions in Tientsin."

J. MacLAURIN HEADS SCHOOL

Brother of P. C. MacLaurin of This City, Now Principal at Fort William

Fort William, June 28—(Special)—Appointment of James L. MacLaurin, B.A., for more than twenty years head of the science department of the Fort William Collegiate, as principal of the collegiate succeeding E. E. Wood, who resigned after thirty-seven years' service, was announced today by the Board of Education.

Mr. MacLaurin was formerly on the staff of Aylmer High School and Upper Canada College, and was for a time principal of Ridgetown High School. He is a graduate of McMaster University in honor science.

A brother, P. C. MacLaurin, is principal of Belleville Collegiate, and another brother, D. L. MacLaurin, is Deputy Minister of Education in British Columbia.

LOUIS IS LATE FOR WEIGHING-IN PARTY AT N. Y.

Brown Bomber Will Spot Tony Galento 33 Pounds in Fight

FINELY TRAINED

(By Sam Robertson)
(Canadian Press Staff Writer)

New York, June 28—(CP)—Joe Louis will spot Tony Galento 33 pounds, when they collide in the New York Yankee's ballpark tonight to decide the rulership over the world's heavyweight fighting men.

At the official weighing ceremonies at noon today challenging Tony rocketted the scale to 233 3-4 pounds while the negro champion went a modest 200 3-4.

Louis was late and kept his roly-poly adversary waiting 20 minutes in the office of the New York State Athletic Commission, packed to the suffocation point with news photographers and fight writers, here from all parts of the United States, Canada and even England.

Seemingly cool in the face of the 15 rounds he is scheduled to go against the Brown tosser of leather bombs, Tony kept up a running-fire of chatter.

Has No Jitters

As proof, that he has not suffering from pre-fight jitters, the pudgy New Jersey barkeeper said he shaved himself this morning. Both his chins were shorn closely, indicating his hand was steady.

He predicted he would knock the champion stiff and then dreamed aloud

"Let me win this fight and I'll buy a swell little farm in Jersey's Orange Mountains. Ah-h-h-h".

Neither principal contributed anything to lift the weighing-in and medical examination out of the common-place. When Louis arrived, surrounded by his bevy of managers and bodyguards, Galento shifted his great wad of chewing gum into his left cheek and they mumbled cold how-de-do's in the general direction of each other.

VACATION 'BUSINESS' SHOWS IMPROVEMENT SINCE ROYAL VISIT

The visit of Their Majesties to Canada has had a far-reaching effect, a city ticket office manager stated today. This fact and the general idea that war-clouds in Europe are disappearing have imbued the general public with a yen for travelling.

"Business since the visit of the King and Queen has soared to heights far beyond our expectations," he said. "People now are planning cruises and trips, while the general vacation business is well past the point it generally reaches at this time of the year."

RAIN BADLY NEEDED IN THIS DISTRICT

Rain is badly needed in Hastings, Halton and Wentworth Counties at present, according to the current crop report of the Ontario Department of Agriculture. In Hastings grain is suffering from the extended drought, while in other sections the root crop is also showing first signs of shrivelling.

From Hastings County the hay crop is reported considerably lighter than average; the crop is thick enough, but has a very short growth. Natural grass pastures are revealing first signs of burning, though milk production is holding up well.

MANY CRAFT FROM U.S. EXPECTED OVER THE WEEK-END HOLIDAY

Members of the South End Yacht Club are preparing for the entertainment of what is expected to be a large number of visiting craft to the local harbor over the week-end. School closes in the United States at the end of this week and the first invasion of the local waters by visiting craft is expected to be heaviest on Saturday, Sunday and Monday. A long week-end for residents south of the border will be experienced this year due to the fact many of the offices, factories and other businesses are expected to remain closed until after July 4th. As yet the number of tourists by water through the district has been small.

HUCKLEBERRIES WILL BE FAIR CROP THIS YEAR

Huckleberries are ripening on the North Hastings Flats and a good crop will be picked this year, it was reported this morning by Alfred Wilkins of Flinton who this week made an examination of conditions northeast of that village.

Bear signs have been plentiful and it is evident that the bears are watching the first ripening of the berries as alertly as the residents of the section to garner the first harvest, reported the visitor.

Sunoco Super Service Station Operated by J. B. Boyce Opens To General Public on Thursday

Built by Conger Lehigh Valley Coal Company Adds to Beauty of Section

COMPLETELY EQUIPPED

Used Car Department Will be Run in Connection With the Service Station

A white gleaming symbol of progress, marking yet another milestone in the forward march of one of Belleville's most energetic business concerns, will be thrown open to the public on Thursday, when the new Sunoco Super Service Station, operated by Mr. J. B. Boyce, officially opens its doors next the Belle Theatre on Front Street.

The new station, of which its builders, the Conger Lehigh Valley Coal Company are inordinately proud, adds a distinctive touch of architectural beauty to that section of the city in which it stands. Its gleaming white structure offset with a base of royal blue, colorfully enhanced with distinctive yellow trimming stands as a distinct testimonial to the foresight and vision of a local business, that has held its head high down through the years of depression as well as those in which business acumen, and ability enabled a ray of industrial sunshine to pierce the clouds of economic storm.

Proud of Station

Messrs. J. B. Boyce, and his efficient staff are proud and justifiably so, of the new addition to their enterprise. They hold their heads high with pride, when they speak of the products that will be available to the public on Thursday, when the new station enters the realm of Belleville business.

For uniformed attendants, the last word in courtesy, efficiency and service, will be ready to attend to the public's wants on that date. They will sell the famous "Blue Sunoco" gas, which as Mr. Boyce termed yesterday contains a high octane rating, that simply defies carbon to form. "One grade, one price and one policy" is the company's slogan" he smiled, pointing with pride to the new structure, the white sides of which gleamed in the afternoon sun.

"Besides," he added, "you mustn't forget the oil. It is a product of the new Mercury process, and is rapidly gaining favor with motorists all over the country."

Convenient Location

The new station is conveniently located just north of the Belle Theatre on Front Street. Two modern gas-pumps are adjacent to the pavement and motorists will find entrance and departure a matter of a slight twist of the wrist. So realistic was the station, and its gleaming equipment yesterday, that a passing motorist drove in and gave instructions to a workman to "fill er up." The workman smilingly informed the prospective customer that the station was not in operation "just yet", whereupon he drove away with promises to return.

Completely Equipped

Completely equipped to the last detail for motoring wants, the new station will fill a long felt want in its particular section of the city. In its spacious interior will be housed the most modern, up-to-date facilities for cleaning, washing and lubricating motor vehicles, that science has yet devised.

Of more than passing interest to the motoring public is the fact, that its system of high-pressure lubrication is the speediest, most reliable system in force today. Twenty-four hour service will be maintained and John Public will be able to have his vehicles washed, greased and serviced at any hour of the day or night with absolutely no delay.

Nor will lady travellers be forced to sit in their vehicles while friend husband is attending to the car's wants. In the homey interior of the new station, comfortable rest-rooms have been installed where milady can rest, and freshen up with the maximum of comfort.

Attractive in gleaming white and colors, the rest-rooms provide a cheery addition to the well-balanced interior. Sliding doors operate between the two departments, facilitating operation of the various services, as well as providing a convenience for the members of the station staff.

Spacious Surroundings

Spacious grounds surround the new station. Levelled and gravelled the surface has received careful attention as to grading and convenience to the motoring public. There is lots of room with the danger of crowding or cramping of vehicles practically eliminated.

Used Car Department

In conjunction with the new station, Mr. Boyce will operate his Used Car Department. The careful attention given to this particular phase of the business by his staff of trained experts will be demonstrated in a more practical manner than heretofore. Courteous salesmen will attend to buyer's wants in an atmosphere that is clean, homey and friendly. Special attractions, that will feature the opening of the station, with regard to the Used Car Department will be found in an advertisement in this edition.

Mr. Boyce voiced his wholehearted appreciation of the splendid patronage given him by the public in the past and is expressing his thanks in the giving away of hundreds of gallons of gasoline.

The Staff

The genial "Bert" as he is known to his intimate friends, and they are legion, chose the personnel of the new station carefully. He picked men, who are the last word in courtesy, efficiency and personality, as well as possessing that rare ability of meeting the public and winning its favor.

The manager will be Mr. Clifford Murphy, who has been with Mr. Boyce in another capacity for some time, and has proven his worth and efficiency. Assisting Mr. Murphy will be Messrs. Robert Zufelt Douglas MacDonald and George Baldwin. The staff will be garbed in attractive uniforms.

High-ranking officials of the Conger-Lehigh Valley Coal Company will be present on Thursday morning when Mr. Boyce officially opens the new station, as well as many friends in various circles of the city of which he is a valued member.

They will join in congratulations and wishes for success to an enterprise, that has been born of fair dealing, foresight and business ability. One that adds a new lustre, literally to its immediate environment, and in a business sense to the growing progressive concern with which it is connected.

Business Improves In Post Office Dept.

Revenues of the Post Office Department, frequently looked upon as a barometer of commercial conditions in Canada indicate that there is an upward trend in business generally.

A comparison of the postage sales for the month of May, 1939, reveals a gratifying increase of more than 9% or some $294,000 over the corresponding period last year.

That the increase is a legitimate one and not arising directly from the sale of the recent special issue of commemorative stamps is borne out by the fact that the percentage of increase in Cash Postage was greater than the increase in ordinary postage sales. This fact establishes conclusively that the increase was not due to the sale of the special issue of stamps. Cash Postage sales are mainly derived from business firms and any increase in these figures may be looked upon as a reflection of "Better Business."

RIDES 30 MILES TO SEE FILM AND AND FAVORITE ACTOR

Loyalty of a youthful rural movie fan to his favorite motion picture star was exemplified at the McCarthy Theatre yesterday when an unidentified youth who lost his purse in the theatre and later found it, told the management that he had ridden his bicycle thirty miles to see his favorite actor in action.

The request of the boy to be allowed to search that part of the theatre where he sat during the performance, in order to look for his lost purse, elicited the information that he had ridden the long distance in order to see his favorite star. He found his purse and smilingly rode off for his distant home.

All-Metal Watercraft Boys' Invention

Youthful ingenuity among the "kids" living in the vicinity of the Upper Bridge has resulted in the construction of "all-metal" watercraft that are the envy of other boys of the neighborhood.

The young builders have secured large pieces of discarded corrugated metal roofing, and by an ingenious method have fashioned them into boats that resemble a canoe, a kayak, and a South Sea outrigger boat.

The boats have sharp-pointed bows and sterns and are built in "one piece" as one young builder puts it. For paddles they use pieces of board roughly twelve inches square to which are attached long wooden handles.

The boats are very "tippy" and plunge their youthful occupants in the water at a moment's notice—but that is part of the fun.

OBITUARY

DAVID ADAMS
(Cavan Township)

On Wednesday, June 21st, 1939, there passed away at his home in Cavan Township, Nipissing County, one of the original settlers of the district, Mr. David Adams, at the age of 81 years.

The late Mr. Adams was born in Scotland and came to Canada when a boy, and became one of the successful farmers of Cavan Township, clearing his own farm. He was always interested in the affairs of the County and was Clerk of the Township for 38 years. In religion he was a staunch member of the Presbyterian Church and at the time of the union joined with the United Church. In fraternal circles he was a member of Mattawa Masonic Lodge.

He is survived by his widow; one brother, Sandy; three sons, George, Russell, and Edward, all of North Bay, Ont., and three daughters, Mrs. J. Smiley of New Liskeard, Mrs. E. Linton of Little Brittain, and Agnes at home. The funeral was held from his home on Saturday, June 24th with interment in Cavan Cemetery.

Mr. Robert D. Adams of 272 Albert St., Belleville, is a nephew of the deceased.

MRS. MARY J. McGURN

Mrs. Mary Jane McGurn, widow of James McGurn, passed away early this Wednesday morning at her residence, 275 Charles Street. She had been in failing health for some time.

The late Mrs. McGurn had reached an advanced age, being in her 93rd. year. She was born in Prince Edward County, near Picton, her parents being the late James and Mary McGurn. Most of her life was passed in Belleville and vicinity. In religion she was a member of St. Michael's Church and was held in high esteem.

Surviving her are one son, Mr. James J. McGurn and one daughter, Miss Molly McGurn.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

LATE DONALD B. BRICKMAN

The funeral of Donald Bruce Brickman took place from the residence of his mother, 3 Strachan Street, on Tuesday afternoon, June 27th., to the United Church at Rossmore where service was conducted by the Rev. W. D. Harrison, who conducted also the service at the graveside in Albury cemetery.

The bearers were Billy Taylor, Douglas Turner, Ernest Roneuff and Grant Blakely.

There were many floral tributes and the flower bearers were Junior Corey, Douglas Thompson, Jack Parsons, Donaad Thompson, Edmund Cuarke and Wesley Mifflin.

New Ferry Is Ready to Start On July Third

With foaming champagne running down her bow, the steel-constructed ferry built for service between Glenora and the Adolphustown side of that part of the Bay of Quinte will her initial run on July 3rd, according to announcement made in Picton today.

The inaugural ceremonies will be conducted by the Hon. T. B. McQueston, Ontario Minister of Highways, who with an official party will visit Picton on that date for the purpose. This will include in all likelihood, R. M. Smith, Deputy-Minister of Highways, Milton J. Cork, president of the Loblaw Groceterias and the wardens and members of the Prince Edward and Lennox and Addington County Councils.

While nothing definite has been decided, it has been proposed that the new ferry be christened "Glenora". The ceremonial party will be on board for the inaugural trip.

228 DAY RECORD BROKEN

Winnipeg, June 28—(CP)—Winnipeg's fatality-free traffic record ended at 228 days when Douglas Middleton, 49, was killed at midnight last night. Middleton was riding on a motorcycle driven by Jack Campbell when it crashed into an automobile. The last fatal traffic accident in Winnipeg occurred Nov. 10.

To Serve the Motoring Public with Canada's Outstanding HIGH-TEST-ANTI-KNOCK GASOLINE — Selling at the price of ordinary gas

BLUE SUNOCO MOTOR FUEL

Does your motor KNOCK? BLAME YOUR OIL! . . . because most cars are built to run smoothly on a good regular-priced gas.

Hard carbon, which is formed by motor oil—not gasoline—causes knocks by overheating the gas-air mixture which ignites at different points, explodes too rapidly, causes knocking or detonation.

If your car did not knock when new—but knocks now on the same grade of gasoline—blame it on the motor oil. Many oils form hard carbon inside the motor after only a few thousand miles. The result is knocking and lost power. In the long run, the best and most economical cure for knocking is to have the carbon removed—then use Sunoco, the Knock-Proof Motor Oil, exclusively. It's your safest protection against knocks and lost power.

SUNOCO Knock-proof MOTOR OIL keeps the head on your motor longer

AND THE WORLD FAMOUS
SUNOCO "MERCURY MADE" MOTOR OIL which positively will not form hard carbon

Revival Services Creating Interest

During the past week and two Sundays, interest and attendance has been steadily increasing in the Evangelistic Campaign now in progress in the Big Store at 296 Front Street, opposite Victoria Avenue. Sunday evening a great many stood outside around the doors because of the lack of seating accommodation..

Rev. Robert F. Woods, of Toronto, is the special speaker and will be speaking this week also with the help of Rev. Roy H. Cantrell, formerly of Binghamton, New York. Rev. Cantrell will be speaking Wednesday and Thursday of this week. These men preach the old fashioned religion in simplicity and power with the aim of definite conversion in the lives of men and women. There messages are of the Early Methodist type producing conviction in the hearts of the hearers. Already many, young and old, have raised their hands asking special prayer for their spiritual needs.

REV. ROY H. CANTRELL
Will assist in Evangelistic Campaign now being conducted in city.

John C. Youngblood, of Grand Rapids, Michigan one-time Dance Band Leader and now a talented Gospel Musician is in charge of the Song Service and special musical features. Mr. Youngblood is an artist on the Saxophone, Vibra-Harp and Cathedral Chimes. He played for some time in the Bismarck Hotel in Chicago but since his conversion has worked with Paul Rader in some of his large campaigns. Another member of the party is Tim Ballentyne also a fine Saxophone player and together with Mr. Youngblood, many Gospel Duets are played. Mr. Ballentyne also plays the clarinet and his solos on this instrument have been well received.

An extra feature of this week's services will be the Gospel Duets as sung by Mr. and Mrs. R. F. Woods. You are invited to come and bring some unsaved friend to these service each night at eight o'clock.

Police Blotter

Charged with the theft of two patterns, the property of the Carthage Machine Company and valued at $150.00, Albert Badgley, Belleville, was arrested yesterday. Today Badgley appeared before H. B. Wilson, local justice of the peace, and was remanded in custody until Friday.

Picton police reported the theft of a Chrysler coupe early today. The vehicle was equipped with Ontario licence plates number 4-C-539.

Chief Kidd issued warnings to boarding house proprietors today regarding a man who obtains lodgings as representing himself as a civil engineer. "This man has victimised several lodging house operators throughout the district of late," warned Chief Kidd today.

Kathleen Thompson of this city and who escaped from Mercer Women's Reformatory some months ago after being sent to that institution from a Belleville court, was yesterday taken into custody on a charge of vagrancy. The Thompson girl is being held and the Mercer officials notified of her apprehension.

21st Battalion Reunion To Be Held Here Sept. 23

Hon. Dr. Manion Will be Guest Speaker if Election Does Not Interfere

Belleville, for the first time in eight years, has again been chosen as the site of the twentieth consecutive 21st Battalion reunion which will be held on September 23 in the local Armouries, local members of the Club were informed today. Ex-members of the famous Battalion who gained shining fame and undying laurels in the fiercest engagements of the Great War from throughout the continent will gather here to make the annual reunion the same success it has enjoyed since the first one held directly after the war. A record attendance is anticipated.

The Hon. Dr. Manion, Conservative leader of the Dominion is expected to be guest speaker, and has announced his intention of attending the annual banquet "unless an election interferes," he has informed the officers. Chief among the guests will be General St. Pierre Hughes, Ottawa, original Officer Commanding the unit.

Wm. Crerar, M.M., is president of the local club and LeRoy Madden, secretary, in charge of local arrangements.

FATHER RENDERS PROMPT ACTION

Lester Gordon Maracle, 10, of Tyendinaga Reserve, Saved from Drowning

Shannonville, June 28 (Special)—Lester Gordon Maracle, 10-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Gordon Maracle, Tyendinaga Reserve farmer narrowly escaped drowning in the Salmon River here, last night, while assisting his father in watering some cows. When they arrived at the river, Mr. Maracle cautioned the boy to stay away from the water and he walked away a short distance and did not watch his son. When he returned the boy was missing and the father immediately became terror-stricken. Glancing out into the river, he spied a little head coming above the surface. The head disappeared below the water level again and by this time Mr. Maracle had recovered from his temporary paralysis to rush into the water and before he could reach the lad he disappeared for the third time but again the boy came to the surface and seemed to float on the surface. However, Mr. Maracle seemed to reach the boy and rushed ashore and rendered artificial respiration. This morning the little fellow was little the worse for his harrowing experience.

HERE COME THE CLOWNS!

There's a shout from the youngsters under the Big Top and Otto leads his band of Jojos forth to start another season with Cole Brothers Circus. One of the high spots of the show is the exit of fifteen clowns from a new Studebaker Champion coupe. The car is driven once around the arena with much horn tooting and comes to a halt in the center ring. Then, one at a time, fifteen ("count 'em fifteen") clowns emerge from the coupe. To add to the hilarity and mystification, each clown carries a musical instrument — they form a complete band including the bass drum. Cole Brothers Circus comes to Belleville on Thursday, June 29th.

BRITAIN'S AIR DEFENCE

British airplane production for defence is reported to be in advance of that of Germany. Every precaution is taken to keep the number of planes secret and the places of manufacture and storage, some of these latter places being underground.

Germany made a start with Italy and Japan in the game of building armaments some years ago. Germany grew so strong because she was allowed to do so under the conditions then ruling. But a wealthier greater power than Germany can speed up and outbuild the Germans.

Britain has taken heroic measures. Ten million dollars a day goes into air defence. Only a mighty power could stand that drain. The British people do not grumble. They demand even greater defences.

Adolf Hitler erred at Munich, many say, and again in March of this year, at Munich for allowing himself to be pursuaded away from war if war was his intent and in March by grabbing Bohemia and Moravia and making a protectorate of them and in Slovakia and Ruthenia, provinces of former Czecho-Slovakia. Since these two dates Germany's star in the eyes of many is waning. Observers in Europe now say no man and no nation can dominate the world and that domination was never intended in the nature of things and that Hitler if his plans call for world domination courts failure.

Britain builds and builds all the forces of her mighty war machine for defence and for peace.

BRITISH INSTITUTIONS

While Canada has been a kingdom since the Statute of Westminster, the fact was brought more close as His Majesty King George presided over the Canadian Parliament at Ottawa and as he signed the trade pact between Canada and the United States.

Speaking at Guildhall on his return he pointed out "for it was not alone the actual presence of their King and Queen that made them (the people of Canada) open their hearts to us. Their welcome, it seemed to me, was also an expression of their thankfulness for those rights of free citizenship which are the heritage of every member of our great Commonwealth of Nations."

That being the case it was no wonder that the welcome of the long-to-be-remembered visit was so spontaneous.

His Majesty said on the above-mentioned occasion, "In Canada I saw everywhere not only the mere symbols of the British Crown. I saw also flourishing as strongly as they do here, institutions which have been developed century after century beneath the aegis of the Crown; institutions British in origin, British in their slow and almost casual growth ,which because they are grounded root and branch on British faith in liberty and justice, mean more to us even than the splendor of our history or the glories of our English tongue."

ROYAL VISIT AND TRADE

A number of establishments in Canada have reported increased activity due to the visit of Their Majesties the King and Queen, for according to reports on industrial employment in Canada there was an increase of 6.5 per cent in employment on June 1st 1939 as compared with a month before There were 65,040 more persons employed than on May 1st and there were 30,288 more employed on June 1st of this year than on June 1st 1938.

How much business was spurred by the royal visit is not stated and perhaps would be difficult to discover, but as said above industries have stated that increase in their employment was due to the royal visit. Transportation, foods, manufacturing of mementoes and flags and buntings were stimulated.

One helpful sign today is that there is increased activity in logging, the largest in 19 years. Manufacturing of lumber, pulp and paper, food, clay, glass and stone and iron and steel products, mining, transportation, communication, construction and maintenance services and trade provided more work than on May 1st, with the advances "greater than season" notably in logging and transportation.

In the Province of Ontario, manufacturing, mining, logging and maintenance, communications services and trade showed increases. Here there were 22,513 more persons employed on June 1st than on May 1st.

One sees a sign of better demand for construction of buildings. In this field there is much to be desired to bring housing up to what it should be. Reports of architects and builders indicate favorable

WHEN THE CIRCUS COMES TO TOWN

When the circus came to town
Father said he'd have to go,
Though he'd long since settled down,
Boys must see the show you know;
But we noted with surprise
Father planned the day with care,
Laughter welling from his eyes
He—the biggest youngster there.

When the circus came to town,
Mother said the girls must see
Lions, elephants and clowns
Just as funny as could be;
And the girls enjoyed the show
Little May and Nancy tall
But mother with her eyes aglow
Seemed to like it best of all.

And the aged grandsire bent
With the burden of the years,
Gazed with eyes of deep intent
Eyes that filled with brightest tears;
Felt himself a boy again
Gazing on an old-time show,
Living o'er the joys again
Of the days of long ago.

When the circus came to town
With its tinsel and its glare,
Bands and beasts and funny clown,
All the old-time glamor there
'Twas a bit of old-time joy
Reaching downward through the past,
Memories to the grey-haired boy
Of the days that e'er shall last.

—Helen B. Anderson.

THE BEST WAY TO ENJOY A CIRCUS—if you don't know we can tell you for we have experienced it more than once. We're speaking to men. See the circus through the eyes of a child. Take a boy or girl, or both, who wouldn't otherwise have gone, to their first circus. Buy them peanuts and crackerjack and pink lemonade and absorb their youthful enthusiasm. Read David Harum and the lifelong impression his first circus made upon him, a poor little barefoot boy, and how he paid back his benefactor years after and brought happiness to a needy widow who thought there was no happiness left in the world for her. So, if you would thoroughly enjoy the circus and get a thrill which will be a long time wearing off, be a boy again just for a day.

MANY NEWSPAPERS, MANY STORIES, many odd and interesting. New York columnist with his thoughts on a vacation and the Great Open Spaces, no doubt, has been collecting animal stories from the daily newspapers coming under his ken and summarizes his discoveries in the following interesting manner:

The warm weather may cause drought and retard activity in the vegetable world, but for some reason it always seems to develop a fine crop of animal stories in the newspapers. Perhaps animal-story writers hibernate.

On a single day last week, incidentally the hottest day of the week, there were stories culled from our local acreage about a new baby seal in the Central Park Zoo, some unspecified fish in the park lake and a marooned penthouse kitten lost in an apartment house shaft and so frightened that it refused catnip and sardines, ordinarily a delicious combination. There were two stories about homing pigeons, one from Oklahoma about mother pigeons speeding up to get home to their youngsters, and another from London about a Tilbury bus conductor who uses a pigeon messenger to notify his wife when he expects to be home for dinner.

Newton, N.J., qualified with a motherly duck that halts traffic to lead her brood across Main Street. Her performance may throw some light on the old argument as to why a chicken crosses the road. The most plaintive story was about a mare whose colt broke out of a field and was killed by a train. Strange to say, there was not a dog story among the lot. But the dog days are coming.

DETECTIVE URGES

"If a person knows his fingerprints can be obtained if necessary, he is not liable to premeditate crime and hope to escape," Detective Wilkinson said as he pointed out the success of compulsory fingerprinting in several other countries.

"Each year upwards to 40,000 persons are buried in the "Potters' Fields" of Canada and the United States. Many thousands of death claims would be paid by insurance companies, which are now never paid, if such a system were in force," he said.

Co-ordination of all police units throughout Canada into a system similar to that of England was recommended by Chief David Ritchie of Calgary. Chief Ritchie said that in England half the cost of municipal forces is borne by the government which has the right to aid in naming the chief. He urged Dominion-wide organization as a method of obtaining pensions for officers.

Padlock Law Defended

Quebec's padlock law was defended by Police Chief A. S. Bigaouette of the provincial capital's force. Enactment of the law was criticized yesterday by Chief J. E. Watkins of Fort William.

SIR GEORGE BROWN

For 27 years European general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway until his retirement in 1927, Sir George was active in many other fields. His position and his interest in athletics made him invaluable to the Canadian Olympic Committee as its representative on the International Olympic Committee. He was also representative for British Columbia on the Rugby Football Union.

Entered C.P.R. in 1880

Sir George rose in the ranks of the C.P.R. after entering its service in 1880, following upon periods of employment with the Northern and Northwestern Railway and the Grand Trunk Railway at Hamilton. Five years after entering the C. P. R.'s employ as Vancouver agent, he was made assistant general passenger agent for the western division.

In 1902 he was given the job of developing the company's hotel and dining-car and sleeping-car services and in three years he began the job of building up the steamship lines. He became European general passenger agent in 1908 and European general manager two years later.

Knighted by King

As assistant director of movements and railways for the British government during the war, and as assistant director of demobilization afterwards, he earned the order of Knight Commander of the British Empire.

Always keenly interested in Canadian affairs despite his duties abroad, Sir George was a vice-president of the Royal Humane Society of Canada and a member of the Hamilton Branch of the Canadian National Association for the Blind and of the Hamilton Committee of the Boy Scout Movement.

LIFE MAY BE SAVED BY REPORTING BLOOD IN URINE

It is only natural that when blood comes away in the urine that the individual should be alarmed. This very alarm may save his life because early treatment gives the best possible chance to correct the condition.

If the individual is past forty years of age and this bleeding from kidneys or bladder occurs, the first thought is that it may be cancer and that treatment may be too late.

"Today, because of the active cancer campaign which has been in progress for several years, patients with haematuria (blood in the urine) are seen much earlier than formerly."

Fortunately, blood in the urine is more frequently due to some less dangerous condition than cancer. Dr. William F. Braasch, Rochester, Minn, in Clinical Medicine and Surgery, says:

"Blood in the urine is frequently caused by innocent or harmless ailments. Of 798 cases, 33 per cent were due to malignant growths (cancer), while stone in the urinary passage was the cause in 15 per cent, tuberculosis in 11 per cent, and other conditions accounted for the remainder".

One cause of a great number of these cases is increased blood pressure and the bleeding is just Nature's way of relieving the swollen bloodvessels just as bleeding from the nose often occurs to relieve high blood pressure. In fact, blood in the urine is spoken of as kidney epistaxis (nose bleed.)

It so happens that, in most cases bleeding lasts only a day or two at a time, so, unless the patient is sufficiently intelligent and knows enough to call upon his physician, by the time the physician does see him the condition may have been present for some time.

There is just the one point to remember. Most cases of blood in the urine are not cancer, but, as one in every three cases is cancer, a patient should consult his or her physician at the first appearance of blood.

The cystoscope enables the genito-urinary specialist not only to see the cause of the bleeding, but to apply treatment directly to the part.

LEARNS TO FLY BETWEEN DAWN AND DUSK

Ottawa, June 28—(CP)—Saxon Cole, 26-year-old Department of Agriculture worker, can fly an airplane now, but he didn't know a thing about it when he got out of bed Monday. Cole learned to fly between dawn and dusk on that day, first time the feat has been accomplished in Canada in the memory of government civil aviation officials.

A flight with a friend last week decided Cole there was something to flying. He joined the Ottawa Flying Club and reported to instructor William Nixon at seven a.m. Monday.

In 15 minutes they were in the air in a dual-controlled light monoplane. After 5½ hours of instruction with time out for lunch and dinner, Instructor Nixon nodded approvingly and sent Cole up alone.

Bennett O. Knudson Elected President Kiwanis International

Boston, June 28—Bennett O. Knudson, of Albert Lea, Minn., is the 1939-40 president of Kiwanis International.

Mr. Knudson is a charter member of the Albert Lea Kiwanis club and was its first president in 1932. He was governor of the Minnesota-Dakotas district in 1932 and since that time he has had a progressive career in Kiwanis. Mr. Knudson was first elected to the International board of trustees in 1934 and was re-elected in 1936 for a second two-year term. JAPANESE GOV'T

Chinese government.

(Foreign businessmen in Peiping estimated that enforcement of the ban on Chinese dollars would add millions to Japan's war chest.)

Official sources expressed belief the British negotiators would be unable to avoid the monetary issue, which bulked largest of the possible questions for discussion.

Officials Win Point

By selecting Tokyo for the negotiations, foreign office officials apparently won a point over the military leaders who wanted the talks in Tientsin, where Japanese blockaded the British and French concessions June 14 after British authorities refused to surrender four alleged Chinese terrorists to the Japanese. Subsequently Japanese sentries searched Britons in Tientsin to the extent of forcing them to disrobe before concession barricades.

It was said reliably that "recriminations" over the indignities to Britons and blows to British commerce would not enter the discussions.

The question of whether Great Britain or Japan took the initiative in proposing the formal talks in Tokyo remained unclear. The point was said to involve "face saving" by the Japanese.

Newspapers unanimously and suddenly changed their bitter anti-British tone and declared that Great Britain "now was showing sincerity in a desire for a rapid and peaceful settlement."

Stirling

Stirling—St. Paul's United Church was filled on Sunday morning when Stirling Lodge A. F. and A. M. No. 69 G. R. C. joined with the members and adherents in a special service of worship. The line of procession was formed at the Masonic Hall and proceeded to the church with a large number of the craft attending. Special music by the choir under the leadership of Mr. G. L. Clute and solo work by Wm. . Reynolds added interest to the impressive service. With Mr. Clute presiding at the organ his contributions included Fifth Nocturne—Leyback as a prelude, Melody in F—Rubenstein as an offertory, March Romaine—(Gounod) as an organ postlude. During the service the choir offered an anthem "Worship the King", Nichol. Mr. Reynolds, baritone soloist, also sang "I shall not pass this way again."

Impressive Sermon

In keeping with the occasion Rev. W. J. Scott chose as his subject "Building for Tomorrow" basing his thoughts on a text from Corinthians 1-3. Humanity has forever striven to build. Ruins of great ancient cities stand today as symbols of an age when power and might predominated and cities climbed skyward under the whiplash of a slave driver costing the life's blood of thousands of men. Men builders of things strive ever for something better. There is danger in developing a lust for things and material wealth as we gain greater speed of production and more power. We must build upon a firm foundation whether we build homes, empires or personalities. Security is based entirely upon the foundation of our structure.

Ladies Are Entertained

The senior members of the St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church Ladies' Aid were guests of honor at a special afternoon meeting held on Thursday afternoon at the summer home of Mrs. Harper Rollins at Oak Lake. Forty five ladies were present and enjoyed the fine outing to the very fullest.

The program opened with prayer by Rev. W. H. V. Walker and during the business part of the meeting arrangements were set in motion for the preparations in connection with a lawn social. An appropriately selected poem exceptionally well given by Mrs. Tompkins was greatly enjoyed. A feature of unusual interest was the contribution to the afternoon's program by Mrs. E. F. Parker, one of the pioneer stalwarts of the St. Andrew's Church life. Miss Parker's reading was entitled "The Guardian Angel." Mrs. Henry Tulloch also offered a reading "What we owe to the church." During the pleasant social period Miss Gena Spry directed a contest with the first prize being awarded to Mrs. Lawrence Munro. Mrs. Duncan Montgomery conducted a bean guessing contest in which Mr. Fred Elgie gained first honors. Luncheon climaxed this very pleasant afternoon outing with expressions of gratitude being made on behalf of the organization to the hostess, Mrs. Harper Rollins for her kind hospitality.

Several members of the Stirling L. O. L. and L. O. B. A. were in Frankford on Sunday and attended the special church service in Frankford United Church when members of the Frankford Orange Lodge along with the visitors were given a splendid address by Rev. Lane of Frankford.

Mrs. George E. Green, Mrs. F. Jackman and Mr. F. N. McKee were in Union, Michigan, last week to attend the funeral service of their uncle, the late Dr. George H. Wilson, former resident of Stirling, who passed away at his home there on June 17th. Mr. and Mrs. Roy Woodbeck of Stirling also accompanied those mentioned above.

Mr. Alex Dodwell of Oshawa has returned home after spending a few days visiting friends and relatives in Stirling and district.

Friends of Mr. Thos. Montgomery, Sr. will be glad to learn that he has returned to his home in Stirling after spending the past few days in Belleville General Hospital. Mr. Montgomery underwent an operation a short time ago and is progressing favorable on the road to recovery.

Marmora

Marmora—By a score of 13-6 Marmora Softball team defeated Deloro on the latter's ground on Monday evening and thus retain second place in the league standing. Their only defeat of the season was administered by Havelock who are still undefeated. The next meeting of these teams will be quite an attraction in this district. Two home runs were the feature of Monday evening's game, Hollingsworth duplicating the performance of Leonard. Deloro brought off a neat double play in the fourth. Both opposing pitchers were in good form and went the whole nine innings.

Marmora .... 014 110 402—13
Deloro .... 013 000 020— 6

Teams were:

Marmora—Kouri, 2b, Burridge ss, R. McColl, rf, Leonard c, Hollingsworth 1b, Gray 3b, Phillips cf, Reynolds p, Osborne lf, Hart, lf.

Deloro—Elliott rf, Gazley c, Brown 2b, Callery 1b, Cousins cf, N. O'Neill lf, Wright p, G. McColl ss, Loveless cf.

David Crawford who has been attending Trinity College School, Port Hope, is holidaying at Deloro with his parents, Mr. and Mrs. L. K. Crawford.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Simmons visited friends in Belleville on Sunday.

Messrs James L. and Thomas Shannon left on Monday for a week's holiday and will attend New York World's Fair.

Miss Ollie Airhart of Belleville and brother Douglas of Deloro are at the family cottage at Crowe Lake.

Mrs. F. Melver of Chile, S.A. and daughter Mildred and son Odin are occupying A. Eggleton's cottage at Crowe Lake.

Shannonville

Shannonville—Among the Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Stanley MacDonald were: Mr. and Mrs. Harold Biglow of Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. William Brown of Trenton, Mr. and Mrs. Louis Brown of Consecon and Mr. and Mrs. Fred Carscallen of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. David Houston, formerly of Toronto have taken up resident at their new home in the village. Mr. Houston resided in this community a number of years ago and is renewing old acquaintances.

The Women's Guild of the Anglican Church held a strawberry tea at the home of Mrs. Jack Kent on Tuesday the proceeds of which will be used for a very worthy purpose.

Mrs. William White and Marilyn were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs.

year and this week they expect their crops to be at their peak. "A little rain and warm weather and we will have a good pick next week" stated one grower this morning. 14 boxes for a dollar is the popular price in the village at the present time although it is not very popular or profitable to the growers however.

Mr. Joseph Torch of Montreal spent Sunday afternoon with friends in the village. Mr. Torch was returning from a business trip to the northern part of the province and he stopped for the afternoon to renew old acquaintances.

Mrs. (Rev.) W. H. Clarke and William of Deseronto were Friday callers at the home of Mrs. Jack Kent and family.

As Friday the twenty-third was the final day in which the names of the local baseball team were submitted, the local executive of the team sent in the names of the players and they were as follows: Stanley Hill, Gérald Sager, Bill Houston, Carm Spencer Jr., Bruce Reid, Ken Juby, Blake Cook, Eugene Maracle, Con. Barnhart, Roy Snider, Donald Dies, Lorne Maracle, Ernest Barberstock, Clare Smith, Gerald Lewis, Earl Murphy, Peter Coutts, Peter Baptiste.

Master Boyce Cook, young son of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cook of this village received an unfortunate injury last week while playing with a young playmate. It seems that Boyce was playing with a young playmate and they started to throw stones and not realizing the risk involved they threw with reckless abandon and one stone inadvertently struck Boyce in the eye and when he was examined later by Dr. Blackwell of Deseronto it was found that the boy was suffering from a slight concussion and the doctor thought that one nerve was deadened in the eye and also had the opinion that the eyesight might possibly be impaired. However the Intelligencer correspondent was informed by Mrs. Cook that Boyce was able to see without any difficulty at the present time although he was still suffering from the injury.

The throwing of stones by young lads in the village has reached the stage according to local residents that someone is going to be fatally hurt. Last week another young tike was struck in the back of the head and he received medical treatment in order to reduce the treatment. Apparenty strict measures will have to be taken to curb this very dangerous 'playing' as the young fellows call it.

A few from this village and community patronized the dance held in the Point Anne Parish Hall on Friday night under the auspices of the Catholic Women's League.

Miss Dorothy Liddle of Belleville spent a few days in the village during the past week the guest of Miss Ina Liddle.

Miss Ruth Spencer spent the week

Bertha of Mountain Grove were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ira Cook.

Madoc

Madoc—On Thursday evening, June 22nd, the C.G.I.T. girls of Trinity United Church, Madoc, entertained in honor of Miss Grace Garrett, their leader, who is leaving. The mothers also were present. A very enjoyable time was spent in games, contests, and community and group singing. A dainty lunch of sandwiches, cake, and lemonade, was ably served by the girls. Miss Garrett was called forward and presented with a handsome end table by Sadie Parks, while the president, Fay Fleming read the following address:

Dear Miss Garrett:

We, the Canadian Girls in Training, wish to tell you how much we have enjoyed our work with you, as leader of our group. You have given us considerable of your time and energy and have played your part as leader with a graciousness we shall not forget. This end table is a token of our appreciation and we hope it will be useful to you in your new home. We wish to thank you for all the help you have been to us and to extend our best wishes for a happy married life. May you carry with you pleasant memories of your C.G.I.T. girls in Madoc".

Miss Garrett replied briefly thanking the girls for their gift, and for their loyalty and co-operation during the years she had worked with them.

The evening was closed with the singing of taps.

Mr. and Mrs. Herman F. Laug of Martin, Mich., and Miss Jenia C. Laug of Grand Rapids, Mich., are spending a few days with Mr. and Mrs. George Laug.

Mr. and Mrs. Whytock Fox and family and Miss Lillian Fox of Bloomfield, P. E., spent unday with their aunt, Mrs. John McCaffery, Madoc Township.

Mr. and Mrs. Jas. Hough of Deseronto spent Monday in Madoc.

Mr. and Mrs. Jesse Reid of Madoc and Mrs. McNeill, Lansdowne, spent a few days in Hamilton where Mr. Reid attended Grand Lodge of Ontario I.O.O.F.

Misses Sara and Jean Tuller of Toronto visited their sister Mrs. Jenkins during the week.

Rev. I. E. Kennedy, former pastor of Trinity United Church, Mrs. Kennedy and family leave on Wednesday morning for Claremont, where Rev. Mr. Kennedy will take his new pastoral charge. The good wishes of their many friends go with them to their new home.

Madoc Defeats Stirling

The Madoc softball team stayed in the race for league honors by trouncing Stirling by the score of 18-7. For the first three innings the score was close but Stirling weakenand Madoc went to town. The game was Madoc's fourth win in seven starts. On Friday of this week Madoc will visit Tweed.

Personals

Mr. and Mrs. Robert D. Adams have returned after attending the funeral of Mr. Adams' uncle, the late Mr. David Adams at Eau Claire, Ont.

Miss Edith Bruyea has returned to her duties at the Belleville General Hospital after spending her vacation in Deseronto with relatives and friends.

Miss Bernice Lattone, bride-to-be of this week, was the recipient of a handsome coffee table, the gift of the staff of Zellers, Ltd., of which she has been a popular member. The good wishes of her associates accompanied the gift.

Mrs. H. P. Alford, Mrs. Mackenzie Robertson, Mrs. B. C. Donnan and Mrs. A. B. Collins were tea hostesses at the Bay of Quinte Country Club this afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. J. L. Mulligan and family, Welland, spent the week-end visiting relatives here. Miss Norma Maker returned with them for a holiday.

Tea hostesses at the Belleville Golf Club today were Mrs. W. R. McCreary and Mrs. Frank McKeown.

Miss Anna McCabe, bride-to-be, has been entertained at several interesting affairs in honor of her approaching marriage. The Bridge Club of which she is a member gathered at her home, Dundas Street East for a surprise party when Miss McCabe was presented with a bridge table and an enjoyable evening was spent in playing bridge. Misses Agnes and Kathryn Gallagher entertained for Miss McCabe, who was presented with a lace table cloth by a group of her friends. Last evening Miss Helen Symons was hostess at a delightful bridge party at which about twenty-five guests were present. Miss McCabe received the gift of a handsome dinner set, the dishes being arranged at a table centred with a dainty bride. Prizes for the evening were won by the guest of honor and Miss Lenore Wilkes.

Mr. and Mrs. J. R. S. Gallagher and daughter Pauline and Miss Ruth Robinson of Grand Rapids, Michigan, spent Saturday with Mr. Gallagher's sister, Mrs. Arnold Portt, Shannonville, on their way to Adolphustown to spend two weeks visiting relatives.

The Women's Missionary Society and Woman's Association of Bridge Street United Church held a union picnic at the Tourist Camp, Dundas Street, yesterday, with a large attendance. The Woman's Association held its usual monthly meeting at 5 p.m. Mrs. Farnsworth opened with a Psalm and reading much in accord with the open air meeting followed by prayer and reports after which a delectable supper was served. The presentation of a travelling bag to Mrs. Wilfrid Price, who is leaving shortly for England was a pleasant finish to a delightful day.

Mrs. W. E. Rowsome graciously opened her home, 186 John Street, yesterday for an afternoon tea arranged by the members of Quinte Rebekah Lodge. Summer blossoms of all kinds, with peonies and rambler roses predominating, added to the charm of the living room where Mrs. Rowsome and Mrs. I. Aman, Noble Grand, received their guests. Mrs. J. McEwan invited the visitors to the dining room. The tea table was beautifully arranged with a mixed bouquet of Canterbury bells, roses, and double campanula in a silver bowl on a handsome lace cloth, with peonies and roses in profusion about the room. Mrs. W. J. Carter and Mrs. F. Chesher poured tea and those assisting during the afternoon were Mrs. L. Pollitt, Mrs. C. Downey, Mrs. McMartin, Miss Jean Mathews, Mrs. G. D. Patrick and Mrs. E. Beal. The home cooking table was in charge of Mrs. Gordon Shaw and Mrs. Albert Boynton.

Weddings

McEVOY—McCOY

Hastings, June 28—(Special)—A wedding was solemnized at Our Lady of Mount Carmel Roman Catholic Church here this morning, when Madge Elizabeth, daughter of Mr. Joseph McCoy and the late Mrs. McCoy, was married to Mr. John Vincent McEvoy, son of Mr. and Mrs. James McEvoy of Campbellford.

The bride wore a gown of white sheer, white crepe turban, and white accessories. Her bridesmaid, Miss Irene McEvoy, sister of the bridegroom, was in pink. Mr. Bernard Forestall was groomsman.

Following the ceremonies, a wedding breakfast was served at the home of the bride's aunt in Hastings, Miss Mary Barry. The couple left by motor and on their return will reside in Campbellford.

Fashion Flashes

First Dance usually means white tulle. Paquin makes model trimmed vertically with white satin ribbon terminating in bows on the hooped skirt.

Bring color into your travelling clothes. A flattering start is assured with a coat of orchid colored tweed cut on comfortable, boxy lines, with a collar of fox dyed to tone.

Easy going describes many of the fashions designed in formal fabrics. For instance, a suit of black silk faille combines a bellhop jacket, double-breasted, and skirt cut on skating lines.

Birds still fly on some of the smartest millinery. A large, disc-like hat of lavender smooth straw has three red-beaked pink birds posed over the open crown.

Something different from the usual afternoon frock is a model of white silk jersey, the belt formed by narrow bands of gold kidskin. The kid also edges the cuffs of the long, loose sleeves.

Advice to the Lovelorn

By BEATRICE FAIRFAX

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Put Your Irish Pride in Your Pocket

"Dear Miss Fairfax

"I'm answering Patricia's letter, which I read in my morning's paper a few days ago. Patricia, my dear girl, you're Irish and so am I. And you know that people of our race are stubborn. But you were too stubborn.

"I don't think John really meant it when he said that he didn't love you enough to marry you, and it would have been better if you had ignored it instead of blowing off steam.

"A man of his age making $48.00 a week and having a nest egg besides is too good to lose. You should have married him immediately instead of waiting for a big church wedding. That doesn't get you anywhere, and only accumulates bills. We had a nice church wedding with a mass, best man, bridesmaid, and my friends coming to see us married. We had music too. What more does any girl want. And that didn't oblige us to wait and save for two years, or for two weeks either.

"Make it up with John. Your mother can stay with you as long as she is alone, and I'm sure you and John will be a comfort to her.

"Regarding this other man, you'd only make his life and yours miserable. Put your Irish pride in your pocket and turn this love of yours and John's into the blessing it will be. Good luck to you both. And as the Irish say 'God bless you'.

L. B."

Highly interesting letters continue to pour in with suggestions to Patricia, the girl whose engagement was broken by a man she loved devotedly. Later she heard this man suffered from a nervous breakdown and she is in doubt whether to go to her former fiance or to marry a man she respects more than she loves but who offers her a beautiful home, peace and security.

And here's another point of view:

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"I was especially interested in reading about the case of Patricia in your column, and I'm hoping you may pass on to her this practical suggestion from me. No, I'm not hard-boiled, but I can't bear to think of a charming girl, devoted, loyal with the real ideals of life, wasting her affections on a man who has no more steadfastness of purpose than a weather-vane.

"According to Patricia's letter, he was never happy out of her sight, and then like a bolt from the blue he tells her he doesn't think he loves her enough to marry her. Unless some other girl has got hold of him, or he has discovered that he is mortally ill, or about to lose his job, what kind of a willy nilly fellow is this John?

"Patricia says she's Irish; well, I'm Irish too and I'm thoroughly ashamed that anyone with Irish blood will lead on a fine girl, and then tell her he's uncertain of his feelings. What Patricia should do is marry the second man, the man who loves her, without any weather vane indecision. A man who offers his unwavering devotion and a good home. All of which are blessings which Patricia deserves.

Irish Lady".

Use After Dinner Coffee Cups For Informal Occasions Too

I have had several letters lately from hostesses who are the proud possessors of after-dinner coffee cups and saucers, and the small coffee spoons, but hesitate to use them, fearing that they are too formal for their informal service.

I'd like to dispel this fear, congratulate them on owning these "lovelies", and urge them to enjoy using them and to share the charm and grace of their use with their guests.

There is nothing formal in the use of the small coffee cups—"after-dinner coffee cups" is a better name for them than the often-used "demitasse cups"—with the small spoons beside them on the saucer.

There may be formality in the service of after-dinner coffee, but there need be no formality in the use of these convenient and attractive-sized coffee cups. That is, a butler or a waitress may pour or serve the coffee and thus lend formality to the service, but these cups may be just as correctly used in informal service when the coffee is served by the hostess, either at the table or in the living-room.

In other words, it is correct for the hostess to plan to serve coffee in this manner after a formal or informal dinner, after a formal or informal lunch, and either at the dinner or lunch table or in the living-room.

The hostess may, if she wishes, after an informal lunch or dinner, prepare the coffee herself on a low coffee table in the living-room. The coffee may be made in a percolator, and then the hostess pours it and passes it to her guests as she would afternoon tea.

The charming and intimate custom of serving after-dinner or after-lunch coffee in the living-room, even after an informal dinner or lunch, is increasingly popular. It is a friendly and cosy form of service, and makes a happy margin between the dining table and the "good talk" that starts in the living room. And it's so easy and simple to plan and to do!

Courtesy Tip

When a graduate sends a ready-made card with a printed "Thank you for your graduation present" on it, don't you wonder what in the world the diploma stands for? Doesn't he or she know how to write a polite note of thanks? If not, the diploma shouldn't have been awarded.

Don't grumble about the warm weather—dress for it. A cool town suit of dress in red and white, blue and white, or brown and white gingham comes with a winged white pique bolero, the lapels lined in the checks.

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Signs of Rheumatic Fever Usually Present Long Before Heart Becomes Affected

Chronic infections frequently complicate ailments in childhood. Doctors meet up with these things almost every day and realise that these infections are, for the most part, unnecessary. That is, they can be cleared up and the source of infection removed.

By far the most important and serious of such ailments is rheumatic fever, a disease common to children between the ages of five and fifteen. It is most common in the temperate climates, where upper respiratory infection occurs most frequently, and is most frequently found in the Great Lakes region. In England the disease is even more prevalent than it is in this country. There appears to be a direct connection between dampness and the incidence of rheumatic fever, for it has been pretty well proven that it is more common in low-lying sections of a city than it is in the higher areas.

No one definition can completely describe rheumatic fever, for it occurs in many forms which have one thing in common they almost always affect the heart. Unless extreme care is taken with the patient, his life is shortened.

In most cases, the signs of rheumatic fever are present long before the heart is affected. That, of course, is the time to recognize the disease and start treating it. When this is done, the chances that the child will develop heart disease are greatly diminished.

Early warnings of the disease may appear in a number of forms, but the most common are these four:

Pains in the joints. Repeated head colds.

Sore throat. Paleness and listlessness.

Pain in the joints is fairly common in children, particularly in girls between the ages of ten and fifteen years. By no means all the children who complain of pains in their legs are going to have rheumatic fever and heart trouble. However, most of the children who do develop heart trouble from rheumatic fever do complain of such aches and pains, so it is a good idea to pay some attention to them when they occur.

Parents too often dismiss such complaints as "growing pains", and give it no further consideration. Through this carelessness, parents often stand by while their child develops serious heart damage.

Some of these pains are less likely than others to be due to rheumatic fever. For instance, if the child complains of the ache only at night, or only when he is very, very tired, there isn't much chance that this is warning of rheumatic fever. But if the pains occur in the morning as well as at night and appear in the arms as well as the legs, then look out.

Don't take any chances with pains such as any of these I have described. Call in your doctor or take your child to see him. Let him decide whether or not that pain in the legs is due to the fever. If the doctor examines your child and finds no symptom of the fever, he will probably send him home and tell you to bring him in again in a month or so for another examination.

AT THE BELLE

"Calling Dr. Kildare"

"Calling Dr. Kildare," second in the series that started with "Young Dr. Kildare," brings Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore again to the screen in a medical-detective story, opening next at the Belle Theatre.

Continuing the characters of the first picture, with additions as in the case of the "Hardy Family" series, the picture deals with a murder which Ayres solves to clear an innocent youth after risking his standing as a physician to hide the latter from the police. In the course of events he falls in love with the boy's sister, glamorous Lana Turner who "vamps" him into fresh trouble from which the wily old Dr. Gillespie, his mentor, played by Lionel Barrymore, extricates him.

The dramatic highlights include the blood transfusion in the cellar hideout of the wounded suspect; the gripping scene where Barrymore, as the doctor, enables Bobs Watson, playing a crippled boy, to walk; the situation with the police, and the boy's disillusionment when he finds the woman he loves to be false. Harold S. Bucquet, who filmed the first picture, again directed.

Players include Laraine Day, Nat Pendleton, Samuel S. Hinds, Lynne Carver, Emma Dunn, Walter Kingsford, Alma Kruger, Marie Blake, Reed Hadley and Nell Craig. Complete hospital and laboratory sets, fashionable penthouses, night clubs and underground hideouts of criminals are among the New York locales.

"Blackwell's Island"

John Garfield, undoubtedly the most impressive newcomer to the screen of the past year, who gave further indication of his rise to stardom in the recent "They Made Me a Criminal", has the starring role in "Blackwell's Island", the fantastic jail scandal that shocked New Yorkers several years ago, which opens next at the Belle Theatre.

It is Garfield's third motion picture. Brought to Hollywood after having won considerable acclaim by a series of brilliant performances in New York stage productions, Garfield made his film debut in the unforgettable "Four Daughters." Technically his was a mere supporting role but his portrayal was so compelling and so moving that he was immediately acclaimed the screen "find" of the year.

Naturally, the Warner Studio was happy and willing to appease the public demand for more of young Garfield, and "Blackwell's Island" is the second of a series of productions lined up for him in which he will be the main character in the story as well as the dominant personality on the screen.

The situation on which "Blackwell's Island" is based is familiar to newspaper readers throughout the country, for the 1934 clean-up of the New York City jail on what is now known as Welfare Island disclosed an amazing tale of 'big shot' prisoners running the jail to suit themselves, living in luxury and coming and going as they pleased.

Determined to bring to light the corrupt conditions on Blackwell's Island, Garfield gets himself sentenced there for slugging a corrupt county prosecutor. At the jail he is made the victim of persecutions intended to end in his death. But he escapes and goes to the new and honest commissioner of correction with his evidence.

The commissioner stages a raid on the prison. The prisoners are caught openhanded, and meet their just deserts. Garfield gets a scoop for his paper—and of course, the girl.

In addition to the actors named, other important roles are taken by Victor Jory, Morgan Conway, Gran-

AT THE McCARTHY

"Heritage of the Desert"

Westerns are always popular because they are clean, according to Harry Sherman, who should know because he produces the Hopalong Cassidy series for Paramount. Mr. Sherman has recently completed shooting on a different type of western, "Heritage of the Desert," which opens next at the McCarthy Theatre.

According to Producer Sherman, other reasons why westerns are perennial favorites are: profanity is absolutely forbidden; the hero doesn't drink and doesn't smoke; the little fellow ultimately whips the bully; and the hero never beats up someone smaller or weaker than himself. His fans would forsake him on the spot if he ever broke this code.

The story relates the fight a tenderfoot must wage to restore his self respect and, incidentally, restore his fortune which had been cheated from him by a treacherous agent. Interwoven into the hard-riding, two-fisted action story is the sub-plot about a girl who is betrothed to a man she doesn't love. An excellent cast, consisting of Donald Woods, Evelyn Venable, Russell Hayden, Robert Barrat and Sidney Toler, hit a new high in the interpretation of western romances. Lesley Selander directed the picture.

Three Stooges Comedy

In advance of each performance of Zane Grey's "Heritage of the Desert" a splendid array of short subject entertainment is presented, including the Three Stooges (Larry, Moe and Curly) in a fast 25 minute slapstick comedy howl entitled "A Ducking They Did Go", also Popeye in a clever cartoon offering entitled "Customers Wanted" and all new adventures of 'The Black Falcon' in "Flying G-Men."

"Shadows Over Shanghai"

Now showing is James Dunn, Ralph Morgan, Robert Barrat and Linda Gray in the exciting espionage story, "Shadows Over Shanghai" and the companion comedy-feature hit, "Small Town Boy" starring Stuart Erwin with Joyce Compton and Jed Prouty, which is a combination of two excellent attractions that every patron will enjoy. And added, preceding both features is a new Floyd Gibbon's true adventure story entitled "Chained" which is one of the best in this series ever presented at the McCarthy Theatre.

TWEED MASONS INSTAL OFFICERS

Rt. Wor. Bro. J. E. Warmington, I. M., of Toronto, Officiates

Tweed—On Friday evening, June 23rd the officers of Tweed Lodge No. 239 A.F. and A.M. were installed into their respective offices by Rt. Wor. Bro. J. E. Warmington, I. M. of Toronto. The charges to the newly elected officers were given in a most impressive manner, the consensus of opinion being that it was the finest exemplification of the installation charges ever heard in the local hall. The Installing Master was assisted by Wor. Bro. D. E. Wood of Smith's Falls, who installed his son-in-law, Dr. W. A. Paul as Wor. Master of the Lodge.

The following are the officers for the year.

W.M.—Bro. W. A. Paul.
I.P.M.—Bro. T. E. Rath.
Sr. Warden—Bro. G. H. Cotton
Jr. Warden—Bro. Jas. Corbett
Chaplain—Bro. W. H. Craig
Secy.—Bro. G. D. C. Morton
Treas.—Bro. A. C. Blakely
Sr. Deacon—Bro. S. A. McCarey
Jr. Deacon—Bro. Gil Cordy
Ins. Guard—Bro. R. Cotton
Sr. Steward—Bro. J. W. Wilkinson
Jr. Steward—Bro. H. K. Carleton
Tyler—Bro. Jos. Emerson.
Director of Ceremonies—Bro. T. S. Rath.

At the conclusion of the business of the evening, lunch was served. Short addresses were given by the new officers and a number of visiting brethren from the neighboring lodges. Bro. W. J. Austin of Port Hope was also present.

On Sunday, June 25th, some seventy members of Tweed Lodge A. F. and A.M. attended Divine Service at Tweed United Church, where Rev. W. E. Morrison, B.A., gave a fine address. The choir with Miss Lois Richardson at the organ sang the anthem "Break Forth" (Simper) in an impressive style with Mrs. W. A. Beatty rendering the soprano solo in a pleasing and effective manner.

"Today," said the preacher, "as never before there is a sense of unity and brotherhood abroad in the world. We, on the North American Continent, were not cognizant of this unity until Their Majesties the King and Queen came to our shores. We were caught in a tide of feeling which swept away controversies, sectional feeling and racial distinctions, and we became a united people. The feeling with which we received our beloved sovereigns was due to the heritage of freedom which is our most cherished possession.

Nations are coming under the sway of this sense of brotherhood which is a great moving force which statesmen and leaders cannot ignore.

"This spirit of unity has two defects. The first is its narrowness, as exemplified by Germany, Italy and certain other totalitarian powers. To these peoples all others are outside. Here the roots of brotherhood are in the soil of racial superiority. All other people are commonplace and inferior.

"The second defect is the sense of repression. Unity is based on violence and the denial of freedom imposed on men from without. Men dare not challenge or deny this.

"In a world where brotherhood in its real sense is menaced by violence, the Masonic order stands for brotherhood in its best and broadest interpretation. Great principles govern the order and their beliefs shine as stars to beckon man onto his best and to encourage him to enter into the wider thought of God. In a world given to force and compulsion the Masonic Order is a society of freedom proclaiming the universality of truth and brotherhood."

Tweed Lodge No. 290 I.O.O.F. observed its 120th anniversary on Sunday in conjunction with Tweed Rebekah Lodge No. 236. Services were held in St. Andrew's Presbyterian Church where Rev. W. A. Hunter, B.A., B.D. gave an excellent address. The choir was assisted by the Hawthorne Male Quartette of St. Peter's Presbyterian Church, Madoc. They sang "Take time to be holy." Miss Audrey Jacques sang "Shadows."

"The Independent Order of Oddfellows" observed the minister, "came into being about the year 1745 to bring about a unity and brotherhood of man, thus associating itself with the plans and purposes of God. Friendship, love and truth, the cornerstones of the Order are the expression of the human mind and soul. Thus the responsibility of Oddfellowship is to uphold this unity and sense of comradeship and bring it about among men."

Following the service the members of the Order, led by Tweed Citizens' Band, marched to the cemetery where they placed flowers upon the graves of departed brethren. Prior to this observance, Bro. (Dr.) Robt. Beatty of Madoc delivered a fine address.

The following is a list of deceased brethren and Rebekahs: John Stokes, Robt. McGuire, Wellington Hardy, Norman Lloyd, Chas. Moon, J. O. Molyneaux, David Beatty, F. A. Bartlett, John Ray, Lyman Godfrey, John Pratt, Jas. H. Clare, Sidney Christie, J. J. Wilder, J. W. Logan, Jas. Thompson, John Marchen, Wm. McCammon, J. W. Easterbrook, E. R. Huyck, Jas. Holdcroft, W. G. Arber, Ford Elliott, J. P. Stokes, W. M. Mather, C. F. Varty, J. F. Houston. Buried elsewhere: W. T. Hinds, Charles Porter, Louis Dumbusky, Thos. Watson, W. O. Benn, Dr. H. C. Kindred, W. H. Rollins, William Way, Dr. J. A. Thompson.

Rebekahs—Mrs. E. R. Huyck, Mrs. F. A. Bartlett, Mrs. Jas. Thompson, Mrs. C. Wells.

Members of Thomasburg Lodge accompanied their Tweed brethren and participated in the memorial service.

Davidson and Brunton engaged in a smart hurling duel in a scheduled softball fixture at Memorial Park Monday evening. The former emerged victorious by the smallest of margins by a score of 7 to 6 as his Tweed team-mates outlasted their classy opponents. Wager and Meraw contributed home runs to materially assist their pitcher. Lindsay helped himself to three hits at opportune moments.

The locals are the first team to defeat Havelock and seem to have rounded out a smart aggregation under the management of Hubie Wagar. Tweed's lineup was: Orr Davidson, Tummon, Burroughs, Prevost, Meraw, Sinclair, Wagar, Lindsay.

Frankford

Frankford.—Headed by the Stockdale Pipe Band, Frankford L.O.B.A. and Frankford L.O.L. 240, paraded to the United Church on Sunday afternoon for divine service. There was the largest attendance in years, the church being practically filled.

Rev. J. F. Lane, pastor, delivered a most excellent address after welcoming the lodges on behalf of his church. He chose as his theme. "Inasmuch as ye did it not ye did it not to Me." Mr. Lane in his remarks pointed out that one of the greatest sins was "Indifference and neglect and he admonished" the congregation to be ever on the alert that "the things that should have been done be not left undone." Special music by the choir was a pleasing feature of the service.

Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Lyons of Oshawa were week-end guests of Miss Vera Lyons.

Mr. and Mrs. Jack Rogers and children and Mrs. George Rogers all of Peterboro spent a few days in the village this week. Mr. Rogers is now attached to the Ontario Provincial Police.

Frankford Citizens' Band delighted a huge crowd on Thursday evening when they presented another Band Concert on the Memorial Park.

On Friday afternoon the annual High School Picnic was held on the shores of Oak Lake. Later in the evening the students attended a movie at Belleville.

Mrs. S. Herrington is visiting Mr. and Mrs. J. Powell, Murray Township.

Frankford defeated Glen Miller at softball on the park diamond across the river on Friday evening. Score 20-11.

Mrs. Percy Bell opened her home for the June meeting of the United Church Triple Group on Thursday evening. A very pleasant evening was spent by the great number who attended. Readings were given by Mrs. A. Thompson, Mrs. H. J. Madill and Mrs. G. Patrick. Mrs. Courtney and Miss Muriel Courtney gave a vocal duet. After several contests and games delicious refreshments were served by the hostess.

On Thursday afternoon the 50th anniversary of the founding in Frankford of the Women's Missionary Society was held in the United Church. Representatives of over a dozen district branches of the Society were in attendance. Mrs. P. E. Bonisteel, president, and daughter of Mrs. Massey, one of the first presidents of the Frankford Society, presided over the gathering. Mrs. C. E. Bennett very graciously read the address of welcome which was responded to by Mrs. Cecil Frost, president of the Ladies' Guild of Trinity Church. From an old Scrap Book, Mrs. J. A. Lott traced the activities of the organization back over the years since its founding. Letters of congratulation received from several ex-members from distant parts were read by Mrs. C. D. Powell. The guest speaker, Miss Luella Yorke, was introduced by Mrs. J. M. Dafoe. Miss Yorke, a former Frankford girl, whose father preached on the Frankford circuit, and who is a missionary on furlough from Japan gave a most interesting outline of her work in that far-off country. A short program included a chorus by the members of the Helping Hands Mission Band under the direction of Mrs. Geo. Montgomery. Numbers were also presented by members of the different organizations. The church hall was then visited where the banquet tables with their decorations of yellow roses and table was a huge three-storey birthday cake, complete with its lighting of 50 candles. Seated at the head table were past-presidents and presidents of the various organizations of the district.

4th Sidney

4th Sidney — W.M.S. meeting was held at the Stone Church on Thursday evening with the president Mrs. (Rev.) H. B. Johnston presiding. At the close of the meeting the ladies appointed different committees to look after arrangements for the supper which is being held at this appointment in the near future..

Mr. and Mrs. M. Richardson and family spent a day recently with the latter's parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. Hannah.

A large number of relatives and friends attended the funeral of Mr. Clayton Phillips who passed away at his home on Monday last. Clayton will be greatly missed by his many young companions as he was greatly loved by all. Much sympathy is extended to the bereaved ones.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Jeffery and children spent a few days recently at the Adirondack Mountains passing through New York State, also went by the new Ivy Lee Bridge of which they enjoyed their trip viewing the beautiful scenery on their travel at this time of the year.

Mrs. M. Harris of Belleville is the guest of her son, Mr. Frank Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. K. Bissel of Sarnia and Mrs. E. Bacon were Monday guests of Mr. and Mrs. F. Harris.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Vermilyea and daughter, Lenore, spent the week end with their daughter Mrs. J. Baikie of London and Mr. Baikie.

Mrs. D. Mairs and baby are the guests of her parents Mr. and Mrs. W. Jury.

Mrs. Roy Brickman spent Wednesday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. W. Holmes.

Mrs. Farley Vermilyea and baby are spending a week at the home of Mrs. McCoy of Madoc.

A number from this line attended the surprise party at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Montgomery on Wednesday evening. They are moving to their new home in Foxboro. Mr. and Mrs. J. Cranston of Belleville have purchased their home and are moving here in a short time. The community welcomes Mr. and Mrs. Cranston.

Rev. and Mrs. H. B. Johnston are busy these days preparing to move to the new field of work at Douglas. Much regret is felt by the people on this line to lose our beloved pastor and his wife who has been always ready to lend a helping hand to one and all at any time and we all wish Rev. and Mrs. Johnston God speed in their field of labor.

The farmers are busy these days at their haying and a fair crop is reported.

The children on this line are regretting losing their teacher, Miss Mary Mangold, who has been here for the past three years and has been loved by all her scholars. Miss Mangold has secured a school on the 2nd concession of Sidney and all wish her good luck in her new school.

Madoc Junction

Madoc Junction—Mr and Mrs. George Eggleton visited relatives at Gananoque recently.

A number from this community enjoyed a pleasant time one evening last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Andrews, Stirling.

Mrs. Nelson Prest has returned home after visiting a couple of weeks with relatives at Ottawa.

Mrs. Will Prentice of Detroit has been spending the past two weeks visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Samuel Danford and other relatives here.

Mrs. Sarah Stapley of West Huntingdon spent a few days at Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stapley's.

A few from here attended the annual L.O.B.A. ice-cream party at Halloway Lodge room on Monday evening of last week.

Guests at Mr. and Mrs. George Eggleton's on Sunday were Mr. and Mrs. Seymour Hamilton of Halloway and Miss Pearla Pidgen and Mr. C. Conley of Stirling.

A very successful dinner under the auspices of the Eggleton W.M.S. and W.A. was held on Tuesday of last week at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stapley. During the day the ladies quilted a quilt, the top of which had been donated by Mrs. George Eggleton, and the men folk of the community roofed one side of the church.

Mr. Kenneth Stapley has been engaged as teacher at S. S. No. 24 Sidnew for another year.

Mr. and Mrs. Will Kelly of Foxboro have returned home after visiting a few days at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Hiram Ashley.

Mr. and Mrs. E. McCaughen of Foxboro were dinner guests at Mr. and Mrs. Nathan Wannamaker's on Saturday evening.

3rd Thurlow

3rd Thurlow—Miss Vera Pound spent Thursday at Mr. Wilfred Clare's, Gilead.

The farmers are very busy cutting and drawing in hay. A fair crop is reported.

A number of ladies from Cannifton, with their husbands, attended the open W.M.S. meeting on Thursday evening at Carmel.

Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Copeland and boys of 6th Sidney, spent Sunday at Mr. and Mrs. Roy Pound's.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Pound and Ross were Sunday visitors of Mr. and Mrs. Frank Langabeer and family of Belleville.

I Found Out How to Get the Quickest Non-Skid Stops

A SIMPLE TEST INTRODUCED ME TO A NEW KIND OF TIRE THAT SWEEPS WET ROADS SO DRY YOU CAN LIGHT A MATCH ON ITS TRACK!

QUICKER STOPS! Here's the Secret:

Goodrich engineers tested tread designs by the hundred. Finally they developed this Life-Saver Tread that acts like a set of windshield wipers. As the row upon row of never-ending spiral bars roll over a dangerous film of water, they sweep the water right and left—force it out through the deep drainage grooves—make a dry track for the rubber to grip. No wonder this new Goodrich Safety Silvertown will stop you quicker, safer on a wet pavement than you've ever stopped before!

GOLDEN PLY BLOW-OUT PROTECTION, TOO!

● A marvel of tire engineering—inside and out! Plenty of local motorists are saying just that about the new Goodrich Safety Silvertown. And no wonder. On the outside it has the Life-Saver Tread—the new Goodrich non-skid development that sweeps wet roads so dry you can light a match on its track! And on the inside it has the famous Golden Ply protection against high-speed blow-outs.

If you want the quickest non-skid stops you've ever had—if you want real blow-out protection in the bargain—come in and have this "Silvertown Safety" put between your car and the road.

NO EXTRA COST—But remember, to protect yourself against a possible skid or blow-out tomorrow, you must act today. For safety's sake come in and have your car equipped with streamlined Goodrich Safety Silvertowns. There is no extra cost and they may save your life!

GOODRICH—Leader in Tire Safety; with Golden Ply Blow-out Protection and the road-drying non-skid Life-Saver Tread . . . now gives you the first 2-way Safety Inner Tube.

It's the new, perfected Seal-o-matic —the first 2-way Safety Tube . . . the amazing 60% stronger tube that seals itself. It infinitely reduces the risk of death, injury or delay from blow-out accidents, for it reduces even big cuts and bruises—which formerly meant bad blow-outs—to slow, safe leaks. It protects you against sudden flats from spikes, nails, screws, etc.—seals such punctures instantly while your car rolls on.

SEAL-O-MATICS COST NO MORE than "premium" tubes without 2-way Safety—they outlast tires —owners report tires wear 25% longer. For safety and economy, see your Goodrich Dealer today.

"Dark Angel From Detroit" Called to Knock Tony Kicking In Not More Than 3 Rounds

Some Experts Figure Beer Guzzling Galento Will "Hit the Deck" in First

LOUIS IN FORM

Tonight Will be Seventh Defence of Title Since Defeating Braddock

(By Sam Robertson Canadian Press Staff Writer).

New York, June 28 (CP)—This is the night Dominick Anthony Galento gets the chance to prove he was right when he called Joe Louis "dat bum."

Along about 10 p.m. E.D.T. they will switch on the strongest arc lights over the Yankee stadium's battlepit, leaving Tony alone with his thoughts, perhaps terrifying, and the great negro heavyweight boxing champion, indeed terrifying. And it will be up to Tony to show he meant what he said—or else.

Members of the fight colony who love a dollar first and their families second are squandering up to 10 to 1 the answer will be "or else." The consensus of those who study such things is that Galento and his gargantuan stomach will be flat on the ring's blood-splotched canvas inside of five rounds.

Predicts Third Round

There being nothing at stake but a reputation as full of holes as last season's bathing suit, the writer predicts the dark destroyer will have destroyed kid circumference before the end of the third round.

On paper—which has been taking on some amazing things the past week as ballyhoo bleaters whipped the meeting into the appearance of an athletic event—Tony appears to have no earthly chance against the champion and his pulverizing fists. Yet between the clacks of his store-bought teeth promoter Michael Jacobs confidently predicts some 40,000 to 50,000 persons will pay upwards of $500,000 to sit in on the brawl.

It seems almost like a dream that Galento, an over-fat New Jersey barkeep who has taken life as he found it and suffered the inescapable damage to wind and endurance, should be climbing between the ropes with jarring Joey, a trained-to-the-minute young athlete who has a pair of the fastest and most destructive mitts the ring has known.

Loves to Fight

Tony admits to 29 and confesses he is a brawler who knows no boxing science. He loves to fight almost as much as he loves to guzzle beer in his rowdy far in guzzle beer in his rowdy bar in betti and smoke fat black cigars. But since he took to fighting for pay he has met 22 men, who flattened back his ears and another five who held him to a draw. His one potent weapon is a crushing left hook.

Against this the 25-year-old negro champion whom the colored folk call the "dark angel from Detroit," totes a knockout punch in either hand. He deliveries it with the speed of a cobra. Jack Blackburn, the old negro fighter, who helps manage him has polished up his natural ability until he comes close to being a perfect fighting machine—cool under fire and making every trip-hammer blow cutting and punishing.

Squared the Blotch

Since he gained the topflight the one-time pickanniny from Alabama has been beaten but once. But he more than squared the blotch Max Schmeling painted on his record with his deft left hand by belting the black Uhlan into the hospital in two minutes and that many seconds in their second fight.

Louis is the defendingest champion there has been. Since taking the crown from the brow of tired Jim Braddock just over two years ago he has defended it seven times with dire effects to the opposition. The last three to face his anaesthesia-like ammuntion — Schmeling, John Henry Lewis and ancient Jack Roper—lasted less than one round apiece.

TORONTO LEAFS DEFEAT WINGS IN 12 INNINGS

Team Scores Six in 12th After Being Held Hitless for Eight Frames

CHIEFS MOVE UP

Syracuse Defeats Newark Bears in Twin Bill to Take Third

(By The Associated Press)

Almost anywhere you look in the International League standings you'll find a couple of teams hooked up in a close and bitter battle for a preferred place. And not the least of these is the current Syracuse-Newark struggle for third. They're going at each other personally while the others are doing what they can against rivals who aren't concerned so directly with their doings.

Newark's Bears had their turn Sunday when they won a double-header and moved from fourth to third. The Chiefs reversed the decision last night, after an idle Monday. They whipped the 1938 champions 6-4 and 2-0 to regain the higher spot.

In the opener Syracuse belted George Barley out with a four-run, sixth inning rally, capped by Bobby Porter's single with the corners crammed. Then big Johnny Gee came through with a five-hit, eight strikeout game which he couldn't quite finish while the Chiefs piled up 15 blows off Joe Beggs.

Bisons Move Up

Then Buffalo Bisons moved up to snatch fifth place from Baltimore Orioles, with whom they're having a nip-and-tuck struggle and Jersey City doubled its league lead over the second-place Rochester Red Wings by whipping Baltimore 13-3 while Toronto humbled Rochester with a six-run rally in the 12th to win 10-4.

Buffalo took two decisions from Montreal to pick up a game and a half on the defeated Baltimore club. The Bisons took the opener 6-2 on Al Smith's eight-hit flinging and a four run rally in the fifth, and the afterpiece 7-5 in 13 innings. Jim Oglesby broke up the long second game after three hours and 20 minutes, when he clouted a home run with one aboard, his fourth hit of the game.

Harris Wins Another

Jersey City Giants slammed out big bunches of hits, 18 in all, off three Baltimore lingers while old Bill Harris tossed a seven-hitter spoiled only by home runs by Warren and Corbett.

Toronto hung up its fifth straight victory and Rochester took its fifth defeat when Tony Lazzeri's Leafs finally broke loose. They collected eight hits for their six runs in the 12th after Hank Gornicki had held them hitless for nearly eight innings. Gornicki had relieved Si Johnson when Toronto tied the score in the fourth. Carl Fischer came in about the same time and held the Wings to five hits in nine frames.

"BUTCHERS" DEFEAT KINSMEN BY 27-12

Using practically all of their available players as pitchers at one time or another, the Belleville Kinsmen failed to stop the Luckin "butchers" in a "No Kick" softball game played at the Collegiate. When the dust had settled and the players saw what had occurred, the score is said to have stood at 27 to 12, or thereabouts in favour of the Luckins.

Of all the moundsmen used by the vanquished Kinsmen, Don Thomas fared the best, but his success was mostly due to his verbal attack upon the Luckin batters, rather than his pitching ability. Jeff Marvell started pitching, but later discovered he had some unfinished business elsewhere and gave over the duties to Jerry Hurley, who also found a tangible excuse to leave the box. With Art Stewart, Fitzgibbon and Browning all wielding potent bats, the butchers literally slaughtered the Kinsmen for the latter's fourth loss.

The lineups:

Luckins: Stewart, Cook, Hannah, Fitzgibbon, Matus, Browning, O'Rae and Balyx.

Kinsmen: Thomas, Marvell, Fisher, Flagler, Hurley, Twiddy, Carver, Bean and Shaw.

FERGUS THISTLES DEFEAT TERRIERS

Squad Will Give St. Catharines Athletics Plenty of Trouble

(By The Canadian Press)

It begins to appear more certain that Fergus Thistles will give St. Catharines Athletics plenty of trouble before the senior "A" schedule of the Ontario Amateur Lacrosse League winds up this summer.

The Thistles a rough band of gamesters, stepped into the burly Orillia Terriers in Fergus last night and played their best game of the season to emerge with a 21-14 victory and a few bruises. The win gave them 14 points, four less than the league-leading Athletics, who were good enough to win the Canadian title last year.

The St. Catharines club kept pace, however, by edging out Brampton Excelsiors 13-10 in another rough game, while Mimico Mountaineers slipped through to a 10-9 win over Hamilton Tigers in a game so close it might have gone the other way.

Fergus didn't give bouncing Bucko McDonald, who formerly played with Thistles, much of a homecoming. Instead they made the road towards their goal an obstacle-strewn path for the Orillia playing coach and he took many a stiff check and handed out a few too. Bucko, a professional hockey player with Toronto Maple Leafs in the winter, also scored two goals.

Four major penalties were issued in the game at Brampton. The tail-end Excelsiors worked hard for a win and were kept in the hunt by the brilliant goaltending of Ray Mortimer. Superior condition, however, was St. Catharines forte.

At Mimico, Hamilton made a gallant stand and scored their final goal with one second of play left. That didn't give them time to go after the tying tally.

Bill Isaacs, fleet Indian centre of the Tigers, remained in the league scoring lead. He counted three goals and an assist to play a major part in the Tiger win.

Flatbush Funsters and Boston Go 23 Innings to 2-2 Draw; Feller Wins 12th With One Hit

Whitlow Wyatt Toils 16 Frames of Marathon Game Before Limping Off Field

INDIANS WIN

55,305 Watch Night Game in Cleveland With Tigers the Victims 5-0

(By Bill White Associated Press Sports Writer).

Brooklyn Dodgers may not play better baseball than the other teams in the National League but it's a cinch they play a lot more!

Yesterday, for the seventh time this year, the Flatbush funsters went extra innings, when they played a 2-2 tie with Boston Bees in a 23 inning marathon. That was the third longest game ever played in the majors and the longest game of the current season by four innings.

When darkness ended what was beginning to be a big bore to everyone concerned, the Dodgers overtime record stood at three ties, two wins and two losses—a total of 37 extra innings played this year.

Wyatt Toiled 16 Frames

Witlow Wyatt, the freshman sensation who has won seven for the Dodgers stayed in the longest, toiling for 16 innings before he limped off the field. Three other hurlers finished what he had started and what proved to be within three innings of the longest game ever played in the majors—a 1-1 tie between the Dodgers and the Bees of 1920, the forerunners of these two teams.

That 26 inning affair was two frames longer than a 4-1 victory the Philadelphia A's took from the Boston Red Sox back in 1906.

Boston opened the battle that only darkness could stop with two runs in the second inning, when Max West, Tony Cuccinello and Henry Majeski all singled and Eddie Miller manged out a sacrifice fly.

The Dodgers came to life and scored once in the third on Pete Coscarart's double, Wyatt's single and Melo Alamada's infield out. They tied it in the eighth on hits by Art Parks, Dolph Camilli and Ernie Koy.

The Bees had a swell chance to break the deadlock in the 13th inning but pinch runner Otto Huber, anxious to get home and be a hero, skidded rounding third and had to back pedal. As he stood there with two other mates on base, pinch hitter Stan Andrews fanned and Deb Garms grounded out.

Giants Going Strong

In the other National League games the Giants won their 14th in their last 16 starts and the fourth in a row by walloping the Phillies 13-5; the Reds snapped out of a four game losing streak with a 6-0 win over the Pirates as Paul Derringer hurled a four hitter; and Chicago Cubs bowed to St. Louis Cardinals 5-2 as Lon Warneke won his ninth of the season.

Bobby Feller headed the American League parade of stars with a masterful one-hit pitching job as the Indians won the first American League night game in Cleveland. Bobby mowed down the Tigers by 5-0.

Washington Senators were shut out for the second straight time by the Red Sox, this time by 8-0 and Ted Lyons won, 11-2 for the White Sox by limiting the Browns to four hits for his eighth of the season.

The Yankees and Athletics were idle.

YOUTHFUL SKIPPERS ENJOY SAILING ON WATERS OF THE MOIRA

A tiny punt flotilla manned by youthful skippers in the shallow reaches of the Moira River just above the upper bridge has provided the latest amusement for pedestrians of that area lately. Yesterday the owners of the unstable craft fashioned from discarded sections of metal billboarding and corrugated iron staged a brisk race down the river to the applause of bystandards. One owner has taken the pains to fit his punt up with flag and other accessories.

SOLLY KRIEGER KNOCKED OUT BY AL HOSTAK

Holds Middleweight Title for Second Time in Eleven Months

ONLY FOUR ROUNDS

Referee Braddock Stops Fight After Krieger Goes Down Three Times

(By Gail Fowler Associated Press Sports Writer).

Seattle, June 28 (AP)—Curly-haired Al (Hostile) Hostak of Seattle held the National Boxing Association's middleweight championship for the second time in 11 months today.

The 23-year-old Slav won back the title he lost last Nov. 1 to Solly Krieger of Brooklyn by technically knocking out the rugged but steamed-out New Yorker in 46 seconds of the fourth round of a 15-round match last night.

Hostak weighed 158 3-4; Krieger 160 pounds. Promoter Nate Druxman estimated 15,000 fans paid nearly $40,000 to see the fight.

Hostak displayed a terrific right hand and did something nobody ever did before—put Krieger on the floor. He had Krieger down twice in the third and three times in the fourth before referee Jimmy Braddock, the former heavyweight champion, stopped the slaughter.

Didn't Bother to Count

Braddock didn't bother to count and tried to drag Krieger to his corner.

Krieger, his eyes glazed and staring, slumped to the canvas in midring and sat there in a stupor for several seconds before his handlers trundled to his corner.

Afterward, in his dressing room, Krieger declared:

"That Hostak has a terrific punch. If he ever hits Freddie Apostoli he'll knock him stiff."

Apostoli is the recognized middleweight champion in New York and California. Freddie holds a technical kayo over Krieger, winning when the fight was stopped because Krieger had a badly chopped mouth.

Krieger attributed his loss to two things—the task of making weight and Hostak's merciless right hands to the head.

Sports Roundup

New York, June 28 (AP)—Eddie Kleinman, one of Newark's biggest bookies, says Galento will be down to 1-4 at ringside and you can believe that or not....Mike Jacobs will break an important yarn right after tonight's knockout.....Joe DiMaggio got his first taste of chasing flies under the arcs in Philly the other night and says it's bad business.

We look for Louis to finish Galento in the first....If he doesn't knock him cold, he'll rip him to pieces so badly they'll stop it ....Glen Cunningham's admirers have formed a "Glen Cunningham Club" here....Reggie Coldagelli and Ray Busler, Marquette halfback and tackle, will tour Canada this summer with Jimmy Lynch's troupe of "Hell Divers".

Anything can happen in a heavyweight fight, they say....Well, tonight the experts are better than 10 to 1 for Louis—just as in the first Schmeling match....And the other night on the coast Jack Roper kayoed Gunnar Barlund and Maxie Rosenbloom stopped Al Ettore .....Anything can happen, yowsuh!

Pepper Martin has been further honored by having a pacing colt named for him by Curtis and Olson of Bemidji, Minn.....Newspaper men have come from as far away as England to see the Galento-Lou's spectacle....Ted Broadribb, Tommy Farr's old manager, says Louis looks no better than when he trained for Farr....And Tommy hung around for 15 rounds, y'know.

Jo-Jo Graboski, native of Oshawa who was denied a hockey trial with the National Hockey League because he had previously lost an eye, while playing the game and who played hockey in Valleyfield in the Quebec Hockey League last winter, was signed to play for Nottingham, in the British Ice Hockey League, recently. The announcement that Nottingham is entering the B.I.H.L. substantiates our statment of some months ago relative to the English hockey sponsors expanding for the coming season. Nottingham has never before been represented in England's big league hockey circles. Nottingham, in the central part of England, is not too far away from Newcastle, where George and Jim Pepper reside. With ice hockey pushing its way northerly in the British Isles we would not be at all surprised to hear that Jim Pepper will be playing for one of the better class puck teams this winter. Last season Jim played his first organized hockey with "Toots" Holway's Belleville Juniors and showed marked improvement as the season progressed.

Jim was being counted on by Coach Holway to relieve Steve Hook and Lee Geyer on the defence next winter, but his sudden decision to visit England and his now famous brother, George, left a vacancy in Holway's line-up, as we also understand there is a possibility that Ross (R. C.) Clare will be an absentee next winter also. However, it was our intention to speak more about George Pepper, who was recently invited to ride for the West Ham motorcycle racing team of London, England, in the "A" division. George was asked to divorce himself of the Newcastle team and relinquish the captaincy of England's leading "B" class team to ride "A" class with top-notch riders of the world. A public petition was signed by thousands from north England requesting George Pepper to remain at the head of the Newcastle team, a team that not only heads its league, but was originally built by Pepper. The rapid progress enjoyed by George Pepper, who today is considered one of the best dirt track motorcycle riders in the world, a distinction rarely gained by so young a rider in the matter of experience. Pepper has only been riding dirt tracks for two full seasons.

Sports turnstiles in Vancouver and the Pacific Coast are clicking a merry tune these days, reflecting a healthy interest in outdoor pastimes and all indications point to record-breaking attendance in all sports, we understand. For instance Vancouver's professional baseball club played to 63,000 patrons during the month of May. Softball, up until this year played on public parks, now has a new stadium seating 2,000 persons, while other outdoor sports enjoy equally as good attendance and interest. A few years ago when summer team sports were flourishing in the east a generally falling off was noted along the Pacific Coast, but now the shoe seems to be on the other foot and the primary reason given for this revival is the return of team competitive sports to the public schools something that must be revived in this district if sports are to regain their former prominence in this district.

Apparently Skipper Chuck Barnett, feels his Corbys A.C. mushball squad thrive on work. Last night they took on a Trenton outfit and won 7 to 4, tonight they meet the local Juniors which is all in preparation of their big game versus the league leading Shell 'Oilers' on Friday night. Conn Harris and Eddie Schrieder divided the pitching assignment last night, with Burtt hurling for the Trenton nine. It was a typical exhibition tilt with Harold Reid getting the only good solid swat of the game, a circuit blow. In other softball circles the Luckins nine really applied potent willows to beat the Kinsmen 27 to 12 in a "No Kick" loop tussle, while there is still controversy over the Kiwanis Y's Men's game yet unplayed in this loop. Then again the City Softball loop held an executive meeting last night and passed some accounts, that ran well over the $75.00 mark, but failed to set O.A.S.A. play-off dates. Apparently the local mushball squads are more concerned about the city league championships this year than ever before, which isn't a bad idea after all.

If the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" became a little more proficient defensively they'd make matters quite interesting for the remaining clubs in the Bay of Quinte League. Yesterday Manager Foster's Air Force nine outhit Walt Gerow's Gibbards at Napanee, but still they lost 10 to 4. Eight walks and the same number of errors in the field in no way assisted the Flyers' cause. This afternoon the Belleville team are scheduled to play a double-header league fixture at Picton. Incidentally the Flyers completed the league's first triple play of the season yesterday.

Almost duplicating their feat of nineteen years ago, when they played 26 innings to a tie, the Boston Bees and Brooklyn Dodgers played a 23 inning 2-2 draw at Boston yesterday. The game was terminated by darkness. Each team used four pitchers in the long gruelling test.

Sport Spice — Tonight is the night—devastating Joe Louis versus pugnacious Tony Galento—and as heard on the radio last Sunday night, the customers shouldn't get their trousers shiny sitting watching this bout .... Over in England they favor the Toronto Argonauts eight in the Royal Henley while Joe Burk of Philadelphia, is almost conceded the Diamond sculls....Toronto Maple Leafs made it five in a row last night, beating the Red Wings 10-4 in overtime.... So they're trying to groom Slapsie Maxie Rosenbloom for a shot at the heavyweight crown....If Tony Galento wins tonight, tomorrow is to be a civic holiday in Orange N.J., but we wouldn't worry too much about that if we happened to be Mayor Bianchi, of that city.

NAPANEE DEFEATS 'FLYERS' BY 10-4

Napanee, June 28 (Special)—Behind Hay Switzer's steady pitching, Napanee Gibbards defeated Trenton R.C.A.F. 10 to 4 here Tuesday in a Bay of Quinte intermediate "A" baseball game.

Flyers pulled a triple play in the fourth when Kinkley's attempted squeeze bunt popped into Walker's hands and runners were headed at third and second. Visitors outhit Napanee but Holdershaw walked eight and his mates lagged in steady defensive play.

Webb retired from the game in the third when a thrown ball glanced off his face.

Tomorrow Is Circus Day!

A city within a city comes to Belleville for a one-day stop; a city which has a population of some 700 people, hundreds of horses, caravans of camels, three herds of elephants and countless other specimens of wild animal life, in scores of dens and cages.

It will come here upon its own two special trains of double-length cars, all loaded to the very brim, travelling over the railroad from Brantford where the circus is exhibiting today.

This "City of White Tops" which flits about the country, has its own postmaster, garage, physician, lawyer, drug store, detectives, barber shops, wheelwright and blacksmith shops, and all the other things that go with a well-regulated community.

It is an itinerant affair that for the greater part of a season visits a new town each day and detrains, erects its canvas city, delights multitudes and then entrains and skips away to other towns and cities, there to repeat the operation. Reference is, of course, made to the Great Cole Bros. Circus with Art Mix, famous movie star, which will tomorrow keep open house in with performances at 2 and 8 p.m., doors being opened at 1 and 7 p.m. The tents will be erected at Pine and Dufferin Ave.

Spectacular Street Parade

An immense street parade, whole city blocks in length, will be seen on the downtown streets at 11 a.m. tomorrow. More than half a hundred elaborately carved and gilded allegorical floats and tableau wagons along with five trumpeting bands and two calliopes will be in the picturesque cavalcade, together with twenty elephants and two caravans of camels from Siberia and Asia.

It is a far cry back to the circuses of boyhood days, from this super-circus formed through the present coalition, and while statistics don't mean much, it is enough to say that this enormous amusement enterprise is altogether the greatest circus ever devised.

Many a staid citizen is already turning back the pages of memory to a long ago boyhood when the circus was the biggest thing in life, and the privilege of carrying water to the large and apparently hollow elephants was an honor not lightly to be thrust aside.

The coming of the circus reminds many an oldster of the hurried dressing in the semi-darkness—the tip-toeing down the front stairs, and the run to the railroad yards, where the red and yellow trains were "spotted" when the circus came to town. In those days the circus carried, perhaps, a half-dozen elephants. Tomorrow's circus brings twenty of the bulky creatures, with all else in like proportion.

"Bigness" is the keynote throughout. Twenty-two tents of varying size are erected to house the enterprise, the biggest of these, the main tent, or "big top", seating thousands.

A Fairyland Spectacle

"La Argentina," a gorgeous processional fiesta with charm and romance; a glorious fairyland spectacle of pantomime enchantment, will open the circus performance as a prelude. Superb beyond belief, indescribable, a triumph among colossal productions, it is today sweeping all before it with its all-powerful appeal and the very vastness of its character. It is the crowning spectacle in the long, eventful career of Cole Bros. One thousand men and women, horses, and animals participate in the stupendous spectacle. Great companies of trained singers, orchestras of vast size, grand golden-tongued organs, cymbals and trumpets will be heard. Seventy thousand dollars was expended on wardrobes for this gorgeous prologue pageant.

Art Mix, America's No. 1 cowboy, hero of more than 100 Western movies, will appear at each performance. With him will be his great congress of roughriders of the world, cowboys, cowgirls, Indians and Cossacks. On a short vacation from the Hollywood studios Mix is making a series of public appearances with the Cole Bros. Circus. He still holds the championship as the best all around cowboy in the world.

European Horse Show

Maj. John Smith, accounted Europe's foremost horse trainer, will introduce three rings filled with superbly trained stallions imported to America from Europe; groups of trained seals and 20 elephants presented in a group formation by Dorothy Thompson; the Artist and Model horses, ponies, monkeys, dogs, posing with pretty girl models; trained geese and what not.

The Loyal-Repensky troupe of ten amazing riders, champions of Continental Europe, head an array of 60 noted equestrians. The Great Getona troupe of high wire artists will be seen; from China, the Toyama family of equilibrists will be seen along with the Moreen Troupe, newly recruited from the Argentine, amazing teeter board acrobats. Tom and Betty Waters, and dancing, tumbling, somersaulting juveniles on the tight wire promise a thrilling and novel act. Three score clowns headed by Otto Griebling and Horace Laird, king of jesters, will afford fun for the little folks.

One of the features in which the Cole Bros. Circus excels is its largest and diversified menagerie housed in the largest expanse of canvas ever carried for a menagerie. Scores of dens and cages of wild animals and three great herds of elephants will be seen.

There will be performances at 2 and 8 p.m. The doors to the big show will be open an hour earlier to permit an inspection of one of the world's finest traveling zoos, or to enjoy a concert of popular and operatic music by Prof. Vic Robbins military band. Reserved and admission tickets will be on sale all day tomorrow at Doyle's Drug Store. On the show grounds, the white ticket wagon will be continuously accessible for the sale of reserved seats. General admission tickets will go on sale at the red ticket wagon simultaneously with the opening of the doors.

Wooler

Wooler—The W.M.S. of the United Church was invited to Frankford Thursday afternoon but owing to such a busy time, and so much sickness in the community, only a few ladies were able to attend.

On Wednesday afternoon last W. J. Lawson had the misfortune while working on a building at Orland, to fall when a scantling broke and injure his back. Dr. Clarke of Brighton was called, the following day he was rushed to Belleville Hospital for X-Ray, which revealed a cracked joint in the back. He is resting as comfortable as possible where he will be put in a cast on Monday.

On Friday Mr. J. J. Way was rushed to Belleville for an operation for appendicitis. He is getting along as well as can be expected.

On Sunday morning Mr. Poulter preached his farewell sermon to a large congregation. The congregation regret to see Mr. and Mrs. Poulter leave after nine years among us.

On Sunday afternoon the annual Decoration Day service of McPhail's Cemetery was held with a large number of the district folk in attendance, and great interest was taken in the service which was presided over by Mr. J. Wright. During the early part of the afternoon plot owners busied themselves beautifying their respective plots with flowers.

Rev. Mr. Poulter, Major Belford and Mr. Crook gave addresses. Mr. W. Latimer as secretary treasurer, gave the financial report. The service closed by singing "Blest be the tie that binds."

Mr. and Mrs. Francis Stacey and children and Marion McColl, Bloomfield, spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Bert McColl.

Mr. and Mrs. Hamilton of Kingston spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Wessel and Mrs. Hamilton taught the Willing Worker's Class and addressed the Sunday School.

Mrs. Frank Rogers spent Saturday with Mrs. W. J. Lawson and Eva Masters.

Mr. S. L. Terrill, Mr. W. J. Bell, Mr. Arthur Bell, Mrs. Hugh Gainforth and Mrs. W. J. Lawson went to Belleville on Sunday to visit Mr. W. J. Lawson in the hospital.

Mrs. Frank Rogers and Eva Masters had tea Saturday night with Mr. and Mrs. Elgin McMaster.

Mrs. J. J. Way, Gordon and Donald, visited Mr. Way in the hospital on Sunday.

Mrs. Katherine Sharpe is spending this week with her daughter Mrs. Harry Gerow, Smithfield.

Mrs. Frank Rogers spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. Arnley Masters.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilfred Bird spent the week end with Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Bird, 9th concession of Murray.

Mr. and Mrs. James Rogers, Thelma Rogers and Mr. Harry Whitney, called on Mr. and Mrs. Arnley Masters Sunday afternoon.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Masters, Havelock, spent Thursday with Mr. and Mrs. A. Masters and called on Mrs. W. J. Lawson.

Mr. and Mrs. Roy Scott, Mac Sharpe and Billie Mitchell are spending a few days at Weslemkoon Lake.

Jack May has gone to Weslemkoon Lake to work for Charles Jarvis during the holidays.

Mr. Leonard Scott has returned from Montreal Hospital but he had the misfortune to break his ankle while there, and his foot is in a cast.

Mr. and Mrs. Alden Arthur motored to Campbellford on Sunday to hear Mr. Neal's farewell service, then on to Belleville to see Mr. W. Lawson in the hospital.

Mr. and Mrs. S. L. Terrill, Gwen Elford, Esli Terrill and Dan Hennessey spent Saturday afternoon in Wellington visiting Mrs. Nellie Sprung and Mr. Harry Parry.

Theodore Poulter, Albert College, Belleville, spent the week end with his parents, Rev. and Mrs. A. Poulter.

Nina and Pearl Meyers called on Mrs. Nellie Sprung at Wellington Saturday afternoon.

Miss Cicely Cox, Montreal, is spending a couple of weeks with Mrs. W. Walker.

Mr. Donald Lawson, Pickering, and Mr. Newell Lawson and friend, Toronto, spent the week end with friends here.

Lillian Dorland was able to leave the hospital on Sunday and go to her aunt's, Mrs. Roy Kilbanks.

Mrs. Lorne Terrill spent Sunday at her home here.

6th Tyendinaga

6th Tyendinaga—Rev. J. F. Everson preached his farewell sermon at Mt. Pleasant Sunday afternoon. He left a very fine message with the people and we will follow both Mr. and Mrs. Everson to their new home in our minds.

Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Treverton had dinner on Sunday with their daughter, Mrs. Harry Bates of Belleville.

Mr. and Mrs. Miles Benedict of Cannifton visited at Mr. J. R. Emerson's Sunday.

Miss Lottie Goodman spent Sunday evening with Mr. and Mrs. H. Swan, Gilead.

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Dudgeon and Dorothy of Trenton visited Mrs. J. Boldrick Sunday.

Mrs. Goodfellow, Marguerite and Glenn visited her sister Mrs. J. R. Emerson recently.

Lee Goodman has a poisoned arm from poison ivy.

Pussy to Chase Mice Beneath Boardwalk

Atlantic City, N.J., June 27—(AP) — "Celemma", a half-crown kitten that resides in Philadelphia, was assured today of a happy vacation in Atlantic City, chasing field mice under the boardwalk.

Celemma has already had a fair sample of Atlantic City. She slept under the boardwalk Saturday night and Sunday night with her owner, 13-year-old Dorothy Johnston, and both were down-at-the-heel yesterday when Patrolman George Gehrig picked them up and took them to the police station.

'All is Forgiven'

Meanwhile, the girl's mother, Mrs. Mona Johnston, was back at their Philadelphia home, frantic. She had advertised an appeal to Dorothy to "please come home and bring Celemma with you—all is forgiven".

Last week-end the family was getting ready to move to Atlantic for the kitten, when Mrs. Johnston said the cat couldn't go.

That made Dorothy disconsolate and so she disappeared with the cat under one arm and a small travelling bag under the other.

Dorothy told Patrolman Gehrig she "thumbed" a ride to Atlantic City.

Bancroft Man Charged With Destroying Claims Stakes

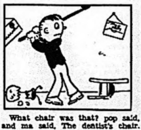
Reminiscent of the gold rush days of the Klondike and the early days of '49 when stake jumping was one of the most feared of all miners' troubles, a seasoned furrow-faced old timer of 69 years, Gilbert Woodcock of Bancroft, is today lodged in the Hastings County jail on a charge of the wilful destruction of prospectors' claims stakes in North Hastings.

Woodcock was arrested by Provincial Constable Palmateer yesterday after he had allegedly destroyed several claims, as staked out by mining prospectors in North Hastings. Later the prospectors staked their claims by marking large saplings, after Woodcock is alleged to have pulled all stakes in the vicinity. Not to be outdone by the prospectors, Woodcock is said by Constable Palmateer to have hewn down the large saplings, upon which the prospectors staked their later claims. Later he covered the stumps with earth and was about to "jump a claim" when apprehended, the officer stated. Woodcock is being held on remand.

Little Benny's Note Book

Pop was smoking and thinking in his private chair and ma said, Willyum do you believe a man who is consciencious and persistent and successful in one thing would be equally so in everything he undertook?

I do, I believe Edison would of been just as outstanding as a painter or a tap dancer if he had given his great talents to either art, pop said, and ma said, That's the sort of feeling I had while I sat in the chair.



What chair was that? pop said, and ma said, The dentist's chair. I haven't had any teeth looked at for quite a while and you know the proverbial rule about seeing the dentist twice a year rain or shine, and I happened to be passing Dr. Oliver Hiffly's office and I remembered hearing great tails of how good he is, so I walked in on the chance and sure enough he didn't happen to be busy, and he inspected my upper teeth and excused himself and went in the next room and I heard the most peculiar sounds, a sort of swishing, and then he returned and inspected my lower teeth and said he thought I needed a mild filing or 2 and excused himself again and there was more swishing followed by a terrible crash, and then I heard a woman's voice saying, Now Olivre I dont care how many legs you've got on that championship cup, if you break another thing in this house with another golf club I'm going to leave it.

Yee gods a golf bug, pop said, and ma said, Yes, so I tought anybody as conscientious as that about his golf might be just as conscientious about his profession, what do you think, Willyum? and pop said, Well I wont quite take back everything I said, but if I were you I think I'd take my cavities to a professional golfer who's so crazy about dentistry that he reads dental text books while he's walking from hole to hole.

Ma saying she would think it over.

Let SNAP! CRACKLE! POP! make your BREAKFASTS HAPPIER!

"CRISP TO THE LAST GOBBLE—that's why I'm all for Krispies," declares Bobby B. "They're not like cereals that mush down in the bottom of the dish. These Rice Krispies stay crisp from the first pop to the very last spoonful."

"THAT'S A TUNEFUL SPOONFUL!" says Mrs. A. J. as she listens to the popping and snapping of Kellogg's Rice Krispies. You'll notice it's not only for the sake of the children that Mrs. A. J. serves Rice Krispies every morning.

Switch to RICE KRISPIES for CRISPNESS!

"CHEERS FOR KRISPIES!" Little Allan R. sits right up and takes notice as Krispies go pop-crackle-snap when mother pours on the cream. Allan needs no coaxing to eat his breakfast when he's tempted with Kellogg's Rice Krispies.

"NOW THIS IS DIFFERENT," says Henry H. He had a he-man grouch at breakfast until Mrs. H. tempted him with Kellogg's Rice Krispies. He doesn't know whether it's their sound, colour or taste that got him; but boy . . . watch him go for them now!

CAMERA FANS: catch a Krispie fan enjoying snap-crackle-pop and earn $10! We pay this for every picture used. No prints returned. Snap Mother, Father, Sister, Brother, and send the prints to Dept. RKP, Kellogg's, London, Canada.

SNAP YOUR FAMILY OUT OF BREAKFAST BLUES

Everywhere in Canada it's "Snap! Crackle! Pop!" at breakfast time, as the cream pours over Kellogg's Rice Krispies. These crunchy bubbles of crispness are not only nourishing, not only tempting . . . they are FUN to eat!

Note, too, that Rice Krispies keep crisp to the last spoonful. Tests show that even after two hours in milk or cream, Rice Krispies stay floating—won't mush down.

They always come oven-fresh in the exclusive waxtite package. Order Kellogg's Rice Krispies from your grocer today. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

"I went fishing today Daddy!"

Telephone service is widely used because it is convenient, efficient, yet surprisingly inexpensive. Nothing else yields so much for what it costs!

The Big News of the day! And Daddy, listening to his little girl's excited voice, longs for his week-end with the family. In the meantime, he is comforted by the thought that they can always get in touch with him immediately—by telephone. Many "Daddies" call their families at least once through the week, using low Night Rates that are in effect to most points every evening after 7 (and all day Sunday, too). It's very inexpensive.

Suggestions for construction of a Soap Box Derby racer frame are incorporated in these drawings which appear in the 1939 All-American Soap Box Derby Official Rule Book. Devised by experts, the sketches shown here should be of material assistance to boys who are constructing Derby race cars.

The Law Lends a Hand

Even the Akron, O., policemen pitch in at Derby time, for when a town is full of champions, all getting ready for the big Soap Box Derby, there's lots to be done. Clarence Hooker, of Dover, O., got some mighty official assistance on his last-minute adjustments just before the 1938 race.

Famous Driver at Derby

Soap Box Derby racers who come to the national finals at Akron, O., have a chance to meet many noted people, as Lamar McDaniels, of Atlanta, Ga., discovered. Wilbur Shaw, a recent winner of the great Indianapolis Speedway race, is giving Lamar some sound professional racing advice—as one big-time race driver to another.

SPORTSMANSHIP AND THE DERBY

Although a game is but a trifle in the broad experience of life, it weaves something quite fine into the loom of life itself. The world loves a good sport—one who plays the game with everything he has to win, but who at the same time can bear defeat gracefully and play every game with fairness.

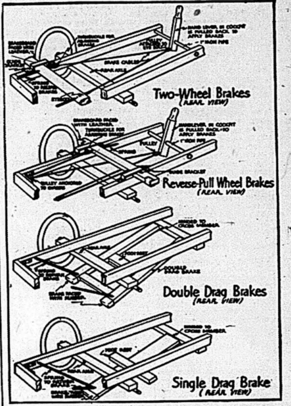
Most of the immortal names in the athletic world have been noted for their fair play and fine sportsmanship. On the day when Christy Mathewson pitched a ball game the whole team felt his influence and was inspired to do its very best.. "Red" Grange, the "Galloping Ghost" of Illinois, always insisted that the team was great and not he. Bill Tilden, greatest of all tennis players, was noted for the consideration he always gave an opponent on the courts.

Probably no other character in sports is closer to the hearts of boys than Babe Ruth—the great home-run king of baseball. His outstanding athletic ability, coupled with his clean play and fine sportsmanship, gained the recognition and admiration of those around him, and he soon emerged as a leader in sports. For years Babe Ruth has been a splendid inspiration to the youth of America—an inspiration to play the game fairly and squarely.

The games and contests of youth are played for their recreational value, their stimulating urge. And good sportsmanship adds an immeasurable quantity to the fun of the contest. No one is able to win all the time in any game, and the greatest winners are usually those who have become acquainted with many a loss.

The Soap Box Derby boys know that. They know that only one will emerge victorious from their hometown race and the national finals. But each boy knows that he has done his best to win. Those who do not win will accept their loss as a part of the game, like the true All-Canadian boys that they are.

Safe Brakes Are Compulsory



Two-Wheel Brakes (Rear View)
Reverse-Pull Wheel Brakes (Rear View)
Double Drag Brakes (Rear View)
Single Drag Brake (Rear View)

One of the rules most strictly enforced by Soap Box Derby officials, at both the local race and the national finals, is that brakes must be safe. Good design and construction of brakes, as permitted by the rules, are a real test of a boy's ability, so it will pay each boy to study these suggestions from the Official Rule Book for 1939.

Talking Over the Big Race

KIWANIANS VISIT C. N. ROUNDHOUSE

Trip Arranged Through Kindness of W. K. Rogers, Asst. Superintendent

A visit by the Kiwanis Club to the C.N.R. roundhouse as guests of the company was one of the most pleasant trips taken by the club in some years. After finishing the luncheon at the Queens Hotel the members journeyed across the market to board a waiting train with Yardmaster Robert Johnson in charge and the train in charge of William Haslip with switchmen Jack Alexander and George Cornish assisting. An uneventful trip with soft drinks thrown in through the kindness of Kiwanian Bruce Bottum, the party were soon landed at the roundhouse and taken in tow by Albert H. Jones, locomotive foreman and Mr. Saunders, Superintendent of Motive Power, also Mr. W. K. Rogers, Assistant Superintendent, who incidentally was a guest at the luncheon of the club.

The officers in charge were assisted by those officials at the roundhouse and the members were enlightened on the work that is accomplished in that plant during one day. So interested were the members to see all the workings of this vast organization it was a hard thing to keep them all together. It was not an uncommon sight to see several members off in one corner inspecting some machinery and at the same time asking innumerable questions. They were all answered satisfactorily and the boys came back with a better impression as to how a railway is kept moving. There were some in the party who were born in Belleville, lived their entire life in the city and had never been in the roundhouse.

Explanations Given

Mr. Jones explained how water was tested for the engines' use and how it was treated to give it the most efficiency and yet cause the least damage to the mechanism. The members were shown how wheels are placed under an engine, how the roundhouse was heated and how an engine was washed out after completing its run. Piston cracks were explained and shown and the methods used to correct the fault. The work of men from the time the hostler brings the engine into the roundhouse until it is taken to the lead to start another run was fully explained. Every man has a certain work to do and every operation is checked by an inspector to ensure the traveler the greatest of comfort and safety. The washing out of the boilers is a complicated process but it was explained it was the only way to get the last vestige of scale from the boiler pipes.

Proceeding to the turn table, a large 6400 class engine was placed on the machine and turned for the information of the party. Nothing would do but some of the boys should hop aboard to see at first hand how one of these mammoth creations was operated and it was necessary for the Company to supply much needed waste in order that the boys might be presentable when they returned to their various occupations. Leaving the roundhouse the train stopped on its way downtown at the rail saw and the members were shown at first hand how new rail is manufactured. This part of the organization is working at full blast at the present time as it is at this season of the year that new roadbeds and rails are laid. The members marvelled at the dexterity with which these heavy rails are handled and the smoothness of the operations. It was a highly instructive trip and those who made the trip will be able to speak more intelligently about Canada's nationally owned railway.

The train brought the members back to the city and before the party was broken up three hearty cheers were gicen for Mr. Rogers and his able assistants in arranging such a pleasnt trip. At the luncheon "Dick" Flynn, recently back from the Kiwanis convention at Boston presided with Jack McIntosh as song leader and Leo B. Riggs accompanying at the piano. It was a most delightful luncheon.

Donald Woods who plays the leading role in Zane Grey's "Heritage of the Desert" which opens next at the McCarthy Theatre.

Congregation Honors Rev. David Wren And Mrs. Wren

Picton—Rev. and Mrs. David Wren were honored by the Official Board of Picton United Church on Sunday evening, following church service, when members of the board and their wives and members of the choir met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. F. E. Walden and presented them with an occasional chair and a walnut coffee table. An address was read by Dr. D. W. Gullett and the presentation was made by Andrew Palmatier. A social time was spent with Mrs. A. Palmatier assisting Mrs. Walden.

The congregation's high regard and good wishes for Mr. and Mrs. Wren who leave for their new charge at Stratford, was voiced in the following address:

To Rev. and Mrs. Wren:

Time rolls his ceaseless course and all too soon your departure lies at hand. It seems but yesterday you came and six years are but the passing of a day. To few is given the gift to "light your own fire and kindle fire in others" but unquestionably that remarkable and precious gift is yours.

Your capacity for human relationship, your zeal for spiritual elevation and your high type of citizenship have made an impression upon this community which will not be effaced. Opportunities to render real service never had to knock twice at your door, altruistic deeds were performed before most of us saw the need and your every hour has been devoted to the cause of God.

It is at times such as these, that we would remember that all those who greeted you are not here to bid you adieu. Indeed, we sometimes feel that the strength has gone out from us, so much so that we hesitate to let our trusted leader go. We would gladly retain you, keep you to ourselves, perhaps make extravagant promises to serve you better, yet it is because we love you that we place no stone in your way nor do any thing to interfere with your plan which we believe to be of God's design.

We would especially desire to evince our gratitude for the faithful services Mrs. Wren and the rest of your family have rendered to us. The task, we know, has not been easy and it has surely taken its toll from you both while you were at the pinnacle of your lives. These insignificant gifts are not to be considered for their meagre and intrinsic values but rather as tokens of the love and esteem we hold for you both.

May the blessing of the Great Jehovah go ever with you and keep you both, may your new field of endeavor be crowned with success and may God give you and yours many years, yet to be of pleasure and happiness.

The prayers and good wishes of this official board represented here tonight follow you.

Rev. David Wren preached farewell services at Picton United Church on Sunday. At the morning service, he took as his topic "Two Pictures of God', while in the evening he spoke on 'The Young Man who changed the history of the world.' There were very large congregations present at both services and Mr. Wren bade them farewell, remarking on the happy times he had spent during his six years ministry here. Mr. Wren will preach at his new church, Central United, on Sunday and will then return to Wellington to spend a month's holiday. Rev. J. F. Raycroft of Stratford, the new minister here, will preach his first sermons here on Sunday. During the month of July, the United and Presbyterian Churches will hold joint services and Rev. Raycraft will conduct them during July, while Rev. Dr. M. R. Boudreau will be in charge during August.

Rev. Raycraft will be inducted as minister here on Friday evening, June 30, with the Belleville Presbytery of the United Church in charge.

Rev. Raycraft has enjoyed five years' successful ministry at Central United Church at Stratford, and previous to that served at the Metropolitan church in London, Wellington St. United Church, Brantford and at North Parkdale Church, Toronto. He is not a stranger to the Bay of Quinte district since during the Great War he was stationed for a time at the air camp at Deseronto. He was given the rank of captain.

The Royal Canadian Artillery anti aircraft camp at Point Petre is proving a great attraction and on Sunday several hundred people were visitors there. The four anti-aircraft guns were the object of much interest. Lt. Col. Craig is in charge. The 5th Montreal Battery is expected at the end of the week. Several permanent buildings have been erected and it is understood that the camp will become a permanent one and be increased in size another year. It has been pronounced an ideal spot for the purpose.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 28—(CP)— Toronto exchange drifted lower today. Industrials were down with golds also showing lower prices. Base metals and western oils were only mildly weak.

The sharp drop of the price of silver, following the congressional move to curtail foreign purchases, helped to unsettle the market. nervousness over renewal of threats against Poland were evident. Nickel weakened 1-2 point.

Utilities, senior oils and foods were the weakest of the industrials. Brazilian declined 1-2 to 8 1-2 and Bell Telephone lost a point. Western oils eased down narrowly.

WALL STREET

New York, June 28—(AP)—Selling in pivotal industrial issues gave the stock market a downward slant today.

Losses near the fourth hour ranged to more than a point in a number of issues as the list backed down further from its recent rally. Mining shares dipped with another drop in the world price of silver pending final action on the United States gold-silver legislation.

Outstanding on the retreat were U.S. Steel, Cerro de Pasco, American Smelting, U.S. Rubber, Chrysler, Eastman, Westinghouse, Celanese, Douglas Aircraft and Bethlehem.

Among the few gainers Owens Illinois was prominent. It climbed more than two points after 3400 shares and changed hands at 60, then gave up part of the gain.

Inching higher in the Canadian group were Dome, Lake Shore and C.P.R. Dominion 4s shaded lower in the bond market.

Reassessment Rolls Will Be Completed By September

New reassessment rolls of the city are expected to be completed and handed over to the office of the City Clerk by September, it was announced at a meeting of the special reassessment committee of city council held yesterday, presided over by Alderman Laurie Lewis, chairman of this special committee.

"A number of complaints from citizens regarding frontage and assessment have all been investigated by the city assessor and a complete understanding has been reached," the committee was told. "People who have had these grievances have had the matter talked over with Mr. Bateman and an equalization has been reached."

Officials of the Citizens' Research Bureau in charge of the work of reassessment have completed all measurements of properties which measurements are now

FORMER MAYOR CHOSEN

Orono, Ont., June 28—(CP)—W. R. Strike, former Mayor of Bowmanville, was named Conservative can;didate in the federal riding of Durham at a nominating convention last night attended by 2,000 persons and addressed by Lieut.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader.

Mr. Strike defeated George Hooton, Cavan; F. W. Bowen of Newcastle, former member for the riding; and W. F. Ward, also a former Mayor of Bowmanville.

WARNS HITLER

in a period of danger more acute and more laden with ugly facts than any which we have ever known in the hard, disturbed period through which we have lived our lives."

Mr. Churchill said the present situation was similar to that of last September "but with this difference—this very important difference—that this year no means of retreat are open."

Warns Not to be Deceived

After referring to Britain's guarantee to Poland he said "all preparations are apparently being made by the Nazis to force Poland to yield to their demands and if Poland does not yield all preparations are being made night and day, hour by hour, to attack her with very large forces both from the west and from the south."

"I was not deceived last year," Mr. Churchill said, "and I want you not to be deceived this year. The forces of aggression are actually gathered."

He said "a state of extreme vigilance has been instituted for our defence forces" and declared Britain was ready if the signal should be given.

Would Say to Hitler

Mr. Churchill said that if his words could reach Hitler—"as indeed they may"—he would say this to him:

"Pause; consider well before you take a plunge into the terrible unknown. Consider whether your life's work—which may even now be famous in the eyes of history—in raising Germany from frustration and defeat to a point where all the world is waiting for her actions, consider whether all this may not be irretrievably cast away."

To his audience he continued:

"I see Herr Goebbels and his Italian counterpart, Signor Gayda, have been jeering at us because we have not gone to war with Japan on account of gross insults to which Englishmen and New Zealanders have been subjected at Tientsin. I am glad that the Government have not been provoked into taking their eye off the target."

He said the Japanese action might well be a trap to lure the British fleet away from European waters. There was laughter when he added:

"Once our position is sure in the Mediterranean I think you will find that the Japanese will recover their old long-famed courtesy."

France Opens Counter-Offensive
(Jean Allary, Copyright 1939, By The Havas News Agency)

Paris, June 28 (CP-Havas)—Competent observers today saw in Premier Edouard Daladier's firm speech closing Parliament the opening of a counter-offensive in "the war of nerves" now being fought in Europe.

His warnings yesterday that France is prepared to resist attempts at domination and that the situation has not been so grave in 20 years made a strong impression on the country and were applauded in the press.

Observers read into his address the indication that internal politics have passed into the background and that maintenance of "peace with liberty" now is the main goal of the French Government.

Will Resist Domination

"Speaking with rare frankness, Daladier did not hesitate to declare that perhaps we shall have to face a delicate situation during the summer," Le Matin (Independent) declared.

L'Ordre (Conservative) said: "Daladier renewed the assurance that France is ready to collaborate with all peoples desiring to work together in a peaceful world. He added, on the other hand—and international adventurers should mark this well—that she is resolved to stand firm against any attempt at domination. The warning was

TEXTILE COMPANY OPENS IN AUGUST

Work on Construction of Plant at Picton to Start at Once

Picton, June 28—(Special)—Work of constructing a textile manufacturing plant in Picton by the Dumo Textile Ltd, will begin in a few days, according to an announcement yesterday by Thos. Dumont, head of the firm. This will be located on a lot next to Picton fair grounds. Day and night shifts will be used and it is hoped to have the factory ready for operation at the end of August. A variety of textiles will be manufactured and considerable employment will be given.

The factory, according to Mr. Dumont, will be 110 ft by 65 feet with a boiler room 35 by 30 feet adjoining. It will be of steel and concrete construction and contract for its erection has been let to Malcolm Rorabeck of Picton.

Resignatoion of Hiles Carter as head of the science department of the Picton Collegiate and Vocational Institute has been accepted by the school board. Mr. Carter, who has been here for four years, has accepted a position with the Walkerville-Windsor Collegiate. His successor will be G. W. Motherwell of Ottawa.

Radio Night Shows Progress Of Industry

Many Phases of Subject of Broadcasting Explained

Exposition Radio Night, a highly entertaining as well as educational program in which the various phases and scientific progress of the radio were vividly brought out, was given the Young People's Group of the Salvation Army at the local Citadel Monday night by Mr. Eric Naylor.

Broadcasting, reception, electrical transcription were described and demonstrated in a program that was interspersed with musical and vocal numbers. An entire broadcasting studio was portrayed while scientific devices that included the new "fog invention" were demonstrated.

The many intricate phases of the subject were adequately described by Mr. Naylor. Contributing artists were Miss Benner, the Misses Dorothy Green and June Wardle, and Mr. Eric Cappelle.

The electrical transcription demonstration featured selections by the outstanding Salvation Army Bands of the Empire as well as recordings made by the Belleville Male Quartette.

The program, the first of its kind to be staged in Belleville, was thoroughly enjoyed by the large crowd of young people and others present.

13 STRAWBERRIES FILL ONE BOX

Big strawberries have been grown in the local district this year, and the task of filling the average quart box has been made an easier one for the pickers. This morning the proprietor of a Front Street restaurant displayed one box purchased on the market which contained only 13 berries, all of which were of exceedingly large size, filling the box to the brim. One of the largest measured nearly 10 inches in circumference.

LOUIS

When they squared off for the benefit of the cameramen Tony tried to relieve the chilliness of the affair by poking a finger into the rippling muscles over the champion's stomach but Joe didn't relax his deadpan expression.

Both in Fine Condition

Dr. William Walker, the Athletic Commission's physician, wound up the medical check by declaring both men in tip-top condition. He added that Galento seemed "a little keyed up".

Brig.-General John Phelan, chairman of the Commission said Galento would not be permitted to enter the ring with old fight-cuts protected by adhesive tape. Tony cuts easily—a bleeder, they call him and he is decorated with a lot of scar tissue.

Many fight observers feel that if the tan thunderer doesn't smack Tony kicking in the early rounds, his sharp punches will open so many of the challenger's old wounds the fight will end in a technical knockout.

No Comment

Neither fighter would comment on a public telegram Mrs. Ida Wise, National President of the Women's Christian Temperance Union, sent the titleholder, denouncing Galento's beer-swigging propensities'

"Undoubtedly many young Americans will be influenced by which man wins Wednesday night," the Telegram read. "Millions of people in this country, not only church and temperance groups but school people and others interested in youth welfare, have fought for decades and are still fighting against the habits of life which Galento lives".

The wire went on to say the .C.T.U. "favors the clean-living Louis as opposed to the self-indulgence-in-things-harmful-to-you creed of Galento and his beer kegs."

$375 ONE-WAY FARE TO EUROPE

Regular Passenger Service Opens Today With 22 Passengers

New York, June 28—(AP)—Aviation reached its long-dreamed milestone of regular transatlantic passenger service today.

Twenty-two passengers and a crew of 11 are leaving Port Washington, Long Island, at 3 p.m. EDT aboard Pan American Airways' Dixie Clipper, bound for Horta, Lisbon and Marseille, to inaugurate twice-weekly flights to Europe.

A high school band was on hand to see the flying boat off, and the four yacht clubs of Manhassett Bay arranged to fire a salute. Aside from these gestures and the letters of greeting which Captain R. O. D. Sullivan carried to the heads of government at the stopping points, the occasion was almost commonplace.

Until further notice, Pan American planned flights from Port Washington each Wednesday over the southern route via the Azores, and each Saturday over the shorter northern lane via Shediac, N.B., Botwood, Newfoundland; and Foynes, Ireland, to Southampton, England.

CLOCK IS AID TO ASTRONOMERS

New Invention So Accurate That It Helps in Aiming Telescopes

San Francisco, June 28—(AP3—A new kind of clock so accurate under ordinary conditions that it may help astronomers to aim their telescopes with higher precision and engineers to control difficult variations in alternating current, was described here today.

The instrument was developed by Henry Warren, Ashland, Mass., electrical clock manufacturer, who described it to the American Institute of Electrical engineers.

Warren acknowledged that the three main kinds of time standards now generally in use—the ordinary pendulum clock, the vibrating quartz crystal and the electrically driven tuning fork—were more accurate than his own creation, but said they either had to be maintained with utmost care or were subject to breakdowns or outside influences.

Vibrating Wire

He presented a graph showing his instrument maintained accuracy to within one second at all times during a 24 hour stretch.

The main part of Warren's instrument is a specially-made wire which is forced to vibrate at a relatively constant rate despite changes in temperature, electrical influence and other adverse factors.

Ordinarily, a wire hanging downward from some object to which it is attached will not vibrate at a constant rate because of many interfering factors.

Princess Sophie Poisoned 'To Make Sure of Her Death' Voiced by Dr. Leo Pfeffer

By ROBERT PARKER
Associated Press Foreign Staff

Sarajevo, Yugoslavia, June 28 — (AP)—The conviction that Princess Sophie, whose assassination with Arch-Duke Franz Ferdinand 25 years ago today led to the Great War, was poisoned "to make sure of her death" was voiced today by Dr. Leo Pfeffer, the examining magistrate.

A quarter century after Arch-Duke Franz Ferdinand of Austria-Hungary and the Princess, his morganatic wife, were shot in this former Bosnian capital by a Serbian student, Dr. Pfeffer discussed for the first time the intimate details of his investigation of the tragedy.

Now old and bent and nearly deaf, Pfeffer said his investigations at the time convinced him that Princess Sophie could have been saved "except for carelessness and an injection which must have been some kind of poison."

"I was fully convinced at the time that the two deaths came in very handy for the Austro-Hungarian monarchy, which wanted to start action against Serbia," he said.

A month after the killings, Austria-Hungary declared war on Serbia, charging that the Serbian government was behind the plot. Soon all Europe entered the conflict which spread over the world.

Autopsy Refused

Pfeffer said he demanded an autopsy be performed on the Prin-

was refused by "higher-ups."

He said Gavrillo Prinzip, the Serb student who fired the fatal shot, told him under cross examination that he had not intended to shoot Sophie on that sunny day, June 28, 1914.

"When I shot a second time at the Archduke," (the heir to the Austrian throne) the doctor quoted Prinzip as saying, "I slipped and the bullet hit the Princess by mistake."

Pfeffer said that throughout the subsequent investigation he felt "pressure.. on him from Vienna court circles and "suggestions" were made that he must find the Serbian government guilty.

Just Fanatics

"The murderers were young fanatics and idealists who wished to free Bosnia from Austria-Hungary and attach it to Serbia," he said. "The questioning of Prinzip and two accomplices convinced me they were alone in knowing of the plot."

Pfeffer, pensioned for many years works in his garden and his model orchard. Despite his great age, which he refuses to divulge, he is energetic. Although his name was known throughout the world 25 years ago, he is all but forgotten today. He likes, however, to recall the huge crowds which once gathered around him, seeking to extract secrets from him about the Sarajevo tragedy.

Prinzip died in prison and his body was brought here for burial 18

ELEVEN INJURED WHEN CAR PLOWS INTO DANCE HALL

Driver is Thought to Have Stepped on Accelerator Instead of Brake Pedal

TWO HURT SERIOUSLY

Eleven persons were injured, five of whom were rushed to the Belleville General Hospital, after an automobile went out of control and crashed into a barn where a dance was in progress, on the property of W. Matthews, Thurlow Twp., at midnight Tuesday.

The more seriously injured now in the hospital are Cornelius Post, of Chicago, who is visiting in the district and who sustained a fractured pelvis in three places; Willard Irwin R.R. No. 5, Belleville, who is suffering from internal rupture and hemorrhage, Miss Margaret Matthews, Cannifton, Miss Bessie are reported to have sustained minor lacerations and abrasions, while Traverner returned home after being X-rayed early today. Dr. Gibson and Ross of this city attended the injured persons.

The automobile, which is said by Provincial Police to have been driven by Dorothy Ross of this city was owned by Wilfred Ristow, also of Belleville. Inspector Frank Gardner, O.P.P., announced today that charges would be preferred against both Miss Ross and Ristow, the former being charged with driving a motor car without a licence and the latter with permitting the same.

Inspector Gardner and Constable Don Carruthers investigated the accident shortly after midnight last night and learned that Mr. Ristow had been driving alone on the Cannifton road when three girl hitch-hikers, who police say were Dorothy Ross, Jean McNab and Gertrude McNab, all of this city, hailed Ristow in search of a ride. The motorist stopped and took the trio aboard, later, it is said, he permitted Dorothy Ross to drive the car, the girls requesting to be taken to Matthews' barn dance.

Hits Orchestra Platform

As the motor car approached the barn, in which the dance was in progress, it is believed Miss Ross lost control, as the vehicle suddenly leaped forward through the open door of the barn and crashed solidly upon which the dance orchestra was seated. The platform shot forward at the force of the impact, striking several onlookers, who were sitting near the orchestra. Fortunately the car stalled when it struck the orchestra platform thus not causing more serious injury and damage.

Mr. Post, a tourist from Chicago, was a spectator viewing his first barn dance. "I never saw a barn dance before and hearing there was one in progress near where I was visiting, thought I would look it over," Post told Inspector Gardner today. Provincial Police stated today they believed Miss Ross had applied her foot to the accelerator instead of the brake pedal as the car approached the entrance to the barn, which is believed to have been the cause of the accident. The vehicle was damaged badly about the radiator and front.

Six persons sustaining minor injuries were treated at the scene of Parishioners Honor Rev. and Mrs. Johnston On Eve of Departure

At the annual Strawberry Social of Stone United Church held Tuesday evening, June 27th, which was largely attended by parishioners from the entire circuit a happy surprise was sprung on the pastor and his wife who are leaving this week to take up their residence in Douglas in Renfrew Presbytery.

Following a delightful program of vocal and instrumental music and readings Mr. Stanley Spafford of the Aiken's Church assumed the chairmanship of the large gathering which filled the church to capacity and called upon Mrs. M. B. Sine to read the following address:

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Johnston—

As in nature nothing stands still we have the sun rise and the sun set, one season following one another, the flow and ebb of the tide, so in our lives we grow and add years to our age. As in the poem of the river—

"For men may come and men may go,
But I go on forever—"

Our lives and influence resemble this river. They go on and on even after we are gone.

Now six years have rolled by since we welcomed you, Mr. and Mrs. Johnston to this Sidney circuit and the time has come again for us to bid farewell to a loved pastor and his wife who each has proved himself and herself a friend to all.

We will always remember and cherish the example both have set for us. It was said of Jesus that He went about doing good. This can be said of both Mr. and Mrs. Johnston.

The sick and those in sorrow have been cheered by the friendly smile and sympathizing words showing that an understanding friend was near. Then too Mr. and Mrs. Johnston have been with us in our pleasures and a pleasure shared increases as a sorrow shared decreases.

You Mr. Johnston, have always held out to us the challenge of life both by precept and example and the ultimate promise of the New Jerusalem provided we made ourselves worthy.

It behooves us all to accept this challenge by living our lives for others, living the Jesus' way, taking advantage of the little opportunities for service as they come to us, so that when we are called upon for larger service we will not be found wanting.

Let us always remember:—

Life is real, life is earnest,
And the grave is not its goal
Dust thou are, to dust returnest
Was not spoken of the soul.

In the world's broad field of battle
In the bivouac of life.
Be not like dumb, driven cattle
Be a hero in the strife.

Let us then be up and doing
With a heart for any fate.
Still achieving, still pursuing,
Learn to labour and to wait.

Now Mr. and Mrs. Johnston as you enter your new field of labour in another part of the Master's vineyard, we can assure you that you take with you all our best wishes and prayers for future success in the Service of the Master.

As a slight token of our feeling of good fellowship we on behalf of the circuit of Sidney, ask you Mr. and Mrs. Johnston to accept this purse not for its purchase value but for the thoughts and prayers that accompany it.

(Signed) — Selburn Westover, Morby B. Sine, Sam Holmes, J. N. Chisholm.

The purse was presented by Mr. Wm. Holmes of the Stone Church.

After suitable replies had been made by Mr. and Mrs. Johnston in which they heartily thanked all who had so loyally assisted in the work of the Kingdom during the last six years, Mr. Spafford announced that an address was also to be read from the Wallbridge W.A. to Mrs. Johnston. This followed and was read by Mrs. J. N. Chisholm, while the quilt was presented by little Miss June Hincheliffe. Mrs. Johnston thanked the Wallbridge W.A. and all the W.A. workers of the entire circuit with whom she had enjoyed mingling in service and fellowship.

Following is the address:—

Dear Mr. and Mrs. Johnston,

Knowing that you are about to make your departure from our midst we could not miss the opportunity of expressing to you our sincere thanks for your splendid co-operation in our Ladies' Aid, during your six years with us. Many times you have entertained us in your home. Your many deeds of helpfulness have been an inspiration to our society.

As a token of thanks and appreciation we now ask you to accept this quilt, which was made by the members of the Wallbridge Ladies' Aid. May it recall the many happy times we have enjoyed together.

Signed on behalf of the Wallbridge Ladies' Aid—Mrs. Lorne Badgley, Mrs. Fred Phillips, Mrs. J. N. Chisholm.

The evening came to a close by the singing of the Doxology and the personal farewells of all to the outgoing pastor and his wife.

War News, Dictators Off Front Pages, Says Rupert Davies

London, June 28—(CP)—The visit to Canada of King George and Queen Elizabeth shoved "war news and dictators" off the front pages of the Dominion's newspapers and helped produce an optimistic atmosphere conducive to better business, W. Rupert Davies of Kingston, Ont., President of the Canadian Press, told the Empire Press Union Conference today.

"During the tour of the King and Queen," he said, "war news and dictators were crowded off the front pages for about three weeks or a month. As a result business picked up. The advertisers immediately got the idea that if we kept war news off the front page, business would continue to improve, and that if we put dictators back on the front page again it would kill business."

As Synonyms Go

By E. P. O'BRYAN

Max Horwinsky was a race tract tout. He worked with a partner whose name was Dorris. Dorris was just what the average sucker would fall for. She had big brown eyes and was a stunning blonde. Tall and well built, with all the curves necessary to her calling. She was the bait that attracted the big fish.

Max and Dorris had worked out a swell scheme. Dorris would mingle with the men and give one the glad eye. Then a drink at the bar and maybe a date later. Max would manage to barge into the restaurant and suddenly he'd spot Dorris. He'd come over to her table as if he hadn't seen her for weeks.

Dorris would introduce Max to her friend.

"Great girl—Dorris is." Max would say to his new acquaintance. Then, over Dorris's protests he'd insist on telling now she had picked winners out of the paper. "Five straight she gave me," he'd vouchsafe.

Before the strangr could ask any questions Max would hurry away, saying that he'd like to see Dorris the next day before the race. The gentleman would want to know what it was all about and Dorris would pretend it wasn't anything much. Just a little system—a sort of a synonym game she'd worked out for fun.

"Oh, I couldn't do that," she'd say when her latest pick up would want an explanation. "I get it out of the papers—sort of a combination of letters. It never spells out the name of a horse, but there's always a synonym for the word that tells what horse is going to win. It really does . . ."

Twice in a row on the day I'm telling you about, Max placed a five-pot on horses that the synonym picked, and they won. The fellow who put up the dough was named Ogelby. He was a school teacher from Iowa.

Mr. Ogelby was hot after that. He flashed a couple of century notes and said he'd like to bet it all on the next race, but he'd like to know the system.

"All right," Max says. "Dorris here says today's synonym is spice." How she gets that is from the first letter of the names of the jockeys. Now there's Sam, Pete, Ike, Chet and Elmer. Look at the first letter of each name. What does it spell? S-p-i-c-e, eh?"

Mr. Ogelby looked puzzled. "But how do you arrive at anything from that?"

"Simply this. Here's the program. What horse is running in today's races whose name suggests a synonym for spice?"

Mr. Ogelby read off the names of the horses. When he came to Aromatic he suddenly paused.

"There's your answer," Max said. "Bet that two hundred on Aromatic today and see what happens."

But Mr. Ogelby was a little hesitant. He finally peeled off a sawbuck and gave it to Max. "I'll take a chance on this thing once," he said.

Aromatic limped in eighth.

Max disappeared for a few hours. Finally he phoned Dorris but she had checked out of the hotel.

"You're not by any chance Mr. Horwinsky, are you?" the clerk inquired politely.

"Yeah, that's me."

"We have a message here for you, sir."

It proved to be a note from Dorris. It read:

"Dear Max, Mr. Ogelby and I are going to be married this afternoon. I wish you all the luck in the world, only that system you figured out for suckers is screwy. I even fell for it myself and bet the bank roll. Hope you make out some way. Dorris."

Three months went by Max received a letter one day with a check in it for two hundred dollars. The letter read:

"Dear Mr. Horwinsky: I've always felt that I owed you an apology for taking Dorris, who is now Mrs. Ogelby. And I owe you something more. My check is enclosed to cover it.

"I was not satisfied the day you gave me the tip on Aromatic. Being a school teacher I did not think the word quite suitable for a horse, so I looked around for a better one and found it. Perhaps it did not occur to you that Balmy Day was running in the next race. I put the two hundred on him and he paid twenty to one. What spice has to do with a balmy day, I haven't the least conception, except that at the time I remembered that the air on balmy days of early summer is often spice-like. Anyway, I figured one was as good as the other. Dorris sends her regards.

"Very sincerely, yorus.
"Horace Ogelby."

OLD AFRICAN CUSTOM

African native customs die hard. The governor of Kenya (Sir Joseph Byrne), when taking an official tour in the gold area, was approached by a number of natives, who expressed consternation about the recent gold workings and feared that they would lose their land. Sir Joseph at once declared that there was no question of any native being deprived of any part of the reserve.

An aged chief stepped out of the crowd and asked the governor to supplement his assurance by swearing according to the custom of the Kakamega tribe. The chief held out a sword and a dog and asked the governor to cut the dog in half with the sword and to sprinkle the blood around. Sir Joseph Byrne tactfully declined the proffered dog and sword, emphasizing that the word of one of his majesty's governors should suffice.

23 Persons Injured in Crash of 2 Radial Cars

Women, Children Are Chief Victims In Head-on Crash

Fourteen of the Persons Injured Near St. Catharines Today Are Discharged after Minor Hurts Treated in Hospital

CONDUCTOR INJURED

Women and Children Run Screaming to Rear of Trolley as They See Accident Inevitable — Most Injuries Caused When Passengers Are Thrown Forward

St. Catharines, Ont., June 29 — (CP)—Twenty-three persons, mostly women and children, were brought to hospital here today after two radial cars collided head-on on a curved stretch of track three miles north of here.

Fourteen of the injured received treatment for minor injuries and were then discharged. Of the nine, the most seriously injured was George Schenck, operator of one of the cars.

A passenger on the southbound car from Port Dalhousie said the passengers saw the inevitability of a collision and that women and children ran screaming to the back of the trolley.

Most injuries were suffered when passengers were thrown forward against the seats in front of them as the cars crashed.

The accident, on the line of the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto Railway, a subsidiary of the Canadian National Railways, took place near Martindale, a short distance past a trestle.

THE WEATHER

Toronto, June 29—(CP)— Light showers have occurred in few districts of Manitoba and Saskatchewan, but the weather is now fair and moderately warm throughout the west. Scattered thundershowers have also occurred in Ontario and Quebec, where the weather has been quite warm. It has been fair in the Maritime Provinces but cool in Nova Scotia. Pressure is high over the Northwest Territories, the Prairie Provinces and Northwest States, but relatively low in the region of the Great Lakes and over Northern Quebec.

Lake Superior: Moderate to fresh northwest winds; fair and a little cooler tonight and Friday. Saturday—Probably fair and warm.

Manitoba: Fair and moderately warm today and Friday; moderate to fresh northwest winds today, becoming variable on Friday. Saturday—Probably fair and warm.

Saskatchewan: Moderate northerly winds; fair and moderately warm. Friday—Fair and moderately warm.

Alberta: Fair and moderately warm today and Friday.

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Topography and climate! The climates of the United States and Canada exemplify very convincibly the influence of oceans and continental masses on climate. On the same parallel in both countries are the most diversified climates. The moist and uniformly warm climate on the Pacific coast changes abruptly to drier and colder climate of the central plateaus and plains which in turn changes to moister and warmer climates of the Atlantic seaboard states and provinces. Note also the influence of the Chinook winds. Helena and Calgary are respectively warmer than Duluth and Winnipeg although the latter are considerably lower in elevation.

EXCUSES NOT GOOD ENOUGH

Detroit, June 29 (CP)— Earl Walberg, 21, won't use the "have no time excuse" again. Walberg, who told Judge George Murphy he "never has time to get a driving licence and that sort of thing," will have plenty of time for the next 30 days. He received that jail sentence when he drove into another car and said he had no licence.

BAD PLACE FOR NEST

Kirkland Lake, Ont., June 29—(CP)—Mamma robin made a bad mistake when she built her home in a radio pole here. The bird probably expected leaves to sprout and hide the nest. No leaves appeared and the fledglings had a difficult time with a hot sun beating down on them.

Firms' Partners Cannot 'Margin' On Own Account

New York, June 29 (AP)—General partners in member firms of the New York Stock Exchange may not, after July 15, trade for their own accounts on margin, the Board of Governors of the Exchange ruled today.

Not only are partners to be prohibited from margin trading but it was announced the committee on member firms will "carefully scrutinize the accounts of close relatives of general partners in order to satisfy itself the rule is being observed."

Special partners are exempted from the rule as are transactions by specialist firms or specialist partners in stocks in which they are registered and by odd lot firms or partners in the stocks in which they likewise are registered.

Present margin accounts need not be closed out but all transactions in them must be of a liquidating nature.

HON. MURPHY NOMINATED

Neepawa, Man., June 29 (CP)—Hon. T. G. Murphy, Minister of the Interior in the Cabinet of Rt. Hon. R. B. Bennett, will be the Conservative candidate in the Neepawa constituency at the next Federal election. He was nominated at a convention here yesterday.

NAZI PAPERS SCORN BRITISH REPLY TO HITLER

'Arrogant' Say German Newspaper Editors of British Note

LITTLE TO NEGOTIATE

German Official Answer Will be Forthcoming 'at the Proper Time'

By LYNN HEINZERLING

Associated Press Foreign Staff

Berlin, June 29—(AP)—The Nazi-controlled German press today commented scornfully on Great Britain's answer to Chancellor Hitler's denunciation of the 1935 Anglo-German naval limitation agreement and indicated the Nazi leader intended to follow his "road of destiny" without any chains on his growing navy.

The press and the authoritative news service Deutscher Dienst pointed to the British reply as an "arrogant note" and made it clear there would be little to negotiate between the two countries in naval matters as long as what Nazis call

DIXIE CLIPPER ROARING ALONG ON SECOND LEG

Racing Through Tranquil Skies Giant Flying Boat on Way to Lisbon

22 PASSENGERS

New York, June 29—(AP)— Pan American Airway's 41-ton Dixie clipper roared along on the second leg of its inaugural passenger flight from the United States to Europe today.

Racing through tranquil skies, the giant four-motored flying boat hit speeds up to 180 miles an hour on the 2,397-mile first leg from Port Washington, Long Island, to Horta, the Azores, landing there at 6:53 a.m. EDT., the company's office here announced. The flying time was 15 hours 42 minutes.

The Clipper took off from Horta at 8:36 a.m. for Lisbon, a hop expected to be made in seven hours.

The Clipper lifted from its Port Washington, Long Island, base at 3:10 p.m. EDT yesterday, carrying 22 passengers—including six women—a crew of 11 and a mail cargo.

The departure, made with a minimum of ceremony, was watched by 5,000 spectators. The whistles of harbor craft saluted the $750,000 flying boat as it rose into the air and wheeled seaward.

Capt. R. O. D. Sullivan, pilot commander, kept the ship at an altitude of 7,000 to 9,000 feet.

Say Munitions Enter Danzig

Gydnia, Poland, June 29 (AP)—Reports reaching Gydnia today from the Free City of Danzig said a quantity of munitions was taken from East Prussia to the Free City during the night. The munitions allegedly included 16 artillery pieces.

CUSTOMER SCARES 3 THIEVES

Toronto, June 29.—(CP)—A customer entered a grocery store on Carlton street last night in time to chase away three men intent on rifling the till. Two of the thieves had engaged the Clerk, Mary Burt, in conversation while the third was opening the till when the customer whose identity was not determined, appeared on the scene. The men fled on his appearance.

Ken Wilhelm, Archer, Repeats Feat Of William Tell by Car Light

Amarillo, Texas, June 28 (AP) - Ken Wilhelm, archer bettered the feat of William Tell, "but wouldn't do the shot again for $100,000."

Wilhelm, sportsman's show performer, had finished most of his routine when a cloudburst caused the lights to go out. He asked the announcer to say his last bit, shooting an apple from the head of Monty Montgomery, newspaper woman, would be performed by car light.

In the poor light and heavy shadows, he drove the arrow through the apple on the fifth shot.

FIREMEN RISK LIVES FOR DOG

Thousands cheered as Fireman O'Reilly, TOP, descended a ladder from a flame-swept New York tenement carrying a police dog which he rescued from a fifth-floor apartment. More than 5,000 spectators jammed busy 42nd Street to watch 10 dramatic rescues down ladders and fire escapes. Five persons were injured.

Fears Danzig Crisis Precipitated Shortly Expressed in Britain

London, June 29—(CP)— Fears that a crisis would be precipitated soon in Danzig were expressed today in the British press.

Newspapers gave prominence to Winston Churchill's prediction yesterday of a summer of tension and to Anthony Eden's advice that Britain "be tough....talk tough... act tough" to keep peace.

Overnight reports received here from Warsaw said well-trained Germans were being organized into a Danzig "free corps."

A group of members of parliament was said by reliable sources to be urging Prime Minister Chamberlain to extend the age of conscripts to include those between 21 and 24 years of age.

Under the present conscription law 220,018 men between 20 and 21 registered June 3 for six months training—the first compulsory peacetime service in British history.

It was estimated by backers of the extended conscription plan that more than 800,000 additional men would be available for service from the 1,100,000 falling within the 21 to 24 year limits. The other 300,000 were said to be men already in one of the armed forces or to be physically unfit.

The war office is said to have prepared a provisional plan for such extended service, for which new legislation would be necessary.

The press took a grave tone in reporting the pessimistic statement of Mr. Churchill and his caution to Chancellor Hitler to "consider well before you take the plunge into the terrible unknown."

Heading its editorial "warning — read Mr. Churchill's speeches," The Daily Mail (Independent) said: "He may be saying what the government are thinking but what they are afraid to make public."

The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) said Mr. Churchill made "a very grave estimate of the present international situation" and added: "Those who were wont to call Mr. Churchill an alarmist will hesitate to do so today. His warnings have too often been impressively justified by events".

Any Attempt to Violate Integrity Of Poland Means War With Britain

London, June 29—(CP)— The Daily Telegraph (Conservative) today warned that any attempt to violate the integrity of Poland would mean war with the British people, "who will be ready to do their part."

"Perhaps Mr. Churchill's words will help to convince Hitler, before it is too late, that that is so," the newspaper said editorially.

"Premier Daladier's call to the French people has evoked instant response and if war is forced on the British people —as it certainly would be by any attempt upon the integrity of Poland—they will be ready to do their part."

The Daily Express (Independent) said:

"We read of German soldiers pouring into the City of Danzig, of machine-gun exercises in the Danzig free corps, of the issue of gas masks.

"The object is to frighten us. But that game won't work. And if we cannot avoid a European war, we must endure it.....

"The British government should extend the scope of conscription here, and call additional classes of young men. And the unemployed should be called up too."

The Daily Herald (Labor) said:

"It is clear that Herr Hitler is planning new mischief in Danzig The nature of that mischief is not yet certain. It may only be a stormy demonstration to test the nerves of Poland and her allies. Or it may take the form of a military coup of the kind that could hardly fail to precipitate an international crisis of the gravest character."

"Quiet fortitude" of the sort displayed by Premier Daladier may yet avert war. The Evening Standard (Ind.) said.

"Daladier is neither an alarmist nor a war monger," the editorial declared. "His words are not the result of panic and fear. They speak only a knowledge of French power and French resolve.

"That spirit will find its response in this country. Britain too is ready to confront whatever may befall with fortitude."

PLAY 76 GAMES

Regina, June 29 (CP)—A tennis marathon that Regina tennis officials believe is some kind of a record featured the city championship tournament Wednesday night. Mrs. J. Binfet and Miss Lillian Ehman played 76 games in a three set match. Mrs. Binfet finally won 15-17, 15-13, 9-7.

SENTENCED TO 4 YEARS

Toronto, June 29—(CP)— Howard Hayward, arrested recently at Detroit for Toronto police, was sentenced to four years in penitentiary here today after pleading guilty to nine charges of theft.

Hayward admitted he looted Toronto clothing stores and said he was "sorry for all the trouble I have caused."

ADMITS HAVING FIREARM TO DAMAGE PROPERTY

Steel-Worker Accused of Firing Shots Near Royalty Goes Under Probation

MUST RETURN TO N. Z.

Plea Not Guilty Accepted to Charge of Having Weapon With Intent to Endanger Life

London, June 29—(CP)—A 45-year-old steelworker, Ledwedge Vincent Lawlor, accused of firing shots near two members of the royal family, pleaded guilty today to charges of possessing a firearm with intent to damage property and was put on probation for 12 months, on condition that he return to his native New Zealand.

He was pictured in police testimony as having been a patient in mental institutions after becoming mentally unbalanced in 1932.

Descent From Vikings Claimed

The prosecutor agreed to accept a plea of not guilty to the charge of possessing a firearm and ammunition with intent to endanger life. He was arrested June 6 for firing a shot near the Duchess of Kent and was later accused of firing a shot in the home of the Princess Royal.

Lawlor, whose eccentric bicycling about royal residences with a sawed-off rifle was outlined in court, heard Detective-Inspector Henry Hayward testify Lawlor suffered from delusions that neighbors were talking about him and claimed to be a descendant of the ancient Vikings.

BRITAIN WILLING TO NEGOTIATE NEW NAVAL PACT

Nazi Charges That Britain is "Encircling" Reich Denied in Note

NOTE DELIVERED

London, June 29—(CP)— Great Britain could be hostile to Germany only if "Germany were to commit an act of aggression against another country," the British government told the Berlin government in a note delivered last night.

Britain's recent policy is simply one of "assisting smaller nations to feel secure in the enjoyment of their independence," the note said, in denying Nazi charges that Britain is "encircling" the Reich.

It said the guarantees Britain has extended to Poland and others could only operate "if the countries concerned were to be attacked by Germany."

The note answered Chancellor Hitler's denunciation of the 1935 naval accord between Germany and Britain. Hitler scrapped the treaty in his Reichstag speech of April 28 and sent a formal memorandum which was delivered in London on the same day.

Willing For New Treaty

Britain said she is willing to negotiate a new naval limitations agreement, accepting an offer of the German memorandum to enter into negotiations "in regard to future problems" but asked what assurances the Reich could give that such a pact would not be scrapped as was the 1935 agreement.

That agreement limited Ger-

Limited Number Of Technicians to Be Allowed In Decision is Made Provided Department of Labor Certifies Similar Skilled Labor Not Available in Canada

NUMBER NOT NAMED

Application for Admission of Men for Bata Plant to be Handled in Routine Fashion Through Immigration Branch

Ottawa, June 29—(CP)— The government has decided to admit to Canada a limited number of technicians necessary to the opening of a Bata Shoe Company plant here, provided that the Department of Labor certifies that labor skilled in a similar manner is not available in Canada, it was learned today from the Department of Mines and Resources.

The number of skilled workmen to be admitted from Czecho-Slovakia, where the parent plant of the Bata Company is located, has not been stipulated, but will be kept to a reasonable minimum, it is understood, the number possibly increasing as the proposed Ontario factory increases its staff.

Company's Attitude

Applications for admission of such key men for the Bata plant will be handled in routine fashion through the immigration branch. The Labor Department will determine whether or not similar labor is available in Canada.

The company proposes to employ a considerable number of Canadian workmen but claims a small number of key men are required who are already trained in the Bata system.

Options have been secured on lands and buildings in and near Frankford where it is hoped the company will build its Canadian plant.

'Queen Could Charm Bird Off a Bush'

London, June 29 (CP)—"Queen Elizabeth could charm a bird off a bush," Walton Moore, Counsellor of the United States State Department, today told a luncheon audience celebrating inauguration of air mail service over the North Atlantic route.

Mr. Moore, who is 80, was one of the passengers aboard the Yankee Clipper which reached Southampton last night.

"If King George should come to the United States, take out naturalization papers and run for President, he might beat all comers," he added in describing the royal couple's visit in North America.

Sir Kingsley Wood, Air Minister, gave details of the British Trans-Atlantic Flying Service which is to begin early in August.

The service has been delayed through priority given to the rearmament program. At the outset it will be confined to one passenger flight weekly in each direction.

Duke of Windsor Says His Plans Not Made for Future

London, June 29—(CP)—In connection with reports that the Duke of Windsor planned soon to return to England, The Daily Mail today quoted him as saying his plans for the future were not yet made.

Aix-Les-Bains, France, June 29—(AP)—The Duchess of Windsor was reported to be suffering slightly from rheumatism and planned to visit the baths here today.

War-Worn Seacoast and Corridor Air, Sun and Existence as State

Warsaw, June 29—(AP)— President Ignace Moscicki, in a broadcast speech climaxing Poland's naval week today, declared the nation's war-won seacoast and Pomorze, the Polish Corridor, were the "air and sun of our existence as a state."

He proclaimed Poland's determination to keep her outlets to the sea no matter how great her adversary or how heavy the outside pressure.

"In the traditional naval week every year," the President said, "the thoughts and sentiments of all Poland concentrate on the sea coast, of all our frontiers the shortest yet most important sector because three quarters of our foreign trade passes through it.

"That is why the ports of Gdynia (in Poland, at the head of the Polish Corridor) and Danzig (which Germany wants returned to the Reich) have such exceptionally great significance for our national economy.

"Pomorze and the seacoast are the basic elements of our economic and political independence."

Anglo-French-Polish Warning to Germany Over Danzig Urged

Paris, June 29—(AP)—A suggestion for a combined British-French-Polish warning to Germany that the seizure of Danzig would mean war was printed widely today in French newspapers.

It was emphasized that, although the three countries already have said as much, such a warning was necessary because Nazi leaders have given the impression they did not believe in French and British sincerity on the Danzig issue.

SEARCH SWINGS INTO ONTARIO

President of Louisiania State University Believed by Some to be in Canada

Toronto, June 29— (CP) — Search for Dr. James Monroe Smith, missing former President of the Louisiana State University, switched today to Ontario as Louisiana authorities said they believed Smith and his wife had fled to Canada and would seek to take a steamer from here to Europe.

Police and immigration authorities at Windsor, Niagara Falls and every other Ontario port of entry watched for the two. More than $1,000,000 is missing from the university funds.

Attention was given Canada as the possible hiding place of Dr. and Mrs. Smith when police learned they had purchased railway tickets to Detroit, just across the Detroit river from Windsor.

The reward for their arrest totals $2,750. Louisiana authorities asked the aid of the Royal Canadian Mounted Police in their search.

BOBBY RIGGS ENTERS 4TH TENNIS ROUND

Wimbledon, England, June 29 (CP)—Bobby Riggs, United States, joined his fellow-American, Elwood Cooke, in the fourth round of the all-England tennis championships today with an 8-6, 11-9, 6-2 victory over Camille Malfroy of New Zealand. Cooke eliminated G. Lyttleton Rogers of Eire, 7-5, 6-1, 6-4.

Franz Kukuljevic, Puncec's countryman and conqueror yesterday of Don McNeill, also scored in straight sets. He beat W. C. Choy of China, 6-4, 7-5, 6-4. Veteran Jacques Brugnon of France gained a 6-4, 6-4, 6-8, 6-4 verdict over another long-term internationalist, Giorgio de Stefani, Italy.

In the second round of women's doubles the Misses M. and B. Lumb defeated Jean Saunders, Alberta-born British player and Valerie Scott 6-2, 1-6, 6-4 in an exciting match during which Margot Lumb and Miss Saunders supplied the strongest drives.

ANGLO-FRENCH CO-OPERATION IN ORIENT DECIDED ON

London, June 29—Prime Minister Chamberlain indicated in the House of Commons today that Great Britain and France had arranged for the fullest possible cooperation in the Far East in event of an emergency in the recent defence discussions at Singapore.

He did not say so in so many words but he said "that was one of the objects of the discussions" and that the conversations were "satisfactorily concluded.

"As in the case of other staff conversations," he said, "it would not be in the public interest to disclose any details of the discussions."

U. S. SENATE APPROVES FEDERAL RELIEF BILL

Washington, June 29—(AP)—The United States Senate unanimously approved the government's relief bill today after adding appropriations $73,300,000 to the $1,735,000,000 it already contained.

The senate reduced the severity of numerous restrictions upon the administration of Works Progress Administration which had been voted by the House of Representatives in an effort to prescribe rules and regulations for the administration of relief.

COMMERCIAL VEHICLE MUST BEAR MARKERS AFTER SEPTEMBER 1st.

All commercial vehicles must carry and display side marker and identification lamps on their vehicles on and after Sept. 1st., 1939, Motorcycle Patrolman Sam Ervine revealed today. In a memorandum received by all Traffic Officers throughout the province today the official announcement was made. Truck owners and operators should immediately ascertain what type of side marked and identification lamps are required for their individual needs, such information now being available from the district Traffic Officers.

MONTREAL RESIDENT THINKS HE WOULD LIKE THIS DISTRICT

A Montreal resident who, in a communication to Mayor Bone this morning, declared he "fully supported all your political views and sentiments as expressed in the daily press," made the request for the Mayor to locate him a "suitable small farm" upon which he could take up residence in this district.

"From all I have heard, I believe I'll like your Belleville or Trenton district very much, and I am very anxious to locate there," wrote the Montreal man. "Can you find me such a place?"

LARGE EEL CAUGHT

The eel fishing has been fairly good in the bay, and fishermen who have been congregating nightly along the piers of the bay bridge and from the walls of the bridge road have reported good catches of this fish. One of record size was landed near one of the piers last evening by youthful Albert Foster, a specimen which measured well over three feet in length. Dew worms have been the common bait.

U. S. TOURISTS THINK $5 LICENCE FEE FOR FISHING FAR TOO HIGH

"Last year we came to Ontario and paid five dollars for a tourist fishing licence which gave us the privilege of catching three bass and about a dozen perch in your bay. This year so far we haven't applied for a licence, and we don't intend to until we find out if the fishing is any better", stated a party of tourists from Rochester, New York, who called in their cruiser at the government dock last evening.

A protest against the high fee of five dollars was registered by the visitors who stated that two dollars was enough for the Ontario Government to ask for the privilege of dropping a hook and line".

DREDGE IS RAISED

Leamington, Ont., June 29 (CP)—The $80,000 dredge St. Clair, sunk in Leamington harbor in a storm nearly three weeks ago, has been raised from 20 feet of water by salvage workers and taken to Kingsville for repairs. Salvage work to recover a scow that went down at the same time is continuing.

Damage to the dredge from the 10-foot waves of Lake Erie was estimated at $10,000 while $25,000 damage was caused to the dock. Both dredge and scow were owned by a Chatham Construction Company..

Art Mix, Western Cowboy, Wins Hearts of City's Boys and Girls

Famous Rodeo and Screen Star Meets the Children at the Ontario Intelligencer Offices

WORLD WAR VETERAN

ART MIX, Western Cowboy and Movie Star, now with Cole's Circus playing here tonight, who delighted crowds of Belleville children this morning when he signed autographs, shook hands and conversed with them in the office of The Ontario Intelligencer.

Dashing two-fisted hero of the talking screen, two guns slung in richly embroidered belt, handsome Art Mix, hard-riding, quick-shooting western cowboy, won the hearts of hundreds of Belleville boys and girls here today when he mingled with them, talked and laughed with them and signed his name in their autograph albums.

The children milled in a jostling, laughing crowd outside the offices of the Ontario-Intelligencer long before the scheduled time of the motion picture star's arrival.

Immaculately garbed in a white cowboy suit, with a white Stetson sombrero covering black hair, the western star was the centre of attraction of a large number of hero-worshipping boys and girls. In the office of the Ontario-Intelligencer he signed autographs displaying a keen sense of humor as he gently "kidded" his young friends.

He was born in the historic state of Montana, he said, where today near Bozeman, a thriving city of that state, he owns a large game preserve. Practically born in the saddle his early life was spent in an atmosphere of horseflesh, and quite naturally he turned to riding as his mode of living. So expert did he become at this western art, that he attracted the attention of motion picture officials with his riding at the various rodeos in Canada and the United States.

Winner of Horsemanship at Wembley

He was a familiar figure at the famous Calgary Stampede and is a popular friend of noted Canadian riders. In 1924 he journeyed to England where he won the International Championship for horsemanship at the Wembley Rodeo. Again in 1936 he won the famous Roosevelt Trophy at the same place. This competition calls for first place in twelve riding events, and the winner must win the trophy three years in succession in order to gain permanent possession.

His fame at the rodeos, as has been said before, attracted the attention of movie moguls and within a short time Art Mix was a full-fledged motion picture star. He has appeared in one hundred western pictures, and as soon as his contract with the Cole Brothers Circus expires he will return to the movie lots where his contract calls for eight pictures next year. He has played with such stars as Bebe Daniels, Esther Ralston, Fifi D'orsay and other luminaries of the screen.

And here's a tip for the girls. Art is not married, although he blushingly confessed that "I was in love once, I thought." "But," he added, white teeth flashing in a brilliant smile, "I am open for rehearsals."

Art takes exceptional pride in his horse "Pal." Eleven years ago the "cremoline" as "Pal" is termed, ran wild on the Montana ranges. He was captured after a struggle by Mix and gradually broken until today he is one of the most intelligent highly-trained horses in circus circles.

Fought With Canadians

He fought two years with the Canadian forces overseas and has a very high regard for Canada and things Canadian. "The people here are different," he said. "They have a wholesomeness and a friendly attitude that is a delight to meet."

Mix's western tang and his delightful friendly personality is outstanding. His cheery chatter and amiability won him instantly the hearts of his listeners. He is well over six feet tall, and in his western clothes makes a striking figure. He heads a congress of cowboys, cowgirls and Indians in a show that is said to be one of the best to appear in this city. Tonight with his dashing troupe he will be seen in action at Cole Brothers Circus. —

Lt. Col. Gribble Officially Opens New Sunoco Station

Handsome New Service Station Operated by J. B. Boyce Now Open for Business

24 HOUR SERVICE

A snip of a pair of shining new scissors in the hands of Lieut.-Col. A. B. Gribble, Officer Commanding the Argyll Light Infantry (Tank), and manager of the Belleville Branch of the Conger Lehigh Coal Company, that cut blue and yellow ribbons stretching across the front of the new Sunoco Super Service Station, operated by Mr. J. B. Boyce, formally opened the handsome structure at twelve o'clock noon today.

Following the ceremonies Lieut.-Col. Gribble declared the new station open in the presence of a large crowd of spectators.

A feature of the opening, insofar as Lieut. Col. Gribble is concerned, is the fact that he was born in a house that was built on the very site on which the new station stands. Col. Gribble resided there as a boy for a number of years.

A few minutes after the opening ceremonies had been completed, Mr. and Mrs. Walter Allore of the Belvedere Hotel purchased the first gasoline to be sold at the new station.

In addition to the competent day-staff that will attend the public's wants, Mr. Charles Doyle has been engaged by Mr. Boyce to act as night superintendent of the station.

Anti-Noise By-law Means What it Says States Mayor

"The city's noise nuisance bylaw means exctly what it says—your phonograph or radio or music machine or whatever it is, must be turned off by twelve o'clock midnight at the latest, or preferably at eleven. There has been too much noise and blare along Front Street at night and city council has set out to do something about it," Mayor Bone this morning told one proprietor of a Front Street lunchroom who applied at the Mayor's office for an interpretation of the bylaw.

"If your machine is running after twelve, you'll go to jail," Mayor Bone informed the proprietor.

"Don't worry, it won't be," assured the lunch room owner. "It's pretty hard sometimes to keep them from dropping nickels into that machine, though."

"Cover the coin slot up," advised the Mayor.

PICTON

DR. C. E. STOTHERS TO BE HONORED

Retires As Inspector of Public Schools in P. E. County

Picton.—In honor of Dr. C. E. Stothers, who is retiring at the end of the month as inspector of public schools for Prince Edward County, the teachers of the county last night held a banquet at St. Andrew's Church. One hundred were in attendance Dr Stothers was presented with a handsome travelling bag on behalf of the teachers by H. W. Brown, principal of Wellington Consolidated School. Miss Mary Dunkley in a brief address paid tribute to Dr. Stothers for his splendid work while inspector here for some years.

Dr. Stothers was appointed inspector of auxiliary classes in Ontario two months ago, but has held the post of inspector here, being assisted by inspectors of the district. He is residing in Toronto. During his residence in Picton, he was prominent in Boy Scout work, an enthusiastic philatelist and organizer of a stamp club, a member of the United Church, Tennyson Club and the Kiwanis Club.

A successor to Dr. Stothers is to be appointed next month.

Arranged by the Women's Institute of Cherry Valley a successful lawn social was held in that village Wednesday night. Strawberries, cake and ice cream were served on the hall lawn, followed by an excellent program. A fish pond and a candy booth were well patronized and a nice sum was realized.

'Buff' Cooper launched his new boat, Donna Marie II, yesterday and a trial run revealed that it will give real competition in its class at Picton regatta on the Dominion Day holiday. Built from plans drawn up by himself and constructed in his own garage, it is of Ventnor design and painted with the royal colors of red, blue and gold. It is similar to Gray Goose, owned by George Cannon of Rockledge, Florida, which won the Gold Cup race at Picton regatta two yers ago, and which failed in the race last year when it capsized.

Fishermen Engage In Battle Near Fishing Grounds

A resident who enjoyed a quiet run down the bay in his boat early last evening reported upon his return to the dock of the Yacht Club the strange sight of four men engaged in a furious battle with oars and paddles in the bay near Ox Point.

Two punts containing two men each were anchored closely to each other in this fishing location while the four flailed lustily at each other with the oars and paddles. Loud excited language and threats accompanied the strange duel.

It was evidently a fight over an intrusion of fishing grounds, and further investigation was not undertaken by the local man.

STONEY INDIANS WELCOME WHITES

Morley, Alta., June 29.—(CP)—The Stoney Indian tribe, which 60 years ago fought invading white men, today welcomed 14 kilted Scotsmen crossing Canada on their way to the Hollywood, Calif., World Assembly for moral re-armament.

The greetings took place in this colorful foothills town on the Stoney Reserve and was made up of a full dress deer dance, pow-wows and an exchange of gifts.

Jacob two-young-men, tribal chief who three years ago made Dr. Frank Buchman, founder of the Oxford Group Movement, a blood-brother of the tribe, presented George Marjoribanks of Edinburgh, with a moose knife, Indian symbol of peace when held aloft. The Scotsmen then gave the chief a copy of the book "Moral Rearmament—the Battle for Peace", by H. W. (Bunny) Austin, British tennis star.

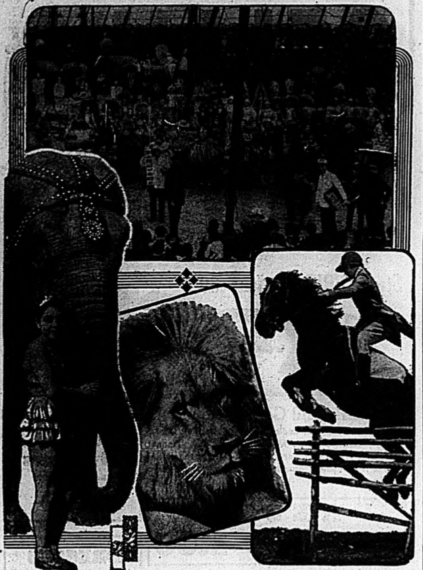
The Miracle of the Circus!



The Circus is Here!

No city is complete without the annual miracle of the coming of the circus and sawdust tracks with its wilderness of aerial riggings and contraptions, its elephants, clowns, wire walkers, acrobats, dashing girl riders in fluffy skirts, horses and more of everything than was ever put together before and labeled a circus.

Alarm clocks, set to interrupt dreams of the wildest of wild animals and dizziest of gymnastic performances, sent many a youngster tumbling from bed and off to the railroad yards before sun-up this morning. For the Great Cole Bros. Circus with Art Mix, famous movie western star and champion cowboy, is in Belleville and encamped at Pine St. and Dufferin Ave.

In addition to the performance this afternoon, another exhibition will be given tonight, the doors opening promptly at 7 o'clock to permit an inspection of the menagerie. On account of the length of the big show, it will start promptly at 8 o'clock.

Trumpeting bands, tooting calliopes, rumbling wagons of red and gold took possession of the downtown streets shortly before noon when the street parade passed in review. From a point of magnitude, novelty and richness, it was by far the most pleasing circus street pageant seen here in many years. It was viewed literally by thousands. Some of the spectators came a distance of fifty miles, and they were not disappointed.

Big Zoo Carried

Enlarged two-fold since its last appearance here the Great Cole Bros. Shows has acquired the Robbins Bros. Circus. The absorption has given the circus one of the world's largest traveling zoons. The menagerie tent is one of the largest ever constructed and houses nearly half a hundred dens and cages containing practically every specie of wild animal. Two caravans of camels from Siberia and the Great Desert, along with 20 elephants are a part of the consolidated menagerie.

Travelling aboard two special trains the circus reached Belleville early this morning over the Canadian National Railroad from Brantford where it exhibited yesterday. Hundreds were on hand in the railroad yards to greet the show, to see the strange and unusual sights, and join the cavalcade to the show grounds to witness the erection of some 22 tents covering an area of 10 acres. The most imposing of the tents is the huge "big top." There was no end of free shows for those who watched the transformation of the once barren lot into a hustling and bustling tented city.

Among the arenic stars in the augmented circus of 1939 are members of the Loyal-Repensky Family, 10 European riders, champions of their profession. Art Mix, the screen's greatest Western star will appear with his great congress of cowboys, cowgirls and Cossacks. The Great Gretone, the greatest high wire act of all time; Mlle. Cyse O'Dell, diminutive aerialist, a thrilling and dangerous gymnastic act in the "big top" dome, and Frank Shepherd, king of the flying trapeze will be among the bright stars.

The Toyama troupe of nine Chinese stars, tumblers and acrobats; the Moreens, Argentine equilibrists, the Flying Thrillers, the Aerial Behees, Tom and Betty Waters, dancers on the tight wire; Major John Smith famous Australian horse trainer, are other stars.

100 Dancing Girls

"La Argentina," a gorgeous, processional fiesta, depicting all the charm and romance of South America, serves as a prelude to the main performance. Upwards of 1,000 men, women, horses and strange beasts of the forest and jungles are to be seen in this panoramic extravaganza. A hundred dancing girls, vast orchestras and golden toned organs add beauty and charm. The wardrobe used in this gigantic spectacle represents an expenditure of $70,000.

A superb menage offering participated in by 40 high school horses with girl riders promises to eclipse any hitherto staged displays. It is one of the delightful displays of charm and color in which the show has always excelled. High jumping horses bring a thrilling finale to the act.

Altogether more than 300 performers will be seen in the big show. They represent 18 foreign countries. In this modern circus are single companies of performers that outnumber the entire personnel of old time shows. Three rings, two stages, a huge aerial enclave and giant hippodrome oval are simultaneously used for the displays.

One more performance will bring to a close the engagement of the circus here. The doors to the evening exhibition will open at 7 p.m., and will start promptly at 8 o'clock on account of its length. A downtown ticket office is in operation at Doyle's Drug Store.

On the show grounds the white ticket wagon is continuously accessible for the purchase of reserved seats. General admission tickets will go on sale simultaneously with the opening of the doors to the big show.

The circus will depart at midnight over the Canadian National Railroad for Kingston where it will exhibit Friday.

Empey Hill

EMPEY HILL—The June meeting of Mount Pleasant Pioneer W.I. was held at their Hall on Thursday afternoon with several members and visitors present, including nine grandmothers. The president, Mrs. Walter Hudson, presided and opened the meeting by singing the ode and the Lord's Prayer in unison. The secretary, Mrs. Harold Grooms read the correspondence including a letter of thanks from Mr. Clair Toppings for fruit received by him when he was ill in the hospital. Mrs. J. Doyle was delegate to Bath district annual in place of Mrs. O. E. Ashley who was named delegate previously and could not be present. Mrs. Fred Henderson, convener of Canadian Industries and Agriculture consented to drive all the delegates to the convention. The executive is to meet at the home of Mrs. Grooms to arrange program for the balance of this year. Mrs. Doyle then took charge of the program and commenced with all singing "O Canada". She then introduced Mrs. Geo. Tustin of Napanee who gave a detailed talk of the functions held for our King and Queen on their visit to Ottawa where Mr. and Mrs. Tustin were presented to their Majesties Mrs. Robbins, accompanied by Prof. Eppes of Napanee sang a solo and Mrs. Percy Aselstine read a story on the grandmothers, ancient and modern. Mrs. Shore Lyons, former district president, was present and read a poem of Charles Dickens on the story of "Little Nell". The grandmothers demonstrated some antiques, some old fashioned clothes, and quilt blocks and very old knife with teeth, used for splitting straws in the braiding of hats, in the pioneer days. Mrs. Arthur Sexsmith called for the oldest grandmother present and Mrs. H. Henderson, who just passed her eighty-second birthday proved to be the eldest and received a lovely bouquet of tulips, donated by Mrs. Harold Dennison of Napanee and Mrs. (Dr.) Stratton presented the youngest grandmother, Mrs. Roy Grooms and she also received a lovely bouquet of tulips. The two though completely taken by surprise, thanked the donor in a very capable manner. Mrs. Robbins favored with another solo. Then Miss Bea Mowers was introduced by Mrs. Henderson and gave a talk on her trip to the Guelph conference, sponsored by the Lennox and Addington Women's Institutes. The National Anthem brought the meeting to a close and the committee served sandwiches, cake, tarts and jelly.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Stafford and Marilyn are spending this week at the World's Fair, New York.

Mrs. R. G. McCormick and baby Barry of Petrolia visited Mr. and Mrs. Milton Sampson on Sunday.

Quite a number of the neighbors spent Monday evening with Mr. and Mrs. Harold Bartlett in their new home, Vine's Corners, Napanee, and presented them with two beautiful chairs. Mr. and Mrs. Bartlett were very much surprised but both thanked the Empey Hill people for their lovely remembrance. Rev. W. Merrick gave a short talk and closed with prayer. A social hour followed.

Mr. and Mrs. W. Cole of Cannifton were guests of Rev. and Mrs. Merrick on Friday.

On Friday evening, June 16, at Trinity United Church parsonage, by Rev. H. E. Wellwood, Muriel Madeline Walmsley, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Walmsley, of Fredericksburg, was united in marriage to Andrew Earl Penny, son of Mrs. Andrew Penny and the late Mr. Penny of Napanee. They motored to Smith's Falls and on their return will reside on Dundas street, Napanee. Friends extend congratulations.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hutchinson entertained Mr. and Mrs. Jim Hutchinson, Mr. and Mrs. Smiley Coulter and family, Messrs. Joe and Jack Cockins to dinner on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. C. Abbott, Ralph and Billy were recent dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Ward Sexsmith and Mr. Frank Smith, Napanee.

Mrs. Frank McCullough and Harold of Lonsdale and Mr. and Mrs. S. E. Winter were tea guests of Mr. and Mrs. Wilbert Winter on Sunday.

Miss M. Penny was an over night guest of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur McKnight on Thursday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Tripp, Mrs. R. Tripp and Mr. Bert Tripp called on Mr. and Mrs. James Barnes on Sunday.

Mr. and Mrs. George Mills and family visited Mr. and Mrs. George Stapley on Sunday.

Mr. Delbert Harvey called on his brother-in-law, Mr. Harold Grooms in Kingston General Hospital on Sunday and reported he was doing as well as could be expected following his operation on Saturday for appendicitis.

Mr. and Mrs. James McMath, Sr., spent a few days last week with Miss Maggie and Mr. Henry Sexsmith, Selby.

Congratulations to Miss Muriel Melbourne who won first prize in the county for her essay on Temperance. Rev. Mr. Merrick presented her with the prize at the morning service on Sunday.

Miss Lucille Hudgins of Selby is visiting her sister, Mrs. E. Price.

Mrs. A. Boneham and Miss B. Ashley, Belleville, spent the dinner hour on Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. O. E. Ashley.

Mrs. Fred Henderson visited her sister, Mrs. Bill Oliver and Mr. Oliver, Galt, the past week.

Mr. and Mrs. Meryl Dennison and Billy of Selby were dinner guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. C. Abbott.

Mr. Dan Baxter, president of the Young People's Union, gave a splendid address on Sunday morning here.

Mr. and Mrs. Baxter were entertained by Rev. and Mrs. Merrick at the parsonage, Selby.

Mrs. E. Whittington spent Sunday with Mr. and Mrs. C. J. Akey.

Mr. and Mrs. Jim Gibson, Miss Vera, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Gibson of Gananoque were guests on Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. James Barnes and Mr. and Mrs. John Mowers.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Winter had dinner on Sunday with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Fenton Reid and attended Fourth Line Church to hear Rev. Delve preach his farewell sermon prior to his removal to Ivanhoe Circuit.

Misses Hester and Eleanor Stapley of Napanee spent the past week with their parents, Mr. and Mrs. G. Stapley.

A son was born to Mr. and Mrs. J. A. Stevens in Kingston General Hospital on Thursday evening, June 22. Congratulations.

About forty members of the Empey Hill Young People's Union gathered at home of Mr. and Mrs. John N. Mowers on Friday evening, June 23, to spend a social evening with Miss Martha Penny who is leaving. The fore-part of the evening was spent in playing games on the lawn. Jim Stapley, president of the Y.P.U. presented her with a bracelet and the following address:

Dear Martha: We, your friends from the Empey Hill Young People's Union, have gathered here tonight to unite in expressing our regret that you are leaving our midst. It is a sad fact that we must often leave our friends if we are to attain success. When opportunity knocks, we must answer.

We have always found you to be a true friend. You have made a real contribution to the lives of each one of our community and the Young People's Union. As president of the Y.P.U. and convener of different groups you were regular in attendance and strong in your enthusiasm You were also a great help to us when preparing our plays and other social evenings.

On behalf of the Y.P.U. we ask you to accept this bracelet as a small token of our affection and esteem and of our gratitude for your help and faithfulness. You will be missed in our community and church, but ever present in our thoughts. It is the earnest prayer from the hearts of each of us that God's richest blessing may rest upon you and that good health, success and every happiness may be yours throughout the years ahead.

Signed on behalf of the Young People's Union—Jim Stapley, President; Dorland Turnbull, Secretary.

Although taken completely by surprise, Miss Penny thanked the Young People and told them that she had thoroughly enjoyed the five years' stay at Empey Hill. Lunch was served and a social half hour was spent with her.

BAKED FISH

Select an oily meated variety of fish weighing from 3 to 5 pounds, clean and scale, removing the fins with scissors. Rub the inside of the fish with salt, sew up the cavity and place, back up, in a well oiled baking pan. Brush all over with cooking oil and place in a hot oven (500 deg. Fahr.) for 10 minutes or until the fish begins to brown. Reduce the heat to about 350 deg. and continue to bake for 30 to 45 minutes—depending on the thickness of the fish.

Chill and serve cold with lettuce, parsley and eggs stuffed with sardines.

ISLANDS FOR HER MAJESTY

Queen Elizabeth during her tour was enchanted by islands in Canada. "Could we buy one of them?" she asked at Victoria. One of the Thousand Islands in the St. Lawrence River has been offered the Queen if she will accept.

Their Majesties on their journey saw many sights or beauty in this country—a fact which should make Canadians appreciate their own country still more than they do. For waters and lakes and rivers, and islands, Canada is one of the most favored lands on earth.

One writer suggests that possibly Queen Elizabeth was reminded by the sight of islands in Canada of the famous islands which are gathered about her own Scotland.

CANCER RESEARCH

A new theory of cancer cause and the manner in which it grows and spreads to different parts of the body was presented to the American Association for the Advancement of Science at Milwaukee, by Drs. J. E. Davis and H. E. Schmitz. They based their theory on the observations and studies of cancers in animals and humans and they reported that "the exhistence of the dye indigo blue, instead of indigo white in the veins is probably responsible for initiating the growth of internal cancers." They added that the presence of a gas, cyanogen, in tumors, was probably responsible for continuing the growth inaugurated by indigo blue.

They reported that their work would have to be checked before they go farther and even if it was proven correct, it would not necessarily mean that cancer had been found to be due to a single cause.

These doctors believe that the low oxygen and high sugar decomposition of cancer tissues are involved in the cause of cancer, that they actually preceded cancer and therefore was very likely involved in beginning the cancer process.

Cyanogen is normally secreted by the body and is believed to be a by-product of metabolism or katabolism. These doctors found it in increased amounts in gastro-intetstinal tumors. They believe the cyanogen is formed more in tumor than in normal tissue and when formed finds it more difficult to escape, owing to the decreased permeability of tumor tiuuse. Evidence indicated according to the doctors that the normal body possesses the power to reconvert the blue indigo back its blue form and vice versa, by the normal utilization of oxygen. When the body lost the power to reconver he blue indigo back into its original white the result was a faulty utilization of oxygen, that, in turn, led to cancer.

What relation if any this new discovery will have in the fight to conquer the mystery, is of course not known. But steadily man is learning facts regarding cancer and probably the time will come when the discoverer will arrive who either happens upon the cause and the prevention thanks to his complete knowledge of cancer or because the discoverer is able to co-ordinate all knowledge and apply it with success. It is in the research laboratory that the battle will be fought and won for man.

CHILDREN'S WORLD VIEWS

What are children thinking in the way of world lookout? Doctors have taken time to make records. Here is what they found. 2,422 St. Louis school children according to Dr. H. Meltzer of that city, found that from 1934 to 1939 the percentage of this expressing "intense like for the United States rose from 90 to 92 and in 1939 none felt dislike." In this period intense like went for China, England, France and Russia and dropped for Germany, Italy and Japan.

Dr. Meltzer says "taken as a whole children are remarkably pro-English. They do not favor a possible fascist combination of nations. And they are more tolerant and less nationalistic than adults."

So children will lead men and women. Everyone knows the child's intuition in reaching decisions. Here he is shown as a model for parents in his thought.

Ottawa Journal refers to the characteristic modesty of the Sovereign when at the Guildhall he expressed the hope that the royal tour of part of North America "might be of some importance in its influence on the Empire's future destiny."

She was a woman of a stirring life, whose heart was in her house; two wheels she had, the large for spinning wool, the small for flax; and if one wheel has rest it was because the other was at work.—Woodsworth.

"DESIGNS IN SCARLET," by Courtney Riley Cooper, recently published, is a book to make every reader sit up and take decided notice. "Designs in Scarlet" is a record of the experiences of the author and information gleaned in a year's wandering up and down the highways of the United States from Maine to California and from New Orleans to the Canadian border. Courtney Riley Cooper uncovers a seamy side of life which has developed recently as the result of good highways, trailer camps, and tourist cottages—as used by the underworld—in brief the author uncovers dangerous conditions which constitute a positive menace to travellers, and has already cost unsuspecting and reckless travellers much money and mental distress. Police authorities and all law abiding citizens should read "Designs in Scarlet" and make sure that "It Can't Happen Here"—at the same time enquiring closely into the character of professional hitch hikers who are said to be using Canadian highways.

DOWN ON THE FARM, where life flows by like a song, or should, the simple life, as sung by poets and dreamers from time immemorial, the village street, and the Main streets of the nations, far from the maddening throng—throbs as well with the rosy tinted visions of youth which generally centre in the bright lights of the great city and the caves of Alladin with all their marvellous mysteries awaiting the magic touch. The shadows of a great city are kept in the background, hidden in a newspaper paragraph or two, given scarcely a thought. A Broadway columnist recently chronicled one of those sombre shadows which flit across the Metropolitan scene. Condensed, here is the story:

She took the "easy" way out . . . .turned on the gas . . . .She was in the chorus of a near-Broadway burlesque show . . . beautiful . . . and good . . . . too good for somebody . . . supported her baby . . . lost her job . . . . .turned on the gas, trusting that someone would care for her baby . . . her friends, chorus girls, dug down in the rayon and provided a funeral . . . a chorus girl adopted the baby . . . .she just got tired fighting a losing battle . . . wonder if her thoughts went back to the simple life, to the old apple tree down by the creek, the song of the brook and the bees—fill in the rest yourself.

Another beautiful girl came from Down on the Farm to Manhattan and the bright lights of Broadway. Her beauty brightened up the Broadway night spots for a time. She was the sweetheart of a big-spending playboy . . . Discord and jealousy sowed the seeds of evil, the little country girl died mysteriously, murdered—another unsolved murder mystery of the Great White Way where Death ever stalks a few paces behind "let-joy-be-unconfined." Her playboy sweetheart gave her a costly funeral, shed a few tears, and turned to another. The body was taken back to her home town in the Southwest and the stores closed while the citizens attended the funeral. Noted news writers followed the casket from Manhattan to the old home town and wrote about the sorrow of it all—what they saw, what they thought is best summarized in this paragraph penned by one of them for his paper:

> The countrytown lass who, garbed in a gingham gown, left her home town poverty for the easy way of New York silks and ermines, came home yesterday in a silken shroud and a silver casket. As New York detectives continued their search for her murderer, childhood chums carried the girl to her grave beneath the cedars in the hilltop cemetery west of the town's watertower. She is not dishonored in death. Without exception, business houses closed at noon here today, and merchants reverently paid tribute at the bier of the Southwest's little girl of the Primrose path.

GLEANINGS FROM OUR FYLES OF BY-GONE YEARS

20 YEARS AGO

June 29th, 1919.

A fast and interesting game of baseball took place on the Ann Street School grounds between the Y.M.C.A. Junior League teams, the Tigers and the Maple Leafs. The game lasted nine innings, ending with a score of 8 to 7 in favor of the Tigers. The game was very close all the way through and at first it looked as though the game would be won by the Maple Leafs, as the first five innings ended with a score of 3 to 0 in their favor, but Ed. Lowe, 3rd baseman, broke for the Tigers and scored a run in the 6th innings. Harold Barriage tied the game in the last of the ninth innings by a daring steal from third base to home, making the score 7 to 7. A bunt made by Ed. Lowe fetched in the runner Gordon Storks and that ended the game with a score of 8 to 7 in favor of the Tigers. Every man played well. W. Buskard of the Tigers made a sensational catch in the second innings and robbed Kerr of the Maple Leafs of a three-bagger.

NAZI PAPERS

Britain's "encirclement policy" continues.

"At The Proper Time"

It was pointed out, however, that the German government would answer "at the proper time" the "objective" part of the British note which, announced in Berlin yesterday, told Germany that Britain was willing to negotiate a new naval limitation arrangement, flatly denied the "encirclement" charge and asked what assurances the Reich could give that any new naval pact would not be scrapped.

Hitler's Voelkischer Beobachter expressed suspicion the British memorandum was held up for two months so it could be presented on the 20th anniversary of the Versailles treaty. Hitler announced abrogation of the 1935 treaty, in which Germany agreed to limit her total naval tonnage to 35 per cent of Great Britain's, in his Reichstag speech of April 28.

Germans Annoyed

(In the note, Great Britain reminded Germany of the words of Joachim Von Ribbentrop, now Foreign Minister, who negotiated the agreement as Ambassador-at-large, describing the pact as "permament" and pointed out that the treaty did not provide for one-sided denunciation.)

Nazis expressed particular displeasure over what they considered Britain's misinterpretation of the peaceful intentions of Hitler in regarding the 35 per cent limitation of the German fleet not as a guarantee against war between Great Britain and Germany but as a contribution to the limitation of arms.

Calls Note "British Humbug"

Deutscher Dienst, a service of the official news agency, said this was incorrect because Hitler on May 21, 1935, offered to limit the German navy to 35 per cent of the British "under the explicit reference to the wish and conviction that for all future time a war between England and Germany would be made impossible."

The service called the British note a "typical example of British humbug." Voelkischer Beobachter observed the memorandum coincided with "wild rumors over an immediate Nazi coup in Danzig" circulating in London and with the "standstill of British-Bolshevist negotiations" (for Russian adherence to the London-Paris anti-aggression front).

BRITAIN WILLING

many's total naval tonnage to 35 per cent of Britain's.

While the note referred in some length to naval matters, its main intention, authoritative sources said, was to attempt to remove German misunderstanding of Britain's moves on the continent.

It quoted the German memorandum to the effect the Reich had agreed to limit its navy "on the basis of the firm conviction for all time recurrence of a warlike conflict between Germany and Great Britain was excluded," but that developments since then had shown Britain "must always be hostile to Germany."

Britain replied:

"Great Britain could only be hostile to Germany if Germany were to commit an act of aggression against another country; and the political decisions to which it is understood the German government refer in their memorandum, involving guarantees by Great Britain to certain countries, could only operate if the countries concerned were to be attacked by Germany."

Miss Fanny Yeoman, Montreal, is spending the week with Miss Muriel Taylor, 96 Lingham Street.

Mrs. W. V. Fairbairn entertained at a charmingly arranged trousseau tea held at her home, Charles Street, yesterday, in honor of her daughter, Miss Marion Fairbairn, bride-to-be of this week. The many guests were received by the hostess, assisted by Mrs. McNabb of St. Louis, Missouri, and Miss Marion Fairbairn, the door being opened to the visitors by Miss Barbara Casey. The tea table was arranged with a beautiful lace cloth ivory tapers and centred with a low bowl of delicate pink snapdragons. Miss Pearl Martin of St. Louis, Missouri, and Mrs. Virgil James presided at the tea table and Mrs. K. Miller, Mrs. Jack Cook, Mrs. Bill Wilson and Miss Jean McNabb of St. Louis served. Mrs. Harold Cowain, Miss Patricia Lee, Miss Marjorie Bolton, Miss Ruby Windsor, and Miss Harel Hammett were in charge of showing the trousseau.

Many members of the Bay of Quinte County Club and their friends enjoyed the supper dance at the Clubhouse last evening.

Mr. and Mrs. T. D. Buston celebrated their 39th wedding anniversary at their summer home "Russ-Holme" on the Trent Road, last evening having a number of friends and old acquaintances present for the happy occasion.

Members of College Hill Group No. 1 of Tabernacle United Church were hostesses to the ladies of the congregation and their friends at a strawberry shortcake tea held with splendid success yesterday afternoon at the summer cottage of Mrs. Charles Hogle, Trent Road. The guests were welcomed by the group convener, Mrs. F. Jarrell and Mrs. Hogle. A delicious tea was served on the wide verandah, the tables being daintily decorated with pink roses. The members of the group who assisted in serving were Mrs. John Fox, Mrs. Charles Hogle, Mrs. J. Ross, Mrs. S. Coon, Miss Snell, Mrs. E. Irvine, Mrs. Jack Hogle, Mrs. Ross Hogle, Mrs. A. Finkle and Mrs. H. Bailey. A splendid sum was realized.

Weddings

ROBINSON—KNOX

Victoria United Church, Prince Edward County was the scene of a lovely June wedding yesterday afternoon when Gladys Kathleen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Knox of Mountain View, became the bride of Mr. Howard William Robinson, son of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. Robinson of Belleville, the Rev. W. H. Boomhour officiating.

Masses of peonies, roses and Canterbury bells, carrying out a color scheme of mauve, pink and white, were used against a background of ferns in the decoration of the picturesque little church which was crowded with guests, and members of the entire community of which the bride is a popular member. The deep windows were banked with daisies and the guest pews were marked with a Canterbury bell tied with evergreen and a white bow.

Wedding music was played by Mrs. James Grant, Belleville, and during the signing of the register, Mr. Ed. Brown of Belleville, uncle of the bride, sang "O Promise Me".

The charming young bride given in marriage by her father, was lovely in her gown of white triple sheer made on princess lines with matching bolero. Her floor length veil of embroidered tulle was caught to her dark hair with a halo of orange blossoms and she carried a bouquet of American Beauty roses and lilies of the valley.

Miss Margaret Knox of Camden, N.J., was her sister's bridesmaid and wore a pretty blue lace gown, trimmed with touches of pink, pink accessories and shoulder length pink veil. Her bouquet was of Sweetheart roses. Little Miss Marlene Bikley, Frankford, cousin of the bride, was flower girl and wore a long ruffled Kate Greenaway frock of pink organdy with quaint bonnet to match.

Mr. Joseph Raycroft of Belleville, was groomsman and the ushers were Mr. Harry Knox of Peterborough, brother of the bride, and Mr. Charles Crosby of Long Beach, California, cousin of the bride.

As this was the second wedding to be solemnized in Victoria Church Mr. Lorne Burr, on behalf of the congregation, presented the bride and groom with a handsome Bible.

Following the ceremony a reception was held at the home of the bride, about one hundred guests being present. Mrs. Knox, mother of the bride, wearing royal blue sheer with corsage of pink sweet peas, and Mrs. Robinson, mother of the groom, attired in violet sheer with corsage of mauve sweet peas, received with the bridal couple. Luncheon was served, the tables being prettily arranged with pink roses. The groom's gift to the bride was a locket, to the bridesmaid a marquisette ring, to the groomsman a cigarette lighter, to the flower girl a signet ring, to the pianist an evening bag, and to the soloist a cigarette lighter.

Mr. and Mrs. Robinson left on a wedding trip to the New York World's Fair, the bride travelling in a dress of Suez sheer with white accessories. Upon their return they will reside in Belleville.

The out of town guests at the wedding included Mr. and Mrs. H. J. Knox, Peterboro, Mr. and Mrs. W. Henley, Picton, Mr. and Mrs. Geo. Ainsworth, Toronto, the Hon. Nelson Parliament, Ottawa, Mrs. Earl Boyd, Ottawa, Misses Hilda and Minnie Spencer, Mr. Jack Male, Kingston, Mr. and Mrs. K. Crosby Oshawa, Mr. and Mrs. W. Hart, Napanee, Mr. and Mrs. H. Stinson, Trenton.

Dress-up evenings will bring out such formal gowns as black tulle with a crossbar pattern of black sequins. Another versions of this halter type dress is in white tulle with gold sequins

Standing out in any gathering are those brilliant prints in vivid colors on a white background. An afternoon ensemble in white silk is printed in brilliantly-plumaged tropical birds with outspread wings. Black accessories tone down the color.

Plenty of room is going to be necessary on the dance floor for crinolined gowns. A very wide-skirted style in white tulle dance frock has insets of black chantilly type lace. Black lace rosettes form the shoulder straps.

Roman-striped accessories enliven a dark costume: a small sailor and a large underarm handbag fashioned of faille.

Just as soon as you have decided where to go for that holiday, invest in a coat which will look distinctive enroute and answer for Autumn wear at home. One choice is a soft tweed plaided in wine, gray and yellow cut on easy lines with capacious slit pockets and a big collar of gray fox.

HALLOWAY W.M.S.

The Halloway W.M.S. held a most successful chicken dinner and bazaar on the church grounds, Wednesday, June 21. Proceeds amounted to about thirty dollars. Following the dinner, the regular meeting was held in the church, opening with a hymn after which all repeated the Lord's Prayer. The Roll Call was answered by a verse containing the word "Believe". Scripture Lesson was read by Marie Emerson.

Samples of silver flatware were displayed and it was decided to purchase a set of five dozen, each family to contribute $2 toward the

Famous Authority on Problems of Love and Marriage.

Patricia's Letter Recalls Abraham Lincoln

"Dear Miss Fairfax:

"Patricia's letter interested me enormously because it confirms a belief of mine that when it comes to taking the matrimonial plunge, men are much more jittery than women. It's hard to account for this unless it is that while marriage is a most important event in the life of a man, we've been told that marriage and love, especially the latter, is 'woman's whole existence'.

"She accepts her destiny, it would seem, with more composure than man. Probably the average man has had several serious affairs before he decides to settle down and marry one girl. If the girl is what is known technically as a 'nice' girl, presumably she has not had the same type of affairs that her future husband has had. She has sowed no wild oats. When she marries, it's with the feeling that it's her appointed destiny, while the man ponders and speculates—is this the real, right girl at last?

"The greatest American, Abraham Lincoln, was the subject of just these doubts. His wedding with Mary Todd was set. Everything was in readiness for the marriage ceremony—except the bridegroom. And Lincoln in an agony of despair and indecision, vanished from the picture.

"Whatever may be said of Mary Todd Lincoln's subsequent life and her effect on our great president, she was wise enough to wait for him to come out of the fog of indecision and return.

"Perhaps ninety-nine girls out of a hundred would have become so peeved and humiliated with a man who had left her at the altar that they would have told a fiance who failed to keep the date that they never wanted to see or hear of him again. But on that occasion, at least, Mary Todd Lincoln was saner than most of her sex.

"And I hope Patricia, who has written to you such an interesting and touching letter will be equally sane, and that she'll rate John's 'I don't love you enough to marry you' for exactly what it's worth—a common or garden attack of jitters of a man about to stand up and take his life sentence. He'll probably make her a better husband for not being so sure of himself. In spite of appearances, he's approaching the situation with a touching humility. He's wondering if he has it in his power to make this girl happy.

"I'm writing all these things to Patricia because at one time of my life, just before I was married, I felt exactly as this man John feels. Would I make the girl I was about to marry happy?

"I shall never forget her fine sportsmanship, her understanding of my feelings, as she laughed, put her arms around me and said: 'You old idjit, it's up to me to run the risk, and I'm mighty glad to run the risk with you.'

"And believe me, Patricia, in the words of that immortal fairy story: 'We've lived happily ever after.' That is, for the past ten years.

Happy Husband".

We're so glad to publish this man's interesting letter. We've always understood that men about to marry were fidgety and jittery. And I think we never realized before that it was from a sense of unworthiness and humility. Congratulations to the doubtful bridegroom who made good.

GOOD MANNERS

MRS. CORNELIUS BEECKMAN

The shouting and the tumult die; "God Save the King", "The Star-Spangled Banner", "Pomp and Circumstance", thousands of speeches of welcome, thousands of speeches acknowledging the welcome.

But remaining with us is the harmonious overtone of the memory of two simple, natural, friendly people—George and Elizabeth. Two people who, even as you and I, are trying to live their lives like natural human beings, trying to do their official job and their social job efficiently, considerately, sincerely.

Perhaps the greatest democracy of all is the Democracy of Good Manners. During the visit of the King and Queen, while we were all mildly interested in the detailed rules of etiquette that are essential to all ceremonial procedures, our real interest was in what the royal visitors did and what they said in the more human relationships. With every contact they had with people and situations, King George showed that he is inherently a gentleman and Queen Elizabeth showed that she is inherently a gentlewoman.

Whether one is a king, queen or Mr. and Mrs. Average citizen, there are immutable laws in the code of gentle behaviour. We abide by this code, or we don't and our station in like makes no difference. Of all the millions of words written and spoken to describe these two visitors, two words were constantly highlighted—"democratic" and 'gracious'. These are the triumphant words that hold their proud heads high in human lives, keep our spiritual banners flying.

There are two definitions of "royal". One is, "characteristic of or befitting a king or a queen"; the other is, "excellent of its kind". Each definition holds the "divine right" for personal achievement in manners.

BETHESDA W. A.

On June 22nd the W. A. of Bethesda met at the home of Mrs. H. Kellar, Fuller, and served a pot luck dinner to forty-six people. The W.M.S. of Fuller attended this dinner and social afternoon.

At two o'clock the program was opened by Mrs. Mullett with a hymn after which Mrs. V. Mitts led in prayer. Scripture lesson was read by Mrs. Delve. The secretary, Mrs. French, called the roll which was answered by a verse from the Bible.

Miss Dean favored with a guitar solo; Mrs. T. Brown, a reading, "Smile"; Mrs. (Rev.) Delve, a reading, "This is the life that counts"; a mouth organ solo was given by Mrs. Henley. Mrs. Earl Holland then gave the morning report of the convention held in Tweed. As Mrs. Wm. Downey was unable to be present, Mrs. B. Fitchett read her report of the afternoon session. Mrs. Ward Holland gave a reading "The church of the world" and Mrs. Fitchett a reading, "The way I see it." These were all very helpful and much enjoyed. Another hymn was sung and a vote of thanks was extended to the hostess. Collection amounted to $7.40 Rev. Mr. Delve then conducted a baptismal service and baptized three of Mr. and Mrs. H. Kellar's children.

BETHANY W.M.S.

The regular meeting of the Bethany W.M.S. was held at the home of Mrs. S. Cooley with an attendance of seventeen.

The president, Mrs. Osland, opened the meeting with quiet music, the call to worship and a prayer, after which all sang hymn 385, "Fountain of Good, to Own Thy Love". The secretary's and treasurer's reports were read and adopted. The offering amounted to $3.60 and was dedicated by Mrs. Armstrong. After the business matters, hymn 366, "O Brother Man, Fold to Thy Heart Thy Brother", was sung and the Scripture read in portions by Mrs. Beer, Mrs. Osland, and Mrs. Treverton.

In the absence of the group leader, the president took charge of the program also. This consisted of Hymn 388, "O Master, Let Me Walk With Thee"; reading by Mrs. Walker, "Elizabeth Beatty, M.D."; solo by Edith Easton; reading by Mrs.

Book, Mrs. A. Miller; Hymn 389 and Benediction.

PRESENTATION

On Friday evening of last week a goodly number of the Kingston Road congregation met at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Gazley to say 'goodbye' for a time to Gordon and Ross Gregory who are leaving the community to join the British Navy. The last of June the boys will sail for England.

Rev. Farnsworth filled the chair and the gathering opened by singing "The Maple Leaf." Following this the chairman made a few well chosen remarks concerning the boys good characters and their willingness to do what they could in all the community and church affairs. He also stated that the community as a whole deeply regretted to learn of the boys departing from their midst. Mrs. Gazley gave a very impressive reading by Edgar Guest. Mr. Gazley then favored with an accordion solo. Then all joined in singing "We'll Never Let the Old Flag Fall." Following this was another instrumental solo by Mr. Gazley. Mrs. H. Walkom then read the address which follows:

Belleville, Ont.,
June 23, 1939.

Dear Gordon and Ross,—

We, your friends of Kingston Road Church have learned with deep regret that you are about to leave our community to enter the service of the British Navy.

During the time you have been with us we have always found you ready and willing to assist in the affairs of our church and know that you are going to be missed a great deal in the future.

Your good-natured dispositions have endeared you to both old and young and we trust that these same qualities will help you find many new friends wherever you go.

We would like you to feel that we will always be interested in your careers and will always be glad to hear from you and welcome you back at any time.

We hope that in the performance of your duties you will be a credit to your church, family, friends and country.

Please accept these small gifts with our sincere good wishes for your future success and trust they may remind you of your friends on this side of the water.

May God bless and keep you both in His care.

Signed on behalf of Kingston Road Church.

James Donaldson
E. Farnsworth
Herbert Walkom.

Douglas McDonald and Ernest Gazley presented the boys each with a genuine leather billfold, a souvenir of Belleville, Ontario, Canada.

Gordon and Ross both made fitting replies and showed their sincere appreciation of the thoughtfulness of their friends of the Kingston Road.

A duet, "Hold Fast to the Right" was nicely rendered by Mrs. Donaldson and Mr. Ridley.

Mr. Marsh and Mr. Ridley in a few well-chosen remarks occupied the next few minutes. All joined in singing "God Will Take Care of You." After the ladies served very dainty refreshments, all joined hands and sang "For They Are Jolly Good Fellows." "God Be With You Till We Meet Again" was followed by the Mizpah benediction.

ZION W.M.S.

The June meeting of Zion W.M.S. met at the home of Mrs. Ralph Sills. The meeting opened with a hymn; all repeating the Lord's Prayer. Roll Call was answered by giving a Missionary's name. An invitation was accepted to attend an open meeting at Carmel. A hymn was sung. Priscilla was the Bible woman studied, with Mrs. Ralph Sills and Mrs. Tufts. The offering was then taken and dedicated by hymn there was a reading by Mrs. Tufts and a solo by Mrs. Thos. Howard, a reading was given by Mrs. Searles.

The Study Book was taken by Mrs. H. Beatty and well explained. The meeting closed by all singing God Save the King and all repeating the Watchword. Mrs. Searls' group served lunch and a social half hour spent by all.

WAKE your sleepy appetite!

Every morning eat the breakfast which does these three things

① Gently WAKES "sleepy stomach": Drowsy morning appetites need light, tempting food. The rich goodness of crisp, golden Kellogg's Corn Flakes quickly starts your mouth watering, sharpens your appetite.

② STARTS you quick: Once your appetite is whetted, breakfast should give you abundant "carbohydrate-fuel" to help you speed up quickly. Rich in energizing carbohydrates, Kellogg's Corn Flakes help give the drive that modern days demand.

③ Helps KEEP you going: Don't spoil a good start by a mid-morning slump. Eat a sustaining breakfast: A brimming bowlful of Kellogg's Corn Flakes, with milk or cream and sugar, releases energy for hours . . . helps keep you going strong till noon.

Kellogg's Corn Flakes are so easy to serve that housewives call them "the 30-second Breakfast." Your grocer has Kellogg's Corn Flakes. Order several packages tomorrow. Made by Kellogg's in London, Canada.

A stretch and a yawn and you're out of bed. But your stomach is still half asleep when you get down to breakfast.

M-m-m! Do Kellogg's Corn Flakes taste good! Kellogg's is the original Corn Flakes. No other cereal has ever matched their mouth-watering flavour.

DANZIG SOURCES DENY REPORTS

"Free Corps" Not Being Organized According to Reports

Danzig, June 29—(AP)—Foreign reports of the organization of a so-called "free corps" and an influx of Germans into Danzig were described in rebuttal by official Danzig sources today as an "alarming of the public, which is by no means warranted."

Nevertheless, Danzig is prepared for a homecoming to Germany. Propaganda Minister Paul Goebbels encouraged the population, in addresses here two weeks ago to hold out and wait for Chancellor Hitler to act.

Just how and when the Fuehrer would act remained a mystery. It might be soon, some observers believed, because the official Nazi organ Danziger Vorposten remarked recently that "we shall need the steady nerves of Danzigers within the near future."

Vorposten added, that Danzig's men and women had learned from past experience and were "prepared for the hours ahead" and that political tension had reached a high pitch and needed no further whipping up.

One way for Danzig to "return to the Reich" which has been discussed time and again, is by a spontaneous Danzig declaration of union with Germany ,thus presenting Poland with an accomplished fact and then leaving it to Warsaw to decide on a Polish course of action regarding this German-populated area at the mouth of Poland's outlet to the sea.

It was frankly acknowledged here that Danzig's tiny army—the police force—was being strengthened by several hundred men, to be trained along military lines.

Foreign reports of the alleged arrival in Danzig of German soldiers in mufti and of other movements pointing to impending action are denied by German and Danzig authorities.

(Warsaw dispatches last night told of reinforcement of Danzig police with recruits unconfirmed sources said were being trained into a "free corps." Other reports reaching London said 4,000 German officers and men had entered Danzig yesterday.)

FUGITIVE KILLER SHOT TO DEATH

Roy Olson Killed While Attempting to Escape from Four Possemen

Olson, who led 200 possemen a spectacular chase through wild brush country for two weeks, was trapped because of his dire need of food and rest.

Weary and Hungry, the 30-year-old fugitive broke into Wheatley Anderson's home near Cable sometime Wednesday afternoon. He cooked a meal, changed his clothing and apparently lay down to rest.

Notified Authorities

The Anderson family discovered something was amiss upon returning home last night. Anderson notified the authorities, who surrounded the place.

Shortly after dawn Moore and his men closed in on the farm. Olson, hiding in an outhouse, broke for the woods. The possemen fired and gave chase.

They pursued their quarry through a clump of bushes and on to the lake shore, where Olson leaped into a boat and frantically tried to row across the lake.

A bullet from a .22 calibre rifle truck Olson in the back. Mortally wounded, Olson fell into the lake. Moore, Frank Flowers and two other members of their party pulled the fugitive from the water and took him to shore.

Olson was armed with a pistol.

Cable, Wis., June 29—(AP)—Ray Olson, fugitive killer of two Deputy Sheriffs, was shot to death today while attempting to flee from four possemen led by Constable Ernest Moore of Cable.

The shooting took place on Lake Namakagon 14 miles from cable. Struck by four bullets, the killer who had been hunted since June 17, toppled into the water from a boat in which he was attempting to row across the lake.

Olson lived about 10 minutes. Before death, he admitted the shooting of the deputies, Carl Johnson and Fred Scott of Hayward, and told the officers his wife was in no way connected with his law breaking.

Canada's Defences Are Inadequate Says Col. G. Drew

Toronto, June 29 (CP)—Lt.-Col. George A. Drew, Ontario Conservative leader, told a picnic gathering of the Trinity and Spadina Conservative Associations yesterday that the advice of Canadian steel manufacturers should be sought in Canada's plans for defence.

Criticizing Canada's defences as inadequate, Col. Drew said the Department of National Defence "has no right to do anything else today but to start to remedy the startling impotence of our defence forces."

"Canadian Mnufacturers who have had experience in manufacturing steel are those best qualified to advise the Government on how the needs of our defence forces can best be supplied," he declared. "It is for the general staff to say what we need. It is for the manufacturers to say how it is to be done.

"The time is long overdue for the Department of National Defence to bring together in conference the Canadian general staff and representative manufacturers from the whole of the Dominion to sit down and discuss ways and means by which an effective program can be established for the production as quickly as possible within Canada of all necessary weapons for our defence forces."

JAPANESE BLOCK TWO LAST PORTS

(By Morris Harris)
(Associated Press Foreign Staff)

Shanghai, June 29—(AP)—The Japanese blockaded Foochow and Wenchow today and thereby took control of the last major Chinese ports along more than 2,000 miles of coastline between the Great Wall and Canton.

A Japanese warning to all foreign vessels to leave the ports because they would be closed by "dangerous objects" (mines) and "other obstacles" went into effect at noon (midnight Wednesday). The warning had been rejected by Great Britain with a warning that Japan would be held responsible for any damage to British interests in the closing operations. France and the United States took similar stands.

All foreign merchant vessels were said to have left Foochow and Wenchow respectively about 500 and 300 miles south of Shanghai, and foreign warships were believed to have moved outside the harbors to escape the possibility of being bottled up.

Domei (Japanese) News Agency reported that a British destroyer was trapped inside the Min River entrance at Foochow but British naval officials here said that was extremely unlikely.

Most of the resident foreigners declined to leave Foochow.

Foreign ships still are allowed to enter Tientsin, North China, but have been subjected to searches and delays.

For Friday, June 30
By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

DEFINITE progress may be made in infusing some action into a crystallized or static state of affairs, judging by the lunar transits. But it will take patient endeavor, hard work and sound policies to move stagnant matters out of a rut. Also, there is a menace of deception, fraud or some other undercover situation to be handled with discretion and shrewdness. In meeting this subtle problem take care not to make extravagant promises. Purely personal interests likewise demand vigilance.

Those whose birthday it is are confronted by a year in which definite progress may be made by industry, application and sound judgment. This is a way of infusing new life into old, lagging and congested business or property interests. Old investments or "frozen assets" may respond to new stimuli. But be alert to fraud and treachery.

A child born on this day, while having much depth and native stability may be easily lured into doubtful or curious entanglements, both in business associations and in its private life.

Belleville Intermediates Split Twin Bill With Picton and Landed Team in Playoff Berth

First Game Won by 17-7 and Second Lost by 12-4 Count

LEAD IN SECOND

Ragged Ball in Late Frames Proved Handicap Not Overcome

Belleville split a double bill of Bay of Quinte League baseball with the league leading Picton squad in the Prince Edward County seat yesterday, thus handing the Rorke-led Picton nine their first defeat of the current Quinte loop season in the opener. The Belleville nine pounded out a decisive 17 to 7 win in the opening game, but literally tossed away a chance to snatch double honors as the locals played ragged ball in the latter stages of the second tussle to lose 12 to 4, despite the apparent one-sided score as Belleville led for the initial six frames. The initial victory of the day moved the local nine into third position and a commanding league play-off berth.

With the Belleville team playing sparkling baseball in the initial frame, behind steady pitching of Joe Kelleher, the locals pounded three Picton hurlers for a total of 22 base hits and practically put the issue on the proverbial ice with a seven run splurge in the second inning. Twice during the game the Belleville nine batted around the batting order. Keith Weeks, in a new role as outfielder, had a perfect game at bat with six hits in six official tries, while Collins counted five hits in six official tries. Hudgin and Evans were the chief Picton hitters as Kelleher scattered 13 hits well and chalked up his second league victory. The entire Belleville team played sterling defensive ball headed by Collins, Carson, with Pointer handling Kelleher's slants in fine style. Every member of the Belleville nine connected for at least one safe hit during the initial struggle.

Things Happen Quickly

In the second game Belleville scored one in the second, two in the third and one in the fourth and seemed headed towards a second day's victory. Coasting along wit a two run lead in the seventh, however, things began to happen as a wild pitch, a walk and six hits gave the homesters six runs and ultimate victory, as the Belleville nine were halted by Kitty Abbott, who allowed the locals but two hits after the fourth. Two interference plays called against Belleville in succession in the seventh at the plate in no way helped the Belleville cause, although the homesters deserved victory by outhitting the locals, who played poor ball as the second game progressed.

Kitty Abbott hurled for Picton in the second game with Sammy Ellis starting for Belleville. Ellis was replaced by Joe Kelleher in the 7th after Kelleher had won the first game. The homesters only touched Ellis for seven hits, but his support was wavering, as well as his control. The veteran Ron Church started the first game on the Picton mound but gave way to Leavens in the second, who in turn was shelled from the mound in favor of A. Shannon in the 8th.

Hudgins, McQuade and Burley swung potent bats for the home club as they won the first game, while Belleville's hitting in the nightcap was confined to single efforts. Belleville's next home stand is at home versus the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" on Monday morning.

SHANNONVILLE AND CANNIFTON AT TOP OF LOOP

Hawks Take Foxboro 2-1 While Cannifton Swamps Latta 11-3

SMART SOFTBALL

Foxboro, June 29 (Special)—Foxboro and Latta missed out on a golden opportunity to establish somewhat of a record in baseball history last night, when they dropped their respective games to rival clubs. Had Foxboro taken a fall out of Shannonville and Latta beaten the Cannifton boys there would have been a four way tie for first place. Today, however, with the schedule exactly one half completed the teams remain in the same positions with Shannonville and Cannifton leading the race being tied for first place having four wins and two losses to their credit. Foxboro and Latta are still tied for the cellar position having dropped a little deeper, with two wins and four losses and are now two full games in arrears.

Cannifton jumped abruptly out of a losing streak, which had gone two games when they journeyed to Latta last night and administered an 11-3 drubbing to the homesters and thus still remain at the top of the heap. The heavy hitting Cannifton lads jumped on the offerings of three Latta hurlers to establish an early lead, which they never relinquished as Loucks, on the mound for the winners kept the homesters bingles well scattered to keep the Riverside lads right in the running for first place honors. The defeat marked the end of Latta's winning splurge which had taken them out of the cellar to place them into a tie for third position, but as Foxboro also lost to Shannonville at the same time, the Latta boys lost no ground.

Shannonville kept right up even with the Cannifton boys at the head of the standing, when they visited Foxboro and eked out a close 2-1 decision over the homesters. Failing woefully at the plate, when they had runners in scoring position, the Foxboro lads looked bad against the slants of the visitor's star right hander as Juby kept the homester's three hits well scattered to allow only one run over the six inning route. Peacock started on the mound for the Foxboro team but proved no mystery for the Shannonville lads and after allowing three hits and two runs in the first and second frames was relieved, starting the third, by Ketcheson, who pitched shutout ball for the balance of the game.

Shannonville scored once in the first when Cook, the lead off man, singled and worked around to third to score on Juby's one base blow. They got another in the second canto, when Maracle got aboard on an error, took third on a single by Snider, and scored when the catcher tried to nip off an attempted steal of the second base. Foxboro got their lone tally when Walt was safe on the first baseman's error, stole second and third base, to score on a passed ball. Wright made the only hard catch of the night when he raced the proverbial mile to rob Shannonville of what looked like a sure hit in left centre field, to cut short a rally on the part of the visitors.

The lineups:

Shannonville: Cook ss; Spencer 1b; Reid 2b; Juby p; Houston c; Hill 3b; Maracle rf; Snider cf; and Barberstone lf.

Foxboro: Noley Guay c; Wright lf; Norman Guay rf; Spencer ss; Walt 3b; R. Peacock 1b; K. Peacock p and cf; Campbell 2b; and Ketcheson p.

CORBYS NOW TIED FOR 2ND PLACE

The Corbys A.C. advanced to a tie for second position in the Belleville Softball League by virtue of a 5 to 4 narrow-margin win over the Citizens' Dairy Juniors at the Flats last evening. The Barnett-led Corbys blasted out four hits and three runs in the initial frame and literally coasted in to victory on the five-hit pitching of Connie Harris, although the Juniors opened an attack in the last three innings as they scored four runs, but left the tying counter stranded on the runways as Harris made the last batter hit to the infield.

After scoring three big counters in the initial frame as Jim and Cy Barriage singled and Kiser doubled with McMartin adding a subsequent one base blow. Simpson and Cy Barriage hit to score another in the second to give Corbys a four run lead. The Corbys got their fifth and winning run as Harris scored on his own behalf after singling, Jim Barriage and Kiser hitting afterwards.

Goyer counted the only Junior hit in the first six frames. Hits by Goyer and Townsend gave the kids two in the seventh. Ethier walked in the eighth and Mitchell drove him home. Hook scored early in the ninth on a hit and fielder's choice, but Rogers was left stranded as Harris retired the side easily. The lineups:

Juniors: Samain ss; Ethier 3b; Mitchell 1b; Graham rf; Goyer cf; Townsend c Coo 2b; Rogers rf; Carson p and Hook.

Corbys A.C.: J. Barriage lf; Cy Barriage ss; Kiser rf; Reid 3b; Cole 1b; McMartin cf; McGuire 2b; Simpson c; Harris p.

Louis and His Dynamiting Fists Jarred Two-Ton Tony Galento Into Bloody, Abject Hulk

Brown Bomber Retains His Heavyweight Crown by K. O. in Fourth Round

LOUIS KNOCKED DOWN

Galento Shows He Has Great Fighting Heart but Lacked Finesse

(By Sam Robertson Canadian Press Staff Writer).

New York, June 29 (CP)—There are two things certain today in this muddled world.

Joe Louis is a great heavyweight boxing champion.

Tony Galento is a great fighting man.

Just as 99 9-10ths of the world expected, Joe and his dynamiting fists jarred Tony into bloody and abject submission last night when they met to decide which was the better man and which was "dat bum."

Louis proved Tony was wrong in calling him "dat bum" by technically, knocking him out after 11 minutes and 29 seconds memorable brawling.

But in defeat Tony, the beer-drinking swashbuckler from New Jersey, proved he wasn't the bum that almost everyone but himself and his family put him down to be. He was covered with glory as well as gore at the end.

Head Unbowed

When the expected finish came in the fourth round as the shuffling champion poured killing rights and lefts into Galento's gargoyle-like face, the knees and stubby arms of the bold challenger had lost all their steel. But his head was unbowed.

He was a thoroughly beaten man, it is true. Blood fountained from cuts over his left eye and his upper lip. His hairy chest was matted with it, but just a round before his left hand, the only weapon he has to take into the ring, dumped Louis for a count of two.

Had Tony been able to follow up his advantage—had he spent his time learning ring generalship instead of being a whale of a good guy—he might have thundered home another left and won fistiana's brightest bauble.

Louis off-Balance

Tony scored his amazing knockdown when Joe seemed to be off balance, backing away from a right. But the knockdown proved Tony's courage, for in the round before the champion floored his porky foe, also for a two-count.

To the amazement and high amusement of the 34,852 paying customers—they paid $283,313 —Tony was not a defeated man until Louis crackled over his last flurry of decesive blows. Right to the end he bulled his way into the champion, never taking a backward step.

When it was all over the weary champion said it was the hardest fight of his sensational career.

"I flung at least a hundred punches at dat white man," said Joe. "He's the toughest customer I ever met. He hits like hell."

While the tan terror of the ring thus stamped Galento as the No. 2 heavyweight, Tony wasn't ready to accept that ranking. He called for "Louis again in the fall."

Still Confident

"I still think I can whip that guy," said bold Anthony from the

of blood from his wounds. "If only they had let me fight my own kind of a fight."

It was obvious Tony was hobbled by the Marquis of Queensbury rules that prevented the bar-room tactics he loves the occasional knee and the odd bit of elbow work. Twice Tony managed to butt Louis with his fuzz covered head but it served only to make the champion fight harder.

In the opening round that so many expected would see Galento's finish Tony the jug actually rocked the champion with a terrific left. It seemed for a fleeting instant the championship might fall into the fists that have drawn 10,000 beers. Louis shuffled out of danger's way.

A whistling left slashed the scar-tissue over Tony's eye before the bell ended the round and he came out for the second with cotton gauze blocking the gash.

The Louis left promptly picked off the gauze and a right that followed ripped his other brow. Tony crouched and covered but the champion straightened him with an uppercut and before Galento could get back on defence a murderous right and left to the jaw dropped him on his purple pants. He was back up and winging with his left hand as the round ended.

Tony Carries Fight

Although Tony came out for the next session with a gauze-adorned brow that made him look like a Santa Claus, he carried the fight to Louis. He sprang out of a crouch like a cold steel spring and smashed his left flush to his tantalizer's jaw. Maddened, Joe came whipping back and seemed to have Tony in momentary retreat, when the Jersey barkeep tagged him with a left.

Joe went down as though clubbed, but quickly braced himself on the floor and was back up as the timekeeper tolled two. Although Tony bulled after the tan terror with never a thought of terror in his mind he lacked the finesse to shoot over a finishing punch.

Louis was his composed and cool self when he came out for the fourth round. And Tony, arrogantly sure of himself after once dumping the champion, relaxed his guard for a second.

Then the lightning struck. Two lefts crackled on Tony's unprotected jaw. As he swayed Louis was upon him, smashing Tony's face with blows, that could have felled an ox.

Bettors Shivering

Ten seconds before, the betting fraternity that laid up to 10 to 1 on a Louis victory had been shivering in their seats. But the rain of Louis blows changed all that and Tony rocked like a tilted barrel.

Blood cascaded from his brows, into his eyes and down his three chins. Those tree-like legs of his rubbered and he fell to his knees, still groping for Louis. Joe had been pushed aside, however, and referee Arthur Donovan stepped in to life Galento's chopped-up 233 3-4 pounds to his corner.

Tony said after the fight that they shouldn't have stopped it—"I could have gone on". However, he was a hunching hulk on his ring stool as Donovan hoisted Louis' right hand for the seventh time since Joe took the title from Jim Braddock just over two years

NEW YORK YANKS RIGHTLY CALLED BALL SAMSONS

World Champions Swamped A's Under a Barrage of Hits

THIRTEEN HOMERS

By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

If anyone wishes to make something of it, the New York Yankees still are the slugging Samsons of baseball.

There were a few sly digs made earlier this season about the champions losing interest or the touch for home run sprees and there were some scattered challenges from other clubs for the honor.

But yesterday the world champions swamped Philadelphia Athletics under a spray of 13 homers to sweep a doubleheader, 23-2 and 10-0, and break the existing Major League records for homers both in one game and in two consecutive games.

Seven of the Yankees participated in the show, doubtless leaving Red Rolfe much embarrassed at being the only regular to fire blanks. Nine of the circuit clouts were divided evenly between Babe Dahlgren, Joe Gordon and Joe DiMaggio with George Selkirk, Bill Dickey, Tommy Henrich and Frank Crosetti cutting in for one each.

The eight blows the bronx Bombers bunched in the first game were the most important because they broke a mark established by Detroit in the original National League in 1886 and tied just five times since then. These were a part of the 27 of theirh schedule night game with hits the champions collected.

Set New Record

Besides setting a new home run record the Yankees also set an American League standard for total bases with 53, three more than the 1936 Yankees put together in a single contest.

Connie Mack, realizing from long experience that the Yankees were having one of their festive days, used his hurlers sparingly. After letting three tossers take all the punishment in the first game, Mack kept George Caster on the firing line through a five-run first inning and a minor two-run disturbance in the fifth before dispatching relief.

All the other American League clubs were idle either from weather difficulties or schedule changes and Cincinnati Reds, National League pace-setters, also were rained out of their schedule night game with Pittsburgh Pirates.

New York Giants took advantage of this situation to move into second place in the National League with a 7-1 victory over Philadelphia Phillies while St. Louis Cardinals were absorbing an 8-4 thumping from Chicago Cubs. The Giants' victory was their fifth straight and 15th in the last 17 games.

Brooklyn Dodgers and Boston Bees finally got down to business after a 23 inning standoff Tuesday and Dodgers triumphed 6-1 behind the steady seven-hit flinging of Luke (Hot Poato) Hamlin.

MARSH HILL TO MEET CENTENARY

Foxboro, June 29 (Special)—With Marsh Hill emerging from the semi-finals as rather easy victors over the Lower Fourth nine in the Sidney Softball League, Sidney softball fans are now all het up over the forthcoming series between the lads from the north end of the township and the Centenary boys. The first game of the three out of five series will get under way on Friday of this week when the Marsh Hill mushballers visit Centenary for a game in which they hope to put an end to the Centenary boys' domination over the other three teams in the league. All through the regular schedule the Centenary team made life miserable for the other entrants but this is another time and anything can happen in the playoffs.

The Lower Fourth aggregation took their second straight lacing from the Marsh Hill nine on Tuesday evening and at the same time were ousted from the playdowns as the latter team jumped on the deliveries of three Fourth Line hurlers to pound out an easy 18-6 victory. Wright on the mound for the winners kept the losers' bingles well scattered during the early part of the game to hold them to one lone run but in the sixth and seventh was beginning to be hit freely when Campbell came in to relieve him and finish the game.

Frederick and Campbell with three runs apiece to their credit led their team on the offensive with the entire team going well at the plate as every player on the winner's lineup crossed the plate at least once. Mac Sine and E. Phillips were the only two players on the losing team to hit with any degree of consistency as between them they pounded out five of their team's hits to score practically all the runs the Lower Fourth nine were able to manufacture off the deliveries of Wright and Campbell.

The lineups:

Lower Fourth: Mac Sine lf; Jury cf; E. Phillips 1b; H. Phillips c and 2b; Woods p; McMurter rf; Outingdike 2b; Hoskins 3b and Yerwood ss.

Marsh Hill: Lancaster lf; L. Pinkle 2b; Frederick 3b; Coulter rf; Campbell ss and p; Wright p and ss; A. Pinkle 1b; Herman cf and Lindenfield c.

The Belleville baseball nine may not be leading the Bay of Quinte League, but they are the only team in the loop that can beat Roly Rorke's Picton charges, as was most definitely proven yesterday when the locals split a twin bill with the Pictonites, thus being the first team this year to hand Picton a loss either at home or on the road.

Belleville went to work and collected 22 hits in the first game to win 17 to 7. True enough they were not facing the best pitching in the league, as Church, Leavens, and Shannon, the latter a junior hurler, all tried their lot at baffling the locals without success. Perhaps the features of the first game were the combined fielding of the locals, headed by Collins, Carson, Pointer and Joe Kelleher's pitching to chalk up his second league victory. Picton just couldn't get Weeks and Collins out, Weeks getting six hits in six tries and Collins banging out five hits in six tries as the locals had 52 men officially at bat.

It was undoubtedly the hottest day of the year and even then Skipper Roly Rorke would not consent to play either game as a seven inning fixture. In the second game Belleville opened strongly, scored four runs before the Picton nine crossed the plate and seemed headed to a dual win with Sammy Ellis pitching fine ball. Four times in this game Belleville trapped runners between third and home and four times Roly Rorke's base runners scored as the result of poor baseball on the part of the locals. On top of this two unintentional interference plays were called at the plate against Belleville and all in all it looked as though the cards were stacked against the local nine in their attempt to win two games in one day.

However, the Belleville nine accomplished two things yesterday —first—they handed Picton their initial lefeat of the year and second they pulled themselves out of the cellar position in the Quinte loop. All season we have been pleading for only two players, a defensive infielder and one hard hitting outfielder—they're still very much in demand. Dolly Pointer was on the receiving end yesterday and turned in a splendid effort in handling Kelleher, but the locals must soon plug up their infield and get a slugging fielder if they expect to win the pennant. Of course their league standing is much more healthy today and with another double header coming up Monday, a game with the Air Force here in the morning and a later game in Napanee, it would not surprise us to see the locals in second place within the week.

Now that Keith Weeks has established himself as a slugging outfielder it will be hard to convince him he should return to the mound. Weeks had six hits in six tries the first game and one for five in the second, when he got aboard twice by virtue of some good base running. Incidentally the Picton management would rather meet Napanee six days a week than clash with Belleville at any stage of the game. Old poison Ramie Hudgins is still banging 'em out for Picton and had six hits in ten tries yesterday, while McQuade just couldn't be put out in the second tussle.

Corbys A.C. moved into a tie with the "cementmen" by virtue of their 5 to 4 win over the Juniors last night. About the only feature of the game insofar as Corbys was concerned, was on Harris' five-hit pitching. If aged kids by a scant one run. how can they expect to vanish the league-leading "Oilers," is what puzzles many a rabid Corby fan today. True enough Chuck Barnett's charges banged out an even dozen hits, but many of them were wasted, as has been the case all season, which would prompt one to believe a shake-up in the batting order would not be at all out of place. Or would it?

The Picton Golf Club won the Bay of Quinte golf championship playing on their own course yesterday. Competing were Belleville Golf, Napanee, Trenton and of course the home club.

The experts say Tony Galento was within one punch of the heavyweight crown last night, but when the chips were don, so was Galento, and that's where the pay-off comes. Galento proved one thing, however, Louis is human and will react the same as any other when hit, but the great trouble is to get some one to hit him hard enough to keep him down. Last night's Galento-Louis bout proved nothing short of a series of bombshells exploding in the big Bronx ball park as Galento waded in and Louis did likewise, but the champs' punches proved more of the explosive type. It took 23 stitches to patch up Galento's face, so hard did the Brown Bomber explode his attack and the next problem on Mike Jacobs' agenda is to provide another suitable opponent for the champ, if humanly possible.

Chuck Conacher will not be back with the Detroit Red Wings next winter, so says Skipper Jack Adams, so we find "Big Chuck" back on Connie Smythe's Maple Leafs' hands. The lateast reports take Conacher to the New York Americans for the coming puck season, but here again we find only rumours as the basis of the statement.

Sports Spice — When the Cubs rallied yesterday to win they saved old Diz from a defeat, as he was shelled from the mound in the first....The most improved club in either major league today is the New York Giants, now reposing comfortably in second place. (Re please note)......Tony Galento stated over the radio last night that "somethin' got in me eye in the second"—quite possible he's right, but that somethin' he's talking about was undoubtedly Joe Louis' big fist....Hold your horses we're off to feed peanuts to the elephants—who made the crack — our monkey cousins?'....- Late addition the Luckin "meat choppers" slugged the spheriod high up and far away to win an exhibition game at Rednersville yesterday, the score being 17-13.

Rev. C. Hollingsworth Honored by Members Of Marmora Region

Marmora—Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Wallbridge and little son James and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Stockdale visited relatives in Toronto and Hamilton over the week end.

Misses Anna and Joan Shannon were hostesses at a linen shower on Tuesday evening in honor of Miss Hilda Bonter a bride-to-be, at the home of Mrs. J. A. Shannon.

The Carscallen residence on Forsythe St., lately acquired by Mr. Stan Lowe was the scene of a social evening under the auspices of the Marmora Tennis Club on Monday evening. Several tables of euchre and bridge were played, the euchre prizes going to Mrs. Bruce McInroy and Mr. H. Linton Sr. and the bridge prizes were won by Mrs. Ed O'Connor and Joe Murray. After a delicious lunch had been served, dancing was enjoyed to music furnished by Mike Kouri and Eugene Reynolds.

Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Pritchard and daughters Betty and Shirley visited Mr. and Mrs. T. E. Potts at Tweed on Sunday.

St. Andrew's United Church Parsonage, Marmora, was the scene of a unique farewell gathering on Tuesday when members of Marmora Branch No. 237 Canadian Legion were present to wish their honorary member, Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth godspeed in his new field of labor for which he departs this week. With Mrs. Hollingsworth at the piano the Legionnaires joined in the singing of old favorites and later without accompaniment made the rafters ring with the songs that are interwoven with the memories of war days. Later, Past President T. Cousins in a neat speech explained the primary object of the gathering and called upon Past President P. Gray to make the presentation which took the form of a suitably inscribed pen and pencil set. Both comrades in their remarks testified to the support given by Rev. C. W. Hollingsworth to the activities of exservice men. The recipient in extending thanks, spoke of the benefits he had received through his affiliation with the branch and hoped it would be possible for him to be of further service to the cause in his new sphere of labor. Shortly after the singing of "For he's a jolly good fellow" the gathering broke up.

Mrs. H. M. Molder and daughter June of Bedford, Ohio, are spending a few days at Mrs. J. Marvin's cottage, Crowe Lake.

Mr. and Mrs. Harry Caverley of Toronto are visiting the former's mother Mrs. C. Caverley.

Salem

Salem—Mrs. Clarence McKeen and Mrs. D. Hagerman took dinner on Thursday with Mrs. Charles Cole and family.

Mr. and Mrs. Wilson, Fuller and Mr. Jim Wilson visited with Mr. and Mrs. Cliff Hagerman on Friday last.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Sparrow spent the week end in Campbellford with Mrs. Sparrow's sister and husband.

Jean and Ola Hanna spent the weekend with their aunt Mrs. Mary Vandervoort, Stirling.

Master Ronnie Hagerman gave a birthday party to about 15 of his little friends on Saturday. He received many lovely gifts.

Mrs. C. McKeen and Mrs. Clifford Hagerman called on Mrs. C. Milligan on Monday.

Mrs. Clarence Hagerman and children spent Thursday afternoon with Mrs. Jay Haight.

Mrs. Bruce Sherman spent Thursday with her mother Mrs. Tom Leslie.

Mr. and Mrs. Clifford Hagerman and Ronnie spent Sunday visiting with Mr. and Mrs. Ambrose Emerson, Glen Miller.

Miss Irene Murphy of Plainfield spent the week end at C. Hagerman's.

Mrs. Dan Hagerman and Mrs. C. McKeen spent Wednesday afternoon with Mrs. G. Sills and family.

Mr. and Mrs. J. Hanna also Mr. and Mrs. E. Hanna and family attended the funeral on Saturday of Mr. Hanna's father, Mr. William F. Hanna, Stirling.

This community was shocked to hear of the sudden death on Sunday morning of Mr. Vivian Bradshaw. Heartfelt sympathy is extended to the sorrowing wife and family.

Rawdon

Rawdon.—Mr. and Mrs. James McMullen entertained on Sunday, Mrs. James Stainton, Mr. and Mrs. Russell Stainton, Cameron, Keith, James and Grace of Oshawa.

Mr. and Mrs. C. M. Sine are holidaying with the former's brother and other relatives in Chicago.

Miss Lettie McMullen is spending this month with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John McMullen.

Mr. and Mrs. Preston Hall, Campbellford, were recent guests of Mr. and Mrs. Don Heath.

On Friday forenoon, the pupils of Sine School with their teacher, Mrs. Lovett, and their music teacher, Mr. Morris, staged a special programme which several of the mothers attended. The whole school participated in a special skit, "Snow White and the Seven Dwarfs." Mr. Morris contributed several musical numbers. Misses Bernice, Shirley and Irene Preston each sang a solo. Miss Ruth Willman gave a recitation nd Master Bobby Sine contributed a solo. At noon a delicious lunch was served and all enjoyed a social hour.

Miss Helen Farrell, Belleville, spent a few days with her parents Mr. and Mrs. John Farrell.

Mrs. J. Honeycutt of Ellensburgh, N.Y., travelled home by aeroplane when she received word of her mother's unfortunate accident. She is staying at Belleville with her mother, Mrs. W. Heath, who is a patient in the hospital.

Wellman's W. A. held an ice cream and pie social in the church on Friday evening. Rev. J. E. Beckel was ihirman and the pupils of Wellman's Public School under the direction of their teacher, Miss Mary Sharp, staged the programme. Ice cream and pie were served at the close.

Miss Ila Myers has been engaged as teacher at the Snarr School.

On Friday evening Hoard's W. A. staged an amateur concert and strawberry social in their church and a lrge nomber were in attendance. Rev. C. S. Reddick was master of ceremonies and he kept the andience in gales of laughter throughout the evening. The programme opened with "O Canada". Master Howard Peak and Miss Muriel Heagle sang a duet. Miss Iva Calberry gave a guitar solo and Miss Doris Rannie contributed a vocal selection. Master Neil Hubble sang, with his mother, Mrs. Percy Hubble, as accompanist. Miss Gladys Summers gave a vocal number with guitar accompaniment. Mr. Jack Hughes sang a solo with Mrs. Frank Heagle as accompanist. Mrs. Percy MacMullen recited a humorous selection and Master Gerald Heagle gave a piano solo. Mr. Howard Hutcheon sang a cowboy number with guitar accompaniment. Mr. McGuire of Campbellford recited "An Irish Letter"; Miss Lillian Stollery and Master Desmon Gunning sang a duet; Mr. Harvey Couchgave several musical numbers and played the harmonic in a number of interesting ways. The judges were Mrs. Reddick, Miss Pernie Weatherill and Mr. Mowat and they awarded the children's prizes to Master Neil Hubble and the two duets. The adult prizcheon and Harvey Couch. A heaping dish of strawberries and ice cream topped off ith heaps of cake and loads of tarts closed a very pleasant evening.

Mrs. Don Heath spent Thursday with er parents, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Walker.

Misses Bernice Preston and Bertha Kirkey spent the week-end with their teacher, Mrs. G. Lovett at Murray Canal.

Mrs. Ronald McCall and Marilyn of Trenton, are holidaying with Mr. and Mrs. Norman Weese.

Rev. W. T. R. Delve, B.A., B.D., preached his farewell sermon at Ivanhoe on Sunday.

Foxes are very numerous in this township and farmers are finding it necessary to keep a good watch on their poultry.

Mr. and Mrs. Norman Weese entertained on Sunday, Mrs. George Roberts and Flossie, Mr. and Mrs. George Sprentnell of Trenton.

Just recently residents saw thousands of bees clustered on a limb of an apple tree. The branches were almost black with the bee clusters where they had encamped for the evening.

The farmers are busy rushing the hay crop, and at the same time they are hoping for rain as at the country is very dry.

How To Overcome Piles And Rectal Soreness

If you are annoyed with itching piles or rectal soreness, do not neglect the same or run the risk of an operation. Any itching, soreness or painful passage of stool, is nature's warning and proper treatment should be secured at once. For this purpose get from J. S. McKeown or any druggist, a package of Hemroid and use as directed. This formula, which is used internally, quickly relieves the itching and soreness and aids in healing the sore, tender spots. Hemroid is a physician's prescription and is highly recommended. It is easy to use and it seems the height of folly for anyone to risk an operation when a simple remedy, which is so pleasant to use may be had at such a reasonable cost.

FLEDGLINGS OF THE R.C.A.F. RECEIVE THEIR WINGS AT TRENTON AIR BASE

It was a proud day for 33 members of the permanent force of the R.C.A.F. and three members of an auxiliary squadron, who received their pilot's wings in a colorful ceremony at Trenton, Ont.. Following the presentation of wings, air and land drills of all sorts were demonstrated for an interested crowd of spectators.

Police Blotter

While patrolling his beat last night P.C. Arnott observed two men acting rather suspiciously in the vicinity of Bourk's service station, Cannifton Road. The officer stopped the men and after questioning them took them to the police sta drop something behind him. The men were held on a nominal charge of vagrancy and upon Constable Arnott's return to the scene of his arrest, he found a heavy chisel lying in the long grass where it had been dropped by one of the men.

Today the two men, who gave their names as George D. Foster and Edward McDonald, were remanded in custody on a charge of

WALL STREET

New York, June 29.—(AP) — Stocks again back-tracked in today's market with leaders dropping one to three or more points at the worst.

Selling, faster for a time in the forenoon than for some weeks, dried up somewhat near the fourth hour and slight recoveries were noted here and there.

Renewed worries regarding a possible week-end German coup at Danzig, which could conceivably touch off another and sharper European war crisis, brokers said, caused many traders to lighten commitments.

Prominent shares on the early retreat were U.S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, American Telephone, Santa Fe, Anaconda, American Smelting, Westinghouse, Du Pont, Allied Chemical, U.S. Rubber, Montgomery Ward, J. I. Case, Douglas Aircraft, Standard Oil of N.J., U.S. Gypsum and American Can.

Down fractions to more than a point in the Canadian group were Hiram Walker, Dome, Distillers and Lake Shore. Dominion 4s receded fractionally in the bond market.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 29.— (CP) — The Toronto Market slumped severely from the opening today, supposedly on fears of more war threats in Europe and the decline was attended by an increase of trading. Gold shares led the decline with an index loss of 2.66 by noon. Industrials were off 1.86 and the Base Metal shares 1.27. Western Oils showed only a minor setback.

Trading slowed down and prices displayed a firmer tendency in the early afternoon but there was no recovery of consequence. Losses of 1 to 2 points were showing among the seniors of both mining and industrial groups. Hudson Bay and Smelters lost a point or more and Nickel was off nearly as much. Soft spots in the golds included McIntyre, Dome, Macassa, Aunor, Powell Rouyn, Central Patricia and others.

All industrial groups sold off with steel shares leading the slump. In the Western Oils Calgary-Edmonton off 10 cents or more, was the weakest. Home and Royalite weakened narrowly.

LIVESTOCK

Toronto, June 29 (CP)— Too few cattle were offered on the Toronto Livestock Market tday to establish prices. The calf and hog sections were steady while the lamb division was weak. No sheep were offered and there was no cattle holdover from Wednesday.

Receipts reported by the Dominion Livestock Branch were: Cattle 40, calves 50, hogs 350, sheep and lambs 80.

The few cattle offered sold at steady prices, good butcher cows bringing $4-$5.

Calves ranged between $4.75-$8.25 according to quality.

Hogs closed at $9.50-$9.65 for off-truck bacons.

Good lambs were from $10.50-$11 with culls at $8-$8.50.

HOG QUOTATIONS

Toronto, June 29 (CP)—Prices of liveweight and dressedweight bacon hogs were unchanged today except at Peterborough where dressedweights gained five cents.

Liveweights — Brantford $9.25, Hull $9.25, Peterborough $9.25.

Dressedweights — Barrie $12.40, Hamilton $12.50, Hull $12.65, Stratford $12 plus transportation, Peterborough $12.20.

BODY IS RECOVERED

Amherstburg, Ont., June 29 (CP) —Body of a woman, believed in the water for about six months, was recovered from the Detroit River here today. The body was nude except for one galosh and a wrist watch but Chief of Police Joseph Taylor said there was no evidence of foul play. Chief Taylor said the only possibility of identifying the

Top Grade Eggs Rise On Light Receipts

Toronto, June 29. — Further strength was evident in prices on top grade eggs on the Toronto open produce market Wednesday, while butter remained easy, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

Fresh receipts continued to arrive in light volume on the egg market. Offerings cleared readily, with the keen demand, and dealers raised values another cent a dozen on top grades in the ungraded and retail sections. Ungraded shipments changed hands at 21c and 19c for grade A large and A medium respectively, while grade A large moved at 26c and medium at 25c in the retail division. Graded shipments held firm at former levels.

Buying interest was dull on the butter market, and there was the inclination on the part of a few holders to release supplies at slightly easier prices. Buyers were bidding ¼c below the market, with some sales recorded at the reduced value, but generally sellers were not offering below 21¾c. Ontario creamery solids closed at 21½c to 21¾c for No. 1 grades and 20¾c to 21c for 38 score. Prints were unchanged at 23c to 23¼c for top grades and 22¼c to 22½c for 38 score.

Eggs Gain at Montreal.

Montreal, June 29.—Egg prices rose about one cent on open produce markets here, while cheese offerings fell back narrowly, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported. Butter prices were a little firmer.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21¾c. Receipts: 1,378 boxes.

Ontario white cheese sold for 13c a pound, and colored for 13¼c. Quebec white traded for 12½c and colored for 12¾c. Receipts: 6,509 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 24c-24½c a dozen for A-large, 21c for A-medium, 17c-18c for B-large, and 15c-15½c for C. Receipts: 2,302 cases.

JUDGMENT RESERVED

Toronto, June 29 (CP)—Ontario Appellate Court today reserved its judgment on a reference brought by the Ontario Attorney-General to determine if the Canada Temperance Act of 1878 is still operative in Ontario.

The province argued the C.T.A. was inoperative. Decision was sought to end a clash that has arisen in certain sections of the province because of the conflicting provisions of the C.T.A. and the Ontario Liquor Control Act.

SCOTLAND YARD CALLED IN TO PROBE

London, June 29 (CP)—Scotland Yard has been called in to assist in the investigation of a series of fires during the past few days which have resulted in one death and a loss of more than $2,500,000, Osbert Peake, Under-Secretary to the Home Office, told the House of Commons today.

He declined to say, in response to a question, whether he believed the fires were "the work of foreign agents."

School Children Leave School Behind Without Any Regrets To Start the Summer Vacation

"School's Out." The glorious vista of summer holidays, cool streams, shady woods, camp-fires flickering beneath the light of summer stars on white beaches—a wonderful freedom far from the austere stuffiness of cloister-like school rooms, beckoned to youth today—and youth answered.

Forgotten were the long, dreary days spent studying the three 'R's'. Forgotten was winter and its white fairyland; dismissed from excited minds were the onerous studies and in the wake of a new-found freedom was the spectre of examinations, as youth in all its glory dashed figuratively and in some cases literally from classrooms to glorious freedom.

From the little red schoolhouse that stands at the crossroads of many a rural section—from the stately brick buildings of the city schools there poured a flood of carefree children with but one thought in mind. Summer, the Pied Piper of holiday freedom, warbled a gay tune, and the children answered with whoops of delight.

Book-laden, joyous, they trooped from classroom and school, carefree, gay, happy—faces aglow with the light of happiness that only a child can know. In the distance beckoned the old swimmin' hole, the woods and other places dear to the hearts of rural and urban children alike. Nearly ten long weeks of carefree idleness, unmarred by the spectre of "school" and its cares, loomed ahead, and the children greeted it as a long-lost friend.

In laughing groups and duos they left behind them that dignity that belongs to the school and classroom Singly, some serious, others joyous, they marched with light step with never a backward glance to those halls that within too short a time will again welcome them back to work and study.

Teachers, too, after all are not immune to that long holiday feeling that comes but once a year. There were smiles on the faces of the pedagogues as they, too, left the halls of learning, some to embark on long planned trips, others to further increase their knowledge at the many summer schools of the province.

Wheat Advances Sharply in Futures

Winnipeg, June 29. — (CP) — Reports of increased European tension and forecasts of an "August crisis" brought a wave of activity today in trading on Winnipeg Grain Exchange in the early hours of the session.

Exporters came into the market as "big buyers" and prices advanced sharply for all futures, July bounding ahead 1 1-4 cent a bushel to 59 3-4.

Export business was reported in excess of 1,000,000 bushels, the largest in many days, as the market snapped out of the doldrums of slack trading.

NEWS GATHERING IN CRISIS DEBATED

W. Rupert Davies of Kingston Says Empire Press Not Sufficiently on Inside

By EDWIN JOHNSON

London, June 29 (CP)—Problems of news gathering in times of crisis were discussed today at the annual conference of the Empire Press Union.

Lionel Curtis of the Institute of International Affairs said that because "expressions of temperate and constructive opinion seldom are as good copy as pungent, destructive criticism," cables from London attacking British policy during last year's September crisis had been given greater prominence than speeches and articles defending that policy.

W. Ruppert Davies of Kingston, Ont., president of The Canadian Press, urged that responsible editors should be afforded official information of importance, particularly in times of emergency. He said the press was not sufficiently on the inside in current affairs.

Sir Thomas Inskip, Secretary of State for the Dominions, said that criticism to the effect the Dominions were insufficiently consulted on some parts of the government's foreign policy was generally based on a misconception.

CONFERENCE HARMONIOUS

Toronto, June 29.— (CP) —Cecil G. Frost, secretary of the Ontario Conservative Association, said today the party's conference here yesterday was "harmonious throughout." He said the meeting was called for organization purposes "and I think we are now prepared for all eventualities." Mr. Frost added, "we are behind Federal Leader Dr. Manion 100 per cent.

Providing Soviet Accepts Latest British Formula Submitted

ACCEPT ALL TERMS

(By J. F. Sanderson Canadian Press Staff Writer).

London, June 29 (CP Cable) — Three western European states, Belgium, Holland and Switzerland —will receive guarantees under the proposed Anglo-French-Russian mutual assistance pact if the Soviets accept the latest British formula submitted in Moscow.

Informed sources reported that Great Britain and France were prepared to accord territorial guarantees with Russian co-operation also to Finland, Estonia and Latvia.

Poland, Rumania, Greece and Turkey already have Anglo-French guarantees.

These guarantees would mean, in effect, that Britain, France and the Soviet Union would go to war automatically—without prior consultation—if any of the enumerated countries was the victim of direct or indirect aggression and resisted with its own forces.

If Russia accepts this plan it means guaranteeing the three Baltic countries—Finland, Estonia and Latvia—which do not want pledges and insist on their right to remain neutral.

Russia Always Adamant

Russia all along has remained adamant in its view that its Baltic frontier must be protected and Britain and France have nine times made attempts to draft a formula which would accomplish what Russia wants without naming the three states.

Each formula met with a polite "no" from the Soviet Commissar for Foreign Affairs, Vyacheslaff Molotoff.

The latest formula would bind the three major powers to come to each other's assistance in the same way that they would cooperate in meeting aggression against one of the smaller states.

Official circles were extremely hopeful here today that the Soviet Union would accept the present plan ond end 10 weeks of negotiation among the three powers.

EUROPEANS RUSH TO BUY DOLLARS

British Equalization Fund Dips Heavily Into Supply to Bolster Sterling

New York, June 29 (AP)—Increasing war fears in Europe were reflected today in the foreign exchange market with a rush of Europeans to buy United States dollars, especially in Amsterdam.

The British equalization fund was reported to have dipped heavily into its supply of dollars to bolster sterling against a deluge of selling from all parts of Europe.

The control maintained the spot rate of $4.68⅛ against the drive but sterling futures, which the control does not attempt to regulate, again gave ground. One month sterling was quoted ⅝ cent under the spot rate compared with ½ cent yesterday.

No Provision for Zippers on Puttees

Ottawa, June 29 (CP)—Zippers may be handy for putting on puttees but neither king's regulations and orders nor the manuals which prescribe what the well-dressed soldier should wear makes any provision for them. Defence Department officials were mildly interested today in the report from Vernon, B.C., that an inventive officer of the British Columbia regiment of the Duke of Connaught's Own Rifles had conceived the idea of putting zippers on puttees. But they didn't think that zippers would become an army issue.

And there's the problem whether a soldier who zippers his puttees is to be considered "properly dressed". An honest-to-goodness puttee should be rolled in regular spirals round the lower leg. A concession is made to military Beau Brummels who like to fold the puttee in the centre of the shin-bone, giving it a criss-cross effect, but that is rigidly restricted to three folds. More than that is officially frowned upon and considerable effort is put forward to stamp out any tendency to fold the puttee, say, four times.

"Just plain sissies," was the comment of an interested war veteran. "Next thing the militia'll be issued wi' powder-puffs an' they'll be carryin' their bombs in vanity-bags."

Grotesque Products Of Imagination' Says Soviet Paper

Moscow, June 29.—(AP)— Communiques of the Japanese army in Manchoukuo reporting Japanese air victories over Soviet and Mongolian forces on the frontier between Manchoukuo and outer Mongolia were described by the Communist Party newspaper Pravda today as grotesque products of an inflamed imagination.

(The Japanese have reported that 251 Soviet-Mongolian warplanes have been shot down since May 20 on the far Eastern frontier.)

"Daily," said Pravda, "there are fresh lies. The more decisively the aggressive boasters are beaten by the Soviet-Mongolian air force, the more complicated become their lies.

"It is necessary somehow to raise the shaken prestige of Japanese arms."

"Heritage of the Desert"

Action....and more action, gun play, fierce fighting, ruthless treachery and tender romance.... all expertly interwoven by Zane Grey—is now on the screen at the McCarthy Theatre in the greatest outdoor story Zane Grey ever wrote, "Heritage of the Desert," Paramount Studios mighty western classic featuring Donald Woods, Evelyn Venable, Russell Hayden, Robert Barrat, Sidney Toler and C. Henry Gordon.

The glamor, the restless surge, the will to win of the old west and the tussle of many a fight, the tang of western slang, the rough, tough life of the cowboys who sleep under the open sky makes "Heritage of the Desert" the type of entertainment that pleases and which is a story that is clean, wholesome and one of the best produced by Harry Sherman, who is also responsible for the Hopalong Cassidy series. Do not miss "Heritage of the Desert". It is a fine, outdoor story, made into a swell motion picture, that is not an ordinary Western, but one that has an appealing love story, plenty of dramatic highlights, an abundance of comedy and that kind of action that makes any picture great.

Three Stooges Comedy

Select added attractions include Larry, Moe and Curly, Columbia Studio's great combination of comedians, which are popularily known as the Three Stooges, are presented in their latest slapstick riot of fun, "A Ducking They Did Go" which brings the laughs out with machine gun rapidity and an excellent new Popeye cartoon treat entitled "Customers Wanted" and another thrilling episode of the adventures of the Black Falcon in "Flying G-Men" chapter play, are all ideal added entertainment preceding the feature, "Heritage of the Desert."

AT THE BELLE

"Calling Dr. Kildare"

On the wave of popular demand following their first appearance together, Lew Ayres and Lionel Barrymore come today and Friday to the Belle Theatre in "Calling Dr. Kildare," second in the series decided upon because of the success of "Young Dr. Kildare," first of the medical-detective stories.

The new picture carries on the adventures of the young doctor, played by Ayres, and the veteran, played by Barrymore ,who becomes the young man's mentor. Ayres treats a wounded fugitive from the police, believing the youngster innocent, and becomes infatuated with the boy's sister, played by Lana Turner. This gets him into trouble with the police, the older physician stands by to rescue him, he discovers a murder and thus clears his patient, then finds disillusionment in the girl. The wise old doctor solves this problem for him as well.

Lana Turner, the new screen beauty who vamped Mickey Rooney in "Love Finds Andy Hardy," is the glamour girl, and Larainee Day, brunette discovery who scored in "Sergeant Madden," plays the nurse, Mary Lamount, a new character in the series. Alma Kruger also comes to the series to play Molly Byrd, "hardboiled" head nurse. Repeating the roles they created in the original "Kildare" picture are Lynne Carver, Nat Pendleton, Marie Blake, Samuel S. Hinds, Emma Dunn and Walter Kingsford. Harold S. Buoquet again directed.

Dramatic highlights include the bold transfusion in the cellar hideout; the arrest, the discovery by the young doctor that his sweetheart has merely been luring him to a crime, and the dramatic twist by which Barrymore extricates him from his complicated troubles. Intimate details of a great hospital are shown, including the dramatic moment in which Barrymore enables a small, crippled boy, played by Bobs Watson, the "Peewee" of "Boys Town," to walk for the first time.

"Blackwell's Island

"Blackwell's Island," the Warner Bros. picture announced as the associate attraction is based as the title indicates, upon the prison scandal which amazed New York City several years ago. It gains additional interest from the fact that it presents John Garfield, who came to public attention in his debut as a screen actor in "Four Daughters," and more recently as the star of "They Made Me a Criminal."

This time the young newcomer from the New York stage does not have, as he did in "Four Daughters" a mere supporting role but is the central character of the story and naturally the star of the pcture. The production is, in fact, a response by Warner Bros. to the insistent public demand for more of Garfield which became manifest upon the release of "Four Daughters."

His part in the new picture is altogether different from the character he played in his first picture. He is, in "Blackwell's Island," a courageous, aggressive, dynamic young newspaper reporter who succeeds brilliantly in achieving the goal he sets for himself.

That goal is two-fold: First, to bring to justice the gang leader and his henchman who have murdered the policeman brother of the girl he loves, and second, to expose and correct the fantastic conditions at the city jail on Blackwell's Island.

In addition to Garfield, the cast includes Rosemary Lane, Stanley Fields, Victor Jory, Dick Purcell, Morgan Conway, Granville Bates, Anthony Averill, Peggy Shannon

DR. DAFOE'S COLUMN on the Quintuplets and the Care of Your Children

Frequent Head Colds May Signify Presence of Rheumatic Fever

Far too many children develop serious heart ailments because their parents dismiss as "growing pains" the aches in the joints that warn of rheumatic fever. In fact, I have no hesitation whatever in saying that if every child who complains of a pain in the limbs were examined without delay, there in the number of semi-invalid people would be a tremendous reduction who go to early graves as the result of childhood rheumatism.

Following the pains in the joints, the second early sign of rheumatic fever is the repeated occurrence of upper respiratory infections; that is, head colds and sore throats. The trouble is that even this symptom is too often ignored. Parents don't seem to realise that when one child in the family develops many more colds than the others, there is some definite reason which should be discovered without delay.

Usually a doctor's examination of the children will show that one has a chronic infection of the throat while the others have not. In most cases, the infection is in the tonsils or adenoid tissue at the back of the throat. Removal of these diseased tissues results in a decrease in the number and the severity of colds. The truth of this statement has been proven by the way the Quintuplets reacted when we took their tonsils and adenoids out last fall. I think our experience with them proves beyond a doubt the value of having tonsils removed, if they are diseased. Remember, I don't believe in removing tonsils wholesale. I think there should be absolute proof that they are diseased before an operation is performed.

Occasionally you will find a child who has no more colds than his brothers and sisters; but it will be noticed that when he takes a cold, it is a lot more severe and lasts longer than is the case with the others. This child should be examined, too, and his trouble located.

The old story that tonsils should not be removed until the child is three years old is no longer supported by surgeons and doctors. Neither is the story that you must wait until spring or summer to have them out. Of course, if there is an acute infection in the throat or if the tonsils are swollen and inflamed, it is not the right time to have the organs removed. As soon as the inflammation is removed, however, the tonsils should come out. Leaving infected tonsils in the throat when they should be taken out subjects the child unnecessarily to the danger of chronic heart disease.

This was one thing we watched like hawks when we knew the Quints' tonsils were diseased. We couldn't operate as soon as we wanted because there was still inflammation and infection in the throats. We had to wait for the children to get into shape. We did not want to have any of them develop a heart ailment.

I don't mind telling you that when those tonsils were out and the children fully recovered from the operation, I felt an enormous sense of relief. It was just as though a huge weight had been taken off my back.

THAT BODY OF YOURS

By James W. Barton, M.D.

As examination shows that about two out of every three individuals past the age of fifty have some trouble with their gall bladder, it is only natural that operation for drainage or removal of the gall bladder is now so common. However if everybody with some gall bladder disturbance were to undergo operation, surgeons would not only be unable to perform these operations but there would be no time for any other operations.

It has been found that when gall stones are present and there have been attacks of gall stone colic, operation gives practically complete relief and the death rate now from operation is very low indeed. When, however, there are no gall stones present, no attacks of real gall stone colic, yet the symptoms apparently point to the gall bladder as being the cause of the trouble, physicians and surgeons now are treating these cases with diet and medicine, and instead of operating are looking for other possible causes for these symptoms.

It is admitted that most gas pains, unless caused by gas-forming foods,—are due to a sluggish liver and gall bladder, but there are other symptoms such as pain in various parts of the abdomen—high low and on either side—which may be due to other causes than gall stones.

Dr. M. J. Brown in American Journal of Surgery, says: "From the results of various physicians and my own 300 cases, I feel that patients with gall bladder inflammation but no gall stones present, should not undergo operation on the gall bladder until a complete examination is made and six months of medical treatment tried. In a certain number of cases, the final finding will be found to be chronic appendicitis, inflammation of the nerves between the ribs (intercostal neuritis), hydronephrosis (cyst of kidney), ulcer of stomach or intestine, or irritable large bowel".

The thought then is that when the dye test and Xrays show no gall stones, yet the pain and other symptoms point to gall bladder disturbance, physicians are now treating the case with medicine and diet, instead of surgery, as one of these other conditions may be causing the symptoms.

ELEVEN ARABS KILLED

Jerusalem, June 29—(AP)—Eleven Arabs were slain and five wounded in six incidents today in the neighborhood of the Jewish city of Tel Aviv. Authorities said Jews were responsible.

As a consequence of the shootings, all traffic to and from Tel Aviv, Rehovoth and Petah Tikvah was prohibited from noon today until 4 p.m. tomorrow.

New Minister To Be Inducted At Plainfield

Plainfield—There was a large congregation present on Sunday evening to hear the farewell address of the Rev. J. P. Everson, who with Mrs. Everson left on Wednesday morning for their new parish at Springville. Rev. George T. MacKenzie who has been for four years at Bath and who has been appointed successor to Mr. Everson arrived in Plainfield on Wednesday with Mrs. MacKenzie.

The induction service for Mr. MacKenzie has been arranged for Friday evening, June 30th and will be in charge of Rev. E. M. Cook of Foxboro who will escort the new minister to his pulpit and induct him. The sermon that evening will be preached by Rev. Mr. Harding of Springbrook and Rev. James E. Beckel of Rawdon circuit, will present the minister and deliver the charge of both the minister and the congregation. The hymns arranged for the service are 148, 143, 400. At the close of the service Mr. MacKenzie with offer the Benediction.

A large number of both ladies and men from the charge were present at the parsonage on Wednesday morning to help Mr. and Mrs. Everson and to welcome Mr. and Mrs. MacKenzie. Lunch was served to the group before the truck started on its way for Springville.

Bonarlaw

Bonarlaw—Mr. M. R. Neal was admitted to Belleville General Hospital Sunday evening to undergo a major operation which was entirely successful.

Messrs W. J. Barlow and Lindsay Mumby have returned from Hamilton where they attended Grand Lodge of The Independent Order of Oddfellows. At this session Mr. Barlow was appointed District Deputy Grand Master of District No. 45.

Mrs. Emily Neal left on Sunday last for Seymour, Wis., where she will reside with her daughters Elizabeth and Laura, who are motoring back to Wisconsin after a few weeks visit in this vicinity.

Mr. Ernest Friars who has been visiting Messrs Peter and Reinard Qualkenbush returned home on Monday of this week.

PINEAPPLE AND STRAWBERRY SALAD
Combine pineapple (one small fresh pineapple peeled and cut in cubes) with 1½ cups strawberries. Both well-chilled. Arrange on crisp leaves of chicory or romaine and serve with French dressing made of ½ cup Heinz Pure Olive Oil, ¼ cup Heinz Cider Vinegar thoroughly mixed with ½ teaspoon salt, 1 teaspoon sugar and a dash of paprika. This salad has great éclat when served in a hollowed pineapple shell. Simply cut the pineapple lengthwise, scoop out the fruit and fill the shell with salad.

Make Finer Flavoured Dressings with Vinegars by Heinz

● If you really want the last word in salad dressing, let your first thought be Heinz Vinegar and your next, Heinz Pure Olive Oil. They are two essentials that mean success.

Heinz Vinegars—white—cider—malt—are aged to winelike maturity in wood. Their bouquet and all-pervading flavour give them a quality that's all their own. Heinz Olive Oil—first pressing of rich, ripe Spanish Olives—gives a marvellous lift to dressings. Order both from your dealer today.

She Had a Vine

By Katherine Bellinger

The dust of the hot road that runs between Gatum and Colon burned through the thin soles of Kathleen Pelham's pumps. But the road was no more scorching than the look on the faces of Lieutenant and Mrs. Hurd as they descended from Colonel Stevens' khaki colored car. Kathleen moved closer to her husband, Lieut. James Pelham. There was a solidity about Jim's six feet that was infinitely comforting.

"It's outrageous," snapped Mrs. Hurd. "The house is ruined without the vine."

"As you are occupying these quarters, Lieutenant Pelham, you are responsible," said Lieutenant Hurd, puffing out his chest.

Jim's eyes were blue ice. "It's a responsibility. I'm entirely ready to assume," he answered frigidly. "I'll be glad to give you any satisfaction you wish—"

"Lieutenant Pelham! Lieutenant Hurd!" growled a deep, peremptory voice. Colonel Stevens emerged from the depths of his khaki colored car. The young officers saluted, then stood silently at attention. Mrs. Hurd smiled loftily.

The colonel's keen eyes swept the group. "I couldn't help overhearing your acrimonious conversation. It seemed to be about a house. If anyone can contribute anything constructive—" he paused.

"I can, said Mrs. Hurd, beligerently. "When I called on Mrs. Pelham this morning there was a beautiful vine—the only one I've seen in Gatun—climbing up this bungalow and shading the verandah. I asked you to drive us here this afternoon so that Lieutenant Hurd could see the house before he asked you to assign it to him. Now there is no vine and the house will be too hot for comfort. I'm sure the Pelhams cut it down, which as you know is wanton destruction of government property."

Kathleen gulped. Please Colonel Stevens may I speak?"

The keen gray eyes peered deep into her brown ones. "Certainly, Mrs. Pelham."

"Lieutenant Pelham doesn't know anything about the cutting down of the vine. I didn't feel well but I didn't tell him he would have worried. Instead I telephoned to the sanitary department to ask if they thought the vine was a hiding place for mosquitoes which might have given me malaria. They did, and sent a man to remove it."

Not a muscle of the colonel's face moved. "You did quite right, Mrs. Pelham. I'm sure that Mrs. Hurd, now that she understands, will want to thank you for your thoughtfulness. Now she can be sure when she moves into these quarters, she won't be menaced by malaria."

"Of course we don't want the house without the vine," Mrs. Hurd said. "It looks naked as a jay now."

"In that case," suggested the colonel, "you may care to inspect some of the vacant quarters. My car is at your disposal. If you'll excuse me, I'll walk—I need the exercise."

The colonel solmenly faced Kathleen and Jim. "Lieutenant Pelham I must talk to your wife."

"If you please sir, if Mrs. Pelham has broken any regulation the fault is entirely mine. I stand ready—"

"So I see," growled the colonel. "Now keep quiet." Suddenly something that would have been a grin in a less dignified personage illumined the colonel's austere features. "Scared you that time, you rascal," he chuckled. "Serves you right for trying to put one over on your commanding officer. As a further punishment, you're ordered to go on living in that vineless house."

With a little rush, Kathleen was at hs side. "Colonel, darling, next to Jim you're the most wonderful man in the world."

The cononel beamed his gray eyes twinkling. "You're feeling better now, aren't you? Malaria symptoms all gone?"

Kathleen's eyes dropped. A crimson wave swept over her face and neck.

Two minutes later, the colonel gone, Kathleen and Jim catapulted through their screen door into their cretonne and wicker living room.

"You vamped the daylights out of the old boy," accused Jim. He scooped her to him, running his hand over her head. "Have you thought that this house won't be all so nice without that vine shading the porch?"

Through the soft brown strands of hair her eyes laughed at him. "I didn't have it pulled up by the roots just out loose. In a tropical country like this it'll be sprawling all over the place again in a couple of months," she gurgled. "Wait till Mrs. Hurd sees it!"

Little Benny's Note Book

My cousin Artie was aloud to stay at my house all nite last night to celebrate school being over, and we were talking and arguing and waiting to have to go to bed, and I said, Hay, how about waking each other up tomorrow morning in time to see the sunrise, so then we'll see it the first day of vacation and get it over with, and our soles will be okay.

GOOD FOR HIS SOLE

What's all this about your soles, what's a matter with them for Peet sake? pop said, and I said, Nothing, only when our teacher told us good bye she said she hoped we wouldn't waist too much of our vacation in idleness and she said she hoped we would get up brite and early every morning.

By gollies that was good advice, the average person waists more time asleep than he does awake, and that's saying a lot, pop said. But I still dont understand where your soles come in, he said, and I said, Well Miss Kitty claimed a great poet said a view of the sunrise is the best thing for the sole, and she claimed we ought to find out what he meant for ourselfs by getting up to see it, only G, pop, we cant see it from my room, so would you mind if we came in tomorrow morning and saw it from your room? We wont wake you up, and even if we do you can see it too and try it on your own sole, I said.

I saw the sun rise long before I was your age, and I hesitate to do anything to spoil that wonderful first impression, pop said, and ma said, Now Willyum how can you discourrage such a nine poetic instinct?

I wouldn't dream of such a thing. I'm thinking of the weather report, pop said.

And he looked in the paper, saying, I was right, it says Generelly Cloudy, we'd better take the matter up under more auspicious conditions.

Wich I will if I dont lose the ambition.

STATES CREDIT IS EXHAUSTED

Hon. Eric Cross Adocates National Refunding Scheme in West Canada

Winnipeg, June 29 (CP)—Credit of Western Canada is exhausted and that of the Dominion is endangered, Hon. Eric Cross, Ontario Minister of Public Welfare and Municipal Affairs, said last night in advocating a National Refunding Scheme in an address to a service club (Kinsmen) here.

"The Dominion now holds $140,000,000 of treasury bills of the Western Provinces and the West expects that debt to be forgiven," he said. "We will pay in Ontario half that debt because almost half the taxation of the Dominion comes from the Province of Ontario.

"What if new taxation will not yield enough to pay that debt? What if credit of the Dominion falters? I am convinced that it can only result in that if present tendencies continue: Railway deficits, deficits on relief costs both Federal and Provincial. . . . the West has exhausted its credit. Is ours to be exhausted too before a solution is found?"

National Reconstruction

One answer, he said, is a scheme of National refunding linked with a plan of National reconstruction of all government finances. The scheme would be difficult because the debt was held largely outside of Canada but the Dominion might guarantee the debt of the Western Provinces so normal income from the West would balance budgets.

Mr. Ross said: "There should be a period of debt holiday, let us say for five years, and I think that if the Dominion is to enter such a scheme it should have a measure of control over future debt accumulations as long as its guarantee was outstanding.

Instalment Debentures

Further that future debt should be provided by sinking fund or instalment debentures and as a means of easing provincial budgets many of our social services, if extended, must be put upon a contributory basis."

A tradition of self-reliance and independence existed in Ontario and many municipalities had no capital debt whatsoever.

"You can appreciate how the debt-free people of rural Ontario view with alarm and apprehension the colossal structure of public debt that we have built up in Canada."

Princesses Win Swimming Honors As Queen Looks On

London, June 28 (CP)—The Queen proudly watched her daughters win swimming honors today at the Bath Club's annual carnival.

She whispered words of congratulation as she gave Princess Elizabeth a challenge shield in the group for girls between nine and 15 years old, and eight-year-old Princess Margaret Rose a challenge cup for girls under nine.

To win the trophies, the Princesses had to swim the breast stroke and the back stroke, dive and show life-saving methods. They had spent many hours practising in their private pool at Buckingham Palace while their parents were in Canada.

WITH THE LAWN BOWLERS

by

GEO. E. WATKIN

Yesterday the first picnic tournament was held and for those who were unable to attend they missed a real treat.

There were fourteen rinks of trebles in the tournament. The winners in order were: First, Mr. Dreury, Mrs. J. Houston and C. Hyde skip. Second Mrs. Hyde, C. McGuire and J. Black skip. Third, H. Cross, Mrs. Watkin and L. E. McLean skip. Fourth, Doug Row, Mrs. Thompson and Rev. Wight skip. There were some good games. Special mention must be made of C. Hyde and his team, they were on top of the world all the way. Congratulations Charlie.

The ladies put up a real spread which w— enjoyed by all. There should be more of these type of games this summer. While Bert Backus and A. Wonnacott did not get in the prize money bowling they were away out in front at the supper with Mrs. O'Conner and Mrs. Neate coming a close second.

Next Wednesday Stirling hold their annual mixed rinks, we should be well represented.

Due are dues.

Have you picked your partner for Monday. Old skips don't forget we have a lot of new members, use them if at all possible.

Next Wednesday Peterboro put on a bowling classic men's rinks for the Stratton trophy, this is a real game. Four twelve end games are played, teams from all over Ontario will take part, how about sending a rink.

Trenton Air Park have built a new green and it looks real good.

Members of our club will be sorry to hear that Ted Green of Kingston is in the hospital in that town—we all wish him a speedy recovery.

Two teams of doubles went to Kingston yesterday, Charlie Sulman and John Shaw and Fred Harper and E. Vanner. Thirty-two teams took part. both our teams came close and report good games.

MOUNT PLEASANT TITLE WINNERS

Softball Team Defeats Glen Ross 20-10 in Third Tussle

Stirling, June 29 (Special)—After splitting a couple of real smart games for second place honours in the Rawdon softball league that harvested the greatest number of Supporters of the year, Glen Ross made no mistake about the third game played on the ball diamond at the Stirling Agricultural grounds on Tuesday night twenty runs out of a total of twenty-eight hits from the offerings of Irvin Potts. Harry Brown led the parade with two homers a double and a single. G. Pyear was batting wilfully with a home run chalked up in his five safe hits. A Fraser also smashed out a home run for the winners who played a superior game in all divisions. Potts scored the only homer for the losers with Herb Smith leading their batting with four hits. Errors of costly nature acounted for several of the runs scored by Glen Ross. Nearly a hundred cars circled the playing field that transported the largest crowd of the season to see this important game. League officials have been persuaded to have the final series played on the Stirling field and Glen Ross will meet the group leading Bethel squad in the first game for the championship on Friday night at Stirling Fair grounds.

Mount Pleasant: B. Jeffs c; K. Kingston; I. Potts p; Bert Jeffs; H. Bedford; H. Higgs; F. Fitzgerald; Herb Smith; J. Coggins.

Glen Ross: B. Hagerman; R. Pyear; A. McDonald; H. Brown; D. Martin; G. Pyear; J. Armstrong; A. Fraser; E. Grill.

Umpires: Holmes, Morton and Conley.

LOU NOVA LIKELY TO MEET GALENTO

New York, June 29 (AP)—Such a great stand did Tony Galento make before Joe Louis sent him falling to his knees in the fourth round last night that he probably will be matched against Lou Nova recent conqueror of Max Baer, in September.

Through battered, puffed lips Ton, begged for another chance at Louis, but he won't get that. Nova, at the ringside after the battle, said nothing would suit him better than a few shots at Tony, except a chance at the champion.

"If I ever staggered Louis the way Tony did he never would get away from me," declared Nova. "If I'd had him on the floor like Tony did, I would have kept him there. The fellow can't take a punch."

FOREIGN TECHNICIANS AND BATA SHOE CO'Y

Ottawa, June 29.—Officials of the Labor Department will be asked to ascertain to what extent foreign technicians are required in the establishment of a branch of the Bata shoe manufacturing concern in Canada should the company decide to come here, Prime Minister Mackenzie King said today.

The Government was glad to see new capital come to Canada and welcomed the opening of new industries.

HEMMLER TAKES CHARGE

Warsaw, June 29.—(CP)—Havas News Agency said last night that Heinrich Hemmler, chief of all German police, was reported to have arrived in Danzig to direct a "purge" of the free city's Nazi ranks preparatory to "an expected coup to incorporate Danzig within Germany."

His reported arrival followed unconfirmed statements that a number of Germans had entered Danzig from East Prussia to swell the ranks of a "Free Corps" being trained there.

Nazi-Controlled Government of Danzig Deny German Troops Enter City and Any Sign of Military Activity in City

'SS' DANZIG CITIZENS

1500 Men on Police Force Said to be Objective of Danzigers—Senate is 100 Per Cent Nazi

Warsaw, June 30—(CP-Havas) — Belief that a reported German shipment of big guns and other war material to Danzig represents an attempt to bluff Poland into yielding the Free City rather than evidence a preparation for a putsch was voiced today by the newspaper Wieczor Warszawski.

"Between the two alternatives of a Putsch and war blackmail, the latter appears more probable to us, but it is none the less dangerous," said the newspaper, which is close to the Finance Ministry.

Belief it is Bluff

"The wide publicity given to Nazi activity in Danzig leads to the supposition that all this is part of the tactic of wearing down nerves which the Germans have employed for some time. Consequently we can expect a provocation surpassing all previous ones."

Danzig, June 30—(AP)— The Nazi-controlled government of Danzig—eyed apprehensively in much of Europe as a danger spot to peace—went ahead today with strengthening of the Free City's police force. Officials said this was necessary as a precautionary measure because of "the hysteria prevailing in Poland."

Why the Weather!

By Major A. H. Thiessen
Science Service Meteorologist

Evaporation! This process of nature (the reverse of condensation) is a very important matter to the soil conservationist and others interested in agriculture. If soil is sopping wet, it evaporates more water than an equal surface of free water under the same conditions. This is because of the inequalities of the surface; a square foot of soil presents a greater evaporating area than does water. Losses from a water surface by evaporation can easily be measured but those from a soil surface or from vegetation can not be measured so easily and indirect methods are pursued. If soil is partially dry, it evaporates more slowly than a water surface even though the subsoil is very moist.

RAINS WASH OUT ROADS, BUT AID AGRICULTURE

Rainfall Called Blessing in Many Parts of Province of Ontario

BRIDGES WRECKED

Commercial Value of Rain Will Run Into Millions of Dollars

By The Canadian Press

A storm which wrecked bridges, washed out roads and killed animals, brought smiles to the faces of Ontario farmers today. They did not welcome the destruction but benefit brought to their crops by quenching summer rains.

Although the downfall across Western Ontario yesterday flattened grain and soaked hay, agricultural officials said its commercial valuation would run into millions of dollars. Fruit, vegetables and grain crops all were aided.

Frank O'Donnell, chief forecaster of the Dominion Meteorological Bureau in Toronto, said yesterday's rain was "the most general rainfall Ontario has known this year." The broad curtain of precipitation spread at least as far east as Port Hope before it broke up into local showers.

Heavy Fall in Middlesex

No section of Middlesex was left untouched and in Grey County heavy rain brought great benefit to crops and the strawberry yield particularly was helped.

A violent thunderstorm knocked a corner from the roof of the Church of the Resurrection at London and damaged a transformer in the city, cutting power from one section.

At Crediton, in Huron County, strong wind accompanied the storm and much of the fall wheat crop was twisted and flattened. So heavy was the rain that haying will not be possible in the section for several days.

Dr. G. I. Christie, President of the Ontario Agricultural College at Guelph, said the drenching was the most helpful since early spring. Oats, wheat, corn, mangels and turnips all would profit by the moisture.

Violent Electric Storm

The downpour came as a mixed blessing at Orangeville where a violent electrical storm left much damage in its wake. Buildings were burned and bridges wrecked, while at Laurel several chickens and pigs were burned to death when lightning struck a small barn.

The rain also swept warmly and thoroughly into the Niagara Peninsula, where fruit crops had waited thirstily for days. At Grimsby, one fruit grower, said the downpour would hasten the ripening process on cherry trees.

In the same area, the rainfall supplied water for long-empty cisterns of many farms. Farmers on the verge of losing hope in northwest and northeast areas, retreated from their fields to welcome the downpour.

ON RETURN JOURNEY

Southampton, June 30—(CP)— The Yankee Clipper, Pan-American Airways flying boat which this week made an inaugural scheduled air mail flight across the North Atlantic, started her return trip at 3:17 p.m. (10:17 a.m. EDT) today with a cargo of mail and 15 guests.

Duce in Close Touch With Fuehrer, Italian People Grow Very Uneasy

Rome, June 30—(AP)— Premier Mussolini was reported today to be in very close touch with Chancellor Hitler by telephone and to be watching carefully the tense European situation.

Il Duce was at his villa at Riccione on the Adriatic Sea. He preserved a strict silence regarding international developments while an increased uneasiness was apparent among Italians.

There were reports the Premier had conferred secretly with Hitler at some frontier point but these were authoritatively denied as "absurd."

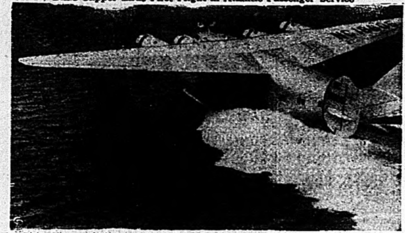
In many quarters the belief was expressed that a new European crisis was coming. Some looked toward Danzig and others toward the Balkans as a possible danger point.

The controlled press threw no new light on the Italian attitude but continued vigorous attacks on what it called British and French attempts to "encircle" the Rome-Berlin axis and on what newspapers alleged to be mistreatment of Italians in France and Tunisia.

Newspapers told of "alarmist campaigns" in London and Paris over Danzig and asked whether there were preparations for "an aggression against the axis."

The official Stefani news agency dismissed as "devoid of any constructive proposal whatever" Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax' speech yesterday in which the declaration was made that "in the event of further aggression we (Great Britain) are resolved to use at once the whole of our strength in fulfillment of our pledges" to the smaller European states.

Dixie Clipper Ends First Flight in Atlantic Passenger Service



The Dixie Clipper, giant Pan-American Airways flying boat, is seen as she took off from the airways base at Port Washington, L.I., en route to Europe. Aboard the four-motored, 41-ton flying boat were 22 paying passengers, six of them women. Also aboard were 11 crew members and 408 pounds of mail. The ship stopped at Horta, in the Azores, and at Lisbon, Portugal, en route to Marseilles, France, where she landed at 1.20 p.m. (9.20 a.m. E.D.T.) today.

BRITISH GUNBOAT LANDS SAILORS TO PROTECT BRITONS

British Interests in Foochow to be Protected Despite Japan's Warning

BLOCKED BY BOOMS

Shanghai, June 30—(AP)— The British gunboat Grasshopper today landed sailors to protect British interests in Foochow, blockaded by the Japanese in the face of warnings from Great Britain, France and the United States that Tokyo would be held responsible for damage to foreign interests there.

Foochow and Wenchow, the two last major Chinese ports, came under Japanese domination yesterday as their entrances were blocked by ships and booms.

A boom in the mouth of the Min River cut off the sea approach to Foochow, but British naval authorities here did not believe the Grasshopper, which had landed 36 bluejackets would be trapped.

Meanwhile Japanese planes destroyed a plainly-marked American school at Foochow in the opening of coastal offensives which Chinese declared had been repulsed thus far.

Damage to the American-owned Union Middle School, two miles west of Foochow, was estimated at $50,000. Two projectiles hit the large building, which was a mile from any other structure of similar character. There were no casualties.

Chinese dispatches telling of the defeat of a Japanese landing party at Pingtan Island, 45 miles southeast of Foochow, were confirmed by neutral naval sources. The retreating Japanese were said to have forced 100 Chinese fishermen to accompany them on board waiting warships.

Brisk machine-gun fire was said to have kept Japanese landing parties from gaining a foothold on the mainland near Wenchow.

Japanese dispatches admitted a revival of Chinese activity in the South China war area north of Canton, but said all attacks had been repulsed with heavy losses.

MOTORMAN IS SERIOUSLY HURT

24 Others Injured in Collision of Radial Cars Only Slightly Hurt

St. Catharines, Ont., June 30—(CP)—Only one of 25 persons hurt in a radial car collision here yesterday remained in serious condition, hospital authorities said today. Motorman George Schenck, who suffered a fractured right leg, a crushed left ankle and back injuries, was the most seriously injured of the victims.

Hospital authorities said his condition was fair. No investigation into the accident will be held until Schenck recovers sufficiently to be able to testify.

He was the operator of the trolley bound for St. Catharines from Port Dalhousie that telescoped into a northbound car on the Niagara, St. Catharines and Toronto railway line.

EUROPE DRIFTING INTO A CRISIS IS FRENCH VIEW

This View Follows Report Nazis Organizing Forces in Danzig

DEFINITELY WARNED

French Press Praises Address of Viscount Halifax Given in London

Paris, June 30—(AP)— France saw Europe drifting into a serious crisis today in the wake of reports that Nazis were organizing their forces for a coup in Danzig.

The nation looked to her defences as French diplomatic quarters received reports that Germany had called 600,000 reservists to the colors and that Italian military equipment was shuttling through the Brenner Pass.

General Maurice Gamelin—head of all French armed forces and a man who probably holds more military power than any French general since Napoleon—was near the Italian frontier inspecting Alpine defences.

General Joseph Vuillemin, Chief of France's air forces, was in Corsica studying the defences of that Mediterranean island which is an admitted object of Italian affections in Fascist claims for vital space. Gamelin is to join him there this weekend.

Increased Activities

French observers on the Rhineland frontier reported increased German troop activities behind the Siegfried line system of forts opposite France's Maginot line, including the arrival of troops at Kehl, Karlsruhe, Rastatt, Salzbach, and Baden.

HARRY B. CARD NAPANEE, DIES

Garage Proprietor and Sport Booster Dies Suddenly at Summer Home

Napanee, June 30—One of Napanee's best known business men, Harry B. Card, garage proprietor here for the past ten years, died suddenly Thursday at his summer cottage a few miles from here.

He was a great booster of sports, particularly hockey and baseball, and had donated several trophies to championship teams in different fields of sport. He was president of the Lennox County Baseball League for several years.

Mr. Card suffered a stroke last year and had not been well for some time. During the past winter with two of his sons he visited in Florida and was at the training camp of the New York Yankees this spring.

A former resident of Kingston, he was a member of the Ancient St. John's Lodge No. 3. Surviving are his widow, two daughters, Mrs. Walter Exley and Doris, and three sons, Randall, Lorne and Billy.

WILL HITLER HEED SHARP WARNING OF LORD HALIFAX?

Foreign Secretary Warned Further Aggression Would Force Britain to Act

RESIST AGGRESSION

London, June 30—(CP)—Britons asked themselves today whether Chancellor Hitler would heed Viscount Halifax' sharp admonition that any "further aggression" in Europe would run up against "the whole of our strength in fulfillment of our pledges."

Amid rumors of an impending Nazi coup in Danzig, the Foreign Secretary's speech was broadcast last night at home, aboard and specifically in German to Germany. But many officials and civilians asked: "Will Hitler listen?"

Lord Halifax declared:

"In the event of further aggression we are resolved to use at once the whole of our strength in fulfillment of our pledges (to smaller countries)....

"The threat of military force is holding the world to ransom and our immediate task is to resist aggression.....

"Germany is isolating herself and doing it most successfully and completely....economically.... politically....culturally.

"It is impossible to negotiate with a government whose responsible spokesmen brand a friendly country as thieves and blackmailers....

Must be Prepared

"We know that if international law and order are to be preserved we must be prepared to fight in its defence....

"As has happened once before we are creating here also a powerful weapon for the defence of our liberty and that of other peoples....

Part of Frood Mine Closed Down To Wait End of Settlement of Rock

Copper Cliff, Ont., June 30—(CP) —Part of the Frood Mine of the International Nickel Company of Canada was closed down today waiting for settlement to end between the 2,000 and 2,600-foot level of the mine.

Engineers two days ago warned the settlement was likely and yesterday all men in the affected section were withdrawn and distributed among other mines of the company.

The King and Queen visited the Frood Mine June 5 and dropped to the 2,800 foot level at shaft No. 3.

Thorough Examination to be Made

Company officials in a statement said a thorough examination will be made of that section of the mine before the men return to work there. Any tonnage reduction, the statement added, would be made up from other parts of the mine and from other mining operations conducted by the company.

Copper Cliff is about three miles from Sudbury.

Company officials said they would not hazard a guess on the extent of the settlement. They said such action is not unusual in an ore body the size of the Frood, which has an ore body 275 feet wide by three miles long.

As the ore is mined, the workings are protected by timbering and backfilling of rock. It is not unusual to run into a "soft spot" with settlement following.

Fifty of the affected miners were shifted to the Creighton Mine today, where operations will be stepped up to avoid a tonnage reduction.

Work continued in other parts of the Frood Mine not affected by the ore body action.

New York, June 30—(CP)—There was "some movement" far underground in the International Nickel Company's Frood Mine at Copper Cliff, Ont., yesterday but the full mining force was removed well in advance.

The movement which occurred between the 2,000 and 2,600 foot levels, was disclosed today in a statement released at the company's office here by John F. Thompson, executive vice-president.

No Reduction in Tonnage

"This movement effects only a small part of the mine. When the movement comes to rest a thorough examination will be made before the men are sent in again and mining is resumed," the statement said.

"Any reduction in tonnage due to this movement will be made up through other parts of the mine and other operations."

Japanese Paper Talks of Force Over Oil Rights

Newspaper Envisages 'Use of Force to Protect Japanese Oil and Mining Rights' in Soviet Part of Sakhalin

FISHERIES' ISSUE

Report Says Japanese Oil Companies Are Refused Visas to Remove Personnel

Tokyo, June 30—(CP-Havas) — With clashes on the Manchoukuo-Outer Mongolian frontier continuing, Soviet-Japanese tension threatened today in a fresh quarter—Sakhalin, the island north of Japan which the two countries share.

The Nichi Nichi Shimbun said the Japanese government envisaged the use of force to protect Japanese oil and mining rights in North Sakhalin, the Soviet half of the island, and the fisheries in the North Pacific.

"Seeing that use of force is inevitable," the paper said, "the government is studying measures to assure the security of the nation."

It asserted that the Japanese oil companies in North Sakhalin had been refused visas to move their personnel.

Five "Soldiers" Of I. R. A. Given 20 Years Each

London, June 30 (CP)—Five self-styled "soldiers" of the Irish Republican army, on trial in Old Bailey, were found guilty today of conspiring to cause the series of explosions which rocked part of London the night of May 3-4.

Four of the defendants, Patrick Gower, 21, porter; Patrick Joseph McAleer, 27, waiter; Gerald Bradford, 24, waiter; and Timothy Murray, 19, porter, were sentenced to 20 years at hard labor.

The court deferred sentence on the fifth, Ferard Lyons, a 20-year-old waiter, until further charges against him are heard.

Gower and Murray were convicted of engineering explosions in Euston Road and attempting to set off a bomb in Tottenham Court. Bradford and Lyons were found guilty of causing an explosion in High Holborn Road and an attempted explosion in Kingsway, and McAleer was found guilty of possessing explosives.

Police stated that Bradford, whose real name is Kerr, was a bombmaker for the I.R.A. and that his arrest was regarded as an important one.

Several of the men struggled with court attendants when sentence was passed. One prisoner called "Up the Irish Republic;" another said "God Save Ireland;" and a third, "Long Live the Irish Republic."

Principle May Lead To Use by Mouth Of Insulin

Scientists Told of New Principle by Pharmacologists

Palo Alto, Calif., June 30—(AP) —Potential ways of smoothing out the path of treatment for the diabetic and of combatting tricinosis, the pork worm for disease, with a drug were announced today to the American Association for the Advancement of Science.

Three Stanford University Pharmacologists, Dr. John Hanzlik, Dr. W. C. Cutting and Dr. G. B. Robson, reported the formulation of a principle which might lead to the administration of insulin through the mouth instead of by injection in the veins.

They reported experimental success by mixing insulin with quinine to insure its passing through the digestive system to the blood stream without being destroyed en route by gastric juices.

However, they emphasized that quinine was not a desirable carrier agent in all cases because of the potentiallly adverse effects it might have on some persons, such as humming in the ears, loss of appetite or even effects on the heart.

Treatment through the mouth is considered desirable because it would do away with the necessity of repeatedly puncturing the skin with a hypodermic needle to give regular treatments over an extended period.

Spanish Gold Coins, Jewels Worth $9,000 Found in Old Well

Sante Fe, N.M., June 30 (AP)— A disused well in the basement of Candelario's old Indian trading post yielded a bucketful of old Spanish gold coins and jewelry worth at least $9,000.

A young worker, Robert Vigil, found the bucket as he cleaned out the well to make it a tourist attraction. John Candelario, a grandson of the late J. S. Candelario, operates the establishment. The gold apparently was part of the colorful Indian trader's widely known collection of old money and jewelry.

FOREST RANGERS FIGHT BAPTISTE FIRE

Forest rangers of the provincial staff battled a creeping bush fire in the vicinity of Baptiste Lake this week which threatened to spread through the thick underbrush to cottages along the lake shore. They were successful in getting the fire under control before any damage to the buildings was done.

CARS TO BE GIVEN BY LOCAL FAIR BOARD

At a meeting of the Belleville Fair Board last evening it was decided by directors that this year again two new cars would be given the holders of the lucky winning tickets during the annual fair. The same conditions of the draw which prevailed last year will again be in force, it was agreed.

In the report of Secretary R. H. Ketcheson, it was revealed that this year's prize list will be a heavy one, and mailing of the lists has already been started.

This year floors of the manufacturers' and merchants' building will be put in condition, and heavily oiled to protect the exhibits from dust.

The appointment has received the approval of the musical director of the Ontario Department of Education. Over thirty applications had been received by the Board for this position.

FORMER FOREMAN VISITS CITY HALL

Mr. John Henderson, former foreman of city public works, now resident of Stirling, was renewing acquaintances at city hall this morning. "I feel as young as ever," he confided to officials in response to enquiries regarding his health.

FLOOD CONTROL WORK MEETS STALEMATE

Moira River flood control project upon which work was expected to be given, Belleville unemployed this summer has apparently been stalemated by the apparent refusal of the Ontario Government to work in co-operation with the Dominion Government on the matter, it was reported by Mayor Bone this morning.

"The Dominion department seems perfectly willing to work with Belleville on this matter, but it has met the refusal of the Ontario Government to go further with the work. Lately we have been unable to receive any encouragement on this," it was stated.

INCREASED FINES FOR VIOLATIONS OF TRAFFIC LAWS

Magistrate Butler Warns Court Fines Must be Paid on Assessment

NO TIME LIMIT

"This type of motor driving is liable to cause more accidents than any other kind of driving and I am going to increase the fine in this case," stated His Worship Magistrate E. J. Butler K.C., in today's city police court as he assessed a local motorist $5.00 and costs after the accused had been convicted of failing to stop at a designated stop street in this city.

A second motorist rather reluctantly paid $10.00 and costs after being convicted of driving a motor car with defective brakes. "I thought they were good enough," mumbled the accused. Still two others were assessed $5.00 each for speeding on city streets.

His Worship made it clear during the proceedings that he would not extend the payment of fines in the future. "This practice of asking for extended time in which to raise court fines is becoming a nuisance and in the future there will be no time limit given persons convicted in this court", warned Magistrate Butler today.

James McMurter, Belleville, appeared on a charge of obstructing a police officer while in the pursuit of his duty. McMurter is alleged to have interferred with Sergeant Arthur Harman recently while the officer was apprehending a girl, who had escaped from Mercer School of Correction. The accused pleaded not guilty today and Crown Attorney Donnan asked for an enlargement until Tuesday next.

Alan Sprague, local barrister, appeared on behalf of two of the motorists charged while Crown Attorney B. C. Donnan K.C., conducted all prosecutions.

Chief Kidd, court clerk, announced there would be no session of police court on Monday, a civic holiday. Court will be held on Tuesday of next week.

OBITUARY

DAVID E. CLARK

After a lengthy illness David Edward Clark, late residence, Apartment 2, 48½ Bridge Street East, passed away in the Belleville General Hospital early this Friday morning, June 30th.

The late Mr. Clark, who was in his 45th year, was born at Gilmour, Ont., his parents being Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clark. For thirty-two years he made his home in Belleville and was held in high regard by many friends, who will regret to learn of his death. For some time he was a member of the Belleville Fire Department. About twelve years ago he met with an accident while in the discharge of his duties and had been incapacitated physically since that time. He was a veteran of the Great War, having enlisted at Kingston on May 6th, 1918 with the First Depot Battalion. In France he served with the 38th Battalion and was discharged on June 16, 1919. In religion he was a member of the Tabernacle United Church.

Surviving to mourn his loss are his wife, who prior to her marriage was Miss Ella Moore; one daughter, Marion Alberta Clark, and one son, Jack Edward Clark, both at home; his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Clark; one sister, Mrs. Frank Irving, Toronto; three brothers, Mr. George Clark, Toronto; Mr. Oscar Clark, Picton, and Mr. James P. Clark, Belleville.

The funeral announcement is made elsewhere in this paper.

LATE MRS. MARY J. McGURN

The funeral of Mrs. Mary Jane McGurn, widow of James McGurn, took place this Friday morning from her late residence, 275 Charles St. to St. Michael's Church where Requiem Mass was celebrated by the Rev. J. J. Collins, who said also the committal service at the graveside in St. James' Cemetery.

During the offertory Mr. John Fahey sang "Pray For the Dead". The bearers were Messrs. F. J. Knight, Edward Lally, Frank Cushing, Thomas Shannon, R. Hanna and Peter Doyle.

REGINALD MORGAN OF SPRINGBROOK SERIOUSLY HURT

Truck in Which He Was Riding Strikes Steel Girder of Overhead Bridge

PINNED IN WRECK

Truck Caught Fire but Quickly Extinguished by Passing Trucker

Three men travelling in a dump truck narrowly escaped death, when the vehicle they were riding in crashed headon into the steelwork of the North Front Street overhead bridge shortly after midnight last night. The men were rushed to the Belleville General Hospital, where it was learned that Reginald Morgan, Springbrook, a passenger in the vehicle sustained a concussion of brain and was unconscious. Frank Runnalls, Springbrook, and driver of truck, and Vernon Campbell, Toronto, escaped with minor injuries as they were hurled clear of the wreckage at the time of impact.

Runnalls, the driver, stated as he approached the overhead bridge lights of a south bound vehicle coming into Belleville had blinded him. "I turned slightly to the right side of the roadway in order to avoid a collision, when suddenly the truck crashed into the steelwork of the bridge", Runnalls is said to have informed police.

Morgan Pinned

The force of the impact drove the engine backwards into the cab, where the wreckage pinned Morgan inside, while Runnalls and Campbell were hurled clear. The vehicle broke into flames and it was only through the efforts of firemen and police that Morgan was successfully released from the cab. He was unconscious at the time.

Fortunately Jack Hogle, city trucker, was passing at the time and it was with Mr. Hogle's fire extinguisher, carried in the truck, that the fire was extinguished and Morgan released.

The truck was a complete wreck, parts of the engine being strewn about the street and bridge as the result of crashing headon into the inch-thick steelwork of the east side of the bridge. At the scene of the accident, Mrs. Smale, a nurse residing on Grier Street, attended to the injuries of the men until the arrival of Martin's ambulance. Today Dr. G. S. Cronk stated Morgan may have sustained a "hair-line" fracture of the skull, but not of a serious nature. He was still in an unconscious condition today. After receiving medical attention at the hospital, Runnalls and Campbell were released from the hospital early today.

Truck Wrecked

The completely wrecked truck was removed by a tow truck, much of wreckage being viewed by citizens en route to their daily labours this morning. Parts of the engine of the truck were found lying fully 40 feet from the wreckage. The accident was investigated by Constables Arnott and Taylor, who assisted in releasing the unconscious Morgan from the burning truck along with city firemen and Mr. Hogle.

Police Blotter

Circus day in Belleville did not pass without incident, insofar as police activities are concerned. Several minor motor accidents resulted in property damage, but fortunately no serious injury resulted in any case.

Kenneth Reid, R.R. No. 4, Belleville, complained to police last night that his motor car had been struck and two fenders damaged. Investigations revealed a motor car occupied by three members of the R.C.A.F. was allegedly responsible and the matter is being more thoroughly probed, as the vehicle said to have struck Mr. Reid's car, failed to stop at the scene and the driver give his name.

Burton Perry, R.R. No. 6, Belleville, damaged some city property, when he swerved his automobile to avoid collision with another car on Front Street late last night. Mr. Perry reported the incident to the police, stating his car had knocked over two city barricades and broken the globes of two lanterns placed on the barricades. The driver agreed to replace the globes.

William Claus, Bloomfield, reported the theft of his bicycle stolen from Coleman Street where he had left it parked.

Mrs. N. Taylor, 22 1-2 Water street reported her purse stolen yesterday. The purse was taken from a baby carriage left momentarily near Victoria Park. There was a sum of money in the purse at the time, Mrs. Taylor told the authorities.

Several citizens have complained to police officials, that barking dogs are interrupting their slumbers nightly. The complained were received from various sections of the city.

$5,000 FIRE LOSS AT CHERRY VALLEY

House, General Store and Garage Owned by George Francis Destroyed

Picton, Ont., June 30 (Special)—Fire struck savagely at the village of Cherry Valley shortly after five o'clock this morning, destroying the house, large general store and garage of George Francis, and temporarily threatened the entire community. Damage was estimated at $5,000, part of which was covered by insurance. The buildings were owned by Mrs. William Bushell, Cherry Valley.

A deluging rain that fell during the blaze is said to have been one of the main factors in the prevention of the spread of the flames to the main part of the village.

A small quantity of groceries was saved from the store, while a piano was the only article retrieved from the house. The Francis car was saved from the burning garage by neighbors.

Gas Pump Catches Fire

A gasoline pump on the property caught fire but heroic efforts on the part of firefighters extinguished the blaze before an explosion occurred. Two "live" wires that burned through near the home constituted a dangerous hazard, but no one was injured.

A large quantity of feed and oil was destroyed, while a large refrigerator was also lost.

First intimation that fire was blazing was given Francis who was awakened by dense clouds of smoke, that later were traced to the storeroom located above the store. Neighbors rallied to the scene of the blaze but in spite of strenuous efforts the buildings were razed.

Heavy rains hampered their efforts but were instrumental in preventing the spread of flames.

HONOR TEACHER

The pupils of Gordon's School, S.S. No. 12, Madoc, pleasantly surprised their teacher Miss Margaret Craig, on Monday afternoon June 26th. After dismissal at four o'clock, when the teacher and pupils had taken their places, Phillip Ash read the following address:

Dear Miss Craig:—

We, the pupils of Gordon's School, having heard of your departure from our midst, felt that we could not let you go without spending a social hour with you.

We have always found you willing to go to any length to help us in any of our work which we did not understand. You were always sympathetic and understanding and willing to lend a helping hand with any community undertaking.

We ask you to accept this purse of money in remembrance of S. S. No. 12.

Signed on behalf of the pupils of the Gordon's School

Phillip Ash
James Craigmyle
Ross Pigden
Arnold Empey

After the address had been read Eleanor Robinson made the presentation of the purse.

Miss Craig, although completely taken by surprise, thanked her pupils for their generosity and thoughtfulness. She expressed the enjoyment she had experienced from her four year term in their school and her life in the community. She wished them much success and happiness in their future endeavours.

No Need of a Horn On This Saddle

"There are still a few 'tenderfeet' left in the effete east," Art Mix, cowboy motion picture star with Cole Bros. Circus, smiled last night.

"This morning," he said, "after I had finished autographing papers for a large crowd of Belleville children, two young ladies approached me near the Queen's Hotel. They talked with me for a while, then one of them asked me if she could ride 'Pal', my horse, if she came to the lot in the afternoon.

"Sure, lady," I said, "have you ever ridden a hawse before?"

"No, I haven't," she replied.

"Well, what kind of a saddle do you think you would like best, a flat English one, or one with a horn."

"Oh," she replied, "there won't be any traffic on the lot, will there? We won't need the one with the horn."

Sidney Crossing

Sidney Crossing—The home of Mrs. Perry Hamilton was the scene of a delightful afternoon tea, on Tuesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Helen Card, bride-to-be. A number of young ladies gathered, after which Miss Card entered the parlour to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" played by Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton. After a short time Mrs. Lee Grills and Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton favored with a piano duet which was much appreciated. The guests were then called to the dining room and Miss Card was seated near the table, which was decorated with pink and white streamers and a miniature bride which had been placed in the centre of the table. The gifts were on the table and were each tied with pink or white ribbon. The rooms were also prettily decorated with flowers. Miss Ruth Spafford read the following address:

June 27, 1939

Dear Miss Card:

Having learned with a great deal of interest that you are about to embark on the matrimonial sea, we feel it an opportune time to extend our very best wishes.

You Helen, have spent only 3 years among us, but in that time we have learned we could always count on you for help.

Looking over the past we recall many happy times together, and your cheerful presence and willing help has endeared you to us all. As a member of the choir, president of our Y.P.U., and especially will we mention the time you have spent on the Mission Band, for your willing service we say thank you.

We therefore ask you to accept these cups and saucers as a token of our high regards and with them go our best wishes, for a long and happy life together.

As time passes on, may they serve to keep green the friendship of the past.

May God's richest blessing rest upon you.

Signed—Jean Hamilton, Edith Hogle, Bernice Grills, Ruth Spafford.

Miss Card then opened the gifts, each one consisting of a cup and saucer and a recipe. She graciously replied, thanking her many friends for the gifts, and stated that she hoped to be able to entertain them in her new home in Toronto, in the near future.

Mrs. Percy Spafford, assisted by Miss Ruth Spafford and Miss Edith Hogle served a sumptuous lunch. A social half hour was spent and all left for their homes, declaring Mrs. Hamilton an ideal hostess.

Sidney Crossing

Sidney Crossing—The home of Mrs. Perry Hamilton was the scene of a delightful afternoon tea, on Tuesday afternoon, in honor of Miss Helen Card, bride-to-be. A number of young ladies gathered, after which Miss Card entered the parlour to the strains of the "Bridal Chorus" played by Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton. After a short time Mrs. Lee Grills and Mrs. Harleigh Hamilton favored with a piano duet which was much appreciated. The guests were then called to the dining room and Miss Card was seated near the table, which was decorated with pink and white streamers and a miniature bride which had been placed in the centre of the table. The gifts were on the table and were each tied with pink or white ribbon. The rooms were also prettily decorated with flowers. Miss Ruth Spafford read the following address:

June 27, 1939

Dear Miss Card:

Having learned with a great deal of interest that you are about to embark on the matrimonial sea, we feel it an opportune time to extend our very best wishes.

You Helen, have spent only 3 years among us, but in that time we have learned we could always count on you for help.

Looking over the past we recall many happy times together, and your cheerful presence and willing help has endeared you to us all. As a member of the choir, president of our Y.P.U., and especially will we mention the time you have spent on the Mission Band, for your willing service we say thank you.

We therefore ask you to accept these cups and saucers as a token of our high regards and with them go our best wishes, for a long and happy life together.

As time passes on, may they serve to keep green the friendship of the past.

May God's richest blessing rest upon you.

Signed—Jean Hamilton, Edith Hogle, Bernice Grills, Ruth Spafford.

Miss Card then opened the gifts, each one consisting of a cup and saucer and a recipe. She graciously replied, thanking her many friends for the gifts, and stated that she hoped to be able to entertain them in her new home in Toronto, in the near future.

Mrs. Percy Spafford, assisted by Miss Ruth Spafford and Miss Edith Hogle served a sumptuous lunch. A social half hour was spent and all left for their homes, declaring Mrs. Hamilton an ideal hostess.

72 YEARS OF CONFEDERATION

Dominion Day of this year will have special significance to Canada because this land was so lately visited by King George Sixth and Queen Elizabeth.

Deeper pride in their land, a greater sense of co-operation and unity, will surely be felt on this anniversary of Confederation. The uniting of the provinces of Canada has been one of the romances of history, one of those bright romances, without a blot or stain, and yet a fact beside which the development of other states seems so different. Canada, with its provinces united from Atlantic to Pacific and its northern shores washed by a third ocean, the Arctic, and with its southern border a frontier of fellowmen, friendly because largely of the same racial origin, is the basis of a great empire.

Their Majesties have seen the greatness of Canada and its potentialities .Their visit brought such facts to Canadians' attention and it is hoped intensified the spirit of the Canadian people to do much for one of the greatest countries potentially.

It is seventy-two years ago since the Fathers of Confederation laid the framework of this Dominion. They had come out of tribulation and differences and took the step for a united nation. Today we realize that they builded better than they knew and gave this Canada such a start forward that its greatness has been phenomenal.

But still it is natural that all Canadians do not see the full import of the lands we occupy, which may be made an empire which will stand comparison with any of the empires of history. Canada is a young nation, she has the freedom of youth and possesses an idealism which should go a long way towards making her supremely important to the world.

NOT A DREAM BUT A FACT

The long-looked for event has taken place, commercial passenger airplane service across the Atlantic is opened. This service now makes the link which makes it possible for man to fly around the world on scheduled airplanes.

The Atlantic is the most important of the oceans commercially. It is the ocean which for ages separated America until the memorable year 1492 when Christopher Columbus discovered the new world.

Twenty-two paid passengers have made the flight from Port Washington, L.I., to Horta in the Azores, and thence to Lisbon, Portugal, where they landed on the continent of Europe. Lisbon is but twenty-two hours' flying time from New York City.

So aviation history has advanced a great step in the past few years.

25 YEARS AGO AND LATER

Twenty-five years have passed since a Serbian fired the shots "heard 'round the world." Austria made very heavy demands on Serbia and then declared war. Nobody looked at first on the Sarajevo shooting of the Austrian Archduke and Archduchess as a world event. But it was taken advantage of by Austria and her ally, Germany. Four long years of carnage came, and then the end with the collapse of Austria and Germany while Austria paid a price in dismemberment. Germany too was made to pay a price for her savagery in making war and in endangering the world. Twenty years ago Versailles Treaty was signed. Today it is all but wiped out.

The Austrian Archduke was only the nephew of the Emperor Franz Josef, but he had become imperial heir-presumptive through the death of the Emperor's only son. The Austrian court was marked by rigidity and precedent, yet Ferdinand married below imperial rank and was very unpopular. In his visit to Bosnia, which was hostile, it is said there was not a sufficiently large Austrian guard. Even the funeral services at Vienna were totally lacking in the usual ceremony.

Yet the great war followed. Austria's demands provoked it, and historians will say that Austria and Germany were to [illegible] for launching on the step toward world conquest which has been the greatest blight on modern history.

Today the world is in a state of anxiety. Events have happened which might have provoked a dozen wars in other days but still the most highly armed nations hold back. It is realized by most nations what another war would mean to victor and vanquished alike. No nation would seem to like even the conqueror's burden in another conflict. It is the hope of mankind that men are so fearful of war.

There is but one temple in the world and that is the body of man.—Nothing is holier than this high human form.—We touch heaven when we lay our hand on a

FULL MOON OF SPRING

Even you, who share the apparent immortality of watchers in heaven,
Will some day perish, and your luminous mountains
Will be no more. But it will matter little
In the great chemistry of doom. The eyes that made you
A goddess once will be exempt from wonder, and the mouth
That framed your praise be lost beyond all speech,
The earth that bore you be another thing,
Beyond the limit of all reckoning.

"ILL LUCK DOGS THE STEPS OF PASTOR WHO PERFORMED WINDSOR BRIDAL," reads newspaper headline referring to the clergyman who performed the ceremony uniting the former King Edward and his twice-divorced wife, two years ago this month, Rev. Robert Anderson Jardine, former Vicar of St. Paul's, Darlington, England. Following the ceremony Rev. Jardine found that his popularity in England was nil, although his notoriety was great. He arranged for a lecture of the United States, crossed over, and after two lectures found that the public was not interested. The lecture tour was a "flop". Recently he has been living in Hollywood and still without a church or job he substitutes occasionally for other clergymen. In a recent press interview he said that the churches of America are boycotting him for the "part he played in making history". "Bigotry and persecution have followed us across the sea," said Mr. Jardine, "'My wife and I hardly know where to turn, but we're fighting on. Even though little Christianity is shown me, I shall continue my life's work. I have found that America, thus far is a land of promises, not promise."

WORKING FOR A LIVING

A professor at Columbia University has it all figured out what beginners in the business of earning a living may be glad to know what their money-making prospects are in terms of hypothecating their careers at the bank. If they can. Here's how it works out, according to the Oshawa Times:

After eight years of survey, it has been discovered that the average doctor works 42 years and earns $108,000, while the lawyer in 43 years obtains $105,000. In 45 years the dentist earns $95,400, while the engineer, who burns out two years earlier, getes $95,300. The college teacher, who averages 44 years, receives $69,300. The public school teacher, who labors for 45 years gets $29,700, while the clergyman in 41 years gets $41,000. At the end of 44 years in the skilled trades, $28,600 has been earned, and unskilled labor gets but $15,200. The farmer struggles along for 51 years and amasses $12500 while the farm laborer in the same period has received $10,400. The only one not mentioned in the case was the newsppaer editor. Perhaps because he gets so little.

Wouldn't it be interesting for the doctor to go to the bank and try to borrow $108,000 at the, beginning of his career. But when the banker asks for security and interest . . .? The chances would be better for the farmer, because he owns property. But then, why should the farmer bother owning land which nets him $250 a yeaer when he can be a hired man at little less? And why should a college professor be figuring this all out? And why should a newspaper editor be printing it?

IN A HEIDELBERG BEER HALL lighthearted William Bardwell Curts, 20-year-old American student, indulged his alcoholic fancy by scrawling a humorous verse on the guest book:

The Fuhrer has no wife,
The carpenter has no lumber,
The butcher has no meat—
That's the Third Reich.

Near-by Nazis peeked, failed to see the joke, began to slug, and Humorist Curts landed in the Heidelberg cooler. Shrewdly he wrote to his guardian in California: "The beating I received did me a lot of good . . . Only through this beating did I really get an opportunity to know the German people . . . How beautiful, how industrious, how serene it is here in Germany.." Again the Nazis peeked and, touched by such sincere repentance plus representations from the U. S. State Department, the Ministry of Justice last week decided to release young Curts after

In a collision between two buggies on Front Street this morning the shafts of one buggy were broken. More care should be exercised when driving on Front Street.

WILL HITLER HEED

"I can say at once that Great Britain is not prepared to yield either to calumnies or force....

"The last thing we desire to see is the individual German—man or woman or child—suffering privations; but if they do so the fault does not lie with us, and it depends on Germany, and Germany alone, whether this process of isolation continues or not, for any day it can be ended by a policy of cooperation."

The Foreign Secretary did not specifically mention the Free City of Danzig—German before the Great War and now affiliated with the Polish customs administration—but newspapers emphasized that persistent reports of an impending crisis over Danzig this weekend prompted Lord Halifax' warning.

Country Will Fight

The Times of London (Independent) commented: "If the Reich of affairs (in Danzig) by force and if Poland's independence is thereby threatened, then this country will fight...."

Welcoming the address as "unshakeably firm and irrefutably just," the Manchester Guardian (Liberal) added: "Germany must be left in no doubt that we are ready and determined to fulfill our obligations to Poland."

Said the Daily Mirror (Independent) "no more words....we are convinced it is useless to go on chatting with Nazi gangsters."

Early Settlement

Some observers saw an indication of an early completion of Anglo-Franco-Soviet negotiations for a mutual assistance pact in the Foreign Secretary's remark that he hoped "there may very shortly be a successful issue" to the talks with Moscow.

Informed circles said new British proposals in the protracted negotiations — understood to provide guarantees to the Baltic States, Belgium, The Netherlands and Switzerland—would eventuate in an Ordinary Symptoms of Indigestion May Really be Due to Cancer of Stomach

With cancer of the lip, mouth, breast, and uterus—all parts that can be reached readily by operation or radium—there is always an excellent chance of recovery. But, "it is a melancholy fact that over one-half of all cases of cancer of the stomach are past any hope of treatment by the time the condition is known to be cancer. Another twenty-five per cent will be on the borderline; that is although the growth in the stomach itself can be removed secondary growths (which started with the stomach growth and have been carried to other parts) are probably already present in glands and other organs. This means that in less than twenty-five per cent of all cases is the diagnosis (definite knowledge that cancer is present) made early enough to allow any chance for cure."

When we learn, then, from the above statements from Handbook on Cancer, published by the Canadian Medical Association, that but one of every four cases of stomach cancer is curable when discovered we can realize why this and other organizations are making such tremendous efforts to teach us all that "early discovery of stomach cancer means a cure and late discovery means no possible cure."

Dr. Sarah M. Jordan, Boston, in the Journal of the American Medical Association, discusses results in her study of 251 cases of stomach cancer.

"Cancer of the stomach is found twice as frequently in men as in women, but all persons more than 30 years of age should be suspected of it when certain symptoms are found."

The symptoms are pain or distress, loss of appetite, loss of weight loss of strength, vomiting, belching and hiccups, difficulty in swallowing, pallor, nausea without vomiting diarrhoea and constipation."

There are some cases, of course, 10 per cent, or less, where there are apparently no symptoms present until it is too late to operate, but close investigation would likely reveal "slight" indigestion, "slight" loss of appetite, and, perhaps, "slight" loss of weight, any or all of which might go unnoticed by the patient.

If, then, as pointed out by Dr. Jordan, all persons past 30 years of age should be suspected of having cancer of the stomach when above symptoms are present, the patient must be educated to the idea of early and repeated examinations—stomach, contents, Xray of stomach, blood in stool—if unexplained symptoms persist.

AMBULANCE IN CRASH WITH FIVE CARS

Hamilton, Ont., June 29 (CP)—Hurrying to the General Hospital with the injured Fred W. Templin, 57, Burlington school trustee and dry goods merchant, an ambulance was damaged extensively when involved in a crash with five other autos and a truck. The ambulance operators, assured the patient had not suffered further harm, released their vehicle from the tangle and resumed their trip.

At the General Hospital, it was reported later that Mr. Templin had severe injuries of the lower left chest and back and facial abrasions.

Isolated Trees, Open High Ground, Danger Spots in Lightning Storms

Death by lightning, occurring with increasing frequency with the coming of the thunderstorm season, has given again grim warning that all unnecessary risks should be avoided, according to James McPherson, meteorologist of the Dominion Meteorological Bureau.

The death, Wednesday, of a farmer near London, struck while riding on a load of hay, and reports of cattle being killed and barns fired, Mr. McPherson said, has tonight only emphasized that in the open and particularly on high ground lay the greatest danger.

Skyscrapers Safe

Office workers, surrounded by skyscrapers, whose steel frames formed the perfect conductor for carrying off the high voltage discharges without fuss and flurry, were the safest positions during an electrical storm. Nor was there any record, he said, of a person being injured while riding either in train or automobile.

But in contrast, he said, were filed innumerable cases of farmers and golfers, and others in the open, or worse still, sheltered beneath a lonely tree, who have been struck and killed. Each year, he stated, considerable live stock has been killed beneath trees or near fences, where they have crowded for shelter.

"Any relatively high ground, particularly if there are trees or any other high objects nearby, is dangerous," he said. "Lightning naturally takes the shortest path, and as the cloud level remains comparatively constant, it is the ground object which becomes the deciding factor."

Farmers who have their buildings equipped with lightning rods are warned at the same time to see that the conductor lines are well grounded.

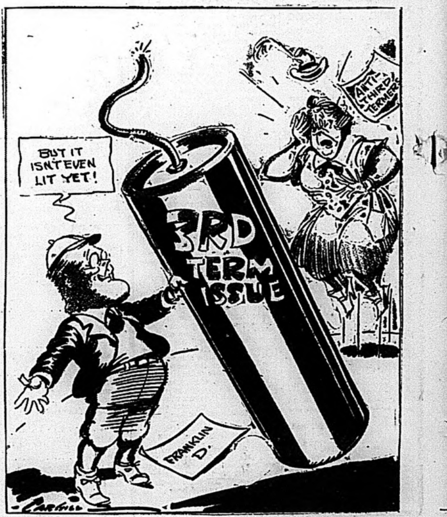
List of "Don'ts"

According to Mr. McPherson and advice compiled by the Physics Department, University of Toronto, a list of don'ts includes the following:

Do not go out of doors or remain out during thunderstorms. Stay inside of a building where it is dry, and preferably away from fireplaces, stoves, radiators and other equipment which would serve as a conductor.

If there is any choice of shelter, choose in the following order: Large metal or metal frame buildings (but do not keep in contact with the metal); buildings which are protected against lightning; large unprotected buildings, and finally, small, unprotected buildings.

Keep away from small sheds and shelters if they are in an exposed position, isolated trees, wires fences and hill tops.



BUT IT ISN'T EVEN LIT YET!

Splendid Clean Program Features Cole Bros. Circus

All Acts Outstanding in Their Class, Especially the High-Wire and Trapeze Performances

FINE HORSE ACTS

The circus has come and gone. The glamor and color of the "big top" has passed on for another year, leaving behind it a wake of happiness that only the circus can bring. Hundreds of people today old and young, are reviewing with that feeling of satisfaction, the thrills and glorious entertainment that none but the big tented shows can give.

And the Cole Brothers Circus, famous for its clean wholesome entertainment lived up to its reputation. It brought with it not only that "circusy" atmosphere with its pink lemonade, elephants, a colorful parade with all the animals, its steam calliope, and its grotesquely painted clowns, but a show that for sheer entertainment stood out as being one of the best of its kind to perform here.

Not only were there thrills, spills and chills that are part and parcel of the circus, but to the credit of the management it must be said that their offering here was clean and wholesome showmanship. There was not a hint of suggestiveness, nor was there anything in any of the brilliant acts that thrilled thousands yesterday that possessed anything of a detrimental nature.

Not a Dull Moment.

It was a thrill-packed show that lackd nothing in the way of entertainment. From the time Otto Griebling, famous international clown, "welcomed" the patrons in his own inimitable manner until the time Vic Robbins' equally famous band played the National Anthem there was not a dull moment.

There was everything that the young and old could possibly wish for. From a diminutive clown scarce three feet high who was outstanding in a galaxy of grotesquely painted fun-makers to the Great Gretona Troupe whose high-wire act rates them as one of the most outstanding acts of their kind to play this city, there paraded a line of stars whose artistry in their own particular endeavors marks them as "tops" in the profession.

Horse-lovers had their thrills. There were trained ponies and 'three rings' of equines whose actions were almost human.

"Smokey", a musical seal brought down the house with his antics with a large ball, while his efforts on the bells were musical and amusing.

Trained elephants, huge cumbersome beasts that displayed an uncanny ability under the tutelage of Miss Marion Knowlton featured the latter part of the program while Mademoiselle O'Dell, a daring aerial gymnast electrified her audience with an amazing feat of throwing her body over her own shoulders in a continuous performance that bespoke clever artistry.

The Loyal Repensys, champion riders of Europe, consisting of six pretty equestriennes and two men gave a sterling acrobatic display on the backs of four horses.

Great Gretonas.

The Great Gretonas as has been said before caught the popular fancy with a brilliant display of high-wire acrobatics. The audience gasped as the talented artists gave a dancing and acrobatic performance high on the wires that bespoke uncanny ability and utter fearlessness. A daring jump through a large paper hoop climaxed the act.

There were oriental gymnasts and jugglers. The Imperial Bebees, fearless high trapeze performers, stood out with an exceptionally fine performance. Swinging dizzily through the air high above the crowd, these three artists thrilled their audience with their daring and sill. A triple somersault performed with the artists blindfolded climaxed an act that lacked nothing for thrills.

Colorful spectacles in parade opened and closed the show while the thrilling climax of the high-class performance was seen in the congress of cowboys, cowgirls and Indians headed by the famous western motion-picture star, Art Mix. This clever group stood out with a sterling performance of roping, riding and horsemanship.

It was a grand show, and one that will live long in the memories of the old and young of this district. Above all and apart from the sheer ability and artistry of its performers, it must be said that the entire performance, the exhibits of wild animals in the menagerie and everything connected with the show was of a faultless nature. It was clean, good and entertaining.

A HECTIC CHASE

City and Provincial Police Capture Pair at Chatterton and Stirling

A wild and hectic motor chase over the country roads north of Belleville last evening resulted in police authorities apprehending two fleeing men, who were being sought after allegedly stealing an automobile from the Robson Motor Sales in Belleville. Two hours of exciting searching and the racing of speeded motors finally resulted in two Toronto men captured, one at Chatterton and the other at Stirling The car was recovered abandoned at Chattirton. The two men's names were given as Roy Clarke and Herbert White, both of Toronto. They were remanded in custody on charges of theft today.

Shortly after 6 p.m. last evening the Robson Motor Sales of this city reported the theft of an automobile which had been parked on West Moira Street. The vehicle was seen headed north on Highway No. 7, Provincial and City police being summoned to take up the chase, directed personally by Chief Kidd. Sensing they were being followed the alleged car thieves turned to county sideroads in an effort to shake off their pursuers. North of Chatterton, however, the stolen vehicle was found abandoned by Plainclothes Constable Fred Isard. Posses were immediately formed and the district combed with the result that White was found hiding nearby in a farmer's shed. The chase for the second fugitive led through a nearby swamp, where the auto thief disappeared. Later, however, a strange man was seen loitering around the C.N.R. station at Stirling by a teen-year-old lad, who immediately sounded the alarm and Clarke was subsequently taken into custody. Clarke had tried to board a speeding freight train passing through Stirling but the train was proceeding too fast to board.

Accompanied By Owner

Mr. Robson, who accompanied Constable Isard in pursuit of the car thieves told police—"a man came into our garage and looked around and later we found a 1931 Chevrolet coach missing. I immediately gave alarm." Last evening's heavy downpour of rain materially assisted the police in their search as it drove the pair to cover after they had abandoned the vehicle.

Today in city police court White and Clarke were charged with the theft of the motor car and remanded in custody by Magistrate E. J. Butler, K.C. Provincial Constable Wm. McBrien also presented a charge which was not read. The second charge is of the theft of gasoline.

Provincial Police allege that after the stolen vehicle had stalled the two men broke open a gasoline pump at Chatterton, the property of Percy Meale and took a quantity of gasoline. Before they could get the stolen gasoline from a container into the gas tank of the car Constable Isard and Mr. Robson arrived on the scene, police allege.

SAYS CREDIT DUE TO CITY COUNCIL

Heavy Building Program Reported in Many Parts of City

Credit for the unusually heavy building of new homes now being carried on in the city can be given to the present city council whose special Property Committee this year has endeavored with considerable success to dispose of unused lots to residents of Belleville at prices which have cleared all taxes, and resulted in a small amount of profit to the city, it was pointed out by Alderman Dr. Jack Marshall this morning.

"Since we have taken office we have been able to sell approximately $2,000 worth of lots at prices which have ranged from $15 to $25 and $50 to owners wishing to build new homes. This is a lot of property taken off the city's hands, and considerable improvement will be made in Belleville as the result," stated Alderman Marshall.

"We have tried to sell the lots with the idea of clearing only the expenses incurred by the city in taxes and upkeep, and we have been singularly successful. This has resulted in a building boom this year which has been an extraordinarily heavy one."

Ten houses owned by the city which have been vacated are now being given a cellar-to-attic overhaul and renovation will be fixed in modern shape, and will then be available for purchase by any resident who wishes to own a good home, it was explained by Alderman Marshall. Seven other houses will be torn down, and this property will also be available for purchasers.

"No distress has followed this action of council, and all families which have been forced to vacate have been found other homes. No hardship has been entailed in spite of the dire forebodings earlier."

CROPS BENEFIT BY HEAVY RAIN

Late Pea Crops and Grains Will be Helped in This District

Old Jupiter Pluvius opened the floodgates of his generosity last night and sent down a deluging rain that brought heartfelt thanks from the rural communities of the district.

Shortly after nine o'clock the rain-drenched clouds that had hovered over the city practically all day sent down the moisture that brought a new lease of life to the later crops of the district.

It ceased as suddenly as it started, but shortly after midnight another downpour fell, drenching city and countryside in moisture that as one farmer puts it "was worth a dollar a drop."

That the countryside will reap an inestimable benefit there is no doubt. Late pea crops bursting into blossom and early pod fully a week before they should, will receive the greatest benefit, canning factory men said today. The crop, said to be only fifty per cent normal, prior to last night's rain, should develop at least another twenty-five percent of maturity.

Late grains will also receive some much-needed assistance. Root crops already show a new greenness. Tomato plants today held wilting heads high and the whole countryside apparently has revived.

Pastures that were rapidly drying up beneath the heat of a June sun will benefit greatly, while second crops of alfalfa will get a fine start, it is reported.

MOUNTAIN VIEW YOUTH IS HURT

Arthur Post, a Mountain View youth, sustained deep lacerations of the head and severe body abrasions as he crashed into the side of an automobile while cycling on Highway No. 14 near Massassaga marsh shortly after noon today. Young Post was riding his bicycle followed by his brother, when he apparently lost his balance and collided with the front fender of a south bound automobile driven by Aben Fox, Picton.

The injured youth was rushed to the Belleville General Hospital by Mr. Fox. Suffering from extensive loss of blood the lad was taken to the operating room where Dr. G. H. Stobie was in attendance and medical attention halted the steady flow of blood from the deep head and facial lacerations.

The accident was reported to Provincial Constable Wm. McBrien, who learned, that both handles of the doors on the lefthand side of Mr. Fox's car had been broken off, so hard did young Post strike the motor car, when he lost his balance and crashed into the side of the moving vehicle. Young Post is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Allan Post of Mountain View.

BOILED KETTLE WITH OLD CRUTCHES

Once Used Them Because of Rheumatism

He was not wrong, either—this man who concluded that he would not need his crutches again. Writing of his experiences, he says:—

"For five years I suffered terribly from rheumatic pains, and I began to think my case hopeless. I also had a bad stomach, and I rarely had a meal without my food repeating on me. One day an old friend told me to try Kruschen Salts. So I bought a bottle and gave it a trial.

"After some time I was able to enjoy a good meal and to walk more freely. One morning I got up and lit the fire, and my mother thought I was crazy, because I sawed my old crutches up and boiled the kettle for coffee with them. That was six years ago, and I am now back at my old job as a chef."—H.A.B.

Do you realise what causes a good deal of rheumatism? Nothing but sharp-edged uric acid crystals which form as the result of sluggish eliminating organs. Kruschen Salts can always be counted upon to clear those painful crystals from the system.

BOYCOTT LITERATURE CONSIDERED UNFIT FOR YOUNG PEOPLE

Winnipeg, June 29 (CP)—Presentation of reports on the various activities of the organization occupied this morning's business session of the Catholic Women's League of Canada convention.

Delegates pledged themselves to boycott literature they consider unfit for young people.

"We as mothers are guilty of allowing such literature to find its way into our homes," Mrs. F. J. Conroy of Edmonton said.

The facts of life should be learned through the proper auspices and not from "filthy magazines containing equally filthy pictures," she added.

The Stars Say—

For Saturday, July 1

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

A RATHER indifferent day, with little active interest in business matters, is to be expected under the prevailing astral influences. The trend is definitely toward the pursuit of pleasure, with indulgence and extravagance in social, domestic or romantic functions. This festivity, if sought with reckless, impulsive and excessive zeal, may create unjustifiable demands on the budget. Also, there may be a calling to account with elders, superiors or employers.

Those whose birthday it is may have a fair opportunity for successful achievements and expanded fortunes during the year, although there will be a decided trend toward lavish expenditure, an unwarranted use of funds. This may call down the wrath of employers or superiors. A similar indulgent, luxurious and festive proclivity may disrupt personal harmony with friends and intimates.

A child born on this day may have variable and conflicting traits of character. While being genial, sociable and extravagant in its friendships and pleasures, it also may be changeable, uncertain and unreliable at times. Moments of "closeness" offset its usual luxurious impulses.

By GENEVIEVE KEMBLE

For Sunday, July 2

SUNDAY'S horoscope holds testimonies of the strange, unique, unusual and mysterious. It may be in the realm of the romantic, novel, adventurous or metaphysical, or it may be singular experiences of a mystical or spiritual nature. A cast of the subtle, extraordinary and intriguing highlights all the affairs of the day, and while these may be thrilling, there is need for circumspect behavior. The mind has a curious slant.

Those whose birthday it is may "expect the unexpected" this year, as planets of the weird, unusual, unique and strange hold sway in all manner of activities. Romance, adventure, novelty and the unpredictable reign, with benefits coming from strange sources. But exercise due discretion in peculiar circumstances. Be careful with writings.

A child born on this day may have unusual talents and character traits. It may have outstanding success in novel, unique, strange and romantic adventures, or in a modernistic or advanced expression of creative art or science.

For Monday, July 3

MONDAY'S astrological forecast is for a troublesome and difficult state of affairs because of a chain of adverse configurations. Under these it may be impossible to make much headway and to sidestep pitfalls and sinister attacks. Rash and impetuous or violent conduct would only aggravate a trying situation. Be cautious with speech and writings.

Those whose birthday it is may find themselves enmeshed in a year of difficult and disappointing circumstances, with snares and trickery menacing. Unusual care, watchfulness and temperate behavior may help over trying conditions. Be moderate in speech and cautious with writings. Travel with care.

A child born on this day may be variable, erratic and impulsive, although it may be sympathetic, kindly and well-meaning. It may have talent for some unusual calling.

"If I Were President"

(By HELEN FOLLETT)

IF THIS preacher of pulchritude could enact the beauty laws of the land, she would extend the privileges of the powder pad, rouge compact and lipstick only to those girls who keep themselves scrupulously clean. The first rule of good looks is cleanliness. Teeth should be polished, tresses shampooed once a fortnight, the body surface scrubbed daily, finger-nails kept immaculate. After these matters are attended to the pretty one is entitled to play with the make-up kit, and not before.

"A characteristic of the modern age," writes Thurman B. Rice in A Textbook of Bacteriology, "is that it uses soap and water far more freely than in any previous age. A certain amount of soilage is inevitable as one goes about his work or pleasure. Such soilage is very likely to convey infectious material to the skin and hands. Little harm need come of it, however, if the hands and skin are washed as often as may be needed to send the germs into the drain before they have been able to make their attack.

"In our opinion, the biggest accomplishment of modern times is to be seen in the fact that a civilized community takes means to make itself and its individual members clean."

Be a bathing beauty. Walk hand in hand with the Goddess Hygeia. Good looks will be yours.

SONJA HENIE

Cleanliness, she knows, is the first rule of beauty

A woman is never happier than when she makes herself look terrible in her efforts to look pretty. Complexion masks, for instance, are her special yen. She scares the children and looks like something that has been a long time buried, but what does that matter?

One of the most effective treatments or clearing the pores of atmospheric dust, for giving the face a grand old house cleaning, is made by mixing kaolin, which is refined Fuller's earth, with witch hazel. Combine the two until you have a mass the consistency of whipped cream, spread over the skin with flattened fingers. Don't forget to include the eyelids. The hair should be held back with a band or a shower cap.

Go about your household affairs, but don't answer the doorbell; the one who rings it may die of fright. In half an hour the pack will start to flake and that's when it should be removed. Lave it away with tepid water, dry the face with quick, upward pats, have a five-minute massage with a heavy cream.

A grand pick-up treatment, this, after a hard day and before the evening festivities start. The complexion looks fresh and invigorated, carries a healthy coloring.

Shannonville

Shannonville—The death occurred on Sunday of a highly respected citizen of this district in the personage of Mr. Vivian Bradshaw, aged 58, who passed away following an illness of short duration. Mr. Bradshaw passed away at the Belleville General Hospital where he had been taken following a stroke. The deceased was exceptionally well-known in the community and was highly respected by all with whom he came in contact. He leaves to mourn his wife who before her marriage was Miss Clara Fox, two sons, Stanley and Charles, four daughters, Mrs. Lorne McKenzie, Norma, Berneice and Olive.

Catches Large Fish

Mr. Charles Robertson of St. Catharines who is vacationing in the village the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Harold Burtt and who is a rabid fishing enthusiast caught one of the largest fish in the Salmon River that has been recorded thus far. The fish according to Mr. Robertson weighed 14 lbs and was three feet nine inches in length. It was a channel cat and gave Mr. Robertson a strong battle before he could land it in the boat. He was using an ordinary hook and line used for catching small fish and it is rather fortunate that Mr. Robertson was able to land such a heavy fish, in the opinion of veteran fishermen of the district.

Touring Canada

A group of 29 boy scouts headed by their Scout Master J. W. Holl stopped in the village briefly on Sunday while their truck in which they were travelling was inspected by local garage mechanics. The members of the entourage were very jovial and all seemed to be having a grand time. According to one of the Scouts they plan to tour throughout Canada and then journey to the New York World's Fair and thence to the state of Pennsylvania. The Scouts had noticed two particular things in their journey throughout Canada. One was the coolness of the water which spoiled their swimming enjoyment and the other was the peculiar manner in which the Canadian people talked. "Why they talk so fast, that we can barely understand what they are talking 'about'" remarked one Scout. The Scouts possessed a peculiar drawl in their speech and the bystanders had an extremely difficult time understanding them. However the boys are apparently having an enjoyable trip as they all replied in the affirmative when questioned.

Mr. and Mrs. Fred Kent of Stirling were Sunday evening guests of Mr. Edward Kent and family.

Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett of Point Anne were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Bennett.

Mr. and Mrs. Ross Lewis of Belleville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Charlie Howard of Milltown.

Mr. and Mrs. Percy Moore spent Sunday in Oshawa where they visited with relatives and friends.

Mr. and Mrs. Ted Breadman were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Merton Harper of Cobourg.

Mr. and Mrs. Frank Hinchey of Belleville were Sunday evening guests of Mr. Hugh Hinchey and mother.

Miss Josie Fitzgerald was a weekend guest of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Vesterfelt.

The Quarterly Communion service was conducted in the United Church on Sunday morning by the Rev. W. D. Craig at which a very large congregation was in attendane. The service is held the last Sunday in every month.

Mr. Elmer Mowers of Napanee was a weekend guest of his daughter Mrs. Wallace Robertson and Mr. Robertson.

Mr. Ross Shetler spent the week end in Bowmanville where he attended the Decoration Day of the Bowmanville Cemetery.

Mr. and Mrs. L. Snider and Kathleen of Foxboro were Sunday callers at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Spencer.

Mr. and Mrs. Edward Sherry of Belleville were Sunday guests of Mr. and Mrs. Albert Mark.

Although the new minister has not yet arrived, the Anglican Church Sunday School holds its weekly classes which are well-attended. Mrs. Albert Mark, Mrs. H. Crane and Mrs. J. C. Spencer are conducting the classes. It is expected that a new minister will arrive in July although his name has not been revealed.

The lime kiln which has been an eye-sore to the community for many years is being demolished at the present time and the old iron is being trucked away. Local men are receiving employment in the task of demolishing the ancient building.

The funeral of the late Stephen Maracle, aged 82, one-time Indian chieftain and councilman was held from his home to All Saints' Church on Tuesday afternoon where the service was conducted by the Rev. Herbert Pringle.

As a tribute to the high esteem in which he was held a congregation that filled the church and filled the spacious grounds in the church yard attended the service. In his service the Rev. Herbert Pringle referred to the sterling character of the deceased of whom he was a personal friend.

Pall-bearers were the Messrs Wilfrid Brant, Jack Brant, Webster Brant, Gordon Brant, Hugo Brant, Russell Maracle.

Interment was made in the All Saints' Church cemetery and the committal service was conducted by the Rev. Herbert Pringle.

OH, SHE MUST HAVE A MAID—DIDN'T YOU SEE HER LOVELY HANDS?
WELL, WE CERTAINLY FOOLED THOSE WOMEN. WE WASH DISHES EVERY DAY—BUT LUX LEAVES US LOVELY
Mrs. A. Fisher's hands look lovely in spite of dishwashing, thanks to Lux!
LUX

Beauty Experts advise Lux for dishes—
"Use Lux for dishwashing," beauty experts say. "We can't tell the difference between the hands of women who have maids and those who use Lux for dishes! Lux leaves hands so lovely!"

The Late Vivian Bradshaw

The funeral of the late Vivian Bradshaw aged 58, was held from his home to Melrose United Church on Tuesday afternoon where the funeral service was conducted by by the Rev. W. D. Craig.

A congregation that filled the church to overflowing attended the service in order that they might pay their last respects to a true and kind friend. Mr. Bradshaw passed away on Sunday at the Belleville General Hospital following a stroke.

Pall-bearers were the Messrs. Samuel Sherman, Alec McLaren, Clarence Long, William Robertson, Benson Wannamaker, Edward Scott.

Interment was made in the Melrose Cemetery where the committal service was conducted by the Rev. W. D. Craig.

Hold a Strawberry Tea

A very large crowd patronized the strawberry tea held at the home of Mrs. Jack Kent on Tuesday evening under the auspices of the Shannonville Women's Guild. Tea was served from five to eight-thirty and all the tables were filled from opening to closing time. Those that assisted in the tea were as follows: Hostess, Miss Jean Kent; Waitresses and assistants, Mrs. Fred Lewis, Mrs. Clarence Hill, Mrs. James Topping, Mrs. Albert Mark, Mrs. Sidney Fitzgerald, Mrs. Herbert Houston, Mrs. George Leverton, Mrs. H. Crane, Mrs. Oscar Sager, Mrs. Robert Houston, Mrs. Crawford. The proceeds of the tea were very gratifying and will be used for a suitable purpose.

A continual stream of cars passed through village today enroute to the Tyendinaga Reserve agricultural grounds where the ninety-first annual field day was being held. A gala day was held with everything being so arranged as to give the large crowd an opportunity of witnessing every event. Old Indian fiddlers cavorted before the crowd and such tunes as Turkey in the Straw and the Old Irish Washerwoman greeted the crowds. Prominent Ontario agriculturists addressed the crowds and in another part of the grounds a softball game was being held that attracted sporting enthusiasts. However with all these attractions the chief topic of conversation was the fight between Joe Louis and Tony Galento and everyone seemed to be thinking of the fight and their ringside seat by the radio.

In a scheduled softball game the Second Line team defeated the third line by the score of 30-9.

Harper's Bazaar says:
It's a WHITE SEASON
● Frilly blouses, petticoats, gloves, ruffles, collars — most everything is white! WHITE IS RIGHT this season. But white things must be washed frequently and repeated washings turn them yellowish, unless Blue is added. A swish or two of Blue in the final rinsing water on wash day assures the sparkling snowy whiteness that fashion demands — and it costs only a cent or two a month!

The Hand is quicker than the Eye

Perhaps you remember when men carried "the makings" in little canvas sacks. Rolling a smoke was tedious, and often a failure; but adepts could do it like conjurers. If you could manage it with one hand, and on a broncho, why you were a hero!

Today, machines have taken over the art. Their "hands" are literally "quicker than the eye" and infinitely more deft and consistent. They roll them so fast that one day's production of one Imperial Tobacco factory, placed end to end, would stretch from Toronto to Winnipeg!

And, three times every minute, these machines take a batch of the cigarettes they are making, weigh them and adjust themselves to correct any variation within 1/100th of an ounce in 50 cigarettes. Modern magic — machines with a conscience keyed to a few strands of golden leaf . . . This is the tobacco industry . . . with millions in Canadian money invested, supporting thousands of Canadians profitably employed in factories and in stores at every crossstreet and crossroad, so that you may enjoy "tailor-made" cigarettes perfectly packed with the finest tobacco, the instant you want to smoke.

Washington is Only Team Winning More Games From The Yankees Than Losing

Dutch Leonard Defeats Team for Second Time in Twelve Frames

RED SOX SLIPPING

Cardinals Muff Chance to Take Second Place by Loss to Cubs

(By Judson Bailey Associated Press Sports Writer).

In these perilous times people often misunderstand what those baseballing Senators are trying to do in Washington.

Their good-intentioned blundering has caused many a lifted eye-brow and no little disdain, but the fact remains they are the only club in the American League which has won more games from the world champion New York Yankees than they have lost.

They kept in front of the bombers by winning the first game of a doubleheader yesterday 2-1 in 12 innings before losing the nightcap 7-0 in six innings. This left the Senators with four victories in seven games.

It also should have made Emil (Dutch) Leonard more highly respected in his own camp, where even the fact his record was far and away better than any other Washington hurler couldn't make Clark (Old Fox) Griffith concede he was the best man on the staff.

Beats Yankees Twice

The veteran knuckleballer now has won seven and lost two and is the only pitcher in the American League who has beaten the Yankees twice this season. He held the champions to seven hits in the dozen innings he worked yesterday and the only run they scored off of him came in a sluggish first inning when Frank Crosetti was hit by a wild pitch and scored on a single.

The Senators scored on Red Ruffing, the Yankee ace, in the first with a triple and a single and won the game ultimately on two singles sandwiched around a sacrifice.

The second game was abbreviated by darkness but the Yankees settled it to everybody's satisfaction anyway. With rookie Atley Donald checking the Senators on three hits for his ninth straight triumph, his teammates bunched four runs in the second on two hits, two walks and two errors and Babe Dahlgren hit a homer with two on in the sixth.

Boston Red Sox Slip

The second-place Boston Red Sox slipped further back as Philadelphia Athletics buckled on their 17 hits in the proper places for an 8-6 victory. The parade was led by Bob Johnson, who hit a homer with one on and knocked in two other runs.

Chicago White Sox and St. Louis Browns taking the opener 9-3 on the six-hit pitching of Bob Harris. The Sox came back in the nightcap to win 7-5. Clint Brown's relief pitching was an important factor in the second game, in which four homers were recorded.

Rain kept Cleveland and Detroit idle in the American League as well as Brooklyn and Philadelphia in the National. The night game of the latter pair was reset for tonight. Cincinnati Reds and Pittsburgh Pirates had an open date.

This left an excellent opportunity for St. Louis Cardinals to climb back into public favor by regaining second place—but they muffed their chance.

New York Giants were beaten 8-2 by Boston Bees, who unleashed a 16-hit attack concentrated into six runs in the second inning when Debs Garms and Buddy Hassett homered. However, the Cardinals were again edged out by Chicago Cubs 7-6.

Sports Roundup

(By Eddie Brietz Associated Press Sports Writer).

New York, June 30 (AP)—Clark Griffith may try to introduce wholesale night ball into the American League.....They say he has a plan calling for each club to play under the lights five times weekly between June 15 and Sept. 15—an average of 65 games per club .... Philly promised to sell $150,000 worth of pews to Galento-Louis, but all the orders Mike Jacobs saw added up to only $4,200.

Fred Apostoli starts training Aug. 15 at Ellenville, N.Y., for his September go with Ceferino Garcia.... Four stars to the Spoting News for its dandy baseball centennial edition....Paul Haakon, the dancing star, is taking boxing lessons from Bennie Keller of Washington.

Jimmy Johnston talked a bit too fast yesterday....He said: "Louis is just a fair fighter among a bunch of bums"....Including we assume, his Bob Pastor.

What they said of the big fight:

Dan Parker, Mirror: "Galento acquitted himself with all the honors than can go to a brave man who has done his best and failed."

Jack Miley, Post: "I am not going to kid Tony about being fat any more.....That extra weight is his heart."

Hype: Igoe, Journal-American: "Galento was more glamorous in defeat than he had been in any of his victories."

Joe Williams, World-Telegram: "Galento was the story....He showed that Louis is not monumentally a great fighter."

NOTED DRIVER KILLED IN CAR

Jimmy Snyder Finished Second in Speed Race at Indianapolis

East St. Louis, Ill., June 30 (AP) —The spectacular career of handsome Jimmy Snyder, noted racing car driver, ended last night with his death in a midget auto crackup at the Cahokia, Ill., track near here.

The 31-year-old driver was killed almost a month to the day from the date of one of his greatest races—second place in the 500-mile classic at Indianapolis last May 30.

Snyder lost control of his small white car as he roared into a turn in the early stages of the 40-lap feature race. The car hit an outer guard rail and rolled back into the track where it was broadsided by another little racer driven by Paul Armbruster, St. Louis. Armbruster suffered severe burns.

The accident occurred in full view of 4,000 spectators.

It took world's heavyweight champion Joe Louis just three rounds, two minutes and twenty-nine seconds to dispose of Tony Galento, who at last ran into a "bum" he couldn't "moider," although all hands agreed he put up a gallant fight in the face of the terrific punishment the champion was handing out during most of the short battle. A good idea of just what the Jersey bartender and his less-than-meagre defences were up against is given by this magic-eye series taken at the ring-side in Yankee Stadium during the second round. At the top left the champion is seen as he stepped inside one of Tony's ponderous left hand deliveries and sent his own left crashing to Tony's jaw. You can almost feel the shock as it lands, in the picture at the lower left and then, at the top right, Joe Jacobs' pride, topples to the canvas, where he lands with a reverberating thump at the lower right, as Referee Arthur Donovan signals Louis to a neutral corner. Tony didn't wait for a count on this knockdown and was up and fighting in a moment.

JACK DEMPSEY QUITE FAVORABLE AFTER OPERATION

New York, June 30 (AP)— The stamina that carried Jack Dempsey to the top of the boxing game was standing him in good stead today, following an emergency operation for appendicitis.

His physician, Dr. Alfred Lilienfeld, said the former world's heavy-withstood the operation very well withstood the operation very well and that his general condition was "excellent."

The Manassa mauler has been bothered with some sort of ailment for the last two or three years, close friends recalled last night.

His wife, the former Hannah Williams of stage fame, took a room at the hospital and stayed near her husband throughout the night.

Yesterday's Stars

(By The Associated Press)

Dutch Leonard, Senators, and Atley Donald, Yankees: Former held champions to seven hits and one run in 12 innings to beat them for second time this season; latter gave three hits in night-cap for his ninth straight victory.

Debs Garms, Bees: His homer was big blow of six-run uprising which snapped Giants' winning string.

Bob Johnson, Athletics: Led onslaught against Red Sox hitting his 11th homer with one on.

"POOSH-EM-UP" TONY LAZZERI DOING GOOD JOB

As Manager of Toronto Leafs Tony Has Team on the Up-Grade

BISONS COMING

Baltimore Orioles Seem Unable to Get Out of Second Division

(By The Associated Press)

They say a good start is half the battle, and if that's so, old "Poosh-Em-Up" Tony Lazzeri has every reason to be optimistic over his future as a baseball manager.

Tony took charge of Toronto Maple Leafs, International League cellar-dwellers, on June 19 and since then the Leafs have shown a marked improvement, winning seven of their last 10 starts.

Five of the victories were consecutive and represented the longest streak the club has been able to put together this season.

The Leafs skidded into eighth place soon after the season got underway and never have been able to get out. At present a matter of three games separates them from the seventh place Montreal Royals. The Royals, incidentally, have lost six of their last seven games.

Bisons Came Fast

Another second division team making great strides lately is Buffalo Bisons. Running roughshod over practically everything in sight, the Herd has won 11 of its last 14 contests and stampeded to the top of the second division, 2 1-2 games back of the fourth place Newark Bears.

The Bisons collected 22 homers in the last 10 days to run their season's total to 80, eighteen more than Baltimore Orioles who are second in that department.

Toronto and Buffalo were to open a four game series yesterday at Toronto but rain caused postponement. Both have fattened their averages recently at the expense of Rochester and Montreal in recent series.

While all this has been going on, Newark and Syracuse have seesawed in and out of third and fourth place.

Baltimore seems unable to get out of the second division, being cornered one half game back of Buffalo in sixth place. Jersey City, in first place, is none to secure, what with Rochester Red Wings ready to move in any time.

Most any day now we expect to hear the Quinte Motorcycle Club announce the opening of their new quarter-mile dirt track course out in Stoney Lonesome. The local motorcyclists have put forth much effort and labor on their new venture. The track has been completely covered with cinders and all there is left to assure a fine racing course is to roll and work some clay in with the cinders. The track is constructed within a natural ampitheatre where the patrons can sit without being in danger of skidding machines.

Incidentally while on the subject of motorcycling it might well be to mention the fact we have another outstanding rider in Belleville in Bert Pallant, of the Quinte Motorcycle Club. Recently Pallant journeyed to Buffalo, N.Y. where he raced in a dirt track meet at the Buffalo Civic Stadium and in three races got a first and two seconds, racing against the cream of the U.S.A. dirt track riders. There were 35 riders competing in all. Pallant will represent the Q.M.C. at another motorcycle meet to be held in Rochester, N.Y. next week. Local cyclists feel their club's reputation is being quite capably taken care of by Bert Pallant during these American events.

The first round of the Jewellers' Cup golf tournament, an annual event at the Bay of Quinte Country Club was played on Wednesday with the semi-finalists announced. The Jewellers' Cup is a two ball competition and the following four pairs advanced to the semi-finals—Mrs. (Dr.) Chant and Sandy Burrows; Miss Phillipa Burrows and W. J. Cook; Mrs. Lyle and Roy Stafford and Mrs. E. M. Parker and Percy Allen. Last year the trophy was won by Sandy Burrows and his daughter Phillipa, this year, however, the system of drawing partners was done by the draw method.

Tomorrow being Dominion Day we are observing the holiday in remembrance of that great day that saw the unification of this great Dominion of Canada in 1867. However, around the district Monday is being observed by the sportsmen, golf, tennis, lawn bowling and all the other sports are on the day's program. In the morning the R.C.A.F. "Flyers" meet the Belleville team in a Bay of Quinte League fixture at the Fair Grounds, while the local nine continue in Napanee after the lunch hour. The Belleville lawn bowlers will hold their first tournament of the season, the Yacht Club will journey to Picton to take part in the regatta.

What is believed to be a new pitcher's softball hitting record, and most likely a new hitter's record as well was set by "Blondy" Sutton in Toronto recently when he banged out three home runs and two doubles while playing for the Printers' team in the Eaton's Factory Softball league. Besides his performance at bat, Sutton struck out seven Parking Station batters to register a 22-4 victory over the latter team.

Last evening's Napanee at R.C.A.F. game was rained out, the game being called in the last half of the fifth with Walt Gerow's charges leading by a substantial margin. According to reports from the Air Force, the "flying men" were anything but satisfied with their lot last evening, although they asked to have the game called on account of darkness and rain. However, when the Air Force management was informed his club would have to bear certain expenses for a replay of the game, he screamed to the high heavens and threatened to take the matter into President McDougall's front office. Pilot Officer Foster's nine is a most improved nine and hope to push the Belleville squad back into the cellar when these two clubs meet here no Monday morning.

The bass season opens tomorrow and many anglers will doubtless take the week off for the purpose of catching few of these coveted beauties. Perhaps you may have heard before, but we heard recently that goldfish are the latest bait on the anglers' market. When all other bait fails, try a gold fish, the results will be surprising they say.

The sympathy of sportsmen throughout the district will be extended to Ran Card, former Napanee baseball and hockey player, whose father died suddenly in Napanee yesterday. No baseball or hockey game was complete without the jovial Harry Card and he will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

It is rumoured that Joe Louis' ring earnings today are estimated at well over a million and a half dollars, his greatest scoop being in the second Schmeling bout, that netted him something like $350,000. The latest suggestion is to bring Bob Pastor back against Louis in September. Pastor stayed the limit with Louis, while on a proverbial bicycle, sometime ago, so the promoters see another plum ready for plucking. When Louis beat Galento he tossed punches inside of four rounds, an average over 30 per three minute round. Incidentally Louis admitted yesterday that Galento is one tough hombre—"I hit him harder and much more punches than I ever hit anybody before," Louis said. "Now I know Louis is a bum, he took four rounds to knock out a blind man. I couldn't see for blood," was Galento's story yesterday.

With the Reds idle the Cubs beat the Cards to gain ground on the Giants, who lost to the Bees yesterday, making the National League race a trrid one.

FAMOUS COACH TO OFFICIATE AT KID-CAR DERBY

Tracy Shaw, Oshawa, Will Send Youthful Drivers in Quest of Victory

Tracy Shaw, who gained fame when he coached the Oshawa Generals, Junior hockeyists to a Dominion title last winter will be in Belleville to officiate at the Belleville Kinsmen Club Annual Soap-Box Derby on July 11th., officials of the club announced today.

Accompanying Mr. Shaw will be a number of highranking officials of the General Motors Corporation under whose sponsorship the Soap-Box Derbies in Canada are being held.

Interest in the derby is mounting daily, officials stated, and it is safe to say that by the time Derby Day arrives a record-breaking number of youthful drivers will be ready to leap away in their "contraptions" at the bark of the starter's gun.

An outstanding feature of the Derby will be the introduction of a modern ramp, from which the drivers will make a flying start. The new ramp is electrically controlled and also has a timing system installed. The new invention will eliminate a lot of wasted time that was connected with ramps of other years, and will facilitate the starting of the various sections of racers as well as eliminating all chances of a foul or false start.

Members of the club, in their various roles as committeemen, are working tooth and nail in an effort to make the 1939 edition of their now famous summer sports classic one of the most successful in years. Behind their effort is a worthy cause. They know that all funds derived from this source will be spent in the alleviation of suffering of those underprivileged children of the city and district who are unable to obtain treatment for their eyes.

The work of the Belleville Kinsmen Club is well known and club officials expect an ever-generous Belleville public to show their interest in and appreciation of this worthy work by attending the Derby here next month.

88TH BIRTHDAY IS CELEBRATED

Walter Deacon, Marmora, Resident of District All His Life, Quite Hearty

Marmora, June 30. —(Special)— Mr. Walter Deacon, the oldest resident of Marmora, celebrated his eighty-eighth birthday on Thursday Mr. Deacon who is still in good health, lives with his daughter, Violet in the residence on McGill Street, which he built several years ago. He was born on the James Hughes farm, 2 miles north of the village on June 29th., 1851. The farm at that time was owned by the late Solomon Johns. Mr. Deacon followed the lumber business for many years, being a teamster for the Rathbun Company and later was for many years in the employ of The Pearce Company. In 18*3 he married Mary Jane Christie, whose death occurred about six years ago. They had six daughters, three of whom are still living. Violet, at home, Mrs. G. B. Airhart, Belleville and Mrs. Gordon Jarvis Marmora. Three daughters died in their early youth, Minnie aged 13 and Olive 19. On Thursday Mr. Deacon motored to Belleville, to have dinner with Mr. and Mrs. Airhart and family. A large number of friends in Marmora and vicinity will wish him good health and happiness for many years to come.

Played as Boys in Norway, Meet as Seamen in Canada

Capt. Knudsen of Belleville Renews Friendship With Capt. Nillsen of Fjell Line

DAY OF REMINISCENCE

Many years ago in a little orwegian village, two boys played around together. As they grew older one decided to seek far fields to conquer, and sailed for Canada; the other stayed in Norway for a while and then became a seaman.

This week they were reunited for the first time in Toronto harbor. Both now are masters of ships.

Captain E. Knudsen, resident of this city, and master of the Cementkarrier of the Canada Cement Company, Point Anne for many years and sailing the Great Lakes for as man more in other large craft, is now a naturalized Canadian. Captain C. Nillsen is master of the Fjell Line ship Harpefjell of Norway. Both played in the fields of Norway when but lads.

The Harpefjell arrived in Toronto on Wednesday morning at the same time as the Cementkarrier, and it was not long before the two captains were shaking hands. Captain Knudsen took his former friend on a tour of the city of Toronto while both ships were discharging. It was a grand day of reminiscence for both of them.

JACKIE MARSH RESCUES, CARRIES BOY TO DOCTOR

Jackie Marsh, son of Mr. and Mrs. Fred Marsh, Benjamin street, proved yesterday that besides owning a sweet singing voice he is the proud possessor of presence of mind, and the ability to act promptly in the face of an emergency.

For when a young boy by the name of Fitzgibbon, son of Mr. and Mrs. Ernest Fitzgibbon, Ridley street suffered a severe laceration of the foot while wading in the Moira River yesterday, Jackie promptly dashed into the water, carried the injured boy to safety and after a moment's rest, carried him to the office of Dr. G. S. Cronk.

The blood-spattered boys entered the office and Fitzgibbon was examined by the doctor. Jackie, whose clothes were covered with blood carried the young sufferer to the car and accompanid him to the hospital where his injuries were treated by the doctor.

Kresge Staff Holds Enjoyable Picnic

With upwards of thirty-two members in attendance the staff of the Kresge Stores of this city held a highly enjoyable picnic on the Community Par at Cobourg on Wednesday.

The happy picnickers were transported to the lakeside town by [illegible] of cars where they enjoyed [illegible] full a splendid program of typical picnic events. Swimming was enjoyed in the afternoon followed by a baseball game in which fun and not runs featured, while a tug-of-war between the strong lassies of the staff evoked a lot of amusement.

Roller-skating was also indulged in and in the evening the entire party attended a dance. A sumptuous repast was spread on the grass and the entire gathering regaled themselves to the full.

The picnic was given by the company to the management and staff, who nevertheless are highly appreciative of the generous gesture.

Mr. Jack McVeigh, general manager of the store, was in charge of the arrangements and was complimented on his efforts at providing a splendid half-day's entertainment.

TORONTO STOCKS

Toronto, June 30.—(CP)—Trading on Toronto Exchange today was in small volume. Prices registered a mild rally in the early session. Turnover totalled 165,000 shares.

Golds posted the best recovery and gains of 2 to 5 cents were boarded. Seniors showed little change. Powell Rouyn firmed a few cents in active trading. Base Metal leaders were up at the smart but early afternoon prices were soft. Eldorado turned strong, adding 8 cents.

Gains of minor fractions predominated in the Steel, Food and Liquor groups and the Utilities and Senior Oils showed more losses than gains. Western Oils also leaned narrowly to the down side.

WALL STREET CLOSE

New York, June 30—(AP)—Stocks responded rather feebly to rallying attempts in today's market.

With activity much under that of the preceding session, recoveries running to a point or so in the forenoon, were reduced or cancelled in many cases near the final hour. Transfers were about 600,000 shares.

FRED FEET AND THE REVOLUTION

Scene, nig

Mrs. Feet: Fred, I want you to help your fa lock all the windows, the pa are full of robberies.

Mr. Feet: come on, Fred, do as your mother tells you and stop that sudden thing.

Fred Feet: Okay, I'll do it just to be o ent, but I cant help laughing.

Mrs. Feet: It's not very nice to laugh without telling other people the joke.

Mr. Feet: Yes, Fred, do you call that pol

Fred Feet: Ha ha ha.

Mrs. Feet: Now that's enough, or ells say at's funny.

Fred Feet: I overheard a plot to overthr this whole country, including government. I bet you'll be sig it in the papers tomorrow.

Mr. Feet: Well do you call that funny?

Fred Feet: No sir, the funny part is we thinking about locking our windows but if we really wanted to do something useful we'd have to lock up whole country.

Mrs. Feet: My goodness how awful, O ll leave everything open. I'll b glad to take advantage of the situation to have lots of ventilation such a hot night.

Fred Feet: Sure, life is short so we might as well have plenty of air at least.

The end.

SIR H. MARLER RETURNS HOME

Brought from Washington for Observation in Hospital

Montreal, June 30—(CP)— Sir Herbert Marler, Canadian Minister to Washington, was in hospital here today, after being brought to Montreal by special plane from New York. It was understood he would undergo observation and might remain several days. It was learned that charter of a special plane was made necessary when the 63-year-old Minister and his attendant missed the regular New York-Montreal plane.

There was no announcement of the nature of the ailment which made the journey to Montreal necessary.

SAYS MARKETING NOT PRODUCTION IS MAIN PROBLEM

Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion Declares Conservatives Aim at Bigger Markets

PRICES OF PRODUCTS

Fisherville, Ont., June 30—(CP) —New attention should be given to the internal marketing of Canada's agricultural products, Hon. Dr. R. J. Manion, National Conservative Party leader, told an outdoor audience here last night.

Addressing a party rally made up largely of Haldimand County farmers, Dr. Manion outlined the essentials of the Conservative agricultural program. He said the party aimed at enlarged markets for agriculture, fair and stabilized prices and a reduction in the spread between producer and consumer.

Marketing of what is produced, rather than production, is the main farm problem, Dr. Manion contended, going on to say that 90 per cent of Canada's farm products, exclusive of wheat, are consumed on the home market.

Control of Prices

"We shall seek to work out a way to prevent the 10 per cent of our farm products exported controlling the price of the 90 per cent," he pledged.

Reactionary pessimists were condemned by the party leader, who said Canada would progress industrially and commercially with prosperity for the farmer.

"You get more pessimism among a very little group of rich men than you get among the poor," he asserted. "There are little groups who think he should stand still, who think Canada has reached the end of the trail.

"We should all be optimists. I don't think we have room in Canada for pessimists. The value of export markets should not be forgotten, but domestic markets should be cultivated."

Home Market

Prime Minister Mackenzie King had promised to sell Canada's exportable products to relieve Canada's troubles, he said, "but it can't be done today."

The home market could be controlled and the Conservative party would do whatever could be done to protect the primary producer, to give work and wages in the cities and security for all.

Only protection for the primary producer with consequent better returns could make farm life attractive enough to check the drift of young people to urban centres, Dr. Manion said. Though all the physical conveniences of the cities were available on many Canadian farms, the attractiveness of these features often was wiped out by the low cash returns.

Season Tariffs

Dr. Manion praised season tariffs to give protection to Canadian fruit and vegetable growers against imports of those goods ahead of the time Canadian-grown varieties are ready for the market.

He supported co-operative selling agencies and promised a sympathetic government attitude towards them. Tobacco, a large item in the Fisherville district, benefited greatly from co-operative selling and there was also the example of co-operative selling in the Maritime Provinces, he pointed out.

"We live in a stupendous age," Dr. Manion said in conclusion. "The world is on the march and it is our duty to lead it where we should go. If we follow laissez-faire our system will be wiped out and replaced by something we don't want."

LONE GUNMAN MAKES FOURTH HAUL AT WINDSOR

Windsor, Ont., June 30—(CP)—Windsor's lone gunman completed his fourth successful robbery of the month today, escaping with $120 from an upton grocery store. Wielding his customary black revolver, the unmasked bandit held up Manager Charles Riley, took the money from the cash register and ran out.

Police said there was no doubt it was the same robber who held up two cigar stores and a gasoline station here in recent weeks.

'PRECAUTION'

It was denied that any German troops had entered Danzig and there was no sign of military activity in the city or the adjoining countryside. Arthur Greiser, President of the Danzig Senate, was absent from his office for a period of service as an officer in a German ship.

Black-Shirted Guards

There were SS (black-shirted guards) and SA (Brown-shirted storm troops) men in the streets but the authorities said they were Danzig citizens. In the countryside a few SS men were exercising and training was being given to police recruits—but they were no more numerous than the number or the fringes of any German city any day.

The police force, which wears uniforms similar to those used in Germany, is being increased by "several hundred" men, officials said. Indications were that a force of 1,500 men was the objective and officials said all the additions were Danzig citizens.

Prepare For Defence

"It seems advisable to prepare for a defence within our means," Max Buhle of the Senate's press department said in referring to reports that Polish elements might undertake a putsch to seize the Free City's government.

The likelihood of Danzig taking the initiative by declaring itself a part of Germany was discounted in government offices—"at least at the present time," one official said. It was said that such action hardly would be undertaken with the Senate's President away on naval duty.

The Senate, ruling by decree, is 100 per cent Nazi and would have no difficulty whatever in simply declaring itself a part of Germany —if that were the strategy.

"But that is not the plan," Buhle said. "We are content to wait for Hitler to act in his own way and at his own time."

Rugmakers Suffer From the Blockade

Tientsin, June 30—(AP)—American rug manufacturers and exporters in Tientsin, who normally do an annual business of $1,000,000, predicted today their enterprises would be wiped out in six months if present Japanese trade restrictions continue.

The industry has wool sufficient for half a year after which, the owners said, they would have to shut down, throwing 50,000 Chinese out of work. Dependent on these workers are 200,000 more Chinese.

The Japanese army reserves to itself the right to buy and transport wool from the interior and is prohibiting others from engaging in the trade.

GERMANS SAY THEY ARE CALM IN THEIR STRENGTH

Berlin, June 30 (AP)—Viscount Halifax's warning that Great Britain would fight in case of "further aggression" and the repeated expression of fears in London and Paris that a nazi coup was being prepared in Danzig were met with shoulder shrugs today in official German quarters.

"We are conscious of our strength and supremely calm, in contrast to the nervousness prevailing in London and Paris," an official said.

WALKS INTO SIDE OF TRUCK

Lindsay, Ont., June 29—(CP) — Evelyn McQuade, five-year-old daughter of Mr. and Mrs. F. H. McQuade, Omemee, suffered painful injuries last evening when, according to Provincial Constable David Adair, she walked into the side of a bread truck driven by Arthur Mackin, Lindsay.

New York, June 30—(CP)—A scarlet coated company of Royal Canadian Mounted Police arrived today to help the bluejacket crews of the Canadian destroyers Skeena and Saguenay give a nationalistic touch to the celebration of "Canada Day" at the New York World's Fair tomorrow.

STONEY INDIAN TRIBE WELCOMES KILTED SCOTS

14 Scotsmen on Way to Hollywood for Moral Re-Armament Meeting

Banff, June 30.—The ancient Stoney Indian Tribe, who sixty years ago fought invading white men, welcomed fourteen kilted Scots crossing Canada on their way to Hollywood for the World Assembly for Moral Re-Armament, with a full-dress deer-dance and ceremonial pow wows, part of which is an exchange of gifts.

The greeting took place at Morley, a colourful foothills town on the Stoney Indian Reserve. Jacob Two-Young-Men, chief of Stoney, who three years ago made Dr. Frank Buchman a blood brother of the Tribe, presented George Marjoribanks, of Edinburgh with a moose-knife, which is the Indian symbol of peace when held aloft. In turn the Scots gave him a copy of Britain's best seller, "Moral Re-Armament, The Battle for Peace", by H. W. (Bunny) Austin. The Indians and Scots pledged themselves "We shall always fight together in this battle."

During the past fortnight Premiers Bracken of Manitoba, Patterson of Saskatchewan and Aberhart of Alberta, have all received the Scots in official buildings. The Lieutenant-Governors of three prairie provinces have also entertained them, discussing the Hollywood Assembly and the application of Moral Re-Armament to Canadian and world problems. In Edmonton the party presented a message from representative Scottish leaders to the City Council, who are reported to be passing a resolution urging that the program of Moral Re-Armament might flourish throughout the world. At the World Assembly in Hollywood the Scots, with a large number of Canadians, will join representatives from Japan, China, people from all over Europe and from every part of the British Empire.

Top Grade Eggs Remain Firm

Toronto, June 30.—Top quality graded eggs advanced, while prices were steadier for butter on the Toronto open produce market Thursday, according to the Dominion Department of Agriculture.

A firm tone remained on the egg market as prevailing light receipts were readily absorbed under continued good demand. Top grades went 1c to 1 1-2c per dozen higher in the graded division, but other sections held former levels. Graded shipments cleared at 24c to 24 1-2c for grade A-large, 22c to 22 1-2c for medium, 17c for B's and 15c for C grades.

Although trading was still spotty with buyers making commitments cautiously, the butter market showed steadier prices. Holders were not offering as freely as in the previous session, apparently content to wait until buyers were forced into the market to replenish their stocks. Current receipts are not heavy at the present time and no accumulation occurred yesterday. Ontario creamery solids closed out the day at 21 3-4c for No. 1 grades and 21c for 38 score. Prints traded at unchanged quotations.

Montreal, June 30.— (CP) —Egg and butter offerings strengthened on open produce markets here yesterday while cheese prices declined narrowly, the Dominion Department of Agriculture reported.

Quebec No. 1 pasteurized in wholesale jobbing lots made 21 3-4c to 21 7-8c. Receipts—1,436 boxes. Ontario white cheese sold for 12 7-8 cents a pound and colored for 13c. Quebec white traded for 12 3-8c and colored for 12 1-2c. Receipts: 2,218 boxes.

Graded egg shipments in used free cases were offered at 25 cents a dozen for A-large, 22c for A-medium, 17 1-2c to 18c for B-large and 15 1-2c for C. Receipt

EUROPE DRIFTING

Reports that "men and officers of the German army" were moving into Danzig were said to have resulted in a long conference yesterday at which Foreign Minister Georges Bonnet assured the Polish Ambassador, Julius Lukasiewicz, that Great Britain and France would lend automatic military aid in case of aggression. (These reports of troop movements into Danzig were denied in Germany.)

Passing Continuously

Italian railway troop cars were said by the Swiss Socialist paper, Berner Tagwacht, to be passing continuously over the Brenner Pass into Germany, to be used to transport German troops to Italy in case of war.

National leaders and the press attempted to prepare the public for any eventuality. French commentators called upon the nation to "face the present realities."

Louis Frossard, a member of the Chamber of Deputies, said in his newspaper La Justice he was convinced Britain and France would give aid to Poland in the event Germany seized Danzig.

The French newspapers also praised the speech by Foreign Secretary Viscount Halifax.

"After this speech," said Le Jour-Echo De paris (Rightist), "Berlin and Rome cannot speculate upon the hesitation of Great Britain in case of new aggression in Europe."

Definitely Warned

Le Petit Journal (Extreme Rightist) asked whether Chancellor Hitler "will finally understand that the hour of bluffing is passed?"

"Lord Halifax's speech," said Le Figaro (Rightist), "has an immediate and precise political significance: That of ending the illusions of certain Germans that Great Britain would again be ready to make new concessions in exchange for simple assurances."

"The Germans have been definitely warned," said Le Journal (Independent), "that any attack, even under the camouflaged form of a step against Danzig, would be considered to be aggression justifying an immediate reaction from the forces of Poland."

The Petit Parisien (Independent) said: "Great Britain, like France, will in the future not tolerate that violence should be the law of Europe."
